Redeeming the Time.

Teach yourself, and your daughter after you, to perform all household duties with as great dispatch as consists with perfect thoroughness. Do not give needless time to any piece of work. Never wash, and scrub, and rub after all dirt is removed from clothes and wood-work, "to be certain that they are clean." When you know that fact, be satisfied.

There are some women so extra thorough that it becomes (like any virtue taken to excess) a positive vice.

Mrs. R. used to scrub so unceasingly about her kitchen, and sheds, and steps that they were always in the uncomfortable process of drying, always damp and unwholesome, never white, and sunny, and neat.

Learn to stop when you are through.

Very elaborate work of any kind is not to great profit, especially in the matter of table fare. When one reads the difficult details of some wonderful article for desert, which takes hours of skilled labor in the hot kitchen to make it, we wonder at the patience which holds out through it all, but sigh "to what purpose was this waste?" Not waste of money, for that is trifling compared to the great waste of woman's life power which was given to her for so much nobler purposes.

A greater simplicity in the preparation of our daily food would save a full day out of every week to many a house-mother, and save many dreary ones from the rack of dyspepsia in later years.

"Not one of mother's children," said a lady in middle life to me one day, "but has suffered agonies from dyspepsia; all the result of mother's splendid cooking."

With proper dispatch an ample, wholesome and delicious pudding can be made in five minutes and set in the oven to "cook itself," while an indigestible pie takes a great deal more time and wearying labor, and not so satisfactory to a hungry person's appetite.

Young household members can be trained up just as you please in this respect, but it is hard to change the customs of those who are "joined to their idols." A hint may be found in this truth for young housekeepers just beginning to form habits for the house.

A wise simplicity in all your doings is for the advantage of all parties. It gives time for rest and self-improvement, and for the exercise of neighborly kindness and charity, and greatly conduces to the health of a family.

Plain fruits and vegetables prepared in a most excellent but simple manner, with suitable variety on succeeding days, are dishes "fit to set before the king."—Com.

Health Hints.

The following treatment is recommended as a cure for croup: As soon the first symptoms are discovered, apply cold water suddenly and freely to the neck and chest, and closely cover with cotton batting (nothing else will do as well), and the breath will be instantly relieved. Give the patient plenty of cold water to drink, and cover it warm in bed, and it will sleep sweetly. There is no danger of taking cold by the operation.

The Phrenological Journal says people should not sleep with the mouth open. Breathing should be done only through the nose, unless there is some positive physical obstruction which renders it difficult or impossible for one to breathe through the nose passages, which is the natural way. Persons who snore generally breathe through the mouth. Animals breathe through the nostrils; and it is observable that cases of pulmonary disease or throat-ail are very uncommon among those who keep the mouth shut waking or sleeping.

Lemon syrup for a cough: To a pint and a-half of water add two large poppy-heads and two large lemons. Boil them till they are soft, press the lemons into the water, strain the liquor, and add half a dram of saffron and a half pound of brown sugar-candy, pounded. Boil all together till the sugar-candy is dissolved; stir the whole till you perceive it will jelly; strain it a second time, and take the seeds from the poppies.

An exchange gives the following recipe for making disinfectant liquid: In a common black wine bottle of cold water dissolve two ounces of acetate of lead (sugar of lead), and then add to fluid ounces of nitric acid (aqua fortis). Shake the mixture well, and it is ready to use. A very small quantity of it will cleanse any utensil, and a room can be thoroughly disinfected by it, if clean cloths are wet in the liquid diluted with eight parts water, and then suspended in various parts of the room. In using this disinfectant plenty of fresh air should be allowed to enter the room, as it is far cheaper and more effective than anything else for the purpose.

Our Budget.

A story for children—with a moral: Lloyd Hopkins, of Onancock, Va., being invited to a wedding, saddled his horse and set out for the scene of festivities. On the road he was over-comme with a desire for cake, and accordingly stepping into a store, boasted that he could eat twenty-five molasses cakes. The proprietor or some sne standing by offered to pay for that number, provided Lloyd Hopkins would eat them, the latter to pay for all he should eat under that number. At fifteen Lloyd Hopkins declared himself full; but the pay being demanded, he persevered until the whole twenty-five were consumed: He then proceeded to the wedding, where he had a hearty supper. On the way home Lloyd Hopkins died.

Take her up tenderly, handle with care. Fashioned so slenderly, so young and fair; Oh it was pitiful in a whole cityful, None knew enough to cure her Dyspeptic Despondency by getting her Some Spring Blossom.

A drunken Scotch parishioner was admonished by his parson. "I can go into the village," continued the latter, "and come home again without getting drunk." "Ah, meenerster, but I'm sae popular!" was the fuddled Scotchman's apologetic reply.

