There are said to be 10,000 children in the streets of New York who live by begging.

The total population of the earth is now estimated in round numbers, at 1,000,000,000.

No less than 2,536 persons reside within the walls of the Imperial palace of Vienna.

A single pound of wool will furnish a piece of yarn 100 miles in length.

It is estimated that at the present time thirty tons of silver are required annually for photographing.

Six bushels of wheat is more than sufficient to supply bread and flour for one person during a twelve-month.

The thimble is said to have been derived from "thumbell," being at first thumb, and afterwards thimble. It is of Dutch invention.

"Doctor, when we have sat together some time, you'll find my brother very entertaining." "Sir," said Johnson, "I can wait."

A lady, who painted her face, asked Parsons how he thought she looked. "I can't tell, madam," he replied, "except you uncover your face."

A knavish attorney asked a very worthy gentleman what was honesty. "What is that to you?" said he; "meddle with those things that concern you."

At Cass River Bridge, Saginaw county, there is a child with thirteen toes on one foot and six on the other. The father, whose name is Crosby, has six toes on each foot.

A good instance of absence of mind was an editor quoting from a rival paper, one of his own articles, and heading it "Wretched Attempt to Wit."

Piles placed in the Rhine by the Romans, nearly two thousand years ago, have been found to be entirely sound when removed within the present century.

Forty years ago, the total number of horses, cattle, and sheep in Australia was under 400,000; the number has since increased to nearly 35,000,000.

"It's a very solemn thing to be married," said Aunt Hamer. "Yes, but it's a deal more solemn not to be," said Miss Bartlett, a spinster aged forty.

A wag, seeing a door nearly off its hinges, in which condition it had remained for sometime, observed that when it had fallen and killed someone it would probably be hung.

An actor notorious for his love of beer, sailed for India. "He was a good fellow," said a friend; take him for half-and-half, we shall not look upon his like again!"

"How do you define 'black as your hat'?" said a schoolmaster to one of his pupils. "Darkness that may be felt," replied the youthful wit.

A gentleman at an inn, seeing that the lights were so dim as only to render the darkness visible, called out, "Here, waiter, let me have a couple of decent candles, to see how these others burn."

The following epitaph on John Knott is in the Keokuk cemetery: He did Knott live, he did Knott die; Heaven did Knott overlook him; Beneath this sod he doeroot lie; He is Knott, for God took him.

Wilson, the celebrated roalist, was upset one day in his carriage, near Edinburgh. A Scotch paper, after recording the accident, said, "We are happy to state that he was able to appear the following evening in three pieces!"

A diminutive attorney, named Else, once asked Jekyll: "Sir, I hear you have called me a metatiffogging scoundrel. Have you done so, sir?" "No, sir," said Jekyll, with a look of contempt, "I never said you were a tiffogger or a scoundrel; but I did say you were little Else."

Some Des Moines girls lately tried to frighten a bashful youth into a thirist for the genuine article by placing an image of a lady in his bed, and strewing the chamber with hoop-skirts, false hair, and bifurcated linen. He hid the falsehood under the barn, and the girls stayed at home from church next day.

A toper got so much on his stomach the other day that said organ repelled the load. As he leaned against a lamp post vomiting, a little dog happened to stop by him, whereupon he indulged in this soliloquy: "Well, now, here's a conundrum. I know where I ate the baked beans, I remember where I ate that lobster, I recollect where I got that rum, but I'm hanged if I can recall where I ate that little yaller dog."

Josh Billings thus speaks of a new agricultural implement, to which the attention of farmers is invited: "John Rodgers' revolving, expanding, unceremonious, self-adjusting, self-contracting, self-greasing, and self-righteous horse-rake is now offered forever to a generous public. These rakes are as easy to keep in repair as a hitching post, and will rake up a paper of pins sowed broadcast in a ten-acre field of wheat stubble. These rakes can be used in winter for the horse, or saved up in stove wood for the kitchen fire. No farmer of good moral character should be without this rake, even if he had two steal one."

Woman's Sphere.

