WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

Interesting Chit Chat from the National Capital. WASHINGTON, Jan. 10, '87.

The senate was in session but three days the first week after the holiday recess, and neso three days were occupied in thinking and talking about what to do, rather than doing anything.

Several unimportant measures of a private character were passed, and a number of resolutions calling for reports, information, etc., were adopted. The most important bill passed by the senate during the week was the bill granting a pension of $2,000 per year to the widow of Gen. Logan. It is a very significant fact of the high esteem in which Gen. Logan was held by citizens of all parts of the country, that the bill passed with practically no opposition.

Discussion of the inter-state commerce bill consumed a large portion of the time of the senate, and the same measure will undoubtedly occupy considerable time the present week. It is reported that's vote may be reached before the end of the week, but the opponents of the measure are by no means insignificant, and may prevent a vote.

The house for the first week of the New Year accomplished practically nothing beyond the passage of a few appropriation bills. In committee of the whole much time was spent in discussing the bill for the reorganization of the navy. The bill for the creation of a department of agriculture and labor received some attention, and it is probable that these two measures will be the principal topics for discussion the present week.

Ladies at the national capital have been afforded material for the "nine days' won" der" in the recent marriage of Secretary Lamar to Mrs. Holt of Macon, Ga. The secretary was a suitor for Mrs. Holt-then Miss Dean-over 30 years ago, but Mr. Holt, now deceased, won the prize. Mr. Holt's death a few years ago awakened hope in the bosom of the secretary, and after the usual period of mourning he sought again the heart and hand of his first love. She was not unwilling, and in spite of the opposition of the married daughters of Mrs. Holt, the marriage took place last week.

Mrs. Cleveland held her first public reception Saturday, the 8th. She was assisted by Mrs. Endicott, Mrs. Manning, Miss Vilas exploded in the saw mill at and Miss Hastings, a niece of President ., on the 5th inst., and three Cleveland. I have suffered more or less with rheumatism, also general debility. For the past year the trouble has constantly increased so that for a month I could not dress myself, could not get up from my chair without help. From my head to my fect every cord and muscle was stiff and sore. During this time I used various remedies all to no purpose, and continued to grow worse. My attention being called to Athlophoros I procured a bottle. I took five doses then slept easily till eight o'clock A. M. I got up and dressed myself and walked out without a cane. I was astonished at the result, could hardly realize that it had produced such an effect. I am getting to be an old-man (72). I don't suppose it will make me a young man, but will help the lamp of life to burn down calmly.

I have derived more benefit from Athlophoros than any other medicine I have ever taken. I have been troubled with inflammatory rheumatism for about ten years, at times I was helpless, have tried all the medicine I could hear of but found no cure, until I got a bottle of Athlophoros. After taking one-half of it I have not been bothered since. GEO. GALLOWAY.

ber 9, 1885, to February 15, 1806, there was at no time a smaller credit balance than $540,000 in the treasury-a fact which sug-gests whether additional legislation is not practical at the approaching session to make the surplus more largely available for current expenditures. The sinking fund contain $231,000 in the United States four and one-half per cent. bonds to meet the war bounty loan bonds to the same amount which fall due in 1890 and which, with the exception of a past due non-interest bearing indebtedness of $12,149 97, represent the entire bonded indebtedness of the state. The trust fund debt, composed of balances upon which the state, as trustee, pays interest for educational purposes, now amounts to $1,511,931 47. Of the receipts $1,669,686 68 comes from the counties through the county treasurers for general taxes, and $812,711 75 ($619,-399 20 from the railroads) from specific taxes.

Masonic Home.

The Michigan Masonic Home Association held its first annual meeting in Grand Rapids and it was reported that the association has 800 members and is in a prosperous condition. Officers were elected as follows: President Wm. Dunham, Grand Rapids: vice-president, R. D. Swartout, Grand Rapids; trustees, three years: Geo. W. Thompson, E. J. Horton, E. E. Winsor, Grand Rapids; William Steele, Ionia; E. D. Wheeler, Manistee; S. M. Stevenson, Menominee: two years; Chas. T. Hilis, Muskegon; William S. Lawrence, Kalama-zoo; one year: William Williamson, East Saginaw; T. W. Strahan, Grand Rapids. The association has purchased the Burch-ard farm near Grand Rapids, including 112 acres of land, and it is expected that the citizens will contribute by subscription $12,000 to pay for the site. It is proposed to commence the erection of a $10,000 home in the spring.

Stockbridge Chosen.

The most important event since the organization of the new legislature was the joint caucus of theorepublican members of the house and senate to nominate a re-publican candidate for United State senator. The call was unanimously signed. Speaker Markey of the house was chosen chairman of the caucus, and a secretary and teller duly appointed. An opportunity was soon given for the presentation of candidates, and at the conclusion of the nominating speeches Chairman Markey announced that the informal ballot would be proceeded with, and the tellers collected the votes. There was a momentary silence when it was evident that the count had been completed and the secretary then announced the result as follows:

would be decisive. It had hardly been ordered when representative Diekema, who nominated Mr. Fitzgerald, arose in his seat and announced that his senatorial district would cast at least one vote for Frannis B. Stockbridge. Representative Bates announced that Allegan was now solid for the western Michigan favorite, and the ballot proceeded amid the most intense excitement that had been apparent during the evening. The decisive vote was then announced as follows:

When it was found that Stockbridge was the man, a committee was appointed to invite him to address the caucus. He was escorted to the front, and greeted with deafening cheers. When order was restor-ed he spoke briefly as follows:

17. Chairman and Gentlemen of the Caucus: I congratulate you upon the prompt and speedy manner in which you have concluded the work for which you were as-sembled here this evening, and I thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me, as a result of your deliberations, most sincerely. It would have been a high honor to be selected for the important office of senator of the United States from a state like Michigan under any circumstances, but to be selected for that office from among such able and distinguished gentlemen as were my competitors is a very high honor indeed. the Love Affairs of a Number of Famous English Authoresses.

