WHISPERINGS.

Threshers are again busy. See local column on last page. Be not over anxious about the future. Seymour Goodyear is Wood Bros. general utility man now. Wheat is about all harvested and most of it in excellent condition. Babcock & Gilbert bought about 3,000 pounds of wool last Saturday. U. H. Townsend has purchased the Holden restaurant and ice cream rooms. The oat harvest has commenced; Chas. Canfield being the first to cut hereaway. Bro. Blosser says we are getting rich! We would like to exchange profits with him. Wood Bros. have only shipped about one hundred bushels of huckleberries this season. Mrs. Edwards, and Miss Anna Tichenor have opened a dress making establishment on Middle street, east. Theo. Wood and wife will probably remove to their pleasant new home on Summit street in another week. C. W. Riggs of the Wales Riggs farm, made this office a pleasant call last week. He says everything is doing nicely. The school house is now undergoing repairs, and B. H. Johnson is doing a good job with the brush and graining tools. A Chelsea justice, fining a Dexter justice $8 for being drunk, is the sight. some witnessed in a justice's office at this place. Uncle Sam had in the Treasury $345,389,902.92 at the close of June. That is a good respectable bank account for any one. Village marshal Foster has sold his large dray horse to Dr. Gates for $140, consequently but two drays travel our streets. About one hundred and ten stack and machine covers have been sold at this place this season. This speaks well for the farmers. On Tuesday last four carloads of sheep were shipped from this place to Texas. Three by Geo. Taylor, and one by Delos Cummings. The Steinbach Manufacturing Company of Ann Arbor, owing to the inability to get patterns, will not begin business until the first of next month. Peaches made their appearance in this market last week at the store of L. D. Loomis. Cent apiece, or six for a nickel is the price they sold at. We are receipt of a card of admission to the thirty-fifth annual fair of the Michigan State Agricultural Society, which opens at Detroit on Monday, Sept. 17th, closing on the 21st. Charles Downer was the first to thresh in this vicinity. His yield was 658 bushels and was considerable more than he expected. Others who have threshed report the same. An excursion, given by the temperance people of Ann Arbor will go to Fremont, Ohio, next Thursday. Ex-President Hayes will talk to the excursionists if he is at home. Last spring R. S. Armstrong, H. S. Holmes and Glazier, DePuy & Co., received a car load of crocks, about 5,000 gallon. Last Thursday they received another car load. L. E. Sparks has the basement for the new addition about ready. With the earth removed he filled up a hole to be ready for the side track which he must have at no distant day.

We are in receipt of a copy of the Chase Eclipse, edited by John F. Lusk, formerly proprietor of the Grass Lake News. It is a neat 7-column folio and plainly shows John's ability as a local writer. A self-propeller wandered through our streets last Friday to the delight of the small boys, and the satisfaction of the older people. It was the property of Mr. Kærcher, and is of the Birdsell make. The public debt was reduced $18,000,000 in June, and $138,000,000 during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1883.—Washington Dispatch. Turn the rascals out.—New York Sun. Gustav Weiss, of Freedom, lost two barns filled with wheat and a stack of wheat by fire last Thursday afternoon. The fire probably originated from careless smokers. Insured in the Washtenaw Mutual. To Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bach, of Hillsdale, August 2d, a 7 1/4 pound boy. All doing nicely. This is going some distance for an item, but by this "calamity" ye editor again becomes uncle. We always thought there were some "black sheep" in Ann Arbor, but now we know there are for Mr. Glenn sent two there last week to some parties who had been camping out. Are they classed as "bric-a-brac?" The basement of the Congregational church has been thoroughly repaired and refitted and the Young Peoples' Christian Association now has a very pleasant room. All are invited to attend their meetings Sunday evenings. Galusha J. Pease, of Washington street has a hive of bees which will produce upwards of 150 pounds of honey this season.—Register. Why is it that farmers and others do not give more attention to the bee culture? The wool market has been exceedingly dull here this season, our buyers preferring to pick up the best clips only. Chelsea buyers have bought wool from very near town.—Manchester Enterprise. Yes, and some of the best clips, too. Hope is the first to make his home in the heart of man, and the last to leave the precincts chosen for an abiding place. After it come love and all the virtues—before it go fortune, loved ones, honor, everything of value. When Hope departs, man dies. Mr. Orrin Wheaton, a veteran of the war of 1812, who died at Chicago on the 1st inst., formerly lived at Stockbridge. Three of his children live in Michigan, viz: Mrs. E. Low, of Mason, Mrs. C. Ormsby, of Leslie, and Mrs. E. P. Wells, of Hillsdale. Soap vendors again visited our town last Monday evening and promised to return next Saturday evening. It's a noticeable fact that the persons who buy of this class of men are usually the ones who are usually the "hardest up," and wear the poorest clothes. Men of circumstances usually buy of merchants of reputation. The following are the names of persons who have favored us with the "ready cash," for the HERALD, since July 24th, and to whom we tender our sincere thanks: Ed. Gorman $1.25 G. W. Boynton $1.25 Mrs. E. Avery 2.20 L. G. Baldwin .63 E. Hammond 2.50 Mrs. Billings .63 J. K. Allyn .25 J. C. Taylor .25 T. McNamara 1.25 G. Kempf .50 C. W. Riggs 1.25 D. H. Read all the advertisements and see if there are any new ones. New wheat sold for 99 cents in this market this week. John K. Allyn, of Detroit, spent a few days with relatives in this place last week. James Speers, the telegrapher, received orders to report at Wayne, and left for that place last Tuesday morning. Caspar Depuy lost his wallet containing about $30, a few days ago, and contrary to the usual custom, paid the finder $5 for returning it. The Sunday School of the German Lutheran church, will give a picnic at North Lake on Wednesday next, August 15th. A cordial invitation is extended to all. John H. Long, of Jackson, made his friends at this place a visit last week. Mr. Long is in the paper manufactory of W. A. Hammond & Co., having charge of the wholesale department. We are in receipt of a copy of the Chase Eclipse, edited by John F. Lusk, formerly proprietor of the Grass Lake News. It is a neat 7-column folio and plainly shows John's ability as a local writer. Two weeks without rain of any consequence. W. H. Helmreich who has been stopping in this vicinity for some months past, returned to Detroit yesterday. Can you beat this? John F. Runciman and his hired man, Geo. Euler, harvested 38 acres of wheat with a reaper in nine days. This includes binding, hauling and stacking. The wheat was all secured in the best of condition. Accidentally we omitted to mention last week that there are at least two bicycles in town now the one recently added being a 54-inch machine, the property of W. W. Hendricks, who is making good progress in riding. Now why can't several more be added? Florida is attracting considerable interest now all over the world, and the prospects are very fair for her future. The leading newspapers of the country have had men investigate, and all return favorable reports. Men of capital are putting their money into Florida property with a zeal that is surprising. We have given our readers a number of interesting Florida letters, and the reception they have met encourages us to continue giving them from time to time to give all the information and interesting matter we can, pertaining to Florida. This week in an article from the Semi-Tropical, re-printed in the Jackson Star, we give some remarkable figures in orange growing and vegetable raising. A postman left two letters at the residence of a Chicago minister, both of which contained an application for his services to perform the marriage ceremony at the same time. "I hardly know what to do," he remarked to his wife. "I can't accommodate them both. Let me see—Mr. A. has been married before, has he not?" "Oh, yes," replied his wife; "he lost his first wife six months ago." "And Mr. B. is a bachelor?" "Yes." "That settles it then. I shall marry Mr. B. When a man marries the second time he never pays the minister any more than the law allows, but young bachelors are sometimes very foolish." And the good man rubbed his hands mildly. The following, entitled, "One Good Turn Deserves Another," was picked up in the school house by a workman and handed to us. Whether original with the writer, we can not say, but it certainly describes the disposition of many persons. Will Wag went to see Charlie Quirk. More famed for his books than his knowledge. In order to borrow a work He had sought for in vain, over college. But Charlie replied, "my dear friend, You must know I have sworn and agreed. That my books, I never will lend, But you may sit by my fire and read." Now it happened by chance on the morrow, That Quirk with a cold, quivering air, Came his neighbor Will's bellows to borrow For his own, they were out of repair. But Willie replied, "my dear friend, I have sworn and agreed you must know, That my bellows I never will lend, But you may sit by my fire and—blow!"

Worth Seeing. To anyone interested in newspaper advertising, either as publisher or advertiser, an understanding of the way in which the large advertising agencies handle advertising way up into hundreds of thousands of dollars worth, cannot fail to be beneficial as well as an interesting enlightenment. The offices of Messrs. Savage & Farnum, general newspaper advertising agents, in the elegant new Campau building at Detroit, affords the visitor an opportunity to thoroughly post himself, and according to the recent published description in the dailies of that city they must be well worth seeing. This is one of the largest and most complete agencies in America, over 11,000 different newspapers and periodicals being on file, while the appointments of the establishment are uniformly elegant and in good taste. Visitors to Detroit are cordially invited to look through the different apartments, make themselves thoroughly at home, and avail themselves of the conveniences of waiting, reading, and toilet rooms if they so desire.

This week in an article from the Semi-Tropical, re-printed in the Jackson Star, we give some remarkable figures in orange growing and vegetable raising. A postman left two letters at the residence of a Chicago minister, both of which contained an application for his services to perform the marriage ceremony at the same time. "I hardly know what to do," he remarked to his wife. "I can't accommodate them both. Let me see—Mr. A. has been married before, has he not?" "Oh, yes," replied his wife; "he lost his first wife six months ago." "And Mr. B. is a bachelor?" "Yes." "That settles it then. I shall marry Mr. B. When a man marries the second time he never pays the minister any more than the law allows, but young bachelors are sometimes very foolish." And the good man rubbed his hands mildly. The following, entitled, "One Good Turn Deserves Another," was picked up in the school house by a workman and handed to us. Now it happened by chance on the morrow, That Quirk with a cold, quivering air, Came his neighbor Will's bellows to borrow For his own, they were out of repair. But Willie replied, "my dear friend, I have sworn and agreed you must know, That my bellows I never will lend, But you may sit by my fire and—blow!"

Worth Seeing. To anyone interested in newspaper advertising, either as publisher or advertiser, an understanding of the way in which the large advertising agencies handle advertising way up into hundreds of thousands of dollars worth, cannot fail to be beneficial as well as an interesting enlightenment. The offices of Messrs. Savage & Farnum, general newspaper advertising agents, in the elegant new Campau building at Detroit, affords the visitor an opportunity to thoroughly post himself, and according to the recent published description in the dailies of that city they must be well worth seeing. This is one of the largest and most complete agencies in America, over 11,000 different newspapers and periodicals being on file, while the appointments of the establishment are uniformly elegant and in good taste. Visitors to Detroit are cordially invited to look through the different apartments, make themselves thoroughly at home, and avail themselves of the conveniences of waiting, reading, and toilet rooms if they so desire.

