

GREAT

JANUARY SALE

AT

KEMPF & SCHENK'S

To many goods and need of money compels us to make this great reduction sale on all

Dry Goods,
Clothing,
Boots & Shoes,
Cloaks, Etc.

You will find this sale beats them all, and will more than pay you to come and see us. This special price sale for January only.

Yours Respectfully,

KEMPF & SCHENK.

E. G. HOAG.

During January we shall sell Lamps very cheap. Library Lamps from $2.00 to $15.00. Vase Lamps, beautiful goods, including Rochester Lamps, from $3.00 to $7.00. Stand Lamps, Hand Lamps, Side Lamps, Night Lamps, Kitchen Lamps, Bracket Lamps, Founts, Shades, Globes, Burners, Wicks, Illuminators, Reflectors, Lanterns, (three styles) Lantern Reflectors, Dark Lanterns, everything pertaining to the Lamp trade we have in stock, and in too large quantities for this season of the year. We shall make it very interesting for parties who will see us this month on Lamp Goods.

E. G. HOAG.

CHELSEA ROLLER MILLS.

MARKET REPORT.

Roller Patent, per hundred,	$2.80
Housekeepers Delight, per hundred,	2.40
Superior, per hundred,	1.75
Buckwheat Flour, per hundred,	3.25
Corn Meal, bolted, per hundred,	1.50
Corn Meal, coarse, per hundred,	1.10
Feed, corn and oats, per ton,	18.00
Bran, per ton,	15.00

Corrected weekly by COOPER & WOOD.

J. A. TUCKER, DEALER IN MUSICAL MERCHANDISE.

PIANOS, ORGANS AND SEWING MACHINES.

Pianos and Organs Tuned and Repaired.
Established 1860. v18n25

No. 124 Main Street, East, Hard House Block, Jackson, Michigan.

AUCTIONEER.

GEO. E. DAVIS,
Chelsea, Mich.Orders by telephone or otherwise from any part of the state promptly filled.
Terms reasonable. Office in W. J.
Knapp's Hardware. v18n7

CITY BARBER SHOP.

FRANK SHAVER.
Two doors west of W. J. Knapp's hardware store. Work done quickly and in first-class style.Dr. Frank Buckley, Dentist,Will be in Chelsea Friday and Saturday of each week from 8 a. m. to 5.30 p. m. Office with Dr. Palmer over Glazier's drug store. n32

FIRE! FIRE!!

If you want insurance call on Gilbert & Crowell. We represent companies whose gross assets amount to the sum of $45,000,000.

Local Brevities.

Mrs. Alva Freer is quite sick.
Waterloo will have a new saw-mill.
30 boxes matches for 25c. at Glazier's.
There is 1,835 students in the U. of M.
now.

Oysters, best Standards 18 cents at Glazier's.

18 1/2 pounds granulated sugar for $1.00
at Glazier's.

Dr. R. B. Gates has been quite ill for the past week.

Glazier's prices on teas and coffees beat the world.

The Congregational parsonage is almost completed.

See Glazier's every day prices, upper right hand corner.

There are 180 pupils enrolled in the Stockbridge schools.

Merritt Boyd has moved into the Davis house on East street.

Wheat looks green on the ground, and is wintering first rate.

Miss Josie Ruche, of Lansing, visited friends here last week.

Heavy solid silver thimbles 80 cents each at F. P. Glazier's.

New Jersey turns out nearly 37,000,000 yards of ribbon a year.

Strictly pure spices at the lowest prices ever heard of at Glazier's.

Harkins & Granger's Specialty Co., at the town Hall Jan. 25, 1889.

The Ann Arbor Argus is fifty four years old, and just as bright as ever.

Sheep killing dogs are making much trouble for Ingham County farmers.

Miss Maggie Barthel, of South Lyon, spent the past week here visiting relatives.

Elgin watches, pendant set, stem wind, in 3 oz. case, $7.50. Glazier, the druggist.

The coal mines of Washington Territory produced 825,000 tons of coal last year.

Will Stroble, of Jackson, was in town last week and spent a few days with among friends.

The New York grand jury urges a reduction in the number of saloons in that city.

Why is the Chelsea fire department like the Democrat party—neither one is for protection.

Don't fail to see Prof. Hart at the town hall Thursday and Friday evenings, Jan.
17th and 18th.

