Married, at the M. E. Parsonage, Chelsea August 5 1885, by Rev. J. A. McIlwain, Arthur M. Hunter of Chelsea and Miss Phenia R. Shenk, of Lima, Michigan.

A number of our friends, both gentlemen and ladies, have made us friendly and encouraging calls, since we entered upon our new enterprise. Many thanks. Others cordially invited.

A heavy rainfall, last Saturday, Sunday and Monday, has once more saturated the earth, which had become very dry. The amount of water that fell was very great on Sunday night, and was accompanied by a high wind which did much damage to oats and corn.

During a shower last Saturday, lightning, having very much the appearance of a fire-ball, made a startling call at the telephone office. The lightning arrestor, against which it struck with a report resembling that of a rifle, and at which point the Manchester wire was melted, prevented it from entering the office.

While, in other places, signs of mourning for the departure of our Nation's hero, General U. S. Grant, are displayed in great profusion; only one store in Chelsea, the Housekeepers' Bazaar, has, up to this writing, displayed any drapery. Will neither our town board nor our citizens take any notice of this great, sad event?

Might not our Town Board at least request the tolling of the church bells during the hour of the funeral service; and shall not our stores be closed as a mark of respect to him, whom the whole civilized world has honored as no other man was ever honored? Chelsea, look to your laurels

Five and one-fourth inches of water fell in Chicago between Saturday night, 12 o'clock, and Sunday night, 12 o'clock; nearly twice the usual amount for a full month. Within the limits of the city, including twenty-eight square miles, there must have fallen the enormous quantity of 2,554,675,200 gallons, equivalent to 10,644,500 tons of water, which would fill more than 21 miles of the channel of the Chicago river.

NOTICE.

AROUND A GREAT STATE.

Harbor Improvements.

From the annual report of Capt. D. W. Lockwood, corps of engineers concerning the improvement of the harbors on the lakes, we make the following extracts with reference to Lake Michigan:

During the past fiscal year $31,217 has been expended on the improvement of the Michigan City harbor, Indiana, leaving $3,718 available. The work to be done comprises the completion of the new east breakwater, pier and the construction of the west exterior breakwater. It is estimated that $450,000 will be required to complete the improvement, and that $250,000 of this amount can be profitably expended during the next fiscal year.

The sum of $6,225 has been expended on the improvement of Charlevoix harbor and entrance to Pine Lake, Mich., leaving $4,802 available. It is estimated that $30,000 can be profitably expended during the next fiscal year in extending the south pier 30 feet and in completing work already in progress. Capt. Lockwood estimates that $115,000 will be required to complete the work.

An appropriation of $50,000 is asked for Frankfort harbor, Mich., during the coming fiscal year, and $80,000 is estimated as necessary to complete the improvement. Two thousand nine hundred and ninety-three dollars were expended during the year, leaving $4,644 available.

For the improvement of Portage Lake harbor, Mich., $9,074 were expended during the year and $9,008 remain available. The improvement contemplates a channel entrance to Portage Lake 307 feet wide with a depth of 15 feet. It is estimated $197,500 will be required to complete this work and that $150,000 can be expended during the next fiscal year.

Only $925 was expended on Manistee harbor, Mich., during the past fiscal year, leaving $11,740 available. The improvement of this harbor consists in extending piers and having a dredged channel connect lower Manistee river with Lake Michigan. An appropriation of $50,000 is asked for, and $102,700 is estimated will complete the work.

On the improvement of Ludington harbor, Mich., $13,478 was expended during the year, leaving $4,945 available. It is estimated $55,000 will complete the work, and $40,000 can be profitably expended during the next fiscal year. The expenditure during the year on White River harbor, Mich., was $6,300, and $5,573 remains available. The improvement contemplates a dredged channel 200 feet wide. The report says $94,225 will complete the improvement, and an appropriation of $50,000 is requested. On Muskegon harbor, Mich., last year's expenditure was $7,268, and $17,559 remained available. The improvement of the channel has for its object an increase of width from 185 to 300 feet, and will cost $113,625, of which $100,000 can be profitably expended during the next year.

The sum of $41,760 remains available after this year's expenditure of $9,568 on the harbor of Grand Haven, Mich. The permanent completion of this harbor depends upon the extension of the present piers so that vessels can enter during any weather. It is estimated to cost $210,000, of which sum $150,000 could be profitably expended during the next fiscal year.

Eleven thousand nine hundred and forty-one dollars was expended on Black Lake harbor, Mich., during the past fiscal year. An appropriation of $25,000 is asked for, which it is expected will complete the projected improvement. The amount available for the harbor of South Haven, Mich., after an expenditure during the past fiscal year of $1,627 is $8,714. To complete the improvement the piers should be extended and those already in place made sand tight. This will require $52,500, of which $40,000 is asked for the next fiscal year.

On St. Joseph harbor, Mich., only $558 was expended, leaving an available balance of $3,015. The estimate asks $51,015 will be required to complete the work and recommends an appropriation.

Deeper Water Ways.

Lieut.-Col. Poe, having in charge the improvements of rivers and harbors in Michigan, has made his annual report to the Chief of Engineers. He recommends that the channel at the Lime-Kiln Crossing be made 400 feet wide instead of 300 as at first contemplated.

In the Saginaw river it is proposed to secure a channel of 300 feet in width with a depth of fourteen feet from Saginaw Bay to Bay City, and twelve feet thence to the head of the river, a distance of about twenty-three miles.

Hay Lake channel, in the Sault Ste. Marie river, Col. Poe says, should be deepened to twenty feet. He thinks fully seven years will be occupied in accomplishing these results and it will be well to remember that the improvements will not become available until the whole is completed.

A large appropriation is recommended for the improvement of St. Mary's Falls Canal and the river between Lakes Superior and Huron. The increase in tonnage urges in the strongest way that the work of preparing to take care of a commerce greater than the present canal and lockage system could accommodate shall be entered upon without delay.

The St. Clair Flats ship canal is used by nearly 40,000 vessels a year, carrying nearly 20,000,000 tons. It is proposed to widen and deepen the channel.

Appended is a tabulated statement showing the amount of money available and the amount asked for the next fiscal year and the amount required to complete the work:

Table with 4 columns: Rivers and Harbors, Available, Asked for, Required. Rows include Detroit River, St. Clair Flats, Ship Canal, Clinton River, Lake Huron Harbor of Refuge, Saginaw River, Au Sable Harbor, Thunder Bay Harbor, Hay Lake Channel, St. Mary's Falls Canal, Dry Dock, St. Mary's Falls Canal.

Will Soon be Determined.

The week ending July 26 was the third week since the strike was inaugurated in the Saginaw Valley and sixteen days since the mills shut down. Three shingle mills and two sawmills at East Saginaw are in operation and five mills are running at the other end. This leaves seventy-eight mills and nearly as many saw blocks idle. A low estimate places the daily payroll of these mills at $12,000, from which the money taken out of circulation in the last three weeks may readily be computed. It is not alone this loss which the working element has to sustain, but the stoppage means 125,000,000 feet of lumber less in the production of the season and a corresponding decrease in the output of logs next winter. Nearly every branch of mercantile trade is suffering from the idleness of these plant industries. How long it will last is a problem not easy of solution. While there are ear marks of a slight weakening of the strikers, they possess confidence in their ability to hold out indefinitely, and an effort is to be made to effect a union of engineers, sawyers and millers, skilled labor that cannot be easily replaced. If it should succeed the strike may be prolonged. Many of the men say they are ready to go to work, but are afraid to. Others demand concessions which the mill owners are unwilling to grant. It cannot be denied that the men have many grievances, but their mistake was in going out at a time of great depression, and the labor market is overstocked.

