Eating Before Sleeping.

Man is the only animal that can be taught to sleep quietly on an empty stomach. The brute creation resents all efforts to coax them to such a violation of the laws of nature. The lion roars in the forest until he has found his prey, and when he has devoured it he sleeps over until he needs another meal. The horse will paw all night in the stable, and the pig squeal in the pen, refusing all rest or sleep until they are fed. The animals which chew their own cud have their own provision for a late meal just before dropping off to their nightly slumbers.

Man can train himself to the habit of sleeping without a preceding meal, but only after long years of practice. As he comes into the world nature is so strong for him, and he must be fed before he will sleep. A child's stomach is small, and when perfectly filled, if no sickness disturbs it, sleep follows naturally and inevitably. As digestion goes on the stomach begins to empty. A single fold in it will make the little sleeper restless; it will waken it; and if it is hushed again to repose the nap is short, and three folds put an end to the slumber. Purgative or other narcotic may close its eyes again, but without either food or some stupefying drug it will not sleep, no matter how healthy it may be. Not even an angel who learned the art of minstrelsy in a celestial choir can sing a hube to sleep on an empty stomach.

We use oft-quoted illustration, "sleeping as sweetly as an infant," because this slumber of a child follows immediately after its stomach is completely filled with wholesome food. The sleep which comes to adults long hours after partaking of food, and when the stomach is nearly or quite empty, is not after type of infantile repose. There is all the difference in the world between the sleep of refreshment and the sleep of exhaustion.

To sleep well the blood that swells the veins in the head during our busy hours must flow back, leaving a greatly diminished volume behind the brow that lately throbbled with such vehemence. To digest well this blood is needed at the stomach, and nearer the fountains of life. It is a fact established beyond the possibility of contradiction that sleep aids digestion is conducive to refreshing sleep. It needs no argument to convince us of this mutual relation. The drowsiness which always follows a well-ordered meal is itself a testimony of nature to this inter-dependence.

HISTORY OF TWENTY RUM-SELLERS.—A writer in the American Messenger says: "During a period of twenty-five years, from 1850 to 1875, the writer remembers twenty individuals who were at one time or another engaged in the business of selling liquor at or near a little village in South Carolina. Of that number fifteen have failed in business, either while selling or afterwards. Five have died from the excesses, and have also passed away. Ten of their sons fell early victims to the appetite, and filled drunkard's graves, while nine others have at different times been addicted to drunkenness, and are in the utmost danger of falling before the same dreaded habit. Ten of their daughters are or have been married to drunkards. Three of their sons are idiots or imbeciles, and there are other indications which to a close observer call to mind the denunciation of Holy Writ, 'Woe to him that giveth his neighbor drink, and maketh him drunken also.'"

A colored tailor from North Carolina is said to have made $35,000 in Boston since the war. He gives employment to over 100 persons.

THE DIRTIEST CITY IN THE WORLD.—Naples is the largest city in Italy—nearly twice as large as any other—within 50,000 of Chicago; and this dense multitude live and move and have their being in huddling hives, from which they swarm like bees. This is believed to be their only resemblance to bees. They are as lazy as they are dirty. A Neapolitan's idea of heaven is to sit on a driver's seat and crack the whip over the head of a gothic horse. He seldom strikes the horse, but cracking the whip is a special accomplishment of Naples, as mosaics are of Florence. In only two things have I ever seen a Neapolitan display any vigor—cracking his whip and scratching his back.

Dirty! the Neapolitan is the dirtiest living creature. Nine-tenths of the people on the street look as if they had worn their clothes for years, and expected to wear them without washing till they drop off. They are generally of some hempen stuff, or tow-cloth, once white. One garment seems to be considered enough, and two a superfluity.

Many of the workmen are constantly seen going about their shops and even the streets with nothing on but a pair of trousers, and I saw one stop in a crowded street and deliberately take off his trousers to look for a flea. Boys from 8 to 12, entirely naked, may be seen walking leisurely through the principal streets for blocks to the bath-house. I never saw so many children without a scrap of clothing on them in my life as within the past week; and it is a real shock to the moral sense of the members of Cook's vacation party, late from a land where modesty is regarded as a virtue.—Naples Letter.

I'LL NO TRUST YE.—Two centuries ago, in the Highlands of Scotland, to ask for a receipt or a promissory note, was thought an insult. If parties had business matters to transact, they stepped into the air, fixed their eyes upon the heavens, and each repeated his obligations, with no mortal witnesses. A mark was then carved on some rock or tree near by as a remembrance of the compact. Such a thing as breach of contract was rarely met with, so highly did the people regard their honor.

