C. Lancaster Buys Campus Drug Store

Announcement was made this week that Charles Lancaster, who has operated Chelsea Drug Store here the past 16 years, is expanding the firm to include an Ann Arbor store — State Drug Co. at State and Packard in the campus area.

Frederick Wenk, who has been with Chelsea Drug since his graduation from Ferris School of Pharmacy at Big Rapids in 1962, will be the manager of the Ann Arbor store.

In addition to the Chelsea Drug Store at Main and Middle St., Lancaster took over the Fenn Drug Store on Main St. five years ago and now operates it as the Budget-Wise Store.

Remodeling of the front of the building, to modernize its appearance, is already under way. Lancaster said the interior will also be completely remodeled and expanded to include the neighborhood grocery store—Zeininger's—adjoining the drug store. The addition of this space will bring the entire store area to a total of 4,000 square feet of floor space.

A parking lot for 21 cars is also included.

Lancaster and his family will continue to make their home in Chelsea.

Library Winter Hours Will Begin on Sept. 9

McKune Memorial Library will be closed all day Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 7.

Library hours return to the winter schedule of additional evening hours beginning Wednesday, Sept. 9. Evening hours are 7 until 9 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Daytime hours remain the same as at present, 12 until 5 p.m. daily, Monday through Saturday.

TOP WINNER in the youth division was the Chelsea High school freshmen's float which was awarded first prize. Their float featured a replica of the Statue of Liberty. The floats were lined up before the parade at Chelsea Junior High school in preparation for taking their place in the parade. George Atkinson, parade chairman, said he appreciated the co-operation he received from all parade entrants — a big factor in getting the parade underway on time and in good order.

FIRST PRIZE FLOAT: This is the Chelsea Fire Department float which won first place and a $25 prize in the Community Fair parade Saturday. There was a total of 14 floats in the parade—all attractive, making it difficult for judges to select winners. The parade also included such interesting entries as a scale-model old-fashioned steam engine and antique cars. Chelsea Auxiliary Police personnel helped with traffic during the parade and guarded the valuable old cars while they were on display at the fairgrounds.

Schools Open Tuesday

Junior High Principal Alan Conklin announced this week that all sixth, seventh and eighth grade students are to go directly to the Junior High gymnasium at 8:30 a.m. on the opening day of school, Tuesday, Sept. 8.

He pointed out, however, that special education classes will not begin until Wednesday, Sept. 9.

Sixth grade students should bring their $5 book rental fee on the first day of school.

Milk tickets for the first marking period (80 cents) also will be on sale the first day of school, Conklin said.

Elementary Principal Sylvester Wojcicki, in announcing the opening of school Tuesday, Sept. 8, said that bus runs at the beginning of the year will remain on the same schedule as last year when school opens; kindergarteners' transportation for the first week, however, will be the responsibility of parents. This is customary procedure until bus routes for the kindergarteners may be arranged.

He reminds parents, also, that children in kindergarten through fifth grade are to bring $5 each for their book rental fees and that children in grades 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5 who will be participating in the newly-instituted hot lunch program should bring $1.40 on the first day of school. This will pay

Prize Steer Brings 62c lb. At Fair Auction

Total Attendance Believed To Be at All-Time High

Attendance at the Chelsea Community Fair for the four-day event concluded Saturday night was approximately 10,000, believed the highest figure in several years and probably to set a new record high. Apparently the general opinion is that the reason for the excellent attendance was a combination of "good evening programs, attractive display of exhibits, the large number of exhibits of all kinds and excellent weather."

Showers occurred Friday afternoon but the weather cleared in time for the evening program.

The American Legion Zouaves, in Saturday's program, were well received — one of the biggest crowds in the history of the Fair was on hand to see them.

Saturday night's drawing for door prizes given by area merchandise also kept the crowd interested.

Announcement was made that bicycles given away Saturday afternoon at the fair went to Barbara Salyer and Kathy Hopkins.

Much interest was shown, also, in the four quarters of beef awarded Saturday night, recipients being Robert Reed, A. W. Juergens, Joe Scott and Paul Curtis.

George Bauer received a large quantity of lime fertilizer which was awarded at the same time as the four quarters of beef.

GOVERNOR ROMNEY REPORTS

★ Drive Safely for Holiday Week-End

Our next national holiday, will soon be upon us, the holiday we have long observed as a tribute to the working men and women of America and to the great and vital force that is labor.

Labor Day, 1964, is important for other reasons as well. The holiday falls on a Monday, making the "Labor Day week-end" at least a three-day holiday. Motorists will again crowd the highways, the National Safety Council will again plead for safety and sobriety and yet many citizens will not live to celebrate another holiday.

I have recently issued a proclamation designating Aug. 30 through Sept. 7 as "Labor Safety Week" in Michigan. I have asked citizens to reaffirm their genuine concern for the preservation of human lives and to demonstrate this belief not only with their lips but in their daily actions.

Leaders and workers of organized labor, along with the National Safety Council, are co-operating on a nation-wide safety program that recognizes the necessity for reducing accidents not only on the job but also on the highways. It is fitting, I think, that as we honor the cause of labor, we exercise caution and common sense to preserve every life, whether at work in the plant or on the farm, or driving on the highway.

Once again, Michigan's "light your way to safety" campaign is under way. I urge all motorists to drive with their headlights turned on during the week-end to bring attention to the constant need for safe motoring. We want to reduce sharply the number of accidents on the highway over the Labor Day week-end and this can be done if drivers are reminded constantly of the need for safety.

Constraint and patience are very much a part of motoring and I urge all Michigan motorists to keep this in mind.

In addition, children will soon be returning to school and these young lives must be protected as well.

I welcome the co-operation of the labor, rank and file in the need to impress upon all citizens that safety is everybody's business, everybody's daily crusade, everybody's year-round pre-occupation. The loss of one life is the loss of one person's valuable skills and potential.

