

Legal Printing.—Persons having legal advertising to do, should remember that it is not necessary that it should be published at the county seat—any paper published in the county will answer. In all matters transpiring in this vicinity, the interest of the advertisers will be better served, by having the notices published in their home paper, than to take them to a paper that is not as generally read in their vicinity, besides it is the duty of every one to support home institutions as much as possible.

Seven Hundred Thousand More.

Americans view with pride the vast immigration their country is attracting from all parts of the world. It shows that ours is indeed a favored land. During the past year 700,000 foreign born immigrants arrived on our shores to make this country their permanent home. In a certain sense this vast immigration is beneficial to our country. It swells the receipts of our railways, it enhances the value of land, it creates a new home demand for our domestic manufactures. But there is another side of the picture not so pleasant to contemplate. The love of home and country, in other words patriotism, is one of the strongest human instincts and is landed as a virtue. How intolerable must be the condition of these immigrants who are thus forced to leave their native land and seek their fortunes in a far off clime. We live in a civilized and Christian era, where the church spire is to be seen in every village, the school house by every roadside, and where universal education is the rule. Yet with all the agencies of civilization the problem of how to make life tolerable to the masses of the community has not yet been solved. Where population is leaving a country, it is a reflection upon the government of that country. The people of Switzerland and of France rarely emigrate, and it must be because the home government cares more for the material comfort of their people, than do those of Germany and Great Britain, from which countries the vast bulk of the immigrants come. Then again there are glaring evils connected with this enormous importation of foreigners. They are aliens in race, religion and language. Many are depraved and idle, and a still larger number are ignorant not only of our laws and institutions, but deficient in ordinary intelligence. They will within a few years add to the population a large and undesirable element. But we live in prosperous times, and as these immigrants are added to the native industrial force of the country, they are at present regarded with undoubted favor.—From Demorest's Monthly for March.

The New and the Old France.

A change has come over the French nation. The division of the lands of nobles and priests made by the French revolution was the greatest blessing ever conferred upon a nation. It made the peasants the owners of the farms they tilled, and they became frugal, industrious and lovers of their own homes. The disasters which followed the use of unredeemable paper money taught them a lesson, and for a century past the Frenchman has confined his traffic to gold and silver coins. He bought for cash, and paid with cash; he distrusted banks and would have nothing to do with corporations. Financial panics are unknown in France; for up to a recent period the trading community have never speculated. France is the most prosperous nation on earth, that is, there is more money in the hands of the people at large, and less concentrated in a few rich men, than elsewhere. But at length the speculative spirit of the age has invaded France. Banks are multiplying, credits are freely given, gigantic speculative corporations have been organized, the lessons of the past are being forgotten, swarms of mushroom companies are advertised in the parisian papers. So, in all probability, France will repeat the history of Great Britain and the United States. Its middle class will slowly disappear, and its wealth concentrate in a few hands corresponding to our own Gaults and Vanderbilts. Gambetta and the new republican regime have had much to do with this change of feeling on the part of the French people. France had eaten of the "insane root" during the splendid financial career of the 3d Napoleon; and to reconcile France to the new order of things, the republican government has borrowed immense sums of money to carry out its splendid series of public works. The government has become the great employer, and is constructing railways, digging canals, deepening harbors, subsidizing steamship lines, encouraging manufacturers, and the result is a spirit of speculation such as we had in this country during the civil war, when the government was making its vast disbursements, and issuing irredeemable paper money. Politically this action is wise, for France has become republican because of the apparent prosperity which reigns. But pay day will come and with it misery. The many will be impoverished, the few enriched. At last accounts things looked doubtful in France.—From Demorest's Monthly for March.

THE LAPLANDER'S FRIEND.—The Laplander's sledge has no runners, but, like himself, it is covered with reindeer skin, and in shape something like a canoe. Harnessed to this sledge the reindeer starts off with almost the rapidity of the steam engine, going 15 to 20 miles an hour. The reindeer is not only the Laplander's horse, but his cow, and during the time that it gives milk he is freezing large quantities of it, to be used when no more is obtained. Then he breaks off a piece, warms it and has again a good article of milk. The deer is also his food, large herds of them being kept in some parts of the country. From its skin the Laplander makes the roof of his house, his bed, his shoes and strings for his bow. Without this animal the Laplander would be in a deplorable condition.

Take Care.

