WHISPERINGS.

Topsy!

Two "Topsy's!"

Indian summer—is yet to come!

A. J. Sawyer was in town last Thursday.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" at the Town Hall next Monday evening.

Jolly Mr. Cole, of the Jackson Star was in town last week and was a welcome caller at this office.

Don't miss "Uncle Tom's Cabin" next Monday evening. It clearly shows the terror of slavery days.

We'll bet two old hats that the Enterprise has the prettiest Chelsea correspondent of any paper in the county!

Kempf, Bacon & Co., are daily receiving installments of lumber. About fifteen car loads have been received so far.

A number of this place attended the teachers' meeting at Dexter, last Friday. As several teachers attended no school was held.

The entertainment given by the Whites last week is well spoken of by those who witnessed it. It seems the manager does all he promises.

Although the postage on letters is now but two cents and special stamps have been issued for that purpose, yet all the old stamps are good for postage on letters and packages.

Supervisor Gilbert left last Monday for Ann Arbor to attend the annual meeting of the Board of Supervisors. Mr. Gilbert is in favor of a new jail provided one is built at a reasonable outlay.

No play has so much, and so long interested the American people as "Uncle Tom's Cabin." This play will be presented at the Town Hall next Monday evening by the famous Draper Combination.

In our raspberry item of last week we said "next!" Dr. Wright informs us that he has a bush that has borne a second crop the past three seasons. The second crop does not grow in clusters but something the shape of an ear of corn.

Gen. Sherman has fixed upon the 1st of November as the date when he will turn over the command of the Army to Gen. Sheridan, and practically retire to civil life, although he will not be placed on the retired list until the 8th of February.

Hiram Lighthall has taken considerable pride during the past week showing his new carriage, manufactured by the Jackson Carriage Co. The peculiar part in the top, which, when up is not at all in the way of persons getting in or out, and folded, presents a very neat appearance. We understand Mr. Lighthall has secured the agency of this firm's goods.

At the meeting called and held last Saturday at the Town Hall for the purpose of ascertaining whether there should be a Farmers' Institute held at Chelsea, Mr. C. Farmers' Institute held at Chelsea, Mr. C. Wines, after a few remarks, nominated N. Pierce as chairman. Wm. Wood was elected secretary. The following are the committee: On correspondence: J. K. Yocum, C. Wines and M. Foster; on entertainment: J. Everett, M. J. Noyes and Milo Baldwin. The committee on correspondence was made executive committee.

Mrs. B. B. Barnes, of Toledo, informs us that her address now is 864 Huron St.

The pin advertised as found in our last issue, was called for by the owner on the following day.

Our readers should not fail to glance at E. G. Hoag's new "ad" this week. He has just added a large assortment of Albums, and other valuable articles which he intends to dispose of at a small margin.

The Jackson Association of Congregational Ministers will meet at the Congregational church at this place next week. The following exercises will be public, and all are cordially invited to attend. Monday evening, a discourse by Rev. Dr. Hough, of Jackson, who has resided several years in California, and has just returned via the Northern Pacific R. R., from a four months' trip to that far-off golden land. Subject, "The Pacific Slope and the New North West." Tuesday p. m., from 3:45 to 5:15, papers will be read; by Rev. G. H. Grannis, of Ypsilanti, on "Absence of Husbands from the Sanctuary," and by Rev. Wm. C. Allen, of Leslie, on "Unreasonableness of Men, in Relation to the Pulpit." Tuesday evening, the Rev. Wm. Ryder, of Ann Arbor, will preach. Please, friends, let us give these brethren a full house.

A serious accident happened to Ira Glover, of Sylvan Centre, last week Wednesday evening. Riding home at about 11 o'clock with Gus. Mensing and Phil. Schweinfurth, in a high-spring buggy, they passed A. Kalmbach's span of colts, driven by one of Mr. Kalmbach's boys. When near the Guthrie place they met the thro' express which frightened the Kalmbach team. Throwing out the occupants they dashed ahead. Mr. Glover, thinking he heard something besides the train, turned to look when at the instant he was struck on the left side of his lower jaw by a horse's head. The horses, when they reached the buggy, attempted to divide thus throwing the three young men out, and downing the four horses. Mr. Glover, when picked up, was insensible, the jaw having been broken on both sides in a very bad manner. Dr. Palmer, assisted by Dr. Wright, set the fracture. Thursday morning and at present he is doing very nicely, although it will be several months before he will be entirely well. Mr. G. is highly respected and has the sympathy of the whole community. Mr. Schweinfurth's buggy was badly damaged but fortunately none of the other occupants were seriously injured.

Wedding Bells.

We made mention a few weeks ago of a visit of Mr. James A. Straith, of Windsor, Ont., to his parents of this place, and we now find the purport of that visit as the following plainly shows:

STRAITH—POTT.—At the residence of the bride's parents, Sept. 27, '83, by the Rev. McMullen, Mr. Jas. A. Straith, merchant, Windsor, and Miss Mattie, eldest daughter of Mr. Wm. Potts, Woodstock.

There were but few friends of the contracting parties present. Mr. Sam. Straith of Cayuga, being groomsmen, and Miss Ollie, sister of the bride, bridesmaid. After the ceremony, a repast was served, prepared by and under the supervision of the bride's mother, which gave evidence of the proficiency of Mrs. Pott in the art of cookery. After a vain endeavor to do justice to the viands, we visited another apartment where congratulations and presents were in order. Among the latter we noticed china breakfast, dinner, and tea sets, with glassware imported for the occasion, and the following in silver: Ice pitcher; spoons, knives and forks; division spoon; fish knife and fork; pickle stand; butter dish; goblet; pie knife; Also china fruit service; hand painted toilet set; hand painted flower pots (china and common); foot rest; numerous pieces of statuary, paintings and pictures; one vol. of Shakespeare, and numerous other articles. At 5 p. m. the happy couple boarded a west-bound train, loaded with the good wishes of all. At about 9 o'clock, large numbers came from neighboring towns to crown the day's enjoyment, and under the music of the "wee sma' hours of the morning" soon arrived when all began to wend their way homeward, but the pleasures of the day are deeply engraved on the minds of many.

An Event to be Remembered.

One of the episodes that come into life bringing a world of warm sunshine and making a green spot in memory, occurred at the residence of Wm. H. Glenn, of North Lake, Sept. 29. Mr. Glenn and his worthy wife had just moved "from the old house into the new" when the 25th anniversary of their married life was reached. Invitations were sent far and near, and in response over seventy-five guests sat down to the well filled tables, and if the company did not "drink to the health" of this home they certainly showed their esteem by the ample justice done to the viands. After the friends had all refreshed the "outer" man they were summoned into the spacious parlor where music introduced another order.

The burden of the song seemed to indicate a serious domestic jar out of keeping with the occasion (but it was only seeming) for the cloud had a silver lining and sunshine soon flooded the scene. Though the presents were quite numerous, yet they were more expressive. These tokens of regard in their silver settings found but few "silver threads" in the heads of those to whom they were presented. Through care and toil, with much physical suffering they have reached this point of life's journey with the reward of their industry and frugality surrounding them, and their children with them (save one daughter in the far-off Dakota), to rejoice in their new home.

The presentation was made by their pastor, G. Stowe, in a few sentences, and responded to with much feeling by Mr. & Mrs. Glenn. Remarks followed by Rev. F. E. Pearce, of Pinckney, Wm. Wood, Dan. Briggs, of Dexter, and Robt. C. Glenn, who threw much pleasantry into the occasion.

The presents were as follows: One fine silver tea set of five pieces presented by Geo. Stowe and wife, Aaron Burkhardt and wife, H. N. Twanly and wife, F. A. Burkhardt and wife, Orrin Burkhardt and wife, Tate. Watson and wife, Ryal Barnum and wife, R. C. Glenn and wife, Mahlon Glenn and wife, S. O. Hadley and wife, Wm. Wood and wife, R. Whalin and wife, T. E. Wood and wife, E. May and wife, E. Brown and wife, Walter Webb, and P. M. Watts; one set silver forks from their life-long friends, Mr. Gibbs and wife, of Greenville; one plain silver butter dish of F. E. Pearce and wife, of Pinckney, A. M. Lown and wife, W. H. Wood and wife, and R. M. Glenn and wife, of Putnam; one engraved butter dish, of D. E. Watts and wife, and Chas. Crane and wife, of Dansville; one silver tea pot, of F. F. Lown and wife, of Brighton; one silver cream spoon, of Miss Mamie Murdock, of Dexter; one silver pie knife, of Wood Brothers and wives, of Chelsea; two sets silver knives, of Geo. Sill and wife, and Dan. Briggs and wife, of Dexter; one silver token, of Miss Ida Watts; one silver thimble, of Mrs. R. Webb; one double pickle castor, of Mrs. Jenett Watts, John Webb and wife, and Geo. Marshall and wife, of Unadilla; one beautiful large photograph in silk plush with monogram and clasp of silver, with regrets of the donor, Jas. Cook, of Putnam; this album is waiting for the photographs of those present and those sending may expect the favor reciprocated. One silver butter knife from Rha. Johnson and wife. Not the least of the things that contributed to "sweeten" the occasion, was the honey from the apiary of Mrs. Murdock and son, of Dexter.

We would like to speak of their new, well appointed home, but this is already a lengthy article and will postpone to some future time.

It is superfluous to say that Mr. & Mrs. Glenn return their heartfelt thanks to all who helped make the occasion one of joy, and to be long remembered.

With many others we hope that Mr. & Mrs. Glenn may enjoy their new home for many years to come and at last celebrate an unending anniversary.—[Ed.]

DIED.

LEWICK.—Sunday, September 30, Andrew Lewick, a native of Michigan, aged 52 years.