Hannah More's story is sufficiently interesting. When she and her sisters kept a school in Bristol, she used frequently to accompany two of their pupils to the house of their cousin and guardian, a Mr. Turner, who lived near the town. He was attracted by the young authoress, who was only twenty-two years of age, very pretty, and highly accomplished. The conquest of his affections was probably completed by an allegorical poem entitled "The Bleeding Rock," and suggested to Hannah by some scenery in his grounds. He proposed and was accepted, though he was twice her age. He proved, however a lukewarm lover, postponing the marriage again and again. At last, when the wedding morning actually arrived, he did not appear, but sent instead a note excusing himself on the ground that he could not bring his mind to take such an important step as marriage.

Happah's friends were naturally indignant, and she herself suffered both in her feelings and in her pocket. Mr. Turner insisted on settling on her a sum of £200 annually, which she was with difficulty induced to accept. She seems to have generously forgiven him for the injury, for she sent him a copy of each of her books as published, and as her fame rose he was wont to remark that the affair had been overruled for her good. Every day, in public or private his first toast was "Hannah More," and she was remembered in his will, but they only saw each other again once, by accident.

RUSE OF A PERSIAN PRINCE.

How he Convicted the Murderers of an English man. From the St. Jame's Gazette.

On the side of the high road to Shiraz, thirty miles before the city is reached, going north, stands a bare pole. This marks the place where the body of Sergeant Collins was found atter his murder.

Sergeant Collins was an inspector of the telegraph line, a man of great personal bravery. Accompanied by his wife, two servants, and two muleteers, he started on his inspection duty. Collins was hardly convalescept from a fever attack when he started, and he had no choice in traveling but to lie on a mattress flung on a loaded mule.

At early dawn one day a muleteer suddenly cried. "Sahib, they have blocked the road;" and, looking ahead, the sorgeant saw some men in front who were covering him with their guns. At the same moment these men ordered him to dismount. Now, the sergeant was the best shot in Persia. "Be off!" he shouted, firing his revolver twice. The robbers rushed in, firing as they came; and Collins was hit in two places, death being instantaneous. After beating the lifeless body with their iron-headed sticks, the robbers blindfolded and carried off the wife and the two servants, detaining them in a dell till after midnight.

At the persistent instigation of the English minister at Teheran, the Persian authorities arrested the three principal robbers. Another of them committed suicide to avoid capture; another had died from a gunshot wound, apparently inflicted by Collins. But the Persian authorities, though they had got the criminals in jail. seemed very loth to bring them san Ali Khan, C. S. I., our agent at Shiraz, succeeded in goading the Prince-Governor, H. R. H. ROCHESTER, Aug. 31, 1886. PARDEE MEDICINE CO.-GENTLEMEN: I am now seventy three years old, and until I was seventy I was always strong and healthy; but the amount of suffering I have endured since that time, I feel to be sufficient for a life-time. I had a severe attack of sciatic rheumatism, which completely prostrated me; my limbs and feet, and in fact my whole body was so drawn out of shape that, it was impossible to move without assistance. I was unable to straighten my limbs or to step on my feet for more than a year and my life was dis-paired of. Children and friends were called in to see me die. I was treated by three good physicians, and they and my friends did all they could to relieve my suffering—but with no avail. My hips were blistered, and my limbs rubbed, bathed and bandaged, but nothing they could do afforded me even temporary relief. Tongue cannot describe my sufferher. Tongue cannot describe my suffer-ing. I urged them to let me try Dr. Par-dee's Remedy, as I had read so much about it, and of those who had been cured by its use, that it gave me confidence in it. although I confess I had little or no faith in so-called patent medicines. The remedy was pro-cured, and I commenced using it as direct-ed, and after taking it a short time could ed, and after taking it a short time could see that it was helping me. I began to perspire freely, and as the perspiration in-creased the pain decreased, but my clothing and bedding was a sight to behold, be-ing nearly "as yellow as saffron." I had taken the remedy but a short time, when I could sleep like a child, and relish my food like one. Thank God it has cured me, and I am to-day as healthy and strong as before, and can walk and have as free use of my limbs as ever. I have recommended your Remedy to very many who were afflicted, and I do not know of a case it has not cured. I am confident that it will cure young people, if it will cure at my age. You are at liberty to use my name, if it will be the means of inducing any poor sufferer to use your excellent Remedy. I am very gratefully yours, MRS. JANE A. FLACK, Rejoicing Over His Late Great Success.

I have been afflicted with rheumatism twenty years. For the last ten years have been obliged to use crutches. Often my left hip and knee would entirely give out. Have expended a large amount of money for remedies recommended as a cure for that terrible disease, have used the most powerful liniments on my hip and knee to sooth the pain, that I might get a little sleep. My hip and knee had lost nearly all strength by the use of the liniments, and I could get no help. I saw an adver-tisement of your remedy in a paper and ordered half a dozen bottles of Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup, took them and received some relief, ordered another dozen. Have taken seven of the last dozen, and I am happy in saying that I know I am being cured. Have not used any liniments since I commenced taking your syrup. When I began taking your syrup I could not take a step without the use of a cane; neither could I turn myself in bed without aid; can now turn in bed without any trouble; can walk about my house and office without the use of my cane. After loosing track of it, for the reason when I take a long walk I take it along. My office is four block from my house; I have not walked to or from it in over a year until last Thursday a week. Since that time I have walked to and from it every day, ex-cept Sunday. I am truly rejoicing that I am fast being relieved from such a terrible affliction.

Wishing that I might herald to all who are afflicted with disease the merits of your wonderful medicine, I write you of the benefits which I have derived from its use. Send me one half dozen bottles syrup and one-third dozen plasters by express C. O. D. This I want for a friend in the northern part of this county. He is a great sufferer with rheumatism.

Very truly,

MARRIAGE IN PERSIA.

Great Importance of the Mother-in-Law in the Land of the Shah.