When the march of improvement brought the new mode of doing business, they were often pained by these innovations. An anecdote is handed down of a farmer who had been to the Lowlands and learned worldly wisdom, on returning to his native parish he had need of a sum of money, and made bold to ask a loan from a gentleman of means named Stewart. This was kindly granted, and Mr. S. counted out the gold. This done, the farmer wrote a receipt and offered it to Mr. S.

"What is this, man?" cried Mr. S., eyeing the slip of paper.

"It is a receipt, sir, binding me to give ye back yer gold at the right time," replied Sandy.

"Binding ye? Well, my man, if ye canna trust yerself, I'm sure I'll na trust ye. Ye canna hae my gold." And, gathering it up, he put it back in his desk and turned his key on it.

"But, sir, I might die," replied the canny Scotchman, bring up an argument in favor of his new wisdom, "and perhaps my sons might refuse it ye; but the bit of paper would compell them."

"Compell them to sustain a dead father's honor!" cried the Celt. "They'll need compelling, to do right, if this is the road ye are leading them. I'll neither trust ye nor them. Ye can gang elsewhere for money; but ye'll find none in the parish that'll put more faith in a bit o' paper than in a neighbor's word o' honor, and his fear o' God."

PAPER BLANKETS.—An English firm have applied paper to blanket making successfully. Of late years various attempts have been made to turn it to account in the manner described, but, owing to the crackling nature of paper, and the impossibility of securing free ventilation beneath paper coverings, the idea was abandoned again. In the "Chartaline" blanket, as the new invention is called, these defects have been overcome. Ventilation is obtained as full, free and perfect as with an ordinary woolen blanket. The new bed covering is made of two sheets of paper, between which a layer of wadding, chemically prepared, is inserted in such a way that it cannot gather in lumps. The edges are strongly whipped, so that there is no possibility of the separation of the two pieces taking place. The paper is manufactured from strong fiber, which, being softened by a special process, is free from the objectionable cracking and rustling sound that, as a rule, accompanies manipulation of paper. It is true there is a slight crisp feeling when new, but this soon wears off, and the covering becomes soft and limber. At the same time, the strength of the blanket is much greater than imagined, having regard to the character of the materials from which it is manufactured. As far as looks go, the new blanket has all the appearance of a woolen one, while the warmth it affords exceeds that possessed by its predecessor when the size and weight of the two are brought into comparison. The trifling cost at which these serviceable articles may be obtained constitutes, however, the chief advantage of the invention.

"Chinese barbers shave without father." This reminds us that our old schoolmaster used to lather without shaving. One is said to be as painful an operation as the other.

SUGAR PRODUCTION OF THE WORLD.—Something like one-tenth of the sugar in the world is produced in Mauritius. McCulloch, in 1857, put down the world's produce at 1,250,000 tons. In that year the island produced about 126,260 tons, the largest quantity ever made in Mauritius in a single crop. These figures are independent of sugar made from the beet or other sources besides the cane. The crop during the coupe just over is estimated at 125,000 tons. Of this the larger portion is exported, the island consuming annually about 7,500 tons. Beet-root sugar can be classed among the enemies of the cane; the very mention of its name in Mauritius acts like the wave of a red flag to a bull, a good year for "beet" meaning a bad year for sugar; a failure in the former crop will add several shillings to the price of a hundred weight of cane sugar, a difference which means to the planter a good income for the year, or the reverse. Beet sugar is encouraged by bounties by the French government; and its rivalry with cane sugar.—Fraser's Magazine.

Eggs—How INCREASED.—If an increase of eggs be desired in the poultry yard, before large sums of money are expended in the purchase of everlasting layers, we would recommend the system of keeping no hens after the first, or at most after the second year. Early pullets give the increase, and the only wonder is that people persist, as they do, in keeping up a stock of old hens, which lay one day and stop the next. In some parts of Europe it is the inviolable rule to keep the pullets only one year. Feeding will do a great deal—a surprising work indeed—in the production of eggs, but not when old hens are concerned; they may put on fat, but they cannot put down eggs. Their tale is told, their work is done; nothing remains to be done with them but to give them a smelly of the kitchen fire, and the sooner they get the better.