Gustav Weiss, of Freedom, lost two barns filled with wheat and a stack of wheat by fire last Thursday afternoon. The fire probably originated from careless smokers. Insured in the Washtenaw Mutual. To Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bach, of Hillsdale, August 2d, a 7 1/4 pound boy. All doing nicely. This is going some distance for an item, but by this "calamity" ye editor again becomes uncle. We always thought there were some "black sheep" in Ann Arbor, but now we know there are for Mr. Glenn sent two there last week to some parties who had been camping out. TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

A NEW York paper calls attention to the fact that the suicide epidemic which has been prevailing lately has attacked men of unusual intelligence and ability, although the crime is ordinarily more common among the ignorant classes.

THE Great Eastern, after lying idle for many years, is about to be employed again. "A company has been formed," says the St. James' Gazette, "to purchase the vessel for the coal trade between Queen's Ferry (Firth of Forth) and the Thames. It is intended to put 10,000 tons of coal on board, in sacks, at each voyage.

ALTHOUGH "it's a wise child that knows his own father," it might reasonably be expected that any husband would know his own wife. But strange to say, Joseph Millen, of Baltimore, whose wife went on the excursion which ended in the frightful accident, recognized her features at a glance among the victims on the wharf, further identified the body by a close inspection, and went home crushed with grief and horror.

CUBA is making a vigorous effort to establish her independence, and for that purpose Gen. Bonacha, a Cuban of note, is in this country for the purpose of interesting capitalists in the subject. A prominent New York capitalist has said that if a competent military commander can be found who will take charge of it, $5,000,000 could be raised in a very short time for the freeing of the island.

Many worthy persons are supposed to have trembled on the verge of profanity, if not insanity, owing to their inability to ascertain the difference between Point Chautauqua and Chautauqua. Mr. D. R. Barker, of Fredonia, sends the following statement: "Point Chautauqua is the home of the Baptist Society; it never was known as Fair Point; it is on the eastern side of the lake; it is reached by boat, but not by rail. Chautauqua has no sectarian identity; it was known as Fair Point; it is on the western side of the lake and reached by boat and rail from Mayville. There are two post-offices—Point Chautauqua and Chautauqua."

MRS. DOLLY WHITE began her second century a few days ago at South Newbury, Vt., and entertained the company who assembled to do her honor by vigorous recitations of verses with which her father kindled his ardor during the Revolution. Miss Eliza Cross, of Haverhill, N. H. a sprightly maiden of ninety-four summers, who is said to dance the minuet to perfection, further enlivened the occasion by singing several humorous songs. Years ago Mrs. White's reputation as a cook was not confined within the boundaries of her own State. She was always engaged to preside over the hotel kitchen at Chelsea, Vt., during the session of the court, and at Hanover, N. H., during the commencement season.

THE issue seems to justify the cry that was raised last year in England against the restoration of the Zulu King, Cetewayo. It was said then that his return to the throne was not desired by his former followers, who had lost faith in him when he was defeated; and that they would probably rebel against him. Cetewayo himself declared that he would remain a king only as long as England supported him. Results have shown the correctness of the dark views that were taken of the black Prince's future. He was not well received on his return; his chiefs speedily rebelled; England did not sustain him by force, and now he has been killed. His death means anarchy in Zululand. The British Government once more will have to undertake to straighten out affairs in South Africa.

THE following curious prophecy has been found in Nostradamus by the Paris: "In the year 1883 the country of France will see a number of men die who will have exercised influence on its destiny. From the first month to the last the inhabitants will be surprised by some fatal news. Towards the middle of the year will expire the last descendant of a dynasty which will have ruled France for several centuries. This Prince will die in a foreign land, and his death will be concealed for three days. Shortly after the death of that Prince one of the last survivors of the Corsican family will seek to reign in the capital. He will assemble his partisans and march on Paris at their head. The Parisians will go forth to meet the Pretender. There will be a battle and great slaughter and the Pretender will be killed before arriving at the gates of Paris." It is not yet too late for the Comte de Chambord to suffer a relapse and throw upon Prince Jerome the awful responsibility of fulfilling the rest of the prophecy.

A LITTLE more than a year ago James Carey was a property holder and an honored member of the council of the city of Dublin. He had the respect of his fellow-men, and was, to all appearances, happy in the love of wife and children. In an evil moment he became involved in crime, and secrecy, the final result of which was his own murder. From the moment that Brady confessed to participation in the Phoenix Park assassination, and gave information which led to the execution of his co-operators in crime, the brand of Cain was upon him, and his fate was sealed. His friends forsook him, his tenants refused to pay their rent, and he was expelled from the city council in disgrace. The British government was put to every expedient to save his worthless life, which at last has paid the penalty of his crime. His slayer is a murderer, to be sure, but there will be none found to sympathize with a man who was himself the most cowardly of men and the most ignominious of traitors.

EVERYBODY who has dyspeptic friends, which, unfortunately, in this country is equivalent to saying everybody, must have heard of a new and wonderful cure for that dismal complaint and of its brilliant achievements. Fortunately this blessed remedy cannot be patented, for it is nothing more or less than hot water. It is cheap and not nasty, and though its efficacy may have been exaggerated and the doctors may some day discover that it is a dreadful insult to the stomach, there can be no doubt that its popularity is great and rapidly increasing. A Poughkeepsie druggist has been so impressed by this fact that he is about to open a hot water fountain in his store. "You would be astonished," he said the other day to a reporter, "to know the number of people who drink hot water during the fall and winter season. They are mostly invalids and used to drink vichy and seltzer, but now hot water seems to be their popular drink. I think a hot water fountain in this town would prove an excellent investment. The hot water these people could get at home is seldom of the proper temperature, and what is worse is usually impure. I intend to clarify the water and make it absolutely pure. The proper temperature to drink it at is about 140 degrees."

There are only two classes of unmarried women in society, "scrawny old maids" and young "chits of girls." You learn this by hearing each of these classes describe the other.

"What is a color guard, papa?" the good boy asked. "A parasol and a veil, my son," replied his worldly-wise parent, and the boy silently wondered what soldiers wanted with such things.

There is a man in Burlington who has failed in business five times since he was twenty-three years old, and he never lost anything but his temper. And pays fifty cents on that—never gets half so angry as other men.

"Remember the Alamo," was a famous Texan war cry during the war for Texan independence. They have a thrilling cry something like it down at the sea-shore, "Remember the waiter," or something of that kind. You'll have to hear it to appreciate and understand what it means.

MINISTER BARCA'S CAREER.

A Practicing Lawyer, Member Of the Spanish Cortes and Under Secretary.

Senor Don Francisco Barca, Spanish envoy and minister plenipotentiary to the United States, who committed suicide in New York a few days ago, was fifty-two years old. He was born in Porto Real, Spain, of wealthy parents, and he received a good education at the Spanish Capital. After he became of age he was admitted to the practice of law. He took an active part in politics soon afterward as a member of the Liberal party, and his wealth enabled him to gain a place in the Spanish Cortes. Under the Imperial Government he also held several offices. For a year previous to his appointment as Minister Plenipotentiary to the United States he was Under Secretary of the Interior. His first diplomatic service was performed at Washington. He was appointed Minister on February 17, 1881, and he arrived in this city on April 20 following. Ten days later he presented his credentials to President Garfield in Washington, and expressed a desire for a continuance of the friendly relations existing between Spain and this country. He occupied a fine house at No. 1,925 F-st., Washington, and furnished it in extravagant style for the entertainment of his friends. His wife, who was said to be his superior in birth, and their younger daughter made the house an attractive place for visitors. The daughter, Carmella, is nineteen years old. Her sister, Isabella, is the wife of Daniel Allair de la Salle, a wealthy land-owner, who resides in Paris. The Minister had no son.

The personal appearance of Senor Barca was not impressive. He was slightly below the medium height and somewhat stout. His complexion was fair for a Spaniard, but he had thick dark hair and a heavy gray mustache. In manner he was quiet and self-contained. When conversing he used many expressive gestures. He spoke the English language with difficulty, having learned all that he knew of it after his arrival in this country, but he was able to use the French language with good effect. It was said that he possessed an extensive knowledge of the commercial and agricultural resources of Spain, where he had been a prominent favorite with the people. He made several visits to New York in the last few years, usually staying at the Albermarle Hotel or at the Hotel Brunswick. His wife and daughter were seen at the fashionable watering places in the summer months. When he came to New York on July 20th, he told his friends that he intended to sail for Europe in a short time with his wife and daughter. He wished to sell his horses and some of his furniture, because his wife and daughter did not intend to return with him to this country in the autumn. They expected to visit his married daughter in Paris.

He applied to his Government for leave of absence. His application was disapproved, and considerable correspondence on the subject took place. The Spanish Government, however, remained firm, and insisted that he must remain in the United States until the matters in which he was engaged should be concluded. His wife, it is said, insisted quite as strongly upon carrying out her purpose to visit their only other child, a married daughter who lived in France. It is reported that several rather stormy domestic scenes were the result. Senor Barca was a man of excitable temperament, and felt deeply disappointed when he found that his wife and daughter insisted on returning to Europe after a residence here of only a little more than two years, and when he could not accompany them. This seemed to prey upon his mind, and it is said that after they had packed up and left Washington, he showed great depression of spirits. They were to sail from New York in a few days, and he went to New York to see them off and perhaps to make a last appeal to his wife to defer her departure for a few months, until he could accompany her. Some of his friends infer that his failure to do this may have led to his self-destruction. That, however, is pure inference.

With the exception of President Garfield's assassination, no event has happened in the last three years which has produced a greater shock to Washington society than the suicide of Senor Barca.

Sociality.

Sociality is the best corrective of that serious and prolonged absorption in business or thought or cares which is so detrimental to many of our busy people. The rest taken in solitude, after working hours are over, permits the mind still to pursue one beaten track. The easy-chair and blazing fire may be tempting to the weary toiler, but they do not force his thoughts into other channels or compel him to lay aside the chain of ideas that has for long hours been working in his brain. Society, on the contrary, forbids such unwholesome indulgence. She insists upon a total change of mind and manner during her short reign. She calls for vivacity, variety, imagination—if possible, wit and humor, or at least a cheerful interest in that of others. She banishes the accustomed seriousness of mind, the brooding over familiar topics, even the earnestness of strong emotion. For a short time all these are forced to give way to the lighter play of fancy, the excitement of popular interest, and the development of sympathy with others upon unfamiliar and varied subjects. Thus the mind is refreshed and invigorated, unused faculties are brought into exercise, and the lost balance restored by a gentle compulsion that no one desires to resist.

Strikes and the Knights of Labor.