In Persia a girl marries, to fill the place of her husband's confident and of the virtues and attractions of each friend. to rule his household, and, above all things, to be a mother of children. The marriage of the rich are generally dictated by policy; while those of the middle and lower classes are often arsuggest that the ladies who have ranged by the parents. Love matches are the exception. Persians as a rule try to arrange what they consider sutiable matches for their en Idren. Polygamy is the exception and not the rule, and where there are two or more wives there are also two or more establishments. Neither lodgings, money, servants, clothes nor jewels are held in Large bottles $1.00 at all drug stores. common, and the only source of contention is the society of the husband. But the wives, instead of being jealons rivals, are usually the best of friends. While it is quits true that theoretically a man can be rid of his wife by saying before witnesses, "Thou art

In cases where mutual distaste is very stcon z, and d vorce desired by both parties, the matter is simply arranged by the wife agreeing not to exact he whole or even a part of her Colds, and consumption have yielded to settlement. There is another safeguard against frivolous divorce: a divorced man or woman does not find reputation and money on its merits. Sold it easy to make a respectable marriage.

The marriage of first cousins is the favor te union. The reason is that cousins have been acquaintinces and friends the world, save her brothers and sisters, the young girl is a veiled mystery; so that, unless there is a mutual dis-Liclination, or too great a disparity of age, the Persian youth looks naturally to the "dughter of my uncle" as his trothed from childhood. THE LEGISLATURF. Messages of the Retiring and In-coming Governor.

Stockbridge Receives the Caucus Nomination for Senator.

LANSING, Jan. 6, '87.

The work of organization in both branches of the legislature was completed yesterday, and when the house met this morning it went to work in a very methodical manner.

The first bill of the session was one to punish and prevent fraud in the sale of grain, "seeds and other cereals," which is aimed at a fraud similar to the "Bohemian oat" swindl

The first bill passed was Mr. Lincoln's legalizing measure affecting the assessment roll of the township of Fort Austin in Huron county.

The senate met at 1:20, but transacted no business of any importance, and both houses adjourned to meet in joint session to listen to the reading of the messages of the retiring and in-coming governors.

LANSING, Jan. 5, '86.

The Michigan legislature convened at noon to-day. Immediately after prayer in the senate, Lieut. Governor McDonald greeted the senators in a few well chosen words. The thirty-two senators-elect were , state institution. then sworn in by Lieut. Gov. Macdonald. An hour was occupied in electing the officers nominated at the republican caucus last night, and a recess was taken until 3 "o'clock.

At the afternoon session a communication was received from Private Secretary Campbell to the effect that the retiring governor and the governor would be ready to meet the two houses in joint conven. tion at'3 o'clock Thursday afternoon and that after the reading of the messages ex-Gov. Alger and Gov. Luce would hold an informal reception to the members and officers of the two houses in the governor's room.

Senator Monroe was elected president pro tem; secretary, Lewis M. Miller of Muskegon; assistant secretary, G. A. Royce of Baraga: sergeant-at-arms, P. Q. Stoner of Ingham; assistant sergeants-at-arms, E. T. Coon of Oceana; J. A. Dockery of Montcalm; engrossing and enrolling clerks, F. M. Howe, Mrs. 1. R. Jamison, both of Ingham.

A resolution was adopted appointing Mrs. N. F. Randall of Wayne postmistress, and James A. Grant of Macomb as assistant postmaster.

It was voted that until otherwise ordered the daily sessions of the senate should be held at 2 o'clock p. m., and the usual resolutions authorizing the president to appcint the janitors, keeper of the cloak room and messengers and the secretary and sergeant-at-arms to appoint one messenger each.

The rules of the last senate were adopted, and the senate did its share of adopting the joint rules of the last legislature. As if to take time by the fore-lock several members gave notice of the introductio law absolutely prohibiting the sending of any girl to that institution that has not a bad character. Also that the law be so made that girls now there, or hereafter sent there, under any circumstances, of that class, may be transferred to the Coldwater school direct, upon the consent of the joint boards of the two institutions. I deem it my duty to say concerning this I deem it my duty to say concerning this school, with all deference to the good ladies who make up a majority of the board, that I think it would be for the decided benefit of the institution, if its busi-ness affairs had more man management. I also believe it would be better for the girls if none but mothers-and good ones, too-had the care of them. I think the institution ought to have for its head a man and wife. I wish, however, to distinctly say that I believe all people connected with it are acting to the best of their ability in conducting it.

The Coldwater school in twelve years has received nearly 2.200 children, and placed in homes over 1,900 of them. This institution has the great advantage of a special agent, lwhich I have recommended for the reform school and school for girls, who spends the greatest part of his time in finding homes for the children, and looking after them after they are placed in such homes The State Prison at Jackson is an "old and ought to be thoroughly overtrap," hauled. The Ionia House of Correction is in excellent condition. The State Prison for the Upper Peninsula has filed its annual report. The work of construction is progressing in a satisfactory manner. The site is a beautiful one and the sur-roundings all that could be desired for any

The four insane asylums have made requests for improvements, for the purchase of land, and for the building of cottages; I recommend that whatever moneys are expended by the Pontiac and Kalamazoo asylums shall be taken from their surplus funds. At the rate charged for caring for patients during the present low prices of provisions, quite a substantial saving is made, and it is out of this that it is recommended the improvements asked for shall be made. The colony system, so far as it can be used, is very much cheaper than keeping patients in the main buildings, as per patient, while the main buildings have cost more than $1,000 per patient; and besides, these cottages placed on farms give the patients work which they gladly perform, and not only benefit themselves, but contribute much towards their own support. I hope the asylum for insane criminals at Ionia will not be enlarged. but that is may be turned into a much needed prison for women, and a new asy lum, where ample lands can be obtained, may be erected for the criminal insane. Narcotics and restraints have been almost entirely done away with in our asylums. The Mining school has opened under the most favorable auspices, and already at the close of the first term is in admirable and established working order. The young men in attendance are enthusiastic over the course of instruction given.

