He was dressed in a well-worn suit of black, a broad rim soft hat, well dusted by his ride out from Nashville. Altogether he looked to be a plain, old-fashioned well-to-do country farmer. He gave his name as Burnham. Now we have amongst us here hrewd, keen judge of a thoroughbred orse-a man whose judgment is so well known and appreciated in this respect from one end of the country to the other; that he is heavily commissioned at all the public sales, both here and in Kentucky, to buy for parties who would rather rely upon his judg-ment than their own. Col. Bill (we will call him this for convenience' sake), is not smarter than most of us on ordinary affairs, but on a horse or hound he is considered the oracle in these parts-but the Colonel's special pride is his quick insight into human nature. He can "read a man like a and "knows a green cheese when he sees it," etc. It happened that early on the morning after the arrival of the old farmerlooking gentleman, from New York, Col Bill also drove out to Belle Meade to take a final look at the youngsters he had selected to purchase on the day of sale. Gen. Jackson was quite busy getting everything in readiness, and after introducing Col Bill to Mr. Burnham, made his excuses to the latter gentleman for not accompanying him to the stables, but told him that the colonel was as familiar with all the colts, their breeding, etc., as he was, and would cheerfully show him through them. This was satisfactory to all parties, and the colonel and his new acquaintance were soon crossing the lawn to the stables. The colonel entertained his rather silent partner with all the inns and outs in breeding race horses, and what really was necessary to make a No. 1 racer. Fodder Ricks.

The prospects now are that hay will bear a fair price in the market this winter, and every shock of fodder put up now will be so much hay saved, and money made. But fodder, to be good, must be cut while the stalks and most of the blades are yet green. Heavy corn will show the fading in the husk while the blades are yet green. At this stage the grain has passed beyond the milk and is safe from shrinkage if carefully shocked. As soon as the ears are sufficiently dry to crib, every damp day should be devoted to husking corn from the shocks. After husking, the fodder is best saved by stacking it in long ricks, making your pile by alternate layers, changing the tops with each layer till your stack is about five feet high, then finish your rick with the tops all one way, keeping the buts even or a little overhanging. The tops being smallest will directly give the rick the proper slope to shed[®] the water, and the fodder will keep in good condition even for years .-- Indiana Farmer.

Bonner's Horses.

It is not exactly true that Mr. Bon-ner paid more for Rarus than he ever paid for a trotter before, although thère is but one in Mr.-Bonner's stud wastes in farming .- American Cultithat cost him more, that one being Pocahontas, whom Simmons sold to Mr. Bonner for $45,000, eight-ninths of which was in actual money and the remainder in trade. Startle cost him $20,000; Dexter, $33,000, and Grafton $15,000. Goldsmith Maid and Jay years; a dog lives 20 years; a wolf 20, Gould represent $35,000 each; Lady a fox 15 to 16; lions are long-lived, the Thorn, $30,000; Socrates, $26,000; Lucy, $25,000; Tattler, $27,000; Rosa-lind, $18,000, and General Knox, $10,-000, Rarus stands $1,000, therefore, beyond all save Pocahontas.

> SOMETHING ABOUT EGGS. - The traffic in eggs in this country is estimated by_competent authorities at $180,000,000 a year. The barreled eggs received yearly a: New York reach. over 500,000 barrels, valued at $900,000 and this is but one branch of the trade. It is said that Philadelphia consumes $0,000 dozen eggs a day. The receipts in lioston for the year 1878 were over 6,500,000 dozen. Between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 dozen are annually exported from the country. The millions of dozens consumed throughout the country without passing through dealers' hands it is impossible to estimate.

In London, the quantity of illumin ting gas consumed, per head of the opulation, is rapidly increasing. In 860 the quantity burned was 9,885,857, 000 of cubic feet for a 3,158,671, or at the rate of a little han 3,000 cubic feet per head. Last year the quantity used was 16,283,528,-000 of cubic feet, or at the rate of more than 4,500 cubic feet per head, the pop-ulation in the middle of 1878, being

The following jury was impaneled by Geroner R. B. Hanse: Bamuel Tingley, John G. Mason, Martin P. Stockwell, Zacharnah Cook, W. H. Walby, Brackley Shaw—all highly intelligent and fair-minded men. Charles B. Aliller, Esq., appeared for Mr. Lawrence, owner of the grounds, who is too ill to attend, and who is reported to have become insane in consequence of the calamity. Fros. At'y. W. A. Under-wood appeared to assist the coroner; he said the responsibility of the disaster was one of the things to be determined, and that must be done by the jury. Seth Bean Esq., appeared for the architect who made the designs and specifications for the building, C. F. Sizer. The investigation Will last several days.

No additional deaths were reported Saturday, but the list of wounded was swelled by fuller reports to nearly 300. The coroner's inquest was continued and witnesses examined as to the plans and manner in which the grand stand was constructed. Mr. Ephraim Arm-strong testified that he took the contrast from W.T. At a recent meeting of the British Association, Prof. W. E. Ayrton de-livered a lecture on the above subject, and interesting illustrations were given cluding machinery, in motion, driven by power derived from a distance. The lecturer said: Various calculations had been made as to the relative cost of lighting by burning coal to preduce gas, or by burning coal to work dyna-mo machines for producing electric currents, and it seemed to be pretty certain that if a large amount of light be required in one place, the electric light was at least twenty times as cheap as coal. Sir William Thompson, the eminent electrician, went so far as to say that it might be made 133 times as cheap. And certainly that there was a great saving in expense in electric lighting was seen from the actu-al result obtained at the Albert Hall, London, which was an example, and perhaps the only example, in connec-tion with electric lighting, where the science of putting a brilliant light high up had been allowed to ride over the precedent of putting a number of fee-ble glimmers all over a building. The actual cost, including labor of men. allowance for wear and tear of machinery, etc., was only one-third of that of the former inferior gas lights, and thus a saving of about 30s. an hour had been effected. Lighting streets by electric-ity had not been so successful economically, for the simple reason that in-stead of giving a large bright light, at a considerable height reflected downwards, as in the Albert Hall, London, English conservatism had prevented the authorities from grasping the pos-sibility of using for street illumina-tion anything different from an ordinary iron lamp post. But there could be little doubt that if a few large electric lights, high up, were used for street illumination, the same sort of result as has been obtained at the Albert Hall would be arrived at.