Glazier, the druggist, is making the lowest prices ever heard of on all watches clocks and jewelry.

H. S. Holmes & Co. and Kempf & Schenk close their stores at 7 p. m. except Saturday evening.

The gross earnings of the Ann Arbor post office the last fiscal year were $21, 637.35; total expenses $10,654.47.

On the basis of the Presidential vote the present population of the State is figured at 2,185,092, an increase of 342, 034.

You hear of many 1/2 off slaughter and clearing sales, but you don't hear of anybody discounting Glazier's every day prices.

The roads are frozen up in a very rough condition, and it will require about a foot of snow in the country to make decent sleighing.

Oh soy, neighbor Patsy, of all the saw filers of ever sawed file a saw of never sawed a filer file a saw the waw of sawed Hoag's saw filer file a saw.

Died, Saturday, Jan. 12, 1889, Frederick Frey, aged 39 years. The funeral was held Tuesday and was largely attended by relatives and friends.

It is proposed by a California paper to enact a law requiring that the Fourth of July be celebrated only by deaf mutes.

The American eagle will frown upon that suggestion.

Mothers will find Dr. Winchell's Teething Syrup just the medicine to have in the house for the children; it will cure Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, and Regulate the Bowels. Try it.

Harkins & Granger's Specialty Co., will appear at the Town Hall, Chelsea, Jan. 25, 1889. They will give a first-class specialty entertainment, new songs, new music, exquisite toilets and graceful dancing.
Don't fail to see them.

Coughing and sneezing can be stopped by pressing on the nerves of the lips in the neighborhood of the ear, or pressing very hard on the top of the mouth, inside, is also a means of stopping coughing. The will has immense power, also.

English Spavin Liniment removes all Hard, Soft, or Calloused Lumps and Blemishes from horses, Blood Spavin, Curbs, Splints, Sweeney, Ring-Bone, Stiffes,
Sprains, all Swollen Throats, Coughs, Etc.
Save $50 by use of one bottle. Warranted.
Sold by Hummel & Fenn, druggist, Chelsea, Mich. v18n13

Gospel meetings are being held at the M. E. church in Chelsea, and may continue two or three weeks. All Christians who wish to receive and do good, as well as persons who do not profess to be Christians, are earnestly invited to attend them. Meetings begin promptly at 7.30
p. m.

Mrs. O'Brien is quite ill.
Glazier's prices on all goods are right.
Lewis P. Klein spent Sunday in town.
6 bars Babbitt soap for 25c. at Glazier's.
Try A. B. C. plug tobacco 25c at Glazier's.
Finest line of cigars in Chelsea at F. P.
Glazier's.

Sam Guerin spent Sunday with his family here.

18 1/2 pounds granulated sugar for $1.00
at Glazier's.

Business is very dull on account of the bad weather.

Henry Gilbert, of Ann Arbor, was in town Sunday.

Colds are very prevalent here among little children.

Red hot peanuts 10 cents per pound at F. P. Glazier's.

Glazier's 30c tea is better than most teas sold for 50 cents.

Geo. E. Davis has a very large singing school at North Lake.

The Creamery has shut down temporarily for the want of cream.

Jas. Hudler, of Munith, spent a few days in town last week.

Starch, saleratus and yeast cakes 5 cents per package at Glazier's.

Died, Saturday, Jan. 12, 1889, Philander
Hathaway, aged 79 years.

Dr. F. H. Stiles has gone to New York city to remain a short time.

Read Cooper & Wood's prices on first page and then give them a call.

Frank McNamara, who has been ill for the past two weeks, is out again.

At Dundee the village water is pumped out of a rock, so says the Reporter.

More than $40,000,000 worth of American refined lard is exported every year.

Prof. Brockman, of Baltimore, is educating a base ball nine of monkeys. Next.

Remember Harkins & Granger's big entertainment at the town hall, Jan. 25th, 1889.

The largest landowner in Manchester township is Wm. Burtless, who has 627 acres.

C. E. Chandler, who has been ill for the past few weeks, is again seen on our streets.

Try Glazier's 20c roasted coffee, it beats coffees that are sold for 30 cents by most dealers.

The Village Board has concluded to exchange "that fire bell" for one weighing 500 pounds.

The corner-stone of the Masonic Home at Grand Rapids will be laid by the Grand Lodge in May.

