THE STORY OF JONES & CO.

I guess pa and ma was pretty rich one time, for when they came to Cali-fornia it was on their wedding tour and cost lots; they came by way of New York, and Washington and Panand cost lots; they came by way of store, and we had spicially thought pa had a store down town, and New York, and Washington and Pan-went out to a nice place across the I was going to school. I told lots of ama City, in a steamboat, and ma street for our meals. I tended store fibs about being detained at school, gobrought a maid to wait on her, and pa had a black feller named 'Jim,' and when I went. when we got to California-I say we, I'm only fourteen years now, but I was not born then, though that don't matter, I guess-pa had lots of money. I was born at the Lick House, and you ought to see my baby clothes. Jones & Co. haven't the kind of goods that them was, because Maud has draggled them all to pieces. Maud is the baby. Six years old Maud is, and the baby. Six years old Maud is, and it won't be long before she will be a clerk in Jones & Co. First babies always have the nicest things. Ma says how I could got the long to be paid, and there wasn't any money to pay it with, and that's what made pa feel bad. And then I thought and thought, and wondered at me again.

I had a store appear on and a great things. first babies are like second wives.

Well, I am of the opinion that after pa bought his house on Van Ness avenue he went into stocks, whatever that means (Going into stocks) must be the means (Going into stocks) and the means (Going into stocks) must be the means (Going into stocks) and the means (Going into stocks) must be the means (Going into stocks) and the means (Go that means. Going into stocks must be it, for he's got more than a thousand a very curious business, and sometimes pa came home looking splendid.

One day he came home with theatre. One day he came home with a brand new carriage and a span of long-tailed horses, and a negro coach-togram, and a funny little darkey for footman. It was for ma, and we rode every day. Then sometimes pa came every day. Then sometimes pa came the togram and to the park and to the same and a span of the presence of starch, and consecting the not constant the suite nave low, whe seats, straight out, pa jumped up and laughed, and who the said: "Snatch off your apron and cap, to wond for dining-rooms but walnut and out, pa jumped up and laughed, and the park and to park and was the most surprisedest woman you home and looked very blue, and talked and said the clerk I wanted to borrow a thouse and noticed that sometimes when he laughed loudest he looked just as if he wanted to cry, and then he sold the horses, and then the house, and then the house, and then the house, and then the house, and then the back room, and I went into the back room, and I went into the back room, and Mr. M'Lane said:

After this we went to a boardinghouse-a nasty mussy boarding-house. Everything was well enough, only a boarding-house ain't like home. Then the baby came, and it died, and ma almost died, and I heard pa say to the man who kept the boarding-house that 'he was pretty tight up, but it was all comin' out right,' and the next day padidn't have any watch, nor any sleeve buttons. I didn't seem to notice it because I seen that may be pa had sold them to pay his board, and I heard pa a wink, and I don't believe he had. Once it was dreadful. Pa came home tipsy, and I never seen ma feel so bad, ever; and then they talked it over, and finally ma went home to grandpa's in New York with Maud, and I stayed with pa to go to school.

Then pa kept getting worse and worse, and we went to live in rooms ind eat at restaurants, and pa stayed out late nights, and I guess he drank more than was good for him, and I thought something had to be done, So I said to pa one day: "Pa, less go into business and open a store."

And he laughed and said: "What kind of a store?" And I said: "Oh, a candy store, or a

I don't know exactly what pa did, but I think something "turned up" a few days afterwards, for I heard him say he had made a "raise," and he showed me more than a thousand dollars in gold notes, and for a day or two he carried them in a side pocket, and mostly kept his hand over them for fear they would jump out and fly away: and and pa bought me some shoes and a hat, and stuff for aprons, and I made them myself, and I never saw pa look so happy since ma went away; and one day he said to me:

Cooking clubs will undoubtedly be a rage and lunches at which food is prepared by the young hostess, assisted more or less by her guests. These, however, are regreations; the solid part of it is that girls are beginning to put their faculties to some use; that instead of faunting in the street, parading flimsy finery, they are painting, carving and decorating their own homes, and even in some instances putting themselves seriously to the task of teaching younger brothers and sisters. All this is so good that one can only hope that it will become more general. Practical work ought to enter so much more than it does into education; it is so healthful, so necessary to full development, it teaches so much more than can be taught by text

An Escaped Jaguar..