The governor takes exceptions to that portion of the report of the board of corrections and charities referring to the methods of doing business in state institutions, which the board considered loose. The boards of these institutions are made up from the very best men in our statemen who give their time and thought to four times as long as in others, for the the care of the same without pay or thanks, same offense. I recommend that this out simply from a motive to serve the state and do what they can for the unfortunate inmates of them. They are in a large part thorough business men, and their judgments as to any emergency which arises, and which cannot be provided for by special legislation because unforseen, should be either accepted by the state or else the system should be abolished or other men appointed to fill their places. Contingencies for the expenditure of money will continually come up, and when they do must be met. and there is no way to meet them except by giving to the board in charge discretionary powers to a great extent. No great improvements or expenditures should be made without legislative enactment; but after all, in the main the management of these institutions must be left with their respective boards, the same as a successful business is always in the hands of its proprietors. I think it would be wise to enact a law requiring the boards of all institutions to make annual settlements with the state, covering all unused or accumulated balances in the state treasury. This would be doing business in a business way. I believe the board of corrections and charities are dong a most excellent work in the state, but think they are accomplishing their greatest good in conection with our county perity of the state. agents, jails and poorhouses, and I hope their powers and duties may be confined

The governor recommends an appropri-ation of at least $5,000 for monuments marking the situation of Michigan corps on the field of Gettysburg and a commis-sion of three to confer with other states in catrying out the design.

I recommend to you that a law be passed increasing the number of judges of the supreme court to five. In one court in the upper peninsula the tax law was held to be constitutional, and the supreme court affirmed the decision by a tie vote. In a court in the lower peninsula the tax law was held to be unconstitutional, and again affirmed by a tie vote. Consequently, in one portion of the state the law is held to be constitutional and in another portion unconstitutional, and there should be a fifth person to break the tie. I also recommend that the salaries of the supreme judges be increased to $7,000 a year at least. In this connection I also wish to call your attention to the subject of state officers' salaries. The time has come when this great state with all its wealth should pay its officers such salaries as will support them during their official terms. I also recommend that the members of the legislature be paid a fixed satary of $600 per

The governor joins with the auditor general in recommending a change in the commencement of the fiscal year. An appropriation of $2,000 is asked to carry on the historical work undertaken by the semi-centennial commission.

No laws should be given immediate effect making appropriations without consulting the state treasurer. The governor acknowledges surprise at the report of the board of auditors, who did not find a sin-gle case of fraudulently paid bounties in the state.

Under the act of congress granting all swamp and overflowed lands to the state 7.373, 504,72 acres were reported by the secretary of interior as coming within the grant, but of this amount only 5,659,217.14 acreshave been patented to the state, leav-ing a balance due the state of 1.714,587.68. Most of the balance has been disposed of by the government, for which claims have been put in and indemnity will be granted. The advisory board in the matter of pardons has been of incalculable benefit to the executive. Under the law creating it, cottages can be built for from $250 to $300 it has been possible to accomplish very much that otherwise could not have been done. The great amount of work which the executive of a large state is obliged to perform makes it utterly impossible for him to examine all the applications for pardon, and without a board similar to this many deserving cases must have been neglected; and it is much better for the state to appropriate the small sum neces-sary to carry along its work than to allow single innogent person to suffer imprisonment. I recommend that an appropriation be made for a salary for clerk of the board, at $1,200 per annum, besides a sum for the work of the board equal to the former appropriation. The work has been so much more extensive than was anticipated that the appropriation having been exhausted for such clerk, the members of the board, who received pay only when actually employed, are paying the clerk out of their own private means. An examination of the prison records shows a very great and unjust inequality of sentences for the same crime by the judges of the different courts of the state.

warden during good behavior, who is to be the judge of such behavior! And, if he be the judge of such behavior? And, if he is incompetent or dishonest. who is going to take his place? I tell you, gentlemen, no man can fill such a position be he never so honest and capable; no man can super-intend a business until he learns it from the root up. Even were all this state ac-count successful, where is the competition to honest it to be shared to honest toil to be changed. Much is said concerning the ill-treatment of prisoners; that they are overworked by contractors, etc., etc. If this be true, the warden alone is to be blamed; as he and his keepers have entire charge of them; the contractors have nothing to do con-cerning their discipline. I confess to hav-ing no patience with people making such charges. Attention is called to the importance of urging on the government the improve-ment of the Portage ship canals and to the necessity of solving the question of immi-gration; a memorial on the latter subject is recommended asking that foreign-born paupers, criminals, insane and infirm be excluded. The immigration of Chinese should be stopped and polygamy strangled now.

LUCE'S INAUGURAL MESSAGE.

Gov. Luce, after a few words of congrat-ulation, plunged first into the subject of education, saying a good word for the vari-ous institutions of the state. The uni-versity board of regents ask for $75,000 to erect and equip a microscopical and his-torical laboratory, and a physiological laboratory, and a laboratory for teaching physics and natural philosophy. Another purpose included in said amount is the establishment of the hygienic laboratory, recommended by the state board of health. While the board of regents do not urge this they indicate a willingness to take charge of the same if established. Should the latter object be thought inadvisable at the present time, the appropriation could be correspondingly reduced without crippling the first named objects. Congress made the munificent grant of 240,000 acres of land to the state for the maintainance of an agricultural college, where the mechanic arts and military tactics should be taught. While the endowment fund from the sale of such lands is sufficient to pay the current expenses of the school, yet the rapid increase in the attendance calls loudly for more room. While the board do not now ask for an appropriation for the following purpose, yet at some time in the near future facilities ought to be provided for the admission of girls to this school.

The fear at one time entertained that the state public school system would prove an asylum for grown-up boys and girls is now removed, and its character has become well established as the great distributor of our dependent waifs and characterized by a foster patental devotion and watchfulness. The governor next proceeded to point out the needs of the other state institutions.