The above is taken from a late Sacramento, (Cal.) paper. Deceased was a brother of Godfrey Lewick, of Lima, and the Lewick Bros. of Ann Arbor; also a brother-in-law of Dan. Maroney, and Perry Barber, of this place.

James Potts and daughter, of Decatur, spent Sunday with H. M. Woods.

Chas. Grant, Jr., of Ridgetown, Ont., spent several days of this week among friends at this place.

E. K. Frueauff and wife, of Ann Arbor, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Steinbach.

Henry Everett, of Decatur, is spending a few days with his parents at this place. On Sunday last, for the first time in three years, all of Jay Everett's family (with the exception of one son-in-law, Mr. Coe), were gathered at his residence on Summit St.

Watches & Clocks

Never has our Watch and Clock trade been so large as in the past few months and it is the more gratifying to know that our increased sales are owing largely to the fact that every Watch and Clock we have sold has given PERFECT satisfaction and that our prices are admitted by every one to be the lowest. With these assurances from those who have purchased of us, we feel confident in making the claim that with the largest assortment of Watches and Clocks in the county, we can offer unusual inducements to customers desiring to purchase a reliable time-keeper to buy of us.

We handle the best goods and give a POSITIVE guarantee.

GLAZIER, DePUT & Co.

There are many Michigan people who contemplate investing in orange lands or groves at Altamont this fall when the Florida excursion reaches there. The Altamont Real Estate Agency (all well-known Michigan men), will have for sale, not only their own lands, but desirable property of all kinds at owner's prices. Messrs. E. H. Glover, of Jackson, and L. D. Whitney, of Chelsea, start for Altamont at once to prepare for the excursion. Mr. B. S. Ashley, of Jackson, will take charge of the excursion. These gentlemen will be ready to show our folks anything they may wish in the real estate line. All property at or near Altamont has advanced 100 per cent. in the last year, and competent judges say the rise has but fairly begun. As a safe and profitable investment good orange property can not be equalled in this country. Mr. Ashley will give all information desired in regard to the excursion if parties interested will write him.

Notices in this space will be inserted at ten cents per line.

Notice! The firm heretofore existing as "Chandler & Drislane" has by mutual consent dissolved. All persons having claims against the firm, and those owing us will please call and settle before Nov. 1. Mr. Chandler will continue the business at the old stand.

We have a nice assortment of New and second hand carriages that we will dispose of at BOTTOM PRICES. Chandler & Drislane.

For Sale! A coal stove, in good condition, at reasonable figures. Call at the Methodist parsonage, or on J. E. Durand.

Ladies wishing stamping done, or Briggs patterns, call at Mrs. Cole's dress making shop over Reed & Winans' drug store. 7*

Ladies! We have now in stock over 200 Cloaks, Jackets, Dolmans, Russian Circulars, etc., varying in price from $5 to $40.00, and have fitted up a room up stairs and can now show them with pleasure. Remember you can do better with us than to go away from home. Respectfully, H. S. Holmes.

Canfield delivers meats, vegetables etc., free to any part of the village. Give him a call and judge of his merits.

Go to U. H. Townsend's for bread, cookies, biscuit etc. 21*

Rooms to rent over Parker & Babcock's store. Enquire of C. E. Babcock.

For Sale! Two desirable houses and lots at from $500 to $800 each, on easy terms. Enquire of U. H. Townsend, or at the office of R. Kempf & Bro. 21*

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

BUSINESS is not quite as lively in some of the leading industries as it might be, but there's a big grain of comfort in the fact that the crop of grain this year will exceed 2,100,000,000 bushels.

A BABY WAS BORN in the family of the Chinese Minister at Washington, recently. Now let some churchily disposed person revive the cry about smuggling Chinese into this country.

ST. LOUIS is not the only city which is favorably disposed to card the kindergarten system. Toronto in Canada has for some time been employing kindergarten methods in its public schools, and The Globe of that city states that the ultimate success of the experiment is certain.

EMPEROR WILLIAM has sent a telegram of condolence to King Alfonso for the insulting treatment the latter received in Paris the other day. With characteristic selfishness the emperor wants to be biggest duck in the dirtiest puddle, and tells Alfonso that the booting and hissing of the Frenchmen were intended more for the Emperor of the Germans than for Alfonso, King of Spain.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL GRESHAM has been doing what some people—with uncomplimentary opinions of former Cabinet officers—consider a curious, unprecedented, and almost revolutionary thing—namely, looking up some fresh facts upon which to base his annual report. He has a notion that it is his duty to know a good deal more about his department than his subordinates tell him.

ALFONZO of Spain has never been credited with having a very extended knowledge of holy writ. But had he been the most learned theologian of modern times he could scarcely have given a clearer explanation of the mystical saying about "heaping coals of fire on his enemy's head" than when he directed the Spanish ambassador to France to distribute 10,000 francs to the poor of Paris. There may be a political reason for his generosity, but let's give him the benefit of the doubt.

MR. EDWARD PAYSON WESTON, "the father of long-distance pedestrianism," is about to undertake a remarkable feat in connection with the work of the Church of England Temperance Society, with which he is prominently connected. He proposes to travel over the highways of England and Wales, on foot and in ordinary costume, 50 miles daily for 100 consecutive days, Sundays excepted. He will travel only during the daytime, and will lecture each evening on "Tea versus Beer." He will be accompanied by two friends and a representative of the press in a carriage.

A STREET pedler in Detroit who, having explained the merits of some article in his stock to a possible customer the other day found that he was talking to a reporter, faced the music and submitted to an interview. He declared that the business was healthful and steady; that his knowledge of goods, and men and cities made his success certain; that his family near Chicago much respected by their neighbors, who hadn't the remotest idea what his occupation was; that he was going home this week to attend his daughter's wedding; and that his gift to the bride would be a check for $1,000.

Is foot-cramping, after the Chinese fashion, unlawful in the United States? This novel question is likely to come before a California court for decision. The father of Fanny Hi Loy, a little Chinese girl at San Juan, is now engaged in cramping her feet, according to the custom of her native land, in order to make them conform to the celestial idea of beautiful pedal extremities, although they are by this process rendered practically worthless for walking. Fanny Hi Loy can never be recognized in "upper ten" Chinese society, or get a desirable husband, unless she undergoes foot-torture, and her father is anxious to see Fanny do well in the world. But the people of San Juan are shocked at what they call the barbarity of foot-cramping and have resolved to stop it if possible. To this end the district attorney has been requested to commence a prosecution against Fanny's father, and it is announced that the officer will comply with the request. The possibilities of the Fanny Hi Loy case are very large. It may become as celebrated as the question of the sacredness of pig-tails, and get into the United States courts. We venture the opinion, however, that foot-torture must go, even though the young ladies are thereby debauched from "the best society" and deprived of their chief attraction to the Celestial dudes.—Cin. Times-Star.

"It is a mournful fact," says the Kansas City Journal, "that public schools have been forced rather than welcomed to the South. Their necessity is now recognized, but in too many instances they are expected to be furnished to order. That is impossible. The common schools of the North and West are not by any means perfect, and yet they are the growth of years of expense and labor. To hand money over to officials in such States as Alabama without any provision against mismanagement would be a folly which would soon cause a reaction and consequent defeat of the whole scheme. The best schools come from the voluntary efforts of the people and when the will is wanting contributed funds are not likely to furnish remarkable results. The Morrill bill appropriating lands for college purposes was really successful only in States where the lands were intelligently and economically managed. The same would be the case with a national common school educational fund unless some provision should be made against negligence and incompetency."

THERE is a fine chance for inventive genius to distinguish itself in the interest of the agricultural community. One of the great needs of the age would be the invention of a steam threshing machine that would not explode. This reflection is suggested for the hundredth time by the hundredth frightful harvest of human lives just reported from Minnesota, where one of these lordly machines blew up, killing three persons and wounding five others. The ideal steam threshing machine must not be merely safe, in the ordinary sense of the word—i. e., safe if properly managed. It must be positively and permanently harmless—a machine that will be reliable at all times; that will stand the pressure of any amount of steam possible to be generated. Nothing will fill the bill but a boiler that cannot burst under any provocation. The Minnesota machine exploded because the pump stopped working. This could not happen to the ideal machine; or if it did, no serious trouble could follow. The machine would remain intact, water or no water. Mechanical ingenuity may as yet be unequal to the job of constructing such a steam threshing machine; but it is needed, all the same. Few of the owners of these engines will ever go to the expense of hiring competent engineers. They trust to luck, and the consequence is that the autumn months add chapter after chapter to the annals of slaughter in the wheat regions.—Times-Star.

Moody's Project.

The Mount Hermon schools which Mr. D. L. Moody has recently opened, start out with every prospect of success. More than $200,000 has already been expended for buildings and land, and another structure to cost $50,000 will soon be added, when there will be eight altogether. They got their name from the fact that Mr. Moody had serious objections to naming them after any living man, and Mount Hermon was chosen as safely Biblical. As to the kind of boys taken, only those morally clean, with good minds, are wanted. The schools are by themselves in the midst of fields, because Mr. Moody believes that children should not see temptation until their minds are matured. One of the trustees says that every boy of the forty now on the grounds has an eventful history. One was taken by a philanthropist from a New-York elevator, not having any home in the great city; another was a cast-away at sea without kindred; three bright little lads were the sons of a Liverpool lawyer, who with their mother died suddenly, leaving them penniless; and so on through the list. Back of most of the boys some man stands as a friend and father, paying the tuition, placed nominally at $100 a year. The grand plan is to give the boys a good, practical education with a sound physical training under the influence of a Christian home. It was intended that the boys should work two hours, study two hours, and play two hours daily. This is practically carried out, the boys getting a little pocket money by working over time. The farm is a large one, and with the addition to be made, will cover 500 acres of land, beautifully laid out and sloping up from the Connecticut, the land being divided into three plateaus and the buildings set back about fifty rods from the county road.