Owing to unfavorable reports of the labor market in America, the North Wales slate quarrymen's union have declined to give fur-ther pecuniary assistance to members desiring Assuming that the cost of gas for lighting the large buildings, factories, and the streets of Sheffield could be halved, also that where it was used oming a guerills war. There is a gang of 600 well armed discharged soldiers in the moun-ainous districts of the west. for heating purposes the expense could also be halved, by substituting elec-tric currents generated by very large tainous districts of the west. Many eminent Bonapartists have arrived at London to endeavor to effect a reconciliation between the exempress Eugenie and prince Jerome Napoleon. It is reported that the Chilians before evacuating Calama, sacked and burned the place. The Chilians have made raids into Bo-livia, beyond Concha Blancas, destroying com-missary and ordinance supplies, and seiz-ing horses and carts. It is reported that Peru has suspended payments from the treasury and prohibited the exportation of silver. steam engines at certain points, and by turbines driven by falling water out of the town; then they would save per year about £45,000. Supposing, also, that the cost of producing motive power could in the same way also be halved, this represented an annual sav-ing of something like £60,000. And, lastly, supposing the consumption of coal in Sheffield for heating their metals and for heating their houses could also be halved, then there Roberts on Sunday reached Charasians, soven miles from Cabul, having left his tents and baggage at Zabidabad' He was expected to be before Cabul early Monday morning. was another saving of about £300,000 Ten thousand house carpenters of Paris ing that might be produced in this town alone, by substituting electricity for coal, would be something like the famine-stricken people still come from Cash-mere. Life's Respite.

Dr. Oliver Wendell Homes recently made some remarks on reading at a meeting of the Society to Encourage Studies at Home. Among other things, he said: Life for a man is a sentence of capital punishment, with a respite of a few scores of years. For a woman of a few scores of years. For a woman it is the same, with imprisonment dur-ing a large part of the period of the respite. As daughter, sister, wife, mother, aunt, grandmother, her work is, in most cases, to a great extent, in-door work. There are no bars or bolts to her prison, but she cannot escape from it, as the inmates of our Concord State Prison do when tired of the place. I was never in jail as a prisoner my-self, but I have been quite as badly off as if I had been shut up on a short sentence-confined in quarantine at Marseilles. What can be worse than that-shut up as an infected person, supposed to carry about with him, not the comparatively harmless implements of a robber or a burglar, not the jimmy and revolver, but the seeds of a pestilence which will decimate cities and devastate whole countries, which makes one the enemy of his race, who may be shot but must not be touched, whom one must get the windward of before speaking to him and from whom before speaking to him and from whom a begger would not take a dollar un-less it had been fumigated. Well, I found myself imprisoned within four bare walls, I had one book with me; you know what that book ought to have been, but it was not that. It was an old Latin book-villainous ily. Her aunt, who still lives, and was Latin it was written in-a history of some two or three hundred rare medical cases, by Nicholas Tulpius, whose portrait some of you have seen in a amous picture of Rembrandt or a well-known engraving from it. How I did read that one book! I was in my twenties then, ant I remember many of those cases as I do not any others that I read at that period of my life. I doubt if any living man knows them as well as I do. So much for being shut up and having but one book to read

A woman in captivity to her duties is not reduced to such extremities as those of the unfortunates I have mentioned. Her household labors, whether of work or of superintendence, are varied in most cases to avoid unendur-able monotony. Every woman has her needle at any rate, or had, for I have been told, but hope it is not true, that some young women of the present day are entirely unschooled in its use. For the lesser troubles of life, when a man takes to his pipe or his cigar, if taken care of. Oceana in some way not to some more potent and dangerous anæsthetic, a woman takes to her sewing or knitting. The needle-points are to her nervous irritability what the lightning-rod is to the electricity of the storm cloud. Married A Circus Rider

It seems to be the fashion just at present in Europe for titled and wealthy men to marry circus-riders. Forney's Progress says: Everybody-that is everybody in swelldom-in Europe continues to talk of the marriage of Prince Reuss with Mile. Clo-tild Roux, better known as Loisset, under which name she has been the pride of the circus in the Champs Elysees, Paris where she rode bareback horses, nobility has allied itself with her famalso a circus rider, married Count Boissy, son of Henrietta Sontag. The Prince, who never had a kingdom or even a fortune, is thrown off by his family, and has been for years in charge of a legal guardian, whose duty ti was to keep him out of scrapes. His associates called him Jump (raga-muffin), and he was compelled to re-sign his commission as lieutenant of the Fifth Regiment of Prussian Hussars on account of his debts. Just pre-vious to this marriage he had aspired to the hand of an English lady, whose parents, however, declined the empty honor of an alliance with him. His bride is the daughter of a Paris confectioner, who married a Miss Loisse sister of a once famous circus rider. There were three stars at the Champs Elysee circus last summer, Oceana, Leonard and Loisset, and all have made long steps in advance. Loisset's story has been told, and though there is only title and no money, she and her