How do Glazier's every day prices compare with clearing, slaughter, fire, 1/4, 1/2, and 3/4 off sales.

Miss Royce, of Chelsea, takes Miss Bruce's place as book-keeper for A. L.
Noble, of Ann Arbor.

Miss Lucy E. Lowe, of Augusta, has been employed to teach the intermediate department in our Union school.

Glazier's prices on Jewelry, Watches, Clocks and Silverware are lower than any 1/2 off or auction sales we ever heard of.

Corn is a maize and a dante is a maze, which is pretty conclusive proof that there is a bond between dancing and corns.

Mrs. E. W. Rogers, of Grass Lake, from the first of January, 1888, to the first of January, 1889, wove 1,012 yards of carpeting.

Glazier, the druggist, will sell you a Elgin G. M. Wheeler watch, full jeweled pendent set, stem wind, in 3 oz. silver case, for $12.50.

Died, Friday, Jan. 11, 1889, Frank, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Leach, aged 5 years. The funeral was held Sunday, and was largely attended.

The bed of clay found at the Morse School House, near Leslie, has been thoroughly tested, and found to be the best quality of potters' clay.

Itch, Mange, and Scratches on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Wool-ford's Sanitary Lotion. This never fails.
Sold by Hummel & Fenn, druggists,
Chelsea, Mich. v18n38.

Uncle Sam's Condition Powders will cure Distempers, Coughs, Colds, Fevers and most of the diseases to which Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Hogs, and poultry are subject. Sold by all druggists.

Representative John E. Tyrrell's proposed bill in the Michigan legislature, providing for a uniform system of text books in the public schools is already exciting considerable comment in the newspapers.

W. J. Knapp had his insurance with Gilbert & Crowell in the German Insurance
Co. on his buildings and stock, burned
Dec. 28th, and Jan. 10th he received draft for the full amount. It pays to insure with agents and companies who are prompt in adjusting and paying losses.

Eller's Extract of Tar and Wild Cherry is a safe, reliable and pleasant remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all throat troubles; will relieve and benefit Consumption. Try it and be convinced. Every bottle warranted; price 50c and one dollar per bottle. Sold by all druggists. Prepared by the Emmert Proprietary Co., Chicago, Ill.

THE TIME HAS ARRIVED!

Our Annual Sale commences Saturday, January 5th, and closes Saturday, February 2nd, 1889. In looking over the several Departments in

OUR STORES

We find while our trade has been very satisfactory, and larger than ever, we still

Have too many goods for this Season

Of the year, and in order to get our stock down

Before Invoicing

We shall make prices do the business. We are unable to quote you prices on everything but will assure you

Our Prices

During this sale

Will Long be Remembered.

DRY GOODS DEPARTMENT. BOOT & SHOE DEPARTMENT.

Dress Goods at your own price. We are showing the

BROWN COTTONS LARGEST STOCK

Ticks, Denims, etc., cheaper than you ever bought them.

LONSDALE, BLEACHED, 8 cts. Our prices can't be matched, our by the piece only, others in warm good's stock is complete.

proportion. Rubbers, Felts, etc.

TABLE LINENS, AT CLOSING PRICES.

Napkins, Towels, White Goods, CLOTHING DEPARTMENT.

Embroideries, etc., All suits, overcoats and odd pants at

AT CLOSING PRICES. 1-4 OFF.

GROCERY DEPARTMENT. Our Regular Prices.

A few of our prices during this sale. $2.00 pants $1.50

13 lbs. granulated sugar, $1.00 4.00 pants 3.00

30 cent coffee, 22 1/2c 5.00 pants 3.75

12 1/2c raisins, 10c 5.00 suits 3.75

Yeast cakes, 5c 10.00 suits 7.50

Saleratus, 5c 12.00 suits 9.00

Other goods in proportion. 15.00 suits 11.75

OUR CARPET ROOM 5.00 overcoats 3.75

In basement is fill with a well se- 10.00 overcoats 7.50

lected stock of carpets, curtains 20.00 overcoats 15.00

etc. Don't fail to visit it Children's Overcoats 1-3 Price.

during this sale

IN OUR CLOAK DEPARTMENT

On second floor we have about 50

NEWMARKETS

Which we will close out at Half Price.

Also other goods at greatly reduced All our 50 cent goods at 38 cents prices. during this sale.