"I am always cool," was the boastful remark of Robinson; "I never forget myself." And with one voice said, "No, we never knew you to." And a sweet smile lightened with heavenly effulgence every face.

A BAD LOT.—Lots wife had the worst case of Salt Rheum on record, pity she had't the chance to use Spring Blossom Remedy. Prices: $1.50 cents, and trial bottle 10 cents. Sold by W. R. Reed & Co.

That old ass, Prudhomme, asks the tenant of one of his houses: "Has madame any children?" "Two little girls, one 10 and the other 8 years old." "The one of 10 is the older, I presume?" "Yes, sir, and the other is the younger." "Thank you, I was about to ask that."

A GREAT IDEA. Foote, the actor on the occasion of a benefit, said, Like a grate full of coals I glow, a great full house to see: And if I'm not grateful prove, a great fool I should be. And anybody else would be a great fool to go with his face all covered with pimples and blotches, when Spring Blossom Remedy can be had at every drug-gist.

Prices: $1.50 cents, and trial bottles 10 cents. Sold by W. R. Reed & Co. "Make a minute of that duel, Mr. Shearer," said the chief to the news editor. "Can't do it," replied the subaltern. "Why not?" "Cause there's only two seconds in it." (Verdict of accidental death, caused by sudden increase of salary.)

A REMARKABLE FACT.—Old Gent, "I suppose your sight grows very keen with practice?" "Sight!" Lor' bless yer, yes sir; smell, too. There's men 'ere can smell smuggled 'baccy ten miles at sea."

Rapid Transit from a condition of bodily suffering and disease to one of comfort and health takes place when Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is applied to muscles and joints tortured by rheumatism, or to sore throats and chests, or is taken internally for pulmonary complaints. It has no equal as an internal or external remedy for all lung and bronchial affections, neuralgic troubles, piles, kidney complaints, and a variety of other maladies as well as sores and injuries. For sale by all druggists.

What do you do when you have a cold? asked a little boy of Jones the other day. Cough replied Jones. I don't, for my Ma gives me Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil and it always stops my coughing. For sale by all druggists.

Electroceasing item.—First voter: "I hope that 'ere Wilfred Lawson won't get in, Bill." Second ditto: "No; he 'aves too much to say fur himself. I calls him a nondescript—a windmill as goes by water."

Unequaled in effectiveness, unapproached in cheapness, and unrivalled in popularity is Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. 25 cts. per bottle.

The Arab horse is not broken until his fourth year. That's where they differ from teacups. But then Arab horses are not washed by the average kitchen girl.

WHAT PHYSICIANS THINK.

NEW YORK, Dec. 21, 1871.

DR. M. M. FENNER, Fredonia, N. Y.,

Dear Sir.—I have no hesitation in saying that the efficacy of your Blood and Liver Remedy and Nerve Tonic in relieving and curing the various chronic diseases you mention in connection with it, far surpasses anything I have ever met with or known, during a twenty years' extensive practice of medicine. It is successfully administered in so large a number of disease because it operates by removing the causes of disease, hence they yield of necessity. Yours truly,

A. F. JENNINGS, M. D.

OUR TELEPHONE.

A GOOD TIME.—A dance and supper is to be given at Silver Lake House, Freedom, on Friday Nov. 12th. The fantastical lovers of dancing should make a large turn out.

On next Sunday evening, Mrs. Kanouse, of Chicago, will address the inhabitants of Chelsea, on temperance, at the Congregational Church. Let everybody turn out.

THE M. C. R. R. are doing a fine job for the inhabitants of Chelsea, by digging a large slough and putting in tile for several feet at foot of Main street, under the track—so that it will carry away all the surplus water. Much needed.

Mr. E. P. DOWNER, of Lima, laid on our table last Saturday, a beat, (mangel-wurzel variety) weighing 16 1/2 lbs. Mr. D. also husked 200 shocks of corn, and after measuring the ground, found it to average 133 bushels to the acre.—Who can beat it?

ERROR.—In our last issue we mentioned of being presented by Miss Westfall, of Lima, with a fine large apple weighing 17 1/2 ounces. We made a mistake—it should have read, presented by Master Nelson Westfall—for which we tender our thanks.

AUCTION SALE.—Mr. Burchard, of Chelsea, will sell the remaining part of his farm, lying half a mile west of Sylvan Center, and four miles west of Chelsea. Also a large stock of cattle, horses, sheep and farm implements, on Saturday Nov. 6th. Geo. E. Davis, Salesman.