The salt block of Warner & Eastman, which was shut down by force and two of the men nearly killed by the strikers, has started again, also the mills of Bliss Bros., and C. L. Grant & Co. This will greatly weaken the cause of the strikers, and it is intimated they will use every effort to prevent any more mills from starting.

All of the deputies have been discharged by the sheriff, and the strikers are well behaved and quiet. It is believed the turning point one way or the other is near at hand.

After Five Years

Joseph Harris a prominent dealer in liquors on West Madison street, Chicago, has been arrested on a warrant obtained by a Detroit detective charging him with the larceny five years ago, of $5,300 from the banking house of Fisher, Preston & Co., of Detroit. Ed Rice, who was arrested in Syracuse, N. Y., for the crime, is supposed to have given the Detroit authorities information concerning the matter and Harris' arrest followed. The latter has heretofore been regarded as a highly respectable citizen, and his apprehension is a source of great surprise.

We append a brief account of the robbery: The robbery of Fisher, Preston & Co.'s bank at No. 65 Woodward avenue occurred July 22, 1880. The first account was that shortly after 1 o'clock p. m. Fred D. Gifford, clerk of the bank, happened to be alone in the office when a well dressed man asked him to step outside and see a gent in a carriage who wanted to buy some bonds. While Gifford was doing so, one of the robber's confederates, probably a boy, slipped behind the counter and stole $5,130 in cash. When Gifford discovered what had been done he fainted away, and on recovering, in the first moments of his chagrin and mortification invented a slung shot story which was subsequently modified as above.

After long search by the detectives it was decided that the notorious Ed. Rice had a hand in the robbery, but Ed. always managed to keep out of the way until his recent arrest in Syracuse, N. Y.

Militia in Mourning.

The following order has been issued to the various military companies of the state:

MILITARY DEPARTMENT, MICHIGAN, ADJUTANT-GENERAL'S OFFICE, LANSING, July 24, 1885.

[General order No. 15.] With profound sorrow the commander-in-chief makes official announcement to the Michigan state troops of the death of Gen. Ulysses S. Grant, who died at Mt. McGregor, N. Y., July 23d inst.

As a mark of respect to the illustrious dead the officers of the Michigan state troops are hereby ordered to wear the usual badge of mourning upon the left arm and sword hilt whenever in uniform, for the period of 30 days, from and after the receipt of this order, and to turl and drape all colors during that period.

The quartermaster-general will cause a gun to be fired every half hour, at the capital, from sunrise to sunset on the 8th proximo, that being the date fixed for the funeral ceremonies.

By order of the commander-in-chief, W. C. HUMPHREY, Captain and assistant adjutant-general.

Using Violence.

The strike in the Saginaw Valley which a day or two ago manifested symptoms of an early close may possibly be prolonged, it being claimed that the settled policy of the strikers is to prevent the mills from running through the intimidation of skilled workmen, whose places cannot easily be filled.

The mill of Rust, Eaton & Co. started on Monday, July 23 with a full force, under the same conditions existing previous to the strike. The second morning the mill did not start.

Mr. Wheeler, representing the firm, gave intimation of some of the men as the reason. He said about 1 o'clock in the morning two men drove up to the house of Edward Spain, the head Sawyer, and with clubs smashed in the windows of the house. Spain was awakened and when asked for an explanation of the affair, was told that the damage done was but a slight inkling of what would happen if he did not stop running the saw at the mill. For this reason the Sawyer declined to go to work this morning. A number of others were also frightened, hence the mill did not start.

Like the Dog in the Manger.

A special from Bay City to a Detroit paper says:

The strike seems to have settled down to a test of endurance. The strikers say they can hold out as long as necessary and the Knights of Labor will keep them in supplies, which are now coming in by the carload from various parts of the state. The mill-men have planted themselves on the proposition to run their mills without dictation from outsiders and are willing to await the result. They say they will make as much money with the mills lying idle as if they were running. Business of all kinds is paralyzed. The question is, will supplies continue to pour in to support the thousands of idle men and their families. It will depend now, but what will be the result when winter comes.

A New Railroad.

The first survey of the St. Clair River & Detroit railroad has been completed. The survey was under the management of Assistant Engineer Torry, of the Michigan Central. The line starts at St. Clair and runs down the river to Marine City, thence to Fort Haven, Anchorville, New Baltimore, Mt. Clemens, Fraser and Center Line, where it intersects the Detroit & Bay City branch of the Michigan Central. This is only a preliminary survey to get a map of the surrounding country. The leveling was done and the topographical features taken by Mr. Casey of Detroit. The country passed through is the easiest to grade and bridge of any in the state.

Bergeron's Murderers.

The two men who had the altercation with Dolphice Bergeron in resulting in the killing of the latter, have been arrested at their homes in Saginaw City. They are William Pearson, aged 31, and William Breckling, aged 28. They did not know Bergeron was dead. Pearson says they were in Bergeron's saloon pulling matches for drinks; that Bergeron lost, but refused to furnish the liquor, claiming that Pearson had lost; that angry words followed, when Bergeron threw a glass at Pearson, which missed him, and Pearson then took up the pitcher and struck Bergeron on the head; then ran away, followed by Bergeron, and went home.

A Brutal Murder.

Dolphice Bergeron, proprietor of the Montreal house on Water street, East Saginaw, was talking with two men in his bar room when one of them seized an earthenware pitcher and struck Bergeron on the forehead over the right eye. Both men then ran out, and were followed by Bergeron, who fell dead on the walk a few feet in front of his house. The men ran up the street and escaped. It was found that the blow ruptured the blood vessels of the brain. Bergeron was about 35 years old, and a peaceably disposed man. He leaves a widow and three small children.

Incarcerated Horses.

A barn belonging to S. E. Schlander of West Bay City, burned with six horses, which belonged to Parker's horde coach line, which made its headquarters at the barn. The building was enveloped so suddenly by the flames that a man sleeping in the barn barely escaped, and was unable to rescue the horses. The fire was undoubtedly incendiary.

Postponed.

Representative Barry was arraigned in East Saginaw, on the 31st ult., charged with inciting men to violence during the strike. Further hearing was postponed until Aug. 17th.

Michigan at the Obsequies

Gov. Alger and staff will attend the Grant obsequies in New York, an order to that effect having been issued.

MINOR STATE HAPPENINGS.

The Lansing district association camp grounds are to be located in Eaton Rapids, the necessary $1,000 to secure them having been raised.

John Williams, a Negro 85 years old, who upon his emancipation in Virginia joined the Second Michigan cavalry, is dead at Paris, Kent county.

Richard Fletcher of Bay City, 15 years old, was found dead half-way between the residence of his two sons. It is supposed he died of heart disease.

Louis Reaume, who caused such a reign of terror in Chicago recently, and killed an officer in that city, has been declared insane, and sent to his relatives in Michigan.

The Lenawee county soldiers' and sailors' association, which merged into the Southeastern Michigan association some years ago, has been reorganized on an independent basis.

C. H. Booth of Kalamazoo, who not long ago was arrested charged with embezzlement, has been bound over to the circuit court for trial, bail being given to the amount of $2,000.

It is stated that 10 girls from Olivet college are table waiters at the Harbor Point hotel, while several from Kalamazoo college perform the same services at the Beividers house, Charlevoix.

John Gordon, inventor of the patent binder, and a former resident of Kalamazoo, has brought suit against the manufacturers of the binder under his patents for royalty. The case indirectly involves $1,000,000.

One of Pinkerton's detectives was employed by Sheriff Fick of Allegan county, on the Sage murder case for three weeks. Nothing new was developed, and the detective was dismissed. The case is apparently to remain a mystery.