Terms, Cash or Produce. You can afford to come 30 miles to trade with us during January.

Yours Respectfully,

H. S. HOLMES & CO.

BLAICH BROS.,

FINE GROCERS.

Teas, Coffee & Spices a Specialty.

Also, constantly on hand, Fresh Vegetable and Fruits of all kinds.

Try a pound of the Best 50 cent Tea sold. We roast all our own Coffees, so they are always fresh and nice. Call and see us. Respectfully,

BLAICH BROS.

500 PAIR

Of Shoes for Men, Women and Children, that must be sold in the month of January. All new goods, and will go at a reduction of 1-4 to 1-3 OFF.

B. PARKER.

BOOT AND SHOE DEALER.

TO THE PUBLIC!

We have had a great sale on Overcoats, in fact on Everything our sales are

Way Ahead of Last Year

And we propose to make January and February Sales larger than ever before. They are the closing months of our fiscal year and we Propose to Make Them Boomers!

On our Overcoats (which we have been selling at from $3 to $10 less than all Competitors) we propose to make

A Still Greater Cut!

We have just received a large shipment of Men's and Youths' Suits which we bought at our own price. We will dispose of them at less than other dealers can buy them.

We have put the knife into our Underwear. Some are marked at 1-3 the former price.

The finest line of Mufflers in the city to be closed out at 1-4 off.

J. T. JACOBS & CO.,

One-Price Clothiers

Jan. 24, 1889. 37 & 39 Main St., Ann Arbor, Mich.

EVERY DAY PRICES.

Good Enough for Anybody

PLEASE COMPARE WITH

Bargain, Clearing, Slaughter,
Cyclone, and 1-2 Off Sales.

13 1/2 lbs granulated sugar for $1.00

14 lbs confectioners "A" sugar for 1.00

Nutmegs 5c per oz

6 bars Babbitt Soap for 25c

6 bars White Russian Soap for 25c

Good raisins 8c per lb

Choice raisins 10c

4 pounds best rice 25c

Water White Oil 11c per gal

Oysters, best favorites, per can 15c

Oysters, best standard, per can 18c

Oysters, best select, per can 20c

Starch 5c per lb

Saleratus 5c

Finest roasted Rio coffee 20c

Roasted Java & Maracaba coffee 25c

Best dried beef 7c

Finest tea dust 12 1/2c

Fine Japan tea 30c

Full cream cheese 13c

3 1/2 lbs V crackers for 25c

6 lbs rolled oats for 25c

6 rolls best chicory 10c

20 boxes matches, 900 to box, for 25c

Yeast cakes 3 & 5c per pkg

Good ground coffee 12 1/2c per lb

Good green Rio coffee 18c

Stick candy 10c per lb

Fine mixed candy 10c per lb

Best roasted peanuts 10c

A. ALLISON, Editor and Proprietor.
CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.

INTERESTING NEWS COMPILATION.
FIFTIETH CONGRESS.

In deference to the general desire of the Pennsylvania bar the Justices of the Supreme Court, of that State will hereafter wear robes.

A GREAT deal of the English holly in the market, over which the syndicate poets go into ecstasies this season of the year, is really grown in New Jersey swamps.

The rumor comes that Mme. Patti has been offered the Cross of the Legion of Honor by the French Government. Patti ought to take it. It will cost her only a song.

A BROTHER of Lord Wolseley, Frederick Wolseley, an Australian squatter, claims attention for having invented a sheep-shearing machine by which one man can shear one hundred and forty sheep a day clear as a whistle.

ONE of the latest wrinkles in photography is the ghost picture, in which a person's likeness is taken by an instantaneous exposure, with a result so shadowy that the background, subjected to a longer exposure, can be seen through the ghost.

The French mint will soon replace the copper coins with nickel. Singularly enough the five and ten-cent pieces will be perforated in the center after the manner of Chinese coins. This enables them to be strung and counted or handled with great ease.

SEVERAL years ago a coal mine in Japan took fire and forty or fifty miners were entombed. Recently the mouth of the pit was opened, and on searching the bodies of the victims were discovered. By the action of water they had been converted into stone.

It is rather late for the courts to be considering the provisions of the late Artemus Ward's will. The principal legacy left by him was his exhaustless fund of humor, and the whole English-speaking race were his heirs. No judge or jury can set that aside.