With a new asylum for the insane, re-cently completed, with capacity for 500 patients, we are still confronted with the fact that before the next legislative ses-sion shall arrive there will be no room for the admission of patients in any of the state asylums. Many of the patients are harmless but incurable. The state owns a farm in connection with the asylum at In many instances the sentence is three or Kalamazoo, and the board of trustees ask for an appropriation of $23,000 to con-struct four houses on this farm that will accommodate 120 patients. Sufficient room for this number of inmates in the ordinary asylum would cost $120,000. Sound policy and wise economy induce the governor to urge upon the legislature the propriety of this appropriation. The institution for the deaf and dumb asks for $18,000 to purchase 180 acres of land adjoining the institution. Some ad-dition to the land now owned may be desirable, but 'the policy of purchasing so large a tract is doubtful. An appropria-tion of $11,000 is also asked for the erection of an hospital. While some provision should doubtless be made for the sick, yet the objections to separate hospital buildings are so serious that I do not believe this appropriation should be made. The location of the asylum for insane criminals at Ionia, in connection with the house of correction, was very unfortunate in every respect. The board ask for an appropriation of $20,000 for an extension of the building. Though their present capacity is full to overflowing it is sincerely hoped that no money will be appropriated for an extension of the building where now located. The question of prison labor is attracting more general attention than ever before. What to do with our convicts is a problem yet only partially solved. That they must work is almost universally conceded. Their health, future welfare, humanity and economy all unite in demanding this; and justice to the free workers of the state demands that the depressing effect of their labor upon free labor and its products should be reduced to the lowest minimum. How to find employment for the prisoner so as not to compete with free labor or to the least extent is the question that confronts prison management as well as legislation. There is a widespread feeling existing against contracting this labor and favoring the employment of prisoners on state account. If this plan is generally adopted it will require heavy appropriations for implements and machinery, and tions for implements and machinery, and for a working capital for material. Again should this plan be pursued, it is not easy to see how competition with free labor will be removed or much reduced. Nor will it be sound policy to employ them in non-productive pursuits, because the supnon productive pursuits, because the support of the prisoner would place a burden upon those we would be glad to aid. That the contract system is to be abandoned sooner or later seems apparent, and just what shall take its place is a question challenging your best thought and wisest The state prison at Jackson asks for large appropriations for improvements and re-pairs. Its financial management has been most excellent. Its requirements will be largely governed by the policy to be pursucd in relation to convict labor. The board of corrections and charities call for an entire revolution of the present system of prison management. The tend-ency to the proposed plan will be to take the management of the prison out of the hands of the people and place it in the hands of a board. This the governor does not believe to be a wise policy. Following out the same police a recommendation is out the same police a recommendation is also made that the construction and management of all the jails in the state be taken from the hands of the local authorities and placed in the hands of one supervisory board. Such might prove to be a good policy, but the governor's strong faith in the intelligence and virtue of the people leads him to doubt the pro-priety of the experiment.

adjustment by legislation. It is clearly demonstrated that property paying spe-cific tax has increased in value as rapidly as other property subject to local taxation, but there has not been a corresponding in-crease in the specific taxes collected. Complaint is also justly made that some classes of personal property escape their share of public burdens. This inequality seems to arise from two causes; one that the laws regulating the official conduct of assessing officers is not sufficiently strin-gent, and the other being an absence of provisions compelling a full and just state-ment of certain classes of personal prop-erty by its owners.

There has accumulated a surplus in the hands of the trustees of the asylums as follows: In the hands of the treasurer use all just means, consistent with the welfare of the state, to reduce the burdens of government, and secondly, to revise the tax laws so as to more equally adjust the burdens.

In the interests of economy the governor urges the passage of a bill that will prevent an appeal from a justice court to the circuit court when the judgment does not exceed the sum of $26

In the interests of decreasing criminals it is hoped that the law will be amended so that the age of female infants' consent shall be increased from 10 years of age to at least 14. This subject is one attracting much attention and thought in this country and in Europe. It is believed that the change indicated would prevent many from entering the paths of crime, yet even should this fail in this respect, humanity. demands its enactment.

We have thirty circuit and superior courts in the state. In each of these, at least 24 jurors are summoned to appear at every term of court. The jury system is regarded as being one of the safeguards of liberty handed down to us from ancestors, and any change here suggested is made in deference to it. The constitution of Michigan wisely; in my opinion, provides that "the legislature may authorize a trial by a jury of less number than twelve men." The plan of reducing the number to six has been tested in justice courts with such satisfaction that there is no general demand for an increase in the number re-quired. With our general education, certainly six men are as competent now to try cases, civil and criminal, in our circuit courts, as were twelve men when the great necessity of trial by jury gave birth to our present system.

Wisely has provision been made to collect by specific tax payable into the state treasury, the assessments to be made upon railroads and other branches of industry where local taxation would lead to serious results. But though the system be wise, it would seem that the inequality of the burdens resting upon the two classes of property, viz: that subject to specific and that liable to local taxation, calls for reof the Michigan asylum, $48,397 51, and in thehands of the treasurer of the Eastern asylum, $41,825,94. provision should be m Some be made to place this surplus in the state treasurythe source from which most of it has been drawn.