How many different views are taken of this subject. To some, the privilege of voting is the height of her ambition. Others, to be surrounded by her family, to faithfully perform her duty as a wife and mother, to cheer and encourage the husband and father; and with this class, we say what occupation could be more noble. I would rather feel the clinging arms of my babe about my neck, were I a mother than to hold the reins of government of the most powerful nation on the globe. Woman to-day, in her true sphere as woman, wields an influence in shaping the destiny of the nation, that by the power of the ballot, she could never hope to obtain. As for woman's rights, there are rights she should have, and by doing her duty she will have those rights. Let mothers imbue their sons with principles of morality, teach them while they look upon women as the weaker sex, to think her in many points far superior to himself, that they are to be shielded from insult and abuse, and protected by his strong arm, that they are to be treated with consideration and respect, not made a subject of discussion upon the street corners, a son trained at home by a good mother, will never be known to geer at a lady passing him; he casts no slurs, as false perhaps, as the heart from which such slurs generally spring. Show me the man that is constantly making a by-word of the name of woman, and you have a specimen of humanity, torn and cast upon the tender mercies of a world which knows no such redeeming qualities without a mother's council, or else consigned to the care of one of those unnatural mothers who never act the part of mother, after bringing them into the world. This class of mothers, thank God are few, to be nursed upon the bosom of misfortune, and educated in the police courts, and when grown to manhood, swell the number of those whose only ambition it is to be first and foremost in the ranks of those who, wallowing in corruption themselves, seek to bring all to their level. It is this class that are ever ready to circulate a tale of shame. It is mothers that are in a measure to blame for such conduct; for a man will sink down deep into crime before he forgets the teachings of HIS MOTHER. C. B.

A fine black bear was killed on Friday, by a man named Oakley, in Macomb county.

The sale of liquor has been voluntarily abandoned by those engaged in it at New Hudson, Oakland county.

There is a general complaint of scarcity of water about Lansing, many wells and cisterns being dry.

The Union schools of Alpena have been closed on account of an epidemic which prevails in that neighborhood.

Game is exceedingly plentiful in the vicinity of Greenville. Large quantities of wild turkeys, deer, etc., abound.

Smugglers at Port Huron are employing Indians to bring over goods from Canada secreted on their persons, as the officers have been accustomed to let these poor creatures pass without close inspection.

Mrs. Benton, now of Wayne county, but formerly Miss Maggie Noe, of Commerce, committed suicide last week, while temporarily insane, she having taken creosote on learning that her husband had broken his leg.

Levi Shimmel, of White Pigeon, deputy marshal of the village, was last week bound over to the Circuit Court, to answer the charge of assault with intent to kill, in inflicting severe injuries upon a drunken man whom he arrested.

J. B. Escott, recently engaged in the hat and cap trade, in Grand Rapids, absconded a few days ago. It is alleged that his pecuniary affairs are very much "confused." It is said that he has forged his brother's name to certain papers.

On Monday night the steam saw mill of Wm. Williams, of Attien, Leapeer county, was destroyed by fire caused by a heated journal. The loss was several thousand dollars, and there was no insurance. This is the third mill Mr. Williams has had burned on the same spot.

In Ottawa county, recently, Mrs. Freeman, an old lady, was sitting in her armchair sewing, when a rifle in an adjacent bed-room was somehow shaken from its place, and falling, the ball passed through a partition into the sitting room, piercing a table in the way, and finally lodged in the old lady's head. She lived only two hours.

The mills at Manistee have all shut down for the winter, and men and teams have gone to the lumber woods. There will not be as many logs put in the Manistee River and its tributaries this winter as last, for the reason that about a third of a crop will be wintered over. The amount of logs gotten out last winter was about 235,000,000 feet, and the amount of lumber shipped the past season was 150,000,000, leaving logs in the river and booms and lumber on the docks to the amount of about 75,000,000 feet.

A runner for Wiley's hotel, at the Grand Trunk Junction, named Samuel Oster, who is said to have a wife and daughter living near Utica, Macomb county, was refused admittance to the hotel a few nights since, the boarders having made representations that he had the small-pox. After leaving the hotel the poor fellow went to Hall's brick yard, in the neighborhood, and warmed himself. He then started for Detroit, and was never more seen alive, his body being found the next morning in a ditch on Clark avenue, where he must have fallen and frozen to death. It appeared from the evidence at the inquest that the deceased did not have the small-pox, but erysipelas, and that he was a very hard drinker. The jury returned a verdict that he came to his death from exposure while suffering from delirium tremens.