Last night, after the London Circus train had left Washington, Pa., and had traversed about thirty miles, a full-sized Brazilian jaguar, a beast more ravenous and ferocious than a tiger, escaped from his cage and bounded into the woods. The train had stopped to permit another train to pass, and a tramp, who had secreted himself on the car, opened the cage, allowing the animal its liberty. About twenty of his fellow-tramps had been previously ejected from the train, and it is supposed he committed the act for spite. One of the circus hands saw him open the cage, but supposed he was one of the regular hands. When the animal escaped, the tramp jumped from the train, and although pursued by twenty men, made good his escape. The jaguar was a powerful animal, and cost $1,500 two years ago. He was about five feet long, and naturally one of the most ferocious beasts in the menagerie. mains of a man were found near the Baltimore and Potomac Railroad, fifteen miles east of this place. It has not been ascertained yet whether this by the committee. was brought from Italy in the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and its form was a compromise between the present round Italian peasant hat and the French hood. The materials employed in constructing these ornaments were crimson satin, elaborately embroidered, cloth of gold, and similar rich materials, The Leghorn hat, with perpendicular far around the face, was the first legitimate bonnet worn; and this appeared long after Ehzabeth's time. It was trimmed with artificial flowers and immense bows of ribbon. Our present neat and tasteful head covering is but a modification of this huge affair.

In some parts of India a wheat field forty miles in length is not an uncommon thing. Many of the natives, who formerly ate no grain but rice, now use wheat almost entirely.

Mr. T. F. Bingham, in the Bee Journal says: "The supply of honey has reached such proportions that diversity of taste as well as style may in the near future become a leading feature." We would suggest that the leading feature be attractiveness.

Both Houses adjourned at noon till Monday evening.

CONGRESS.

May 13.—In the Senate Mr. Bayard (Dem., Del.) reported favorably from the committee on finance the House bill for the exchange of subsidiary-coin for legal tender money, and asked for its consideration. It went over un-

The clerk read the clause which the committee on appropriations proposed should be stricken out, namely:

"In order to provide for the speedy payment of arrearages of pensions, the Secretary of the Freasury is hereby authorized and directed to issue immediately, in payment thereof, the $10,000,000 in legal tender currency now in the Treasury kept as a special fund for the redemption of fractional currency."

After further debate the question was taken on strilising out the clause, as recommended by the committee on appropriations. It was decided in the negative, yeas 25, nays 37, and therefore the clause remains in the bill.

In the House Mr. Knott (Dem., Ky.) called up the veto message and demanded the previous question on the passage of the military interference bill over the President's veto. The previous question was seconded and the House proceeded to vote. The result was, yeas 127, nays 97; so, there not being the two-thirds majority required by the Constitution, the bill was rejected. Ten of the Greenbackers voted in the affirmative, the other three, Barlow, Forsythe and Russell, not voting. The veto message was then referreed to the judiciary committee.

May 14.—In the Senate Mr. Vest (Dem., Mo.) gave notice of his intention to introduce a bill proposing to organize the Indian Territory into a State, and providing for its admission into the Union. His resolution making inquiry as to whether any part of the Indian Territory had been purchased by the United States with a view of locating Indians or freedmen thereon was agreed to.

Mr. Lamar called up the bill reported from the committee on judiciary to amend the Re-vised Statutes so as to provide that if two or vised Statutes so as to provide that if two or more persons conspire either to commit an offence against the United States or to defraud the revenue, and one or more of such persons once actually commit such crime, all parties to the conspiracy shall, on conviction, be fined $10,000 and imprisonment not more than two years or both, at discretion of the court. The bill was massed.

All parts of the bill were passed upon with the exception of what is known as the judicial portion, which appropriates $2,800,000 for defraying the expenses of the judiciary and fixing the pay of jurors, providing how they shall be selected, repealing the test oath, and also of section 2031, Revised Statutes, except so much thereof as relates to the pay of supervisors of elections, and all other sections authorizing the appointment of chief supervisors of elections, special deputy marshals of elections, or general deputy marshals having any duties to perform in respect to any election, and prescribing their duties and powers and allowing them compensation.

May 15.—In the Senate consideration was resumed of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill.

Mr. Beck, (Dem., Ky.) explained the provisions of the bill, as it had been amended, stating that the increase by the Senate was $94.500, making the entire sum $18,541,000. Among the amendments were $18,000 for mints and $27,000 for the Interior Department, additional to the appropriations in the bill for these purposes.