Cystic Fibrosis Group Opens Annual Campaign for Funds

More than 15,000 direct mail appeals have been prepared by the chapter. The letters were mailed Sept. 1 and the public is invited to enclose donations in the return envelope provided.

A benefit dance was held Saturday evening, Aug. 29 at the American Legion Hall in Saline.

Cystic Fibrosis takes more children's lives than polio and rheumatic heart disease and it rivals all forms of cancer. There is no known cure for Cystic Fibrosis, built-in defect in human chemistry.

The National Foundation has a network of 31 regional care, research and teaching centers located at medical schools throughout the United States. The centers, laboratories are the scene of constant research both basic and clinical, hoping to unravel the mystery of this disease.

A 15-minute movie describing CF and its treatment is available to any group in the county from Mrs. Robert Starling at 128 E. Michigan, Saline or by calling 429-9371.

Dr. Burton Perry is in charge of the Cystic Fibrosis Center at the University Medical Center in Ann Arbor. This center has received more than $35,000 in the past three years for its Ann Arbor fold program. The medical advisory board is composed of Drs. D. G. Dickinson, W. F. Howatt, Donita Sullivan, R. W. Deatrick, Burton Perry, and Robert Kelsch, all of Ann Arbor.

Officers of the Washtenaw County Chapter are president, Mrs. Robert Starling; vice-president, Vaughn Smith; recording secretary, Mrs. Cecil J. Nesbitt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Peter Frenzel; and treasurer, Cecil J. Nesbitt. Members of the board of trustees include Miss Pat Aldis, Mrs. Harold Burch, Leonard Chase, Probate Judge John Conlin, Mrs. John S. Dobson, Peter Frenzel, Andrew Jackson, Mrs. Robert Kelsch, Mrs. Esther Livingston, Rev. C. H. Loucks, Mrs. Vaughn Smith, Mrs. Albert Stroup, Mrs. Marvin Tweedy, Don Vasher, Mrs. Don Waldo and Mrs. Harry White of Ann Arbor; Mrs. Gerald Johnson, Mrs. M. A. Coffee Anyone?

Ideas for cutting down motorist fatigue and thus reducing road mishaps pour into the State Highway Department and other offices in Lansing by the dozens.

One recurring suggestion over the last several years has recently been repeated by one Michigan authority to help put such ideas into effect.

State Rep. Edward F. Michalski, Detroit Democrat, has renewed the proposal to provide roadside coffee shops at every highway rest area.

This suggestion has been answered time and time again by state officials. They say it would be impossible on the freeway routes because Federal regulations prohibit commercial development on the roadsides.

Michalski contends state owned, privately operated coffee shops on the super highways would break the monotony of driving, provide respite for passengers, and open new job opportunities for unskilled workers.

The Detroit legislator also urged a full check of off-highway facilities to be sure food, gas and lodging is available on a 24-hour basis near the high speed routes.

As a member of the Legislature, Michalski would have a voice in appropriations to the Highway Department which would be needed to put his plan into effect.

Barring any change in Federal highway policies, however, the coffee shops in rest areas appears out of the question.

A slight modification to Michalski's plan might be feasible, however. It could instead provide for the creation of off-freeway rest areas where a motorist could drive up an exit ramp to the coffee shop and just across the road (to the entrance ramp with a minimum interruption to his trip.

Extensive encouragement to private businesses to locate eating facilities immediately adjacent to exit ramps might be advisable as a means of keeping the state out of the restaurant business.

Workmen's Injuries

Traffic accident rates was not the only area of safety which took a turn for the worse this year.

State Labor Department statistics show a poor record in both manufacturing and non-manufacturing inujries during the first six months of the year.

The department has not drawn any conclusions on whether the increase in compensable workmen's injuries was attributable to the current business boom which keeps more men at work.

Some 18,154 compensable injuries were reported to the state Workmen's Compensation Department through June this year.

This represented a 26 percent increase in injuries over the last six months of 1963 and a 12 percent hike over the first half of last year.

Injury rates in manufacturing and non-manufacturing were about the same. In the manufacturing firms, the increase recorded was 27 percent over the July-December, 1963 period, and the non-manufacturing rate was a 26 percent hike.

Another Battleground

Failure of the state Apportionment Commission to reach agreement without court appraisal this year may have provided a foretaste of a similar deadlock to be seen within the next year.

Another commission created under the new Constitution has similar earmarks of deadlock. This is the Highway Commission, to be composed of four persons with no more than two from the same political party.

The Apportionment Commission was named by the two major political parties, four members from each. The Governor will appoint the Highway Commission but must make it an evenly divided body.

Argument can be made that the Highway Commission's job is not a political one. Its responsibility is to appoint a competent highway engineer-administrator to serve as Highway Director at the pleasure of the Commission.

It can be anticipated, however, that Republican Commission members will be able to find a person to fill the requirements of the post who has faithfully served their party during the years. The same can be said of the Democrats on the Commission.

A strong challenge lies ahead for this new Commission to avoid following the pattern set by the Apportionment Commission.

Strong hope still exists that the motoring public can be served in the future by a basically non-political highway director who has at heart the interests of the entire state because the Commission chose him without consideration of his or their political leanings.

Uncle Lew from Lima Says:

DEAR MISTER EDITOR:

I see by the papers where the farmers and ranchers in some parts of the country was bad in need of rain. This ain't the problem it used to be in the old days afore the Guvernment invented the farm program. I can recollect when I was a boy that a farmer would git down on his knees and pray fer rain. And most of the time he would git it. Now he just sets down and writes his Congressman for more aid. And, like in olden times with the rain, he gits it — if he votes right.

Just like the automobile done away with the horse and was now doing away with the people, so has the Guvernment nuthidy done away with the need fer much rain fer the farmer. The less he grows the more he gits from Santa Claus. Actual, fer general purposes, a farmer needs a little rain now and then to cool off the barn and keep the fish biting. It ain't good fer it to git as dry as one farmer in Georgia was claiming. He said it was so dry at his place the catfish was suffering from hayfever.

