On Sunday last we had the pleasure of witnessing the dedication of the German Lutheran church at Bridgewater Station.

Although the edifice is large and roomy, it was filled to overflowing a few minutes after the opening of the doors, many not finding standing room. Rev. Mr. Belser, of Ann Arbor, delivered the dedication sermon which was very fitting to the occasion and attentively listened to by all.

In the afternoon Rev. Mr. Lederer, of Saline, delivered an interesting and instructive sermon to a crowded house. A very pleasant part of the ceremony was the singing by the choir, of Dundee. The church is a credit to the congregation and an honor to the builder, Mr. Koller, of Monroe.

For nearly fifty years the people of the United States have been horrified, startled and perplexed by the audacity and success of a sect calling themselves "Mormons, or Latter-Day Saints." Though founded in fraud, this sect has succeeded in spite of all opposition, until to-day Mormonism in Utah presents a problem which is the puzzle of statesmen and despair of moral reformers.

We see gathered there the diseased and fanatical minds of the whole world, with enough of scheming knives to mould them to crime and disloyalty, enough of hardened villains to commit the most heinous crimes, and yet enough of deluded but industrious converts to sustain the Mormon leaders in luxury by unrequited toil. It was supposed that the death of Brigham Young would be the end of this monstrous system of hate and crime; but another has taken his place and the work goes bravely on.

At present the demand for a work exposing the secret rites and mysteries of this strange sect is greatly increased by the determination of the General Assembly to put in force active measures against these themselves Saints, have violated every law against God and man. The great political parties of the Union have solemnly pledged themselves to the people, that this shameful blot upon the American name shall be removed at the earliest practicable day, and it becomes therefore the duty of all good citizens to inform themselves concerning this great evil, that they may render an intelligent as well as active support to the Government in its efforts to enforce its laws and uphold its dignity.

There are many Michigan people who contemplate investing in orange lands or groves at Altamont this fall when the Florida excursion reaches there. The Altamont Real Estate Agency (all well-known Michigan men), will have for sale, not only their own lands, but desirable property of all kinds at owner's prices. Messrs. E. H. Glover, of Jackson, and L. D. Whitney, of Chelsea, start for Altamont at once to prepare for the excursion. Mr. B. S. Ashley, of Jackson, will take charge of the excursion. These gentlemen will be ready to show our folks anything they may wish in the real estate line. All property at or near Altamont has advanced 100 per cent. in the last year, and competent judges say the rise has but fairly begun. As a safe and profitable investment good orange property can not be equalled in this country. Mr. Ashley will give full information desired in regard to the excursion if parties interested will write him.

TOPICS OF THE TIME.

The fact that the consumption of cotton by Southern mills has more than doubled within four years is alarming to New England but gratifying to the South.

There are only six distilleries of rum in the country and all six are in Massachusetts. Of nearly half a million gallons of rum exported last year the greater part went to Africa.

The real meaning of this life to some men is clearly set forth in the following extract from a well-known Illinois educator: "The average western farmer toils hard, early and late, often depriving himself of needed rest and sleep— for what? To raise corn. For what? To feed hogs. For what? To get money with which to buy more land.

The Chicago Tribune makes some significant statements which show that education in the South is in a deplorable condition. "Thirty per cent of the white people," it says, "and 70 per cent of the blacks in the South are illiterate."

The main purpose of education is not to promote success in life, but to raise the standard of life itself; and this object can be attained only by those higher studies which call forth the powers of reason, moral feeling, and artistic taste.

SEWING, cutting and fitting are taught in all the girls' primary schools in France, and the programme for the higher primaries includes household industry and some of the trades particularly adapted to women.

the right to vote was overwhelmingly defeated, receiving only three votes out of a convention of about one hundred and twenty. Afterwards, however, a section was adopted granting to women having the qualifications of age, residence, etc., prescribed for male voters, the right to vote at any election held solely for school purposes, and to hold any office relating to schools.

The Foreign Exhibition Association of Boston publishes what is presumably a fac-simile copy in paper and typography of the Treaty of Paris, which recognized the independence of the United States, known formerly as the "Definite treaty of Peace between the United States of America and his Britannic Majesty." It opens in the name of "the Most Holy and undivided Trinity," and lays down the terms of peace in the usual stilted phraseology of diplomacy.

A GENTLEMAN from Baltimore who is visiting the picturesque town of Deal, in England, says that a United States Consul is badly needed in that place. "Deal," he says, "is the healthiest place on the coast of England, as it certainly is the cleanest. It is faced by an esplanade which reaches the whole length of the town, with the single beach in front, where groups of people swarm all day.

The Rev. Garvey Bradsted is the name of a Methodist preacher who is pastor of a church in Egypt, N. J. Concerning him the Philadelphia Record publishes a strange story which would indicate that too much brooding upon prophecies has unsettled his mind. Three weeks ago he amazed his congregation by the announcement that on Saturday, September 8, he would die a natural death, and join his dead brother in heaven.

The Latest Crank.

St. Ignace is agitating the question of water works. The war against liquor men is still being waged in East Tawas. Prof. W. H. Payne of the University, and Prof. J. Estabrook, of Olivet college, are engaged in preparing a series of three English readers. The illustrations are by Miss Isabella Stewart, daughter of Dr. Moses Stewart of Detroit.

A daring piece of highway robbery, which nearly resulted in cold blooded murder, occurred at Vassar. John Ward, a farmer from near Gageton, Tuscola county, had been employed at Alpena for some time, and started for home in company with one Charles Elliot, a sailor from Bay City. They reached Vassar, and together spent the time in drinking until evening, when Elliot decoyed Ward into a back street, and there dealt several blows over his head with some weapon cutting it in a frightful manner.

Their relations have been kept up until the death of Colter. Upon the second marriage an excitement broke out afresh and culminated in a complaint by four citizens of Danby for a warrant to exhum the body for a post-mortem. A jury was summoned by the attorney and Sheriff, jury and justice went to the burial ground and found a crowd of fifty or sixty people, but no expert or embalmer. For this reason and because the body was filled with embalming fluid by the undertaker the inquest was adjourned to the 10th of October. In the meantime the prosecuting attorney will have an analysis of the embalming fluid made, and take other steps to ascertain the facts. The further prosecution of this preliminary investigation upon the death of Colter, the sense of the community is that Colter died of Bright's disease, and that the investigators in the present inquiry have been altogether hot headed.

Black War at Kalamazoo.

A hack war has broken out at Kalamazoo which promises to last some time. There was an opening of hostilities last season, but a compromise was effected and a peace patched up, but now it is war to the knife, and the knife is the hit. Five years ago an Irish jaunting car made its appearance, carrying passengers of all parts of the town for ten cents. This was followed in a little while by other one-horse vehicles, and so the number multiplied, and now there are a score or more and all of them seem to be kept going. Lately they have contested with the hacks the conveying of passengers to and from the cars, and the hacks have declared war and have put on a large number of vehicles and will probably reduce the prices of hack hire and of the cab fare. While they fight the traveling public flourishes.

What Hygiene did for Scurvy.