WHY NOAH GOT DRUNK.—At a recent San Francisco school contest for the best essay on liquor and tobacco, the prize was awarded to the little fellow who wrote the following, and two dollars extra for his humor: "I don't see why they should be called twin evils, for, as far as I can learn, getting drunk is a habit set by Noah after he got ashore from the ark, about as long ago as anything ever happened, while the tobacco habit is a more recent abuse. I don't blame Noah for getting drunk. He had water so long he was getting tired of it, and wanted a change."

Daughter (home from school).— "Now, papa, are you satisfied? Just look at my testimonial.—Political economy, satisfactory; fine arts and music, very good; logic, excellent." Father.— "Very much so, my dear especially as regards your future. If your husband should understand anything of house-keeping, cooking mending and the use of the sewing machine, perhaps your married life will indeed be happy."

MASONIC RECEPTION.—Last Wednesday evening, a very pleasant social event occurred at the new hall of the Masonic Lodge. A reception given by Olive Lodge No. 166, F. & A. M., about two hundred persons were present. Excellent music was furnished during the evening, by Bachman's orchestral band. The company were favored with very excellent vocal music by Messrs. Geo. Kempf, Austin Youcum and Misses Sergeant and Whittelsey. Early in the evening the members of the Lodge were called into the reception room, and then Elder Gay in a neat speech presented to the Lodge, a magnificent mirror, wash stand etc., on behalf of the lady friends of the Lodge. The Hon. A. J. Sawyer of Ann Arbor, on behalf of the Lodge accepted the gift from the ladies. Mr. Sawyer then proceeded to deliver a very eloquent and feeling address, giving something of a history of the early struggles of the Lodge, and something of the experience of himself and others, who were accustomed to attend Lodge at Dexter, before a Lodge was organized here, to which Lodge they used to go with a hand-car. After this address the guests were invited to a most excellent supper, and when that part of the programme was completed, Elder Gay delivered a short address which was very appropriate and well received. More music both vocal and instrumental were rendered. And at a late hour the members of the company dispersed, indicating by their looks and acts, that they had passed a most enjoyable evening. Ye local noticed among the guests from abroad, W. E. Depew and wife of Ann Arbor.

Married at the M. E. parsonage in Lima, Feb. 8th, by the Rev. D. W. Giberson, William F. S. Cairns and Miss Clara Phelps, both of Dexter.

HOW TO BE NOBODY.—It is easy to be nobody, and we will tell you how to do it. Go in the drinking saloons to spend your leisure time. You need not drink much now, just a little beer or some other drink. In the meantime play dominoes, or something else to kill time, so that you will be sure not to read any useful books. If you read anything, let it be the cheap novels of the day; thus go on keeping your stomach full and your head empty, and yourself playing timewasting games, and in a few years you will be nobody, unless you should turn out a drunkard or a professional gambler, either of which is worse than nobody. There are any number of young men in Chelsea, hanging about the saloons just ready to graduate and be nobodies.

SIX HUGGING MACHINES IN FULL BLAST.—The man who has a family of about six blooming daughters is often looked upon as a happy man. What a delusion! Consider six hugging machines in full blast, and a terrible sixty quarrel in the morning, as to whose turn it was to have the parlor. Think of encountering lovers in the parlor, in the hall, on the stairs, in the dining room in the kitchen, even! If this isn't too utterly utter, what is? We hope that there is no family in this vicinity, so situated as to compare with the above.

Wood Bro's. Watch Poem.

This Poem is respectfully dedicated to the readers of the HERALD, and to those who have purchased watches of them, and who, by trial and comparison, proved their merits and cheapness.

THE WATCH THAT IS FAITHFUL AND TRUE.
The Wood Bros's names are renowned, For no watches in Chelsea like theirs can be found, They'll keep time as true as the sun on the dial, And this you will find if you give them a trial.

For no class of watches you'll find as a rule Can compare with the make of Rockford, Ill. They are neat and substantial of true Yankee make, Their finish is handsome, so the palm they must take.

Hark! here is a fact which no man can gainsay, A twenty-five dollar American Lever of elegant style! And never since Adam from Eden was hurled, Has there been such a Lever as this in the world!

No gingerbread plaything hung up for a show, Which only was made for a season to go. The finest of Lever's of world-wide repute, A faithful timekeeper which none can dispute.

From hundreds who buy them they daily receive Testimonials in proof of the service they give! Like Sol in the heavens, their rounds they will run, And always keep moving as true as the sun.