Speaking of farmers and the Guvernment, I was reading a piece showing how careful the Department of Agriculture was to see that ever farmer got his check. When this feller filled out his quota papers he put his name down as R. B. Jones. They wrote back and told him to fill in what the R and B stood fer. He told 'em they didn't stand fer nothing, that they was put on his birth certificate to comply with the law. So them clerks in the Department of Agriculture filled out his records as "R (only) B. only) Jones." He got his check prompt and it was made out to Ronly Bonly Jones. You can't beat them Guvernment agencies, Mister Editor, fer gitting the details on the records.

Gitting down to the local level, me and my old lady went to church Sunday as usual and when our pastor got through preaching his sermon he told the congregation he would like to take a vacation fer a couple weeks. One of our Deacons got up and made the motion, and to help it along he allowed as how he thought the congregation would enjoy it. The preacher got his vacation, but after that crack, I'm figgering he ain't going to enjoy it. The good Deacon didn't mean no harm, he's just one of them fellers that sticks his foot in his mouth ever time he opens it. The world is full of them kind of folks.

Actual, Mister Editor, we got a real good preacher. Fer instant, he told the congregation Sunday that if ever member of his church would live from day to day in such a manner that it wouldn't embarrass him to preach their funeral this would be the finest community in the state. That's what I call real good country preaching.

Yours truly,
—Uncle Lew.

Consider the Sandwich

Use two or more slices of round bread, spread each with a different kind of meat spread or sausage. On top place a circle of pickle slices, cream cheese and a rolled anchovy. This is a pyramid sandwich.

Like a pizza-type sandwich? Toast and butter English muffins, spread with canned pizza sauce to which you've added browned pork sausage. Top with pizza-type cheese (Mozzarella) and broil.

Put together ham and American cheese, dip in egg-milk and toast in butter in a skillet.

Use French bread cut in long pieces, butter and serve with hot broiled steak cut to fit the bread.

Spread apple butter on raisin bread and butter outside, then toast in skillet. These are wonderful for a "sweet" sandwich.

Blend together minced shrimp and hard-cooked egg. Add chopped green pepper and celery. Fill hot dog buns and top with whole shrimp.

CHELSEA telephone lines

By NICK PRAKKEN, Manager

"GET THE BIG PICTURE" is a traffic safety rule we stress with our drivers at all times—but especially now that school is starting again. Every telephone company worker who drives one of our cars or trucks is taught to be especially alert whenever a youngster appears anywhere in the "big picture"—behind or to either side of his vehicle, as well as ahead. That way, a child's impulsive decision to stop or change direction can be seen in time to avoid injury. "Get the big picture" . . . just one of the good habits Michigan Bell instills in its driver employees through a company-wide, year-round safety education program.

SAVE STEPS BEAUTIFULLY! Put a colorful extension phone wherever you'd like to reach, not run, for your calls. Wall phone, desk phone, Princess® phone . . . there's a style and color for every room. Call our Business Office to order yours today.

POINT TO REMEMBER—telephones are everywhere. And that's exactly what makes your phone so valuable to you. Because your doctor, your TV repairman, your son's school all have phones of their own, you can reach them instantly and easily. And that goes for countless other people and companies you may need to talk with in a month's time. In fact, Michigan Bell now serves over 3,300,000 telephones throughout the state, each adding to the potential usefulness of your phone.

He is now a member of the Chelsea Products' "White Jacket Club," each retiree being presented a white jacket. The white Bible, a special illustrated edition, is a gift to retirees from the Union. He also received the customary check presented to retirees from the Employees' Benefit Fund. In the photo, from left, are R. W. "FUTURAMA"

The word Futurama was mintud in 1939 by a young General Motors publicist named Frank Harting. To him must go dubious credit for the whole panorama of painful rama words that followed, from Cine—to Pizza—.

Tractor Pulling Contest Is One of Most Popular Events

Friday's tractor pulling events easily proved one of the most popualr events of the four-day fair in spite of the fact that an afternoon shower delayed part of the afternoon program. It had been planned to hold the two lightweight contests in the afternoon and have the two heavyweight classes compete in the evening.

When only one of the lightweight contests could be held in the afternoon the second had to be included in the evening's events, the competition continuing until 2 a.m. At midnight there were still approximately 1,000 spectators and there were at least 300 on hand until the final contest was completed.

Dorr Whitaker, chairman of the tractor pull events, said that the "fine sportsmanship" of all the contestants, and the co-operation of everyone who had a part in the project was responsible for the extraordinary success attained in this year's event.

He said, too, that the assistance of Don Johnson and Bill Dexter of the Washtenaw County Agriculture Extension office was "invaluable." Johnson served as the announcer and Dexter figured the percentages on each of the tractors. These percentages took into consideration the weight of the tractor and the load each pulled.

Whitaker said, "We never could have put on such a successful tractor pull without the help of these two men."

Whitaker pointed out that this year's tractor pull included 60 vehicles, an increase of 50 percent over last year's number. There were 41 tractors in the competition at the 1963 Community Fair. The 60 tractors on hand for this year's event represented a total investment of approximately a quarter of a million dollars, according to announcements during the program.

Chrysler Proving Ground provided the weights used on the sled the tractors pulled and also furnished the truck for their transportation. Harold Trinkle was in charge of the weights.

Oil dealers of the Chelsea area customarily sponsor the tractor pull financially in co-operation with the Community Fair. They include Gulf Oil, Mobil, Sinclair, Farmers' Oil, Marathon and Standard Oil.

Tractors up to 4,000 pounds—Dean Clark of Grass Lake, 1st, $25, pulling 4,500 lbs., for a percentage of approximately 120.

Jim Marion of Saline, 3rd, $10, pulling 3,500 lbs., 100.4 percent.

