The Birth-place of Robert Burns.

(Written by Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll on visiting the home of the poet.)

Through Scotland boasts a thousand names

Of patriot, King and peer,

The noblest, grandest of them all

Was loved and cradled here;

Here lived the gentle Peasant-Prince,

The loving Cotter-King,

'Tis but a cot roofed in with straw,

A hovel made of clay;

One door shuts out the snow and storm,

One window greets the day;

And yet I stand within this room

And hold all thrones in scorn,

For here, beneath this lowly thatch,

Love's sweetest bard was born.

Within this hallowed hut I feel Like one who clasps a shrine,

When the glad lips at last have touched

The something seemed divine;

And here the world through all the years

As long as day returns,

The tribute of its love and tears

Will pay to Robert Burns.

Wedding Bells.

One of the pleasantest social events of the season in Chelsea circles took place at the residence of Hon. S. G. Ives at 12 m., Wednesday, Sept. 14, 1887. The occasion was the marriage of Claire S. Durand of Ann Arbor to Miss Josie Louise Watson of this village. The sacred knot was tied by a brief and impressive ceremony by the Rev. B. I. Ives, D. D., of Auburn, N.

Y., in the presence of about fifty intimate friends and relatives of the high contracting parties. Following the usual congratulations, the guests sat down to a bountiful repast and during the hours that followed all

"Went merry as a marriage bell."

Mr. Durand is the son of Aaron Durand while his wife is the grand daughter of S.

G. Ives. Both have grown up in this community and are well known and highly esteemed in our social circles. The best wishes of a host of old time friends will go with them in their new relations to their new home, already prepared at Ann Arbor where they will immediately enter upon the duties of housekeeping. Mr. Durand is an efficient employee of the American Express Co. in that city. The presents were numerous and appropriate, and spoke of the warm place they each hold in the hearts of those who know them best.

Mr. Charles Staphish, of Lyndon, and Miss Lenna Hollis, of Stockbridge, were united in marriage by Rev. Father Con-solidine at St. Mary's church yesterday morning at 8 o'clock. Mr. John Hummel and Miss Agnes Staphish were groomsmen and bridesmaid, respectively.

The beautiful church was well filled with the relatives and friends of the happy couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Staphish very sensibly refrained from going on the conventional wedding tour, and went at once to their cozy home in Lyndon, where their many friends were hospitably and charmingly entertained.

Beautiful wedding gifts evidenced the esteem in which the bride and groom are held. May their fondest anticipations for a happy life together be realized is the unanimous wishes of their many friends.

Lima Notes.

Fall weather.

And now the weather is too moist.

What will we do for pumpkin pie this fall?

Fred Neehouse has started up his cider mill.

Wesley Westfall has sold his farm and is going to California.

The familiar face of Miss Addie Westfall greeted us in church last Sunday.

Uncle Charlie Guerin and wife are visiting their sons at Detroit and Port Huron

They will be gone several weeks.

Rev. Horace Palmer had a good congregation last Sunday, and yesterday he left for Saginaw to attend the session of Conference.

Hay short, wheat short, corn short and potatoes more short, makes farmers feel short, in short it looks like pinching times ahead. Suppose we have a short social.

Theodore Covert Jr. is now working for the Cleveland Iron Bridge Co. At present they are putting up a bridge down below Dexter near Delhi.

Hurrah for the fair! Handsome posters adorn our fences and tell us of fairs at Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor, Jackson and Chelsea.

"You pay your money and takes your choice," but we take Chelsea fair for ours.

At last our new iron bridge is up, and we are glad of it. We were not made glad by having to ford the creek for over a week while nothing was being done to the bridge, nor were we glad that the company's men put it up in part on Sunday.

It cost $650 and was bought of the Cleveland Iron Bridge Co.

KEMP & SCHENK.

Last Saturday a party purchased dry goods at Kemp & Schenk's store. The goods were put up in three parcels and were carried out and put in a strange buggy by mistake. The party who has got the goods, will confer a favor by leaving the same at Kemp & Schenk's store.

Card of Thanks.

Mr. and Mrs. James S. Wilsey, wishes to thank the friends who so kindly assisted them in their late bereavement, also to those who furnished flowers.

A story is told at the expense of the T.
A. A. & N. M. R. R. The company bought a piece of land on which an Irishman had his cabin and a three years lease. The company offered him $300 for his lease and to move his cabin any place he might designate. Pat accepted the offer and the cash was paid over.
Then the company sent up the house mover to wait on the Emerald Islander and find out where he wanted his cabin located. "In Oireland," was the answer.
At first they thought it was a joke, but the Irishman sticks to his answer and still holds the fort and the $300.—Ex.

A large number of men and women suffer from their Kidneys throughout their lives. The defective action of the Kidneys is the source of many distressing diseases, and induces Rheumatism, pains in the back and loins, indigestion to exertion, muscular lassitude, nervous trembling and weakness. Kellogg's Columbian Oil is warranted to cure this distressing disease in all its forms.
