WHISPERINGS.

Pleasant weather!

Washington's birthday!

Hope you attended the donation!

Last Sunday was a beautiful day.

We are proud of our home talent.

Meetings were held in all the churches, last Sunday.

Two men paid a $10 fine each, for being drunk last week.

A number of cellars were turned into cisterns, last week.

It will pay you all to read the Lima correspondence this week.

No need of melting more snow to use as rain water for washing.

Meetings continue every evening this week, at the M. E. church.

Thunder and lightning accompanied the rain storm last Thursday night.

We now have that organ in our office. If in need of one, call and see it.

We trust there will be less noise in the gallery, at the next entertainment.

The W. C. T. U., will meet at Mrs. H. G. Hoag's next Tuesday afternoon.

The meetings at the Congregational church, closed last Thursday evening.

Be sure and read Holmes', Parker & Babcock's, and other locals in this issue.

Mr. H. C. Stedman heard a robin sing last Friday morning. The first person to report this.

A great many persons have been in and admired our latest addition—the power paper cutter.

About 400 persons were present at the entertainment given at the town hall last Saturday evening.

We were pleased to see home talent ladies dressed so becomingly, and render their parts so nicely.

Our Marshall received a valentine—oh, no! it did not represent a fight, with the Marshall looking on.

If you are in want, or intend to purchase an organ, call on us—we will sell you a new one cheap, for cash!

Last Thursday the school-boy had an opportunity of retaliating on the school-mam, and he did it, too!

The Ladies' Library Association will meet at the usual place, Friday (to-morrow) evening, at 6 o'clock—sharp!

Owing to bad weather, most of the stores closed early several evenings last week, much to the pleasure of the clerks.

Whitaker—the McCormick man—intended to have a changed "ad.," but did not receive the cut in time. Look for it next week!

Register of deeds, E. N. Gilbert, has received and forwarded about 135 applications from soldiers for "Michigan in the War."

We did not intend to have a wheat item in our column this week, but when we saw eleven loads of wheat on our street yesterday morning, at a little after seven, we changed our mind.

Last week we stated Mr. Martin had been agent at this place 17 years—it should have been 21.

The last paper—and a good one too—added to our exchange list, is the Eaton Rapids Journal.

Owing to Chelsea's elevated position, the streets were not flooded, as a number of other places were.

We hope no more 10 cent variety show actors, will appear on the town hall stage, unless billed as such.

The "Dutch Emigrant" song was a disgrace to the audience, and all who took part in giving the entertainment.

Washington's birthday to-day—ours was yesterday—that's why we're so much (?) like that great man, we suppose!

A number of freights were laid up here for a few days last week, owing to the "heaving" of the track, but all left on Saturday.

All members of the K. O. T. M. tent, will please take notice that the tent meets the first and third Friday of each month now.

Hale & Telford are of the "go-a-head" kind of young men, as will be seen by looking over the bargains offered by them in the local columns.

Girls attending the high school at Dexter smoke cigars, and yet, the Leader calls them ladies! Get some name for them, but don't call them ladies.

A 16-year-old colored girl was expelled from the high school last week for stealing books.—Argus. Does any one believe this act will better the girl?

The Courier says 7,500 peach trees will be set out near Ann Arbor the coming spring. We haven't figured up yet how many will be set out near Chelsea.

Capt. Somerby, of this office, after carrying 100 pails of water out of his cellar, concluded "to give it up!" He has enough water left to last all summer.

If the several political parties intend to nominate village officers for the coming year, we would like the date of the caucus several weeks ahead, so all may turn out.

When John R. Gates left on his Eastern visit, he gave Thomas S. Sears charge of 200 nice sheep to dispose of. Mr. Sears sold the sheep last week, and Saturday last they started on their journey towards Buffalo.

H. S. Holmes this week uses his space for the "Rambler Shirt," which is said to be the best shirt in the market, having the patent back, and re-enforced front. Mr. Holmes has the exclusive sale for this shirt in this place.

Thomas Krick, the veteran shoemaker, now occupies rooms under Holden's restaurant, where he will be glad to meet all his old customers, and any new ones who may need work in his line. Look for his "ad." next week.

The valentine most appreciated, was received by Rev. H. C. Northrup, and contained a twenty dollar gold piece, and was sent by the ladies of his congregation. Mr. Northrup was invited out to dinner, at Mr. Orrin Burkhardt's, and when he turned his plate over, he found the "valentine."

The following are the names of persons who have favored us with the "ready cash," for the HERALD, since February 8th, and to whom we tender our sincere thanks:

E. L. Negus,	$1.25	Wm. Paul,	$1.25
S. Boyce,	1.25	J. Looney,	1.25
Sarah E. Penn,	1.00	W. D. Runciman,	1.00
Jas. Kellam,	1.25	W. K. Guerin,	1.25
Chas. Whitaker,	1.25	R. P. Gage,	1.25
E. Taylor,	.50	N. L. Bird,	.70
H. C. Stedman,	1.25	W. H. Helmreich,	1.00
Wm. Davidson,	1.25	J. D. Luick,	1.25
Jas. Allen,	1.25	H. T. Gilbert,	.75

Cut this out and save it, as a receipt!

One of our substantial men told us a short time since, he would be in favor of building a nice hotel here by direct taxation. We cannot coincide with him, but could not a good hotel be built by a stock company? The Chelsea House furnishes good meals and beds, but the building itself is a disgrace to the place. A hotel could easily be rented, and enough rooms could be rented to merchants, to pay nearly all the interest. Now business men and others interested in the prosperity of Chelsea and vicinity, what say you? We should be pleased to hear from you, and will publish your communications.

Jas. M. Hudler, and Hugh McNally, why don't you call on Register Gilbert for your book, on "Michigan in the War"?

We have received several samples of soldiers' papers, and one of the best is the Soldiers' Bulletin, published by M. B. Stevens, at 82 Metropolitan Block, Chicago, at 75 cents per year. Sample copies will be sent when requested.

Carpenters have been lately engaged in placing pieces upon doors of the court house that have shrunk so as to admit too much cold air.—Argus. Did the contractors get their pay for this "shrinkage"? If not, it should be sent them at once.

The Star Windmill "ad" looms up this week. As Mr. Lighthall now has entire control of the business, he intends to do the best he can, both in manufacturing the mills, and furnishing pumps, hose, etc. He is also agent for Fowler's pitching apparatus.

This is a fish story: Last Thursday, Mr. Graham caught a ten-pound pickeral, and brought it to market. There it was hung up, and a short time afterward a small fish was put in its mouth, when it "shut down" on it in earnest. We have seen the fish.

Not one of our exchanges, to our knowledge, has complimented us on our last venture, cutting and pasting. We do not blame them, for in the four months we have had the HERALD, we have (so the readers tell us) put it in a shape, no paper in the county compares with, except the Ann Arbor Register.

Mr. Dolan, of Dexter, for the second time, was tried on Wednesday, charged with violating the liquor law. Prosecuting Attorney Whitman, for the people; Mr. D. Cramer, for defense—jury disagreed.—Argus.

The jury usually disagrees, or the case is discontinued, when Whitman does the prosecuting.

From the crop report, we learn that in answer to the question: "Has wheat during January suffered injury from any cause?" Six hundred and ninety-four correspondents answer: "No," and thirty-one, or about one in twenty-three, answer: "Yes." A number of those answering "yes," express fear that the plant will be smothered by the snow, which in some localities is of great depth; others state that it was injured during the open freezing weather of the early part of January.

By posters issued from this office, we see that John Mullen will sell at public auction on the O'Neil farm 4 1/2 miles northwest of here on Tuesday March 13th, four horses, one colt, three cows, calves, hogs, wagons, buggy, sleigh, harnesses, reaper and mower, hay-rake, cultivator, harrow, drill, fanning mill, house-hold furniture, and numerous other articles. Geo. H. Foster will be salesman, and as Mr. Mullen will remove from this part of the country, the goods must be sold, and no doubt bargains can be secured.

Two hundred loads of wheat were brought into Chelsea, Tuesday. Of this number, Mr. R. Kempf bought one hundred loads. It is a pertinent question with us, why there is not enough enterprise in Ann Arbor to secure some of the farmers' trade hereabouts? With the advantages of two railroads, giving us markets both in Detroit and Toledo, we ought to be able to compete with other inland towns, for the wheat business.—Courier.

Ye may sometime compare with other towns in the county, but ye can't "come up" to Chelsea.

Caucus!

The Republicans, of Sylvan, Michigan, meet in caucus, at the Chelsea House, on Friday, Feb. 23, at 2 o'clock P. M., to select seven delegates to attend the county convention, which is to be held Feb. 24, at Ann Arbor to elect delegates to the state convention, held at Saginaw, Feb. 28, '83.