Mr. Edward Schroder, a retired merchant living at No. 160 Lafayette avenue, Detroit, was found dead in his room Thursday morning, having evidently committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor. The deed was done with determination, the veins on the side of the neck being completely severed. Mr. Schroder had not been engaged in active business for a number of years. He was very much afflicted with dyspepsia, which induced fits of great despondency, bordering on insanity, in one of which he undoubtedly committed the fatal act. He was a gentleman of excellent character, and was respected by all who knew him. He leaves a family of two grown up sons and as many daughters. His age was about 60 years. Coroner Cahill held an inquest, which elicited the facts above stated.

Measuring Shadows. Carefully conducted experiments show that a man of ordinary stature, which on an average, is not far from five feet eight and one-half inches; at the distance of 323 yards appears just one-third his height. At a further distance of 437 yards, one-fourth, and at 545 yards one-fifth.

This law may be made use of by those curious of studying branches of sciences not generally cultivated, in measuring distant objects. It is far less difficult after a little practice, than the common method. Some persons possess a rare faculty of determining the height of a structure, as a tower, a lofty spire, a distant tree, either on a plain or an elevation. Their accuracy is quite as remarkable in that respect as instantaneous answers to complicated questions in arithmetic, for which the famous Zera Colburn was widely celebrated.

Some fifty years ago a man by the name of Wheat astonished the best surveyors and trigonometrical gentlemen of the time, by giving at sight the exact length of a perpendicular pole, a tree, or other things, as proposed. By varying his position, going toward or receding, seemed to be instantaneously taken into account in announcing a decision. This was the representation. Does any one have recollection of him in New England?

To Marry or Not. To marry or not to marry? That is the question, says the young woman of the period, with calm deliberation, as she canvasses the pros and cons of a life matrimonial or single blessedness. And what chiefly gives force to a conclusion in the matter is the difficulty of obtaining a correct estimate of the worldly possessions of the gentleman whom chance or circumstance selects as just the man of all others to wed, principally in many cases because the only one at hand, and "waiting."

I do not care to marry. I rather be free. I have talents to cultivate. A grand future is about to open before me. Domestic life is too humdrum for me. I cannot settle down to devote myself to one man; as some of the objections which suggest themselves to the ambitious maiden,

CHELSEA, JAN. 2, 1873.

The Old and New Year.

Ring out the old, ring in the new, Ring, happy bells, across the snow! The year is going, let him go; Ring out the false, ring in the true!

Ring out false pride in place and blood, The civic slander and the spite; Ring in the love of truth and right; Ring in the common love of good!

Ring out old shapes of foul disease, Ring out the narrowing lust of gold; Ring out the thousand wars of old, Ring in the thousand years of peace!

Ring in the valiant man and free, The larger heart, the kinder hand; Ring out the darkness of the land; Ring in the Christ that is to be!

The New Year.

Nothing is more precious than time, and those who mispend it are the greatest of all prodigals.—Theophrastus.

As again the New Year comes round, a crowd of old associations gather to the memory, associating the Present with the shadows of the Past. It is a strange, strange mystery—but no less a mystery than a truth—that one of the chief sweets of memory is drawn from the melancholy which follows in its train.

In lonely moments of meditation, does not the union of tender memories, cheerful and regretful, bring forth an offspring of tears, children of thought, soothing and sorrowful in their influence upon the human mind? And what is the meaning of such tears? Answer springs to the lips in the "marvellously musical language of Tennyson:—

"Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean, Tears from the depth of some divine despair Rise in the heart, and gather in the eyes, In looking on the happy Autumn fields, And thinking of the days that are no more."

But as there are the pleasures of Memory, so also there are the pleasures of Hope; and whilst we look back upon what we have achieved or failed to achieve in the past, we may look forward to achieving again, or for the first time, in the future. As the year just passed away is consigned to the archives of the past, so a new year takes its place, and woos us to achievements, the ever-willing prize of industry and integrity. The years are the Kings of Time—and, as with the kings of men, the king never dies. "The king is dead!"—"Long live the king!"—is pronounced in one and the same breath but the new king of men is known by a different title, as the new king of Time is known by a different date.

And whilst with regret we look back on the past—on neglected opportunities for doing and getting good—we may look with bright hope to the future, which presents a path upon which we may march, led by the proper lights, to pleasant victories and pure pleasures. Let us then start fair upon the new race for honest fame and fortune; and on the eve of such a race let us—by the cheerful fire-side, over the festive board, surrounded by venerable representatives of the Past, hearty representatives of the Present, and rosy representatives of the Future. We wish one and all of the readers of the Chelsea Herald, "A HAPPY NEW YEAR!"