The inquiry into the causes of scurvy was another step in advance, of the most signal importance. No one of the ravages that terrible disease produced. All long voyages were imperiled by it while the very existence of England depended upon her fleet, which had frequently to return to port absolutely crippled with scurvy, in some cases as many as ten thousand men being landed from the Channel fleet helpless. Although so far back as the seventeenth century the efficacy of fruits and fresh vegetables as preventives had been surmised if not actually noted, it is really to the renowned Captain Cook that the credit is mainly due of having established this important fact. That eminent navigator never lost an opportunity of taking on board fruits and fresh vegetables whenever he could, and the result was that he was able to bring home from lengthened voyages crews in almost perfect health and condition; a thing never before known. It took many years, however, to impress this fact sufficiently upon the authorities, and it was not until 1796 that the medical officers of the navy (among whom was the renowned Sir Gilbert Blane) obtained the regulation ordering lime-juice to be supplied to our seaman. The effect was magical; scurvy lost its terrors, and it may be that the supremacy of England at sea during the Napoleonic wars was in part owing to the improved condition of her seaman during that gigantic struggle. We have still a monument of the extent of the disease in the immense naval hospital of Haslar, the largest in this country, which was built of such dimensions mainly to admit the extraordinary number of scurvy patients which were being continually landed from our fleets. We have not yet got entirely rid of this enemy, but I think we know now how to combat it, in spite of heretical opinions which find expression from time to time.—Dr. De Chaumont in Popular Science Monthly for September.

No Options in China.

There is no such thing in China as buying and selling futures. Two or three years ago the chief official of a province heard Americans raked in showers of ducats in this manner, and he used the funds of the government to speculate on the outcome of the opium yield. He sold short and was busted all to shingles, and soon found himself in the presence of the chief Whang-doodle of the Flowery kingdom.

How Hop, you are a defaulter!

And he was taken out and his paper collar torn off without regard to his ears, and a Chinese Sullivan walked up to him and spit on his hands, and clutched a sharp sword and whacked his head off as slick as molasses running down the outside of a jug. Since that little episode no Chinaman wants any "future" in his. If he knew that the country was certain to raise 500,000,000 bushels of turnips he wouldn't dare sell for November delivery at $10 per bushel.—Wall Street News.

Suspected Murder in Danby.

The Township of Danby, Ionia county, is all torn up over a suspected poisoning case. On June 21 John Colter of that township, died a long illness. His case was diagnosed and treated for as Bright's disease. There was a flutter of suspicion of foul play, but nothing more. Things had got quieted down, and would undoubtedly have remained so had not the widow in scarcely three months married again. It is now charged that the second husband, Clephus DeCamp, had for some time previous to the death of Colter been on terms too intimate with Mrs. Colter to be consistent with inno-

DR. JEX'S PREDICAMENT.

It was the funniest thing that I ever saw in my life. Grukshank would illustrate that scene with the dried vigor that only his dancing could give.

It was in Kentucky that it happened—a pleasant land of blue grass and tobacco, and fine stock, and white-teethed horses.

Mabel my sister, had married Uncle Brimmer, and they had begun to live in great contentment, and a little roomed house scarcely big enough to hold the bridal presents.

But they were happy, hearty, healthy. They had ice cream every day, a charming baby, and Uncle Brimmer. Who said that their cup was not full?

But I haven't any place for you, Uncle Brimmer," said Mabel, divided between hospitality and embarrassment.

"Lor, honey, you kin jes tuck me anywhere. I don't take up no room," said he submissively.

Mabel looked thoughtfully upon the brown, gray-whiskered old negro, whose proportions were those of a Hercules, and shook her head.

"No, ma'am," said he submissively. "I've got his spirit. Couldn't I get in the kitchen, honey?"

Tommy Moore. But, bless me! he was as pompous and self important as though he had found the place to stand on, and could move the world with his little lever.

He held out his hand, with "good-morning, Mrs. Hucklestone. I hope the baby has not had an attack."

"Oh, no," she cried; "its Uncle Brimmer." The doctor offered to see him at once. Mabel got up to lead the way.

"I am afraid, doctor, it will be a little awkward," faltered Mabel; "Uncle Brimmer is up there," and she waved her lily hand.

"An' you'll have ter clime de ladder," put in Nanky Pal, with a disrespectful chuckle. "I thought the little doctor gasped; but he recovered himself gallantly, and said:

"As a boy I have climbed trees, and think I can ascend a ladder as a man," and he smiled heroically.

We watched him. He was encumbered by the saddle-bags, but he managed very well, and had nearly reached the top, when suddenly Uncle Brimmer's heel and shoulders protruded giving him the look of a snail half out of its shell.

"Here's my pulse, doctor," he cried, blandly extending his bared arm. "Tain't no place for you up here. An' here's my tongue." Then out went his tongue for Dr. Jex's inspection.

"Good gracious!" exclaimed Mabel; "what is that?" Nanky Pal sprang up, with distended eyes, almost letting the baby fall.

It was not far to the tobacco field, and in an incredible short time Brother John came riding in, followed by half a dozen stout negroes.

Gone was the glory of Dr. Trattles Jex. His coat was torn, his knees grimy, his hands scratched, and he looked—yes—as if he had been crying.

"Can you ever forgive us?" said Mabel, piteously. She hovered about him like a mother. She made him drink two glasses of wine; she mended his coat; she asked him if he would not like to kiss the baby.

Uncle Brimmer got well, and went in to see the doctor. He returned with a new cravat, a cane, and several small articles of attire, from which we inferred that in those trying moments when he supported the suspended doctor, that little gentleman had offered many inducements for him to hold fast.

"It is but a short time, I know," said General Withers, "since people have begun to be convinced that the trotter was not merely a happy accident, and could be bred at all, but look at the uniform improvement in the record since scientific breeding began:

Lady Suffolk, one mile 1:49. 2:23
Flora Temple " 1:59. 2:19 1/2
Dexter " 1:57. 2:17 1/2
Goldsmith Maid " 1:54. 2:14
Rarus " 1:53. 2:13 1/2
St. Julien " 1:50. 2:11 1/2
Mauds, " 1:51. 2:10 1/2

Failures are frequent, of course, but nothing is more certain now than that trotters are begotten by trotters. As any thoroughbred can beat any common horse at the run, so that it is not even necessary to have a trial to be sure of it, we expect to arrive at the same accuracy with the trotting horse.

The blue-grass country is reached by traversing central Virginia and Kentucky along the line of the picturesque Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, unless, indeed, one prefers the swift and solid Pennsylvania route to Cincinnati, and drops down to it from the north.

When are you going to make me that pair of boots I ordered?" asked Gus DeSmith of his shoemaker. "When you pay me for the last pair I made you." "Whew! I can't wait so long as that; I must trade somewhere else."

Italian Doctors.

The October Century contains some amusing experiences of "A Foreigner in Florence," who says of Italian doctors: "Physicians have, like judges of the criminal courts, no social position and no knowledge of medicine, according to our ideas.

There is one malady prevalent in Italy which I sincerely believe to be produced, nine times out of ten, by their doctors, and that is miliary fever. Unless a patient's symptoms in the beginning of an illness indicate the disease very clearly, the doctor, on the principle of 'when in doubt play trumps,' pronounces it 'miliary'; but there being no eruption, which is an evidence of that disease, they regard it as suppressed, and so, very dangerous.