W. C. Bennett of Lansing, aged 60, while temporarily insane, shot himself through the head. He had until within a month been employed in the office of the auditor general, having been appointed by Whitney Jones thirty years ago.

Agnes, a 3-year old daughter of Jerome Bissonet, Lake Shore & Michigan Southern night switchman of Monroe, was missed by her mother, and half an hour later her body was found in the river that runs at the back of the house. The water was about two feet deep.

The gold seekers of the upper peninsula will devote a large part of their attention to the Holyoke silver lead range this summer. Some remarkable discoveries are reported from that region. A chemist in Ishpeming assayed a specimen last week which ran over $5,000 to the ton.

Samuel M. Conely, one of the very oldest and best known pioneers of Brighton, is dead. He was a settler from away back in the thirties. He was originally from New York city. He is the father of W. B. Conely, the Detroit artist, and uncle of John D. Conely and Edwin F. Conely.

Louis F. Noe, car inspector on the Michigan Central, was struck by a switch engine in Kalamazoo the other morning and dragged 15 feet. He was badly mangled, six ribs broken and three fingers cut off. There is a bad hole in his head, and one arm badly jammed, and his recovery is doubtful.

Mrs. Nathan Ganson, a lady of about 75 years of age, while attempting to drive across the tracks of the Flint & Pere Marquette Railroad Company, in the south part of Flint, was struck by the engine of the Detroit express, and almost instantly killed. The horse was killed and the buggy completely demolished.

Mr. Henry Ray, a contractor of Coldwater, who was laying stone walks around the court house in Charlotte, was taken suddenly ill the other morning and died the next morning at 1 o'clock. The doctors think his sickness was caused by extreme heat and too frequent indulgence in ice water. The remains were taken to his home in Coldwater.

Brighton taxpayers adjacent to a man signed a bonus bond for $10,000 in favor of the Toledo & Ann Arbor road after they had been addressed in favor of a railroad by Hon. I. W. Case, Hon. David Thompson and Father Doherty, the Catholic pastor there. The road will now come to Brighton. Howell will have its $20,000 bonus ready in a few days.

At an adjourned meeting of the board of trustees of Kalamazoo college held in Jackson a few days ago, it was found that $70,000 had been raised for paying off the indebtedness of $18,000, and $50,000 added to the permanent fund. Dr. Kendall Brooks tendered his resignation as president of the college, but it was not accepted. The college will continue in operation.

E. J. Landers of Inlay City and C. P. Thomas of Lapeer, attorneys for Wm. Bowman, whose son was killed by a train on the Chicago & Grand Trunk Railway at Inlay City last fall report having ample proof and will commence suit against the company, at once. The damages are fixed at $10,000, which they say are small considering the circumstances under which the boy lost his life.

Edgar Weeks of Detroit is trying to prove that a number of people in Michigan and Canada are heirs to an estate of $100,000,000 in Great Britain. Among his clients are Mrs. Dr. Y. Bell, Mrs. F. H. Seymour and Mrs. Phebe Macassar of Detroit. Mrs. J. W. Squires of Grand Rapids, Mrs. E. Merrifield of Lansing, Mrs. Lydia M. Wright of Memphis, and Mrs. Almira M. Zimmerman of North Branch.

Benjamin Van Auker of North Lansing has a rare botanical specimen, sent him from Central America, called the resurrection-plant. It is a sort of lichen and has the peculiarity of reviving every fiber to a beautiful green after having been uprooted and dried in the sun for months. The plant was nearly 60 days in coming from its o.d home, but on being placed in water at once betrayed a lively state of existence. —Lansing Republic

A specimen of rock taken from the Ropes mine, shows free gold in innumerable places. The piece weighs about three pounds and there is at least $50 of gold in it. The average of the rock from which it was taken is $10,000 a ton and from a small quantity of rock six ounces of free gold was washed. It was taken from a small pocket but has caused wonderful enthusiasm among the gold men and all others who have seen it. The long delayed gold boom promises to set in at once.

THE COUNTRY AT LARGE.

LEE CHOSEN.

Gen. Fitzhugh Lee has been nominated for governor by the Democrats of Virginia.

ROYAL SYMPATHY.

Queen Victoria, through Mr. West, British Minister, and the Prince and Princess of Wales sent dispatches of condolence to Mrs. Grant.

FRIGHTENED FRANCE.

Cholera has broken out on the French frontier. Panic seems to have seized the people, hundreds of whom are leaving the country daily.

PRISONERS CREMATED.

Five prisoners were cremated in the Batter City, Ore., county jail, the half-witted murderer who is supposed to have fired the building being rescued.

$74,000 SHORT.

Investigation reveals the fact that the Manufacturers and Traders' bank of Buffalo, N. Y., is short $74,000 in its funds. The bank, however, is unaffected, its capital of $100,000 being unimpaired.

IRAIL'S PROCLAMATION.

Gov. Hill of New York has issued a proclamation setting apart August 8 for appropriate religious observances throughout the state in connection with the funeral of Gen. Grant and declaring it a legal holiday.

AFTER BUDENSKI'S STYLE.

A portion of the old ferry rolling mill at South Wilmington, Del., operated by the Diamond state iron company fell and Geo. Ely, carpenter, and Wilber Jones, draughtsman, were killed and several others wounded.

MR. CHAIRMAN.

Chester A. Arthur has been made chairman of an organization formed in New York to raise funds for the erection of the National Grant Monument. Organizations will be formed throughout New York state for the same purpose.

THE COW DID IT.

An Swanece, Ga., on the Richmond & Danville Railroad, a ditch train ran over a cow throwing one car from the track. In the car were fifteen Negro train hands and six bars of iron. The car turned on its side and the iron fell upon the Negroes killing seven and wounding three more.

A WATER FAMINE.

Eight thousand people living at Gilberton, St. Nicholas, Marzerville and Mahanoy City, Pa., are threatened with an unpropitiated water famine, owing to a prolonged drought. Every stream and well is dried up. Water is brought in barrels from points several miles away and costs 50 cents per barrel.

LIEUT. NYE'S DEATH.

The secretary of state has received from Lima, a telegram announcing the death of Lieut. Nye, naval attaché to the American legation at that place. The lieutenant was instructed to accompany the remains of ex-Minister Phelps to the United States, but before the date of departure he became ill and died.

A FALLING PIER.

While an excursion steamer was loading with passengers at a pier at Chatham, the pier collapsed, throwing into the water 80 persons, principally women and children. Many persons were rescued half-drowned and unconscious and were taken to a neighboring hospital. It is believed several persons were drowned after being stunned by falling on the piers.

NO PLACE FOR A REVOLVER.

Miss Martha Brown, a beautiful young lady, was instantly killed at a ball at Rogersville, Tenn. the other night. While the ball was in progress a revolver fell from the pocket of a young man and was discharged. The ball struck Miss Brown in the breast and passed through her heart. The young man who dropped the pistol was almost crazed with grief and fled.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS.

The chief of the Bureau of Statistics reports that the total values of the imports of merchandise during the twelve months ended June 30, 1885, were $77,473,850, and during the previous twelve months $667,697,696, a decrease of $60,223,843. The value of the exports of merchandise for the twelve months ended June 30, 1885, were $74,593,681, and for the twelve months ended June 30, 1884, were $740,513,600, an increase of $1,729,074.

SHORTENING SICK LEAVE.

The following order has been issued by the secretary of the interior: Leave of absence with pay will not be granted for a longer period than thirty days in any calendar year. The necessity for such sick leaves must be fully established by medical evidence and to the satisfaction of the officers of the department. This order does not affect the annual leave for thirty days. The practice heretofore has been to allow sixty days' sick leave in one year.

FORTY DAYS, NO MORE.