Phosphorus is dangerous stuff to handle. A young man, in traveling, lit a match by scratching it with his thumb nail, and a piece of the incandescent phosphorus penetrated under the nail and made a slight burn, to which he paid no attention. But after an hour the pain became intense; the thumb swelled, then the hand, and next the forearm. He was obliged to send for a medical man, who declared that immediate amputation of the arm was necessary. The patient insisted on postponing the operation for a few hours until the arrival of his father, for whom he had telegraphed. Before the latter, however, could reach his son it was too late; the poisonous matter had gained the arm, then the shoulder, and any operation became impossible. He died in great agony in only twenty-seven hours after the burn. The case shows the danger of handling phosphorus in the manner described.

Something the Matter with Him.

A leading officer in one of the courts was charged with never going to bed sober. Of course he indignantly denied the soft impeachment; and he gave the particulars of a particular night in proof. We quote his own words: "Soon after I got in bed, my wife said: 'Why, husband, what's the matter with you? You act so strangely!'" "There's nothing the matter with me," said I. "I'm sure there is," said she; "you don't act natural at all. Shain't I get up and get something for you?" And she got up, lighted the candle, and came to the bedside to look at me, shading the light with one hand. "I knew there was something strange about you," said she. "Why, you are sober!" Such testimony was considered reliable, and the man now enjoys his new-found reputation.

The Mining Prospects.

Behold the prospector who wandereth over the face of the earth.

He traverseth the hills and picketh the barren mountains with his pick.

The pangs of hunger grip his bowels in the morning, and at night he lieth down with only a blanket to cover him.

And the graybacks come forth and rend him.

And he lifteth up a voice of lamentation in the wilderness and cries aloud to heaven:

"Why has this affliction come upon me, and why do the terrors of hell compass me round about?"

And while he sleeps the wolves devour his substance.

And when he findeth the croppings he diggeth in the ground and taketh up the location notice on the board.

Then he hieeth to the valleys and sayeth to the capitalist:

"Hearken unto me, for I have struck it big. Here are the samples from the ground, and behold the gold maketh lousy the rock with richness."

And the twain return to find others tolling upon the claim.

And the prospector graspeth his gun, saying:

"Get ye gone from here, for this is holy ground."

And a fire coming out of the bush smites him on the hip, and he calleth with a loud voice:

"I am done for; take off my boots."

And they hasten to take off his boots, and the fragrance of his socks reacheth unto heaven.

And he giveth up his ghost and is gathered to his fathers.

And behold, others work the mine.—Nevada Monthly.

OUR TELEPHONE.

Frank Diamond the barber is now located in Dexter. We wish him success.

Mr. Cole the traveling editor of the Jackson Star, paid us a flying visit last Saturday.

A few good singing canny birds and cages for sale. Inquire at this office.

Miss Ella S. Johnson, who has been confined to her bed for some time by sickness, is now slowly recovering.

Next Monday will be Charter election day. We hope the inhabitants of this village will try to put the best men in the right place.

The wife of Chas. Cady, died at her residence in this village last Thursday, aged 28 years. She leaves a husband and two children to mourn her loss.

LEGISLATIVE.—It is said that about fifty citizens of Sylvan, petition in favor of taxation of church property.

There are a great many about here at present complaining of colds and bowels complaints.

M. J. Noyes returned from Canada last week, with a car load of fine looking horses for this market.

It is a solid fact that the village of Chelsea, can boast of being entirely out of debt at the present time. All bills paid and will start next week on a clear footing.

The beautiful warm sun shine days of last week, took a sudden change from heat to cold on Monday. The robins and blue birds, and even the little sparrows, took a back seat around the chimney corners to get warmer.

Died at her home in State Center, Iowa, of typhoid pneumonia, on March 4th, 1882, Mrs. Adeline Scott, aged 31 years. She was a daughter of Gabriel Freer of this village, and leaves a husband and one child to mourn her loss. She was a good christian and beloved by all who knew her.

Mr. Jas. Cushman, paid us a visit last Tuesday, and informed us, that he was going to locate a farm near Williamstown, Ingham County, and would leave Washtenaw Co., next Thursday for his future home. May success attend him.

The Trenton (N. J.) Gazette, mentions the case of Mr. John Wood, with the American Pottery Co., that city, who was carried by St. Jacobs Oil of an attack of rheumatism, that had confined him to his bed for seventeen weeks. He praises it unstintingly.

Hiram Lightall had his hand poisoned one day last week, while working on machinery. It seems he got his hand cut and receiving some dirt in the wound, thus causing the poison to get into the blood, and giving him a bad arm.

Miss Maggie Gates, has been sick with a bad cold for the past week—but is now feeling somewhat better.