Democratic County Convention.

A Democratic County Convention will be held at the Court House, in the City of Ann Arbor, at eleven o'clock, A. M., on Thursday, the first day of March, 1883, to elect ten delegates to a Democratic State Convention, to be held at the city of Lansing, on the seventh day of March next, to nominate candidates for Justices of the Supreme Court, and Regents of the University.

PERSONAL.

Mr. M. Campbell has our thanks for a late Dakota paper.

Rev. E. H. Gay is assisting in the revivals, at the Baptist church in Dexter.

Miss Eva Huntington, of Mason, was the guest of Mrs. W. W. Hendricks, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Knapp left Tuesday for Chicago, where they will visit with friends for a week.

Miss Katie Plow of Francisco, has been visiting with the Misses Libbie and Sophie Schatz of this place.

Mr. W. H. Helmreich, of Detroit, spent several days visiting his parents and friends in this place, last week.

Geo. Gould is wrestling with Job's comforters, but as he is a strong young man, he will doubtless conquer them.

J. T. Campbell, of Mason, ex-county clerk, of Ingham county, was the guest of W. W. Hendricks, a few days last week.

C. H. Kempf was suddenly summoned by telegraph, last Saturday night, to the bedside of his sister, Mrs. Schlotterbeck, of Ann Arbor.

Our genial jeweler, Frank O. Cornwell, has been very lonesome during the past week. Reason—his wife has been visiting her parents at Perry.

Mr. ——— Glover, of Baldwin, Mich., made this office a pleasant call last Thursday afternoon. Mr. Glover is visiting friends in this neighborhood.

Mrs. H. G. Hoag left last Friday for Chicago, to attend the graduating exercises of the medical school, in which her son Hawley is a student, and expects to graduate. Mrs. H. is expected home to-day.

C. D. BeGole, of Lone Pine, California, brother of George A. BeGole, of this place, has our thanks for a copy of the San Francisco Sunday Chronicle, in which we find a description of the highest mountain in America. Mr. BeGole was one of a party who first reached its summit in 1872.

OFFICE OF MIGUEL & Co., Havana, Cuba.

Feb. 1st, 1883.

EDITOR OF THE CHELSEA HERALD: Please state to your patrons that we have this day made the enterprising druggists of your city, Glazier, DePuy & Co., at the "BANK DRUG STORE," sole agents, in Chelsea, for our celebrated cigars. We confidently believe that men who smoke our cigars, will live longer, happier, and more useful lives, marry richer and more sensible wives, and be blessed with prettier and brighter children, and accomplish all that goes to make life a success, more certain and completely, than any other class of people.

Our cigars are incomparably superior to any others made. When you smoke one, you feel that you are walking on air, have become suddenly wealthy, and one of the chief promoters of the Chelsea Opera House.

Very Sincerely Yours,
MIGUEL & Co.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

M. DE BRAZZA has started for the Congo, where Mr. Stanley is said to be waiting "to give him a warm reception." The London Globe announces that the author of "How I Found Livingston" will soon publish a striking narrative entitled: "How I Met De Brazza: in Three Rounds; and the Shocking Sight He Presented When I had Done With Him."

THE Ohio State Meteorological Bureau has under consideration a novel plan for displaying weather signals for the benefit of the farmers between Columbus and Cleveland. Large signals of different shapes and colors will be placed on each side of the baggage car of the passenger trains of one of the railways leading to Cleveland so that, when the farmers understand the code, they can foretell the probable state of the weather for twenty-four or thirty-six hours.

ONLY two months remain before the annual state election in Rhode Island occurs, and yet no state conventions have been held, no canvass is under way, and no candidates are suddenly discovering how black a record they have unknowingly made. Somehow Rhode Island takes its politics much more mildly than the rest of the country. The state gets "all torn up" only about once in a generation. The people seem fully as happy and prosperous, nevertheless.

THE sum of £500 has been offered as a premium by Mr. Ellis Lever of England, to anyone either in or out of the United Kingdom who shall during the present year invent a portable electric or other lamp "which working miners can conveniently carry from place to place in the mine, and which will not, under any circumstances whatever, cause an explosion of gas." Further particulars can be obtained by addressing Mr. Thomas Burt, M. P., president of the Miners' National Union, Newcastle-on-Tyne.

THE methods of a disgusting business which has been openly prosecuted in Liverpool for a considerable time, were recently exposed in court. It seems that rival undertakers have been employing runners to obtain custom, by watching every registrar's office, sometimes from a hired room opposite, sometimes from the sidewalk, and pouncing upon whomsoever visited it to register a death. These brutal importunities might have gone on unchecked if the runners had been a little more prudent. But they became so numerous and so persistent as finally to obstruct the streets and get themselves indicted as a public nuisance.

SOME recent events have given hope to the friends of certain aspirants for the Presidency that their favorites are growing in popular estimation. The defeat of one of two candidates for the Senate and the course of legislation in Congress are looked upon as significant, and several booms are believed to be in motion. All such speculations are worse than useless. There never was a time, perhaps, when the people gave so little thought to President making as now. If any statesman imagines that all eyes are being turned toward him as the coming man, the quicker he undecives himself the better. The people propose to wait until the latest moment before making up their minds, so as to take as few chances as possible in the Presidential lottery.—N. Y. Tribune.

AN epidemic of vandalism is said to be playing the mischief in and about the National Capitol this winter. The colossal statue of Washington is reported to be minus a big toe; Roger Williams has lost a little finger, and the Indian woman in the Columbus group all five fingers of her right hand.

THE late Professor Pond was once demolishing Darwin and his theories—a task which he frequently engaged in—when he triumphantly wound up with the question: "If we are monkeys where are our tails?" The Professor, who had been speaking for two hours at a stretch before asking this poser, was startled to hear a tired auditor answer audibly: "We have sat on them so long that they are worn off."

THE disastrous failure of the Hudson River peach crop last summer is not likely, in the opinion of peach growers, to be repeated the coming season. An examination of the buds shows that they are in excellent condition, and if one-third of the sound ones come to maturity, the crop will be enormous. This satisfactory prospect is largely due to the fact that the orchards have been snugly blanketed in snow all winter.

MR. LANGTRY, the husband of the lady who is now in this country, owns some land in Ireland which an agent manages. This agent recently wrote to him, saying that the tenants demanded lower rents and had threatened to resort to shot-gun policy to obtain compliance with their demand. Mr. Langtry at once wrote back as follows: "Dear Sir: You may say to my tenants that any threats to shoot you will never intimidate me."

PROFESSOR BROOKS, of the Red House Observatory, Phelps, N. Y., reports that telescopic observation of the sun on the morning of the 12th, revealed an unusual outbreak of spots, covering nearly the entire equatorial region of the sun. In addition to the numerous large single spots, with well defined penumbra, a large, irregular group had just come into view that morning on the eastern limb. With the numerous faculae in its vicinity and the torn and ragged form of the group, indications are manifest of a considerable solar disturbance, and its passage across the sun should be attentively observed.

M. DUCLERC, lately Premier of France, is an enthusiastic on fruit and flower culture. His rose-garden at Biarritz is one of the great sights of the place. He thinks that but for this hobby he would long ago have become a confirmed misanthrope. When worried with business or state affairs it has been his habit to go for a walk in a garden, or park, or flower-market, after which he always returns home in capital spirits. When he was a young and poor man he cultivated a garden in a small way on the roof of a six-story house, and was so successful there as to win a medal at a flower-show.

RULES are a very good thing generally, but sometimes a little humanity is vastly better. The inquest on a poor woman's child in London a few days ago illustrates this. The woman was homeless and for two weeks had been sleeping with her child on door-steps and in alley ways. But at last, noticing that the child was ill, she applied for admission to the St. Giles's Workhouse. The sapient Bumbles of that institution curtly told her that she must show a note from the house where she had been sleeping the night before. The poor woman explained how things stood, but was sent off to get a reference from a lodging where she had been a fortnight before. She could find no one there, and came back to the workhouse again—only, however, to be again repulsed until the relieving officer had "made inquiries." The story turned out to be perfectly true, and she was ultimately admitted, just in time for the child to die in the house "from cold and exposure."

Great Opening Prosperity.