In the House consideration was resumed of the Warner silver bill, the pending question being on the motion of Mr. Killinger (Hep., Pa.) to lay the bill and amendments on the table, on which the yeas and nays had been ordered. The question was taken and it was decided in the negative, yeas, 109, nays 126. The question then recurred on seconding the previous question, and it was seconded, yeas, 119, Nays 107. The result of the last two votes was greeted with applause on the Democratic side. Finally it was agreed that the previous question should only apply to the first section of the bill, which provides that gold coins shall be a one dollar piece (the unit) of 25.08 grains, a quarter eagle (or $2.50), a $3 piece, an eagle and a double eagle. The president pro tem laid before the Senate a message from the President of the United States in reply of the resolution of the 7th inst., requesting information relative to the alleged unlawful occupation of a portion of the Indian Territory. He transmits a copy of his proclamation, and copies of correspendence and papers on file in the War Department touching this subject.

Consideration was resumed of the legislative appropriation bill, but no conclusion was reached.

In the House a resolution was reported from the committee on rules by Mr. Frye (Rep., Me.) for the appointment of a standing committee to which shall be referred all bills, resolutions and petitions, etc., affecting the traffic in alceholic liquors. An argument in opposition was made by Fernando Wood on the ground that, under the proposed authority, this committee might arrogate to itself powers which did not belong either to it or to Congress, and might, under the plea of morality, undertake to interfere with the revenue of the Government derived from the tax on spirits.

Mr. Garfield (Rep., O.) advocated the resolution and disposed of the constitutional objection by saying that Congress had exclusive jurisdiction over the District of Columbia, where there were 1.000 rum-holes under the shadow of the Capitol, and over territories with an area as large as Europe. Congress had also constitutional control of the question in relation to the duty on imported liquors and to the internal tax on distilled spirits.

A motion to lay the resolution on the table was made by Mr. Blount, and was rejected, yeas 99, nays 128. All of the affirmative votes came from the Democratic side, all the Republicans, all the Greenbackers and many Democrats voting mo. The resolution was then averaged to May 17.—In the Senate consideration was resumed of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill. Among the amendments agreed to was one offered by Mr. Voorhees (Dem., Ind.), from the joint committee on library, appropriating $5,000 for the purchase of works of art.

The amendment recommended by the committee on finance, appropriating $20,000 for diplomatic and consular service, to be expended at the discretion of the President of the United States, was agreed to.

In the House the silver bill was discussed by Messrs, Garfield, Ewing, Newberry and others, but was not disposed of.

May 19.—In the Senate, consideration was resumed of the legislative, executive, and judicial appropriation bill, and speeches thereon were made by Senators Blaine and Vance.

A communication was received from the Secretary of the Treasury in responce to the resolution of the 16th inst., by which he was directed to report what amount of United States legal tender notes have been redeemed in coin since the first day of January last, and also what amount-of coin he considers himlso what amount-of coin he considers him-elf authorized to retain in the Treasury for the purpose of maintaining the resumption of specie payments under the provision of the act of January 4, 1875. # The Millers in Council.

The sixth annual convention of the National Millers' Association met at the Grand Pacific Hotel in Chicago Tuesday, 600 of the 900 members being present. As Dow, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, and Mayor Carter H. Harrison, made welcoming addresses. The president, George Bain, responded and delivered the annual address. His principal recommendations are that the association be organized as a corporation on a legal basis for the purpose of carrying out suits regarding patents; that a patent attorney e appointed to look to the interests of he association as against the encroachments of patentees; that the success attending their efforts against the impositions of the Cochrane patent should encourage them to wage uncompromising warfare against the Deuchfield patentee; and that a better-system and practice of grading and inspection be adopted.

A communication was read from the chairman of the committee on a miller's college. Frank Chamberlain, of Albany, stating that he was convinced that such a college was practi-cable, and should be established in the West.

Alex. H. Smith, St. Louis, from the committee on patents, read a report congratulating the assembly on the wisdom and success of the united action in the litigation of patents. D. R. Sparks, of Alton, Ill., and others discussed the report, which was finally adopted. The committee on patents was authorized to prepare a petition to Congress asking certain amendments to the patent laws.

Mr. H. A. Hayden, of Jackson, Mich. made a report on insurance, favoring the mutual plan. He offered a resolution urging increased vigilance by offi-cers of mutual companies in their ex-amination of mill risks. The report of the committee on milling was made by W. P. Brown, of Red Wing, Minn. In the ensuing discussion the idea was broached, and met considerable favor, that millers can and should regulate the quality and should regulate the quality of grain grown in their respective localities. A. M. Norton, Chicago, a member of the committee on grading and inspection, made a report deprecating the practice of "doctoring" wheat, and submitted resolutions by J. Meltz, of Milwaukee, recommending the establishment of a specific grade for wheat which has been scoured, to prevent its being classed above its merits on account of its good appearance. Adopted.

THE FARM. Shearing Sheep.