MICHIGAN NEWS.

The third annual reunion of the Soldiers and sailors' Association of Shiawassee county will be held at Gaines, October 25, in connection with the reunion of the Tenth Regiment of Michigan Veteran Infantry. G. A. Parker is president and J. D. Jewell secretary.

Marquette Mining Journal: Wisconsin capitalists are securing a firm foothold in the Lake Agogebic iron district, and the mining property of the Lake Agogebic Iron Company, owned chiefly by citizens of Oshkosh, is the most advanced in development of any in that promising iron field. This company now has a shaft down something over fifty feet.

The furnace at Elk Rapids makes fifty tons of iron a day; the chemical works turn out 16,000 pounds of acetate of lime and 200 gallons of wood alcohol and thirty barrels of wood tar a day; the saw mill manufactures 40,000 feet of lumber a day, and all of this vast product is manufactured by really one concern—the Elk Rapids Iron Company.

The post office at Hudson was robbed the other night of $800 in stamps and $300 in cash. The thieves stole a horse and buggy of R. J. Eaton and escaped.

The total lumber shipments from the Saginaw river from the opening of navigation to Oct. 1, were 507,189,967 feet, against 656,588,846 feet for the corresponding period last year.

From twelve to seventeen tons of celery are shipped every day from Kalamazoo. One express company takes in $300 a day from freight on celery. The producers find the express charges heavy.

Every session of the Legislature there are hundreds of good citizens who howl for more stringent laws to protect game; the same citizens organize associations and appoint and pay a "game warden." In spite of it all we read such items as this from the Bay City Press: "Deer-killing is not in order, but somehow venison is not the scarcest meat in the world."

As E. Doran, a collector for the Singer sewing machine company at East Saginaw, was driving home from Tiptonville, he was accosted by a man lying in the road and who begged for help, saying his leg was broken. He was about to go to the fellow's assistance, when he saw another man in the ditch. At this he suspected a plot to deal foully with him and whipped up his horse to escape, when he was knocked senseless in his buggy by a brick thrown by one of the men. However, his horse ran into East Saginaw and the proposed robbery was frustrated. He had $160 and a gold watch with him at the time.

Charges of habitual drunkenness and official misconduct have been preferred against George Carter, prosecuting attorney for Muskegon county, and the governor has been requested to order an investigation.

James Curtis was convicted in the circuit court of Cass county, of the murder of Macon Wilson at the Calvin celebration in August last.

Chas. Case, about 50 years old, who was on his way from Burgessville, Ont., to Dakota with a carload of stock and goods, was drowned at Bellevue, the other morning, the body being found about 9 o'clock. The train stopped with the caboose standing on the bridge, and he stepped off, falling into the water. On his person was about $370.

Kalamazoo sees danger to its interests from the fact that the Chicago and West Michigan company is known to be getting possession of the new Michigan and Ohio road, and the Telegraph says the only escape for the business interests of Kalamazoo lies in meeting Manager Kimball's game by putting a line of their own through the northeast territory. Therefore the directors of the newly-organized Chicago, Kalamazoo and Saginaw line are besought to stir themselves and do something.

Frank Woodward, a young lad aged 17, left Lansing about August 1 last, probably for Ottawa, Ks., and his anxious parents are still waiting for his return. He is about five feet eight inches in height, blue eyes, auburn hair, slim, broad-shouldered, and quiet in his demeanor. Information will be thankfully received at Ottawa, Ill., by his father. It is supposed that the boy thought his father was at Ottawa, Ks. His father, R. S. W. Woodward, thinks the lad has not got out of Michigan.

James Curtis has been sentenced by the circuit court of Cass county to 15 years' imprisonment for the murder of Macon Wilson in August last.

From the Bay City Press.—James Goodfellow, employed on the Barnard farm, near Loomis, relates a story and bears the marks of a fight with a 5-year old black which he vanquished recently. He was plowing near the woods when he heard a commotion among the trees, stirred up, as he rightly guessed by "Turk," the farm dog. He climbed a log fence to discover the cause, when he saw a large deer making for him. The animal paused for an instant and was caught by the dog. Goodfellow, who stands about six feet two or three, advanced to the attack, though his only weapon was a knife. The deer knocked him back once, striking him on the head and inflicting quite a gash. The second venture was more successful, and "Turk," having got the animal by the ear, was an important helper, while Goodfellow cut his throat. He says the deer when dressed weighed nearly 300 pounds.

Sudden Death of Rev. J. Morgan Smith.

Rev. J. Morgan Smith, who has been pastor of the First congregational church of Grand Rapids for 20 years, died suddenly at Dansville, N. Y. He recently resigned his pastorate in Grand Rapids and was making preparations for a trip abroad for his health. His remains were taken to Grand Rapids for burial.

J. Morgan Smith was born at Great Falls, N. Y., April 26, 1839. His father was a minister there, and had 15 children. The subject of this sketch was what is called a "live boy," always ready to work, study or play. He put in five years in the Hopkins Grammar school at Hartford, and entered Yale college in 1859, graduating in the first 10 of the class of 1864. He went to Elmira, N. Y., after graduating, and taught private classes. He subsequently worked and traveled in Wisconsin. Eventually he studied theology at Andover, taking an interval of work in Philadelphia in order to raise money with which to pursue his studies. His first charge as a pastor was at West Avon, Conn., where he remained three years. He preached seven weeks at Chicago and then accepted the call given him by the congregation of Grand Rapids, where he remained until his recent resignation. He was a popular and successful pastor, who believed in the gospel of work as well as that of faith.

Michigan in the War.

The printing and binding of the 30,000 additional copies of "Michigan in the War" authorized by an act of the legislature is now progressing, and the book will be distributed in accordance with the provisions of act No. 143, public acts of 1883, which provide that any person who served to any Michigan regiment, battery or company during the late war and has been honorably discharged, or any person who has served in any regiment, battery or company from any state, or in the regular army, or in the navy, properly accredited to the state of Michigan, and has been honorably discharged, or if such person be dead, then his widow, if living, or if he be dead, his father, if living, and if he be dead, then the mother of any such person, and any person who is still in the service shall be entitled to receive one copy of said work on presenting to the librarian the certificate of the adjutant general—that any such person served, or is the widow, or father or mother, as above provided, of a person who so served, and if the application for such copy be not made in person, by depositing with such librarian 32 cents to cover the expense of sending such book.

Married for Spite.

A wedding took place at Lakeside on Tuesday which caused considerable excitement. The names of the parties were Hantz, and the bridegroom was 19 years old and the bride a widow, "fair, fat and 40." It appears the young fellow was keeping company with his cousin, a blooming girl, and that she was already to get married when they had a "flare up," and for spite the boy caught on the widow, who is his aunt by marriage, and wedded her. The parting words of the married bride to the disappointed girl were: "Never mind, you are young and will have lots of fellows."—Muskegon News.

MURDER.

While in the Discharge of His Duty The Murder Unknown.

Patrolman George C. Kimball, one of the most faithful members of the Police Department of Detroit, was fatally murdered while patrolling his beat on the morning of Oct. 6. The crime, committed by members of the gang of the work in Detroit. The officer was simply down in cold blood while discharging his duty as a guard of the city. The crime, like the murder of young Cornelius Allen, is a mystery, although the police officers bringing to justice the guilty parties, is a most terrible one, when all the circumstances connected with it are considered. The officer went on duty as usual and before he left the station conversed pleasantly with his fellow-officers, and while in mourning his loss and test to his fidelity to his trust. He was a popular among them, and as far as his beat had no enemies. About 12 o'clock on the morning of Oct. 6, Patrolman Kimball saw three men come out of Billy O'Keefe's saloon, a notorious place on Larned street, east, and according to the instructions he received from his superiors officers he watched them. The trio turned down toward Jackson avenue and Randolph street, where an officer recognized one of the men as "Bill Leonard, who was discharged in the police court only a few hours before. He called Patrolman Needham, who was on Jefferson avenue, to assist him, and stepping up behind the men, Tuttle arrested Leonard, taking Leonard to the station and was returned by Patrolman Kimball. Leonard was left at the station. Officer Tuttle remarked to Sergeant Martin, "Hold this man; there are two others I want to get." The prisoner knew what he was arrested for. He was much excited, and said that he had just come out of Billy O'Keefe's saloon, where he had been to get his washing. He was looked upon as a general charge of being a thief. Shots were heard and soon after the news was reported that Patrolman Kimball had been shot at killed. The other "roughs" were pursued and arrested, and it is evident that one of them was the murderer of Kimball.

No man has been better known for the last twenty-five years among the officers and rank of fresh water than George C. Kimball, a tugman, who served in every capacity, and for a long time captain of some of our finest towing craft. His family have been for years among the best known and most highly respected citizens of Algonac, for years the winter rendezvous of the towing fraternity. Mourning from any quarter among any people will be more sincere than that of the many stout-hearted sailors who truly loved Capt. George C. Kimball. Eleven years ago he joined the police force of Detroit. Physically he was one of the largest and most finely developed of the whole division, being a man among men, and on all occasions a parade. No man of the force was more obliging or tender hearted. Two years ago his son, a 19 years, most affectionate and worthy sailor boy, was killed at Buffalo by falling into the hold of the steam barge upon which he was employed. The severe affliction weighed most heavily upon the father, and gave an unusual tenderness to the faithful patrolman's life, which was at times almost pathetic. The sympathy then bestowed by his fellow officers and friends upon Officer Kimball was touching and most highly appreciated by him.