A ROMANCE FROM REAL LIFE.—Charles Smith, who some weeks since got in with a freight conductor, rode in the caboose with him from Zanesville to Columbus and stole his watch, was arrested on Wednesday, and turns out to be a girl named Goldsborough. Years ago she was a thief in Columbus. Two years after she returned in boy's clothes, got employment in a saloon, slept with the proprietor for three months without discovery of sex, then stole his money and left. Since then she has been a bar keeper and driver on the canal, and when arrested had a love letter with a lock of hair in her pocket, showing that she had won the affections of an artless daniel in Cleveland, and engaged to marry her. The watch was pawned in Cincinnati in the name of the conductor from whom it was stolen.

The total length of electric land telegraphs in the world is set down at 180,000 miles, or more than sufficient to girdle the earth half a dozen times.

who perhaps for years stretches her neck, cranialike, above and out of sight of the means of culture, improvement, and practical providing of the essentials of life—looking way beyond all sense or reason for a chance to rise to greatness by a sudden leap into popularity, notoriety and observation. A mission to fulfill. A work to do. For Heaven's sake set about it before prevented by old age and second childhood. It is a queer mission which keeps a woman idly dreaming the day away, longing for some indefinite greatness, and makes her forget to make her bed, that she may sleep comfortably at night.

Greatness seldom comes suddenly to anyone, and never to those who fail to fill in the niches of minor duties as they come along from day to day. S. M.

BRIEF MENTION.

Red noses are becoming fashionable. Shovel the snow from your side walks. Note the crowded stores of the merchants who advertise. Leave your washing out over the night, now. Poor people need the clothing for winter use. Mr. and Mrs. Hovey will please accept our thanks for the courtesy of choice wedding cake. And, also, our best wishes that their future may be as happy and glorious as the union of the East and West. Lift it up tenderly, handle with care, for my Dolly Varden is packed up there. This is the latest instruction to express agents. If any person has doubts whether advertisements are read or not, let him put something he doesn't wish seen in an obscure part of the paper. A Western editor, in acknowledging the gift of a peck of onions from a subscriber, says: "It is such kindnesses as these that bring tears to our eyes." Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clark celebrated their wedding in Lyndon, on Christmas day. They had quite a gathering, and received quite a number of wooden presents. A HAPPY NEW YEAR!—Trusting that all our readers will be prospered during the coming twelve months, and determined to do our best to make our paper a welcome visitor, we wish each and every reader a Happy Year. Many thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Taylor for a bountiful supply of wedding cake. Like the cake—may time with them pass sweetly away—and the frosting of age only bring to them pleasant memories. Advice to persons who are in the habit of leaving doors open, and they are numerous, is now in order. It takes some people all winter to get over their summer habits; yet no one is satisfied, in this climate, without a winter habit. READY FOR BUSINESS.—Mr. J. N. Pries, Merchant Tailor, wishes to inform the people of Chelsea and vicinity, that he is now prepared to do all kinds of work in his line. Cutting down to order at reasonable rates. Make him a visit. Benevolence is to be estimated not by the amount given, but by what it cost to give it. The editor of an English paper recently received an envelope containing six penny stamps, on the inside of which were written these words: "Fastened a meal to give a meal." That was true benevolence. People should be careful to buy their postage stamps at the post offices only. The Post Department is in receipt of information, it is reported, to the effect that a large quantity of bogus postage stamps are circulating. They are excellently engraved, nearly equal to the genuine. A young man in this village, just out of college, caused his mother to faint and his father to pull out several handfuls of grey hairs in agony because he remarked at the breakfast table that he needed exercise, and thought he would proceed to the woodshed and manipulate in alternate opposite directions the metallic instrument with the serrated edge, used for the separation of specimens of the highest development of vegetable growth into convenient lengths for culinary combustion. The old man thought his offspring contemplated suicide until he found he was only going in to saw a few sticks of stove wood. LIMA ITEMS.—We learn that the pastor and his lady of the M. E. Church, were the happy and much surprised recipients of valuable presents on last Christmas eve. The former having received a fine new overcoat and pair of fur gloves—the latter a plush carriage robe and a purse of money. A CARD.—Rev. W. M. Triggs and wife, desire to return their sincere thanks to many friends in Lima, for the very valuable and acceptable gifts bestowed upon them on Christmas eve. May a bountiful Providence reward them for their kindness. W. M. TRIGGS, J. M. TRIGGS. "Come in, there's a fire in the parlor, were the whispered words we heard while passing a house on Main street last evening. It is such little courtesies as these that increase the wood dealer's profits and tend to make the baker sweat over six-story wedding cakes before the winter is over. EUPULIA, ALA., March 29, 1870. Messrs. J. H. Zella & Co., Mason, Ga.: GENTS: Your Simmons' Liver Regulator has been in use in my family for some time, and I am persuaded that it is a valuable addition to the Medical Sciences. Respectfully yours, JOHN GLETT SHOOTER

The Editor's Dream.