After a recent meeting of the cabinet the secretary of the interior sent the following telegram declining to extend the time within which cattle must be removed from the Cheyenne and Arapahoe Indian reservation:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, WASHINGTON, July 28, 1885. To Geo. R. Blanchard, No. 1 Broadway, New York:

After further consultation with Gen. Sheridan and full consideration in cabinet meeting on the subject of your application for extension of time until April next for the removal of the cattle from the reservation, the president declines to modify his late proclamation. I send you this to avoid misapprehension or delay.

L. Q. C. LAMAR, Secretary.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Lightning struck the Grant cottage a few days ago. The electric fluid entered the cottage, tearing off some of the plastering and extinguishing the electric light above the casket. Col. W. W. Beck, commanding battery A, 5th artillery, from Governor's Island, and Gen. R. H. Jackson, commander of Fort Columbus, Governor's Island, were rendered insensible by a shock from a bolt, and it was feared for a time that the latter would not survive. Both are now, however, pronounced out of danger. Two or three others were also less severely hurt. The mountain telegraph wires were all prostrated, and dispatches had to be sent to Saratoga for transmission.

TO CARRY THE BODY.

At the request of Mrs. Grant, President Cleveland has named the following persons as pall-bearers for the Grant obsequies: Gen. William T. Sherman, U. S. A., Lieut. Gen. Philip H. Sheridan, U. S. A., Admiral David D. Porter, U. S. A., Vice-Admiral Stephen C. Rowan, U. S. N., Joseph E. Johnston of Virginia, U. S. A., Gen. Simon B. Buckner of Kentucky, Hamilton Fish of New York, Geo. S. Bontwell of Massachusetts, Geo. W. Childs of Pennsylvania, John A. Logan of Illinois, Geo. Jones of New York, Oliver P. Hoyt of New York.

SIR MOSES MONTEFIORE DEAD.

Sir Moses Montefiore, the well-known Hebrew philanthropist, who in October last celebrated the 100th anniversary of his birth, died at Ramsgate, near London, July 28. Sir Moses Montefiore was born October 24, 1784. His father was an English merchant, who could trace his ancestry back to Spain, whence they were driven into Italy by persecutors. Moses passed his early years in sunny Italy, where he began his business career. In 1812 he married a sister-in-law of Nathan Meyer Rothschild, the London banker. In 1837, after having resided in England for several years, he was knighted by Queen Victoria, because of his efforts in behalf of his race, and in 1846 he was made a baronet. His immense wealth, amassed in an honorable business career, has excited comment, but his philanthropy and Christian benevolence—the word is used in its fullest sense—have given him a hold upon all humanitarians the world over. Sir Moses Montefiore made a number of journeys to Palestine to learn the cause of the destitution among the Jews in that country. Through his kindly offices and unostentatious charity he relieved much of the suffering, and instituted measures that resulted in permanent benefits to the unfortunate people.

On the occasion of the baronet's 100th anniversary last October, the whole Jewish world united to do him honor. His life has been sustained for a long time only by the most thoughtful care and attendance on the part of those looking the patriarch for his godly qualities.

SITUATION OF WHEAT.

Henry Clews & Co. say: The wheat problem, and the reduced crop yield which makes it doubly one, promises to be solved in the near future by the movement of the product that shall follow harvest operations. Until now, this important element in making prices has been obscured by the influences of the foreign situation and the accumulation in domestic warehouses. Whether this movement shall be large or small, depends upon the financial resources of the farmers. They are well aware of the extent of the damage to the plant in both the winter and spring wheat sections, and should they be in a position to withhold from market a quantity that might prove excessive, and sell only sufficient for their immediate requirements, no considerable decline from present prices is likely to occur. On the other hand, however, a free, large movement would prove too much, in the event of continued accumulations, for a market already abundantly supplied.

The statistical foundation to the present market has improved somewhat during the past three months, and the result of the export movement for the year has, in the main, been satisfactory. The visible supply appears to be larger in comparison with the corresponding period in former years. A fact may be stated in this connection that seems to have escaped the notice of many. During the last year four new warehousing points were added to the list, thus increasing the amount of this visible supply is lodged in Chicago. Throughout the year the over-zealous operators for a decline have been prevented by distressers from excessive accumulations and a consequent surplus. Beginning July 1, 1884, and ended July 2, 1885, the exports which have prevailed throughout the year have stimulated an increased demand, and new uses have been found for the product; in fact the consumption throughout the world has greatly increased from the same cause.

The European situation, especially in London, may be briefly summed up as an indifferent one, for the time being, so far as supplies from American sources are concerned, since Indian and Australia are so bountiful. In the United Kingdom and on the Continent the immediate requirements, as the Indian harvest has been before them, and as our market producers are in an independent position, present prices may be regarded as representative of the value of the new crop of 1885.

FIFTY POUNDS REWARD.

When a young married clerk suddenly loses his situation in a provincial bank where employers are reducing their hands, it does not follow that work can be had for the asking in London; and so Mr. Tom Craven found himself still seeking employment many months after his savings had dwindled down to a few pounds.

An hour later a snug glow of fire warmed the young couple and their children, and the latter, having been satisfied with a meal, went sound asleep. Tom watched his wife's busy fingers mending shabby clothes for a while, and then he, too, went to bed, sharing her fervent hope that "something would turn up to-morrow."

When partial calmness had returned, Tom spoke joyously: "Now, wife, sell something of your small store and send a telegram from me to the dear old girl!"

In the ancient German stories, that mothers are still wont to tell to their children, we read of the days when wishes passed into fulfillment.

Since we found ourself so unexpectedly in this new business, we have received so many congratulations and so many have expressed not only the wish that we might, but the confident expectation that we will succeed that we have almost wished, certainly ardently hoped, that all their good wishes may be realized.

We have already announced that we propose to conduct THE HERALD solely in the interests of Chelsea and the surrounding country; their business enterprises, their social, moral and intellectual improvement.

Does the reader ask, What can I do to build up THE CHELSEA HERALD, and thereby benefit myself? My reply is this: If you are not a subscriber, you can become one immediately, and we will both be benefited; I, financially, to the amount of $1.40; you, intellectually, socially and morally, and, probably, financially too.

Farthermore, most people have competitors; and we will venture the opinion that, other things—convenience, agreeableness, prices—being equal, he who keeps the HERALD lively with his advertisements will get more custom than he whose name is never found there.

price of the HERALD is $1.40 in advance: an advance payment is always most satisfactory to both parties. We believe it is also the easiest. Paying arrears on newspapers always seems to us like paying for a dead horse.

We appeal then to everybody, in and about Chelsea particularly, to lend a hand. Give us a general and hearty support, and we will do our best to give you a lively, newsy, readable, instructive, profitable journal; one that will encourage every legitimate business and calling; and one, if possible, that you will not be ashamed of.

Thousands and myriads of people are already assembling in New York City, anticipatory of the great event that is to take place there next Saturday—the burial of our Nation's hero, our Nation's pride, General Ulysses Simpson Grant.

The remains of the distinguished dead reached Albany by special train Tuesday P. M., were accompanied to the Capitol by a procession of more than 4300 men, and, being placed upon the catafalque in the corridor of the Senate chamber, the public commenced viewing them about 5 o'clock P. M.

The morning hours, however brought the multitude. The crowd that pressed through the great hall was immense, but, owing to the efficiency and perfect arrangements of Col. John S. McKwan and Superintendent Andrews, every thing passed off without the least jar or disorder.

As soon as possible after the doors were closed, the remains were conveyed to the H. R. R. depot and started on their last journey. At precisely 5 o'clock P. M. they arrived at New York

The scene that presented itself, as the solemn cortege moved from the Grand Central depot was indescribable. Roofs, porches, railings, lamp posts, telegraph poles, and every elevated point of observation, were covered and crowded with occupants; all hushed in silence, reverently bowing their heads.

