CHELSEA, OCT. 16, 1873.

COMMUNICATIONS.

FORRESTER, MICH., OCT. 11, 1873.

EDITOR HERALD:—From my pleasant home in Forrester, I greet you. It was very sad to me to part with so many true friends at Chelsea; but duty called and our life mission must be accomplished. But the many kind words spoken to us, as a family, the days we were packing our goods, and the substantial ovation of the citizens of Chelsea, as we took the cars, are never to be forgotten by us. The good people of your stirring village, will ever have a large place in our memories. We hope ere many months speed away, to personally thank you all for your kind words, friendly acts, and hearty good-byes.

Our journey by rail to Detroit was pleasant. At Ann Arbor, friend Sawyer came to our seat in the car, took us by the hand, and wished us in the strongest terms of good English, happiness and success in life. May the good Sawyer's shadow never grow less. I am quite sure in my own mind, if his health and life is spared, that some day, he will grace some one of the higher seats of the Jurist's Bench, in the State.

At Detroit, baby Genevieve, was greatly amused at the street cars, and as we took the boat (the Ward) in the evening, she said she thought a boat was a big animal to breathe so hard upon the water. There was such a dense fog upon the Clair River, that we did not reach Port Huron till nearly noon next day. At Port Huron we were pleasantly surprised in meeting dear friends, who were on their way to visit us in our new home. We reached Forrester at seven o'clock in the evening, and found our church folks at the dock, waiting for us, who took us to the spacious house of Mr. Smith, of the firm of Smith, Kelly & Co. In the morning we took a survey of the surroundings of our friend's house. Mr. Smith has one of the prettiest homes I ever saw. His grounds are neatly laid out, and everything seems to be in first-class order. At the front is the beautifully and evenly sodded yard, with its croquet ground, and at the right, one acre is devoted to plants and flowers, and fruit trees, of every kind and species, known in this northern climate. In the rear is a summer house, carriage house, poultry house, garden with its thorny hedge, and every modern suggestion to make it look attractive and beautiful. Mr. Smith came to this place nearly twenty years ago, comparatively poor, and has by earnest planning and successful working, realized an ample fortune, a quarter of a million or more. He is not yet fifty years easy enough, within the next decade or so, I can not write all I have in my mind this letter, but will write again soon. Till you hear from me again, I am yours truly, W. B. HOLZ.

Ed. HERALD:—We see in your issue of October 9th, 1873, under the head of local, the statement that the Simmons & Clough Organ, placed on exhibition by Mr. Wiley, of Ann Arbor, in competition with the Estey and Packard, won the blue ribbon over both the other organs.

Now sir, a part of this is truth and part is false. It is a fact that Mr. Wiley had a Simmons & Clough organ on exhibition, and that I, or my son, had the Estey and Packard Organ there also; and it is also a fact, that neither of the organs were entered for prizes, but simply as sample organs; and as a matter of course were not examined by any committee. If Mr. Wiley had secured the blue ribbon on his organ, I could most heartily wish him success, but as it is not true, and all a put up job, I take this liberty to set the matter right. Yours truly, C. H. WISE.

Hints About Hired Help.

Housekeepers will be surprised to learn that their custom of sending in to a neighbor to borrow a little butter or sugar, or other articles of diet, is quite common with the savages of Fiji. When a lady in Fiji has some friends to dinner unexpectedly, she goes over to the woman across the way and says: "Yak-yak and his family have just dropped in to dine, and I haven't a thing in the house. How do you think your hired girl would work up into a stew? Can I borrow her for a few days?" And then she seizes that domestic by the hair and drags her over, chops her up with parsley and carrots and celery-tops and eloves, and lets her simmer over the fire. Or may be the other woman sends over and says, "I am entirely out of meat; can you lend me your wife William Henry, for fish, or your Mary Jane for a pie?" And over go William Henry and Mary Jane, and they are stuck with a fork and basted and put to cook gently; and the debt is paid off the next week by the borrower sending her aunt, already boiled and basted, down cold for the lender's corned so as to make a nice lunch. Sometimes a woman in this manner will work off a couple of her mothers-in-law, or a rich uncle, or a plump second cousin, and then she will sit at her window, and sniff them as they are cooking in the kitchen next door, or watch one of the company in the dining-room, as he nibbles at the elbow of her late hired girl. The custom seems to us an excellent one, particularly when it is applied to hired girls. We have had girls whom we would have loaned to a neighbor at any time, under a promise that they should be butchered and boiled as soon as possible.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills, For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by every body as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted and used in every country, and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and safe remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or negligence of the system. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel nor any deleterious drug; they may be taken with safety by any body. Their sugar-coating preserves them ever fresh, and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal vessels to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body; restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease. Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Flatulency, Bloating, and Acid Stomach. The Pills should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach, and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Menstrual or Diarrhoea, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Pains in the Side, Back and Limbs, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageously taken to remove the obstructions which cause it.