Mrs. Elizabeth Newton, will sell at public auction next Saturday, at 1 o'clock P. M., on the Gabriel Freer farm, one and one half mile east of Chelsea, consisting of farm implements, cattle, etc.

D. Pratt our watchmaker, is about to leave for Jackson. He has rented a fine store, and will leave next Monday.

About six weeks ago a certain person entered the northwest window of the German Lutheran Church, and stole the money belonging to the Sunday school. The party is known, and if he does not return the money, to some of the Sunday school teachers within ten days, he will be prosecuted.

Error—Two weeks ago, we published a transfer of the farm of John M. Letts. It read that John M. Letts sold it to Geo. Whitaker. It should have read, sold to Chas. Letts, instead of Whitaker. Then a second sale came off, Chas. Letts leasing the farm to Geo. Whitaker, on condition of buying.

The district convention of the Good Templars for Washtenaw, Wayne and Macomb counties held its session last week in this village. There were several eloquent speakers present. Their new hall was full to overflowing, and a good time was enjoyed by all.

Great excitement prevails north of here over the bright prospect, that the Grand Trunk Company, will extend its line from South Lyon to Plankney and Jackson. It looks now as if it would be built, which would be a good thing for people along its line, but not the best for the trade of Chelsea.

You never hear of a defaulting editor, never. Of course, there is very little to default, barring paste, but honesty comes as naturally to an editor as drinking water.

Died at Waterloo, Mich., March 4th, 1882, Mrs. Stephen Seigfried, aged 64 years. The funeral service was delivered by Rev. Geo. Stowe, he was the same minister that presided at her husband's funeral.

Our express agent Mr. Hatch, met with an accident last week, by falling on the sidewalk and bruising his side. He is now getting better.

A son of D. Pratt the watchmaker, while fooling with boys had his leg dislocated one day last week.

Chelsea put on "city airs" last Monday evening, by having her streets lit up with "gas" not gas, as she has too much of that already—but oil. Some fifteen lamps have been put up on the most convenient street corners. The next thing that is to follow is, a hand-engine and hose cart—and the next thing in order is to organize a hook and ladder company. Now boys get ready to put in your petition for office.

DRAMATIC READINGS.—We understand that the Rev. Wm. George of Dexter, who recently occupied one of our Pulpits, is next Wednesday eve, the 15th inst., to give an evening's readings in the M. E. church of our town. The entertainment promises something rare. For several years past he has been giving readings to delighted audiences both in the States and Canada, and now has so many calls to larger places, that it is something of a fortune that he can be secured for our town. He is reported to be an eloquist of extra powers, able to make words speak out, that which is both pleasing and startling. His recitations next Wednesday evening, will embrace the comic and grave, the instructive and laughable, and whoever thinks more of 10 cts., than the opportunity will practice a losing economy.

From our Lima Cor.

Mr. C. Cushman is moving on to his new farm. Mr. C. intends to make a good many improvements, as soon as time will permit.

Service at the regular hour at the M. E. church, 10 1/2 o'clock, Sunday morning.

A lively runaway took place last Monday. A team belonging to T. Easton, the buggy to which they were hitched—was badly broken. No one hurt.

We think Mr. E. is aware, that mistakes will happen in the best regulated families.

The social that was held at James McLaren's, was a success. Everything was done on the part of the hostess, to make it pleasant for all. After the sale of ladies, which brought from 45 cents to $1.00, a beautiful repast was served, by the host and hostess, which wound up with ice cream, which was declared by all to be delicious. The ladies was a little surprised at their real value, at a forced sale.

Miss Frankie Cooley, has returned home from her visit to Coldwater.

Receipts of Chelsea Dramatic club entertainment here were a little over ten dollars.

Leander Easton of Lima and Mary Webb of Unadilla, were married Wednesday last week.

We copy the following from the Morgan Sentinel (Texas):

Messrs. C. H. Kempf and F. D. Cumings, arrived in Morgan on Sunday Feb. 26th, from Chelsea, Michigan, with fourteen hundred sheep, among their lot they had a few registered ewes and bucks and some thorough Durham bulls, intended for their sheep and cattle ranch, which they propose starting in Bosque county. They were on the road eight days and lost only one sheep on the trip. They were surprised to find Morgan a place of six hundred inhabitants, and so fast becoming a central point. It is said, by Mr. Cumings, that Morgan is bound to be a place of some importance, situated at the junction of the G. C. and S. F. and the H. T. railroads, giving it an outlet north and south east and west. It is the distributing point to one of the best counties in the State. Mr. Cumings also said that he was surprised to find the grass growing and the weather so spring like. The horses and sheep live on the natural grasses the year round.