A friend of mine, spending a few weeks in Florence, was taken ill, with what proved afterward to be an internal cancer. She sent for Doctor Z—, one of the most noted of the Florentine doctors. It was August and very hot, and his orders were not only to shut out the air and cover herself with blankets, but to remain entirely immovable—not to stir hand or foot.

"Open the window," he almost shouted; "take off those coverings; get right up, and lie on the sofa. In a week you will be able to go to Paris.

"The Italians love medicine, and have the greatest faith in it. They take it not only for every little ailment, but after a fit of anger or grief."

Sermons of the Future.

Talmage, the Brooklyn divine, spoke upon "The Coming Sermon" on a recent Sunday. He said: "The sermon of to-day doesn't reach the world," he said. "Not a tenth part even of those who attend church are helped or injured by what they hear.

There will be a thousand gleaming centers to charge on it. People don't go to church because the sermons are not interesting—some one might as well tell the truth. Yet, if a minister does this the old school preachers cry 'Tut, tut! Sensational! It will be an awakening sermon, and from alter-rail to front doorstep the audience will get up and start for Heaven. It will contain many staccato passages. It will be an everyday sermon, and teach men how to vote, bargain, hold the plough, wield the pen, pencil and yardstick. It will be a reported sermon. The printing-press will be the great agency of Gospel proclamation. It is high time good men should invite instead of denouncing the press. I can't understand the nervousness of some preachers at the sight of a newspaper man. The time will come when the village and city newspaper will reproduce the Sunday sermons.

Southern Industries.

The industrial progress of the South is no less remarkable than the rapid development of the Northwest. A study of the facts, as presented in trustworthy tables of statistics, excites wonder.

In 1860 the value of manufactured products in the sixteen Southern States was $181,994,154, while in 1880 it amounted to $442,831,031—an increase of $260,836,877, or 143 per cent. The increase averaged over 71 per cent for each decade. During the past four years especially, the material growth of that prosperous section has been surprising.

Longfellow's Mission.

Leading features of the October Century are an admirable frontispiece of Longfellow, and E. C. Stedman's essay, which opens with this summary of Longfellow's mission: "Our poet of grace and sentiment left us in the afterglow of an almost ideal career. He had lived at the right time, and with the gift of years; and he died before the years came for him to say, I have no pleasure in them. Not all the daughters of Music were brought low. He scarcely could have realized that people were calling his work elementary, that men whose originality had isolated them, like Emerson and Browning, and even metrical experts, the inventors of new modes,—were gaining favor with a public which had somewhat outgrown him; that he was to be slighted for the very qualities which had made him beloved and famous, or that other qualities too long needed, were to be overvalued as if partly for the need's sake.

"But they are wrong, it seems to me, who now make light of Longfellow's service as an American poet. His admirers may form no longer a critical majority, yet he surely helped to quicken the New World sense of beauty, and to lead a movement second only to that which begets a national school. I think that the poet himself, reading his own sweet songs, felt the apostolic nature of his mission,—that it was religious, in the etymological sense of the word, the binding back of America to the Old World taste and imagination."

Martin Luther's Influence To-Day.

Professor Fisher, of Yale, who writes in the October Century of "Martin Luther, after Four Hundred Years," says of the strength of his influence in our day: "Now that the period of Protestant Scholasticism that followed the first age of the Reformation is passing away, the spirit of Luther, even as a Biblical critic, whatever may be thought of the soundness of particular utterances of his, is more justly appreciated. He stands in closer sympathy with the Church of to-day, in its efforts to recognize and define the human as well as divine factor in the books of the Bible, than do the array of Protestant theologians in the century or two that followed him, whose orthodoxy was largely molded by the polemical interest, especially by antagonism to the creed of Trent."

There is one effect the completion of the Northern Pacific will have that has not been dwelt upon to any great extent. It is the redoubled need of improvement by government of the navigable waters of Washington and Oregon. The Williamette especially demands work at once to clear it of bars and allow ocean steamers a fair channel even as far as Portland. It is estimated that $350,000 is needed for this purpose alone. Other navigable streams will require aid equally important when the tide of transportation once gets in full motion eastward over the new road.

HOW WATCHES ARE MADE

In a SOLID GOLD WATCH, aside from the necessary thickness for engraving and polishing, a large proportion of metal is needed only to stiffen and hold the engraved portions in place, and supply strength. The surplus gold is actually needless. In James Boss' Patent Gold Watch Cases this waste is saved, and SOLIDITY and STRENGTH increased by a simple process, at one-half the cost. A plate of SOLID GOLD is soldered on each side of a plate of hard nickel composition metal, and the three are then passed between polished steel rollers. From this the cases, backs, centers, bezels, etc., are cut and shaped by dies and formers. The gold is thick enough to admit of all kinds of chasing, engraving and engine turning. These cases have been worn perfectly smooth by use without removing the gold. This is the only case made under this process. Each case is accompanied with a valid guarantee signed by the manufacturers warranting it to wear 20 years. 150,000 of these Cases now carried in the United States and Canada. The Bone Business.

The question is often asked what is done with the heaps and collections of bones that are daily carted away from our back yards and alleys. Whether to be crushed in the maw of some huge machine, or to be dried and bleached and split and sliced for the manufacture of buttons, knife handles, and an innumerable host of sundry articles, or to what other possible or impossible purpose, is only a matter of conjecture in the minds of the many. Certain it is that the "grimy-visaged" bone-hunter and his sad-looking, slow-going nag, which ever seems to order its ways as though aware that its own mortal framework might ere long be dumped into the smoky, rank-smelling cart behind it, and the out-remained load to be carted away to its mysterious rendezvous, are a patent, every-day fact.

The bone-curing profession, though, perhaps, not so ancient or so renowned as that of either law or medicine, is rapidly coming to the fore as a distinct and recognized avocation. It is a striking and salient example of the genius of civilization, that the humblest and most unlikely materials—the very dust of our bodies, yea, even "old bones," are turned to account and made to do duty for the good of the race.

The business can properly be said to be one of the industries of Toronto, having a full quota of its own peculiar craftsmen. The number in the city who are actually engaged in bone-gathering can only be a matter of conjecture, as numbers of irregular or temporary gatherers are in the business, while the regular bone-man's field of labor is "far from the madding crowd's ignoble strife," in the seclusion of a back alley or a lonely dumping ground, while his labors are often "under the cover of darkness." It is estimated that some two or three hundred individuals in the city are either wholly or partially engaged in gathering, handing, exporting, or manufacturing them into staples of commerce. The business of collecting them is principally in the hands of some ten or fifteen junk or marine shops scattered through the city, who generally get them for what they like to pay for them, and deliver them over to the large importers and manufacturers, generally at a trade price which at present ranges about sixty cents per hundredweight. What are retained for use by a principal Toronto firm are manufactured into two very valuable fertilizing agents—viz., bone dust and superphosphate of lime. The processes of the manufacturer of both are quite simple, the former being obtained by crushing the bones in a large, heavy machine adapted for the purpose, and putting them through a drying process, while superphosphate of lime is manufactured by first crushing the bones, then breaking them down by treatment with sulphuric acid.