The workers of this country are neither voiceless nor powerless. The prosperity of the country depends so greatly upon their course, in respect to their relations with employers, that it is especially important to know what counsels they are receiving, what their own ideas are about strikes as a means of improving their condition, and what other means they have under consideration for the settlement of controversies. An important article in the June number of The Journal of United Labor, the organ of the association known as the "Knights of Labor," throws much light on this interesting subject.

It is gratifying to find that this journal argues with great earnestness and force against strikes as a means of securing improvement. A few sentences will show the ground of its objection: "Does it pay to go on a strike? Is there anything in a strike that is permanent or lasting? Do they settle for all time the question of wages between employer and employed? When once engaged in them, have we any certainty that after weeks of hard, stubborn endurance, the victory, even if won, will be lasting or final?" The article gives voluminous statistics of strikes during the ten years ending with 1879 in England, where, as it says, "organization is vastly superior to any we can boast of in America. There the lines are more definite and distinct; the chance for getting all workers into trades unions is a much easier matter than in this country. There they have not a constant stream of immigration pouring in upon them, and constantly watering and weakening their various trade organizations." Yet in England, out of 2,352 strikes only 71 appear to have been completely successful, and the cost of these struggles during ten years was $22,234,750. It is reasoned, too, that the actual cost was much greater; that the losses of the business men where these strikes occurred "will never be known. Think of rents unpaid, store bills unpaid, of neglect to families, general suffering and want, that cannot be set aside during these protracted periods of idleness. . . . Is it not apparent that we have a cancer in our midst, that must be removed before we can hope to make any progress?"

The Journal of United Labor, for these reasons, very strongly urges arbitration for the settlement of disputes, and co-operation for the more permanent relief of labor. It shows that in France, prior to the war with Germany, as many as 45,000 cases were brought before arbitrators in a single year, and that as late as 1877 over 35,000 were heard. In 71 per cent of the cases a reconciliation was effected. In Belgium, between 1861 and 1878, the cases heard were over 3,000 yearly; the number conciliated ranged from 2,350 to 2,866 yearly; the cases taken to general council from 200 to 594 yearly; and the cases settled between the parties amounted to 656 in one year and to 494 in another, but generally averaged about 300 or one-tenth of the whole number of controversies arising. Of this system The Journal of United Labor says: "We stand ready to defend it against all comers. We challenge any opposition to a discussion of its merits through the columns of The Journal." At the same time, it holds that co-operation is "the star of hope, the haven of security and rest," and that it means "a union for the purpose of obtaining the profits of combined action, and the equal distribution of it among its producers." All this, it will be seen, looks to a more permanent improvement than any strike can effect.

These reasonings, as is natural, start from a very different standpoint than that of capital. They assume apparently that it is always the best thing for the laborer to get the utmost possible for his labor, which is a fatal mistake. He has studied industrial history but little, or to little purpose, who does not know that an advance in wages has often proved the very worst thing possible for the laborer, because it has led to the prolonged or permanent prostration of his industry. But the strong and earnest opposition to strikes as a means of effecting any desirable results, even from the laborer's point of view, ought to have more influence than it seems to have in this country as yet. Last year we saw a vast sum wasted by the workers in iron. This year, apparently, we are to see vast sums wasted by the telegraph workers. Yet the iron business was in such a condition last year that an advance of wages would have been the height of folly, and the current events indicate that the number of competent telegraph operators in the country is larger than the strikers supposed. Why should not labor organizations, instead of promoting strikes by aiding them, use all their influence to prevent such wasteful struggles, and to promote a more rational mode of settling disputes?

Loss of sleep, it is said, is making men small and puny. That is a fact. Just look at the difference in the physique of a delicate scholar and the robust night policeman

STONEWALL JACKSON'S SISTER.

A Reconciliation with Her Living Husband.

Cor. N. Y. Tribune. The death of Jonathan Arnold, of Beverly, Ga., the wealthiest and one of the most distinguished men of that state, which took place last week, has brought to light an interesting and most singular story, concluding with the healing, before death, of an estrangement that had endured for twenty years. Arnold came to Georgia from Fayette county, Penn., about sixty years ago, and by zealous application to business accumulated a snug fortune. Just prior to the war he invested largely in wild lands, owning hundreds of thousands of acres in that and contiguous counties, the subsequent appreciation of which ran his fortune up into the million row. His third wife, who survives him, is a sister of General "Stonewall" Jackson, and possesses many of those traits of character so strongly marked in her illustrious brother.

In the second year of the war, Arnold made preparations to visit his sister in an adjoining county, which gave rise to a report among the Federals that he was about to cast in his fortune with the south. Though he had always kept his own counsels, it was known that his sympathy and affections followed the cause since lost, and when this move became known he was arrested by order of General Latham and taken to Clarksville, where, after six months' confinement, he was released on parole. When the war broke out, Mrs. Arnold, for reasons she never disclosed, deserted the cause for which her brother poured out his life and espoused the cause of the north, remaining a firm friend of the Union throughout the struggle. This was known to her husband; and upon his release from prison he returned home and bitterly upbraided her, accusing her of having been the cause of his arrest. She denied the charge, but he remained inflexible, and then, her pride being aroused, she refused further to defend herself. A separation was arranged, and for twenty years neither man nor wife saw the face of the other.

Mrs. Arnold retained the family home in that county till the close of the war, when she removed to Ohio. Friends interested themselves in arranging a reconciliation, but failed utterly; both were obdurate, and Mrs. Arnold never revealed her motives in forsaking the cause of her father and brother. Ten years ago the wife entered suit for alimony and the husband filed a cross suit for divorce. A long and tedious litigation followed, in the course of which much feeling was engendered and the breach widened. The court gave the wife an allowance of $1,000 per annum, but refused to grant the petition of Arnold for a divorce. At the conclusion of the suit Mrs. Arnold took refuge in a retreat for the sick in Ohio, while her husband returned to the family mansion.

Three weeks ago Mr. Arnold, then a decrepit old man, was stricken down by a fatal illness. His wife came to his bedside, and through two weeks of delirium was an untiring watcher and nurse. He had never forgiven her, and in his delirium uttered upbraiding words which fell upon the ear of the patient watcher near him. The coming of death cleared his mind, and one evening he awoke to consciousness and his eyes alighted upon the wife he had thrust from him. It was a moment of terrible suspense to the few persons in the room. The old man in a feeble voice desired to be alone with her. Then in the chamber already darkened by the approach of dissolution a reconciliation took place, and the excluded watchers heard sobs from the room and entered to find husband and wife locked in a last and forgiving embrace, from which Mr. Arnold was released only to die. Mr. Arnold was a pronounced atheist, and died as he had lived. His scepticism was a continual source of grief to his wife, who partook of her mother's strong religious convictions.

The Hawkeye Dots.

BY R. J. BURDETTE.

If you are naturally a vealy young man, all the colleges in the world can't make more than half a man of you.

The only object any man can have in wearing a single-barrel eye-glass is to make everyone else appear smaller than himself.

There are six hundred and six dead minutes in Mississippi. We always say there were some mighty pleasant people in Mississippi.

A new book of travel has just been issued entitled "Travels with a Donkey." Ah, ha! Somebody has been taking a jaunt with Oscar Wilde.

PICKED PENCILLINGS.
Got vas gif a mans a coubles eyes, and one tongue on account he vants row to look a couble times out before you speak one.—Chicago National Week

Up in cultured and modest Boston they do not call the g-r-r snake by its familiar name, but with a modest blush whisper "the limb-encircular ophidian."

King Alfonso is getting out a patent illumination keyholes. The King should reform and get in earlier at night and he won't need a keyhole that can be seen a block off on a dark night.—Peck Sun.

It is stated that Hanlan, the oarsman, has made over fifty thousand dollars by rowing, in the last three years. That is another card for temperance. See what a man will make by sticking close to water?—Peck Sun.

Dr. Newman Smyth says it seems like hypocrisy to pray for the Indians. Perhaps the Indians ought to pray for us in obedience to the scriptural command, "Pray for them that despitefully hate you."—Hartford Post.

An English traveler thinks we have a comfortable quarters in our sleeping cars. Yes, we generally do, but we feel 'em all out to porters before we get there.—Burlington Free Press.

"Sanded strawberries" is a new name which is played at the table when strawberries have been properly prepared for the palate. The game is to guess whether the sand came with the berries or the sugar.—Philadelphia News.

It is proposed to change the name of Washington territory to Tahoma, the Indian name signifying "Almost to heaven." There is not much difference between Washington and Tahoma; both are near star routes.—New Orleans Treasury.

He slipped quietly in the door, but catching sight of an inquiring face over the stair rail, said: Sorry so late, my car, couldn't get a car before. "So the cars were full, too," said the lady; and other remarks were unnecessary.—Georgia Major.

The man has not yet been discovered who can take off his pantaloons at night without tumbling everything out of his pockets. Yet a woman will go through some same pantaloons in the morning noiselessly that even the mice know something about it.—Chicago News.

A gentleman, who was describing to his wife an accident he had witnessed, said, that for a moment he fairly held his breath. "Did you dear?" was the reply, "and for a whole moment! It must have been a wonderful exhibition strength!"—Drake's Magazine.

A rural visitor to Chicago, full of suspicion that every city man was a robber, ran wildly out of a barber shop and told a policeman that an attempt had been made to chloroform him. The barber had merely attempted to use an anesthetic.—Syracuse Sunday Times.

A Leadville woman recently stole gold watches from as many persons during a dinner hour at a restaurant. It is impossible to steal the watch of a man. He always keeps it before his eyes when eating to see if he can beat his previous record.—Boston Transcript.

Human nature is pretty much the same world over. Even in France, when a woman rushes out into the front and bare headed, the neighbors all say that a strange chicken has put in its appearance, or that a dog has chased across the veranda bed.—Atlanta Constitution.

This soup waiter, is cold. Can't bring me some warm soup?" "By, sah, you mus' be mistaken," sah. The soup was so hot that it took all the life out of my thumb when I fetched it in. The stranger concludes that he forego the soup and take a walk. Cookers Gazette.

"I don't want no rubbish, no fine sentiments, if you please," said a widow, was asked what kind of an epitaph she desired for her late husband's tombstone. "Let it be short and simple—something like this: 'William Johnson, 75 years. The good die young.'"

They hear from Chicago, that hogs are fat, and are to be seen most any day, dinner, putting their knives in their belts, making a noise like a mountain lion when swallowing their soup, sticking their table-napkins under their chairs. Puck.

A western paper remarks: "What imposing figure David Davis would mounted on a bicycle." Laugh as you will, friend, but the chances are that he would prove a success as a bicycle rider. His practice on the polo fence has fitted him for that kind of exercise.—Bismarck Tribune.

