THE duties of the early Justices of the National Supreme Court could hardly be called onerous. During the first twenty years of the court it had very little business. From 1820 to 1851 the cases submitted to it averaged only about fifty-five a year. After 1860 the dockets became crowded, and now a new case is ordinarily not heard for five years.

THE finding of natural oil and gas in Western sections is causing most remarkable development and surprising growth in favorably situated localities. Manufacturing centers are thus created and established where such a thing was previously unthought of. For example, Findlay, O., abundantly blessed with this cheap and clean fuel and light, is said to have trebled its population in one year (from 6,000 to 18,000), and is still rapidly growing. It promises to become a manufacturing city of 75,000 or 100,000 inhabitants in the near future.

It is a curious fact that while the annual supply of quinine for the whole world is about 6,600,000 ounces, the consumption of this drug in the United States is more than 3,100,000 ounces, Md., on the 12th, only or nearly one-half the entire product. The price of quinine has been so low for several years that large plantations of cinchona tree have been uprooted in Ceylon, and the tea plant is substituted. Ceylon produces a very large share of all the bark that is marketed, and the exports for that island declined one-third between 1885 and 1887.

Lightning recently fired the depot of the Detroit, Grand Haven & Milwaukee rail-Mr. Arnold arrived in Liverpool on Saturday to meet his daughter, who was on her way to England from New York on the steamer Aurania.

Sunday morning he was apparently well. He attended the Presbyterian church, and ofter luncheon went out for a walk with Mrs. Arnold. He was still in high spirits. Soon after leaving the house he suddenly feil forward and never afterward spoke. The physicians poured spirits down his throat, but he never rallied at all and died within four minutes after being taken in-doors. The doc:ors have given a certificate that Mr. Arnold's death vas due to heart disease. The funeral of Mr. Arnold has been fixed for next Thursday. The interment will be at Laleham, near Staines [The works of Matthew Arnold have covered a wide diversity of subjects, and have achieved prominence wherever the English language is spoken. He was the eldest son of the hate Rev. Thomas Arnold, D. OLD STEENE.

His Queer Theory About Taming Wild Animals.

He Failed in His Effort With a Mountain Lion-A Desperate Fight.

Ills Successful Experiment on a Bear-How

Old Steene came in the other day with his scalp hanging down over his ear and his clothes plastered with blood. Old Steene had been up in the mountains having a fight with a Rocky Mountain lion. Steene said he had got the worst of it, and he looked as if he

"Go on with your story about the bear," said Barney, sulkily.

"Well, that bear laughed a little but I didn't and I felt mighty ticklish. I had my big butcher, but I'm a-gittin' old and I don't care to fight bears any more with a butcher knife only. When I was younger once down on the Big Arkansaw river_"

"Hold up," cried Proctor, "we have heard that Arkansaw river story five times before this. Go on with your story of the bear in the canyon."

I never seed a bear like to dance so well as that one did in all my born days. But all the time he was a gittin' closer and closer. I tried to catch his eye, but couldn't, he kept up such an infernal dodgin' about and dancin'. I got out my big butcher and took a firm holt onto it, fearing he meant mischief, and I'd have to let him have it. Pretty soon we got up side by side almost, and the bear looked at me and I looked at the bear. I caught his eye and he quailed. Then he sort o' reached over his head sideways and smelled of my overalls and went 'whew,' and I reached over and smelled of him and went 'whew,' and doggoned my buttons if that bear didn't drop on all fours and run like blazes."

"What do you suppose made him run?" asked Barney.

"My eye, of course," said Steene; "he was cowed."

"No, it wasn't your eye," growled Barney; "it was the smell of your overalls, and no wonder the bear ran. Sit back from the stove, Steene."

There was a motion as if the old mountaineer would brain the young man with his chair, but Proctor restrained him until Barney got safe out of the way, and then told him it was all meant in fun.

"Well, boys, fun's fun," said the old man; "but I don't like that youngster, and he'd better keep out of my way; he's too fresh for me by a doggoned sight."

This was Steene's story about the bear, and although nobody ever believed it the old man had told it so often I guess he had come to believe it himself and had great confidence in his theory and his eye. Not long since Steene was up in the canyon looking for some strayed cattle when he suddenly came upon a Rocky Mountain lion. Steene had his big butcher knife and his navy revolver with him, but he had left his rifle at ain." home. It was not a very big mountain lion, perhaps a year old, and Steene determined to tame him. Dismounting from his horse, he tied him to a tree, and then advanced upon the lion, which was lying on a shelving rock sunning himself. At Steene's approach the animal rose and began to lash his sides furiously with his tail. At this, old Steene stopped and began to lash his sides with his arms. He flapped them about vigorously, and the lion stopped and looked at him. Then the Steene. Evidently he had never seen so curious a man in all his short life. The beast crouched for a spring, and could cow all animals. He told the jump. The lion became alarmed and

THE latest idea in the direction of waterproof footwear is a shee made with a stout calfskin vamp, seamless, underlaying which is a vamp of thin rubber, and between it and the lining, which is of stout canvas. The bottom of the shoe has a rubber interlining between the outer and inner soles, and thus the shoe is about as near waterproof as a leather shoe can be. It is said to wear well and preserve its waterproof qualities for an indefinite period.