"Is there much of a demand for these fertilizers through the country?" inquired a reporter of a dealer in the bone business the other day.

"Well, no, the demand has always been small, and there does not seem to be much prospect of its increasing at present. At no time since the manufacture has been started in Canada, and I am the pioneer of it, has there been a tendency to a boom in the business. There has always been a small but steady demand."

"How would you compare them with ordinary manure?"

"I should judge that one ton of bone dust contains an amount of phosphoric acid equal to that contained in one hundred loads of manure. The trouble is, however, that Ontario farmers as a rule do not seem to appreciate high fertilizers, while many of them ignore altogether the use of manure on their lands. It is altogether different in the well cultivated districts in the old country, where the fertilizing of the land is made a regular science."

"I suppose you ship off a considerable quantity of bones to the States and other markets?"

"Yes; a large quantity of what are gathered in the city, as well as through the country, is sent to the other side for fertilizing purposes, and still more is shipped to Montreal, where it is largely used in the sugar refineries there. In the refineries it is by a certain process manufactured into animal charcoal, which is an essential property in imparting to refined sugar its white crisped appearance. You see what a useful commodity even dirty old bones are."

Florida vs. Minnesota.
When one carefully considers the wide difference of the conditions under which the farmer in the state of Florida pursues his calling as contrasted with the farmer in Minnesota, Iowa, or Wisconsin, it is impossible to overlook the great advantages which lie on the side of the tropical State. In the Northwestern States all the operations of the farmer are conducted on a large scale—his work covers wide acres, and is performed with the most efficient machinery that the genius of the inventor has been able to devise. He has a rich and retentive soil; he has transportation at his door—in fact he has every advantage which soil, machinery, and railroads afford, and yet to make any more than a bare subsistence he has to work early and late, and every man and work animal under him is urged to the utmost, to make the crops on which they all depend for their common support. Beside the food crops for man, the Northwestern farmer has to provide food for all his animals, be they many or few, for the space of seven months of the year. The month of November finds his pastures cut off by the frosts, and he cannot turn his stock out to feed until June, so that his barn must contain sufficient grain, hay and roots to feed his faithful servants of the harness for this long period of each recurring year. His corn cannot safely be planted earlier than the middle of June, and must be made in ninety days to escape injury from the early frosts of autumn; there is very small margin for the contingencies of bad weather poor seed or a late frost. Such a thing as making two crops from the same piece of land in one season is almost impossible. Yet by skill, untiring industry, and by the use of many labor saving devices at his command the Northwestern farmer makes enough to support himself and all that are his, and in addition thereto grows a large share of food for the dense population of the mother country after supplying the 50,000,000 at home.

Now, suppose this Northern farmer should bring his capital to Florida, should use the same amount of skill, practice the same untiring industry in pursuing his calling, does anyone question the success which would attend his efforts here? The absence of winter would take from his shoulders the heaviest tax he has to bear at the North, in the necessity of providing forage for his domestic animals for seven months of the year. Then, in Florida, the skillful farmer would make two, and even three crops on the same piece of land during the year, thus making ten acres equal thirty at the North. He can have fully as great a variety of products, though different in kind. In the absence of his dearly loved wheat comes in rice, which acre for acre, is the more valuable of the two. He can make as much corn to the acre here on our best lands as he can in Illinois. He can pursue all the operations of the farm in a climate that is free from the extremes of heat and cold, which he will have to encounter at the North, and at the year's end the "old stocking" will be heavier than he has been accustomed to find it at the North.

Therefore we advise farmers to come to Florida and live. She pays better wages, and entertains her guests, and maintains her sons in a more hospitable and even lavish manner than her Northern sisters can afford to do. Her "summer lasts all the year," and it is such a summer as can be found in no other part of the earth. Her position between two oceans is such as to give her climate all the modifying and invigorating effects produced by breezes coming across large bodies of water—never too hot, never too cold never too dry, and very seldom too wet.

The advantages which Florida possesses will become apparent to any man who shall carefully study all the conditions that go to make up the sum of human happiness, as dependent on the climate and the soil.—Fernandina Mirror.

In a Business Way.
"Mr. Smith, will you indorse my note of twenty dollars?"
"Why, I should expect to have to pay it if I did."
"Certainly—certainly."
"And so I might as well lend you twenty dollars."
"Exactly, you are quite correct."
"And I shouldn't expect you to ever pay it."
"Of course not; of course not."
"Then why didn't you ask me direct to give you twenty dollars?"
"Because, sir, I do business in a business way. I never borrow money of a man who will indorse for me, and I make all calculations on the indorser paying the note. It's the same thing in the end, but we arrive at it in a business way. I believe in making the horse draw the cart. You can't give me twenty dollars, sir, but if you will have the kindness to indorse a note for that amount, I will see that you are twenty dollars out of pocket."—Detroit Free Press.

—One who has returned from the Eastern fashionable summer resorts—an overworked merchant—reports: "Pleasant enough, all of them, health and real enjoyment now generally 'steer clear of those resorts where the idiotic fashionable most do congregate. He says he and his wife started out at the Thousand Islands, went to Saratoga, dropped in at Coney Island, Long Branch, Cape May, Atlantic City and Newport, and "found a good many fine people there, but no rest, no real comfort—nothing but fashionable tomfoolery."—Detroit Post.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

WASHINGTON.

A LIGHT SENTENCE. The verdict of the court-martial in the case of Second Lieut. Robertson, charged with duplicating his pay accounts, is not as severe as at first supposed. Instead of dismissal, the sentence is only suspension for a short period, not over a year.

ENGLAND IS EVIDENTLY JEALOUS. Consul General Merritt, at London, in a letter to the state department, says: The proposed commercial treaty between the United States and Mexico has naturally attracted great attention in England, both in business and government circles, and parliament is being constantly memorialized by commercial bodies to again open diplomatic relations with Mexico, so that English trade with that country may not be supplanted by the United States. The possibility of Mexico growing large quantities of coffee for the United States was recently referred to by a member of parliament as one of the probable results of the treaty which would act unfavorably to English trade interests.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION. Secretary Folger has just rendered an important decision with regard to the construction of section 7 of the Tariff law relating to packages and coverings of imported merchandise. He holds that the cost or value of the outside coverings into which goods are finally put for carriage is not to be taken as part or in addition to the value of the goods, nor the value of the goods to be considered as enhanced by reason of outside coverings having been put about them. The cost to the manufacturer and wholesale foreign dealer of the boxes, cartons and other things which are put within, or upon, or about the goods by him as part of his preparation of them for exposure to sale, is not to be inquired for as an arbitrary part of the market value, and that cost in exact amount added to the already ascertained market value of the goods as part of the dutiable value thereof. Though that cost may be an element in the evidence of what is the value of the goods, and may so far be considered the dutiable value of the goods, it is not to be the market value which they would have if they were offered for sale without that preparation. The dutiable value of goods is the actual market value or wholesale price thereof and the condition, finish and preparation for sale in which they are finally offered by foreign merchants to negotiating customers, and for which they will and do sell them, though that value or price be enhanced because of that finish or preparation, and though a part of that preparation consists in placing in or upon or about the goods, boxes, cartons, paper cards or other like things.