The commencement essay of the young ladies' finishing seminary this morning was tied with a crushed-straw-colored ribbon. The first line is, "Write you to go back with me in the night." Then the essayist can go on grammar, history, composition anything she learned at school.—N. Y. Freeman.

They have been married several weeks, and my husband and I cannot decide whether we should retain our old love letters or burn them. What would you do?—Mrs. C. Put them in a pasteboard box in the servant girl's room. Apply of old love letters has been kept for three months at a time.—N. Y. News.

A genuine dude has struck Laramie, and has a homeopathic head and allopathic feet. His pants are so tight that he never takes them off, and he has a plate glass window in one eye. The other is closed for repairs. He got on the wildest kind of debauch last night with half an ounce of pepper sauce and a bunch of cigarettes. He hails from New York.—Boomerang.

Kansas is said to have 5,000,000 bushels of old wheat, and over 17,000,000 bushels of old corn on hand, besides a beautiful harvest all ready to be gathered in. Notice is hereby served on Kansas to return that two dollars and thirty-five cents that we subscribed for "starving Kansas," the other day.

It is said that during the past ten months, nearly sixty thousand Canadians have emigrated to this country. At that rate it is needless to talk about annexing Canada, or buying out that country, as the people of that section will all move over the line into the United States, anyway, if they are given time and a little encouragement.

There is a case reported from a Tennessee town, of a man wearing one pair of boots for twenty years, and the boots are still in a good state of preservation. But it is not said that the man has daughters who persist in having beaux come and stay around the house all the evening until far into the night. There are things in this world that will wear out a man's boots when all ordinary things fail.—Peck's Sun.

Massachusetts papers claim that Ben Butler's mother intepared Ben for the ministry, when he was a boy. Butler shot wide of the mark when he became a lawyer and a politician, but if he failed to enter the pulpit and preach upon the subject of a hot hereafter, he has given the people of Massachusetts, if the dispatches are credited, a pretty good idea of a Hades on earth in his disclosures of the Tewksbury business.

Cramps and pains in the stomach and bowels, dysentery and diarrhoea are very common just now and should be checked at once. Johnson's Anodyne Liniment will positively cure all such cases and should be kept in every family.

Bishop Tuigg of Pittsburg has improved so as to be able to walk out. A few weeks ago his death was expected hourly.

The most distressing case of scrofula or blood poison that we ever heard of was cured by Parsons' Purgative Pills. These pills make new rich blood, and taken one a night for three months will change the blood in the entire system.

The first woolen factory of the United States was established in Hartford eighty-seven years ago.

BALTIMORE, Md.—Rev. W. H. Chapman says: "I deem Brown's Iron Bitters a most valuable tonic for general ill-health."

President Andrew D. White, of Cornell university has sailed for Europe.

University of Notre Dame.

This institution is located near the corporate limits of the flourishing city of South Bend, Ind. It is now commencing the fortieth year of its existence, having become one of the best and most prosperous educational institutions of the country. Its location has many natural attractions, which have been supplemented by the improvements of art. Magnificent edifices, handsome walks and beautiful arbors adorn the ample grounds, embracing several hundred acres, belonging to the institution. In point of health the location is unsurpassed. It is easily accessible from all parts of the Union. Some of the leading trunk lines, and their connecting lines being available for reaching it. Its venerable founder, Rev. E. Sorin, had been gifted with the spirit of prophecy when he selected the location for Notre Dame forty years ago, could not have made a wiser or more fortunate choice.

Although Notre Dame is strictly a Catholic institution, yet students of all religious denominations are admitted upon equal footing. The discipline is excellent, and we notice among other wholesome regulations that the use of intoxicating liquors is absolutely prohibited. Students are required to maintain the bearing and deportment of gentlemen toward the faculty, each other, and toward all others. They are carefully trained to recognize and practice the courtesies which characterize the true gentlemen. The discipline and the favorable surroundings keep the student free from all vicious associations, while the facilities for acquiring all the knowledge attainable in the best schools of the land, are supplied.

The students of Notre Dame are classified according to age, into three distinct classes or departments—Seniors, Juniors and Minims (boys under thirteen years of age.) The Minims have a building exclusively for themselves, and entirely separate from the others. They are under the most vigilant care of their teachers. Sisters of the Holy Cross, and at all times as safe as they could be at home under the guardianship of their parents. The courses of study embrace all that the name University implies, including the preparatory course, classical, scientific, and the special courses of Law, Civil Engineering, Commercial and Modern Language courses.

One mile west of the University of Notre Dame is situated St. Mary's Academy. This is a school for young ladies, conducted by the Sisters of the Holy Cross. Its courses of study include Paparatory, Academic and Classical departments, as well as modern languages, drawing, painting, vocal, and instrumental music. Parents who place their daughters here may rest assured that the utmost care for their welfare will be taken.

Valuable Time
 is lost by farmers on account of their horses having sore necks and shoulders. This can easily be avoided by using Cole's Veterinary Carbolisolve.
 It prevents inflammation, cures collar and saddle galls quickly, while the horse is being used, and invariably brings the hair in its original color.
 W. W. Preston, St. Orloff, Minn., says
 "For bad collar galls, fresh cuts or old sores, there is nothing equal to Cole's Veterinary Carbolisolve. It is a big thing for horses and can not be too highly recommended. I would not be without it for many times its cost." Pound cans, $1; small cans, 50 cents. 51

HOW WATCHES ARE MADE In a SOLID GOLD WATCH, aside from the necessary thickness for engraving and polishing, a large proportion of metal is needed only to stiffen and hold the engraved portions in place, and supply strength.
 The surplus gold is actually needless. In James Dox's Patent Gold Watch Cases this WASTE is saved, and SOLIDITY and STRENGTH increased by a simple process, at one-half the cost. A plate of SOLID GOLD is soldered on each side of a plate of hard nickel composition metal, and the three are then passed between polished steel rollers. From this the cases, backs, centers, bezels, etc., are cut and shaped by dies and formers. The gold is thick enough to admit of all kinds of chasing, engraving and engine turning. These cases have been worn perfectly smooth by use without removing the gold. This is the only case made under this process. Each case is accompanied with a valid guarantee signed by the manufacturers warranting it to wear 20 years. 150,000 of these Cases now carried in the United States and Canada. Largest and Oldest Factory.
 Established 1854. Ask your Jeweler.

From the Jackson Star.
FAVORED FLORIDA.
Not Only is Fruit Profitably Grown,
But Early Vegetables Also.

A correspondent writes to the Semi-Tropical, a paper printed at Eustis, Orange County, Florida, concerning the fortunes made in that state, as follows:

Capitalists are just awakening to the fact that Florida presents unlimited opportunities for the investment of their surplus dollars. For many years no one thought of Florida or dreamed of the mines of wealth that lay undeveloped there. It is true she has no mineral wealth, no mines of gold or silver, iron or coal, but in her agricultural resources there is more wealth than in the mines of Mexico. But capital and energy are necessary to develop these latent riches which lie hidden in her soil and genial climate.

Millions upon millions of dollars are expended each year for foreign products that can be grown in Florida. We pay millions each year for foreign fruits that can be grown upon American soil. Think of the vast number of oranges, lemons, pine apples, bananas, coconuts, etc., annually consumed in the United States. Florida can furnish them all when her resources are developed.
 Immense quantities of sugar and molasses are yearly imported which can be grown upon the soil of Florida. The extreme southern counties can be made to supply a large amount of coffee, and for aught we know, a great many other tropical productions. And when we consider the fact that fruits grown here are superior to foreign productions in both size and quality, it is easily seen that there will be a foreign demand for any surplus we may produce.
 Florida will have the whole United States for a market, and the superiority of her productions will give her a foreign trade also. What is needed is capital to open up avenues for the transportation of her productions and to furnish the means to bring under cultivation the vast tracts of wild land now lying idle. Railroads and canals she must have in abundance, for the class of productions grown here are both weighty and bulky, and the amount grown on a given area of ground is immense compared with the productions of the grain growing states.

The development of the sugar producing lands open up an extensive field for the profitable investment of a large amount of capital. Swamps must be cleared and drained, extensive machinery will be needed to manufacture the cane when grown, and refineries will be required to prepare the sugar for market on the ground where produced.

The opening for investment in orange growing has been presented so often, and the profits on such investments are so well known, that it is hardly necessary to mention it here.
 That these investments pay is plainly evident when we look around over the state and see the number of men who commenced with little or nothing, and today have princely incomes.
 James Harris of Orange Lake is one of this number. His last year's crop amounted to 22,000 boxes and sold for $63,000, and we see it stated that he has ordered 40,000 orange boxes in anticipation of the coming crop of the present year. Aaron Cloud of Ft. Reed started with nothing, and in a few years sold $30,000 worth of nursery trees and then sold his grove for $30,000 more. Yesterday I met a man who owns a magnificent grove on Lake Aapopka, and who has just sold $3,200 worth of nursery trees in one lot. This man came to Florida a few years ago, with property amounting all told to $100. I could go on multiplying these instances of success in orange raising until the columns of the Semi-Tropical would be entirely filled with them.

The success of vegetable growers has been almost equally marked in its results. An account has just been published in the Jacksonville
Times, of the success of Mr. J. F.
 Flewallen, who commenced six years ago with almost nothing, and buying his land on credit. This year he has shipped 16,000 crates of tomatoes, 15,000 quarts of strawberries, besides quantities of other vegetables. Count the net returns on the tomatoes at $1 per crate, which is very low, and you have $16,000 from tomatoes alone. This is one of the many instances of success in vegetable growing. But many ask, how long will this last, and if the market will not be overstocked. Let me ask in return, how many vegetables could be consumed in the United States during the months of February, March, April, and May at prices that would pay the producer well for his labor. The market is simply unlimited. The increase of the trade will make cheaper freights and quicker transportation, and the application of labor saving machinery will decrease the cost of production so that good returns can be made at one-half the present prices.

The instances of success alone given were of men starting without capital. If poor men can accomplish such results in fruit and vegetable raising, how much more can be done by men with plenty of means at their command.

The culture of cassava and arrowroot, and the manufacture of starch from them, is another opening for the investment of capital. Hundreds of starch factories could be made profitable in Florida. Land that will produce them is abundant and the demand for these two articles of trade is good.

There are also vast tracts of land too low for fruit culture, that could be turned into rice fields. The upland rice is being extensively grown in Georgia, and is said to be equally profitable with the lowland rice.

GATHERINGS.

Saline boys play base ball on Sunday.

A Miss Keeler, of Chesaning attempted to commit suicide at Jackson a few days ago.

Boylan & Co. are painting the county house and buildings at an expense of $265.

Saline now has twelve bicycle riders, among them being Orin Stair, editor of the Observer.

L. W. Watkins has been elected cashier of the Peoples' Bank of Manchester vice Clarkson resigned.

Mr. Bless, of Lodi, wants to give someone $100 for telling him who destroyed his self binder recently.