Mr. Russell Sage, one of the most noted, as well as one of the most shrewd of American financiers, predicts a period of great prosperity. He says the West will advance in the next ten years far beyond the expectations of even those who have expected large growth. This opinion of the great New York financier is based on the vast flow of immigration into the yet sparsely inhabited west. The St. Louis Republican, one of the most conservative of papers, says: "While all reasonable allowance may be made for the interest he may have in railroad stocks, there appears to be abundant reason for the favorable prophecy. The population of the New England states is not increasing at all, or scarcely at all. Much even of the natural increase of population in that section comes west. Besides accretions from the older states immigration is pouring into the United States at the rate of 800,000 souls annually. At least such has been the experience of the past two-years, and there is little sign of abatement. The southern states get but the merest fraction of this vast influx of people. They come to the west. The fact imports great growth and large increase of production. Increase in commerce, increase in the population of cities, continued high prices of live stock and provisions, advance in real estate values, accumulation of business for railroads, construction of new thoroughfares—these effects it would seem must follow the causes noted. Mr. Sage's prediction does not therefore appear unreasonable or extravagant. Nothing but partial or total failure of the principal crops could well reverse the order in which things are flowing. Immigration alone, if the tide continues to bear in on us, will almost double the population of the States lying west of the Ohio and the lakes in the current decade, and the consequence of this growth is matter to expand the views of reflecting, sagacious men.

A GREAT POINT SETTLED.

An "Infidel" Politician and a Plucky Preacher Agree There is a Hell.

From the N. Y. Tribune.

A remarkable theological discussion has just been closed. It has been the peculiarity of all theological discussions for the past eighteen hundred years or so that instead of leading to argument they have invariably ended in widening the divergence between the disputants. But the discussion we are about to consider furnishes a striking exception to the rule, for it has ended in an enthusiastic, we can hardly say cordial, agreement. This would be a cause for rejoicing were it not that the decision reached concerns the eternal happiness or unhappiness of a large proportion of the human race. The question under discussion was the somewhat familiar one, Is there a hell? It did not start in that form, but by unanimous consent assumed that form and was decided in the affirmative. The parties to the discussion were Senator Ingalls and the Rev. Dr. Patton. The case is an interesting one, and is likely to be so far-reaching in its influence that we will state its rise, progress and triumphant conclusion tersely, but with all the accuracy which its exceptional merit deserves.

Senator Ingalls began the trouble by some remarks in the Senate during the memorial exercises there in honor of the late Senator Hill, of Georgia. As near as we can make out from the version now given, he expressed some doubts about the certainty of a future life, but admitted that if there were such a state he knew of no one whose life was so rich in the prophecy of a future existence as that of Senator Hill. The Rev. Dr. Patton did not like the speech, and quoted some sentences from it in his religious newspaper under the heading of "Heathen Talk in Congress." He also appended some comments, calling Mr. Ingalls an infidel, and saying that the utterance of his views in "connection with the solemn commemorative services of a Christian Senator was a piece of pure impertinence." That there might be no doubt about his own views upon impertinence or any other branch of the subject under discussion, the Rev. Dr. Patton marked a copy of his paper and sent it to Mr. Ingalls. The case was not well opened. Mr. Ingalls indited a card of response and sent it to the newspapers as well as to the Doctor. He observed that in his speech on Mr. Hill he had merely "presented those reflections which rise in all thoughtful minds when meditating upon the impenetrable mystery which veils the future state of man from all except" the Rev. Dr. Patton, and after a slight further explanation closed in this animated style: "If you are a Christian, I prefer to be a heathen—that is, if your religion prompts or permits you without provocation to libel those with whose views upon the great problems of human destiny you do not agree. I prefer to be an infidel. But I am neither the one nor the other. I have had some doubts hitherto whether eternal punishment was consistent with infinite love, but I am quite sure that if there is no hell for such bigoted slanderers and malignant liars as you there ought to be." It will be seen that Mr. Ingalls is in favor of a hell. Now comes the response and final summing up of the Rev. Dr. Patton. He starts out with the gentle Christian remark that he had recently expressed the opinion that "ungentlemanliness was not a characteristic of all unbelievers," but he was now convinced that he ought to make Mr. Ingalls a "conspicuous exception to this position." He then reiterates all his former assertions, accuses Mr. Ingalls of cribbing his views from Cicero, and declares that "heathenish" is the only fitting term to characterize his sentiments. Finally, after telling him he has used language which a "true gentleman would not use," he closes with this ingenious reference to the undoubted existence of a hell: "In return for your cruel wish that I may be doomed to 'eternal punishment,' permit me to express the hope that you may attain repentance unto life, and, putting away all malice, evil speaking, bribery and corrupt practices, finally be welcomed to the glorious rewards of the eternal hereafter." The Rev. Dr. Patton, it will be observed, is not so blunt a person as Mr. Ingalls. He does not indulge in a "cruel wish" that he may go to that uncomfortable place. He "hopes" the senator will be able to get into heaven, but he wishes him to understand that he will first have to renounce "malice, evil-speaking, bribery and corrupt practices," before he can get in with the Doctor and the other meek and lowly Christians who never permit themselves, even by indirection, to indulge either in "malice" or "evil speaking."

Here the discussion rests. The point which we wish to emphasize about it is the agreement of the two disputants, one an alleged heathen and infidel, and the other a zealous, professing Christian that there is a hell, and that it is a desirable and necessary institution. We are not sure but that this agreement will settle the question permanently, and if it does a prolific source of discord among theologians will be removed. However much sadness the decision may give some people, there can be no doubt that it will give great joy to many others who look upon a hell as an eminently commendable place of eternal abode for their enemies.

Why Bob Swore Off.

"It may be news to you since you have invited me to 'smile,'" said Mr. "Bob" Burdette, the humorist, to a Pittsburg Post reporter, the other day, "that I have become a total abstainer. I reduced the matter to figures and found that to each man is allotted one barrel of whiskey; and by close calculation I discovered that I had drunk a barrel and a half. In other words, I had drunk my own and half of some other man's barrel. I am too honest to rob anybody, especially of the whiskey we get nowadays, and therefore have quit drinking whiskey entirely."

A MARVELOUS ESCAPE.

How a Car-Load of Passengers Were Saved.

Winnipeg Sun.

When the regular train which left Rat Portage was nearing the bridge over the Winnipeg river, the driver noticed a man walking on the structure. The train approached the bridge by a curve, so that the man could not see his danger. The bridge is too narrow to permit of a person standing on one side till a train should pass, and it was impossible for him to reach the opposite side before the train would overtake him. To jump from the bridge was certain death; the only course open was to clutch the outer board, and suspended between life and death, await the result. This the man did, and the train, which could not be stopped, came thundering on. The conductor, recollecting that the steps of the Pullman car were very low, and would probably strike the man's head rushed to the rear of the train, and uncoupled the car, which, by the prompt application of brakes, was stopped in time. The man pulled himself up and reached the other end of the bridge.

A this instant a freight train was observed backing around the curve, and there stood the Pullman car in the middle of the bridge, filled with the terrified passengers, for the front part of the train had gone off. The engine of the freight train was attached to the rear end, so that it was impossible for the engineer to see the Pullman car. To leave the Pullman car was certain death, as the passengers had no means of escape; and notwithstanding the shouts of the train officials, the freight train came thundering on. It was a forlorn hope, but it was the only one, and quick as a flash Conductor Trodden of the passenger train signaled the engineer, who had gone off with the front part of the train, to back up. He saw the danger, but, true to his calling, reversed his engine and sped back over the bridge on his mission of mercy. He reached the car, the coupling was made, the lever thrown backward, and not an instant too soon the Pullman car and its precious load were drawn from the threshold of death. Silently and with awed faces the passengers rode to the city, each one realizing how close had been their call. The caboose attached to the freight train was also filled with passengers, but when they saw their danger many of them jumped from the car into the snowdrifts.

A JEALOUS LIONESS.

Injures Her Keeper and Frightens a Black Boy to Death.

Philadelphia Bulletin.

A large lioness called Juno, belonging to a circus, created quite a sensation at Frankford, where the show is in winter quarters, by attacking and badly injuring Mr. Martin, the keeper. The supposed cause of the attack is jealousy. In June, 1882, another lioness became the mother of three cubs, and Juno, who occupied an adjoining cage during the travels of the show, became much interested in them. Last fall the mother of the cubs died, and since that time Juno's interest in them increased, till of late she became so jealous of the cubs that when any one approached them she would become furious with rage.

Just before dark the other day Mr. Martin fed the animals, and after giving the cubs their share paused a moment to fondle them. This incensed Juno and she raised such a disturbance that Mr. Martin approached her cage to quiet her, but stumbled and fell against the bars. Instantly she seized his right arm above the elbow. Martin, in order to protect his head and body, grasped the bottom of the cage with his left hand. The lioness held his right arm with one paw and struck through the bars at his head with the other. A lad named Donahue, aided by an iron bar, tried to make Juno drop Martin, but his efforts were in vain, and he left to procure assistance. Before he could return, however, with the desired help, Martin managed to release himself from the grasp of the animal, when she, by a desperate effort, forced her way through the bars of her cage.