THE JEANNETTE VICTIMS. It is expected at the navy department that Lieut. Harber, who was sent to Siberia to assist in the Jeannette search, and who was afterwards ordered to bring to America the bodies of Lieut. DeLong, Dr. Ambler and Jerome Collins, will leave Irkutsk about November 1 next, and will reach the United States with the bodies some time in January.

GENIUS WORTHY A BETTER CAUSE. An ingenious method of raising the figures on the new postal notes has just been brought to the attention of the postoffice department. The fraud consists in punching from a high figure on the note a piece of paper of the proper shape and size to fill up the hole previously punched by the postmaster through a lower figure. The written words or figures are then removed by acids and the blanks filled in to correspond with the punched figures. Some notes have been changed so skillfully that it is very difficult to detect alterations.

POSTMASTERS' SALARIES. The readjustment of postmasters' salaries has been completed and the readjusted salaries went into effect October 1. By this change 2,176 postmasters' salaries are effected. Forty-four offices have been added to the list of presidential offices, making the total number of such offices on the first of October 2,175, the salaries of which amount to $3,750,000.

HOW THE SCOTT LAW OPERATES. The report of the auditor of state for Ohio, just completed, shows the collections under the Scott liquor tax law to be nearly $2,000,000 in the state, distributed in localities where collected to the police, poor, general revenue and township funds.

NO HOPE FOR THE CELESTIALS. Judge Field, in the United States Supreme Court, at San Francisco, sitting en banc, with Judge Sawyer, has rendered a final decision in respect to the rights claimed by Chinese born in Hong Kong to land in the United States. He rules that the fact of a Chinaman being born in Hong Kong does not constitute him a British subject. He enlarges on the fact that congress never intended to disregard the requirement of a treaty with a foreign government. An act of congress, he says, must be construed according to its manifest intent, and must be so enforced by the court. In respect to the Restriction act no consideration was deemed necessary to the position of other governments regarding the Chinese within their borders. Its object was to exclude Chinese laborers coming from any part of the world. It was known that Hong Kong would pour Chinese laborers into our country every year unless covered by the Restriction act. The act declares, in the first section—that from and after ninety days from the passage until the expiration of ten years, the coming of Chinese laborers to the United States, without any limitation of countries from which they might come, is suspended. During such suspension it should not be lawful for any Chinese laborer to come, or, having come, to remain in the United States. The twelfth section declares that any Chinese person found unlawfully within the United States shall be removed therefrom by the direction of the president of the country from whence he came, not necessarily to China, but the country he comes from. He concluded that all the provisions of the Restriction act will be consistent with each other, and that the full purport of the law to exclude Chinese laborers from the United States would be defeated by any other construction.

A BRAWN MAN'S DEATH. John Bull, engineer of the "Thunderbolt" passenger train on the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio Road, died at Akron, Ohio, from injuries sustained with the freight at Talmadge. He might have saved his life by jumping, but he thought of the passengers. He refused the engine, put on the air brakes, then put on full steam, started the engine ahead and broke loose from the cars. The passengers were unhurt. He lived at Gallon and was the oldest engineer on the road.

A PRISONER BURNED TO DEATH. The small jail in Ashville, O., was burned a few days ago, and one prisoner, name unknown, burned to death. He was an umbrella mender, and claimed to come from the Dayton Soldiers' Home. He had considerable money, and it is thought he was murdered and the building burned to conceal the crime.

CONVENTION OF COLORED MEN. The first day of the convention of colored men in Louisville, Ky., was devoted mainly to organization, and the selection of a permanent chairman, which honor was conferred upon the Hon. Fred Douglass. At the opening of the convention on the second day, Mr. Douglass, the Douglass of the colored race, delivered a most eloquent and interesting speech. He reviewed the history of the colored race since emancipation, often becoming sarcastically severe on the government, and particularly on the Republican party, which he said had not been faithful to its platform principles, and ought no longer to receive the support of the colored men. He set forth in caustic language the necessity of putting forth every effort to secure political and social equality for the race. After the appointment of committees and the transaction of other business, the convention was ready for active work.

A CRANK AFTER THE BRITISH CONSUL. Great excitement was caused in the neighborhood of the British Consulate New York the other afternoon by the report of two pistol shots and the spectacle of a hatless man running at the top of his speed. The fugitive was pursued and captured by a policeman. He gave the name of Feeney, and it was then learned that he had attempted to take the life of the British Consul by firing two shots at him. When the prisoner was taken to the station house he described himself as John A. Feeney, aged 26 years, an Irishman by birth and a cosmopolitan by trade. His appearance was sickly and he said he had recently been discharged from a hospital in Buffalo. He declared that he had come from Canada on purpose to kill the British Consul, who had been libelling his character. It was evident that he was of unsound mind.

FINANCES IN CANADA. The government accounts for the fiscal year ending June 30 have just been made up and foot as follows: Receipts, $35,888,334; expenditures, $38,805,229; surplus, $7,083,105. This is the largest surplus ever had in any year since the date of confederation. The surplus for 1881-82 was $6,816,000. In neither case does the surplus include the proceeds from land sales in the northwest.

DAKOTA'S CAPITAL—WHERE IS IT? The executive order issued at Bismarck by the Governor of Dakota, served on James H. Teller, Secretary of Dakota, and a brother of the Secretary of the Interior, authorizes, directs and orders him to move his office, archives, books, records, papers, real and all public property in his possession to Bismarck, except the legislative furniture and territorial library. The order is dated September 11th, served on the 22d, to be obeyed in fifteen days from date. Teller in reply, under a long letter to Ordway, which is as complete a legal document as a most carefully drawn lawyer's brief, declines to obey the order, taking the ground that before the settlement of the case a dispute regarding the location of the seat of government the Secretary is judge of the situation, and that he is subject only to orders from the United States Government, as he is custodian of government property. In the absence of judicial ruling he holds that he is competent to judge whether or not the change is desirable. He says in any event he is subject to removal, but such order must come from the head of the department, which he is properly subordinate. Referring to the decision of Judge Edgerton declaring the capital commission act unconstitutional, Teller says: "As the sworn officer of the government I recognize the obligation to regard not only the letter but the spirit of the law, and as this decision is the law until reversed by a court of competent jurisdiction, I cannot consent to be a party to any act which will appear to disregard it." He therefore declines to obey the order, and wishes to be understood as having no personal interest in the controversy. The books of the auditor's office were taken from Yankton by order of Governor Ordway.

THE EX-HUSBAND'S TESTIMONY. A Stratford, Conn., dispatch to the New York Sun says that the testimony of Norman Ambler, Rose's divorced husband, bears heavily against Lewis, as also does that of George Smith, though in a lesser degree. Ambler swore that he and Rose lived happily together until Lewis came between them; that Rose would leave her room late at night in response to Lewis's signals; that he remonstrated against her conduct, and told her she must give up him or Lewis; that her conduct grew better, but the intimacy was soon renewed, when he sent her home to her father. Witness had not furnished Rose with funds for a divorce suit, and believed the funds had been supplied by Lewis. The latter had won from him the love of a good but very fickle woman, had broken up his home and blasted his life. He was asked by Coroner Holt, "Who do you think killed Rose Ambler?" and after a little hesitation answered, "I think Will Lewis can tell all about it."