O. E. Thompson, of Ypsilanti, will manufacture 2,000 of his famous grass seeders for his next year's business.

Jas. Decker's cow was bitten by a rattlesnake Tuesday. This is the second cow he has lost within a few months.

There were 580 prisoners in the State prison August 1st. During July, 20 were discharged, and four received.

During the past winter the Workmen's Aid Society has paid out over $700 in relief of their members and families. That is good work.—Courier.

County Clerk Robinson is putting into the court house for next winter's consumption one hundred tons of coal. Price, egg, $6.25; stove, $6.40.—Argus.

The new book firm of George Osins & Co., are fitting up the cellar of their store preparatory to opening a wholesale carpet department in connection with their other business.—Courier.

A laborer named Michael Felska was hurt on the gravel train of the T. A. A., & G. T. road Tuesday afternoon, about two miles north of town. He had a couple of ribs broken.—Courier.

Judge Harriman went over to Ypsilanti on Tuesday, and committed Austin Hanson to the Pontiac Asylum. Not having resided in this county one year, the expense at the asylum will be chargeable to Wayne county.—Argus.

Of the various varieties of fruit raised in this vicinity, the grape promises the best yield this season. While there are comparatively few peaches and prospects of not more than one-third of an average apple crop, the indications point to at least half a full crop of grapes. The white grape seems to be doing better than the Concord.—Register.

The fact that Stockbridge is to have brick and tile works this season is now tolerably well assured. Last week a gentleman was here prospecting with a view to locating a $7,000 plant, including a thirty horse power engine, and expects to be here with the machinery within a few weeks. When run at the full capacity his works employ fifteen men.—Sentinel.

When Mr. Schumacher was in Fremont, Ohio, Tuesday, he called on ex-President Hayes and found him with coat off and sleeves rolled up hard at work weeding out a little grove of walnut trees he had planted. He has a beautiful home there, and promised if he was home on the 16, he would talk with the excursionists from Ann Arbor. When asked about the political situation in Ohio he expressed himself enthusiastically for the Republican State organization and was very confident they would carry the state by a good safe majority.—Courier.

Waterloo Gleanings.

Rev. Lowery has sold his horse and buggy to S. J. Siegfried.

Rev. Wm. Haw's daughter and daughter-in-law are visiting him.

Miss Nettie Akie commenced the fall term of school at Lyndon Centre last Monday.

The meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Baptist church will be held next Tuesday at the parsonage.

The bridge across the highway on the east line of the Jas. Congdon farm needs immediate attention as present it is not safe to cross with a team.

Chas. Earl has had his engine and separator overhauled and repaired, and is now in good shape to do threshing. We understand he is going to White Oak to thresh.

J. & S.B. West started their threshers last Saturday and started off very nicely. Both boys are good threshers and experienced workmen, and we wish them success with their new machine.

Mr. Geo. A. Rowe says that his entire orchard consisting of several acres of nice young trees and well pruned will not bear him over three or four barrels of apples. Many other orchards are in the same condition.

Another change in the mail. Mr. Keeler carries it, and we only get regular mail on Wednesday and Saturday of each week. No stage now between Francisco and Waterloo, so passengers have their choice—to walk or go afoot.

Some of the boys of this township and Lyndon attended the dance at Stockbridge last Saturday evening and say that they do not mind being called "white dogs," but they do not want to be christened that by a "snarling puppy."

I find by the farm statistics of 1882 that this township contains 25,822 acres of land of which 12,514 acres are improved. There are 179 farms in the township. Lyndon has 17,916 acres of which 9,592 acres are improved, and has 103 farms.

The wheat in this neighborhood has all been secured and in good shape except some that was cut early and was stacked or put in the barn too green. Though wheat was thin on the ground it is well filled and of extra good quality and think it will give a fair average per acre.

F. A. Howlett was the first to have threshing done in this neighborhood. It was done by Thos. Stanfield with his new Birdsill machine, and tho' the wheat was very tough and green it threshed it in good shape and gives entire satisfaction. Mr. Stanfield has as his helpers Perry Mills, J. Goodwin, and Geo. Stapish.

SYLVAN NEWS.

August Menzing is on the sick list this week.

Hiram Glover of Jackson, is camping at Cavender Lake.

We are sorry to say Mr. M. Lehman is not improving.

Miss Jessie Stapish, of Dexter, visited Miss Katie Foster last week.

Elder Weber attended quarterly meeting at Ann Arbor Sunday last.

Mr. Hicks, of Detroit, is expected to camp at Cavender Lake in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Glover visited friends at Saline a few days of last week.

Miss Emma Osborn, of Eaton Rapids, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. Glover last week.

A basket pic-nic will be given at Cavender Lake on Saturday, Aug. 16, under the auspices of the Francisco band. The exercises will consist of foot races, boat races, speaking, and instrumental music. All are cordially invited to be present. Come, and you will have a good time.

LIMA ITEMS.

The Misses Potter, of Ann Arbor, are visiting Geo. Mitchell and James McLaren.

Miss Emily Nordman spent Saturday and Sunday at Chelsea with the Misses Everett's.

Miss Bertha Keyes has gone to Fife Lake to visit Mr. and Mrs. Dr. Hoag, and will visit friends at other places on her way home.

I made a mistake in announcing my fourth quarterly meeting for August 11th and 12th. It does not take place until the 25th and 26th. Services on my charge as usual next Sunday. D. W. GIBERSON.

—Mrs. Lantry must have made an impression either upon Georgians—she is said to be more Georgian than Circassian in her style of beauty—or upon Postmaster General Gresham, for a new postoffice was created in the religiously named county of Emanuel in the State of Georgia, and it was named "Langtry."—Dramatic News.

—John Leveridge, the oldest lawyer in New York, will be ninety-two years old September 1. He distinctly remembers the funeral of Washington, witnessing it in company with his sister at the corner of Broadway and Vesey streets. The event was forcibly impressed upon his mind by the fact that when he got home he and his sister were soundly spanked by their mother.—N. Y. Sun.

—Mlle Rhea failed during her first tour in this country from lack of advertising, but she can now give points to the stagers. Mlle Rhea played at Hartford the other day, and while there called upon Maud S. She put her arms about Maud's neck, talked French to her and fed her roses from her corsage bouquet. This made Mlle Rhea solid with the Hartford people, who adore Maud S., but when the actress procured an account of the affair to be telegraphed over the country two birds were killed, as it were, with one stone, and many hearts made happy.—New Haven Register.

Gladstone's Younger Days.

Gladstone had come up from Eton with quite an uncommon reputation for ability, and all his contemporaries agree in saying that he was regarded as a young man of exceptional promise. His management of the Eton Miscellany had shown what power he possessed of attracting lads of talent into his fellowship and of maintaining his ascendancy over them and at Christ Church he became in his first term the recognized leader of a set whose doings were watched with interest by dons and under graduates alike. His fluency in argumentation, and the trouble he took to convince people of things which often did not seem worth a dispute, were among the noticeable traits of his character; but this fondness for reasoning had been purposely fostered in him by his father. Mr. John Gladstone liked that his children should exercise their judgment by stating the why and wherefore of every opinion they offered, and a college friend of William's who went on a visit to Easque, in Kincardineshire, during the summer of 1829, furnishes amusing particulars of the family customs in that house, "where the children and their parents argue upon everything." "They would debate as to whether the trout should be boiled or broiled, whether a window should be opened, and whether it was likely to be fine or wet next day. It was all perfectly good-humored, but curious to a stranger because of the evident care which all the disputants took to advance no proposition, even as to the prospect of rain, rashly. One day Thomas Gladstone knocked down a wasp with his handkerchief and was about to crush it on the table, when the father started the question as to whether he had the right to kill the insect; and this point was discussed with as much seriousness as if a human life had been at stake. When at last it was adjudged that the wasp deserved death because he was a trespasser in the drawing-room, a common enemy and a danger there, it was found that the insect had crawled from under the handkerchief, and was flying away with a sniggering sort of buzz as if to mock them all." On another occasion William Gladstone and his sister Mary disputed as to where a certain picture ought to be hung. An old Scotch servant came in with a ladder and stood irresolute while the argument progressed, but as Miss Mary would not yield, William gallantly ceased from speech, though unconvinced, of course. The servant then hung up the picture where the young lady ordered, but when he had done this he crossed the room and hammered a nail into the opposite wall. He was asked why he did this. "Aweel, miss, that'll do to hang the picture on when ye'll have come around to Master Willie's opinion."—Temple Bar.

Vesuvius in 1871-2.

Seen from Naples during the winter of 1871-2, Vesuvius wore an aspect more festal than formidable. At intervals, a bright-red ribbon of fire depended, like a decoration, from its summit; while the volcanic character, already betrayed in the graceful inward curves of central subsidence, was accentuated by a vaporous crown occasionally flushed with the nocturnal glow of internal incandescence. The mountain was, however, considered to have entered on a phase of serious agitation; and a minor cone, thrown up just outside the northern edge of the great crater, served at once as the main channel and the visible sign of its renewed activity. High up among the lava fields ominous sounds began to be heard by the end of January, resembling the distant bellow of an infuriated animal; hot, sulphurous steam issued from cracks and crevices, and the great crater threw some preliminary bombs. On March 25 (with the full moon, Signor Palmieri bids us observe) the volcano tried its powers in a formal eruption, but, as if finding them still inadequate, suspended its action, and relapsed into comparative tranquillity on the 29th. The lava stream issuing from the small cone was, on the following night, crossed close to its source by the present writer without the slightest inconvenience. It was already "dead," that is, had ceased to receive reinforcements, and betrayed its recent ignition only through glowing fissures and the instant blazing of any inflammable substance thrust into them. A thick column of vapor rose, however, from the orifice, blood-red with the reflection from the fiery mass within, and every twenty or thirty seconds the central crater discharged, with a growl and a crash, a volley of red-hot stones, some a foot or more in diameter, which powdered with fire the black ashes of the surrounding plateau, and menaced inquisitive spectators with the utmost penalty of rashness. But the most memorable feature of that night's spectacle was the sudden and unexpected apparition of a lurid cloud suspended above the Atrio del Cavallo (the valley dividing the cone of Vesuvius from the precipices of Somma), showing that the mountain had opened in that direction. Such was the fact, though little noted at the time. It constituted, however, a threat which was terribly and fatally executed. A few days later predictions of a great eruption, to come off before April was ended, were circulated in Naples; but they could be traced to no authoritative source, and served only to lend a piquant flavor of coming excitement to the dolce far niente of the Chiaja. Punctually, however, with the next full moon—April 23—the agitation recommenced, and several rivulets of molten rock trickled down to the base of the cone. Then the mountain paused, as if to draw breath; and at nine o'clock in the evening of the 25th only the open mouths of the two craters were visible, like watch-fires on a hill, their flames alternately rising and falling in rhythmic pulsations of repose. Before dawn on the 26th the full fury of the long-threatened eruption had broken loose; the large cone was cleft from summit to base, along the line of weakness previously laid bare; the small cone was blown into the air; and three great lava streams were already well on their way—one making for Torre del Greco, another for Resina, and the third directing its course towards Naples itself! The explosion, which occurred at 3:30 a. m., unhappily involved in destruction a party of about sixty excursionists—university students and others—who, disregarding the warnings received at the observatory, had rashly ventured into the Atrio del Cavallo. But awe and regret were alike absorbed in amazement at the stupendous spectacle presented by the volcano. Into a sky, which on the side of Naples was as blue as April could make it, huge volumes of steam discharged themselves, and, ascending with extraordinary velocity to a height of at least 16,000 feet (such is the unimpeachable assertion of the photographic lens), hung poised beneath the zenith in solid-looking, flocculent masses of dazzling whiteness. A torrent of projectiles, furrowing the column of issuing vapors with livid and fiery gleams, outdid even the fierce haste of their up-rush, while the entire background was rendered of an inky blackness by dense clouds of falling ashes and lapilli. "We have an obligation to the wind," a soldier remarked in passing; "if it blew the other way, Addio Napoli!" This, however, was figurative; the danger to Naples was at no time extreme.—The Edinburgh Review.