Tractors 4,001 to 6,000 pounls—

Don Diuble of Ann Arbor, 1st, $25, pulling 8,500 lbs., 158 percent.

Harold Wahl of Grass Lake, 2nd, $15, pulling 6,500 lbs., for a percentage of 141.

Tractors 6,001 to 8,000 pounds—Jim Jedele of Saline, 1st, $25, pulling 13,500 lbs., a percentage of 164.

Steve Trinkle of Deter, 2nd, $15, pulling 13,500 lbs. for 164 percent.

In the heavyweight class, 8,001 pounds and up—

Larry Barnhill of the Whitaker farm, Chelsea, 2nd, $15, pulling 12,000 lbs. which was figured as 136 percent, according to the weight of the tractor.

Jim Marion of Saline, 3rd, $10.

TRACTOR PULL SPONSORS: Included above are representatives of oil companies who co-operate with the Fair Board in sponsorship of the annual tractor pulls, one of the most popular features of Chelsea's annual Community Fair. Because of rain Friday afternoon the tractor pull was delayed and spectators "stayed with it" until the contest was concluded at 2 a.m., according to Dorr Whitaker, the tractor pull chairman. Standing, from left, are Whitaker, Donald Alber of Gulf Oil Co.; Alvin Foor, of Mobil; Dillman Wahl, Sinclair distributor; Ed Schmok and Robert Gilbert, representing Farmers' Oil Co. In the front row are Harold Trinkle in charge of weights; Ray Lutovsky of Chrysler Proving Ground which provided the weights and a truck for their transportation; and William Blaess, Community Fair Board president. Not present for the photo were George Knickerbocker as a representative of American Oil Co., Standard Division, and Robert Walz, representative of Marathon Oil Co. Both also contributed the customary $25 each toward prizes for the tractor pull.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Rev. ROBERT H. HARPER

THOU ART THE MAN

THE STORY of David's great sin sets in bold relief a great king of ancient Israel a scion of one of the oldest races in the world—Uriah the Hittite, a faithful and incorruptible retainer of David, a beautiful woman—Bathsheba, and Nathan—stern prophet who could rebuke a king in his wickedness.

King David from his palace saw Bathsheba bathing, desired her, and sent messengers to bring her into the palace. Then David, to cover his sin, bade Uriah, who had come to Jerusalem to report to David news of the siege the army was pressing against Rabbah to go to his house, declined with the statement that it was not proper for him to do so when the soldiers of Israel were in the field.

Whereupon, David resolved to do away with Uriah in a manner that would make it appear that he was a normal casualty of war. The King gave order that Uriah should be placed in the "forefront of the hottest battle" and to be left alone to die before the walls of Rabbah. And so was the bloody deed carried out.

Soon a visitor appeared in the palace of David—Nathan the prophet told David of a rich man who had taken from a poor man all that he had. Then David waxes strong in his wrath and as from a pinnacle of virtue declared that the rich man should die. Then, as I have imagined, Nathan took a step nearer the throne and lifted a long accusing finger in the face of the monarch, while he solemnly declared, "Thou art the man."

David repented bitterly and in his anguish some believe he wrote in Psalm 51, "Have mercy upon me, O God, according to thy tender mercies . . . blot out my transgressions."

RUSSIAN CHRSITIANS

According to the Catholic Digest, the best statistics show about 50 million Christians in the USSR—about one-fifth of the population.

GM ANNOUNCEMENT, 1939

During the 1939 World's Fair General Motors announced to its captive Futurama audience "There are approximately 38 million motorcars in this America of 1960—almost a third more than in 1940!"

But there now almost 70 million motorcars, more than three times as many as in 1940. More than any other single comparison, the gap between GM's prediction and the staggering truth points up what America has become since Futurama.

THANKING YOU ALL

The Chelsea Community Fair Board wishes to thank everyone who attended the 1964 Fair. It is this display of interest that helps our community continue forward with a great future. A million thanks to all division heads and chairmen who did a magnificent job to make this, your 1964 Community Fair a real success.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS FLOAT was the second-place winner in the youth division of Saturday's Community Fajr parade. Comments of spectators indicated that they felt judges would have a difficult time to select winners since all the floats were attractive and showed ingenuity and good planning. Spectators also were heard to comment that the parade was a fine one and "bigger and better than ever." With the primary election imminent, several candidates for nomination took advantage of the opportunity to appear in the parade.

THANKS

A very special "Thank You" to all who helped with the admissions at the gates at the Chelsea Community Fair. This help was deeply appreciated.

Harold Knott.

CARD OF THANKS

Words are inadequate to express our appreciation for the wonderful co-operation we received from people of the entire community—those who contributed, those who worked in the kitchen and dining room, those who patronized the dining room — everyone who in any way helped during the fair days and in making preparations for the annual restaurant project. We are deeply grateful for the thoughtfulness and courtesy extended to us. Thank you.

Community Fair Restaurant Chairmen:
Lulu Sweeny and Gerry Klink.

THANKS

As Saturday's kitchen chairman at the Chelsea Community Fair I wish to express my personal thanks to everyone who donated food, money, time anl effort—those who were so helpful in the kitchen, the teen-age girls in the dining room, Joan Kipfmiller for her telephone work — just everyone!

Sincerely,

Michigan Features Extensive Variety of Camping Facilities

Lansing — The peak camping period in Michigan is at hand and, despite addition of several hundred campsites, the "No Vacancy" sign is expected to be hanging on the gates of some of the most popular parks soon.

Increasing interest in camping in recent years has kept the demand ahead of the supply although Michigan has more than 10,300 campsites in state parks ready for 1964 visitors.

The Michigan Tourist Council advises campers that they should consider the more than 4,000 campsites in state and federal forests and in county and township parks if they find their favorite state park full.

In addition camping is permitted on most of the more than seven million acres of public forest land in the northern two-thirds of the state even though there are no designated campsites.