By this time quite a number of men, who had been summoned by the lad Donahue, reached the door of the apartment, but when it was made known to them that the animal was at large in the room they refused to enter on account of the darkness. Mr. Martin very pluckily held his ground, and by a judicious use of a heavy bar of iron soon cowed the lioness and drove her into her cage, which was immediately fastened and doubly secured by fitting in new bars and adding new braces. Martin's injuries, though painful, are not serious, and his physician says he will not lose the use of his arm. After Juno was caged it was noticed that one of the bluew boks, which was stalled in the same apartment, was trembling with fear and that tears were trickling down its face. Ten minutes later it was dead.

THE INCOMPLETE SHOW.

A Zoological Collection that Lacked so Many Things.

San Francisco Post.

The other morning while the urban manager of Woodward's gardens was smoking a four-bit cigar and meditatively listening to the muffled wails of Tom cat that had just been swallowed alive by the big anaconda, a tall, scientific-looking man, with a goal and blue glasses, entered the gate and remarked in an insinuating manner: "Of course you pass the scientific ternity?" "Of course we do not," said showman. "What, not the savants, not the neers in the great march of the mind to the hitherland of the infinite beyond returned the professor with great surprise. "I will not deceive you," sarcastically replied the proprietor of the o salamander; "we pass nothing but quills on the fretful porcupines—the press. You can't see the ostridge unless you come down and put up." "Dear me, dear me," sighed scientist reflectively. "To think the professor of cosmographic conchology should be denied admittance to a class zoo! Has the skamgatibus been fed yet?" "Skam—which?" asked the tiger porter.

"The skamgatibus. You've got haven't you?" "Y-e-s-s; I believe we've a small male somewhere," said the grizzled friend, doubtfully. "I never knew a first class collector to have less than two pair," said professor, contemptuously. "How your azimuths stand this cold weather?" "Azimuths?" asked the Napoleon gregator of curiosities; what's the Some kind of bird—you don't mean ostridge?" "Ostridges be hanged!" said the successor of Darwin; "ostridges are no ing. I've shot more ostridges with qu shot than you've got hairs on your head. You don't actually mean to sit there and tell me you haven't got a single azimuth to your back?" "Don't believe I have," admitted alligator breeder, mortified; "what they like?"

"Oh, they're of the order Spini spicemotis, about eight feet high. I peels off in the spring, you know—Siberian species, I mean. I suppose you got one of those rectangular A can flipgoolies that reached New York the other day." "No; I'm darned if I did," said much agitated showman. "Here I been keeping an agent in New York a big salary to look out for attraction and he doesn't catch on to the blamed thing. Spends all our money on second hand panthers and kangaroo with the rheumatics. I'll bounce him by telegraph!" "Haven't even got a flipgoolie, amused the scientist, in a tone of gravity. "And I shouldn't be surprised you didn't have a golden-crested curador in your whole show."

"Neither I have; neither I have," plied the wretched promoter of p cans, in a tone of great bitterness. "S'pose you just step in, sir, and round; mebbe there's something you could say—"

"N-n-o, I guess not," said the man. "It would hardly pay me spend so much valuable scientific time in a fourth-class show like this. I even an azimuth, eh? I should think you'd be afraid of being actually m bed some time. I'm sorry for you, good man; sorry for you. I've no do you mean well, but—not a solit skamgatibus? Great Scott!"

"Do You Suppose She Knows I Married."

Boston Courier.

Handy Andy made his appearance this city last week. He came in person of an order boy from a fish store who, in making his usual round of call stopped at a South End residence. A young lady, a sister of the mistress of the mansion, happened to be in the kitchen when he came, and in the kindness of her heart she gave him a piece of cake, at the same time handing him an oyster can with the remark: "That's to your master, Mr. Brown." The boy was an honest one, too honest, half, we fear, to get along in this wicked world, and he carried the cake, and unbidden still, in his dirty paw his bewildered employer, with the statement that it had been sent to him, Miss Spruce. The shopkeeper scratched his head, rushed to a neighbor, told the story, and concluded his breathless statements with the exclamation: "You suppose she knows I'm married?" The remarks of the young lady to her boy when she learned that her order had been misinterpreted we leave to the reader's imagination.

THE HERALD'S SUPPLEMENT.

VOL. 12, NO. 25.

THURSDAY, FEB. 22, 1883.

596.

A Card!

The committee in charge of the entertainment, on the opening of our new town hall, beg leave to return thanks:

1. To all those who voluntarily aided and assisted in getting the hall ready.

2. To the public, for their attendance and good conduct on the occasion.

3. To Messrs. Harkins, Grossman and Willis, of Ann Arbor, who, without charge, so materially aided in its success.

4. To the Misses Collins, of Albion, who also, without reward, so kindly lent their eminent talent, in its support.

5. Especially, to the ladies and gentlemen at home, for their promptness, activity and self sacrifice in the work, without whose assistance, it must have necessarily been a failure!

We deem it but due to all to say, the entertainment was a success, beyond the most sanguine expectations of the committee; especially, when it is considered that no time was allowed those performing, to consult together and arrange their selections—that until the hour of opening, the company, as a whole, had no opportunity to rehearse on the stage, nor any of them ever having had the opportunity to try the hall with their voices, and thereby enable them to produce the best effect in rendering their selections.

ORRIN THATCHER,

GEO. KEMPF,
G. W. TURNBULL, } Com.

In answer to our remark in regard to the projected road to Dexter the Leader says, "As Dexter already excels Chelsea in fine buildings and beautiful broad streets, we can't see what improvements we need more than a railroad, except some hitching posts, with rings, and rings or holes added to those already set, &c."—And a few lines down says, "the old frame buildings on the north side of Church street should be torn down and a three-story brick block should be put in its place." It is true, Dexter has broad streets, but few teams ever require the room, and the hitching posts, while Chelsea has narrow streets and does need more room for teams every day. We think the editor of the Leader was dozing nicely when he said "Dexter already excels Chelsea in fine buildings," for a person with a good field glass would fail to find them. Try again brother.

How is it that a man or boy, can be held in jail for a hundred days, charged with till-tapping, without a trial, after being bound over to circuit court; and the boy have no change of clothes in all that time, just because the thing, yes, thing, whose till was tapped, does not see fit to deliver his clothes to him. The vermin will soon carry him out through the keyhole, for they have more souls than the brute who keeps his clothes. An hundred days without a clean shirt! Oh! shame!!—SALINE CORRESPONDENT TO THE Argus.

We presume it is because it was a friendless German boy. If the justice who bound him over, or the man who had him arrested, could be put in the boy's place a few weeks, it would have a beneficial influence. The boy was released last week, and again arrested and re-tried, and sentenced to free, just think! five days imprisonment!! Oh! if we could do just as we pleased for one day!!

Homer E. Henderson slipped and fell, striking on the back of his head, sustaining injuries from which he may not recover. This happened at Ann Arbor, last week Wednesday.

Es postmaster Clark's bondsman have been called upon to settle a deficiency of $2,000. Mr. Clark is now in Dakota, but it is expected he will come on and settle at once, as all believe he is innocent.

A twenty-year-old son of Prof. Nichols, of Ann Arbor, accidentally shot himself a week ago Sunday. He was shooting rats, and very likely fell over a pole, and the revolver was discharged with fatal results.

Little Spray Wilson on Cross St. east, fell down stairs last Saturday and disjuncted two small bones in the back. Dr. Pierce came from Ann Arbor and replaced them, and there is good probability of his recovery.—Commercial.

At the March term of court George Bull will be tried for the recent attempt to kill his wife. He pleads guilty to assault and battery, but discreetly refrains from adding "with intent to kill." He is now in the "boarding house".—Courier.

On Saturday morning about 8 o'clock, burglars forced an entrance to the residence of Wm. Parker, 709 Detroit street, and succeeded in getting away with $30, all that was left of Mr. P's monthly pay, from the Central railroad company.—Star.

The first lightning of the year occurred last night, and was the means of saving a life. Bert, son of Clark Cornwall, sleeps at the telephone exchange, and the wires were struck, the alarm waking him. He was almost suffocated, and only escaped the room and reached home by the greatest exertion. The coal-stove pipe was found to have been disjuncted, and but for the lightning, the gas would have killed the boy without doubt.—Ypsilantic.

The case of Slayton vs. the Washenaw Mutual Insurance Co., was argued before the court last week. Messrs. Whitman and Babbitt were for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Kane and Allen for the company. An important principle was involved in the suit, so it has attracted some attention among the farmers of the county. The case is this: Slayton was insured with this company, and without informing it of his intention, he had another policy secured from another insurance company. His house burning, the Washenaw Mutual refused to pay Slayton, inasmuch as he had violated the articles of agreement. Thereupon he sued it, and the case coming up last week, it was decided against him, and resulted in a victory for the company.—Courier.