SALICYLICA.

No more Rheumatism, Gout or Neuralgia. Immediate Relief Warranted, Permanent Cure Guaranteed.

Five years established and never known to fail in a single case, acute or chronic. Refer to all prominent physicians and druggists for the standing of Salicylica.

THE ONLY DISSOLVER OF THE POISONOUS URIC ACID WHICH EXISTS IN THE BLOOD OF RHEUMATIC AND GOUTY PATIENTS.

SALICYLICA is known as a common-sense remedy because it strikes directly at the cause of Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia, while so many so called specifics and supposed panaceas only treat locally the effects.

It has been conceded by eminent scientists that outward applications, such as rubbing with oils, ointments, liniments, and soothing lotions will not eradicate these diseases which are the result of the poisoning of the blood with Uric Acid.

SALICYLICA works with marvelous effect on this acid, and so removes the disorder. It is now exclusively used by all the celebrated physicians of America and Europe. Highest Medical Academy reports 95 per cent. cures in three days.

REMEMBER

that SALICYLICA is a certain cure for Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. The most intense pains are subdued almost instantly.

Give it a trial. Relief guaranteed or money refunded.

Thousands of testimonials sent on application. $1 a Box; 6 boxes for $5.

MICHIGAN NEWS.

The Marquette Mining Journal this week complains: Word comes to us that deer are being slain right along at points on the Detroit, Mackinac & Marquette railroad, in disregard of the legal prohibition designed for their protection. This is an outrage, and one which residents in that section can put a stop to if they will. The law is operative--all they have to do is to see that it is enforced. If they will not use the weapon placed in their hands to preserve from destruction by "pot hunters" the chief attraction of their forests the fault is theirs, and they will be the chief losers eventually. The State has done its share by giving them a law, whose enforcement will keep this district a favorite resort for sportsmen for years to come. Let them do theirs or hold their peace.

The Oscoda Salt and Lumber Company's iron mill at Oscoda burned recently. It is a total loss. Two hundred men are thrown out of employment. The mill was partly insured. The cause of the fire is unknown. The mill was one of the best in the State, and its destruction is a great loss to the place as well as the company. The mill was built in 1879, and cost $75,000. The insurance amounts to $45,000, divided among sixteen companies.

The family of a widow, Mrs. Anna Dilts, of Victor, were poisoned last week from eating what were supposed to be mushrooms. The mother was away from home at the time but looked over the mushrooms before she went and considered them to be all right. The aged grandmother was sick in bed at the time and so did not partake of the fatal dinner. Two little boys, aged 9 and 11, died and were buried July 29th. One daughter, about 15 years old, lies at the point of death.

An unknown laborer, evidently crazy, was run over by the Toledo & Mansfield construction train, consisting of eleven cars of ties and iron, two miles west of Battle Creek. The man was killed instantly. The head, arms and legs were cut off.

Harry T. Bush, of Monterey, was killed by the caving in of a well which he was digging. It took over two hours to dig him out.

James F. Chambers, a farmer of Odessa, Ionia county, committed suicide by taking morphine at the residence of McDale Shaw, Lowell. He told Mr. Shaw he had traded farms with a neighbor, making thereby $400, and that the papers were all made out and signed by everybody but his wife. She not only refused to sign the deed, but shut the door in his face and locked it, thus preventing his entrance to his own dwelling house except by violence. He then hitched up his team and drove to Lowell. A bottle containing morphine was found in his pocket. Dr. Peck and Dr. Purple were summoned soon after discovering his condition. They did all they could to save his life.

Prof. A. S. Welch, president of the Iowa agricultural college, formerly principal of the Michigan State normal school, has been back to the scenes of his former labors at Ypsilanti, and visited with Prof. George.

Harry Hunter, the notorious pickpocket who was under arrest at Kalamazoo, has secured bail in $1,000 and left town, and Kalamazoo people are very indignant. His bail was originally $3,500, but Judge Sherwood reduced the amount to $1,000, which was easily secured, and now the worst thief in North America is at large again.

December 12, 1882, Ellen L. Huntington was thrown from a sleigh while crossing the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad-track on a highway running north and south on the town lines of Solon and Nelson and quite badly hurt. She has commenced suit against the railroad company to recover damages claimed at $10,000, alleging that the company failed, at the point where the accident occurred, to plank the space between the rails and thus made possible an accident which crippled her for life.

A little son of Hon. E. Topf of Eaton Rapids was biten by a rattlesnake, while returning from school the other day, and died the next morning.

J. S. Newberry, of Detroit, has donated the Presbyterian society at Newberry, four good lots and will build a three or four thousand dollar church thereon.

The Chicago & West Michigan railway company's buildings at Montague were burned the other day.

Oscar McIntosh, a farmer living at Wat son five miles from Allegan, was found the other morning hanging by a strap to a fallen tree. He left the house about dark on the evening before, and was not seen again until his family, alarmed at his continued absence, searched after him. He was tracked to the woods and discovered about 400 yards from his house. He was about 60 years of age, and had become morose and gloomy at brooding over property troubles.

Lewis E. Eddy of Gaines township, Kent county, has been appointed to the West Point cadetship from the fifth district.

George Hartsell, an insane man, hung himself in a barn in Dowagiac the other day. From the Adrian Times: A well known farmer, living near Morenci, having been so cruel to his wife that she was obliged to leave him and take refuge with a daughter, thereupon forbade his children visiting her. Their youngest daughter, a girl of 16, went to see her mother. On her return she brought company. He waited until the company had left, and the two daughters went up stairs into the room and cruelly beat the daughter, giving her over twenty lashes with the heavy whip. Such an offense is too cruel to go unpunished in a civilized community, but it is understood the family are unwilling to seek redress.

Hon. George I. Brown, who represented the Battle Creek district in the state house of representatives in the session of '71-'72, was accidentally killed at Hamilton, Mo., July 27. He fell from his barn.

A very fine piece of copper, weighing two pounds and ten ounces, was found on the farm of Mr. Sackett, in Calhoun county, recently. It has been taken to Battle Creek, where it attracts much attention, as it is supposed to have come from the upper lake region in the drift period.

There were 580 prisoners in the state prison at the end of the month of July. Hallmaster Drake says there were only four received during the month, one being sent for larceny and three for bigamy. There were 20 released, 19 by reason of expiration of term, and one by order of the supreme court.

sheriff, put a loaded revolver in his hip pocket, and sat down. The revolver went off, and the man can't sit down for several weeks to come.

Gilmore Enig, a lad living near Fowlerfield, was told to hand a whip to a man who was driving a mower. Instead of handing the whip as directed, he foolishly ran in front of the sickle and gave a horse a cut with a whip, causing the team to start. The boy's leg was caught by the knife and nearly cut off above the ankle joint.

John Boyle, for a number of years foreman at Begole Fox & Co's mill in Flint, was taken ill with cholera morbus the other day, and died in a few hours.

Nearly 400 children attended the funeral of Prof. Stone at Battle Creek, the other day.

Bears and whortleberries are an immense crop in Oscoda county.

The funeral of Mrs. LeFever and her son Frankle at Bay City, was the largest procession which ever followed the remains of any deceased citizen in the Saginaw Valley, evincing the respect for the lady and her son, who were the victims of the Carlyn horror in New York State, as well as the outburst of regret at the tragic ending of what was intended as a season of pleasure for those who started out with joyous anticipations, but were returned mangled and lifeless to their homes of sadness and sorrow.

The Ottawa Iron works at Ferrysburg, belonging to Ferry Bros., was sold at auction the other day to satisfy the mortgage of $50,000, given by T. W. Ferry, at the time of their failure some months ago.

Hogan's Ride in the Air

Hogan, the Jackson balloonist, who was to have made an ascension at Hillsdale on the Fourth of July, but failed to get off, tried it again a few days ago with thrilling success. He started from in front of Wolf & Crane's drug store at 2:30 p. m., a large crowd being present. As he cleared the earth he shouted "Good bye, boys," and instantly the balloon shot up like a rocket. Hogan waved his handkerchief a few moments, then began performing on the trapeze that he had been seated upon, and kept it up until he was hidden from view by the clouds. He found it blowing very hard up there and the valve cork broke and he lost control of the air ship which set sail for a trip out over Lake Erie. He drifted over the lake towards Toledo and about 6 o'clock he came down in Maumee river near Waterville. Hogan got a good ducking, but the balloon rebounded and struck a tree and burst. Hogan hung to the tree until assistance came and he reached terra firma without a scratch. He returned, reaching Hillsdale at 10 o'clock the following morning. Hogan's objective point was Adrian, and he went a deal farther than he had intended.

The Freedman's Holiday.

Emancipation Day was right royally observed in Lansing by the colored people of the State. The celebration was under the auspices of the local colored citizens and was in every particular an eminent success. The day was all that could be desired, and consequently a large crowd was present. Excursion trains were run by all the roads centering in this city, even Toledo sending a large delegation. The city presented a holiday appearance and the visitors were heartily welcomed by all. A more orderly and well behaved lot of people never visited the Capital city. The celebration was not participated in by colored people alone, however, as each excursion train bore a good sprinkling of whites, who were assisted by their brethren in this city and the surrounding country in making the occasion a memorable one. Speeches were made by Gov. Begole, Hon. John R. Lynch, and others. Music, processions and games filled up the day. In the evening Hon. John R. Lynch delivered an eloquent address to an immense crowd in the opera house.

A Strange Phenomenon in Lake Michigan.