A Railroad Disaster.

A horrible railroad accident occurred at Elmford, on the Lake Shore road, the other morning, resulting in the death of three persons and the serious injury of three others, one of whom will probably die. Freight train No. 60 had pulled into the station, and was cutting out a car to be left on a siding when freight No. 80 dashed around a curve a few rods to the west and plunged into the coach on the rear of No. 60. The first warning that was had of the approach of the train was when the gleam of its headlight was seen as it rounded the curve a few rods from the train that was standing on the track. The coach took fire immediately after the collision, and although the crash aroused the villagers, who at once rushed to the scene; but as they had no fire engine, the best they could do was to fight the fire with water buckets, etc., which method, however, was of little account. The engine on train No. 30 was completely demolished and thrown down the embankment, where it lies on its side. Several cars on that train were smashed. The cars on No. 60 were smashed, and one car beside the caboose or passenger car was struck while the track for a long distance was strewn with the debris of cars and contents. The killed are Mrs. J. Rogers of Hudson, Mr. Warwick of West Union, Ohio, and A. A. Rose of Adrian. The bodies were burned almost to a crisp about the limbs and head and other portions badly charred. The blame rests on the two conductors, one for not flagging the moving train quick enough, the other for running too fast. They were seventeen minutes apart, but railroad rules limit them to only ten.

"The Bread-winners," the anonymous serial now appearing in The Century, is much praised by other authors. Mr. Howells, in denying the authorship to a friend, added, "I wish I had written it." The second half of the story, yet unpublished, is said to contain some very exciting chapters.

A Household Cantata.

Characters.—Mother of the family, children, and household.

SCENE.—MOTHER OF THE FAMILY.

At length my work is over and done! 'Tis true the morning is nearly gone, but still there's a half-hour left, I find, so now I'll sit down and improve my mind.

I'll write that letter I've owed so long, set right those accounts that would come wrong.

I'll peep into Scribner and Harper, too! Oh! in this half-hour what won't I do! Sweet is it when the dishes are washed! Sweet is it when the children are dressed.

Pleasant the time when the stockings are darned.

Hail to the hour of noontide rest! Hail! hail! hail! To the hour of noontide rest!

To the hour of noontide rest! To the hour of noontide rest!

Time for that when the daylight's dim! Hail to the hour of noontide rest! Hail! hail! hail!

To the hour of noontide rest! To the hour of noontide rest!

SCENE.—MOTHER, COOK, HOUSEMAID, AND CHILDREN.

to stay behind, promising him to report progress from time to time.

With matters thus arranged, I set out for the inn. I went on horseback as the supposed murdered man had done. I could not help thinking, as I rode along, that perhaps the landlord might try his hand upon me; for to all appearances I was a very quiet, inoffensive-looking traveler. But I was well-armed, and ready for him should he attempt anything of the kind.

Arriving at the inn, the landlord received me in person. No sooner did my eyes fall upon his countenance than I decided at once he was a villain. A more sinister-looking face I don't think I ever beheld. The name on the creaking sign was Saul Farman.

I stated my wishes to him, and was told that the house and all it contained was at my disposal. He would do the best for me that he could. So a bargain was struck, and I was soon domiciled in my quarter. Then I went quietly about my errand.

There was no positive proof yet—that the missing man was dead. Still, in my own mind, there was no doubt. I was sure that I had seen very many of his effects. His brother had described them too minutely for me to be mistaken. Thus day after day went on. I had no fears at all for my own safety now. I had given him to understand that I was the pastor of a church who had been granted a leave of absence to recruit my health. If he believed this he knew well that I was not game worth the powder. Such a class are not supposed to have a great amount of ready money about them.

One day, the brother, impatient at not hearing from me, came to the inn to make discoveries for himself. I was alarmed at his appearance, for I was afraid it would spoil all. Before he could do any mischief, I determined to get him out of the way, as I was afraid he would excite the landlord's suspicions, and therefore suggested that we should go out shooting. To this he agreed, for he wished to see me alone, where there would be no chance of our being overheard.

The landlord provided us with two old-fashioned guns and we departed, taking our way toward the river, which ran some half a mile from the house. Arrived upon its bank, we sat down to have a consultation as to what was best to be done. I described minutely to him what discoveries I had made, and he was for arresting him at once. But to this I objected. There was no positive proof yet of his brother's death. More evidence, if possible, must be obtained. I did not believe that a jury would convict him on the evidence I had got.

While thus lazily discussing the matter, I chanced to glance across the stream, and beheld a rabbit standing on the opposite bank. At sight of it I remembered the ostensible object on which I had come, and raising the gun I discharged it in that direction. I don't know whether the rabbit was harmed or not, but the piece kicked so that it sent me upon my back. To this day I don't know but what the landlord meant to kill me, by putting in so tremendous a charge. My companion laughed at me as I tried to scramble to my feet.

"Your gun kills both ways," he said. "I am sure it does one way," I answered. "But the rabbit, perhaps, is not so much hurt as I am."

As I spoke we both glanced over the river to see if we could see anything of our game; and there we saw a sight that I shall never forget to my dying day. The dark waters of the river seemed agitated in a strange manner, as though something beneath them was trying to reach the surface. In a moment more they parted, and a human face was thrust up. It was bloated and distorted by the long time it had remained in the water. My companion gave a cry that thrilled me through.

"My brother! my brother!" Here was, indeed, a proof of the murder.

The terrific discharge of the old gun had brought the body of the murdered man to the surface, and gave the last link of the chain.

For only a few moments did the body remain stationary, and then it slowly sank beneath the water again. A few hurried words passed between us, and then we went back to the inn. Saul Farman was standing in the doorway.

"What luck?" he said, as we came up.

"Good!" I answered. "we have the game we sought."

My hand fell heavily on his shoulder as I spoke.

"You are my prisoner!" he said. "I arrest you for the murder of Nathan Cleares!"

There was a short struggle. It less than a minute we had the iron upon his wrists. The body was recovered from the river, and at the sight of it the villain made a full confession.

In due time he was tried and convicted, and shortly after I witnessed his execution.

FARM AND HOUSEHOLD.

Foot-rot in Sheep.

N. Y. Tribune.

Foot-rot is the greatest drawback breeders of Merino sheep have to contend with in many sections of the country. Although easily cured, it is almost impossible to eradicate it entirely from the large flocks on account of its rapidly spreading nature. Though claimed to be contagious, sheep will live in the same flock from lambhood to age and never contract the disease, and it is astonishing how a sheep with foot-rot will hold its condition, while on its knees some of the time when feeding in pasture, and raise a good lamb and produce a heavy and fine fleece, although troublesome and pitiable to behold.

A sheep was never known to die of foot-rot. A blind man who has had experience in this disease can detect its presence by the smell, which is very offensive, and flies below the diseased feet and maggots are the result. When the sheep lies down the foot comes in contact with the point of the shoulder and the maggots spread from the foot to the sheep's body; these rapidly spread, and death results from this cause and not from foot-rot, strictly speaking, for any cause that would produce maggots would bring the same result; and yet it is frequently said that thousands of sheep have died of foot-rot.

Some writers claim that foot-rot is constitutional, and works in the blood and cannot be cured without internal treatment. If so, a flock of sheep badly infected would not be worth pottering with, and might as well be slaughtered at once. Thousands of sheep have been cured of the disease by an application externally of the proper remedy, and would never contract it again if kept away from diseased sheep. This proves conclusively that foot-rot is not a constitutional disease, and requires local treatment only. Merinos are by nature more subject to foot-rot than other breeds, while well-kept flocks are entirely exempt from ticks, which are a greater drawback on all the coarse-wool breeds than foot-rot is on the Merinos. Any considerable number of the coarse breeds herded together and having poor care, soon become a prey to the ravenous ticks, which will use up a flock of sheep much quicker than foot-rot.

Ensilage.

The thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh bulletins of the New York Agricultural Experiment Station gives the details of experiments in feeding ensilage to dairy cows. Mr. Sturtevant, the director, says there is a loss in digestible protein, as compared with green maize, and that the true and economical method of feeding it in practical dairying is in connection with other and nitrogenous foods. He says:

The conclusions derived from this series of experiments are that for the purpose of the butter maker a ration composed of hay, bran and ensilage, with the addition of a small quantity of cotton seed meal, would be the most favorable one for quantity; for the dairyman, corn meal might properly take the place of the shorts; for the keeper of store cattle, hay feeding, with ensilage, would seem an economical and sufficient food.

Our conclusions in regard to ensilage as derived from this one experiment, must be considered both favorable and unfavorable to its claims, and we repeat ourselves in summing up its merits and demerits; when it is the sole food it seems a food favorable toward maintenance, unfavorable toward the production of milk, unfavorable toward the total production of butter, but favorable for the recovery of the butter represented by the fat of the milk. We may infer from reasoning that the mixtures of other foods may obviate, in a certain degree, the unfavorable indications. Its effect upon the general appearance and health of the cow when fed in excess, seems detrimental to a slight degree, but when fed as an addition to other foods, the effect, so far as we can reason, would seem to be favorable.

ecdote of Edison.

"Edison used to work the other end of a circuit with me," says a telegraph operator interviewed in The Vicksburg Herald. "I knew him when he was in Memphis some thirteen or fourteen years ago. He always looked ratty and never spent his money on clothes, but the reason was that he was always tinkering with some new contrivance or other, and spent his money in paying for material to work out his inventions. He used to take press in Memphis. He was as fast as they make 'em and his copy never gave a telegraph editor a bit of trouble. He had a way while waiting for copy of drawing caricatures, illustrating the characters of news he was getting, and putting them along in the spaces of the copy he sent into the press. This made one of the papers up there, I forget which, red hot, and it opened on him and had a good deal to do with his being fired by the manager. Edison didn't want the fool editor to print his funny pictures in his telegraphic news. He only drew them for his own amusement. When he went to Boston with his yellow linen breeches on in the middle of winter, the manager of the office, finding he was an expert, hired him to keep the repeaters in order. Edison worked at the instruments a part of two days, and then was caught by the manager of the office fooling with some new contrivance of his own. 'Thought I hired you to keep those repeaters in order,' said the manager. 'You did,' said Edison, 'but I've put a kink or two into them that will make them keep themselves in order.' From that day his fortune was made."