Friday afternoon last, as Malachi Roche was setting trees on his father's farm, southwest of the village, a tree which he had chopped down lodged upon another, and while attempting to dislodge it, the other tree being a dead one broke, letting the top of the one on which he was at work fall. His companion noticing this called to him to get out of the way, and throwing his ax over his shoulder he stepped backward a few feet when a limb of the tree struck the ax, knocking the blade off it against the back of his head, cutting a gash several inches in length entirely through the skull. His back was also severely bruised by the limb in its descent. He was carried to the house and Dr. Sigler immediately sent for. The bleeding was very profuse, and the wound a dangerous one, but Dr. Sigler informed us this morning that he considered the patient doing well, his rugged constitution being very favorable to speedy recovery, should no more dangerous symptoms arise.—Packney Dispatch.

It Cures Piles.

E. P. Church, Chicago, says: "For over twenty years I have been a sufferer from itching piles. Of all the remedies, none afforded me permanent relief, until I commenced the use of Cole's Carbololive. It gave immediate relief, and I believe the cure is permanent. It is a valuable remedy, and I would recommend it to any one troubled as I have been."

T. Evans, Chicago, says: "A fester with piles, and having sought relief in vain for two years, Cole's Carbololive cured me in two weeks." Small boxes, 25 cents; large boxes, 75 cents.

Jake Weippert while wrestling with another boy at the German school, in the south part of the town, last Thursday, had the misfortune to break one of his legs below the knee. At last accounts, he was doing as well as could be expected.

LATER.—Report says the bone is only cracked. This is the boy that walked six miles to and from German school.

Among the names of the people of this town, who have been "struck" with the "Dakota fever," the name of Reuben Croman is included, and in consequence of being thus attacked, his father, Mr. Edward Croman, offers his farm for sale at very reasonable rates. His farm is situated about three miles north-west of Waterloo village, about eight miles from Grass
Lake, and about six miles from Stockbridge, which is second to few places in location, and which promises to be, in a few years, one of the best markets for produce, in the state. The farm consists of 200 acres, beautifully located, of which about 100 acres is plowable land, 40 acres of good timber, the rest meadow land, all of which, with the exception of a few acres, can be mown with horses. A creek of good water runs through one corner of the place, thus adding much value to it. The land is under a high state of cultivation, well fenced, and 30 acres of wheat on the ground. The place affords two good orchards, two good barns, besides a horse barn, two good convenient houses, two wells (a windmill over one), and many other conveniences to make work handy, and life comfortable. ALPHA.

Charles H. Dorsey, the young man who committed suicide at Marshall Saturday night, was well known in this city, where he had many friends. He was a generous, intelligent fellow, and a good business man; but whiskey was his weakness, and it overcame him, as it will the majority.

MICHIGAN NEWS.

Mrs. J. H. Evans, living six miles northeast of Sheridan, while in an epileptic fit, fell against a red hot stove and was terribly burned. Her recovery is doubtful.

E. Rice's safe at Dansville, was blown open a few nights ago. Over $5,000 were in the safe, but it is not known whether any money was taken out, as the combination was broken off the burglar proof chest and it cannot be opened.

The Lenawee county horticultural society offers a premium of $50 to the school district which shall accomplish the most in the direction of the planting and improvement of its grounds in the current year.

A fire at Swartz Creek, consumed Lavin & Co.'s drug store, the ladies' library and the Lord block; loss $6,000, partially insured.

While the soldiers' monument fund concert was being given at Union City, an attempt was made by a small boy to fire the opera house just to see the fun. Presence of mind saved the property and prevented excitement, though several garments belonging to the actors were burned.

Martin Elrow, of Bridgeport, had his skull fractured by a stick of cord wood falling on it off a load while going into East Saginaw.

The Kalamazoo Telegraph says all or nearly all the peach buds in that section are killed by the cold weather. An examination shows that some of the very hardiest sorts growing in the lower part of the trees may yet come forth.

At South Haven and other points on the Lake Shore, however, the peach buds are untouched and a bountiful harvest and big prices are expected.

But little wood has been cut about East Tawas on account of the depth of snow in the woods. Pine sells at $1.50 per cord stove length, 16 or 18 inches, white birch, soft maple, tamarack and black ash sell at $1.75, and beech and maple bring $2 per cord. It costs 50 cents per cord to cut it and 40 cents to deliver; a total cost of 90 cents per cord stove length, making the standing timber worth 60 cents per cord stove length, or $1.80 four feet long for soft maple.

Deputy Oil Inspector Rose, of Petoskey, reports to the chief of that bureau at Adrian that he has discovered 800 barrels of contraband kerosene in Charlevoix county.

The new railroad shops at Fort Gratiot will be 75,000 feet, built of brick and stone, and cost $70,000.

A. K. Antidel leases the Rathbun house, Grand Rapids, for another three years, and has spent over $1,000 in fire escapes.

The secretary of the Muskegon county agricultural and driving park association is making exertions with Grand Rapids, Jackson and other cities of Michigan to form a spring trotting circuit.

Addison, Lenawee county, is receiving a wonderful business impetus through the incoming of the Michigan & Ohio road, landlord Terpeny spending several hundred dollars on hotel improvements, while Smith Bros. have remodeled their flouring mill at a cost of $6,000 to $7,000.

A shed 110 feet long belonging to Bidelman & Son's livery stable, Coldwater, fell from the weight of snow. Half an hour previous to the fall the shed was full of horses, but at the time of the accident only one team was hitched there. The building fell in such a manner that the horses were imprisoned, but were taken out unhurt through a hole sawed in the roof.

H. McCall of Alamo, marketed his last year's crop of 3,000 bushels of wheat, in Kalamazoo, during the present week, for $1 per bushel.

It is reported that lumbering operations are almost entirely at a standstill in Montcalm county on account of the great depth of snow.

The superintendent of a Battle Creek Sunday school announced that a sleighride would be given to the scholars. They have not yet had their ride, but the attendance to the Sunday school has nearly doubled.

Josiah Love, for 20 years in the milling business at Blissfield, and a man of sterling character, died a few days ago and his funeral will occur on the 61st anniversary of his birth.

Mrs. Cyrus Smith, an aged and well known lady of Homer, slipped on the ice a few days ago, breaking both bones of one ankle.

John Moran's house, at the mouth of Muskegon lake, burned the first of the week; total loss, no insurance. Mr. Moran's mother also lost $150 which she was saving for the rainy day that so surely comes to all.

Mrs. Elijah Lacey, a resident of Niles since 1836 and a lady greatly beloved, died in that city aged 77. Mrs. Lacey was the widow of Elijah Lacey, the first settler of Niles, and who laid out the town and gave it its name.

John Duff, a deaf and dumb fraud at Kalamazoo, gave himself away by getting full of benzine and losing his temper at a game of cards. He could then talk as lively as any one else. When asked by an officer where he was from, he said: "Findout Junction;" but where such junction is the officer has not yet found out. The fraud had collected considerable money from the mercifully inclined of the village.

Operators say the lumber cut on Cass river this season will amount to at least 10,000,000 feet, the largest cut for years.

A four-year-old son of Henry Powers of Sparta Center, Kent county, was terribly burned while playing with fire and will probably die.

The chest of E. Rice's burglarized safe at Danville has been opened, and the $5,000 which the burglar tried to get found all right.

Norway, Menominee county, folks think that with their new 500 feet of hose they are capable of fighting any fire that may come.

A special dispatch from the Marquette says those of our iron mines not shut down entirely are working largely decreased forces at reduced wages, and the chances now are that the output for 1883 will not be more than half so large as last year. The result will be a scarcity of ore. Should the iron market revive, a number of furnaces now idle will be put in blast.

Mrs. Adam Steiner was recently buried in South Porter, Cass county, the remains being drawn from her residence to the burial ground, to a distance of five miles, on a hand sled, on account of the snow crust, which prevented the use of teams. It is said that when Mrs. Steiner and her husband moved to Porter, a long while ago, they brought their personal property on a wheelbarrow.

The railroad ticket office at the crossing of the D. L. & N. and F. & P. M. roads at Plymouth was broken into recently and $10 or more taken.

The Senatorial Election.