ANOTHER CARELESS BOILER INSPECTOR. The propeller Colorado of the Commercial line exploded her boiler, a few miles from Buffalo, N. Y., the other day. The force of the explosion was upward, and all the upper works aft of the cabin were demolished. As soon as an examination could be made it was ascertained that several lives had been lost, and several others so badly burned and otherwise injured that death must soon come.

FORTY CHINAMEN LESS. An explosion at the California powder works Stege's station, Cal., the scene of several recent disasters, resulted in the death and horrible mauling of 40 Chinese out of a working force of 42. One white is reported injured.

POLITICAL. THE "WIDY WIDOW" NOMINATED. The Massachusetts Greenback State convention met in Boston Sept. 25. The proceedings were anything but complimentary to men of intelligence, characterized as they were by bitter personal invective. Dr. J. B. Bland, Butler's biographer, made several attempts to speak but was excluded. A motion was made that Butler be nominated by acclamation, which was finally carried unanimously and with great enthusiasm. The platform adopted is characteristic. The preamble denounces both the Republican and Democratic parties, especially the former. The platform demands, especially of all class laws; no subsidies for corporations; equal political rights for men and women; election of all public officials as far as practicable by the direct vote of the people; a graduated income tax and taxation of all other property in equal ratio; no more refunding of the public debt in such a manner that it cannot be paid when the government has money to pay with; discontinuance of the hoarding policy; demonetization of gold and silver as domestic currency and the issue instead of full legal tender paper currency; withdrawal of all power of issue from national banks; removal of tariff monstrosities; that no labor should not be allowed to cheapen honest labor; that suffrage shall be free to all; larger hours of labor and regulation of inter-state commerce by Congress so that middlemen cannot raise prices; prohibition of the employment of children under 14 years in mines and workshops, and equal pay for equal work of men and women. The platform closes with an extreme eulogy of Gov. Butler. The ticket was filled out as follows: Lieutenant-Governor, John Howes; Secretary of State, Nicholas Furlong; Attorney-General, George Foster; Treasurer, Wilbur F. Whitney; Auditor, A. H. Wood.

BLAND EXPERIENCES A CHANGE. Dr. Bland, biographer of Gov. Butler, has expressed his deep regret that since the publication of his book, he has been forced to revise his estimate of its subject, and deems it his duty to apologize to the public for having become his biographer. He has experienced a radical change of opinion with regard to his character, owing chiefly to his alleged desertion and insults to the Greenbackers, and his endeavors to kill the Greenback party of Massachusetts.

MORE HONORS FOR BUTLER. At the Massachusetts Democratic state convention, assembled in Springfield, Gov. Butler was re-nominated amidst the wildest enthusiasm. The ticket was filled out as follows: Lieutenant-governor, Frederick O. Prince; secretary of state, Charles Marke; treasurer, and receiver-general, Cavily H. Ingalls; attorney-general, John W. Cummings; auditor John Hopkins.

EMPIRE STATE PROHIBITIONISTS. The Prohibitionists of New York assembled in Syracuse, and placed the following ticket in the field: Secretary of state, Frederick Gates; comptroller, Stephen Merritt; state treasurer, James Baldwin; state engineer, George A. Dudley; attorney-general, Virgil A. Willard.

MARYLAND REPUBLICANS. Met in convention in Baltimore to nominate candidates for governor, comptroller and attorney general. The work of organization was quickly out of the way, and the convention proceeded at once to nominations. Mart B. Holton of Baltimore county was nominated for governor, Washington Smith of Dorchester for comptroller, and B. Stockett Matthews of Baltimore for attorney-general. The platform adopted is in hearty sympathy with the Arthur administration, and reiterates the sentiments of loyalty heretofore expressed, and promises to transform the state of Maryland into a political paradise—if they ever get a chance.

THE PLATFORM. Adopted by the Republicans of Nebraska favors a proper protective tariff; a state railroad commission; advocates the forfeiture of unearned railroad land grants; approves allowing cattlemen to secure large tracts of public lands; indorses the administration of President Arthur; advocates the improvement of the rivers of the west and south.

NEW YORK'S DEMOCRACY. The Democratic state convention of New York assembled at Buffalo, under very favorable auspices, and was one of the most orderly assemblies held this year. There was some little dispute as to the rights of certain delegates, but the contesting delegations settled their differences amicably, and the work of the convention was commenced. The platform adopted points out that the former pledges have been redeemed, and refers to the administration of Governor Cleveland as the best ever known in the history of the Empire state. The ticket nominated is headed with the name of Charles H. Maynard for Secretary of State, and completed as follows: Comptroller, Alfred C. Chapin; State Treasurer, Robert A. Maxwell; Attorney-General, Dennis O'Brian; Engineer and Surveyor, E. Nathan Sweet.

BAFFLED TRAIN ROBBERS. News was received at Kansas City, Mo., the other day of a train robbery on the Atchinson, Topeka and Santa Fe road at or near Coolidge, Kansas, 470 miles west of Kansas City. A later dispatch giving fuller particulars states that the engineer was killed, but no money was secured by the robbers. The train was a regular eastbound passenger Coolidge is a small cattle station, and aside from a telegraph operator is almost uninhabited. As the train pulled out from Coolidge three men appeared and ordered the engineer to stop. He refused, and was instantly shot dead. The fireman was instantly shot through the breast and badly hurt, though not fatally. The men assaulted the express car, but Samuel Patterson, the express messenger, was prepared for them a mad-such a vigorous fight that the robbers were driven off. Finding the train aroused and themselves likely to be worsted, the robbers then beat a retreat, having failed to secure the treasure which they were after. Information was at once telegraphed to stations along the line and a special train started for Coolidge from Emporia with a posse of armed men in pursuit. The dead engineer, whose name was John Hilton, lived at Emporia. His run was between that place and Dodge City.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS. A PYROTECHNICAL DISPLAY. The rocket factory at the arsenal at Woolwich, nine miles from London on the Thames exploded a few days ago, utterly destroying many buildings. The explosion was caused by the fire in the main building, which included the laboratory. The building was destroyed with in half an hour after the fire broke out. It contained an immense number of war rockets, which were filled with destructive missiles. The latter flew in all directions, many being projected to and falling upon the side of the Thames. The fire was extinguished when the rockets ceased their explosions. Old soldiers declare that the explosions of the rockets during the fire were as frightful as if occurring in actual siege. Two bodies of victims of the explosion have been found. Some of the war rockets were projected a distance of five miles. One of them went through the wall of the arsenal and another struck on the artillery barracks. Rockets fell in Erith, Elsham, Charlton and Ilford. One of them plunged into a school for infants at Plumstead. Another entered a draper's show window in Woolwich, and still another wrecked a grocery store.

PROBABLY UNTRUE. Every village and city of the British Isles was thrown into great commotion the other day by a report that Parnell was shot by an Orangeman. A dispatch was received in London from Dunganon stating that a covered car containing a supposed Parnellite had been fired into, but the occupant was not hurt. This seems to have been the only foundation for the rumor.