What is it That is Killing so many Promi nent Mon?

The death of Kaiser Wilhelm, ex-Gov. loffman, Banker J. W. Drexel, Lieut.-Gov. Dorsheimer, Dr. Carpenter, Chief-Justice Waite and Gen. B. H. Brewster, in quick succession, and all from the sam cause, alugh having different names, is startling. Drexel, the Philadelphia banker, and Brewster, Ex-Atty. patient or practitioner, with gracious self-confidence he remarked: "Now, gentlemen, let me show you the healthy water of a strong, well man." He applies the test!

"Gentlemen, I have made a terrible discovery!" he gasps, "I myself have the fatal Bright's disease!"

In less than a year this specialist of the commonest and most fatal of diseases was dead. He was a victim of advanced Kidney disease the presence of which in himself he had never suspected! L. B. PRICE, M. D., a gentleman and physician of the highest standing of Hanover, C. H., Va., four years ago, after trying every other remedy for Bright's disease, including famous mineral waters, cured himself by Warner's Safe Cure, and March 24, 1888 wrote: "I have never had the slightest symptoms of my old and fearful trouble." MR. JOHN DOHERTY, of Concord, N. H., was given up with Bright's disease by the best physicians in 1879. He was in a dreadful state. After using and being cured in 1881 by Warner's Safe Cure, in 1887, he wrote: "I am better than ever." OHN COLEMAN, ESQ., 100 Gregory St., New Haven, Conn., was first taken sick in 1873, gradually ran down until he had pronounced Bright's disease, rheumatism and all the other deceptive signs of kidney disease. The best physicians in New Haven could do nothing for him. He then began using Warn-er's Safe Cure, 209 bottles of which he and his family have used and he is cured.

W. T. CRAWFORD, proprietor St. Charles Hotel, Richmond, Va., and well known all through the South, several years ago was in the death-agony from kidney disease, convulsions and Bright's disease. The best Philadelphia specialists in such diseases pronounced him practically dead and incurable. Every thing else failing he took Warner's Safe Cure abun dantly and reguarly, until fully restored to health, and now he says: "After a lapso of many years I am as sound as a dollar, with no symptoms of my old trouble. 1 owe my life to Warner's Safe Cure."

Kidney disease is the most deceptive, the most universal, the most fatal disease. If the most learned men can not know without the use of microscopical and chemical tests that they have kidney disease, how known to himself, in the very jaws of death, who does not feel as well as formerly, but who does not think anything specially ails him, and whose physician may assure him that he will soon be "all right." In these days, people recognize that it is is liable wiser to prevent disease than to await its grasp. arrival to cure it. When you know that you may be in the greatest peril and not have idea of the fact from any defined set of ill-feelings, the wisest course to pursue is to follow the counsel and experience above outlined, and thoroughly renovate the system, cleanse the blood, tone the nerves and insure your own life against these common, mysterious fatalities.

D. T. DAVIS, Agent, McConlos & Ely's Office, FINDLAY, OHIO

POWEL CROSLEY, Cincinnati, O., does not do things by halves. He proposes to make this subdivision one of the most successful about Findlay, and to spare no expense to accomplish that end.

Findlay is having wonderful success—a larger growth in the same time than any other city in Ohio.

Factories are multiplying, other business interests increasing proportionately; population 6,000 a year ago, now 18,000, estimated 25,000 at the close of year: ago, now 18,000, estimated 25,000 at the close of year;
2,500 new houses built last year-5,000 more needed this year; 10 miles of street lines constructed, and others projected; streets improved in every direction; water-works begun; 7 steam railroads; schools, churches, fine residences and business blocks equal to any city of its size in the State. It is favurably known the world over.

Natural Gas is the magic wand that has caused and is causing this change. Eleven hundred feet down the drill taps the noiseless, cleanly, invisible agancy which blesses mankind by giving free fuel and light unsurpassed for thousands of glass facto manufacture seamless gas, water and other pipe, intending to invest $700,000 in cash and employ 1,000 men. Other factories are not far away; and Mr. Crosley is arranging for two factories on the above tract, which will employ at least 200 men. Other factories will be erected this year in the immediate vicinky; a street railroad is projected along a ain street in front of this property. A station will be rected at Kellogg, on the T., C. & S. R. R., eight intuits, ride from Findlay, and trains will be run o accommodate all comers. If every lot in this tract and a house on it, they would all be occupied this year. A gas well of large capacity has just been deliled.

"FINDLAY, O., March 21, 1888. At of natural gas for fuel and light free, and these improvements will be pushed rapidly to completion. Contracts flave been entered into for these improvements.

No such offer was ever before made in the history of real estate transactions.