In some localities where fish have been planted, while yet small and worthless for food, they have been caught out and used for fertilizing purposes. In order to reap the benefit of the fish commission, it is recthis farm that will ommended that to them be given authority to appoint wardens whose duties it shall be to watch and guard the deposits of fish when made. It also earnestly recommends that the fish interests be required to pay the expense incurred in propagation and protection. Under the present law the annual expense is not far from $15,000. The appointment of wardens will add to this expense, and I trust that the powers of the board will be enlarged, and that provisions be made for placing a charge upon seines sufficient to defray expenses. The business and property of the railroads of the state have more than doubled in 12 years, but with this increase in miles of road, property and business, there has been no increase in the force provided for railroad commission. The railroad engineers respectfully ask for the appointment of an assistant, who shall be an expert, and shall be appointed in the same manner as the deputy railroad commissioner, and that his duties shall be the thorough examination of switches, bridges, etc., They believe this will add an additional safeguard to the property as well as the lives of themselves and the millions of passengers annually intrusted to their vigilance and fidelity. The relation between capital and labor is attracting widespread attention and the best thought of the nation. Discontented labor renders capital cautious and timid, and this timidity reacts and injures labor. The first duty of law is to guard and protect humanity. To do this the home and other property interests must be pro-tected. Every possible opportunity should be afforded and encouragement extended to toilers that the wisdom of the lawmaker can devise. It will give the governor great pleasure to co-operate with the legislature in devising means that will aid in bettering the condition and elevating the toilers of our state. "I believe," says the governor, "that when any considerable portion of the people desire to express themselves by voting upon a change in the organic law, they ought to be allowed to do so in a constitutional manner. It is believed that a large number of our citizens, realizing the evils of intemperance, desiring to express their convictions in relation to the question of an amendment to the constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors. And it is earnestly hoped that in compliance with this sentiment you will, at an early day, adopt such a joint resolution." "Two years ago the legislature provided for an advisory board of pardons. This was judicious, but the governor cannot the obligation escape upon him by the constituposed tion, and with him the power and authority rests. If we were to follow the prompt-ings of sympathy with those whose liberty is restrained and with their friends and relatives, the prison doors would be opened and the inmates allowed to depart. But law and order must be maintained and the lives and property of the citizen protected. Men are not placed in prison simply to punish them. And while the christian civilization of the age prompts efforts to reform criminals, yet this is not the pur-pose of incarceration. The real object is to prevent the commission of crime, and to this end all legislative and executive action should tend. The most effectual remedy against the commission of crime is the certainty of punishment. I firmly believe that the free exercise of the pardoning power encourages crime. It removes one element from the certainty of punishment. And again, very few can push their claims for pardon without the use of money, and in this way those who can command moners ey enjoy an advantage over those who ny cannot. After giving much thought to the subject I have concluded that it will ed. be my duty to withold the executive clementy, unless evidence not produced of bills and measures, and the senate adjourned until the 6th.

The clerk of the last house called the new body to order. After invocation of the divine blessing by the Rev. Dr. Jamison of Lansing the roll call proceeded and every member-elect responded thereto except the Hon. Ovid N. Case of Detroit, lately deceased. The touching words moved the appointment of a committee to prepare resolutions expressing the sorrow of the house at the death of the deceased member, and the appointment of a day when eutogies of him might be pronounced, and the motion was unanimously carried. The committee appointed comprises Representatives Hosford, Rumsey, Bently, McCormick and Chapman.

Upon reassembling in the afternoon the house was called to order by Clerk Dan Crossman, and the formality of electing the following officers chosen by the caucus. Speaker-Daniel P. Markey of Ogemaw;

Chief janitor-Chas. A. Lee of Wayne. Postmaster-Mrs. N. E. Randall of Wayne; assistant, Miss Minnie Rice of Ingham.

At this point unanimous consent was given to Representative Chapman of Hills- relieved from looking after the state instidale to introduce a resolution relating to the submission of a prohibitory amendment to the constitution. The house having elected the Hon. E. N. Bates of Allegon speaker pro tem. appointed the full roster of its employes and received the messages from the senate, adusual journed.

GOV. ALGER'S MESSAGE.

Gov. Alger, in presenting his retiring message, calls attention to the full reportof the various state officers which accompany it, but which he does not feel called on to summarize.

The treasurer's report shows that the Michigan owes $231,000, state of which will mature in 1890, and the treasurer has in his United States four and one-half per cent. bonds to the amount of $231,000, which balances the account. In a word, however, it can be said that our state is practically out of debt; consequently nothing need be said of its credit, because it does not use it, nor is it probable that it will ever have occasion to do so again.

Our state institutions are, in the main,

in excellent condition.

The Reform School for Boys, at Lansing, is doing a great work. I recommend that the name be changed so as to strike out the word "Reform," for the reason that it indicates punishment for offense. I think the beneficial effect upon the morals of the boys who are brought up in it will be better without the taint, and especially so in after life. I also recommend that a capable man be employed at a fixed salary to find homes for the boys instead of keeping them in school so long, and whose duty it shall be to look to their welfare after they have been placed out. The sooner they can be placed in homes and made to feel that they occupy honorable places in life the better it will be for them and the state. The Industrial School for Girls at Adrian needs some careful attention and consideration. The same rule will in a measure, apply to that school about placing girls in homes, that has just been recommended for the Reform School. A very great for the Reform School. A very great wrong connected with this institution should be righted at once. While there are very many bad girls in the school, there are quite a number of small to the latter work and that they may be tutions. I recommend the law be changed accordingly. The governor recites the history of the soldiers' home and says: I have no doubt but fully an average of 400 veterans will needs be accommodated.

and when they have all passed away and the building is no longer required for their occupancy, it will be a most excellent one hear the retiring and inaugural addresses for the state to use as an asylum or for other purposes. Other states have followed the example of Michigan in caring for its veterans, and I sincerely trust you will carefully look over the estimates required to carry it along and give it your liberal support. The amount required is large, but it is a large, debt we owe to these old veterans, and in our prosperity let us neither forsake nor forget them. I recommend, however, that the sum be reduced to two hundred thousand dollars, believing that the estimates can be cut down by the use of the labor of

The legislature will be called on to patch up the tax laws and the governor recommends a study of the advisability of substituting the county system. He also wants some provision for a Michigan representation at exhibitions. More strin-gent laws should be made regulating methods of taking fish and to improve artificial distribution. The state geolo-gist should be relieved of the burden of publishing his report at his own expense and furnishing the state with a thousand copies.

Early in 1885 I received from the general government the sum of $1.624.21, the same being the allowance passed to the credit of this state on the eighth instalment of our war claim against the government. On the 31st of March last I appointed Hon. E. W. Keightly of Constantine the agent of the state to push these war claims and make collections thereon, and he is now engaged in the work. His compensation is to be ten per cent. on all collections made, and the state is to be subject to no expense in the matter whatever. I have also received from the government $4,503. also received from the government $4,003.-37 due to the state as swamp land indem-nity; also $29,014.07, being money due the state on the five per cent, accruing from the sales of government lands, within the limit of the state. Total cash received from the government $36,030,67 advisory board be charged with the duty of thoroughly overhauling the prison records, and of recommending to the executive such commutations as will in a measure equalize these punishments.

