A class of forty-one children made their First Holy Communion last Sunday in St.
Mary's church. The beautiful weather brought out a large congregation. The altars were elegantly decorated. The children assembled at the pastor's house and marched in procession to the church.
In the evening vespers were sung before an audience of 700 people. A most beautiful and imposing procession in honor of the Blessed Sacrament was the chief feature, and certainly nothing more impressive and stately, in a religious sense, has ever been seen in Chelsea. St. Mary's church is in a most prosperous condition, religiously and financially.

Goodwin-Cooper.—At the residence of the bride's parents, in Dexter, Mich., May 29, 1888, by Rev. C. B. Whitaker, Mr.
George B. Goodwin, of Lyndon, and Miss Nettie Cooper.

Bott-Hooper.—At the same time and place as the above, Mr. Norris Bott, of Waterloo, and Miss Maggie Hooper, of Dexter.

It seldom falls to the lot of the ordinary minister to officiate at a wedding when everything passes off as pleasantly as the one referred to above. The arrangements had been made with care, and were carried out to the letter. The atmosphere purified by the rain of the previous day was exhilarating. The warm rays of the sun permeating the air seemed to rest like a benediction upon the scene. At about 9:30 a. m. the guests began to arrive and before 12 o'clock about fifty, most of whom were relatives of the high contracting parties, were present to witness the double marriage. Among the numbers we noticed Messrs. Henry Cooper and wife, of Zanesville, Ohio; Geo. Cooper, of Mt.
Pleasant; Fred Cooper and Wm. Wood and wife, of Chelsea; Joseph Hawley and wife, of Stockbridge; Chas. Goodwin and wife, of Webster; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bott, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bott, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bott, Mr. and Mrs. Smith Bott, all of Waterloo; and Mr. and Mrs.
Edward Bott, of Stockbridge.

The ceremony was performed at 1 p. m. after which the company repaired to the dining room where an elegant and substantial repast was served. After dinner music, and song, quips and ball served to amuse the company until the lengthening shadows admonished them to disperse.

The presents were appropriate, useful, and of nearly all we might add beautiful.
Below we give the lists.

To Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Goodwin. One glass water set, two bed spreads, one splasher, three pair towels, one-half dozen napkins, one hair brush, one fruit dish, one set salt sprinklers, one set silver fruit knives, one cruet set, excellent pictures neatly framed of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hawley, and last but not least a basket containing a setting of pure blooded Wyandotte eggs.

To Mr. and Mrs. Norris Bott. One vase one-half dozen napkins, one glass water set, two bed spreads, one cruet set, two pair linen towels, one glass set, one hair brush, a glass cecce dish, and one set salt sprinklers.

The young people start out in life with excellent prospects and we join their numerous friends in wishing them the best that earth and heaven can confer.
Mr. Goodwin remains on the old homestead in Lyndon, while Mr. Bott will take charge of his father's farm in the north part of Waterloo.

C. B. WHITAKER.

Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howlett, of Lyndon, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedded life, June 2, 1888. The number of participants were about fifty, consisting of relatives and old neighbors.
The presents were a gold headed cane appropriately inscribed, gold lined cake ba-ket, fruit basket, and other articles appropriate to the occasion, which were presented in a few well chosen words, by Mr.
E. Skidmore, of Chelsea, who for upwards of thirty years had lived neighbor to them.

Two Made One.

The social event for which the past week will be remembered in Chelsea, occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Mc-Laren on Wednesday, June 6, 1888, at which time and place their daughter, Miss Josie and Mr. Will A. Brewer, of East Saginaw, were married by Rev. Thomas Holmes, D. D., of Chelsea. The assemblage of guests was large and brilliant, gathered from Detroit, Wis., East Saginaw, Ann Arbor, Plymouth, Lima and Chelsea. The appetizing products of two zones constituted the bountiful and luxurious repast. The presents were numerous and simply magnificent. To name one would be unjust to the rest; to mention them all is impossible. The newly constituted family, pelleted with a copious shower of rice as they entered the train, left on the day express at 5 o'clock p. m., for their new already furnished home in East Saginaw, where they expect to arrive after a few days spent in visiting friends on their way. The best wishes of their Chelsea friends follow them. May peace, joy and prosperity be their daily guests, and their honeymoon wax and never wane. H.