It was past 7 o'clock before the catafalque reached the City Hall. Precisely at what time the doors were opened to allow the people to pass, we have not been able to learn.

SPECIAL ORDINANCE NO. 3.

A special ordinance relating to the construction of sidewalks on the west side of Main-st. on the south side of South-st. on the north side or North st., and on the north side of First st. in the Village of Chelsea.

Sec. 1.—It is ordered that sidewalks five feet in width be laid in front of the lands and premises of Lewis L. Randall and John C. Winans, deceased, respectively on the west side of Main-st. the same to be constructed of the materials hereafter set forth.

Sec. 2.—It is ordered that sidewalks five feet in width be laid in front of the lands and premises of J. C. Winans, deceased, on the south side of South-st., the same to be constructed of the materials herewith set forth.

Sec. 3.—It is ordered that sidewalks, four feet in width be laid in front of the lands and premises of Miller & Karcher, and Helen Miller, respectively on the north side of North-st. the same to be constructed of the materials herewith set forth.

Sec. 4.—It is ordered that sidewalks four feet in width be laid in front of the lands and premises of Andrew Allison on the north side of First-st. from the east end of said Allison's sidewalk now laid to the west end of sidewalk already laid by Byron Wight, the same to be constructed of the materials herewith set forth.

Sec. 5.—It is ordered that said sidewalks shall be made of sound plank at least one inch in thickness and not exceeding 12 inches in width with three lines of sleepers at least two by four inches in size, and each plank nailed with at least two suitable nails to each stringer, all planks to be laid crosswise except at such points where teams are to cross the same and of the width heretofore set forth, and that the time allowed to the respective owners of said lands and premises to construct and lay the same shall be thirty days from and after time of publication of this ordinance, and the service upon them of a copy of said ordinance.

Sec. 6.—Said sidewalks and the construction of laying the same, and proceeding to be taken should said owners fail to construct and lay the same, will be governed, constructed and laid under the provisions of ordinance numbered one, of ordinances of the said Village of Chelsea.

Sec. 7.—This ordinance shall take effect and be in force after its publication.

Approved August the 3rd, 1885 by order of the Village Board.

THOS. SHAW, GEO. A. BEGOLE, President, Clerk.

—Among librarians and book-publi-shers no word is more often used than the term, "Cataloguer." John Winter Jones, librarian of the London Museum, uses this word four times on one page. It occurs frequently in the reports of the proceedings of the International Conference of Librarians at London, and yet it is not given in Webster's or Worcester's or the Imperial Dictionary. It has certainly been in use for thirty years among well-educated men, yet every one of the dictionary makers have either missed or ignored it.—Boston Journal.

THE TEA PLANT.

An Enquiry Into the Expediency of Raising Tea in This Country.

Tea is easily grown from either seeds or cuttings; and, as the soil and climate of a large portion of the United States are adapted to the cultivation of the plant, and as tea is a favorite beverage, it may not be amiss to inquire why this country may not raise its own tea.

The seeds of tea are found within a hard capsule, which is divided into from two to five cells, each containing a white seed as large as a pea. Tea is generally cultivated upon sloping ground, having good drainage, and good sandy loam is favorable to the growth of the shrubs.

In Japan tea is generally sown in November or December, upon prepared beds, covered with soil an inch in depth, and carefully protected from snow and frost. The planting is sometimes deferred until spring; but the growth is not then so rapid. When one year old, the plants are taken from the nursery-bed, and placed in rows or circles, three or four feet apart, and in their general appearance they resemble gooseberry shrubs.

In its native state, the tea plant is twenty or more feet in height; but in a state of cultivation the plant is about two or six feet. The flowers grow singly, or two or three together, in the axils of the leaves. They are white and fragrant, and much loved by honeybees. The shrubs, in two or three years from planting, bear leaves that may be "cured," and the plants bear from ten to twelve years. Three times in the year are the leaves usually picked—in April, May and July; the last picking, however, making very inferior tea.

The roots of the tea plant need to be shaded by pine branches or some similar branches, until the leaves of the plant are large and numerous enough to shade their own roots, and no weeds should be allowed to grow in the tea garden. The flowers are smaller than camellia blossoms, and they open early in the spring while the seeds ripen in the fall of the year. A southern exposure, upon a hillside, is considered the best position for the plants, and the soil should be well prepared for the planting by deep plowing and harrowing. Green and black teas are prepared from the same kind of leaves, the black color resulting from chemical changes caused by longer exposure to heat and air. Of course green is the natural color of the leaves, although many green teas are doubtless colored to hide the presence of foreign leaves.

Tea picking requires much patience and carefulness in the work, and it is usually done by women and children.
With baskets strapped to one side, the pickers go from bush to bush, plucking only the three or sometimes six first tender leaves of a shoot. Each leaf is picked separately, or rather torn off by finger nails, leaving about one-third of each leaf behind to protect the small bud that will, if undisturbed, develop into new shoots. The older and larger leaves are too stiff and brittle to twist into proper shape, and are not fit for tea.

The pickers empty their filled baskets into two larger ones; and, when the latter will hold no more, a Chinaman fastens a basket to each end of his bamboo stick and trots off, with the stick on his shoulder, to the house for drying or curing the tea leaves.

Green tea is usually prepared soon after picking. Otherwise the leaves wither, and injure the flavor and green color of the tea. The leaves are simply dried in a wicker basket over a slow fire. Black tea requires more time in preparation. The leaves are piled together, and allowed to heat and partially ferment. This sweating process produces a chemical change that gives a different flavor to the tea. The Chinese manipulate the leaves, and have various tedious methods of preparing them. After steaming them, the leaves are spread upon mats to cool; then they are heated over a furnace, being carefully stirred manually by the hands. After kneading and rolling and keeping the leaves in continuous motion for about an hour, they are again placed upon mats. Several times this heating and cooling process is repeated, and each heating causes the leaves to become of a darker color.
After grading, the tea is reheated, and when quite dry the dust is fanned out and the leaves placed upon low tables, that women and children may pick out the uncured leaves and stems. One person may prepare twenty-five or thirty pounds of tea per day. It takes about eight pounds of green leaves to make one pound of cured tea.

Tea is now made more by machinery than formerly; and much of the cultivat on is also done by machinery. But the roasting of tea is simple, and it may be done in an open pan, just as coffee is sometimes roasted. Successful experiments in raising tea have been made in years past in North Carolina, Tennessee, Florida and other States. If agriculturists could be induced to experiment with the tea plant, especially in the warmer portions of the United States, doubtless gratifying results would follow. It will be an important era when half a dozen tea plants are found growing near each farmer's door and the leaves are cured and roasted in the farmer's kitchen.—Cor. N. Y. Independent.

The total annual catch of menhaden in the United States is about 700,000-000. This seems to be a great number, but blue fish alone are said to consume about 3,000,000 menhaden every day of the summer months on the coast of New England alone. As a matter of fact, menhaden are so prolific that they are practically inexhaustible.

A Great Discovery

Mr. Wm. Thomas, of Newton, Ia., says
"My wife has been seriously affected with cough for twenty-five years, and the spring more severely than ever before.
She had used many remedies without effect, and being urged to try Dr. King's New Discovery, did so, with most gratifying results. The first bottle relieved her very much, and the second bottle has absolutely cured her. She has not had so good health for thirty years." Trial Bot-

There are scores of persons who are suffering from some form of blood disorder or skin disease, such as scrofula, boils, etc.
After a practical test, R. S. Armstrong asserts that Acker's Blood Elixir will certainly cure all such diseases, including syphilis and rheumatism. It is not a patent medicinal, but a scientific preparation. He guarantees it.