I believe, in view of the fact that so many people are imprisoned who are not of the criminal class, it would be wise, just and humane to pass a law establishing a ticket-of-leave system, to be guarded, of course, with every possible restriction, to be operated much the same as in the state of Ohio, and when it is thought a prisoner will reform if given an opportunity. However, connected with it should be a law enacted that by a simple process the person can be apprehended and returned to prison to serve out the balance of his sentence if he violated his parole. It is a great pity that we have no really intermediate grade of prison where convicts not of the criminal class can be kept separate from this worst element.

The statute authorizing the foreclosure of real estate mortgages should be so amended as to require personal service of a copy of the notice on the owner of the property. The state troops are thoroughly armed and equipped and the department is out of debt. No finer body of men is enrolled in any state. The discipline in camp when men are off duty can be improved. The military academy at Orchard Lake is commended for its work and a law recommended authorizing the executive to commission its graduates and those of the military department of the agricultural college as line officers of this state without commission and without pay. In my inaugural two years since I recommended the abolition of the contract labor system; when, at the closing hours of the session of the legislature, such a bill was passed, after ma-ture thought I felt obliged to defeat the measure and prevent it from becoming a law. This was very humiliating to me for the reason that I had to publicly confess that my recommendation that such a law be passed was not well considered. Since that time I have taken much pains to get all the light possible upon the subject, and the more I investigate the matter the stronger are my convictions that the contract system is the safest and ought to stand. There are but four conditions possible to adopt for convicts. These are the contract system, the piece-price system, the state account system, and idleness. The latter I am sure you will not consider for a moment, as it means solitary confinement, degeneration and destruction. This then, reduces the number to three. whole question resolves itself into this alone-shall the state sell its prison labor, thus ridding itself of all financial responsi-billty and risk of loss with a certainty as to its income, or shall it go into business on its own account with all its risk and opportunity for bad management? The product will be the same under either of the systems, and the consequent competi-tion to honest labor necessarily the same. Prison employes will guard the men, and mechanics superintend the work the same as now. Then what will be the difference! None, so far as the care of the men and The piece-price system differs from the contract system only that the state fur-nishes the labor and the contractor the material. The competion to the outside world is just the same as the contract system, only the state takes all the risk in breakages and imperfect goods furnished.

Slowly but surely taxation increases, and this is rendered the more burdensome because with the great mass of taxpayers the ability to pay diminishes. In many instances the tax amounts to more than The state account system means al-ways an immense loss and sure to be abandoned, in my opinion, by every state, ultimately, which adopts it. If you

THE END OF A RIVALRY.

I spent two days of last week at N---, one of those pretty, thriving, picturesque towns which dot the magnificent and bold landscape of western Pennsylvania, and which are miniature cities in the energy, progressiveness, education and models of advanced municipal regulations. It was a revisit to the place, for I had lived there for a year several years ago, attached to the single newspaper of the town, which newspaper has in the meantime advanced from a somewhat uncertain rather amused at the manner of Dr. weekly publication to the dignity of a daily, with a certain toning down of the pictorial advertising columns, which resembled nothing so much as a half-sheet circus poster, and a corresponding advance in its news and general reading features. I found that change, the epit aph of all the years she could not but feel pleased-when everywhere, had been busy with the she wanted to be irate, distant, and people here as elsewhere, and one of stately. these changes, completing a romance which was well advanced when I times and, to the astonishment of quitted the town in 1873, enables me many friends of the young lady, to tell the story entire.

On the contrary, he was very severe on the devotion of minds to such trifles as flowers, fancy work, music, and dancing; but then blue-eyed May differed with him, and told him so in the sweetest, sauciest, most lovable manner imaginable. Upon the opposite side of the street there had just been completed, at the time of which I speak a row of houses of an unusually imposing appearance, which were dignified by the high-sounding name of Maple terrace, that being the kind of tree that was most conspicuous by its absence in the immediate locality. They were all to let, although the last finishing touches had been put on them in the way of paint and paper, and they wanted nothing but human beings to assume a civilized appearance.

harp came to view; and then she add-ed, rising, "this will never do; they must be put down at once; they are strangers in the neighborhood; we are well known. I have a plan which I think will effectually dispose of the interlopers. I will give an evening reception and ball, and will immediately prepare a list of all the people I wish to invite."

The young man was goodlooking, intelligent, and possessed of that kind of manner, which betokens familiarity with refined and cultivated society. One day Dr. Wood had been called to a distance to see a patient seriously ill, and May sat at the window enjoying her usual occupation, when suddenly she discovered a boy running toward the house. She recognized him as a boy employed by one of the principal families of the town-a family with a host of children, one of whom at least was constantly in bed from fits of indigestion.

"Oh, papa, replied May, gently, "I ed, pulling out from their retreat bedon't think he has got a dozen altogether.'

"Indeed!" replied the doctor, with considerable animation. "It looks to me as if you rather sided with my rival."

The bell rang at this moment and the servant announced Dr. Rand.

Dr. Wood had no time to make any remark ere the young man entered the room, bowing politely to the old gentleman and his daughter, who looked as confused as her father looked surprised. The young doctor looked

"Pardon, sir, for disturbing you at this early hour, but your numerous calls leave me scant opportunity. My errand will doubtless surprise you, but I will be frank and open. I wish to ask your permission, Dr. Wood, to pay my addresses to your daughter." "To do what, sir?" thundered the old doctor in a towering passion. "Are you not satisfied with trying to take from me my practice, but that you must now rob me of my child? I will hever consent to give her to you."

"But, sir," said Edmund Rand, turning to May, "I have your daugh ter's permission to make this request. I told her of my intentions last night and she authorized me to say that she quite aproves of them."

"May," exclamed her father in a stern voice, "is that true?"

"My dear papa, I am in no hurry to get married and will never marry against your wish, but will never marry any one else than Edmund."

"Ungrateful girl!" muttered Dr. Wood, and the next moment he sank back in his chair with an attack of ing her to dance, which was certainly disease of the heart to which he had

PADE CLEAR AS DAY.