POULTRY.—The undersigned hereby give notice that he is now prepared to purchase poultry of good quality, for which he will pay the highest market price in cash, at his old stand, south Main St., Chelsea, Mich. Mr. S., as a poultry dealer is well known in this vicinity for honesty and fair dealing. We advise all those who have poultry to sell, to be sure to give him a call. A. STEGER.

THERE will be sold by public auction, on the Wm. Turner farm, three and a half miles from Chelsea, and one mile north of the Dexter and Chelsea road, on Wednesday Nov. 10th, consisting of live stock, farm implements etc., belonging to O. McClain. Great bargains may be expected. James Joiner, Salesman.

LEAP YEAR PARTY.—Tuttle & Thomas hall, of Chelsea, was the scene of a leap year ball on last Friday evening, Oct. 29, and a good time was enjoyed by over thirty couples. Supper was served at Wheelock restaurant, which gives much credit to the proprietor. As leap year is drawing to a close, we suppose that those kind of parties will be on the rampage. Young ladies, go in with a determined mind "now or never." Young men, be on hand.

THE lecture at Red Ribbon hall, in this place, was well attended last Sunday afternoon. Rev. T. Holmes, of the Congregational Church, delivered a very able address on the political temperance issues of the day. He advised the youth who had become a voter, to stand by good, honest temperance men, as they were the men that our country demanded in the present crisis. The lecture was a good one and will long be remembered by all present.

We have received a specimen of "Happy Songs" in 40 page manilla form, music book for day schools, which certainly fills a real want. The paper and "get up" of the little book is first class. The music—well, we don't sing, but it looks bright and cherry. The words are full of life and are not trashy. We think all teachers will find this little volume is just what they have long wanted. Send 10 cents for specimen copy to Thomas Kane & Co., 245 Wabash-Ave., Chicago, Ill.

THE Baptist Church last Sunday evening, of this place, was crowded, many had to go away that could not get even standing room, to hear Myatt Kyan, Karen of Burma, lecture on his native country. He spoke about 2 1/2 hours, speaking principally of the religion of his country, and how they lived, showing the different dresses worn there. The Karen has been about ten years in this country, and learned the largest part of his education in Kalamazoo, he is about to return to his native country shortly.

THE EDITOR of the Chelsea Herald has it to say at the present time, that he has in his employ a sober printer that don't drink anything stronger than "Adam's Ale." We propose to have him run on the temperance ticket next campaign for representative. This being leap year, we advise the fair ladies to throw "sleep eyes" on that honored man. We also wish to inform the unmarried ladies that he is a fine young man—he attends meeting three times on Sunday, and don't chew any tobacco—he is rather backward in coming forward, and we would advise the fair sex to give him a helping hand. I will now introduce him.

Yours respectfully, DAVID SMITH.

ALL HALLOW'E'EN.—Last Sunday evening was what is termed in Europe as "All Hallow'E'en," and is well known to all the "lads and lassies" of Scotland, and to most of the young folks of Europe, and even in America. For several centuries past, it has been customary in England, Ireland and Scotland, to celebrate the eve of All Saints' Day in a manner peculiar to each nation or people. In this country the day is not so generally observed as it is in the old country, yet there are many in America who remember well legends which cluster around the midnight hour of Hallow'E'en, and they cannot, if they would, efface those legends from their memories. In the north of England the night is known as "Hallowe'en Night" from the fact that it is generally celebrated by family gatherings, in which apples and nuts form a cheerful feature of the entertainment. In addition to this, the old custom of ducking for apples in tubs of water is still practiced. Among the more superstitious and weird characters, taking the form of a charm to discover their future partners for life.

DIED.

Died, Oct. 24th, 1880, at the residence of her son, in Chelsea, Mrs. BETSEY SMITH, in the 67th year of her age, after an illness of nearly two weeks.

She was born in Ireland, parish of Kilmore, Kings County, and was the mother of eleven children, seven of whom are living. She had been a residence of this country forty-four years, and was a member of the Catholic Church, and was buried in that holy order. "May her soul rest in peace."

OUR MOTHER.

Peaceful and calm mother passed to her rest
As a tired child sleeps on the parents' breast;
Wreath garlands for her of green and white—
Flowers immortal, fadeless, pure and bright.
Loved one are left a sad grief to bear;
Left for each other's love, and to each other's care;
But still there's something else, though loving mother's gone,
To comfort, help and cheer a lonely home.
Brothers and sisters now must join with cheerful hands
And every effort make a loving household band,
Now our treasures are in heaven,
There to keep our hearts.

"Why should our tears in sorrow flow,
When God recalls his own;
And bids them leave a world of woe
For an immortal crown."
"Their toil are past, their work is done,
And they are fully blest;
They fought the fight, the victory won,
And entered into rest."