TUESDAY, Feb. 13.—Upon the re-assembling of the joint convention the hall of the House was crowded to its utmost capacity. The real work of the convention was at once commenced. One ballot was taken and resulted as follows: Whole number of votes cast 116; necessary to choice, 58; Thomas W. Ferry, 44; Byron G. Stout, 23; Henry Chamberlain, 14; Edwin Willis, 9; J. C. Burrows, 8; Thos. W. Palmer, 3; Edward M. Catechun, 9; John S. Newberry, 3; Edward S. Lacey, 2; Perry Hannah, 1; Wm. P. Wells, 2; Geo. V. N. Lothrop, 1; Chas. S. May, 1; Byron J. Hoyt, 1.

WEDNESDAY, Feb. 14.—The sessions of the joint convention to-day were more largely attended than at any time since the senatorial contest began. Seven ballots were taken, in the hopes that this question might be decided. But the hopes were in vain. An effort was made to withdraw Ferry's name, but when the proposition was voted upon, it was defeated. In the evening a large and enthusiastic caucus was held, and at the hour of adjournment all seemed confident that to-morrow's balloting would settle this much-mooted question. The results of the ballots cast to-day are:

Table with 4 columns: Name, 1st ballot, 2d ballot, 3d ballot, 4th ballot. Includes names like Thomas W. Ferry, Byron G. Stout, Wm. Newton, J. C. Burrows, Edwin Willis, S. L. Withey, H. Chamberlain, Thomas R. Sherwood, T. W. Palmer, P. Hannah, F. B. Stockbridge, Chas. J. Deyo, E. S. Lacey, Theo. H. Hinchman, F. Giddey, W. G. Thompson, Jared S. Lapham, Burt Parker.

The fifth ballot was taken amid much suppressed excitement. A number of important changes were made in this vote, which gave Ferry, 53; Newton, 36; Stout, 5; Burrows, 8; Willis, 9; Hannah, 1, with the others scattering as on preceding ballot.

On the sixth ballot Ferry had 54; Newton, 34; Stout, 5; Willis, 10; Burrows, 8; Withey, 2; Lacey, 3; Palmer, 4; Perry Hannah 1, with the others scattering.

The seventh ballot was taken and gave Ferry, 53; Newton, 35; Burrows, 8, and the others the same as before.

THURSDAY, Feb. 15.—Only one ballot for senator was taken to-day, after which the convention adjourned until 1:30 p. m. on Friday. The vote stood: Ferry, 47; Burrows, 11; Catechun, 4; Newton, 29; Stout, 5; Hanchett, 1; Willis, 9; Begole, 2; Palmer, 2; Hannah, 2; Barnes, 5; Lacey, 3; Lothrop, 1; Van Buren, 1; Withey, 1; Stockbridge, 1.

FRIDAY, Feb. 16.—At the conference held after the adjournment of the joint convention yesterday afternoon, all members were released from caucus obligations and free to vote for whom they chose. When, therefore, the convention was called to order to-day, it was with the understanding that the race was free for all. The first ballot was taken and resulted as follows: Newton, 47; Ferry, 13; Burrows, 11; Willis, 10; Palmer, 8; Catechun, 4; Withey, 1; Blair, 1; Rich, 6; Marble, 2; Hanchett, 8; Lacey, 6; Hannah, 4; Crosby, 1; Byron Judkins, 1; M. C. Burch, 1; McMillan, 2; S. D. Bingham, 1; T. S. Shepard, 1. Another ballot was ordered resulting as follows: Newton, 40; Ferry, 13; Burrows, 10; Palmer, 8; Catechun, 4; Withey, 2; Blair, 1; Rich, 4; Marble, 2; Hanchett, 11; Willis, 10; Lacey, 6; Hannah, 4; Crosby, 1; Judkins, 1; McMillan, 2; Shepard, 1; S. C. Moffatt, 1.

After the second ballot the convention adjourned until noon of Saturday.

SATURDAY, Feb. 17.—The only ballot taken to-day gave Lacey, 6; Marble, 2; Hanchett, 9; Hannah, 6; Burrows, 10; Crosby, 5; Palmer, 12; Catechun, 3; Withey, 2; Newton, 45; Willis, 8; Ferry, 11; McMillan, 2; J. G. Birney, 1; Stockbridge, 1. The convention adjourned until noon of Monday.

Michigan's Share.

Table listing Michigan's share in various items: Among the items in the new river and harbor bill of interest to Michigan readers, are the following: Au Sable, $4,000; Black Lake, 6,000; Charlevoix and entrance to Pine Lake, 6,000; Cheboygan, 8,000; Frankfort, 10,000; Grand Haven, 25,000; Harbor Refuge, Lake Huron, 25,000; Ludington, 8,000; Manistee, 10,000; Muskegon, 15,000; Marquette, 3,000; Ontonagon, 15,000; Sangauet, 4,000; South Haven, 8,000; White River, 8,000.

A Move Forward.

In his address at the annual meeting of the Illinois State Bar Association last month Mr. Charles C. Bonney, president of the association, made this emphatic and manly declaration: "The greatest obstacles in the way of the prosperity of the legal profession; the most serious hindrances to their usefulness; the sources of greatest injury to their clients; the causes of deepest dissatisfaction and prejudice, are the delays, uncertainties and expenses of legal proceedings. The losses and the anxieties arising from these causes are often more than the results which the suitor is finally allowed to take out of the scales of justice. A client who has followed a just cause from court to court, and through trial after trial, seeing verdicts set aside, and judgments reversed for some mistake which perhaps does not touch the real merits of the controversy, is very likely to conclude that any settlement he could have made out of court would have been better than victory in a litigation, and to govern his future conduct according to that view. What the spirit of the age, and the interest alike of lawyers and clients demand, is that litigation be confined to the vital questions of just causes, and that speedy results be reached." Mr. Bonney suggested several measures of reform and among them these: "Let the law declare that no one shall be heard in a court of justice except upon the condition of submitting both to do and to receive substantial justice without regard to any technicality or matter of form."

"Let the law provide that no judgment shall be set aside or reversed in any case, civil or criminal, provided it shall appear from the whole record that substantial justice has been done."

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

WASHINGTON. FOR OCEAN MAIL SERVICE. The Postmaster-General, in response to the Senate resolution of inquiry concerning the expenditures for ocean mail services, shows that during the fiscal years 1848 to 1882, inclusive, the amount paid by the United States for transporting the mails to foreign countries was $31,304,407, of which $24,911,588 was paid to companies owning steamships or other vessels sailing under the American flag.

THEY ARE DISCOURAGED. The whisky men have about made up their minds to abandon any further attempts to secure legislation on the bonded whisky bill.

HORN'S LITTLE SPEECH. Representative Horn of Michigan, made a most effective speech in the House on the 14th inst., in opposition to the removal of duty on lumber. He gave some very valuable facts and statistics concerning the lumber industry in Michigan, and on the whole his speech was warmly applauded by the Michigan delegation, and gave evidence of his deep interest in the welfare of his constituents.

THE CREEK INDIANS. Indian Inspector Fullack has been instructed by the Secretary of the Interior to endeavor to effect an amicable adjustment of the troubles among the Creek Indians that have arisen from the distribution of the Creek orphan fund.

A SENSATION. Quite a sensation was caused in the court room in Washington, during the progress of the star route trial, on the 15th inst., by Berdell, one of the defendants, pleading guilty and offering to tell all he knew.

RATHER COOL. Gen. Hazen met a decided rebuff to his request for a Senate investigating committee. Secretary Lincoln gave him to understand that the war department could manage its own affairs without investigation by congress.

WANTS TO GET RID OF THE LOBBYISTS. In the executive session of the Senate on the 15th, Mr. Edmunds called attention to alleged abuses of privileges of the floor of the Senate by lobbyists and others, who through indulgences and favors had been in the habit of obtaining cards of admission, ostensibly as secretaries.

With a view to correcting this evil Mr. Edmunds introduced the following resolution: Ordered, That no person shall be admitted to the floor as a private secretary by a senator until the senator appointing him shall certify in writing to the sergeant-at-arms that he is actually employed for the performance of the duties of such secretary and is engaged in the performance of the same. No action was taken, further than to refer the matter to the committee on rules.

THE BOOKMORRIS HAVE A WORD TO SAY. Senator Morrill of Vermont presented a remonstrance in the Senate a few days ago, signed by Oliver Wendell Holmes, John G. Whitlir and T. B. Aldrich, against any reduction of the tariff upon books below 25 per cent. These writers claim: 1. That the prosperity of authors is closely connected with the prosperity of publishers, who are their agents in manufacturing, advertising and selling the books which they write. 2. That American books demand the business of publishing, checks the freedom of writing. 3. That the removal or essential reduction of existing tariff on books would give the foreign publisher an advantage over the American publisher by enabling him to occupy the American market with books written and made abroad at a lower rate than they can be made in this country. 4. That the effect will be to force American publishers into the publication of those copyright books only whose reputation has already been made or whose works serve professional uses, such as reports of courts and school books. 5. That higher literature will be discouraged and the greatest value of current literature, which is in the form of reading for the young, will be guided by foreign authors instead of by men and women of their own nation.