THE MOON'S INFLUENCE ON THE GROWTH OF PLANTS.—A correspondent asks the Country Gentleman: "Does the moon have any effect upon peas or other crops; or in other words, does it make any difference when planting or sowing whether the moon is old or new?"

to which it answers: "The moon has no influence on the growth of plants, the entire light of the moon for one whole season not being equal to that of the sun for five minutes. Where full records have been kept for years they show no average influence but for short periods, sometimes bearing one way and sometimes the other. Superficial observers will remember coincidences with these rules, forget the failures and become confirmed in error."

Cook Book.

Pickled Eggs.—Boil hard and put into cold water; when cool, remove the shells, stick cloves into them, and drop in cold vinegar.

Muffins.—One cup of milk, one egg beaten, salt, and a half teaspoonful of baking powder. Have your gem irons very hot and fill half full of the mixture, bake quickly.

White Sponge Cake.—Whites of eleven eggs, one even tumblerful of flour, and one and one-half tumblerful of granulated sugar, one teaspoonful of cream tartar, one teaspoonful of vanilla; sift the flour three or four times before measuring.

Steamed Graham Bread.—Two cups of graham flour, one egg, one tablespoonful of melted butter, three-quarters of a cup of milk, one-half cup of molasses, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Steam one and one-half hours.

Velvet Blanc-Mange.—Two cups of sweet cream, one-half ounce gelatine, soaked in very little cold water one hour; one-half cup of white powdered sugar, one teaspoonful extract of bitter almonds. Heat the cream to boiling, stir in the gelatine and sugar, and as soon as they are dissolved take from the fire, beat ten minutes until very light, flavor by degrees, mixing it well. Put into molds wet with clear water.

Cracker Pudding.—Mix ten ounces of finely powdered crackers with a little salt; half a nutmeg, three or four tablespoonfuls of sugar, and three of butter; beat six eggs to a froth; mix with three pints of milk; pour over the crackers and let it stand till soft; then bake.

Sauce for Cracker Pudding.—One cup of sugar, one-half cup of butter, one egg, one teaspoonful of grated nutmeg, one lemon inside grated, three tablespoonfuls of boiling water.

Mock Duck.—Take a round of beefsteak, salt and pepper; prepare a bread stuffing and lay on the meat; sew up and roast.

English Pound Cake.—One pound of butter beaten to a cream; one pound of sugar ten eggs (whites and yolks beaten separately); one pound of dried flour; eight ounces of almonds; eight ounces of candied peel; two wineglasses of brandy. When all are well beaten together, add three pounds of English currents and one pound of raisins, both dredged in flour. Set it immediately in a moderate oven, and bake three hours at least.

Veal Loaf.—Three pounds of lean, raw veal, and one-half pound of salt pork, chopped fine. If you have an accommodating butcher he will chop it free of charge, but it is best to select the meat yourself and see it weighed, for it should not contain any gristle nor stringy pieces. It must be chopped very fine then mix thoroughly with it six small crackers rolled, two eggs, a piece of butter nearly the size of an egg, a teaspoonful of pepper, one small tablespoon of salt, a little sage or any other herb you may prefer to use for flavor. Pack tightly in a deep, square tin, cover with bits of butter, sprinkle cracker crumbs on the top and bake slowly for two hours. When cold slice it thinly. It is very nice for lunch or supper.

Delicious Cream Cakes are made from the following recipe: Take a pint of milk and melt as much butter in it, as will make a rich cream. Sift a quart of flour and make it into a dough with the melted butter and milk, just as soft as can be and roll. Add an even teaspoonful of salt. Do not make the cakes more than a quarter of an inch thick, and bake on a griddle.

ecdote of Edison.

"Edison used to work the other end of a circuit with me," says a telegraph operator interviewed in The Vicksburg Herald. "I knew him when he was in Memphis some thirteen or fourteen years ago. He always looked ratty and never spent his money on clothes, but the reason was that he was always tinkering with some new contrivance or other, and spent his money in paying for material to work out his inventions. He used to take press in Memphis. He was as fast as they make 'em and his copy never gave a telegraph editor a bit of trouble. He had a way while waiting for copy of drawing caricatures, illustrating the characters of news he was getting, and putting them along in the spaces of the copy he sent into the press. This made one of the papers up there, I forget which, red hot, and it opened on him and had a good deal to do with his being fired by the manager. Edison didn't want the fool editor to print his funny pictures in his telegraphic news. He only drew them for his own amusement. When he went to Boston with his yellow linen breeches on in the middle of winter, the manager of the office, finding he was an expert, hired him to keep the repeaters in order. Edison worked at the instruments a part of two days, and then was caught by the manager of the office fooling with some new contrivance of his own. 'Thought I hired you to keep those repeaters in order,' said the manager. 'You did,' said Edison, 'but I've put a kink or two into them that will make them keep themselves in order.' From that day his fortune was made."

An Old Scrap.

The following is an extract from a letter written by James K. Polk on Feb. 17, 1845, when he was president-elect, offering James Buchanan the post of secretary of state. Mr. Polk wrote:

"I disapprove the practice which has sometime prevailed of cabinet officers absenting themselves for long periods of time from the seat of government and leaving the management of their departments to chief clerks, or less responsible persons than themselves. I expect myself to remain constantly at Washington, unless it may be that no public duty demands my presence, when I may be occasionally absent, but then only for a short time. It is by conforming to this rule that the president and his cabinet can have any assurance that absenteeism will be prevented, and that the subordinate executive officers connected with them respectively will faithfully perform their duty."

Now that President Arthur and all of his cabinet and a great many of their subordinates are absent from Washington, the reproduction of the above comes in very pat.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS

IN CINCINNATI

Treating Consumption, Asthma,

Bronchitis, Nasal Catarrh, Sore

Throat, Loss of Voice, and other

Maladies of the Nose, Throat and Lungs.

DR. WOLFE treats the above named diseases by Medicated Inhalations. When thus administered, remedies are brought "face to face" in contact with the disease; whereas, if they are swallowed they mix with the contents of the stomach and never reach the organs of respiration.

DR. WOLFE has, by the judicious employment of Medicated Inhalations, assisted thousands to regain their health, many of whom had been pronounced incurable, and given up to die by their family physicians and friends.

DR. WOLFE has prepared a list of questions for sick people to answer. They are a character of the same he would ask were he by the bedside of the invalid. By writing answers to these questions any one can send an accurate statement of his disease and receive and use inhalant remedies at home, in any part of the United States or Canada, without incurring the expense and discomfort of making a visit to Cincinnati. Any one sending his name and post-office address with a three-cent postage stamp, will receive a copy of the "Circular of Questions" by return mail.

DR. WOLFE has published a medical book called "Common Sense, Cause and Cure of Consumption, Asthma, etc.," a copy of which he will send to any body who orders it, by mail, and incloses nine cents in postage stamps with his name and post-office address. The book is of great value to any one afflicted with any disease of the Nose, Throat, or Lungs.

DR. WOLFE has also published another book of 64 pages entitled "Light about the House we Live in," which every healthy person as well as sick, ought to read. This book has a special interest to persons who have weak lungs, or any symptoms of Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, or Catarrh. Sent to any address free by mail, on receipt of 5 cents in postage stamps.

Address, DR. F. B. WOLFE,

VIGOROUS HEALTH FOR MEN

THE PASTILLE CURE
TESTED FOR 5 YEARS
 FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY
 by use in thousands of cases. Founded on scientific medical principles, it has been growing in favor and reputation since its introduction. The direct application of this remedy to the seat of the disease makes its specific influence felt without delay. The natural functions of the human organism are restored. The animating elements of life which have been wasted are given back. The buoyant energy of the brain and muscular system renders the patient cheerful; he gains strength with rapidity.
 NERVOUS DEBILITY, organic weakness, and numerous obscure diseases, baffling the skill of best physicians, result for youthful indiscretion, too free indulgence, and over brain work. Do not temporize while such enemies lurk in your system. Take a remedy that has cured thousands, and does not interfere with your attention to business or cause any pain or inconvenience. Send for a Descriptive Pamphlet giving Anatomical Illustrations, which will convince the most sceptical that they can be restored to perfect manhood, and fitted for the duties of life, same as if never affected. HOW WATCHES ARE MADE
 In a SOLID GOLD WATCH, aside from the necessary thickness for engraving and polishing, a large proportion of metal is needed only to stiffen and hold the engraved portions in place, and supply strength. The surplus gold is actually needless. In James Ross' Patent Gold Watch Cases this WASTE is saved, and SOLIDITY and STRENGTH increased by a simple process, at one-half the cost. A plate of SOLID GOLD is soldered on each side of a plate of hard nickel composition metal, and the three are then passed between polished steel rollers. From this the cases, backs, centers, bezels, etc., are cut and shaped by dies and formers. The gold is thick enough to admit of all kinds of chasing, engraving and engine turning. These cases have been worn perfectly smooth by use without removing the gold. This is the only case made under this process. Each case is accompanied with a valid guarantee signed by the manufacturers warranting it to wear 20 years. 150,000 of these Cases now carried in the United States and Canada. Largest and Oldest Factory. Established 1854. Ask your Jeweler.