One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

BRIEF MENTION.

To SUBSCRIBERS.—It is now some four weeks since we entered upon the third volume of the HERALD, and during that space of time we have scarcely received a dollar. We are perfectly aware that money is scarce at present; but we can't see that money is so tight that a subscriber can not pay his subscription ($1.50). The amount is so small to each one, that it is impossible for them to miss it—in the aggregate it is quite an amount to us. We wish our subscribers to understand that we mean business, and that all subscribers must pay in advance, or stop their paper. We have now a hundred or more delinquent subscribers on our books, and we doubt if we ever will get a cent from them. It takes money to run a printing office, and if we don't get that needed article, we had better shut up shop. We feel sorry to come to this plain to our subscribers, but hope no one will take offence, but come right up to the captain's office, and pay their subscription in advance.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS of this County met in regular session last Monday.

E. B. Pond, of the Ann Arbor Argus, was appointed City Treasurer, in the place of the late Stephen M. Webster.

Our Merchants have never before at this season of the year, had larger or better stocks of goods to select from than now.

Go to W. L. Hayden, Watchmaker and Engraver, in Chelsea, to get your Watches and Clocks repaired, and warranted for twelve months.

The money panic is somewhat over in Chelsea, as an indication that we have seen in our market the past week, several teams loaded with wheat.

PANIC PRICES.—We are informed of the fact, that Laird & Townsend, of Chelsea, are receiving daily their winter supply of Boots and Shoes, and are selling C. O. D. at panic prices.

We observed at the Chelsea Fair, some two weeks ago a calf belonging to H. D. Jones, of Dexter, that weighed 700 pounds, and was only 6 months old—a nut for farmers to crack.

Jack Frost was out in force last Sunday night. The result was the ice covered the water in tubs, barrels, etc., to an extent that made the boys anxious to get up their old skates or procure new ones.

The money panic is now nearly over, and we cannot see any necessity for our country banks holding their money any longer in their vaults, and thereby losing the interest on it.

On Sunday morning last, while a freight train, with the locomotive "Wangler," was passing our depot, on her west-ern trip, got into trouble, and had two of her freight cars badly smashed up.

The adjourned term of our Circuit Court will commence on the 4th of Nov. next. Judge Turner, of Shiawassee, will occupy the bench for five days, in order to try some cases in which Judge Crane was counsel before he became Judge.

Frank M. Luman's Ballad Troupe performed to a large audience, in the basement of the Congregational Church, in Chelsea, on last Saturday evening. Their singing was rare and attractive to the audience, and every one present enjoyed a hearty laugh, that will long be remembered.

The winter is now nearly upon us, and the daily consumption of fire-wood, coal, etc., brings to our memory the amount of damage done by fire and carelessness of people by neglecting to insure in that reliable insurance company, the "Water-town."

M. J. NOYES, Agent.

AUCTION SALES.—There will be two auction sales of farm implements, household furniture, etc. the first sale will come off on the 20th of this month, at the farm of Hiram Barton in Lyndon, three miles west of Lyndon, on the county line, between Jackson and Washtenaw counties.

Messrs. Mohr & Fenn will also sell on Thursday, October 23rd, 1873, on the farm of G. W. Mohr, two and a half miles south of Chelsea, on the Manchester road, their stock, farm implements, etc. Ira Cushman, Salesman.

Wheat has been moving very slowly throughout the county for the last week, for two reasons; one is that the millers and shippers have not been able to get currency to buy much; the other reason is, farmers have been perfectly satisfied that when the panic is over their wheat will bring them twenty cents more per bushel, and they have preferred to keep their wheat in their granaries, rather than to sell it on credit for less than it is worth.

FOR SALE.