ROBERT'S IDEA. In speaking of Berdell's willingness to turn informer in the star route trial, Col. Ingersoll, says he has no fear that anything Berdell may say will have any effect whatever.

VARIOUS CIVIL EXPENSES. The sundry civil appropriation bill has been completed and submitted to the House. The total amount recommended is $24,000,000. The bill contains a clause repealing the pre-emption laws and appropriating money for detecting and preventing fraudulent entries of land. The homestead law is not affected by the repeal of the pre-emption law. The facts before the committee showed that the abuses which had resulted in this repeal had been carried to an extent which has in some instances resulted in patenting to speculating parties as high as 40,000 acres of land. In one instance in Dakota one man has taken up 17,000 acres. The amounts recommended in the bill for continuing and completing work on public buildings under the Treasury Department are in part as follows:

Table of civil expenses: Cincinnati, $250,000; Memphis, 25,000; Pittsburgh, 125,000; St. Louis, 100,000; Topeka, 18,100; Council Bluffs, 50,000; Dallas, 270,500; Denver, 25,000; Des Moines, 40,000; Jackson, Tenn., 200,000; Leavenworth, 45,000; Minneapolis, 50,000; Louisville, 140,000.

These amounts are for the construction of United States courts and postoffices. Under the war department $182,000 is recommended for the Rock Island Arsenal. For the President's house and grounds $88,000 have been recommended. For other purposes the following appropriations were made:

Table of appropriations: To be used by authority of the President in case of dangerous epidemics, 100,000; For the completion of the Washington Monument, 150,000; For observations and explorations in Arctic seas, 33,000; For use in suppressing counterfeiting, 67,000.

NEWS NOTES. THE BRAKEMAN WAS TO BLAME. The Tehicpa, Cal., disaster examination has resulted in the discharge of Conductor Reed and the holding of brakeman Patten in $2,500 bail to answer a charge of criminal negligence.

A SLIPPERY TIME. St. Joseph, Ind., has been suffering from a snow blockade, and the other day when a funeral became necessary a hand sled had to take the place of a hearse and the procession of mourners slid across lots on the crusted snow.

BEATEN TO DEATH. Ex-City Justice H. P. Clark, one of the first locators in the Black Hills, and at that time one of the wealthiest men in the territory, died at Deadwood, Dak., on the 14th inst., from the effects of a beating received at the hands of his former business partner during an altercation arising out of the fact that Clark had been "frozen out" and lost every dollar of his property.

GOING TO HIS REST. Hon. Edw. D. Morgan, the "war governor" of New York, died in Albany on the 14th inst.

ONE MORE UNFORTUNATE. Workmen at the Newhall house ruins found another body on the morning of the 14th inst, burned beyond recognition. Belief is that he did not belong to the premises, but was fastened in by the falling timbers.

SEWER GAS EXPLOSION. An explosion of sewer gas occurred in a dwelling house on Wiltsack street, Cincinnati, on the morning of the 15th inst. The house was completely wrecked, and several others were badly shaken. One man, his wife and two-year-old daughter were killed. Several others were seriously injured.

RESULT OF SENDING A COMIC VALENTINE. Dr. A. L. Burson, a prominent and respected physician of Paris, Ill., became greatly incensed at the receipt of a comic valentine, which he concluded was sent by Dr. L. O. Jenkins, a rival practitioner but old friend. He found Jenkins, accused him of sending it, and without waiting replied shot him fatally.

WHAT MORE COULD HAVE BEEN EXPECTED. A reporter of a New York paper while about his duties on the night of the 15th inst., brushed against an inebriated couple, and in a passing glance at the face of the woman, who was richly attired in silks and velvets, he recognized her as Blanche Douglas, who less than a year ago stood at the bar of a New Haven court charged jointly with the two Malley boys with the murder of the unfortunate Jennie Cramer. Blanche's face showed the marks of prolonged dissipation. Since her acquittal she has been leading her old fast life, though it is claimed Walter Malley has done all he could to reclaim her. She is seen nightly in company with the most abandoned of both sexes.

HE HAD TO RESIGN. For accepting a present of $4,000 from an insurance company Julius L. Clarke, insurance commissioner of Massachusetts, has been compelled to resign and N. A. Plympton, treasurer of the democratic state committee, has been appointed in his place.

Another Horror. Reports have been received of an appalling mine disaster at Braidwood, a little town 20 miles south of Joliet, Ill. A land slide occurred, closing one of the shafts and buried all who were in it—about 68 men and six boys. About 2,000 men rallied to the rescue, and began excavating and pumping as fast as the nature of the shaft would permit. The cause of the disaster was curious and perhaps unprecedented. Water to the depth of three or four feet had accumulated on the surface of the land over the mine and its enormous weight caused a land slide or cave in of nearly 90 feet square. It is known that all the different windings of the mine are filled full of water, as it now stands within five feet of the top of the main shaft. Forty-five of the lost miners leave families. Nothing whatever can be done to pump the mine out as water from all the surrounding country drains into this.

The manager of the Wilmington coal company on the ground with the necessary pumping apparatus, but nothing can be done until a dam is built to stop the further influx of the water. All admit that the accident was unavoidable. The mine was timbered in the proper way, and during its entire history there has never been any attempt at economy in anything that would tend to insure the safety of the workmen.

STORY OF AN EYE WITNESS. John Huber, an eye witness of the whole affair, tells the following story: "I was working in one of the west sections of the main corridor and had just got my car ready for transfer when I heard a voice which sounded faint saying: 'Let out; the water is coming.' At first I could not comprehend its awful meaning and went back to block up the coal when I heard the same warning again and saw a small stream of water running down the main track. I rushed as fast as the nature of the passage would allow to the point where I thought my two sons were working, but found them gone. I then yelled at the top of my voice warning the men and made all possible haste to reach the air shaft, where I knew I could get out by a ladder. When I reached it the water was up to my armpits. No one followed me. All that were saved made their escape by another air shaft."

A NEW THEORY. The latest theory as to the origin of the Newhall mine fire in Milwaukee, recently, is that it was the work of tramps. This theory has been started by the finding of the skeleton of a man in the cellar a few days since.

THE WATERS COVER THE FACE OF THE EARTH. STILL RISING. At Frankfort, Ky., the Kentucky river is still rising. One thousand families are reported homeless causing much distress. A large portion of the town is entirely submerged and residences two miles from the river are under water. The first floor of the penitentiary has been lost in the channel and doubled up in cells on the second floor. The damage already reaches over $100,000.

THE OHIO. At all points in Ohio and Indiana on the Ohio river trouble is being caused by high water. At New Albany, Ind., three-fourths of the manufacturing and 500 dwellings are flooded. Between Evansville and Henderson the telegraph poles are covered in some places and the wires are strung on the tops of trees. Lawrenceburg is completely surrounded by water. At Louisville, Ky., the losses will already aggregate more than $50,000 and 2,000 men are thrown out of employment. So far only one life has been lost, but the most serious fears are entertained. At Cincinnati the work of removing goods is less active and more attention is paid to suffering people. The relief committee have already taken prompt measures, being supported by subscriptions amounting to $15,000. They will act in concert with existing charitable associations, and have appropriated $3,000 for immediate use. In view of the exposed condition of property and the inadequacy of the police force to properly guard the flooded district it was determined to call for the help of the militia.

STILL RISING. The Ohio river was still rising on the morning of the 13th, having reached the unparalleled height of 64 feet 11 inches. The water works were compelled to shut down, but there was still enough water in the reservoir to supply the city six days. Sickness has entered the isolated homes of the people living in tenements, but ample means were at command to prevent suffering.

ROUND IN. The freight depot of the Cincinnati Southern Railway fell in, and at least seven lives were lost. Reports are conflicting, one being to the effect that 150 lives perished, while another says 50 persons were drowned. The most reliable, however, indicate that the disaster was not so great.

RECORDING. The highest point reached by the river was sixty-five feet one and one-half inches. This was on the 14th inst. It then commenced to recede and fell half an inch in four hours. Rain was still falling, however, and the situation was alarming. It is estimated that from thirty to forty thousand workmen are out of employment, and a report says it would require the mention of nearly all the names in the business directory to give an accurate report of the men who have suffered damage by the raging torrents. All kinds of manufacturing establishments have shut down.

A RELIEF FUND. The legislature has authorized a relief fund of $100,000, so the city will be provided for as well as it can be under this great cloud of adversity. School houses in the flooded districts have been closed, and the rooms thrown open to sufferers. Relief committees are looking after the needy and placing them in comfortable quarters. Relief contributions are arriving from various cities.