From the Grand Traverse Herald. In Grand Traverse bay recently, at some distance out in deep water, between Traverse City and Marlon Island, the water began to boil and surge, and presently rose in vast jets to the height of from 10 to 20 feet. Being observed from the shore no details could be given on account of the distance, but the same thing has taken place years before and some two years ago, according to an account given by the Herald at that time, parties in a boat were so nearly on the spot that they were obliged to hasten out of the way. They described the water as apparently boiling up from the very bottom of the bay, which in that place was nearly or quite one hundred feet deep, bringing up with it vast quantities of mud and other substances and emitting an intensely unpleasant and sulphurous smell. The area of the eruption, if it may be so called, was about 20 feet in diameter and the time about half an hour. At intervals the water would subside into calmness and then the commotion would begin again. It is said by old settlers that the same thing has occurred in other years. The disturbance is always in a line between Traverse City and the island. It is well known by old residents that there are places in the bay where salt springs bubble up through the water, in the neighborhood of the island. It is possible that there are submarine openings of other descriptions, either volcanic or otherwise. It is known to scientific men that there is a tract of country on the eastern shore of Michigan, in the neighborhood of Thunder bay directly across the state from Grand Traverse bay, where slight earthquakes are frequent, and in fact the bay was named by the Indians from the rumbling noise that from time to time was heard in the interior of the earth. It is possible that these tidal waves, as well as the Traverse bay disturbances, may arise from volcanic action as a common cause, and all newspaper readers are well aware that there has never been a time within the memory of the present generation when the earth seemed to be in such a state of internal agitation as at the present, many of the known volcanoes of the world being in active eruption, new ones breaking out where none were known before, and earthquake shocks, both slight and severe, frequent in every part of the world.

DETROIT MARKETS.

Table with 2 columns: Commodity and Price. Includes items like Wheat, Flour, Corn, Oats, etc.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

WASHINGTON. TO COMMAND THE FENSSEEDEN. Capt. S. S. Warner, who has been in command of the revenue cutter Ewing, at Baltimore, has been ordered to the command of the Fensseeden. The latter will be ready for service in a short time and will be stationed at Detroit.

WILL NOT DEVIDE. There has been before the land office a case involving the title to a large tract of the city of St. Louis, Mo., brought by the heirs of one Joseph Calve, through his attorneys. The commissioner of the land office decides against the claimants.

ANOTHER MICHIGAN MAN IN. Postmaster Conger has appointed Capt. Harry Sherwood of Kalamazoo, assistant postmaster of Washington. Sherwood has acted as postmaster of the House of Representatives for several sessions, and filled that office very creditably. His appointment gives universal satisfaction to all.

NO FOOT AND MOUTH DISEASE. It has been reported to the Treasury Department that the British Parliament is considering measures looking to the interdiction of cattle from foreign countries whence the foot and mouth disease prevails, and that an attempt will probably be made to have it apply to importations from the United States. It was stated at the Treasury Department that such application would be unwarranted, as a thorough investigation of the subject, just concluded, has shown that the foot and mouth disease does not prevail among cattle in this country. Steps will be taken to bring this fact to the attention of the British Government to the end that orders in council on the subject may not be made applicable to the importation of cattle from this country.

BURSTING WITH SILVER DOLLARS. The vaults and sub-treasuries of the United States are fairly bursting with silver dollars, so great has been the accumulation. Additional storage room is an imperative necessity. The last Congress appropriated $10,000 for the purpose of defraying the cost of additional storage room, and the matter is being agitated with a good deal of fervor.

CONSOLIDATION. The executive order consolidating the internal revenue districts so far as it applies to the following named newly consolidated districts, went into effect August 1st: Nineteenth Pennsylvania, First Missouri, Eighteenth Ohio, Tenth Ohio, Sixth Indiana, Second Illinois and Seventh Indiana. Arrangements have been made for transfer in the following named offices on the 7th inst: First Michigan, Fourth Michigan, Eleventh Indiana, First Minnesota, Sixth Missouri, Seventh Kentucky and Eighth Kentucky.

CATTLE TO BE QUANTINATED. All neat cattle arriving in the United States from any part of the world except North and South America will be subjected to quarantine ninety days, counting from the date of shipment. As the Dominion of Canada maintains a quarantine for all imported cattle, no quarantine for cattle imported from Canada is provided.

ROCKWELL'S RECOMMENDATION. Colonel A. F. Rockwell, in charge of public buildings and grounds, in his annual report recommends that $25,000 be appropriated for improvements at the White House. The total of appropriations asked for the next fiscal year for the expenses of improvements and care of the public buildings and grounds in the District is $210,000.

VIRGINIA'S CHECK. The state of Virginia has presented a claim to Uncle Sam of $732,809. This claim involves a question of deposits with other states, amounting to over $9,000,000.

A REASONABLE HINT. The secretary of the treasury has been warned that a large quantity of wool of low grades, are frequently sent from Egypt to other countries and eventually find their way to this country. In view of the epidemic now raging in the eastern Mediterranean it is well to be cautious.

NO HOPES FOR HILL. The Hill investigating committee has held its last session, and is now engaged in summing up the evidence, which is said to be very damaging to the supervising architect.

SUGAR FRAUDS. (The special committee appointed to investigate the charge made by Representative Belmont of fraud in connection with the importation of sugar at San Francisco and Portland, will have concluded their investigation in the course of a week or ten days. They will meet in New York to confer with the sugar importers before making their report.

NEWS NOTES.

SUICIDE OF THE SPANISH MINISTER. Francis Barca, Spanish envoy and minister plenipotentiary to the United States, committed suicide with a revolver in his room at the Albemarle hotel, New York. On the day on which he committed the deed he called on the consul-general and spent some time with him, speaking pleasantly of an early visit to Europe which he contemplated, and of his expected meeting with old friends. He spent the afternoon writing letters and dined in his room alone. About 8 p. m. M. S. Suarez, a Spanish commission merchant, called by request, and the two remained together till 3 o'clock Sunday morning. The time was occupied in conversation, but when Suarez was about to leave Barca was much agitated, pacing the floor nervously and bursting into tears. He explained his emotion by saying it was caused by his approaching separation from his family. When Suarez finally left him it was with a promise to comply with Barca's request to call and go with him to early mass. When he called Barca was dead on his knees, the upper portion of his body resting on the bed, he having shot himself through the head. He left about 30 letters on his table addressed to members of his family, his wife being at Seabright N. J., and others. In one to the consul-general he said he intended to kill himself, but did not describe them. They were probably of a financial nature, as he had been living beyond his means and speculating in Wall street. He was 52 years old.

AFTER MANY DAYS. Some workmen digging gravel in the vicinity of the Cincinnati Southern Railroad Depot in Cincinnati, discovered the body of a woman, who was lost there last February at the time the flood swept away a portion of the depot.

HEAVY FAILURE. Chas. W. Copeland & Co., shoe manufacturers of Boston, have failed to the amount of $750,000. The failure is said to be due to the sudden pressure of several large obligations, and the firm, in justice to its creditors, decided to suspend operations until an understanding can be arrived at.

AN INHUMAN PARENT. A young man named William Pratt, 22 years old, died recently at Morey, Iowa. He was formerly a brakeman on the Illinois Central Railway, and was injured about eight months ago. He was taken to his father's residence, and the latter inhumanly turned the injured lad into the street, from whence he was removed to the hospital. The unnatural father, although in good circumstances, refused to pay one cent of the funeral expenses, or even to allow the body to repose in the family tomb at Linward. Money to defray the cost of burial was contributed by the railroad boys.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

Imprecations are loud and deep against the parent. SIX MEN KILLED. Two Troy and Boston freight trains collided the other morning at Frowl, Vt. The locomotives and trains were wrecked. It is reported six men were killed. The names of the six persons killed are Mark Southerland and Charles Martin, engineers of Troy; John Barrett, conductor of Troy; H. H. Bruce, operator of the Troy & Greenfield Railroad State line. Johnson, night operator at Petersburg Junction, is blamed for the collision. He had been given orders to hold one train at the junction and neglected to transfer his instructions to the day operator, who in his ignorance allowed the train to pass.

LOUISVILLE'S GALA DAY. Never in the history of the city, did Louisville experience such a thrill of excitement and pleasure as on the first of August, when the great exposition was opened. President Arthur opened the exposition in an appropriate speech. Other dignitaries were present, and if the boom given the exposition on its opening day means anything, the success of the enterprise is assured.

A SAD SUICIDE. Mrs. Geo. Reisser, of Indianapolis, Ind., committed suicide a few days ago by jumping from the window in the second story of her residence. She had been insane upon religious subjects for some time, and had been confined in the asylum. One form of her mania was that but half of the world would be saved, and that she was directly accountable to the Lord because the other half was lost.

A DEFAULTER PARDONED. Gov. Blackburn of Kentucky, has pardoned Dan Ferguson, the defaulting tax collector of Louisville, Ky. His deficit was over $20,000, and he has only been in prison since last February. This action of the governor causes great indignation.

POLITICAL.

BINGHAM DROPPED OUT. In the thirty-eighth joint ballot for United States Senator July 31, Pike gained fifteen over Friday's vote, Burns twelve and Marston two. Chandler lost fifteen and Tappen two.

KEYSTONE DEMOCRATS. The Democrat State Convention of Pennsylvania, in session a few days ago at Harrisburg, nominated Joseph Powell for state treasurer and Robert Taggart for auditor-general.

NO CHANGE is apparent in the New Hampshire senatorial contest. The vote taken August 1st, gave Pike a gain of nine, and Chandler lost nine.

MINNESOTA'S Democratic state convention was held in St. Paul the other day. W. W. McNair was nominated for Governor over Burham. The only other candidate, on the first ballot. The only contestant worthy of mention was on Governor. Lieutenant-Governor--R. L. Frazer. Secretary of State--J. J. Hyrum. State Treasurer--Juo. Ludwig. Attorney-General--J. W. Wilds. Railroad Commissioner--P. L. Indolm. Anti-prohibition resolutions were passed. The platform declares for a tariff for revenue only, and calls for a revision of the patent laws.

PIKE'S PRIZE. On the 42 joint ballot taken in the New Hampshire legislature, Austin F. Pike was elected United States Senator for six years from March 4, 1882. The election of Pike gives universal satisfaction.

CRIME.

DOUBLE TRAGEDY. George Shepard and wife were found dead in bed in a furnished room in Twenty-second street, New York City, both shot through the head. It is supposed to be a case of murder and suicide. The man was about 30 years of age, his wife 35. The motive for the tragedy is not known. Shepard was a shipping clerk with the firm of Herring & Co., safe manufacturers. His father is a clergyman, Rev. P. L. Shepard, and is the head of a large school in Saybrook, Can. A letter addressed to him by his son, and written ten days ago, declared the purpose of himself and wife Kittle to die together, and added that they were buried in one grave. The letter states that they had been secretly married and had been very happy together, but that death seemed pleasant to them. The police had been informed that there was some opposition in Shepard's home to his marriage and that this is at the bottom of the tragedy. To his best friends Shepard's marriage was unknown.