WASHINGTON.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.

The following circular has been issued from the Department of Agriculture: A convention of representatives of all the classes interested in the animal industries of the United States will be held in Chicago Thursday and Friday, November 15 and 16, for a conference concerning contagious diseases among our domestic animals. In addition to addresses and reports, the following topics are proposed for discussion. First, the extent to which contagious diseases exist among domestic animals in this country; second, the modes by which they are introduced or disseminated; third, the methods by which they may be eradicated or infected districts be isolated; fourth, the efficiency of existing legislation relative to such diseases. It is desired that this convention may be national and thoroughly representative in its character. The time and place have been selected for the convenience of a large number of those directly interested in the questions to be discussed, who are expected to be in attendance at the annual fair stock show under the auspices of the Illinois State Board of Agriculture, and the meeting of a number of important live stock associations to be held during the continuance of this show. Agricultural, live stock and dairy associations are invited to send representatives, and all persons interested in breeding, rearing, transporting, importing or exporting any class of farm animals will be welcomed to the convention.

(Signed) GEO. B. LORING,
Commissioner of Agriculture.

CARLISLE'S CHANCES.
Congressman John Ellis, of Louisiana, who is at present in Washington, said that he has been traveling much during the summer and fall and has discussed the Speakership question with a large number of Representatives, and he is convinced that Carlisle will be elected on the first ballot. He does not think it within the range of possibility that Randall will receive over sixty votes.

PHILADELPHIA'S REPORT.
The commissioners of immigration at Philadelphia report to the secretary of the treasury that 16,000 immigrants arrived there from November 7, 1882, to June 30, 1883. Ten persons were returned to Europe for various reasons not specified, and the commissioners say of this feature of their work that "it is attended with good results, inasmuch as it exerts a deterring influence on those who, under the laws, should not come to this country." During March, April and May 304 Irish immigrants, who were evicted tenants assisted to America by the British government, were landed at Philadelphia. Of these the commissioners say: "They were without exception strong, able-bodied people, and compared favorably with others; in fact they were better provided for than many other passengers. They belonged chiefly to agricultural communities and departed for the west to engage in farming. It is presumed they will become good citizens, and all the more so because they seemed honest and hard working people."

LITERARY-WEIGHT SUGGESTION.
In connection with his annual report, the postmaster general has a suggestion upon the subject of increasing the limit in weight on letter postage. It is thought the reduction in revenues, in consequence of such an act, will be balanced by increased use of mails. There are many cases in which it is hard to exact double postage on letters which in one post office may turn out to be half an ounce, and in another half a pound. There are also times when letters upon which one rate only is necessary when mailed absorb sufficient moisture on the route for the exaction of an additional rate when they reach their destination. Most letters weigh less than an ounce, and it is thought that increased limit would not materially effect the revenues. It is believed that the favor with which the public has received the recent reduction in postal rates will lead to some action in this matter by congress, should the postmaster general decide to recommend it.

NEWS NOTES.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.
Between 5 and 6 o'clock the other morning a serious accident occurred on the Minneapolis & St. Louis Road about two miles beyond Shakopee at the foot of a steep grade known as Chaska Hill, by which four men were killed. Two freights were coming into Shakopee when the rear portion of the first section broke loose and ran back into the other which was just rounding the curve in the ascent of the hill. A portion of the forward freight was telescoped and the engine and several cars of the last freight was badly wrecked, killing almost instantly the engineer and fireman and brakeman; also a man supposed to be a cattle drover. A whole car load of cattle were killed in the accident.

TRAIN ROBBERS' WORK.

Burt Loomis, express messenger on the Wash-bash Road, was overpowered and robbed the other night between Rosam and Peru, Ind. It is supposed about $1,500 were taken from the car. After the train passed Laketon, twenty miles from Peru, three masked men entered the express car from the rear and knocked the messenger insensible and gagged him. No other train men were in the car at the time. It is supposed that the robbers boarded the train at the Chicago & Atlantic crossing, where the last stop was made after leaving Laketon, and passed directly into the express car. Two suspicious persons have been arrested at Logansport, supposed to be implicated in the robbery.

WAS THAT BOILER INSPECTED?

The boiler of the steamer J. S. Robinson, which lay at the foot of Westlark street, Albany, N. Y., exploded with frightful force, instantly killing Capt. Geo. S. Warner and Fireman William Cleary, and seriously injuring Fred Tinslar, engineer, who was blown into the water and narrowly escaped drowning, and Willard Durand and Melville Ryan, deck hands. Richard VanZandt, son of Capt. VanZandt, of the tug Cora, from New Baltimore, lying alongside the Robinson, was also injured. Captain Robinson, of the Hattie M. Betts, was blown from his pilot-house on the wharf and severely injured. The Betts, which lay at the stern of the Robinson, was damaged $1,000. The Cora, alongside, was a total wreck, and the C. P. Groat, lying ahead of the Robinson, had the boiler work carried away and machinery damaged.

AN UNFAVORABLE OPENING.

The West Shore road was opened from Syracuse, N. Y., to New York city the other day. Two passenger trains collided near Fort Plain completely wrecking both engines and several cars. The engineer of the eastern bound train was instantly killed. A passenger on the west bound train was badly fractured but he lived but a short time. About 20 others were more or less injured.

SHARON'S SORROWS.

Senator Sharon states in reference to the charge of adultery brought against him by Aggie Hill, who claims to be his wife, that he will take immediate measures to punish his traducer to the full extent of the law. He characterizes the scheme as one of a characterless woman and unscrupulous man to extort money and he refuses to be plucked. It is stated by the other side that Gov. Richards, of Wisconsin, who attended the wedding of the Senator's daughter, to Sir Thos. Hackett, will testify that he heard Sharon acknowledge that he had been secretly married to Miss Hill.

TWENTY LASHES.

Andrew Doyle, of Halifax, N. S., some time ago convicted of a criminal assault on a six-years-old girl, and sentenced to nine months' imprisonment and 20 lashes with the cat-o-nine-tails, received the latter portion of his punishment the other day. A sailor from her majesty's war-ship officiated. After the fifth stroke he began to writhe and groan, and at the 13th lash he yelled, and continued to do so with increasing violence until the whip had fallen for the 20th time.

KICKING BREWERS.

The difference between the hop growers and hop dealers of New York has been settled by an agreement which is not in accord with the resolution adopted by the United States brewers' association at its June meeting in Detroit. The brewers therefore, refuse to abide by their agreement, and passed the following: Resolved, That it is not within the power of the board of trustees to change or modify the rules relating to the tare on hops adopted at the last annual convention, and that the members of the United States brewers' association are requested to strictly adhere to the resolutions then adopted.

DOES NOT AFFECT FOREIGN POSTAGE.

Postmaster Pearson of New York says: The fact that over 500 letters were deposited in the postoffice Tuesday for dispatch to foreign countries, each prepaid by two cents stamps, it would appear that a considerable portion of the public are under the erroneous impression that the foreign as well as the domestic rate of letter postage has been reduced. This is not, the postmaster adds, the case. The rate on letters to foreign countries of the universal Postal Union (of which nearly all civilized nations and their colonies are members) remains as heretofore at five cents per half ounce.

THE HERALD'S COURSE.

The New York Herald intends to carry the war into Africa, and in answer to the dealers' display and mass meeting announces its intention of establishing news routes. It promises to go farther than it did on a previous occasion, and not only to sell for two cents, but to sell at its stands and deliver through its carriers every other newspaper in the city at standard prices, particularly naming the Times, the Sun, the Tribune, the World, the Star, the Journal and Truth and the German papers, in that order. The papers are to be purchased in large enough quantities to make the Herald a rival of the leading news companies, and at contract rates with the papers that is advertising. George Williams, assistant managing editor, is entrusted with the carrying out of the whole arrangement, and advertisement is made for 500 paper carriers to work and regularly establish routes. The news-dealers are characterized as extortionate, and the Herald promises to have nothing more to do with them.

WILL NOT GIVE HIM UP.

Advices from Denning say Geo. Wilson and D. H. Leroy, who left here September 19 for Mexico to obtain little Charley McComas from the Indians, have returned. Their efforts were unsuccessful owing to the death of Juh, the principal Indian chief, who was drowned in the Casa Grande River while drunk, which had demoralized the band, and because of the presence of a large body of Mexican troops and the interference of the Mexican local authorities. They report the boy alive and well, with Juh's widow, who does not wish to give him up. They also report that the Indians elected Geronimo chief after the death of Juh, ignoring the latter's sons, which created bad feeling. Geronimo is said to have 150 warriors in his band and is using every means to obtain ammunition, even offering a horse for ten cartridges.

DEATH IN A STREET CAR.

An inbound train on the North Pennsylvania, a branch of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad, ran into a street car on the line at Susquehanna avenue and American street, Philadelphia. The car was demolished and all the passengers more or less injured, and two were instantly killed. There was no conductor on the car and the driver's duty required him to guide his team, see that the fares were deposited in the box and at the same time watch for trains at the railroad crossing. The railroad company had no safety gate at the crossing, although they had been directed by the city council a year ago to erect one at that place. The driver had stopped the car while the north bound train passed, but had not noticed the approach of a train on the other track. He started the horses, and before the passengers had a moment's notice the south-bound train, running at a rate of twenty-five miles an hour, struck the car on the side, tearing it to splinters and hurled the passengers bruised and bleeding into a promiscuous heap. Ambulances from the Episcopal hospital arrived quickly and most of the sufferers were removed to that institution, while others were taken into neighboring houses, and a few of the injured taken to their homes. It is said by a man who watched the accident that a boy was acting as driver, while the regular driver was inside the car.

PLAYING WITH FIRE-ARMS.