'Twas night, and such a night as earth never saw before. Murky clouds veiled the fair face of the heavens, and gave to more than Egyptian darkness 'em yet a deeper dye. The astonished moon fled away, and the stars had hid themselves in the engulfing blackness, as if to view the scene were a sin. The streams suddenly became stagnant, and their waters became silny pools. The mountains trembled. The forests shook down their leaves, and naked trunks and limbs stood in terrified nakedness. Flowers forgot to bloom, and gave no fragrance to the stifling air. Serpents hissed, harpies screamed. The beasts of the field fled to the haunts of men as if they might find safety. The birds of the air flew 'hither and yon in bewildered fright, while the fishes of the sea were cast up dead along the shore. The king of the jungles relinquished his half-caten prey, the tiger fled howling to his lair, and the horrid hyena ceased his feast upon the dead men that strewed the scorching sands of the Sahara. Nature made a fearful pause, and blackness and thick darkness was over all. But the morning came, and with it a beautiful change, the sun shone out in magnificent splendor. The ladies and gentlemen of Chelsea, were all dressed up in style, paying a visit to the several business firms. Their first visit was to Glazier & Armstrong's store, and were astonished to see the fine goods in endless variety, they sold so cheap for cash. They then made a visit to L. Babcock & Co.'s dry goods store, and examined their stock, which they pronounced to be first class goods, and as cheap as could be bought in the market. The next visit they made was to B. J. Billings' hardware establishment, where they were introduced to Mr. Billings, who in a frank manner, showed them all over, and they were satisfied that he sold hardware as cheap as any other firm in town. They then went to Aaron Durand's store, where they examined all his culico's, ready-made clothing, groceries, etc., to which they pronounced cheap and good. And from there they went to G. H. Coleman's drug and grocery store, where they were kindly invited to take a seat—they did so. They then got up and looked all over Mr. C.'s goods, and pronounced them cheap, and of first quality. And from there they went to L. Tichenor's boot and shoe establishment, and examined goods and ladies wear of home manufacture, and said they were as fine an article that could be manufactured in Detroit or Chicago. From there they went to the new custom Feed Mill of Mil-spaugh & Bachman, where they were kindly received; and having examined all the machinery and the mode of grinding, they said they had ample facilities for doing custom work, and hope the people of Chelsea and vicinity would patronize them liberally. They then made a visit to the two newly married couples. The first was Mr. and Mrs. Hovey where they were received kindly. After getting rested they got up and wished Mr. and Mrs. Hovey great success in life. They then proceeded to the residence of J. M. C., and were taken into a beautiful room, where they were introduced to Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, and all the rest of the family. After resting, they then wished Mr. and Mrs. Taylor a long life, happiness and prosperity. They then went up to the HERALD office, with smiling faces, and paid up all the back subscription, to which the editor felt happy at seeing so many beautiful ladies and gentlemen; and also to see the subscription money. He felt good. But let the editor awake, and found it was only a dream.

Something Rich.