State parks offer the most complete facilities, in most cases, with bathhouses, flush toilets, electricity and concession stores. For use of these facilities a $2 annual or 50 cent daily park permit is required in addition to a $1 daily camping fee and a 25 cent daily use charge for electricity if desired.

From June 15 through Labor Day campers are limited to 15 days in any one state park with an additional 30 days during other months of the year. No reservations are accepted for state park campsites.

Some of the county and township parks also charge a fee to cover maintenance and campers should inquire about these charges locally.

There are no fees for camping in state and national forest campgrounds most of which have pit toilets, picnic tables, fireplaces and a water supply. There are no attendants at these camp grounds but camping is limited to 20 days at one site in state forests and 21 days in federal forests.

In public forests outside designated camp grounds no permits or fees are required and there is no restriction on camping except during the November deer season when a registration card, available at license dealers, is required.

Many of the camping areas outside state parks offer spectacular scenery, excellent fishing and uncrowded conditions which more than make up for more primitive facilities.

A directory of Michigan camping facilities is available free of charge from the Michigan Tourist Council, Lansing 48926.

Too many eye witnesses usually confuse the story.

IN THE OPEN

By Lee Smits

The art of fishing gets considerably more expertizing (what a wonderful word!) than the art of hunting. There is a steady output of books on fly-tying, fly-casting, bait casting, spinning; books on any species of game fish you can name, authoritative articles on fishing gear, on just how to fish for whatever kind of fish you're after. All this in addition to the where-to-go and how-to-get there which is a basic theme of the bulk of today's outdoor writing.

Advertising pages of outdoor magazines offer a fascinating variety of gadgets for the fishermen, including miraculous lures with moneyback guarantees. There are depth-finders, aquatic thermometers, calendars showing when the sun, moon and stars are most favorable for fishing. All of which testifies to the deep mystery of fish behavior.

The gadgetry and the expertizing are by no means phoney and futile. Successful anglers take into account all of the conditions that might affect fish appetites. They are earnest students of fish psychology, they carry a large assortment of lures. They will even take time out to do a quick job of fly-tying on the bank of a stream.

In addition to the study of all the factors contributing to fishing success, there is a big satisfaction in exploring new fishing grounds. It might seem that the chance would be pretty slim of finding, in Michigan waters, fish habitat that hasn't been exploited, but along the islands, reefs and shores of Lake Michigan and Lake Huron, there are still small-mouth bass bonanzas that haven't been tapped. The standard exploring method is to drift or troll, slowly, with a marking buoy, handy to pitch overboard at the first strike. A night-crawler, real or snythetic, fished close to the bottom usually is effective. Small-mouth, gorged with crayfish, will pounce on a fat worm or a minnow handicapped by hook and line.

There is a special thrill in fishing a strange wilderness lake or pond. Casting from shore is not satisfactory. Wading is better. A portable boat is best of all. There are numerous models of folding and inflatable boats on the market.

There is an ancient device an explorer might use to test the fishing in a boatless lake; a Norwegian sled. The Norwegian sled is just that — a sled, about three feet long, half as wide, constructed of light stuff, with a bridle attached, fore and aft, on one side, the point of the V-shaped bridle is adjusted so that as the sled is towed from shore at the end of a lengthy line, the sled veers outward. The sled tows a trolling line. A pond of a few acres can be preey well covered by maneuvering the sled. This was the method used by settlers to take pike from prairie lakes.

Not much can be ssaid for sled fishing as a sport but for sampling the fish population of a wilderness lake it should work pretty well. No reason, of course, why the sled couldn't be used to haul a line with live bait out into deep water. A simpler method of reaching out with hook and line would be to carry a few toy balloons, attach line to blown-up balloon and let the wind sail it out.

A non-fisherman might regard such devices as silly, but any angler who has come upon a backwoods lake with fish rising just beyond casting reach would understand the urgent need to do something about it.

Mr. Smits' column is presented through the courtesy of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Company. Mr. Smits will be pleased to answer any questions sent in.

ON REPORTING INCOME

The Senate has turned down a proposed new rule for disclosure of the outside financial interests of its members and top employees. It has, in turn, proposed a seventeen-member commission to conduct a two-year study of measures to insure high ethical standards among all Federal officials. The proposal that went down in defeat was an outgrowth of the Bobby Baker investigation.

Topeka, Kan. — Placed in jail and forgotten, Homer Lee Castleberry, 46, has filed for $50,000 damages. During 37 days in jail, Homer alleges, he was denied the right of talking to an attorney and making bail. The sheriff said the was apparently a slip-up in paper work at the jail.

The NATIONAL OUTLOOK

By GEORGE HAGEDORN

★ Population Growth Rate Is Unpredictable

One of the essential starting points for any long-range industrial planning is an estimate of what the country's population will be 10, 20, or 30 years ahead. We are reminded how uncertain such projections are by the revisions the Census Bureau has just made in its population estimates for 1985. The revisions are not really drastic but they look for slightly less growth over the next 20 years than had previously been anticipated.

The Census Bureau never gives merely one figure for future population—it always presents it estimate in the form of a range. The "high" estimate based on 1958 information projected a population in 1985 that would be 59 percent above its present level, the new "high" estimate indicates growth of only 44 percent over the same period.

Projections Err

If this is the extent to which we have to revise our expectations, we should not be too much disturbed. But population projections in the past have sometimes proved to be not merely wrong but totally mistaken as to trend. Thus in the mid-1930's the official projections foresaw a population that would level off at about 150 million, and be no higher than that in the year 2000. We are already close to 200 million and expect a population of well over 300 million in 2000.

We may be just as mistaken as we were in the 1930's although perhaps in the opposite direction, in the advance population estimates being made now. It all depends on the behavior of the new generation of war and immediate post-war babies, as they reach the age to marry and start raising their own families.