An Answer Wanted.

Can any one bring us a case of Kidney or Liver Complaint that Electric Bitters will not speedily cure? We say they can not, as thousands of cases already permanently cured and who are daily recommending Electric Bitters, will prove.
Bright's Disease, Diabetes, Weak Back, or any urinary complaint quickly cured.
They purify the blood, regulate the bowels and act directly on the diseased parts.
Every bottle guaranteed. For sale at 50 c a bottle by R. S. Armstrong.

R. S. Armstrong wishes to state that he has at last found an article he can sell on his merits. It is with pleasure he guarantees to the public Acker's English remedy as a sure and never failing cure for asthma, coughs, whooping cough, croup and all lung troubles. It is the standard remedy for consumption. He has never found its equal.

R. S. Armstrong wishes to make an assertion which he can back with a positive guarantee. It is all about Acker's blood-elixir. He claims for it superior merits over all other remedies of its kind, and guarantees for it a positive and sure cure for rheumatism, syphilis and all blood disorders. It frees the skin from spots and and leaves the complexion clear. Ask him about it.

"A novel sight was witnessed here last

THOUGHT OF THE HOUR.

Victor Hugo. Praised above men be thou whose laurel-laden brow, Made for the morning, droops not in the night; Praised and beloved, that none O'er all thy great things done, Flies higher than the most exalted spirit's flight; Praised, that nor doubt nor hope could bend Earth's loftiest head, found upright to the end.

It comes to every nation once, and seldom more than once, to have itself summed up in the genius of a single man. Victor Hugo was the epitome of the best traits in the Gallic character.

He founded a school of fiction which was his own. He created a form of poetic expression unheard of before his day. He was a fierce political thinker and a writer of great force and strength.

Victor Hugo was a pioneer realist. His men and women were of flesh and blood. Who has not been drawn tenderly to Cosette as a sweet young girl from real life; who has not admired that actual personality of brawn and muscle, Jean Valjean.

His like will never be seen again in the present age. France and the world may well mourn the loss of so great a man.

His early poems and ballads, sonorous or sweet, full of color and vivacity, and his later Songs of the Woods and Streets, will always be read for their grace and genuineness—they are feasts whereat the champagne of the century is poured, and the honey of Hymettus is served.

Whatever place critics may give him all will unite in saying that he was a man who had talents that came nearer to genius than any man now living.

There are no great men. Massillon, over the body of Louis XIV., cried out: "God only is great!" A creature is only proximately great, and Hugo, who was poet, novelist, editor, essayist, patriot in the true sense and politician in the high sense, was as near greatness as is possible for humanity in the ordinary world-definition.

The giants are departing, one by one, from earth, and with Victor Hugo's death, possibly the most picturesque figure of this century has vanished.

He was doubtless the foremost literary man of his time, and the greatest Frenchman in the world of letters since Voltaire.

In his death the world loses incomparably the greatest literary mind of the century and one of the giants of the literary group of history.

Victor Hugo sternly reminded his country that virtue was not a mere sentimental whim, that morality was not mere prudery.

In politics, he was largely instrumental in creating in France the sentiment upon which the Republic abides.

For sixty years his reputation was bounded only by the civilized world.

France has some extremely clever novelists, some men of genius—Daudet, Zola, Octave Feuillet—left, but they are the satellites. The sun has gone out.

"Well, then! Before this master, this triumphant, this conquerer, this dictator, this emperor, this all-powerful, there rises a solitary man, a wanderer, despoiled, ruined, prostrate, proscribed, and attacks him. Louis Napoleon has ten thousand cannons and five hundred thousand soldiers; the writer has his pen and his inkstand. The writer is nothing; he is a grain of dust, he is a shadow, he is an exile without a refuge, he is a vagrant without a passport; but he has by his side and fighting with him two powers—Right, which is invincible, and Truth, which is immortal."

He stood at the head of modern French literature, and as a patriot and friend of humanity there has been no more eloquent defender and advocate.

Fearless and strongminded to the last, the old poet died worthily. Slowly and quietly he sank until the feeble breath could keep the struggling spirit no longer. Around him were the greatest names of France. At his door were academicians, noblemen, authors.

Of the three great representative men of the three great European nations, neither Bismarck in Germany nor Gladstone in England has enjoyed the undisputed pre-eminence accorded by universal suffrage to Victor Hugo in France.

To find a man as completely great in France we must go back to Voltaire, whose genius that of Hugo perhaps least resembles. Indeed, the mere juxtaposition of the two names is full of suggestion, for to Voltaire the dead poet would have been a source of inexhaustible merriment, a fountain of epigrams, a new world to conquer and explore.

Few men who have ever lived are so secure in fame as Victor Hugo.

For a score of years his literary fame blazed in Paris circles, before it spread throughout the world.—Hartford, Conn., Evening Post.

He was the greatest writer of the century in France, if not the world.—Philadelphia Call.

Victor Hugo was one of the few writers whose works can be judged in the translations. His French is idiomatic, intricate and rugged, but its peculiar force lies in the antithesis and abruptness of the thought, and this peculiarity is maintained in the best of the English translations.

That his works have been so acceptable among many nations whose rhetoricians smile at his style is the final and complete vindication of his genius.

Fond of ostentation, fond of humanity, fond of children, fond of liberty, fond of his own genius, which he treated as a theme of paramount importance, he passes away, while France mourns with theatrical grandeur, and few, even of the ignoble, fail to speak a smiling adieu to one whose weakness justifies a smile and whose achievements will endure to the end of time.

He was one of the most unique and striking characters of an age marked by political vicissitudes unparalleled anywhere in the history of ambition and intrigue, achievement and failure.

There are three poets in modern times who tower above their fellows like mountain peaks crowned with everlasting fire. They are Shakespeare, Goethe, and Hugo. No death shade can ever eclipse their splendor.

From America peculiarly the tribute is due to this man who believed in the Divine Right of the people. He did not merely sing the brotherhood of man, he preached it; he was not merely its poet, but its apostle.

He had all the vigor and power that marked Carlyle in England, but was a larger, broader man. He possessed a strong will, was egotistic, and yet he gave expression to thoughts which proved that a deep religious undertone controlled him.

He fed the birds in the parks because they were at his mercy. He worshiped the truth because it was so scarce and so very friendless.

He was "near to Nature's heart," but was even nearer to the affectionate esteem of the French middle and lower class people.

E. de Amicis the Italian poet, wrote in 1871 these glowing words of Hugo: "There is a writer in France who has attained such a degree of glory and power that no literary ambition can ever dream of surpassing him."

His mind took in everything of interest to humanity in whatever quarter of the world it occurred, and in unison with his great mind pulsated a heart whose warm sympathy knew no bounds except those limited by the wide domain of human nature.

He won the at first unwilling applause of men by transcendent genius and hard work. We may look the planet over, but we shall find few who can stand by his side as his equals.

He outlived four generations of worshippers—admirers is too tame a word.

Great Gathering of Dunkards.

The national assemblage of that popular sect known as Dunkards, which opens on the 22d inst., on the farm of M. R. Beasor, four miles east of this place, and which, says a Mifflintown, Pa., telegram to The Philadelphia Mail, continues one week, will be the largest ecclesiastical meeting ever held in this state.

Representatives will be present from all over the United States, but more especially from Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Illinois. At a like gathering last year in Ohio over 35,000 persons were in attendance.

According to recent statistics, this sect has over 600 churches, with more than 50,000 communicants. Their church government is nearly the same as other Baptists, except that every brother is allowed to exhort. When they find a man who is apt to teach, they choose him to be their minister, and ordain him by the laying on of hands, attended with fasting and prayer.