THE END NOT YET. The gloom of hope that brightened the Cincinnati on the 13th inst., has been obscured by a cloud of greater intensity. On morning of the 14th the rain began to fall again, and the river continued to rise rapidly. Business has been entirely suspended, every effort is being made to relieve the suffering formed on every hand.

DESTITUTION. Many cases of extreme destitution are now being relieved by the relief committees, and in some cases frankerics of starving children for food heart-rending. Bakeries not inundated pressed to the fullest capacity to keep a supply of bread.

FEAR OF A MEAT FAMINE. There have been fears of a meat famine account of the difficulty of receiving livestock, but several thousand rescued distillery cases can be utilized in case of necessity.

TWELVE LIVES LOST. An authentic account concerning the loss of life at the Cincinnati southern depot has been made. It is now known that 12 lives were lost and no other reports of missing having been made, it is hoped the list will not be increased.

DISCOURAGING. The river is now nearly 67 feet high and rising steadily. Railroads are idle, business every nature at a stand still. Not a steam engine running, there being no place for them to be. The works of relief have gone on vigorously and many touching scenes were witnessed. Citizens have not waited for the cry of distress before extending help, but have taken steps to prevent suffering. The gratitude of the relief cannot be told. The relief committee composed of leading citizens, attend personally to the work, remaining all day at the office going out with relief boats. The work is done most thoroughly and promptly.

INCIDENTS OF THE FLOOD. Among the incidents of the flood was the finding of a baby asleep in its crib in a boat floating at Fern Banks, below the city. The little wail was rescued and taken care of by the Catholic orphan society.

FEAR RENEWED. At Cleveland, Ohio, another flood is feared. Every precaution is being taken. Men are shored up the lumber fast. The ice and mud work which obstructed the river at various points was blown up with dynamite, thus forcing free passage for the water.

AT JEFFERSONVILLE, IND., the suffering is terrible. A dispatch of the 14th says: The city is flooded with water two to twenty feet deep. Five thousand people are made homeless, many of whom lost their homes in the lower part of the city are away. Hundreds of people are quartered in second stories of public buildings and business houses. Food is sent to them in skiffs upon the raging waters. The scenes of suffering are appalling. It is still raining a half a million.

AT MADISON, IND. The river is rising one and one-half inches per hour. Milton, Ky., opposite here is completely submerged. Not a house is exempt from the overflow. Large cables are being used to anchor buildings. The water is up to the second floor of many dwellings. Fulton, an eastern suburb of this city, has been abandoned and all the front and extreme western portion of this city.

PERSPECTS BRIGHTENING. The situation at Cincinnati seems to be improving. Dispatches of the 15th say that water having reached a height of nearly 60 feet, is slowly receding. Trains are now being run within three miles of the city, where stock yards are used as stations. The work relief goes on with energy; not only are the committee representing the chamber of commerce and the common council disbursing aid with liberal hand, but the Masonic relief organization is doing fine work, having called volunteers to act as oarsmen for their boats, which have been received from Cleveland and Toledo. They have established relief stations in various parts of the city. Besides this, women of all the Protestant churches are collecting bedding and clothing, and doing sewing for the benefit of the general relief committee. All the Catholic churches have been thrown open for sleeping places for the homeless persons as may be sent by the general committee. A more complete system of relief has been devised, and the great value of this work is the thoroughness and promptness with which aid is extended. There is almost gratifying absence of crime. It is expected that burglaries and highway robberies would abound on account of the general unprotected state of property in the flooded district, and darkness. These expectations have not been realized. There have been fewer arrests the past five days than at any similar time in months, and no reports of crime have reached the police. Nearly everybody wears a fatigues look. It has been a season of hard work and great anxiety to large portions of the population of the city.

AT LOUISVILLE, KY., the flood is unabated, but it is believed the worst danger is over. No additional loss of life has been reported, but the damage to private and public buildings has been very great. All manufacturing near the river are closed and thousands are out of employment. Almost the entire populace are on the streets. No business is being done owing to the irregularity of freight trains and almost complete cessation of river navigation. Transfer express wagons traverse every street, stopping at all the houses of the citizens, filling the wagons with contributions for sufferers. The response so far is a noble one.

AT JEFFERSONVILLE, IND., they are entirely surrounded by water. Every street is under water, and it is impossible to get anywhere without boats.

AT PITTSBURG, PA. No damage is apprehended except from the inundation. The rain has ceased and the weather is now clear.

AT CINCINNATI. FEBRUARY 16.—Great encouragement is felt in this city and adjacent cities and villages. The river is receding, the rain has ceased falling, and everything wears a more hopeful look. The work of restoration is going bravely forward. Nearly all railroads have resumed their regular order, though not yet able to run within three miles of the city. The work of relief is being thoroughly and promptly performed. Every appeal has been cheerfully responded to and it is the intention of this city to supply the needs of her own citizens from her own resources, while contributions sent to them are wisely appropriated to the wants of sufferers in other places. Nearly all the theaters have, and are giving benefit performances. On one day the cash subscriptions reached over $12,000.

AT LOUISVILLE, KY. The river is stationary, and rain still falling. The city is in darkness, the gas works being out of order. No further casualties have been reported, nor additional loss to property. Contributions to the relief fund continue to come in, and there is no danger of suffering for want of food or clothing.

AT NEW ALBANY, IND. The river is still rising. The loss here will reach $1,000,000. Over 8,000 people are homeless, 1,300 houses are entirely submerged, and more than 100 houses are entirely swept away. Congress, legislature and the people have been appealed to for aid.

AT LAFAYETTE, IND. The Wabash is higher than ever known before. Bridges are torn away, and the amount of suffering and damage it is impossible to estimate.

LIMA ITEMS.

Miss Nellie Stocking is here visiting her parents.

We understand S. J. Guerin of Chelsea, received a valentine the 14th, it was a girl.

Bertha Keyes is visiting friends in Pontiac and Detroit. Hope she wont get lost.

A load of the young people from here attended the Sylvia Lyceum Tuesday evening last.

A young man of this place while out riding with his girl Sunday afternoon, Feb. 11th met with a terrible accident. He all of a sudden discovered his clothing was on fire, and but for the aid of a snow bank it might have been much worse. The fire is supposed to have originated from some matches he had in his pocket. Loss, the kitchen of his pants, and coat tail. No insurance.

LITERARY NOTES.

OUR LITTLE ONES.—The January and February numbers of this excellent magazine for the little folks—and large one's too—are on our table, and are full of such matter as children should read, and will read and profit by. Why people will give their children such papers as the Weekly Ledger, Saturday Night, and other papers of such an exciting nature, we can not see, when this magazine can be had for the small sum of $1.50 per year, and when bound, will be interesting for years to come. It is published by Russell Publishing Company, of Boston, Mass.

IN DEMOREST'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE for March we find a great variety of interesting articles. Among these are "Life in the Black Forest," "Henri Regnault," "Gastronomic Gossip," "Antique Gems," "Traveling and other Matters," and "The Grodner Valley." Jenny June continues her pleasant articles: "How We Live in New York," and Carlotta Perry furnishes an excellent story: "How I Found My Freedom." Mrs. Alexander's serial: "The Admiral's Ward," keeps up its interest; and "Current Topics" is both entertaining and instructive. Every department is replete with useful and entertaining reading, and the illustrations are remarkably good, the frontispiece being a fine steel engraving after the much admired painting "Willing," by the artist Metzmaier. As a family magazine, DEMOREST'S fulfills every requirement.

The two numbers of the CONTINENT, bearing date respectively February 14th and 21st, contain not-worthly articles on a new art industry which bids fair to revolutionize American Architecture. These highly interesting papers are from the pen of Hester M. Poole, and are lavishly illustrated by engravings of decorative designs from ancient and modern examples of terra-cotta work. This material is identical with that which furnishes some of the most beautiful specimens of mediæval Italian art. It is simply the clay, red or buff color, which is found in inexhaustible beds underlying the northern part of New Jersey, and contiguous to the great commercial centres of New York and Philadelphia. Some of the largest and finest recent buildings in these and other cities owe the beauty of their exterior decoration to the kilns of The Perth Amboy Terra Cotta Company. Among these we may mention the New York Produce Exchange, the Brooklyn Historical Society, the Pennsylvania Railroad Station in Philadelphia, and the "Grand Arcade" of Cleveland, Ohio. Specimens from all these have been engraved and the prints enrich the pages of THE CONTINENT. Besides the instances of modern work thus illustrated, there are examples by Della Robbia, Andrea, Verrocchio, and the matchless collections of Greek and Roman antiquities in the museums of Europe.