Economic Factors

Anyone who lives close to these young people knows that they are a new breed. Their values and their way of looking at life are their own. The economic environment in which they will find themselves at the start of their careers may be quite different from that encountered by their parents at the same stage. It is a risky business to guess how they will react in terms of the age at which they marry and the number of offspring they decide to have.

At present the unemployment rate among teen-agers is nearly three times the average for the labor force as a whole. In the age-group 20 to 25 years the rate is substantially lower than for the teen-agers but still higher than the overall average. If this continues, it could be a deterrent to early marriage and large families.

Aside from future economic conditions, there are unknowns of an even less ponderable nature. There are fashions in family size, as unpredictable and inexplicable as the changing length of hemlines.

If anyone's business plans depend on estimates of future population and the rate of family formation, he had better allow for a sizable margin of error.

CHELSEA VILLAGE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

August 18, 1964
Council Room

Regular Session.

This meeting was called to order at 8:00 p.m. by Pres. Haselschwardt.

Invocation by the Rev. Elmer Steenson of the Chelsea Baptist Church.

Trustees present: Bollinger, Burg, Chapman, Crouch, Weber and Wood.

The minutes of the Reg. Session of August 4, 1964 were read and approved.

A discussion was held with a group of Lanewood residents, regarding the present method of determining sewer rental rates.

It should be clarified that the Lanewood residents were not asking for any special concessions regarding the sewer rates, but intended only to bring to the attention of the Council that perhaps a study of the water and sewer rates would establish a more equitable charge for the residents of the village as a whole.

A complete study of the sewer and water rates will be made.

A discussion was held with Mr. Jud Bacon, representing Consumers Power Co., regarding the proposed power equipment purchase and the power sales contract. Sales contracts and agreements were submitted to the Village by Consumers Power Co., the Chelsea Elec. & Water Committee, Homer Nixon, and John Keusch were instructed to analyze the contract and agreement and submit their recommendations at the September 1, 1964 Council meeting.

A discussion was held with Mr. Peter Kurzy regarding the overall storm sewer system of the village. Mr. Kurzy submitted recommendations for consideration and discussion for future planning.

A discussion was held regarding the need for an improved tree trimming program. Street lights are obstructed by leaves nad branches. Branches are too low over some sidewalks. Pres. Haselschwardt instructed Bollinger, Chapman and Weber to investigate the problem.

This notice is given pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Chelsea Village Council at a regular meeting thereof held August 18, 1964.

Motion by Chapman, supported by Crouch to approve the above Notice of Amendment to Village Zoning Ordinance No. 55 and all amendments thereto, as read. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

A discussion was held relative to the sewage treatment plant operation with no official action at this time.

A request was entered by Dorothy Eiseman of 121 E. Summit St. to build a porch two feet closer to her front lot line. Letters were submitted by her immediate neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Balmer, and Mr. and Mrs. Hurshel O'Dell stating no objection to the proposed variance.

Motion by Crouch, supported by Wood, to approve the variance as submitted by Dorothy Eiseman. Roll call: Yeas all. Motion carried.

All David Gordon has to average for the next two months is 89½ pounds of butterfat to break the 600 pound barrier. He will do that I am sure.

Don & Bob Stuart must average 46 pounds of fat. With 100% of their cows in milk, I believe they will also make 600 pounds of butterfat.

Interesting sidelights—There are 2060 herds with 79,504 cows on DHIA test in Michigan right now. There are 49 herds with 2013 cows on DHIA test in Washtenaw county. There are 1575 herds with 45,163 cows on Owner Sampler test in Michigan. There are 16 herds with 653 on Owner Sampler test in Washtenaw county.

BEATLES ROBBED

London — Thieves broke into the apartment of two of the Beatles and took cuff links and cash — a value of about $560. It was believed the thieves entered by climbing across an adjoining roof and forcing the windows of the apartment of guitarist George Harrison and Drummer Ringo Starr.

All-Time Tiger Team Is Selected

The 29-year-old outfielder, now in his 12th season with the Tigers, was the only player still in uniform to land a place among the fans' top selections.

The poll, according to The Blade's sports experts, reflected intense interest of young fans, who named a number of current Tiger players to runner-up positions. Second choices included Norm Cash at first base, Jerry Lumpe at second, Don Wert at third, and Bill Freehan behind the plate.

187 Participate in Library's Summer Reading Program

The summer reading program for children at McKune Memorial Library, in co-operation with the Washtenaw County Library, was concluded Friday, Aug. 21. A total of 187 children participated.

Of these, one child read a total of 50 books in her age group; two read 40 books each; four were credited with reading 30 or more; 10 read 20 or more; and 17 read 10 or more of the books.

Called "Reading for Fun" the summer program for children five to 12 years old began June 15.

Approximately 100 new children's books were purchased by the library in preparation for the summer project.

Children's books available at the library for the reading program included 43 known as "Newberry Medal" books and 27 as "Caldecott Medal" books.

Books must meet exacting standards to be included on these two lists, the latter being principally illustrated books for younger children, while the Newberry list gives titles suitable for older children.

For ages five and six, a total of 39 books were on the recommended list, while the four other age groups—7-8; 9; 10-11; and 12—each had a choice of 35.

Credit was given for reading books on these lists or others by the same authors.

Each child who registered for the summer reading project was given a form with spaces for their name, address, age, grade and school and for listing the books they read.

These forms will be sent to the child's teacher as a service of the library. It is believed the information will be helpful to teachers and pupils.

Co-operating in the children's summer reading program were the Ann Arbor Public Library, Dexter District Library, McKune Memorial Library of Chelsea, Manchester Township Library, Milan Free Library, Saline Public Library, South Lyon Public Library, Washtenaw County Library, Willow Run Public Library and Ypsilanti Public Library.

Budget Stretcher Hints Offered By U-M Dieticians

Ann Arbor — Milk, meat and eggs add up to nearly half of your family food budget, say dietitians at the University of Michigan Medical Center, and here are tricks to stretch every dollar you spend on these essential items.