The Puts, Calls, Spreads and Straddles of 'Change Described.

"What are 'puts,' 'calls,' 'spreads' and 'straddles?' " asked a New York Mail and Express reporter.

"Well," said John E. McCann, the confidential clerk of Russell Sage, of whom the question was asked, "I'll tell you if you will promise never to mention the poetical subject again. It requires pretty deft wording to make the thing clear, so it is not an exhilar-ating subject to talk on. You hear a good deal about 'puts' and 'calls' but I venture to say there are fifty million people in the United States who do not know what they are, nor what the meaning is of the word 'privileges. Now, a privilege is a contract by which the maker of it, Russell Sage, S. V. White, Jay Gould, or Harvey Kennedy, engage to purchase from the holder in the one case, or to sell to the holder in the other case, a number of shares of some specified stock at a certain price, at any time within a certain period, at the option of the holder. Got that?"

"A 'call' is a previlege bought of the maker at a certain price, and the owner of it is previleged to call for a certain amount of stock at a given price within thirty, sixty or ninety days, four or six months. If a man holds a 'put' he has the right to deliver to the maker of the previlege a stock at a certain agreed price within a certain number of days. Clear? No?

Well, let's try once more. "Suppose Western Union is selling at 70. A man wants a sixty-day 'put' on it at 66, because he believes the stock as going down. He gives Mr. Sage, Mr. White, Mr. Kennedy, or Mr. Gould one per cent. on the amount of stock he wants to deal in. A hundred shares is usual, and one per cent. May obeyed her lover promptly is $100. He receives in return a slip and quietly, quite aware of the ne- of paper signed by either one or the cessity of self-possession and coolness other of these gentlemen. Then if in a case like the present. In half an Western Union goes below 66 within sixty days he may buy it airy bedroom, and the young man for whatever it is selling for below had left, at the request of May, to at- that price, and 'put' it to the maker tend a patient of her father's. It was of the privilege at the price agreed on late at night ere he had finished his -66-and receive a check for $6,000. with his sister by her side, sat watch- not go below 66 the holder is out his $100. The 'call' business operates exactly in the opposits way. A man buys the privilege of calling Western Union at 75 when it is selling at 70. If it sells above 75 you can call on the maker of the privilege for a hundred shares at 75, and the hundred shares are thus bought by the holder for $7,-500, and he turns around and sells it at 80 if the stock is selling there, and pockets the difference." "What about 'spreads' and 'strad dles?" " "A 'straddle' is a 'put' and 'call' combined. The holder of one may 'put' stock to the maker of the privilege to be about I would relinquish them or 'call' for it. 'Straddles' come high, because there is money in them, the market way If the market does not go at all, but stands still, why, the maker is in the money he has been paid for the privilege, usually about 3 per cent. or $300. A 'spread' is also a 'put' and a 'call' combined, but there is this difference: a 'straddle' is made at the market. That is to say, the maker of the privilege takes the risk that the stock in question does not move to any extent from the price at which it is selling when the privilege is sold. In a 'spread' the maker has more leeway. If Western Union is selling at 70, to go back to the old illustration, the tinued the old doctor gruffly, "you maker of the privilege sells a 'spread,' must do as I tell you. If you wish to say at 67 and 80. If it goes below be my son-in-law you must be 67 the holder can 'put' the stock my partner, work like a horse, slave | and make the difference, and if it goes above 80 the holder can 'call' at that price and reap the profits. But so long as the price of the stock keeps within those points the maker of the privilege is sate. To put It in "Dear papa!" said May. "Yes, dear papa," muttered old Dr. dle' will make if the market for the Wood. "A pretty girl you are; give stock he is dealing in moves at all. The holder of a 'spread' doesn't make when he gets his first patient; watch anything until the market moves past certain limits. There is one thing more. The maker of a privilege only receives the money for which he sells the privilege, while the holder may make thousands-or nothing. The mention of 'puts' and 'calls' rewe take him as a partner; never heard calls perforce the exciting times two years ago last spring, when the market went down with a rush, and the holdthe rearing of children to have them | ers of 'puts' issued by Mr. Sage invested his office like an army. After the above "Nobody made any reply to this explanation it will be seen that their and after a few more faint attempts privilege of putting stock to Mr. Sage at faultfinding the old doctor fell was exceedingly valuable. May retreated to the sitting-room and cried with vexation; the enemy had gained an entrance into the camp; for if this family became his patients others would be sure to follow; and she tooked out of the window again just in time to see Edmund Rand hurrying down the street.

But more was to come.

May belonged to a Thursday evening whist party, where whist was the exception and dancing the rule. On the Thursday evening following Dr. Rand's first call she attended one, when, horror of horrors! there was that gentleman and his sister; and worse than that when a quadrille was being formed, he, of all others, came to invite her to dance. Many of our readers, we are sure, will regret to learn that Rev. II. M. Gallup has decided not to continue his labors any longer with our Baptist church. He will preach his last sermon here, at least for the present, next Sunday. Our acquaintance with Bro. Gallup has been both pleasant and profitable. We have found him to be an intelligent, Christian gentleman, both in and out of the pulpit, and for one, regret sincerely his going away, and wish him abundant success and joy in any and every field of labor in which his lot may be cast We understand that he will commence labor immediately with the Baptist church in Dexter.

Alba Heywood, as an impersonator, is a decided success. A very fair and respectable audience greeted him last Thursday evening and were more than pleased, they The rendering of "Searching for the Slain," the only pathetic piece, was wonderfully natural and impressive. "Silly Billy" was inimitable. The singing by Mrs. Holton, trombone playing by Mr. Holton, and flute by Chester Dewey, though to our su r prise none of them were encored, were a better appreciation.

Mr. and Mrs. Kaley desire to express their thanks to their friends, for the generous donation of Tuesday evening, and, considering the forbidding aspects of the weather, the large attendance and hearty social spirit, were a tribute almost equal to the substantial gift of the purse. May the good Lord bless all these friends with many days and crown them with riches, that shall be lasting and sweet.
