NO. 31.

BY JULIA KAVANAGH.

I grew old one day in a sunny dear old place. It was down a sunny street with stone houses, all unlike each other, but all decidedly uncomfortable. I thought them mansions in those days, and the rickety old chateau we lived in, with its dingy rooms, its court, its garden and orchard was a palace in my eyes. In one of its upper rooms on a sunny May morning, with birds singing in the garden below, and the green boughs of a young poplar quivering close to the open window, I read my first fairy tale.
 I pressed back the day, the spot, and the hour. The story was "The Sleeping Beauty in the Wood," poetry, love, and romance all in one. Well, I maintained it without fear. There was nothing like it fairly tales. I was just as willing like life to attract, for they deal with men and women, and they are too unlike it not to charm forever. Here are no oppressed innocents sinking hopelessly under the weight of their sorrows; no triumphant wrongdoers for whom retribution else be put off till the next world. We can take up a fairy tale in the most delightful security concerning its ending, and perhaps its great attraction is that it is so free of plots or de-ceives us. The brutal giant, the conquered, the malicious fairy, the ways defeated, the innocent beauty always delivered, and the brave knight or chivalrous young prince is ever blest in love or war.

What the woman is now matter-ing little. I have ceased to look forward, and I take life as a sort of dalliance bread; but sometimes I cannot help sighing when I look back and think of my short-comings. For you see I was young, and I worshiped herosm and goodness in those days, and, as a girl, vain and silly, I had little image of myself, and I was a prey for domestic admiration. I was to be generous, oh! so generous. I was to be good, not in a foot-ish common-place sort of way, but after a noble fashion. Then I was to be heroic. Not that I was to do such wonderful things—I had a grain of sense left—but I had suffering, and trials were to come upon me, and, as I was to be great, I was to be great to go amongst the heathen, be tried by wage and die singing God's praises while my flames rising around me my ambition being the very summit of high; but to be could have looked so was afraid of this, I could not

The tragedy of "Lear" was once brought out at the Tremont Theatre during a "star" engagement at a very short notice. The gentleman who played Gloucester managed to say some thing like the author, until he came to the scene where his eyes are put out, and then he was obliged to ask permission to read the rest of his part.

An ill-looking fellow was asked how he could account for nature forming him so ugly. "Nature was to blame," said he, for when I was two months old, I was considered the handsomest child in the neighborhood, but a nurse one day swapped me away for another boy just to please a friend. The child was rather plain-looking.

The annual meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held April 8th, the following officers were elected: Pres., Mrs. H. G. Hoag; Vice President, Mrs. J. C. Taylor, Mrs. M. M. Boyd, Sec. Mrs. S. D. Harrington; Treas., Mrs. C. S. Laird.

REMOVAL.—Geo. A. Lacy, watchmaker, has removed to the new drug store of Reed & Co. He has also received a large assortment of fine jewelry of the latest patrons, watches etc., which he will sell at reduced rates. Call and see him.

We are informed and feel to state that our flouring mill has burst—the machinery has been sold to some parties in the neighborhood of Saginaw. The building will be left standing, for us to remember that there was once a flour mill here. We think there is a leak somewhere either on the part of its proprietors, or the inhabitants to support it. We feel sorry to see an enterprise of that kind leave our town.

PRIESTER our merchant tailor has just received the spring and summer fashion plate. Mr. M. is doing a successful business—he invites all to call on him and see his new styles for 1876.

FIGHT.—A disgraceful fight occurred in our village on Monday last, between two knights of the razor. The marshal had them arrested and brought before justice. Noyes—one of them had his trial, pleaded guilty and was fined in the sum of $10 and costs—he paid the fine. The other pleaded not guilty and had his trial postponed until next Monday.

SOLDIERS GRAVES.—It is probably generally remembered that some years ago—in 1873—Congress passed a law providing for the erection of durable headstones over the graves of soldiers of the regular and volunteer forces of the United States whose remains are interred in the National Military Cemeteries. This law has been carried out, and the graves of the Nation's dead in these cemeteries are now permanently marked. At the instance of the War Department, Congress has recently authorized the erection of similar headstones over the graves of the Union soldiers who are buried in private and village cemeteries. This will be done as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made. In the meantime the Quartermaster General, at Washington, will at once proceed to collect the necessary information as to where these headstones are required.

All persons having any knowledge of the burial places of soldiers in private cemeteries whose graves are not marked, are requested to communicate the fact to the Quartermaster General, and give regiment, company, and date of death of deceased, if known. Similar information is desired from parties in charge of cemeteries.

Of course it is not intended to furnish headstones for graves over which monuments have already been erected by relatives or friends of the deceased.

MEDICAL.

AGE OF ENLIGHTENMENT.—In the age of enlightenment like the present, the value of electricity, and compounds containing an electric principle as remedial agents, is widely appreciated. Foremost among the latter, both as regards the thoroughness and safety of its effects, and the rapidity of its action, is Thomas' ELECTRIC OIL, a widely popular external and internal remedy for coughs, colds, sore throat, asthma, croup, and other affections, of the breathing organs; an invaluable outward specific of lame back, soreness and contraction of the muscles, and every variety of sore or hurt; a prompt source of relief for pain, and a medicine upon which the public can also implicitly depend in cases of inflammatory affections, dysentery, and many other ailments. Its persistent use eradicates the most obstinate of the disorders to which it is adapted. Physicians speak of it in the highest terms. Moreover, horsemen and stock raisers administer it with the greatest success for diseases and hurts of horses and cattle. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 50 cents and $1; trial size, 25 cents.

CATARRH!

ELY'S CREAM BALM

A Decided Cure.

A Local Remedy.

HARMLESS, EFFECTUAL, SIMPLE.

Application easy and agreeable. The effect is truly magical, giving instant relief, and as a curative, in advance of anything now before the public.

The disagreeable operation of forcing a quart of liniment through the nose, and the use of snuffs that only excite and give temporary relief, are already being discarded and condemned.

CREAM BALM has the property of reducing local irritation. Sores in the nasal passage are healed up in a few days. Headache, the effect of Catarrh, is dissipated in an almost magical manner. Expectoration is made easy. Sense of taste and smell is more or less restored. Bad taste in the mouth and unpleasant breath, where it results from Catarrh, is overcome. The nasal passages, which have been closed up for years, are made free.

Great and beneficial results are realized in a few applications of the Balm, but a thorough use of it, in every instance, will be attended with most happy results, and is a decided cure.

Fifty cents will buy a bottle, and if satisfaction is not given on application the proprietors will cheerfully refund the money. Trial size, 10c. Ask your druggist for it ELY BROS., Owego, N. Y., Proprietors.

MESSRS. ELY BROTHERS.—I cheerfully add my testimony to the value of your Cream Balm as a specific in the case of my sister, who has been seriously debilitated with Catarrh for eight years, having tried ineffectually Sanford's Remedy, and several other special doctors in Boston. She improved at once under the use of your discovery, and has regained her health and hearing, which had been considered irremediable.

Manhood: How Lost, How Restored

Just published, a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical cure (without medicine) of SPERMATORRHEA or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Spinal Losses, IMPOTENCY, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, Consumption, Epilepsy and Fits, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, &c.
Price, in a sealed envelope, only six cents.

The celebrated author, in his admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post-paid, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps.