Whole milk is an excellent source of calcium, protein and riboflavin. But, say the U-M specialists, these same ingredients are also found in other forms of milk-powered, skim, evaporatel and buttermilk—"and at widely varying cost."

The dietitians say you can use non-fat dry milk solids in most recipes calling for whole milk. Sift the powder right in with flour, sugar and other dry ingredients, then add water for the necessary liquid content.

Among the foods you can make with money-saving powdered milk are pancakes, muffins, biscuits, cooked cereals, meat loaf, mashed potatoes, cocoa, white sauce, cakes and puddings.

Buying less expensive cuts of meat can also stretch the family food dollar while maintaining essential nutritional value.

Lean meat from a chuck roast is considerably less expensive than prime ribs of beef, yet each makes the same contribution to your diet.

But, warn the U-M dietitians, cheaper cuts of meat are no bargain if they contain large amounts of bone, fat and gristle. So you should never shop for meat by the price tag alone.

To cut down on the egg bill, buy eggs of lower market grades when you plan to use them for scrambling, or baking, or in combination with other foods.

The color of the shell sometimes affects the price of eggs but, say the dietitians, it has no bearing in size and quality, choose the color that is less expensive and pocket your savings.

AGRICULTURE in ACTION

by M. L. Vogel

★ Your Problems Too

Farmers are greatly concerned with their immediate future, and there are state and national signposts to show that they have every reason to be.

Farmers face the possibilities of less friendly legislatures resulting from the Supreme Court apportionment ruling. Then too, there will be a newly-elected president of the United States in office this January when the new Congress meets.

Adding to the unease are changes due in nearly all of the "emergency" farm legislation enacted in recent years, most of which expire with the 1965 crops. These include: the present feed-grain program, the International Wheat Agreement, and the National Wool and Sugar Acts.

Most important is the expiration of those provisions of the Agricultural Act of 1964, which permitted the Secretary of Agriculture to place the controversial Wheat Certificate plan into effect without a referendum of growers.

In Michigan, four out of five wheat farmers voted against the program. Still Congress ignored these wishes to enact the plan, without a referendum, for the 1964-65 year.

Mixed in with these more obvious big issues are dozens of lesser ones that farmers cannot ignore. Such things as tax reform, farm labor and a multitude of marketing problems are among them.

Even though most of these are loosely classified as "farm" problems — the general public has a much greater stake in what happens in these areas than many would suppose.

This country began as an agricultural nation with the people gradually moving saway from the land as productive capacity of the farms allowed. There is time now, for the pursuit of a thousand-and-one occupations other than farming, all of which makes this nation so rich.

But those left on the land, the vital six or seven percent, voice this plea: "Don't forget we're here so that YOU can be there, doing whatever you prefer doing."

"Don't forget that as the agriculture of a nation goes—so goes that nation."

The nationally recognized St. Andrew's Bagpipe Band and the Highland Dancers, sponsored by the St. Andrew's Society of Detroit, will perform for senior citizens on Old Timers Day, Sept. 2, at the Michigan State Fair, which runs from Aug. 28, through Labor Day, Sept. 7.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Frequently praised, at times criticized, the board of education must weather all climates of opinion if it is to carry out the responsibility of running a school system that will provide a quality education for children under its jurisdiction.

Although all citizens have the right to attend school board meetings and speak to or question issues on the floor, final decision on school issues resides with the board of education.

In its appointed legislative and judicial capacity the board of education is called upon to project educational needs from nursery school through junior college. Along with curriculum problems, the board of education occupies itself with the important task of maintaining the business of education. In financial considerations the board must adopt a budget able to meet the community's ability to pay, decide the salaries of school personnel, and determine the school building program and what operative school equipment should be purchased.

Points vital to remember are that school board members are voted into their positions in open elections and that members of the board of education represent a cross section of individuals whose prime concern is the student and education.

This is one of a series of education features published as a public service in cooperation with the Michigan Press Association, the Michigan Education Association and this newspaper.

Officers Elected at Chelsea Social Service Annual Meet

The annual meeting of the Chelsea Social Service was held in the organization's office in the Municipal Building on Monday, Aug. 24, with the following officers and members of the Board present: Louis Burghardt, president; Mrs. P. G. Schaible, secretary; Mrs. Leroy Hoffman, treasurer, Mrs. E. W. Eaton, Harold Jones, and Mrs. Louis Ramp, directors. Absent were Mrs. R. W. Wagner, Mrs. Charles Schmunk, Charles Lancaster and Ferd Merkel.

All officers and members were re-elected under a new system of staggered terms varying from one to three years.

Principal business of the meeting was contained in the reports of the treasurer and director. It was revealed that all committments have been met, while staying within the income of $1,600 from the Community Chest and $250 from various gifts. However, it is anticipated the need will be greater in the coming year because of the disbanding of the Needlework Guild, which formerly provided most of the school clothing and bedding distributed by the Social Service.

From the director's report, it was learned that 307 persons or families in the Chelsea school district — the area served by the Social Service — have been known to the agency since it opened on Nov. 1, 1956. Of these, 23 were new this fiscal year. Of these, 15 were added to the active file, two were transients assisted to get on their way, and six were seen only at Christmas.

During the year, the agency worked with 58 family units or single persons. Contacts, including office interviews, home calls and telephone conversations, showed a small increase over the previous year and it was noted that the summer months have been busier than in past years.

The total of contacts, both with persons served and with agency personnel or others interested in clients of the agency was 308 in the current year and 277 in the previous year. 100 children and 34 adults were assisted locally at Christmas, while 27 adults were referred to the Salvation Army in Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Ramp's report revealed that the giving of material assistance is a small part of the work of the Chelsea Social Service, Counselling, interceding for applicants with other agencies and assisting persons in planning for emergencies is the principal function of the agency.