ROBERT BROWNING's first poem was written at the early age of four years. One day, just as his mother was about to give him a dose of medicine, the youthful poet struck an attitude and "cited":

"All people, if you wish to see A boy take physic look at me."

JOSEPHINE BEDARD, a pretty French-Canadian girl visiting in Lewiston, Me., says she has eaten nothing in seven years, subsisting entirely on water, and now every restaurant man from Moosehead to Penobscot is trying to sell her a twenty-one meal, four dollar commutation hash ticket.

It may be well for Miss Canada to remember before she turns up her little blue, cold nose at the idea of accepting Uncle Sam as a suitor that he is as young and good looking a fellow as will ever be likely to present himself, and that she herself is no chicken. Moreover, her farm lines his'n.

LONDON has carried the "drop a nickel in the slot" nonsense to a practical business, and by dropping a penny in the slot pot people may secure a gas-light for six hours. Each burner is arranged so as to give thirty-six feet of gas for a penny, which, by the way, is only fifty-six cents per thousand feet.

THERE is only one woman in the United States who is entitled on all occasions to the privilege of the floor of the Senate. This is the wife of Senator John H. Reagan, of Texas, who has been appointed private secretary by her husband, with all the honors and emoluments of that position, amounting to some $2,000 a year. This is said to be the first case of the kind in the records of the Senate.

JAMES A. STEWART, the newly-elected mayor of Griffin, Ga., is one of the youngest mayors on record, his twenty-second birthday having been celebrated in August last. He is the son of Congressman J. D. Stewart, who was greatly surprised when he heard of his boy's election. Young Stewart entered the campaign but one day before the election, and received thirty-nine majority over one of the most solid citizens of Griffin.

MR. and MRS. GLADSTONE are thus pictured by a London daily paper as they appeared on the platform on the occasion of their recent visit to Birmingham: "Both were in evening dress, the lady charmingly attired in crimson silk, black lace and diamonds, and carrying a swan-down fan; Mr. Gladstone, with the customary camellia in his coat, his dress-shirt open at the neck for strong oratorical effect, and the way of his white tie thus made easy for his customary journey to the side of the neck in the course of his coming oration."

A HAWAIIAN convict who was condemned to death had his life spared on condition that he should be inoculated with leprosy by way of experiment. The inoculation took place three years ago, and the unfortunate man, who would surely have done better to go to the scaffold, is now a tubercular leper. The experiment was perhaps hardly necessary. The fact that Father Damien has become a leper since he went to reside in a settlement of lepers is surely proof enough that the disease is contagious. Now, however, there is no longer room for doubt.

CIVILIZATION seems to be having a turbulent time, planting its foot here and there on barbarian shores. The Soudanese are making it unpleasant for the British at Suakin on the Red Sea, and some of the subjects of the ruler of Zanzibar have been harassing German settlements within his dominions, and a blockade by the German and English powers has resulted, while in Samoa, civil war, chiefly the consequence of foreign interference, is raging. The wars of the period are not great, but they assume importance for diplomatic questions depending upon them.

A CYCLONE'S WORK.

It Swept Through Pennsylvania, Cutting a Wide Swath of Death and Destruction. Four Men Killed at Reading. PA.—In the same city an immense mill Mill is blown down burying 200 People in the Ruins—Eighty of Them Thought to Have Been Killed, and Nearly All of the Most Injured—Seven Lives Lost and Over Thirty Persons Wounded by the Demolition of Several Buildings at Reading—Loss of Life at Reading—The Storm's Work in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana.

READING, Pa., Jan. 10.—A cyclone swept over the northern section of this city Wednesday afternoon and laid waste everything within its path, with a terrible loss of life. The number of lives that have been sacrificed and the number of persons injured can only be estimated. The most reliable computation at midnight is that not less than sixty and perhaps eighty persons have been killed outright and 100 injured.

It rained hard all day until about 4 p. m., when the sun shone for about half an hour. Then the scene changed with a suddenness that was appalling. The fleecy clouds gave way to the ominous signs of a coming storm. In the western sky a thundering noise was heard, and the track of the storm was seen that day the first signs of danger in a funnel-shaped cloud which seemed to gather up everything within its reach and cast it right and left. Out in the country houses were blown down, and the trees were uprooted, crops rooted up and destruction spread in every direction.