In the first place we may say that a sheep which is to be sheared should be well fed, for if it is hungry, it will be well fed, for if it is hungry, it will be impatient, and it is more difficult to run the shears around the collapsed belly and sides of an empty sheep than it is about the rounded form of a full one. The animal should be caught, lifted clear of the floor, and carried out of the pen. The catcher should hold it with its back towards himself, and the shearer should, while it is in this position, clean its feet of any filth and its belly from straw or other foreign subtance which may have become attached to it. The wool should be clipped off evenly and smoothly. It should not be cut twice, and care, of course, must be exercised not to cut the skin. Somebe exercised not to cut the skin. Sometimes it is difficult in shearing the Merino not to cut the skin, but any one who does it often is an incompetent shearer, and it is not profitable to keep him at work. It would be hardly possible for a novice to shear a Merino, if he could any other sheep. The sheep should be held in the easiest manner possible, and should be confined the least possible time; that is to say a man driven a sort of drag tooth (of wood) east possible time; that is to say a man who professes to be a good shearer should be able to do it quickly and with little irritation to the animal.

Clip the wool as close to the skin as it is possible and not show the skin naked or red. Unless this rule is observed the animal may suffer from sunburn or from a cold snap of weather, The place of shearing should be kept perfectly clean. All dung and scattered locks should be removed at once. It seems scarcely necessary to say that the proceedings should be conducted with the utmost gentleness, but men areso apt to get boisterous and ill-tempered when handling animals that it will do no harm to call attention to the matter. All animals, it is safe to say, are injured by rudeness in handling. The sheep is a timid animal, and if not treated kindly, it will become very impatient. This is about all we can say in reply to the request of our correspondent.

Incidental Sheep Husbandry.

One of the strongest of the elements that have brought disaster to efforts at sheep husbandry has been the desire to do a big business. Men reared to other callings, seeing the profits others were reaping from well-directed efforts at sheep husbandry have hastened to become the owners of flocks; while still others, who have become imbued to every careful student of sheep husto every careful student of sheep husbandry. Not only can the highest profit upon invested capital be thus rendered more certain, but the disappointments that occasionally follow the best of plans, and the most careful manipulation, are by no means so disastrous.

the plan now contemplated - care should be had that they do not trespass upon the other interests. When the farmer feels that his sheep are a burden that is, that they are drawing upon the other departments for the time and feed not before assigned to them-he should fatten, and sell down to such number as will conveniently work along his crops and other live stock. Local butchers will alwhys pay a fair price for a few good wethers, and some neighbor can usually be found ready to make room for a few desirable store sheep. As the facilities for enhancing the numbers of the flock improve, the annual drafting may be confined to full-grown wethers, and such ewes as, by reason of age or other disqualifying peculiarities are undesirable. The flexibility of a small flock is one of its strongest recommendations—enabling it to be accommodated to the circumstances or ambitions of the owner more readily than any other live stock property,—National Live Stock Journal.

Nutritive Value of Corn Fodder.

As a fitting supplement to Prof. Kedzie's analysis of corn given last week, we add the following results of the analysis of corn fodder by Prof. S. W. Johnson, director of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station:

The result of these and some other analyses are summed up in the table given below:

I —Sweet corn fodder, cut August 9.

II.—Sweet corn fodder, cut September 25.

III.—Field corn stover, crop of 1877.

IV.—Field corn fodder from the same farm, crop of 1874, average of two samples.

V.—Composition of corn stover as given by Wolff in 1874.

VI.—Sweet corn, kernel.

VII.—Field corn, kernel, average of five varieties.

"Twenty to ten," exclaimed an eager attorney, producing the money.

"Done!" cried His Honor, and the takes were turned over to a Chr reporter.

"Constable" said the Court quiet, go out and fetch that man back." In a few minutes the reformed one was dragged in and the Judge ascender his dais, rapped for order, and looke "Charged with being drunk," said to Court. "What's your plea?"

"Guess I'm full," admitted the prioner with an idiotic smile. "Ten days in the County Jail. Co stable, lock up your prisoner. Mr. Reporter, hand this Court that wealth Court's adjourned. Boys, let's go and flood our lower levels."

Blunders of speech are frequently made by those who have an insufficient knowledge of a foreign language. We sometimes laugh at the mistakes of a foreigner, but the foreigner is generally more considerate, as when one of or countrymen expressed his fear that the expression he had used was not French he was answered, "Non, Monsieur, mais il merite bien de l'etre." Lord Westmoreland, wishing to say, "I would if I could, but I can't, rendered it "Je voudrais si je coudrais."

mais je ne cannais pas." It is pleasant to observe how free the present age is in laying taxes on the next: "Future ages shall talk of this; this shall be famous to all pos-