HITS OF NEWS. West Shore & Ontario terminal company borrows $12,000,000 for 40 years; largest transaction ever recorded in New York city. Fred P. Jenks, cotton broker of Boston, who Dr. Selwyn, of the geological survey, reports finding a vein of coal five feet thick within 50 miles of Brandon, Ont.

Prince George of Wales will return to England from Canada next July. The first medical school for women in Canada will be open at Toronto, October 1. Glass blocks hardened by a special process are now employed in England in place of iron and wood in constructing railroad bridges.

Jonathan C. Bowles, who was twice worth $100,000, has just died a pauper in the Cleveland infirmary. Ex-Vice President C. Max, who has been traveling through the country extensively, says Arthur is by far the most popular of all Republicans yet named for the presidency.

Charles Goodnight has the largest cattle ranch in the world at the head of Red river, Texas. He has 700,000 acres a great part of which he bought for 35 cents an acre, and to enclose it requires over 250 miles of fence. He has 40,000 cattle.

Supervising Architect Hill says he is not surprised at the verdict rendered by the committee. Vanderbilt has just purchased a valuable collection of paintings belonging to Sir Phillip Miles of Bristol, England. The price paid was $2,050,000.

There are grave fears of an uprising in Spain before Alphonso's return. Gen. Winfield Scott Keyes, son of the celebrated Gen. Keyes, was applied in a San Francisco court for a divorce, on the ground that his wife already had a husband when he married her. Mrs. Keyes denies this.

At some ports of customs it costs five dollars to collect one. President Arthur says he did fish some while on his western trip. Chester rather gives himself away, however, when he suggests that a number of fish markets ought to be erected in various sections of the country through which unucky fishermen pass.

Justice Field is another Democratic candidate for Presidential honors. Yellow fever continues to increase in Havana. There was a terrific gas explosion in the Oxmoor iron furnaces at Birmingham, Ala., the other day. The entire works were blown to atoms; loss $380,000. No lives were lost.

The plan of Irish colonization in Colorado is maturing rapidly. Jay Gould and several other capitalists have been sued for $1,850,000 by one Hughes of Galveston, Texas. He also wants $2,000 per day rental for land since 1877.

The newly discovered comet is believed to be identical with the famous comet of 1812. To which astronomers have been on the lookout for some time. Herr Krupp now employs 20,000 women in his great works at Essen, Germany, and turns out 750 tons of iron and steel in the form of guns, chains, etc., every 24 hours.

John G. Thompson will fight to be sergeant at arms of the next house. Commissioner Evans estimates a falling off of $40,000,000 from internal revenue this year. A canal is being constructed in Fresno county, California, 100 feet wide, which will when completed irrigate 3,000,000 acres of desert.

A boiler explosion in Shreveport, La., resulted in the death of five persons. Five others were seriously wounded. The rumor that the Tenth Infantry, U. S. T., was to be removed from Ft. Wayne, is false.

Lieut.-Col. A. W. Evans, of the regular army, has been placed upon the retired list, as incapacitated for service. Serious charges are brought against the managers of the Soldiers' Home at Milwaukee. The officials deny them in toto, and an investigation will follow.

The testimony of a number of experts make a bad showing for Lewis, Rose Clark's lover. Chinese sailors are placed by law on the same footing as other Chinese laborers, and are not allowed to land in the United States. O'Donnell says that his action in murdering Carey is not properly appreciated.

Prof. Nordenskjold, who conducted an expedition to Greenland, has been heard from. The party were all well. The Emperor of China has been requested to abdicate in favor of Prince Tun, uncle of the emperor. One hundred prisoners in the state prison at Wethersfield, Conn., were poisoned by eating rye bread.

Mrs. Mary McGough has received $5,000 damages for the loss of her husband, who was killed by the Long Island railroad in March, 1879. The Egyptian Government is vigorously suppressing the slave trade. The police captured 250 slaves at Assiut, and arrested the chief slaver at Cairo.

Very discouraging reports are received from the Prince Edward County and Brighton (Canada) hop districts. The crop will fall considerably short of that of last season. Efforts are being made to obtain the services of Charles Russell, M. P. for Dundalk, to lead the defence for O'Donnell. A central committee is being formed in London to obtain funds for his defense.

Mrs. Carey, who has arrived at Madeira, is very depressed and speaks of O'Donnell in bitter terms. She says she was sure he was a fugitive, and she believed he went to the Cape for the purpose of murdering her husband. The Greenback party of Maine very perceptibly decline to have anything more to do with the Democracy.

Home Hints.

A pretty wall photograph panel is made from a piece of pale blue or cardinal satin about nine inches square. In the center cut out a piece not quite large enough for the photograph, and turn in the edges so they will just hold the picture when hemmed. Around the bottom, and on one side of the center-piece, work in Kensington or satin-stitch a vine of yellow blossoms if you use the cardinal, or pale pink if the blue is used. Finish the top and bottom with a band of plush the color of the satin, running in the edge of each a whalebone. Turn in the sides and fasten down on the wrong side. In the lower left-hand corner place a bow of ribbon combining the two shades of the satin and flowers, and hang up with ribbons of the same. Put in the photograph and fasten securely. Line with blue or red silesia, taking care that the stitches do not show on the right side.

The following is an excellent method for fixing chalk drawings: Good black paper is coated with resin in the following manner: Common resin and shell-lac are dissolved in strong alcohol, and the solution applied to the black paper with a broad brush a number of times, each coating being allowed to dry perfectly before another is applied. The paper becomes matted and dull, but acquires a gloss when warmed. Chalk drawings made on this paper can be made permanent by covering another sheet of well-sized paper over the face of the drawing and passing a hot smoothing-iron over it. The extra sheet is carefully removed when cool, and the drawing then can be rolled up without injury.

To take out dents or bruises in furniture, wet the part with warm water; double a piece of brown paper five or six times, soak it, and lay it on the place; apply on that a hot flat-iron until the moisture is evaporated. If the dent is not gone repeat the process. After two or three applications the dent will be raised level with the surface.

A fashion that is coming much in vogue in country or small city houses is to utilize the odd corners in the drawing or sitting-rooms for book-cases. Corners are always hard to furnish unless one has many cabinets or pany tables, and books always look well in a room. There can never be too many of them. A carpenter can put up three shelves in the desired corner, placed about sixteen inches apart. They should be of black walnut or plain oak, coated with copal varnish. Little curtains of some dainty Indian gauze, in coloring to correspond with the furniture, may be used with advantage, or an applique fringe of scarlet on a brown ground, as a design of ivy leaves, will look more artistic. The top of this little book-case may be ornamented by a statue, and a few pieces of china or bric-a-brac. A duplex mirror in a plush or velvet frame would look well placed at the bottom of the book case, to fill up the space between it and the floor.

Attention, Peach Growers.

