A Hard Question Answered.

"Why was the tree of forbidden fruit placed in the Garden of Eden?" recorded in Gen. 2, 17, was most clearly and elegantly answered by Dr. Holmes last Sabbath morning at the Methodist church. The answer was based very properly on the freedom of will. All skeptics and theological grumblers should have heard it. The Dr. intimated that he would follow the answer of the above difficult question by that other grand question which hinges right on to Adam's sin, viz: "The scheme of Redemption." We hope he will notify the people of the time and place, so they may have an opportunity to hear him on that subject.

Partial Synopsis: Creation, matter, separation of matter, forms of life, 1st, vegetable; 2nd, animal; lower forms at first, crowning all with the creation of man, in his own image. This image is the endowment on man of moral quality, power of choice, the grand point of man's responsibility. Did God know Adam would fall? Yes. But the good results far outweigh evil consequences.

Illustration: Had Robert Fulton known beforehand all the misery consequent upon steam navigation, would he have abandoned the application of his discovery? By no means. The good results to mankind from this discovery infinitely outweigh the bad. A permanent record should be made of such exhibitions of God's doings with man.

The original cause of the great California gold fever—the first fever—was at the National Museum at Washington. It is securely sealed in a little glass bottle, and there is no longer any danger of contagion. It is a little flat piece of gold about the size of a gold dollar. It is announced that the superintendent of the Schuylkill division of the Reading railroad has not only positively forbidden the employees of the company to drink liquor, whether on or off duty, but has directed the summary dismissal of any man who is reported to have been seen drinking even a single glass of spirits or beer. This is a stringent measure, but it is advocated as essential to the safe management of a railroad, as a clear head on the shoulders of all who control the movements of railway trains is of vital importance.

STATISTICS show that 53,000 wells have been drilled in Pennsylvania and New York since the discovery of petroleum, at a cost of $200,000,000. The amount of oil exported is placed at 6,234,102,923 gallons. Independent of the oil business there is about $50,000,000 invested in natural gas plants in Pennsylvania. These are large figures and serve to show the magnitude of the business.