A Parkersburg paper says that several members of the legislature took the cars of Gratton late on the evening of the 19th ult., for Wheeling, and among the number was a Mr. G., of somewhat large proportions physically, and a Mr. D., of proportional undersize. These two—the stalwart Mr. G. and the smooth faced little Mr. D.—took a berth together, it seems, in a sleeping car. The little man laid behind, and the good natured Mr. G. before. Mr. D. was soon sleeping and snoring furiously. Mr. G. more restless under his legislative burdens, soon arose, and was sitting by the stove, when an elderly lady came aboard and desired a berth. "All right, madam," said G., "I took a berth with my son, and you can occupy my place in that berth where my little boy is sleeping." "Taking Mr. G. at his word, the lady disrobed, and laid down with the boy. After a quiet repose of some time the boy, Mr. G., became restless for some cause, and began to kick around, to the annoyance of the old lady. So, in a maternal manner, she patted him on the back and said: "Lie still, sonny; pa said I might sleep along with you." "Thinner and lightning," cried the legislator, who are you? I am no boy. I'm a member of the West Virginia Legislature." It is said that the lady swooned, and could not be brought to till Mr. D. pronounced that Mr. G. should be impeached. D. swears that the thing shall not rest here. What action the legislature will take for the purpose of protecting its own dignity remains to be seen. The North Lake Aid Society met at the residence of Mr. Twamley, to make merry the eve of December 25th. As North Lake is against the world for an entertainment, a success was the result. Everything passed off as lively as a marriage bell, until leave takings were said, and the people were retiring to their respective homes, when an unlooked for accident filled all with consternation. As Francis Burkhardt and lady were leaving the gate, the horse took fright, turning over the cutter and throwing the occupants into the snow, which was very deep. But we are glad to say that neither of them were seriously hurt. The remains of the cutter were gathered together, and it is thought it can be made over with some trouble.

MARRIED.

In Chelsea, on Christmas eve, 1872, by the Rev. L. C. Patton, Mr. CHARLES BURTON HOVEY, to Miss ELLA ROSE-STEWART, all of Chelsea, Mich. Long may sunshine round thee linger Bright as that around thee now, Ere the touch of sorrows finger Leaves a blight upon thy brow. On Tuesday, Dec. 31, 1872, at the residence of the bride's father, by the Rev. Wm. B. Holt, Mr. D. R. TAYLOR, Editor and Proprietor of the Springfield (Mo.) Times, to Miss LINA S. CONGDON, of Chelsea. The bee through many a garden roves, And hums the lay of courtship o'er; But when it finds the flower it loves, He settles there and hums no more.

Mortgage Sale.

DEFAULT having been made in the condition of a certain indenture of mortgage, made and executed by Frank Stafs, Jr., and Lena his wife, to Brooks & Adams, bearing date twenty-second day of August, 1870, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Washington county and State of Michigan, in book 43 of mortgages, on page 318, on the 20th day of September, 1870, and by reason of a default in the payment of the interest falling due upon said mortgage, the same having remained due and unpaid for the space of ninety days, the whole amount of principal and interest yet unpaid upon said mortgage has become due and payable. And the power of sale contained in said mortgage having become operative by reason of such default, and the sum of ten hundred and fifty-nine dollars and seventy-five cents being claimed to be due upon said mortgage, at the date of this notice for principal and interest, beside the sum of twenty-five dollars as attorney fee for the foreclosure thereof, and no suit or proceeding at law nor in chancery having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof. Notice is therefore hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed, and by virtue of the power of sale therein contained the premises described below, together with all the after set forth, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to satisfy the amount due upon said mortgage and costs, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder, on the 4th day of April next at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, at the south door of the court house, in the city of Ann Arbor, being the building in which the Circuit Court for the county of Washtenaw is held. The mortgage premises are described as follows, to-wit: Lot number nine, in block number seventeen, according to E. Congdon's third addition, to the plat of Chelsea village. Also, a strip of land four rods wide north and south, and extending the whole length east and west lying south and adjoining the south side of the following described lands, to-wit: Commencing on the half quarter line thirteen chains and eighty-five links north, one degree west, from the southeast corner of the south-west quarter of the southeast quarter of section number twelve, township number two, south of range three, east, and running north north eighty-one degrees west, four chains and thirty-six links thence south nine degrees west, one chain and twelve links, thence south eighty-one degrees east, four chains and fifty-six links, thence north one degree west, one chain and thirteen links, on the half-quarter line to the place of beginning, all in the village of Chelsea, county and State aforesaid. Dated January 2d, 1873. BROOKS & ADAMS, Mortgagees. A. J. SAWYER, Atty for Mortgagees.

Mortgage Sale.