Paulina Slissman, 10 years old daughter of a German newspaper carrier of Chicago, while returning from a saloon with a pitcher of beer, was shot and instantly killed by William Murkeraski, a boarder in her father's house, who was fooling with a revolver, the bullet first passing through Murkeraski's knee, inflicting a fatal wound. In falling the girl struck her head on a beer pail, making a gash in the skull two inches deep.

PITTSBURGH'S LOSS.

The Pittsburgh Exposition Building Totally Destroyed by Fire.

LOSS ABOUT $1,000,000.

The magnificent buildings of the Pittsburgh Exposition Society, on the north bank of the Allegheny River, have been totally destroyed. The immense structures, with their almost endless variety of exhibits, illustrative of every branch of science and mechanical skill, which has been visited by thousands of people, daily since the opening, September 6, is now a mass of splintered and powdered embers, and curled and tangled iron. The destruction is complete and nothing but the site remains of the home of specimens of brain and brawn in which Pittsburghers felt so much pride. The fire was first discovered at 2 o'clock in the morning in the boiler room, attached to Machinery Hall, at the south end of the building, and before the watchman could give an alarm the flames had spread to Floral Hall, Machinery Hall and the main building, and in less than ten minutes the buildings were on fire from end to end, and when the Fire Department arrived on the grounds the damage was beyond control. Nothing was saved and the firemen turned their attention to saving the adjacent property, many residences on South avenue being in flames. By hard work, however, they succeeded in saving all these, with no more damage done than the burning of fences and cornices. The repeated alarms sounded aroused almost the entire population of the two cities, and it is estimated that not less than from 75,000 to 100,000 witnessed the conflagration. The reflection of the flames illuminated the country for miles around making possible the reading of the finest newspaper print. In one hour from the discovery of the fire a mere attenuated skeleton of a once magnificent structure was all that was left. The origin of the fire is still uncertain. Numerous theories have been advanced, but so far most of them have fallen to the ground. It is known to have started in the boiler house, and may have been caused from a spark under the boiler, or the accidental ignition of some contagious substance from a gas jet left burning in the boiler house.

Among the rumors current concerning the origin of the fire is that it was caused by an explosion of benzine in the boiler room. The story is to the effect that Prof. Warner, the balloonist, and his assistant, Edward Williams, were filling a balloon in the boiler room, when an explosion occurred from the careless handling of benzine, which was being used as a dryer. The only evidence in support of this theory is the fact that a druggist named Neeley sold Warner three gallons of benzine. If this should prove the true theory it will raise an interesting question on the payment of insurance. Another theory is incendiary. Considerable bad feeling has existed amongst the Exposition Society by parties who lived in a boat house located near the Exposition building, which the society had removed, much against the will of the occupants. The loss will probably reach $1,000,000. Secretary Patterson places the value of the buildings destroyed at $150,000, the insurance being $40,000. The exhibitors will sustain a loss of about $800,000. An irreparable loss, however, was occasioned by the destruction of the relief department. The cash value of the articles contained therein did not exceed $10,000, but many cannot be replaced. Arabian, the first locomotive ever run in the United States, has also been destroyed.

CRIME.

MURDERED AND ROBBED.
A dispatch from Indian Territory reports a terrible tragedy at the home of Isoma, an Indian 80 years old. One night recently four unknown persons demanded admittance. The Indian refused, whereupon they fired into the hut and beat down the door. As they entered the Indian jumped out of the window. He was seized, and refusing to tell where he kept his money was subjected to inhuman torture. Remaining obdurate, the robbers shot him seven times and beat him insensible. Then they plundered the hut, carrying away not less than $5,000. Isoma died in a few hours. The robbers escaped.

A DEAF MUTE'S CRIME.
A dispatch from Iowa Station, Ill., on the Carthage branch of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, gives an account of a fatal tragedy at that place. Wm. Diver, a deaf mute, rejected by his brother's widow, attempted to kill her with a hand ax, and inflicted serious injuries. Interrupted in his endeavor to spiritualize his sister-in-law he cut his own throat, and pounded himself on the head with the ax until he fell dead. The woman will recover.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.
Detective Ten Broeck, of Indianapolis, made affidavit charging Alexander P. Potts with the murder of Ada Atkinson, near Lafayette a few days ago. He claims that Potts had a knife that would make wounds like those on the murdered girl; that his shirt and vest had blood stains on them, and that the tracks found near the Atkinson house fit Potts' boots. Potts is aged 35. The general belief is that he is not the murderer. Twenty-eight gashes were found upon the murdered girl.

A BRUTAL CRIME.
The Butcher's Run district, in Allegheny City, made famous by the great floods of 1874, was the scene of one of the most brutal murders that ever occurred in that vicinity. John Brown and Jas. Weaver, aged respectively 22 and 24 years, were partners in a horse trade, and a dispute arose between them over family matters, and the partnership was dissolved. Brown was indebted to Weaver $47 50, and he called at Weaver's home, and in the presence of Weaver's wife and child demanded payment. Weaver promised to settle but Brown insisted on having it at once and finally drew a revolver and fired three times, each bullet taking effect in Weaver's body, killing him instantly. The enraged man then jumped on the lifeless remains and after taking the money from a pocket, first beat out his brains with the butt of a revolver and then broke a chair over his head, while the wife and child of the murdered man stood by paralyzed with fear and horror.

BUTCHERED BABIES.
On a ranch near Lampasas, Mex., lived a well-to-do Mexican named Antonio Valdez, whose family consisted of a wife and five children, the eldest 10, the youngest 2. The wife had been subject to spells of melancholy, and often exhibited marks of temporary insanity. At such times she invariably sought to do violence to the little ones. A few days ago during the absence of her husband the woman was attacked by a fit of unusual severity, during which she grabbed a huge butcher knife and at once began the work of destruction. The oldest child, a sweet girl of 10, was the first to fall beneath the wild mother's madness so peculiar to the insane, in quick succession she slew the other children, hacking and stabbing them in a most barbarous, sickening manner. Suddenly taking a parting look at the dead she plunged the knife into her breast.

MEN IN SILK.

The Appearance and Dress of a Korean Embassy.

San Francisco Chronicle.

Among the passengers on the Arabic, which arrived at San Francisco recently from Yokohama, where the Korean Embassy and suite, en route to Washington. The party was composed of eleven persons. As this is the first Embassy ever sent from Korea, aptly styled the "Hermit Land," it is one composed of especially noted men, the chiefs all being prominent officers of the Korean Government. The visit of the Embassy is in return of that of Gen. Foot, who was sent by this government to Korea.

The visitors, who are probably the first of their race ever seen on this continent, were the subject of much comment and curiosity, as their peculiar dress made them noticeable to the most uninterested spectators. They were, indeed, most noticeable, the fanciest costume being so unlike any ever seen here as to bear comparison to none, and a brief description would not out of place. Their head-gear is a sort of heaver, or a cross between a Quaker hat and beaver, formed, in the case of the high functionaries, of very finely split bamboo and silk threads woven upon the framework thus made, the whole being a fine, transparent, network. The more humble of the party wore hats, the crowns of which were made of horse hair, while the framework of the brim was the same, the distinction in rank being at once seen by the fabrics of their head-coverings, the lower classes being restricted to all horse hair hats. Their undress coats, which they wore in their rooms, had the appearance of a jelly tin, worked of the same fabric as their outdoor hats. Their hair was taken up in the fashion of the Japanese of twenty years ago, with the exception that their heads were unshaven and the topknot allowed to stand erect on the crown of the head, the whole being about three inches in height. Their faces presented an appearance somewhat like the Chinese and Japanese, yet differing materially from either. Long straggling hair is on the faces of all, though being an almost beardless race, the mustache and whiskers grow very sparsely. On either side of the face hand long rows of amber beads, those of the high functionaries reaching down to the waist, while those of the attaches meet under the chin.

Their dresses were of white silk of exquisite pattern, the coat being a short tunic, with loose trousers gathered together about the calves and the legs incased in padded stockings, while the shoes were somewhat like those of the Chinese in appearance. Their outdoor costume was the same, with the exception of a long gown or tunic of gaudy colors and exquisite pattern, which completed their fantastic and eccentric make-up.

Pope Leo at the Vatican.

Canon Barry in The Captain Fracassa, Rome.