A HOUSE and LOT for sale, in a well located part of the village. Enquire at this office.

Chelsea, Mich. Oct 18, 1873.

Old Newspapers for sale at this office at 10 cents per dozen.

We wish to sell all who are printing.

STABBING AFFRAY.—

Louis Walker, who resides in the township of Sharon, in this county, and runs a cider mill, was visited Sunday by Marvin Daily, and two others, who went to get some cider, some of the cider was somehow spilled, when Walker got angry and attacked Daily with a knife, cutting him badly in the arm. Walker was arrested for assault and battery, with intent to kill. The case heard before Justice McMahon, and the hearing was adjourned and defendant put under bonds of $2,000 for his appearance. We understand that Walker claims that they came for some cider Sunday, which he refused, whereupon they proceeded to draw a pistol, which he kicked over, when he was attacked by the three, thrown down and kicked; his wife hearing the row, came to his assistance, was also thrown down and beaten, and that one of the three drew a knife, which he wrested from him, and in defending himself cut one of them very severely in the arm.—Ann Arbor Courier.

ERRORS.—

The following errors occurred in the Fair premium list, in our last week's issue:

Dr. Shaw, case of surgical instruments, it read second premium, (instead of first).

B. F. Tuttle, reaper and mower combined. It read corn reaper, (instead of reaper and mower combined).

Prof. G. A. Brown, specimen of penmanship, first premium, it read H. A. McCarter, (instead of G. A. Brown).

Miss Robinson, grass bouquet, first premium, it read Mrs. D. Robertson, (instead of Miss Robinson).

Mrs. O. J. Clark, shell and cone picture frames, first premiums, it read J. L. Gilbert, (instead of Mrs. O. J. Clark).

The most of the above mistakes was made by the viewing committees, and the balance, we lay it to our devil. Accidents will happen in the best of regulated families.

HAVE IDEAS OF YOUR OWN.—When a person does his or her best to please another, sometimes sacrificing inclinations small and great, and counting it pleasure to do so; to be blamed, suspected, or taunted, even in little hints, is discouraging, and strains loving forbearance to a dangerous extent.

No one can strive, and strive, always in vain, to please, without giving up after a while and resolving to please number one and see if that will work better.

It may be treason to say it, but truth founded on observation compels the conclusion that he or she who lives true to himself or herself with independence, to disregard the opinions and wishes of others, is sure to please often more than those who ever strive to win the approbation of others by twisting, turning and often warping their own inner consciousness and individuality.

Nothing is greater stupidity than the idea of always agreeing with everybody for the sake of pleasing. "He thinks so and so of certain things, and although I differ, I must not indulge that difference of opinion to settle upon me, else it may cause trouble!"

It is too common reasoning among women. Have opinions of your own which you are ever ready to improve upon, and then live true to them whether people like you or not. It is the only way to make and keep friends who are worth having.

PASSING AWAY.—The warm, soft days are swiftly hurrying by. The migratory birds are preparing to move southward to a warmer clime. The atmosphere feels cool and clear, and is of a dark hue. The fruits are all ripe, and the summer tourists are coming home. The flowers are fading and the leaves are losing their bright green hue. The summer has passed away.

"Passing away!" The fleeting summer days are but a type of earthly things both animate and inanimate, substantial and unsubstantial, repulsive and beautiful, artificial and natural,—the creatures of earth, air and sea. The finger of time touches all, and they pass away like the waning summer, leaving no trace of their existence, save tradition and memory; and even these at last follow after them and their forms are heard of no more.

Like the hours, the days, the months and the years, we are drifting onward. Our lives go on over rough and quiet places, as a river "runs to its appointed end," and is lost in the boundless sea, the universal symbol of eternity.

SOLID COMFORT!

If you should wish an easy shave, As good as barber ever gave.

Just call at my shaving saloon At noon, at eve, or buy upon;

I'll cut and dress the hair with grace To suit the counter of the face—

At the little shop around the corner.

My room is neat, towels clean, Scissors sharp and razors keen.

And everything I think you'll find To suit the taste and please the mind;

And all that art and skill can do, If you'll just call I'll do for you—

At the little shop around the corner.

I shave the old, the young, the gay; I'll shave you all for READY PAY.

Hair work I make of every kind, And for a shave I get a dime.

I do not mean a dime in trust, For that would make the barber bust—

At the little shop around the corner.