Some watches will go fast while others go slow, And seldom or never the time you will know, To many they prove an expensive affair, They punish your pocket when out of repair.

But these are the watches which no man need doubt, As true as the needle the time they point out; If you want a watch that will keep sure time and go, There is none that can equal Wood Bro's that's so.

Whether midnight or noonday, or morning or night, They'll watch Father Time in the course of his flight, They'll mark every step this old gentleman takes, And will take careful note of the progress he makes.

They'll register time in a marvellous way, And never, no never, your moments betray, As sure as you wind up these watches they'll go— You can always depend on the Rockford that's so.

A watch they call Rockford—Aye, this is the name— For ladies and gentlemen valued the same; At half-price they're selling, and if you incline, Then post off your order if you'd be in time.

At twenty-five dollars—this moderate charge, For an elegant watch to the people at large; These sales are amazing, and all want to know 'What's this watch they call Rockford from Wood Bro's co?'

'Tis multum in parvo, a splendid affair, A neat silver watch, with which none can compare. From Atlantic to Pacific, o'er land you'll find But none can equal Wood Bro's, that's so. Chelsea, Feb. 2, 1882.

Ordinance No. 2.

In Ordinance relative to Licenses in certain cases.
Be it enacted by the Board of Trustees of the village of Chelsea.

SECTION 1. Whoever shall sell or offer to sell, temporarily, at auction, within the village of Chelsea, any goods, wares, or merchandise, shall be liable making any such sale, take out a village license therefor, and shall pay for such, not less than five dollars per day, nor more than twenty-five dollars per day, in the discretion of the President of the said village of Chelsea.

Provided further that no auctioneer shall sell at auction, any property whatever, upon any square, or street, within the village, except as designated in such license.

SECTION 2. Whoever shall sell or offer to sell any meat, in less quantities than by the quarrier, any fish, or goods, wares, or merchandise, or any useful article not of his, or her own manufacture, nor having any regular place of business, in said village, shall be deemed a Hucker or Peddler, and every Hucker or Peddler, shall before doing business as such, within the said village of Chelsea, obtain a village license therefor and shall pay for said license, the sum of not less than one dollar, nor more than five dollars, for each and every day.

SECTION 3. Before any foreign concert troupe or company, or any dramatic or theatrical troupe or company, shall give any concert or dramatic entertainment for pay within the village of Chelsea, such troupe or company, shall obtain a village license therefor, and shall pay for such license the sum of $2.00, for each entertainment. Provided that whenever the Marshal shall be satisfied that at least, half the proceeds of any theatrical, dramatic or musical entertainment are to be devoted to any local educational, scientific, benevolent or charitable purpose, he may give a permit therefor free of license.

SECTION 4. Before any circus or menagerie shall be exhibited for pay within the village of Chelsea, the proprietor or manager thereof shall obtain a village license therefor, and shall pay for such license the sum of $10.00, per day for every day such show is open to the public.

SECTION 5. All other foreign shows, entertainments, or exhibitions for pay, other than those mentioned in sections 3 and 4 of this ordinance, shall be required before any exhibition is given within the village of Chelsea, to take out a village license therefor, and shall pay for such license the sum of $2.00, for each entertainment, or $4.00, per day as the case may be.

SECTION 6. All persons wishing to take out a license under this ordinance shall apply to the Marshal, who shall upon payment to him of the required amount, and the presentation of a written statement of the business in which he proposes to engage, issue and deliver to the person presenting the same, a license in accordance with this ordinance, for which the Marshal shall be entitled to a fee of 25 cents, to be paid by the party obtaining such license.

SECTION 7. No money shall be returned for any unused license, nor shall any license issued under this ordinance be transferred or assigned.

SECTION 8. Any person or persons violating any provision of this ordinance, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof be fined any Justice of the peace, shall be fined in any sum not to exceed $100 and costs of prosecution, or not, such fine and imprisonment, or both, such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

SECTION 9. All ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent with this ordinance, are hereby repealed.

SECTION 10. This ordinance shall be in force, from and after its publication. Approved February 3rd, 1882.
J. L. GILBERT, President.
(Attest) G. H. GAY, Clerk.

MANHOOD

How Lost, How Restored!
Just published, a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY on the radical cure of SPERMATORRHOEA or Seminal Weakness, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, CONSUMPTION, EPILEPSY and FITS, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, etc.
The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land. Sent under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, post paid, on receipt of six cents or two postage stamps. Address