Leo XIII. is now seventy-four years of age. He is tall, thin and bony. His face is of an ivory tint, and his eyes and lips are very expressive and smiling. He looks very firm. Simeoni says he resembles Voltaire, but Leo XIII's smile is totally different to Voltaire's smile. The Pope wears his age well and walks remarkably straight. His eyes are wonderfully intelligent-looking and his voice is extremely harmonious. He speaks several languages as well as any professor of languages. He never says a foolish thing nor does a foolish thing, like Pius IX., whose policy was fatal to the Pope's temporal power. He rises very early, and spends the first hours of the day in prayer and generally in his bedroom. At 6 o'clock he says mass. At 8 o'clock he breaks his fast with a cup of chocolate, reading his correspondence all the time. At 9 o'clock he receives Jacobini and those chiefs of religious societies who may demand audience. At noon he receives those Roman patriarchy who have remained true to him, and the Ambassadors. At one o'clock he dines, his dinner rarely costing more than two francs, or half a dollar. Once upon a time Popes were great eaters and drinkers, and were given to every kind of extravagance; but Leo XIII. is nothing of all this. After dinner he takes a little walk in the Vatican grounds, or he visits the museums, galleries, &c. Sometimes he is carried in a chair quilted with white satin. He is very fond of the garden and likes to play the gardener at times. He frequently receives visitors in the garden and talks of flowers to them to avoid other subjects. The first and second time I saw him was in the garden. When I went with the pilgrims he was preceded by three Noble Guards, and at his side was Monsignor Maecel, his secret chamberlain. He wore a wide-brimmed hat and a large red cloak. We were presented to him by one. He looked at us and scrutinized us well, I saw he recognized me, but he treated me like the others—as if he saw me also for the first time. "Are you all Irish?" he said. "I am happy to receive the faithful of that nation!" He then looked again at us, as if he would have read into our souls. "Your bishop," he continued, "brought me offerings from a people pressed with poverty." Then seeing me still on my knees he offered me his hand to raise me. "I had thought," he continued, "that the offerings would have decreased; but it was not so. We live on charity" (and he smiled sadly), "for all we had has been taken from us. Oh! these persecutions!" he cried with a loud voice. "They purify us even when the heaven is pure and immaculate." I seem to see him now. His head looked like a relief on the blue sky. The sun was setting, and he looked up to the sky, as if seeking an inspiration, there. "I have heard," he then said, "that notwithstanding the general state of anguish in Ireland, the churches are full of people. May the Lord be praised and blessed, and may my prayers bring peace on the people! Lord, hear our prayers and judge us!" He then blessed us, and the audience was finished. I have never seen so much power united to so much simplicity. At 4 o'clock the Pope resumes his official audience in the Vatican. At 7 o'clock only he takes a little rest, but at 8 o'clock he returns to work in his private rooms, where he remains until 10 o'clock when he retires for the night, not always to sleep, though, for it is during the night that he reads and writes for his own pleasure, his favorite subject being the "Science of St. Thomas," and essays on the works of that saint, which he receives from every part of the world whenever and wherever published.

Elder Littlejohn's Prayer for the Places of His Acquaintance.

Col. J. H. Orr, in some reminiscences, tells of a characteristic prayer offered by Elder Littlejohn in 1850. It was a rather pointed petition, but not as unusual then as it would be now. He approached and got to the point in the following manner: "Oh Lord, there is great wickedness and much drunkenness in our young and rising towns. Therefore, Oh Lord, we crave thy blessing. Now Milwaukee, just sprung up, is bad; Chicago, another mushroom, is worse, yet do Thou, Lord, bless and improve them. Then there is Michigan City, a place of sand and whisky, and Laporte, of mud and wickedness; and, indeed, they need Thy blessing. And there is Mishawaka, which boasts itself something, but has nothing but self-righteousness. Good Lord, open its eyes, that it may receive Thy blessing. Then we have Elkhart, and Bristol and Mottville; little things, but wicked. Do, Lord, bless them (then pausing for breath, and raising his voice to its highest pitch), and lastly, then, dear good Lord, even bless Constantinople, where Gov. Barry sells whisky at three cents a glass! Amen."

Any Tom, Dick or Harry can open a beer saloon, but it takes a "Jimmy" to open a bank. N. Y. News.

In a communication published in the Army and Navy Journal, Commander J. B. Coghlan, U. S. N., states that the consultations of the eminent naval and other surgeons, respecting his rheumatic attack, failed to afford him the slightest relief. By advice of Dr. Hoyle he used St. Jacob's Oil, which wrought a complete and, as he says wonderful cure. John Carr Moody, Esq., lawyer at Vallejo, Cal., was likewise cured of a severe joint trouble.

A Query and the Answer.

A bald-headed man, who has heard that the hairs of a man's head are numbered, wants to know if there is not some place where he can obtain the back numbers. Carboline, the deodorized extract of petroleum, the natural hair restorer, will supply the back numbers. All druggists keep it.

"There is always rheum at the top," said a man with a cold in his head.—Boston Bulletin.

Why suffer longer from Catarrh, Hay-Fever, and cold in the Head? A sure cure is Ely's Cream Balm. It is not a liquid or snuff, and is easily applied. Fifty cents.

Another Case of Kidney Disease Cured by Rheumatic Syrup.

FURNACE VILLAGE, Wayne County, N. Y., March 3, 1882.

Gents:—Fifteen years ago I had a very severe attack of rheumatism, which settled in my back and hips, and much of the time for the last five years I have been unable to attend to my business; for weeks and weeks at a time I have been unable to turn in my bed or to feed myself. I have tried many remedies, and two years ago consulted one of the most celebrated physicians in the State, who pronounced it kidney disease, but I grew worse all of the time during his treatment. I heard your Rheumatic Syrup highly recommended, and I tried it, and before I had used two bottles all pain had left me, and to day I can get about and am able to attend to my business, and am improving rapidly every day. I am confident that the Rheumatic Syrup, if taken as directed, will cure any case of rheumatism or kidney disease. I am most respectfully yours, GARRET AMMERMAN, Overseer of the Poor.

I recommend to those suffering with Hay-Fever, Ely's Cream Balm. I have tried nearly all the remedies, and give this a decided preference. It gave me immediate relief.—C. T. STARRANS, Hardware Merchant, Ithaca, N. Y. Price 50c.

DON'T DIE IN THE HOUSE. "Rough on Lice," clears out lice, mice, fleas, roaches, bed-bugs, &c.

JACKSON, Mich., Feb. 5, 1882.

DR. PENICILLIN: Please send me $5.00 worth of your valuable medicine. It is doing wonders for some ladies here, one in particular, who a year ago was confined to her room, and most of the time to her bed. Every one said she had consumption. I knew she had because your medicine was recommended to cure it, and persuaded her to try it. In a few weeks there was a decided change; in a few more she let her hired help go, and has done her housework ever since, and walks every day a distance of a mile and a half. Respectfully yours,

Sold by Druggists. MRS. GEO. COREY.

Since the introduction of spelling match es, many words have come prominently into notice—words that were previously comparatively unknown. For instance we find Antiseptic, meaning: preventing and stopping all fermentation and decomposition, and Analgesic: Painkiller. Then there is Antipyretic: cooling down inflammation and fever heat. These three words so often mis-spelled, are three of the cardinal virtues of something that will cure many a bad spell, and that is Salicycia, pronounced Sal-i-cyl-i-ca. Warranted to afford immediate relief, and guaranteed to cure Rheumatism, Gout and Neuralgia. 614

Daughters, Wives and Mothers.
We emphatically guarantee Dr. Marchisi's Catholicon, a Female Remedy, to cure Female Diseases, such as Ovarian troubles, Inflammation and Ulceration, Falling and Displacements or bearing down feeling, Irregularities, Barrenness, Change of Life, Leucorrhoea, besides many weaknesses springing from the above, like Headache, Bloating, Spinal weakness, Sleeplessness, Nervous debility, Palpitation of the heart, &c. No Cure, No Pay! For sale by Druggists. Prices $1.00 and $1.50 per Bottle. Send to Dr. J. B. Marchisi, Utica, N. Y., for Pamphlet, free. For sale by R. S. ARMSTRONG, Druggist.

THE HERALD.

THURSDAY, OCT. 11, 1883.

—New York again steps to the front with an old couple. The parties in question are Peter Bogart and wife, of Downsville, Delaware County. They are both in their ninety-sixth year, having been married seventy-six years. At the celebration of their seventy-sixth anniversary of the marriage there were present descendants to the fifth generation. They have a daughter who is seventy-three years old, and a sister of Mr. Bogart is in her seventy-ninth year. Both are living with the aged couple.—N. Y. Sun.

Excited Thousands.

All over the land are going into ecstasy over Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption. Their unlooked for recovery by the timely use of the great life saving remedy, causes them to go nearly wild in its praise. It is guaranteed to positively cure Severe Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Hay Fever, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Loss of Voice, or any affection of the Throat or Lungs. Trial bottles free at R. S. Armstrong's drug store. Large size, $1.00 2

For nearly fifty years the people of the United States have been horrified, startled and perplexed by the audacity and success of a sect calling themselves "Mormons, or Latter-Day Saints." Though founded in fraud, this sect has succeeded in spite of all opposition, until to-day Mormonism in Utah presents a problem which is the puzzle of statesmen and despair of moral reformers.

We see gathered there the diseased and fanatical minds of the whole world, with enough of scheming knaves to mould them to crime and disloyalty, enough of hardened villains to commit the most heinous crimes, and yet enough of deluded but industrious converts to sustain the Mormon leaders in luxury by unrequited toil. It was supposed that the death of Brigham Young would be the end of this monstrous system of hate and crime; but another has taken his place and the work goes bravely on.

At present the demand for a work exposing the secret rites and mysteries of this strange sect is greatly increased by the determination of the General Government to put in force active and decisive measures against those people who, calling themselves Saints, have violated every law against God and man. The great political parties of the Union have solemnly pledged themselves to the people, that this shameful blot upon the American name shall be removed at the earliest practicable day, and it becomes therefore the duty of all good citizens to inform themselves concerning this great evil, that they may render an intelligent as well as active support to the Government in its efforts to enforce its laws and uphold its dignity.

A Blessing to All Mankind.

In these times when our newspapers are flooded with patent medicine advertisements, it is gratifying to know what to procure that will certainly cure you. If you are bilious, blood out of order, Liver inactive, or generally debilitated, there is nothing in the world that will cure you so quickly as Electric Bitters. They are a blessing to all mankind, and can be had for only fifty cents a bottle of Armstrong. 2

Old Mammoth, at Jackson

This store has been re-fitted at a large expense and is now being filled with NEW, FIRST-CLASS merchandise.

For many years it has been the rule of the former proprietors, Camp Morrill & Camp, to sell nothing but first-class goods and under no circumstances allow any salesman to misrepresent. As it is my desire to continue the business, and wishing to increase the sales largely, I shall sell all goods at the lowest possible profit and at any time goods bought from my establishment that are not as represented, may be returned and I will cheerfully refund the money. I buy all my goods for Cash, and as my store is the best lighted of any in the State, the customer can see exactly what they are getting.