GROSS CARELESSNESS. A suspicious case of poisoning is reported from Williamsburg County, S. C. A young man named Cox was employed as a clerk by a merchant named Foxworth. Cox was troubled with chills and fever for which he was using quinine. Foxworth purchased a small quantity of strychnine to poison rats, wrapped it up in white paper without labelling it and placed it in a vase in which Cox had previously placed several quinine powders wrapped in the same kind of paper. When Cox came in he took the strychnine from the vase thinking it was quinine and swallowed it. The next minute he cried out, "My God, am I poisoned!" And before the physician who was summoned reached him he was dead. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that his death was caused by the gross carelessness of his employer.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

INFORMER CAREY SHOT. Intelligence has been received from South Africa that James Carey, the informer in the Phoenix Park murder trials, was shot while enroute from Cape Town to Port Elizabeth. The deed was committed by a fellow-passenger named O'Donnell, who had followed Carey from the time he left Dublin. Carey was traveling with his family under the name of Power. The news of his death caused great rejoicing throughout Ireland, and meetings were held in several places to express the satisfaction experienced by all.

CAREY'S DEATH. O'Donnell, who shot James Carey, the informer, was accompanied from England by his wife, who appeared to be on intimate terms with the Carey family during the voyage. The Times pronounced the death of Carey a public misfortune, and says he has been the instrument of justice. The joy caused in Ireland by the informer's death is proof that many elements of danger still exist there.

IRISH LANDLORDS COMPLAIN. A statement signed by Lord Dunraven and other landlords of Ireland has been sent to Gladstone pointing out the losses of rent and depreciation in the value of land that has taken place in consequence of the passage of the Land act, and suggesting that the state aid in the shape of a loan for the relief of land owners.

FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA. Dry hot weather continues in Victoria, B. C. There has been no rain for three months. Forest fires are raging everywhere, and the air from forest fires ignited powder in Ouderdonk's mill near Yale, which blew up. Every pane of glass in the town of Yale was broken. No one was killed, but several were badly hurt. Three hundred and sixty cases of giant powder and ten cases of black powder exploded. Loss heavy.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 3, the deaths from cholera in Egypt numbered 702, including 196 at Cairo. It is now believed that the disease is less virulent. The weather is extremely hot, the average temperature being 106 degrees. Alexandria seems to be doomed, as the whole cordon from El Farzch to Rosetta is infixed.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

During the twenty-four hours ending July 23, 463 deaths from cholera occurred at Cairo, Mansourah, 117 at Chirbin, 43 at Mehallah, 38 at Ghizeh and 7 at Chohar. The disease has broken out among the British troops stationed at Suez, several of whom have died. At Cairo it is impossible to walk 100 yards without meeting a coffin or an ambulance.

THE DEATH ROLL. Continues to increase in members, 871 being the number reported for the 24 hours ending July 25.

ON JULY TWENTY-SIX there were 423 deaths in Cairo, at Damietta, 5 Tanta, 28; Mehallah, 25; Chohar, 6; Samonod, 7; Mehallah, 56; Zifich, 21; Mansourah, 12; Ghizeh, 55; Menxaleh, 1.

NO CHANGE. There is no change in affairs in Egypt, the death rate still reaching into the hundreds. The statement that the Khedive had the cholera is denied.

THE DEATH ROLL. For July 28 foot up as follows: Cairo, 277; Chirbin, 105; Tanta, 8; Ismatia, 3. Several cases of the scourge were reported at Alexandria on that day, of which two proved fatal.

ON JULY 29. Almost 800 persons died on this date in the different cities and villages of Egypt.

A LITTLE MORE CHEERFUL. The commander of the British forces at Cairo telegraphs to the War Office that the general health of the troops is good. He says the cholera is less virulent at Cairo, and that the cases under treatment are more hopeful. The death rate on July 31 was about the same, 275 victims being reported from Cairo, and in other cities, exclusive of those at Cairo, 429. Seventeen deaths occurred at Rosetta and eight at Alexandria.

BRITISH TROOPS SUFFER. Twelve deaths occurred from cholera among British troops in Egypt on the 1st. The disease is spreading among the Sussex regiment at Ismailia, where twenty men, including the captain and doctor, died within three days. At Cairo 320 deaths occurred on the 1st and at other places, including 27 at Rosetta, 65.

THE DEATH ROLL. The death roll from cholera was as follows: Eight hundred and eighty-seven in Egypt, including 273 at Cairo, three being in other British troops. Twelve English doctors arrived at Alexandria on their way to Cairo. The total number of deaths since the first outbreak of the disease is 11,000.

THE AVENGER COMMITTED FOR TRIAL. O'Donnell, who killed Carey, the informer, has been committed for trial on the charge of willful murder. In the ordinary course of events he will be tried at Port Elizabeth, assisted in October. At the final examination of O'Donnell a box was produced belonging to the prisoner, labelled Cape Town, and containing a wood cut of Carey, and a paper of American citizenship, dated Toronto, November, 1876. Carey's son was recalled and denied that Kelley, the Irish passenger on the steamer Kafirah's Castle, was identical with Kavanagh. He testified that his father was smiling and talking to O'Donnell when he (witness) saw the latter draw a revolver and fire one shot. He (witness) then ran to fetch his father's revolver. His mother was holding his father when the third shot was fired. O'Donnell declared that Carey first drew a revolver which he (O'Donnell) seized and fired at Carey in self-defense. He described himself as Patrick O'Donnell, aged 45, a native of Goodson, County Donegal.

JEW'S ACQUITTED. The trial of ten Jews at Nyreghanga, Hungary, charged with the murder of Esther Soly mosi, a Christian girl, in the synagogue at Tisza-Esslar in order to procure her blood to mix in passover bread, has been concluded. A verdict of not guilty was returned. The state was taxed with the costs of the trial. The public prosecutor announced himself satisfied with the result of the trial. The counsel for Esther's relatives will appeal.

BITS OF NEWS. Thirty-five out of seventy miners were killed by a mine explosion in Cattanietta, Sicily.

Ohio's wheat crop this year is nearly 241,000,000 bushels--53 per cent. of last year's crop.

The professional swimmers of London England, are raising a fund for the widow of Capt. Webb, who lost his life in an attempt to swim the rapids of Niagara river.

The German senate has issued an order prohibiting any vessel from America unloading pork in any form, until the actual amount of such pork has been sworn to.

Montana pays $24 for every bear's scalp.

The decrease in the public debt during the month of July was $7,000,690.

The internal revenue receipts for the month of July was $9,278,535.

Carey's murderer, O'Donnell, is an Ohio man.

Nine soldiers have been expelled from the Soldiers' Home in Dayton, O., for violating the rules of the institution.

The coinage of the mints for July was $3,738,800, of which $2,425,000 were standard dollars.

Massey, the English poet, is coming to America soon.

Another salt vein has been struck at Genesee, N. Y., at a depth of 900 feet. The crystal is the finest yet discovered.

Prof. Brewer, in charge of the cereal products in the last census, says in his report that over 85 per cent. of the grain produced in the United States is grown upon farms which are occupied and managed by their owners.

The late Montgomery Blair was the father of the free delivery system in the postoffice department.

There is no foot and mouth disease in the United States, excepting as it has been imported from Great Britain. Whence this kicking?

Blind Tom is said to have lost what little mind he ever had, through his growing mania for piano playing, and is little more than a muttering and grinning idiot. He plays several hours daily in Steinway hall, New York. Over $1,000,000 has been expended on Charleston, S. C., harbor, and the work is still incomplete.

There seems to be a constant decay of all our ideas; even of those which are struck deepest, and in minds the most retentive, so that if they be not sometimes renewed by repeated exercise of the senses, or reflection on those kind of objects which at first occasioned them, the print wears out, and at last there remains nothing to be seen--Locke.

We defy augury; there is a special providence in the fall of a sparrow. It is now, 'tis not to come; if it be not to come, it will be now; if it be not now, yet it will come; the readiness is all--Shakespeare.

Any one must be mainly ignorant or thoughtless who is surprised at everything he sees; or wonderfully conceited who expects everything to conform to his standard of propriety.--Hazlitt

LIKE HIS COAT. How much a man is like his coat; He's often button-holed to vote. He rips and tears when he is mad; And goes on tears when he is bad. From whole cloth all his tails are made; When he gets fits he is half frayed. He's darned and basted by his wife. Who sometimes cuts his thread of life. He's often short of cash-mere, and, If cuffed, he shows his choier grand. When he's worn out he wants a nap. And sometimes he's not worth a wrap. He needs much mending of his ways; His sewing's more than e'er he pays. He oft has stitches in his side. And when he's sold his wool is dyed. He is bound over, too, to keep The piece which makes him feel so sheep. A man who gets the sack will take His sleeve at once. Nine tailors make A man. One makes his coat, but none Can make him pay unless it's dunn. -Detroit Free Press.

Montpelier, the historic home of James Madison in Orange County, Virginia, has been fully restored to its former beauty by its present Baltimore owners. The estate is beautifully situated, fronting entirely on the Midland railroad, and contains 1,065 acres in a high state of cultivation. The old mansion, one of the finest in the South, is 160 feet long, with an average width of 45 feet. It is two stories above a basement, which is entirely above ground, and is in an exceptional state of preservation for such an old building. During the past four months a large force of Baltimore artisans and mechanics have been engaged in its restoration. -N. Y. Tribune.

Since the introduction of spelling matches, many words have come prominently into notice - words that were previously comparatively unknown. For instance we find Antiseptic, meaning: preventing and stopping all fermentation and decomposition, and Analgesic: Painkiller. Then there is Antipyretic: cooling down inflammation and fever heat. These three words so often mis-spelled, are three of the cardinal virtues of something that will cure many a bad spell, and that is Salicylicia, pronounced Sal-i-cyl-i-ca. Warranted to afford immediate relief, and guaranteed to cure Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia.

Daughters, Wives and Mothers. We emphatically guarantee Dr. M... chist's Catholicon, a Female Remedy, to cure Female Diseases, such as Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Palpitation and Displacements or bearing down feeling, Irregularities, Barrenness, Change of Life, Leucorrhoea, besides many weaknesses springing from the above, like Headache, Bloating, Spinal weakness, Sleeplessness, Nervous debility, Palpitation of the heart, &c. No Cure, No Pay. For sale by Druggists. Prices $1.00 and $1.50 per Bottle. Send to Dr. J. B. Marchesi, Utica, N. Y., for Pamphlet, free. For sale by R. B. Armstrong, Druggist.