They use great plainness of dress, language, and manners, and like the Society of Friends, they neither take oaths nor fight. They will not go to law, until lately the taking of interest money was not allowed among them.

In the eating; and proof of the excellence of a... medicine is its acceptance by the public. Ask your... druggist, or almost any one, and they will tell you... that the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, where it has... been introduced, has caused it to ride... unopposed.

It was generally run down, had no appetite, and... felt the need of a good tonic. I have taken other... medicines, but never used any that did me so much... good as Hood's Sarsaparilla. I now have a good... appetite and feel renewed all over, an better than I... have been for years." E. H. Rand, 41 West 9th Street... Owego, N. Y.

"I had catarrh nine years, and suffered terribly... with it. Soon after I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla... the catarrh troubled me less, and after taking... three bottles I was entirely cured." JANE HIXEY... Lambert, Clinton County, Ohio.

Keep the Soul on Top.

Little Bertie Blynn had just finished... his dinner. He was in the cozy li-... brary, keeping still for a few minutes... after eating, according to his moth-... er's rule. She got it from the family... doctor, and a good rule it is. Bertie... was sitting in his own rocking-chair... before the pleasant grate fire. He had... in his hand two fine apples—a rich red... and a green. His father sat at a win-... dow reading a newspaper. Presently... he heard the child say: "Thank you, ... little master."

Dropping his paper, he said: "I... thought you were alone, Bertie. Who... was here just now?"

"Nobody, papa, only you and I."

"Didn't you say just now, 'Thank... you, little master?'"

The child did not answer at first, but... laughed a shy laugh. Soon he said: "I'm afraid you'll laugh at me... if I tell you, papa."

"Well, you have just laughed, and... why mayn't I?"

"But I mean you'll make fun of... me."

"No, I won't make fun of you; but... perhaps I'll have fun with you. That... will help us digest our roast beef."

"I'll tell you about it, papa. I had... eaten my red apple, and wanted to eat... the green one, too. Just then I re-... membered something I learned in... school about eating, and I thought one... big apple would be enough. My... stomach will be glad if I don't give it... the green one to grind. It seemed for... a moment just as if it said to me, 'Thank... you, little master; but I know I said it myself.'"

"Bertie, what is it Miss McLaren... was teaching about eating?"

"She told us to be careful not to... give our stomachs too much food to... grind. If we do, she says, it will... make bad blood, that will run into our... brains and make them dull and stupid, ... so that we can't get our lessons well, ... and perhaps give us headaches, too. ... If we give our stomachs just enough... work to do they will give us pure liv-... ely blood, that will make us feel... bright and cheerful in school. Miss... McLaren says that sometime when... she eats too much of something that... she likes very much it seems almost as... if her stomach moaned and com-... plained; but when she denies herself, ... and doesn't eat too much, it seems as... if it were thankful and glad."

"That's as good preaching as the... minister's Bertie. What more did... Miss McLaren tell you about this mat-... ter?"

"She taught us a verse one day... about keeping the soul on top. That... wasn't just the words, but it's what it... meant."

At this papa's paper went suddenly... right up before his face. When in a... minute it dropped down, there wasn't... any laugh on his face, as he said, "Weren't these the words, 'I keep my... body under?'"

"O yes! that was it; but it means... just the same. If I keep my body... under of course my soul is on top."

"Of course it is, my boy. Keep... your soul on top, and you'll belong to... the grandest style of man that walks... the earth."—Sacramento Record-Union.

A Prayer-Book of Queen Elizabeth.

There is now in view on Bond street... a very curious and, it would seem, ... genuine relic of Queen Elizabeth. ... This is a small prayer-book, three... inches by two inches, in which the... queen has written in a very neat hand... on sixty-five leaves of vellum prayers... in English, Greek, Latin, French, and... Italian. The inside of the shagreen... case, which is adorned with ruby... clasps, contains a pair of miniatures... of the queen and the Duc d'Alencon, ... painted by Nicholas Hilliard, and the... book is evidently a gaye d'amour pre-... pared by the queen for her suitor prob-... ably about 1581, when, as readers of... Mr. Froude will remember, she an-... nounced to her court that she had... accepted him for her husband. The... prayers are very autobiographical; the... writer speaks of herself as "drawing... my blood from kings," and thanks... God for "passing me from a prison to... a palace," and placing me a souvere-... raigne prince over the people of En-... gland." The history of the book can be... traced from James II., who gave it to... the duke of Berwick, whence it passed... to Horace Walpole and afterward to... the duchess of Portland. At her sale, in... 1786, it was bought for Queen Char-... lotte for 101 guineas. She left it to... one of her ladies-in-waiting, from... whom it was acquired by the late... duchess of Leeds; thence it passed into... the late owner's hands. It is described... in Walpole's "Anecdotes of Painting," ... in his account of the famous mini-... aturist, Nicholas Hilliard.—London Times.

The number of medicine-... plants is nearly double that of... supply plants, amounting to 1,140, ... fruit-yielding, amounting to about... 350 of which are employed in the... various branches of industry. Of... the various branches of industry, 8 wax, ... 16 salt, and more than 40 supply food... for cattle. There are no fewer than... 250 kinds of poisonous plants culti-... vated, among which are only 66 of a nar-... eotic sort, the remainder being classed... as deadly poisons.

TREASURE TROVE.

The Valuables Boston Boys Find in the Sawdust Circus Ring.

"Hurry up, Jimmy, an' get yer shovel, or we'll get left." So shouted a ragged, bare-footed little urchin, as he stood, early yesterday morning, in an alleyway leading off of Dartmouth street. He was evidently much excited, and brandished an old and nearly toothless short-handed rake. "Jimmy" soon appeared from a neighboring yard, armed with a small coal-shovel and starch box, and the couple started up the alleyway on the run.

"Where are you going?" called a shrill voice, and a disheveled female head appeared over the fence. The boys stopped.

"We's goin' to the circus grounds," replied Jimmy, "to rake over the sawdust."

"What for?"

"Oh! we find pennies, an' peanuts, an' whole lots ob things. Come along, Patsey, or de udder fellers 'll get ahead of us," and the boys were out of sight in an instant. The disheveled female head vanished, and the writer followed the boys to the circus ground, which was already occupied by numerous small boys, busily engaged in raking over the sawdust. One had found a dollar in currency, and still another a set of false teeth! The other articles found were too numerous to mention; and, though most of them were such as would delight only youthful hearts, their aggregate value was considerable. The peanut crop was noticeably large, one small boy having nearly filled his cap with sound nuts.—Boston Globe.

A young man in Brooklyn, after consulting his watch, dropped it into his pocket, when he was startled by an explosion, which was followed by many others in rapid succession. Before he could remove his clothing it had been burned through to the flesh and a painful wound inflicted. The hand in which he held the watch was also severely burned. An examination proved the explosion to have been caused by chlorate of potash tablets, which he was in the habit of carrying loose in his pocket, and which were ignited by the watch being dropped quickly upon them.—Brooklyn Eagle.

—Parisian florists report that fifteen thousand dollars were spent for flowers on the occasion of Thiers' funeral, fifty thousand dollars for Gambetta's, and two hundred thousand dollars for Victor Hugo's.

SACRIFICE OF LIFE.

The Cost in Human Life of the War of the Rebellion.

The results obtained by Mr. Kirkley, a statistician of the Adjutant General's office, compiling from all attainable sources a list of the deaths on the Union side during the war, possess a melancholy but very strong interest at this time. It has been a very difficult task to gather names for this roll. So many perished unseen and unknown; so many rotted away in Southern prisons of whom every trace is lost, that the compiler might well despair of ever completing his task with anything like an approach to accuracy.