Of Interest to Farmers.

Boston, May 17, 1888.
Messrs. Glazier, Wood & Co., Chelsea, Michigan.

Gentlemen:—You purchase wool and it is to your interest not only to have it thoroughly washed on the sheep's back, if washed at all, but to have the fleeces honestly put up. In former years the wool-growers of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan took a just pride in the careful manner in which their wool was prepared for market. The fleeces were well washed, and the farmer who wrapped tags, unwashed locks, pieces of barks' fleeces, dead wool, straw and dirt inside of them, or put his wool on the market in a half-washed condition, was looked upon by his neighbors as a first-class fraud. Of late years, however, these dishonest practices have been winked at and are often regarded as evidence of smartness instead of rascality. They ought, as in Australia, to constitute a criminal offence, punishable by fine and imprisonment. You cannot serve the wool interest of your state better than by asking your representative in the state legislature to introduce and put through a bill by which any one who is convicted of an attempt to swindle wool-buyers by selling them wool fraudulently handled shall be liable to a heavy fine, or to imprisonment for not less than one year, or both, at the discretion of the court. The excessive and superfluous use of heavy string in tying up fleeces is also an evil that should be remedied.

We well remember the time when average fine Ohio wool did not shrink over 45 per cent, and Michigan wool over 48 per cent when scoured and ready for the cards. Year by year the shrinkage has been growing greater and greater, until now 50 per cent for fine Ohio and 53 per cent for fine Michigan fleeces are not regarded as more than average shrinkages. The clip of last year was heavier than it ever was since wool growing became one of the industries of this country. Hundreds of thousands of pounds of wool came to this market in a half washed condition, and more or less of it was badly stuffed. These wools were imposed upon Western buyers at prices current for wool properly washed, and as a result the amount of wool returned to them in their account sales by Eastern commission merchants as unmerchantable was very large. Several lots of Michigan wool shipped to us for properly washed wool were found when tested to shrink 57 per cent to 60 per cent, and very few that we received shrank under 55 per cent.

Farmers are now, or soon will be, engaged in washing their fleeces, and then shearing will follow. If you are to act all, now is the time. One of the most potent arguments used by advocates of free trade with foreign countries is based on the theory that so long as we are protected by important duties the American farmers will indulge in the slovenly and dishonest methods that now prevail, but with wool on the free list, they will be compelled to handle it properly in order to compete with the foreign wool-grower. It is clearly for the interest of the wool-grower, the Western wool merchant, the Eastern dealers, commission merchants, and manufacturers to secure the reform we demand, and we urge you to do all that you possibly can, both privately and publicly, to secure it.

Very truly yours,
HALLOWELL & CONERN.

What a Leading Retail Shoe Dealer, of New York City, says about Heywood Good-year Welt Shoes:

"We sell all sorts of reliable shoes, from the genuine English Wank-enphast at $10 to the best $2.50 shoe in the market. Our American Hand Welt Shoes at $6.50 and $7.00 are practically as good as the English, but an experience of several years compels us to say, that taken all in all, the shoes that have given our customers the best satisfaction, the shoes of which have the fewest complaints, are our Heywood Goodyear Wels, a shoe that we sell at $5, all styles, all widths, and half sizes to fit any foot. There never was a shoe made that possessed as many good features and yet could be sold for so little money. J. W. GREEN, Jr., New York."

I have the Heywood Goodyear Welt Men's fine shoes, from 5 1-2 to 11 in size, on 3, 4, 5 and 6 lasts, and in five different styles. They have a reputation of 25 years. Every pair warranted to give satisfaction.