Eisemann-Whalen Vows Repeated in Recent Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whalen are now at home at 8128 Halfway Dr., Hamburg, following their return this week from a wedding trip to Oshkosh, Wis. They were married at a 2 p.m. ceremony Saturday, Aug. 22, at the Congregational church here, with the Rev. Paul M. Schnake, pastor of St. Paul's church officiating.

Donald Bussler was the soloist. He sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride is the former Sherry Eisemann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Eisemann while the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Claire Whalen of Hamburg.

The bride's floor-length gown was fashioned of white silk-faced peau, the fitted bodice having a sabrina neckline and kabuki sleeves edged with venise lace. The controlled sheath skirt had a white border of matching lace at the hemline. The detachable chapel train was fastened at the back waistline with a flat, self-fabric bow. Her elbow-length veil was held in place with a forward headpiece of tiny leaves of matching peau and her bouquet was a cascade of white sweetheart roses and stephanotis.

The matron of honor, Mrs. B. Sakstrup of Hamburg, wore a gown of fuchsia silk organza with a bell-shaped skirt, sabrina neckline and three-quarter sleeves.

The bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Thomas Dollar of Oshkosh, Wis., and Brenda Wireman were bridesmaids. Both wore lavender gowns styled like that of the maid of honor.

Laurie Straub, a niece of the bride, and Ronnie Dollar, nephew of the bridegroom, served as flower girl and ringbearer.

B. Sakstrup assisted the bridegroom as best man and ushers were Gordy Thomson of Hamburg and Mike Eiseman, the bride's brother.

At a reception later for more than 200 guests held at the Odd Fellow Hall at Hamburg, those who assisted included Mrs. Daniel Loepke, Mrs. Donna Thorpe, a cousin of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Donald Ferguson, sister of the bride.

English JCC Youth To Be Local Guest

Michael Watkin, 22-year-old Jaycee from Sheffield, Yorkshire, England, will be the guest speaker at the Chelsea Jaycees meeting at Stivers restaurant Tuesday, Sept. 8, at 8 p.m., it was announced this week.

Watkin is the recipient of the British national Jaycee Overseas Travel Award Scheme, which he won in a national competition and under which travel expenses and stipend are paid by that organization.

According to present plans, Watkin will work as a position analyst at the University's personnel office in Ann Arbor and be presented to and talk before groups in Ann Arbor and elsewhere in the state.

One of the basic reasons for Watkin's six-month stay in this area is to broaden his background in personnel work, David Norrgard, chairman of the Ann Arbor Jaycees international apprenticeship program, said.

Watkin assists in wage negotiations and wage claim analysis at Steel, Peech & Tozer, Ltd., a unit of the United Steel Companies, Ltd., in England. In this connection, visits to Detroit area steel plants are being arranged.

Recreation Areas Exchange Managers

Further shifts of Conservation supervisory personnel in line with regional and district reorganization plans in southern Michigan was announced this week by Warren W. Shapton, regional manager for the Conservation Department.

Bottke has managed the Pinckney Recreation Area since 1949, while Roeske, formerly Park Manager at Brimley has been in Brighton since early in 1964.

Fortune Named To Head State Abrasives Group

Leonard L. Fortune, 1354 Glendaloch Circle, Ann Arbor, has been elected president of the Central Michigan chapter of the American Society for Abrasive Methods.

Fortune is president of Fortune Industries, Inc., in Chelsea.

The American Society for Abrasive Methods is a national technical organization of abrasive engineers and specialists dedicated to the advancement and sharing of knowledge within the industry and the development of improved processes and skills in the abrasive field.

It has 14 chapters across the nation, with national headquarters in Chicago.

Road Commission Seeks Bids for New Building

The contract has been let for bid on construction of the new Washtenaw County Road Commission building to be located on Zeeb Rd. betwten Dexter-Ann Arbor Rd. and I-94, and wells have been drilled at the site, according to Scio township supervisor James Tryand.

Howard Minier, manager of the Washtenaw County Road Commission, has presented a layout of the facility to the Scio Township Planning Commission, and pointed out that large trees will be transplanted toward the front of the building. None of the construction will be visible from the road, he told the committee.

It is hoped that the new road commission building will be completed by mid-August next year. Because of its availability to the expressway, county snow removal will be speeded up, and the fact that it is being built almost in the center of the county, Tryand said will make much greater county-wide efficiency possible than under the present set-up where it is located in the heart of Ann Arbor.

Police Plan Extra Patrols For Holiday

With a high traffic volume expected in Michigan over the Labor Day week-end, the summer's last major holiday, the State Police will operate special patrols from noon Friday, Sept. 4, to midnight Monday, Sept. 7, in an effort to hold down accidents, Commissioner Joseph A. Childs reports.

During the 78-hour holiday in 1963, six multiple death accidents killed 18 persons, more than half the week-end's toll of 35 which was the highest for a Labor Day period since 1949, when 38 died.

Childs emphasized that chances for multiple death accidents are greatly increased during holidays because motoring trips are generally family affairs and there are many more cars on the roads.

"However, high holiday tolls are not inevitable," Childs said. "Michigan records show there were only 12 deaths for the Labor Day period in 1958 and 13 the year before. Drivers can assure themselves a safer holiday trip by driving courteously and reasonably at all times. Bring the family back alive."

The State Police special patrol schedule will be in effect from noon Friday to midnight Monday of the holiday period with maximum coverage scheduled from 3 to at least 9 p.m. each day. Pass days are cancelled.

The State Police will be assisted by 114 members of the Michigan National Guard Friday, Saturday and Monday, serving as second men on two-man patrols or on point controls.

FROZEN WOMAN REVIVED

Tulsa, Okla. — Found last winter on a street apparently frozen to death, Mrs. Marie Stella Adams, 6, was taken to the local hospital. Her temperature had dropped to 67 and there were no heart sounds or pulse. Doctors opened her throat to aid her breathing and massaged her heart for two hours before she was revived.