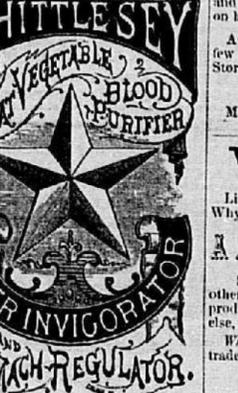

DEFAULT having been made in the condition of a certain indenture of mortgage made and executed by Shadrach H. Filer and Marion H., his wife, to Michael J. Noyes, bearing date the eighteenth day of September, in the year A. D. 1871, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Washtenaw county, and State of Michigan, in book 45 of mortgages, on page 155, on the 18th day of January, A. D. 1872, and the power of sale contained in said mortgage having become operative by reason of such default, and the sum of one hundred and eleven dollars and 14 cents being claimed to be due upon said mortgage at the date of this notice for principal and interest, beside the sum of twenty dollars stipulated therein as attorney fee for the foreclosure thereof, and no suit or proceeding at law nor in chancery having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof, notice is therefore, hereby given, that said mortgage will be foreclosed by virtue of the power of sale therein contained, the premises described in the mortgage, and here also described and set forth, or some part thereof, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder, to satisfy said mortgage and costs, on the 30th day of January next, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon, at the south door of the Court House, in the city of Ann Arbor, that being the building in which the Circuit Court for the county of Washtenaw is held. The mortgage premises are described as follows, to-wit: Lots numbered four and five, block number five, according to James M. Congdon's 2d Addition to the plat of the village of Chelsea, county and State aforesaid. M. J. NOYES, Mortgagee. A. J. SAWYER, Atty for Mortgagee. Dated Chelsea, Oct. 30th, 1872.

Mortgage Sale.

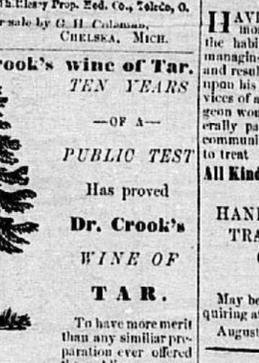

DEFAULT having been made in the condition of a mortgage made and executed by Oren W. Gage, and Elvira R. his wife, to Lewis H. Van Antwerp, bearing date the twenty-sixth day of July, A. D. 1870, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the county of Washtenaw, and State of Michigan, in book 43 of mortgages, on page 680, at six o'clock P. M. of the first day of August, A. D. 1870. Said mortgage being given to secure the balance of the purchase price for the lands therein described. And the power of sale in said mortgage, having become operative by reason of said default, and the sum of seventy four dollars and eight cents, being claimed to be due on said mortgage, and the note accompanying the same at the date of this notice, also an attorney at law, or in chancery having been instituted to recover the same or any part thereof. Notice is therefore hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged land, and premises therein described and hereinafter mentioned, and set forth or so much thereof as shall be necessary to satisfy said amount, on the 21st day of February next, at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the south door of the Court House in the city of Ann Arbor, that being the place of holding the Circuit Court for said county of Washtenaw. The said premises to be sold by virtue of the power of sale in said mortgage are described in said mortgage as follows, viz: The north-east quarter of the north-east quarter containing forty acres, and the north half of the south-east quarter of the north-east quarter, containing twenty acres, all upon section number twenty-two, township number two, south of range three east, county and State aforesaid, containing in all sixty acres of land. Dated November 18, 1872. LEWIS H. VAN ANTWERP, Mortgagee. A. J. SAWYER, Atty for Mortgagee.

W-H-Y.

Little words but oh! what a mystery Why—who can tell, why is it that AARON DURAND, Sells Goods cheaper than any other man, Why can farmers sell their produce to him for more than to any one else. Why does every body go there to trade. Why don't you find his STORE FULL OF OLD GOODS. We have often wondered why, And can only Answer WHY. Everybody is invited to CALL AND SEE HIM NOW! And he will show you WHY. Durand sometimes wonders too, and asks in tones too expressive to be misunderstood, WHY DON'T MONEY COME More readily on some of THOSE OLD ACCOUNTS. Come one come all. Surplus Stock must be sold. The highest prices in Cash paid for Wheat, Pork, Wool, and all farm products—if any one can or will offer any bargain better than he, or pay better prices, he will know the reason Why at the old reliable stand, South-east corner of Main and Liberty Street. Chelsea, Jan. 1, 1872.

VETERINARY SURGEON.

HAVING spent much time and some money in acquiring a thorough knowledge of the habits, uses and best methods of managing the horse, as well as the nature and result of disease inherent or acquired upon his system, and feeling that the services of a Practical Veterinarian and Surgeon would be gratefully received and liberally patronized by the members of this community, I will hold myself in readiness to treat All kinds of Disease in The Horse. Also give instruction in HANDLING, BREAKING OR TRAINING THE YOUNG OR THE VICIOUS. F. M. HOOKER. May be found at his residence, or by enquiring at G. H. Coleman's Drug Store. August 8, 1872.