To those who find themselves, for the first time, with a crop of peaches on their hands, the most important question is—how to dispose of it? If a commission dealer in a city market has not been selected, this should be attended to at once. It is not difficult to ascertain the reputation of such men, and having selected one, stick to him. All sorts of shysters will come along, as the fruit is near ripening, offering better terms than any one else; usually these have no regular place of business, but will on the dock, or at the depot, if they get a consignment. In many localities drying or evaporating, and canning factories, have been established; it will be well to ascertain if the fruit may be contracted for at these on favorable terms, and thus avoid much of the labor and uncertainty of marketing. If the crop is to be marketed, of course the kind of packages has been decided upon and procured. The novice in peach growing has much trouble with his pickers. He can not afford to pick himself, but must watch the others. The great trouble is from over-ripeness. A single soft peach will spoil a crate or basket, should it become leaky. Where experienced pickers are to be had, they assort as they pick, and even in the large orchards it is now becoming the custom to assort afterwards. All the fruit properly ripe is packed, and then taken to the "sorters," the "collers," who make three or four qualities, as may be decided upon. This work is done in a shed for the purpose, or temporary tables of boards upon horses, upon which to spread the fruit, are placed in the orchard. The very finest peaches go as "extra," and the packages of these are "twigged," that is, a small branch of peach leaves is placed at the top. A second and a third quality are made by some, while others make but two. All the over-ripe, badly packed, spoken, or otherwise faulty peaches, are placed in a third or fourth quality, as may be, to be used at home, and sent to the pigs. Whether two or three grades are sent to the market, let the grower be distinctly marked. Let the quality be the same all through the package, if the grower wishes to have his brand acquire a good reputation. It is allowable to place the top layer with their colored sides uppermost, but not "down-on" or "top off" with large patches, while all below are inferior. Dealers, who buy the most of the peaches sent to market, soon learn which brands turn out the best, and select accordingly in purchasing.—American Agriculturist for September.

BUTLER, N. Y., FEB. 25, '82.

Rheumatic Syrup Co.

Gents—I wish to express my appreciation of your wonderful remedy for the cure of rheumatism, dyspepsia and general debility. I have been a great sufferer from that terrible disease—rheumatism—for more than a year, and could get no rest or relief day nor night for the whole time. Like almost everybody else similarly afflicted, I tried many different remedies, and consulted a number of physicians. But getting only temporary relief from any of these sources I almost despaired of ever again being restored to my normal condition, and once more free from pain. At this time, hearing so many recommendations your Rheumatic Syrup as an infallible cure for rheumatism, and knowing that they had been troubled the same myself and were now permanently cured by the use of your remedy, I was inspired by their unbounded faith in its healing powers, and resolved to test its efficacy in my own case; and the result of it all is that after taking four bottles, my rheumatism had all disappeared, and now, thanks to your Rheumatic Syrup, I felt like a new man, and cheerfully recommend the Rheumatic Syrup to all who are suffering with rheumatism.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS N CINCINNATI

Treating Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Nasal Catarrh, Sore Throat, Loss of Voice, and other Maladies of the Nose, Throat and Lungs.

DR. WOLFE treats the above named diseases by Medicated Inhalations. When thus administered, remedies are brought "face-to-face" in contact with the disease; whereas, if they are swallowed they mix with the contents of the stomach and never reach the organs of respiration.

DR. WOLFE has, by the judicious employment of Medicated Inhalations, assisted thousands to regain their health, many of whom had been pronounced incurable, and given up to die by their family physician and friends.

DR. WOLFE has prepared a list of questions for sick people to answer by mail. They are in character the same he would ask were he by the bedside of the invalid. By writing answers to these questions any one can send an accurate statement of his disease and receive and use Inhalation remedies at home, in any part of the United States or Canada, without incurring the expense and discomfort of making a visit to Cincinnati. Any one sending his name and post-office address with a three-cent postage stamp, will receive a copy of the "Circular of Questions" by return mail.

DR. WOLFE has published a medical book called "Common Sense, Cause and Cure of Consumption, Asthma, etc.," a copy of which he will send to any body who orders it by mail, and incloses nine cents in postage stamps with his name and postoffice address. The books of great value to any one afflicted with any disease of the Nose, Throat, or Lungs.

DR. WOLFE has also published another book of 64 pages entitled "Light about the House we Live in," which every healthy person as well as sick ought to read. The book has a special interest to persons who have weak lungs, or any symptoms of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, or Catarrh. Rescued From Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: In the fall of 1876, I was taken with Bleeding of the Lungs followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and flesh, and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. At one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs. I got a bottle, when to my surprise, I commenced to feel better, and today feel better than for three years past.

A Life Saving Present.

Swallowed a Snake.

A very peculiar case came to the notice of Agent Frelson, of the Associated Charities, yesterday. Several weeks ago the wife of one of the city patrolmen called on him and urgently requested him to aid her in finding the whereabouts of James and Agnes Burns, whom she met eight years ago in Oconomowoc. She declined to tell the reason why she desired to find the people, but declared she would give everything she possessed to find a trace of their present residence. The eagerness with which she desired to find Mr. and Mrs. Burns and the mystery surrounding the case caused Mr. Frelson to urge her to tell her story, which she did, while the tears coursed down her cheeks. She said no doubt Mr. Frelson would consider her insane, but she would relate nothing but the truth. Eight years ago she was in Oconomowoc, where she became acquainted with John and Agnes Burns, the former a baker. Mrs. Burns cautioned her against drinking any water in the open air, as she would be sure to swallow something terrible, but if such an event should ever occur she must turn to her for relief, as she was the only one who possessed the means of cure. Sometime after the lady in question, disregarding the warning, drank a quantity of water from one of the springs. She says she experienced a peculiar sensation as though something slid down into her stomach. Since that time the object has been growing, and now appears to be seven or eight inches long. She can plainly feel it moving around in her stomach, and life is a torment to her. She is always hungry. She can eat all day long, but the ravenous feeling never deserts her. She believes that the animal is a snake, and a number of physicians from whom she has sought advice agree with her. She is very desirous of finding Mrs. Burns to obtain the remedy which the latter claimed to possess, and feels that unless she succeeds death will ensue in a short time. Drs. Senn, Fox, Mason, and other local physicians have examined the peculiar case, and advise her to submit to an operation. The snake, if such it is, is constantly growing, and if she fails in finding Mrs. Burns, she will have the surgical operation performed.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Since the introduction of spelling matches, many words have come prominently into notice—words that were previously comparatively unknown. For instance we find Antiseptic, meaning: preventing and stopping all fermentation and decomposition, and Analgesic: Painkiller. Then there is Antipyretic: cooling down inflammation and fever heat. These three words so often mis-spelled, are three of the cardinal virtues of something that will cure many a bad spell, and that is Salicylic acid, pronounced Sal-i-cyl-i-ca. Warranted to afford immediate relief, and guaranteed to cure Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia.

This store has been re-fitted at a large expense and is now being filled with NEW, FIRST-CLASS merchandise.

For many years it has been the rule of the former proprietors, Camp, Morrill & Camp, to sell nothing but first-class goods and under no circumstances allow any salesman to misrepresent. As it is my desire to continue the business, and wishing to increase the sales largely, I shall sell all goods at the lowest possible profit and at any time goods bought from my establishment that are not as represented, may be returned and I will cheerfully refund the money. I buy all my goods for Cash and sell them for Cash, and as my store is the best lighted of any in the State, the customer can see exactly what they are getting.