Patience and perseverance have at last accomplished the difficult task, however, and we have in Mr. Kirkley's tables what is at least the most accurate and complete death roll yet published, if not one that is absolutely without error. The registers of a dozen Southern prisons have not been secured—those at Americus, Atlanta, Augusta, Charleson, Lynchburg, Macon, Marietta, Mobile, Montgomery, Savannah, Shreveport and Tyler—and only partial records were obtained from Cahawba, Columbia, Florence, Millen and Salisbury; but with these exceptions the roll is substantially complete.

One of the most remarkable results arrived at, at least to the reader who knows nothing practically of war, is that more than twice as many men died from disease in the army as from the shot, shell, bayonet and sword of the enemy. One hundred and ten thousand and thirty-eight officers and men were killed outright or died of their wounds; but 224,585 died of disease. The number of those who are known to have died in captivity reaches the appalling total of 29,498.

Another remarkable fact is that over fifty per cent. more men were killed in action than died of wounds, the respective numbers being 62,896 and 40,777. At least three-fourths of the wounded must have recovered, partially at least, so that they did not die during the period covered by the inquiry, which ceases with the mustering out at the end of the war. How many veterans there are still among us who carry about their bodies the marks of violence suffered during the war, let the long pension rolls testify.

Mr. Kirkley's tables are arranged by States, so that we can tell just how many lives each one contributed to the cause. New York, of course, heads the list, with a total of 46,534; Ohio comes next, with 35,475; then Illinois, with 34,384; then Pennsylvania, with 33,183; and Indiana, with 26,672. Michigan, Missouri, Massachusetts, Wisconsin, Iowa and Kentucky contributed between 10,000 and 15,000 each; all the rest less than 7,000 each.

It is worthy of remark that every State now in the Union, except South Carolina, is represented on the list, and every Territory except Utah. There are only 15 from Georgia, 42 from Virginia, 78 from Mississippi, 111 from Texas, 215 from Florida, 345 from Alabama, and 370 from North Carolina. Arkansas contributed 1,713 and Tennessee 6,777. This is exclusive of colored troops, of whom 36,847 died, and does not take in non-combatants of either color.

The grand total of known deaths in the Union army was nearly 360,000. Adding as many more for the rebel losses—probably not an overestimate—and taking into account the navies on both sides, and the prisoners who died unaccounted, we reach a total of at least 800,000 men as the cost of the war to this country—nearly one eighth of its entire voting population.—N. Y. Mail and Express.

E. ST. JOHN.

The Well-Deserved Promotion of a Prominent, Faithful and Efficient Railroad Official.

President R. R. Cable, of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad, has issued the following important notice: "Mr. E. St. John is hereby appointed assistant to the General Manager. The General Ticket and Passenger Departments will remain under the jurisdiction of Mr. St. John as formerly, and all communications in connection with these departments should be addressed to him as General Ticket and Passenger Agent."

The above announcement of Mr. St. John's promotion will be read with interest and pleasure by the many who have become intimate with him during a very long career. He has been associated with the road so long that he is always considered a part of the system, good, reliable, and ever on time. Mr. St. John entered the railway service in 1862; was clerk in the General Ticket Office and Depot Ticket Agent of the Quincy & Toledo Railroad at Quincy, Ill., until its consolidation with the Great Western Railroad; when he assumed a clerkship with that company in its General Ticket Department at Springfield, Ill., remaining in its service until July 3, 1863; on July 4, 1863, and until November, 1864, he was employed as clerk in the General Ticket office of the Chicago & Rock Island Railway; November 1, 1864, to September 1, 1869, he was chief clerk in charge of the General Ticket Department; September 1, 1869, he was appointed General Ticket Agent, and January 1, 1879, he was appointed General Ticket and Passenger Agent, which position he continues to fill. On Saturday, July 4, Mr. St. John celebrated the twenty-second anniversary of his connection with the Rock Island Road. Mr. St. John's promotion is another illustration of the well-known fact that the Rock Island Road appreciates the merits of its officials, and gives tangible evidence of its appreciation.

SOME THRIFTY PEOPLE.

Millions of Dollars Accumulated—Career and Business Operations of the Harmonists.

There has always centered about the sect of Harmonists a halo of interest because of their peculiarities and exclusive tendencies. The founder of the rich colony, located at Economy, on the banks of the Beaver River, was George Ray, who was born in Wurtemberg in 1870. Believing he had a divine call and was charged with a restoration of the Christian religion to its original purity, he organized a colony on the model of the primitive church, with goods and chattels in common. This soon involved him and his followers in trouble with his Government, and compelled him to transplant the community in 1803, to the United States. They settled first on the Connequogus Creek, in Butler County, where they founded the village of Harmony and employed themselves in agriculture and manufacture. By industry and thrift they acquired considerable wealth, and in 1816 they removed in a body to Indiana, where they purchased and located upon 27,000 acres of land along the banks of the Wabash River. The settlement of New Harmony was even more prosperous than the first had been, but the climate was not satisfactory, and in 1824, after numerous councils, they sold out and moved back to Pennsylvania—a time being in Beaver County, on the right bank of the Ohio River, where they purchased 9,000 acres of beautiful farming lands, and where they soon afterward laid out the town of Economy. Here is where they are located at present, surrounded by peace and plenty.

They are a strange people—do not believe in marriage, but all live together as brothers and sisters and practice the strictest morality.

In 1835 the question of marriage was the subject of a community sale, and about two hundred and fifty were there because they feared the sale of their property. The town of Harmony, but the new colony did not prosper, and after a few years of struggling they sold out and disbanded, dividing the proceeds of their sales equally among all the members.

In their operations the Harmonists were generally becoming more and more wealthy, until at present they own jointly and in common, lands, stocks, bonds and herds the value of which is estimated at $5,000,000. Besides owning all of the Harmony and large part of the other own an entire county in Indiana in the valley of the Red River of the North.

One of their peculiarities is that they build all their houses, barns, churches, Lake Erie Railroad running through a row and fertile country. They are thought to be the only town in the world that is owned and controlled by the community. The houses are all of the best paying kind, and a corner. It is a matter of history that at the time the war broke out, many of the Harmonists converted all the records and available property into money and loaned it, using the treasure afterwards in paying for the building of the railroad. The payments thus made but a small portion of an immense amount of silver, many of the pieces dating back to 1840.

Owing to the law prohibiting marriage the sect has gradually diminished until at present it consists of only thirteen men and forty women, all of them well advanced in years. They employ over three hundred servants and farm hands, and these, with their families, make quite a village. Ever thing is owned in common. The grocer, the baker, the butcher, and the milkman go the rounds every day and supply the different families with the necessities and a few of the luxuries of life. Nothing can be purchased in the village of Economy, and it is probably the only town in the world where a man can not, even if he desires, spend money. They are extremely liberal and philanthropic, and are constantly doing acts of benevolence. Their houses, which are all exactly alike, are an equal distance apart and are at an uniform distance from the village street. They are painted pure white and have no front doors, claiming that if they had these conveniences the women folks would spend too much time looking at and gossiping with passers-by. A good story is related in this connection that the president of the community a score of years ago imagined that there was too much familiarity between the young men and maidens, and so promulgated an order that all females appearing on the streets should dark must carry lanterns, but still the merry-making continued, although no lanterns appeared. This caused an investigation, which developed the fact that the worthy old gentleman had neglected to order that the lanterns should be lighted.

As stated, there are now only thirteen men and forty women left of the once large colony, and they being old it is likely that the law against celibacy will cause the extermination of the colony in a few years more. According to their laws, as long as three of them hold together the property is to remain intact, but when one of the final trio dies the other two lose all right to the property and must leave.—As there are no heirs, the $75,000,000 which they possess in real and personal property will come into the possession of the State of Pennsylvania, and will form a handsome legacy.—*Cor.