Messrs. Kempf and Cumings, left on Monday the 27th ult., for New Orleans, to attend Mardi Gras. On their return they will locate their sheep ranch, and return to Chelsea, taking with them a load of Texas ponies. It is such people as these gentlemen, that we take pleasure in welcoming among us.

A Smile of Satisfaction.

This from the Cleveland (Ohio) Penny Press, carries its own suggestion: Recently meeting Mr. H. G. Keller, treasurer of the Cleveland Herald, our representative inquired of that gentleman, after stating his mission, if he personally knew anything about the Great German Remedy, St. Jacobs Oil. A smile played across St. Keller's expressive face and his eyes twinkled merrily as he replied in the affirmative. I will not refuse to state my experience with it, and you may use it as you think best. Four years ago I sprained one of my ankles, an accident which, as you are aware, entails much suffering and sometimes leaves the limb in a condition to remind one frequently of the old hurt. Unfortunately this result ensued. Whenever the weather became damp or my system absorbed the slightest cold my ankles pained me. This went on at intervals for over three years, and I could not obtain relief. Last winter I applied the St. Jacobs Oil and it completely cured me. I have not since felt a return of the pain.

Mrs. Pratt of Grass Lake, is spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Geo. E. Davis.

Darwin Boyd of Carson City, is visiting friends here.

Mr. Lord has bought the Stephenson farm and is now moving on to it.

James Beckwith has bought the Riggs place, and moved over on the Canada side.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Boyd, have moved into the old hotel stand for the summer.

Messrs. Bush and Corwin, are taking up with "Horace Greeley's advice" goes west this week, we expect to hear from them in the future as Bonanza farmers.

O. A. Boyd, has put in one of the finest corn shellers in the State in his mill, it shells the corn and cleans it for grinding at the same time. Everybody are bringing their grists to him, and the old mill is humming from early morn, till dewy eve.

Geo. E. Davis the Auctioneer, left last Tuesday for Ingham County, to attend to auctions, taking in Calhoun, Branch, Hillsdale and Lenawee Counties in his circuit; having now seventeen sales booked ahead; we don't know whether he will have any tongue left or not; but we hope he will hang on to his conscience.

Once more we are called upon to mourn the loss of a highly and esteemed pioneer. Mrs. Susan Barker, wife of John Barker of Sylvan, departed this life on Sunday morning, March 5th, of inflammation of the lungs, at the age of 68 years. She was a kind neighbor and was noted for her genial hospitality, and will be greatly missed. She leaves a husband, five daughters all of whom are married, and two sons, one still single.

BREEDING AND RAISING CANARIES.—To those who are interested in raising birds I will give some general hints: The first important step is that your birds are in no way related. This is essentially necessary to insure success. The cage should be large. I use a common square cage. For nests I do not buy the wire or willow ones, but make them of collar boxes, by lining with cotton and flannel, securely fastened by means of needle and thread. I also give soft tissue paper, for the mother bird, to use according to her notion, as how a nest should be fashioned. Never give thread or cotton, as the bird is apt to become entangled in coming to and from the nest, and thereby break her eggs.

Some one has asked when to commence mating? I can give no definite time, as much regards the age of the bird. But when your bird begins to tear her paper in the cage, carrying bits in her mouth, you will be safe in putting the singer with her and giving them a nest, and some paper to begin housekeeping.

Sometimes "domestic broils" will ensue, but they will, if let alone, like the more enlightened world, quietly settle down to domestic happiness. The eggs must be very carefully handled. I clean the cage twice a week, and am very careful about strangers handling the cage, as it may cause the bird to abandon her eggs. After the bird goes to sitting, I remove the singer and hang him in the same room.

Feed as usual with plenty of eggs and green food. The eggs will hatch in 14 days. As soon as the birds are hatched, keep plenty of soft food in the cage such as grated eggs, cracker crumbs softened with milk, being careful not to allow this to sour, as this would kill the young birds. Should your bird become infested with mites during the breeding, remove to another cage, and treat as before directed.

Meat is very healthful for birds; they also relish it, either fresh beefsteak or salt pork. Green food is quite necessary while breeding.

MANHOOD.

How Lost, How Restored!
Just published, a new edition of DR. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ES-SAY on the radical cure of SPERMATORRHOEA or seminal weakness, involuntary loss of semen, IMPOTENCY, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc.; also, CONSUMPTION, EPILEPSY and FITS, induced by self-indulgence or sexual extravagance, etc.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from a thirty years' successful practice, that the alarming consequences of self-abuse may be radically cured; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