The track of the storm was not more than 300 feet wide, and it is lucky that it only touched the suburbs of the city. It came from the west and passed along the northern border of the city. First it touched the Mount Penn stone works. Here the corner of the building was struck, and a portion of the roof was cut off as nicely as if done by a pair of scissors. Then the storm crossed some of the streets and took a portion of the roof of J. H. Sternberg's rolling mill. A number of dwellings were unroofed as readily as if their tin roofs were paper. The storm hurried across the property of the Reading Railroad Company and crossed the railroad tracks, and a passenger car was blown off as quickly as if it had been a toy, and its splinters scattered in every direction.

Meanwhile the rain poured down in torrents. The atmosphere became heavy and oppressive, and it was almost as dark as night.

On one side of the track of the Reading railroad was situated the paint-shop of the company. It was a one-story building about 60 by 150 feet in size. Here about thirty men were employed in painting passenger cars. The building was struck by the storm, and the roof fell, and the cars were blown off and scattered in every direction. The cars were turned turtle, while the men were buried under the debris. Some of the bricks were carried away. The chamber of each of the cars was already filled with gas, as they were ready to be exploded on the road in a few days. They exploded one after another with the fearful bang of a cannon. Bang, bang, bang, they resounded over the city, causing the people to run out of their houses in terror. There was the sound of an earthquake. There was a shower of flaming shot upward with the roar of musketry. About twenty of the men had been blown off the cars, and four of them were killed. Their cries were heard for a moment by the terrified workmen and then their voices were hushed forever. They were quickly roasted to death.

The department was called out, but its services were unavailing. The building and cars were consumed in fifteen minutes and nothing left but blackened, smoking ruins, under which lay four human beings burned to a crisp. Their names are: John K. Albert, Albert Landberger, Sheridan Jones and George Schaefer.

It was rumored that several others had been killed, but these are the only ones known to have lost their lives. Aaron Dewalt, one of the employees of the paint-shop, had his arm broken, and George Kunkel, another employee, was killed. The loss to the railroad company is fully $75,000.

When this was going on the storm was traveling with fearful rapidity. It must have traveled at the rate of 100 miles an hour. It struck some private residences and unroofed a dozen or more houses. The huge sheets of tin were carried high into the air and deposited in all directions. The square away and deposited in all directions. The storm proceeded in its full fury. Directly in its path, at the corner of Twelfth and Mill streets, stood the Reading silk mill, the largest of the industries of the city in which the citizens take pride. Here about 175 girls were working. The building was a huge structure, most substantially built, four stories in height, and had a basement besides. It occupied an entire block of ground. The building itself was 200 feet in length and 100 feet wide. It was surrounded by a massive tower fully 100 feet from the ground. The funnel-shaped storm-cloud struck the building directly in the center in its broadest side, which faced the west. It fell to pieces in a moment. Nearly 200 human beings were down, and the awful wreck. Human tongue can never tell the terrible scenes of that hour. The walls gave way, the floors fell down, one on top of the other, and carried their great mass of human beings to the bottom. The bricks were piled up in the greatest confusion. Amid the hurricane, the whistling and roaring of the wind, terrible cries for succor were sent up to Heaven. It was a moment that tried men's souls. Girls were crying, faces bruised and broken, limbs in a state of utter ruin, and torn, dragged themselves from the ruins. So, probably, 75 to 100 escaped or were dragged out by their friends, and were thrown near the top of the debris. Some of the bricks were piled twenty feet deep and were lying human bodies by the score. About 250 girls and young women were usually employed in the mill, but at 4 o'clock only eighty were relieved from duty for the day.

The alarm for relief was immediately sent out, and in a short time thousands of citizens arrived to help out the dead and dying. The scene was harrowing and a degrading description. The mill is situated on a high mountain overlooking the city. When the people arrived every thing was enveloped in darkness. Huge bonfires were built, which cast a dismal glare on the scene. The fire companies left the burning, post-shop and assisted in the rescue of the dead and the dying. The entire police force was called out. The ambulance and relief corps, 1,000 people were in among the timber, carrying out bricks, pulling away debris and assisting wherever they could. A young woman was taken out of the wreck had its head cut off. Others were in various postures. Two were almost dead, and some were almost dead. In the basement of the building were found the bodies of young girls lying together. The firemen tried to pull them out, but they were pinned down and it was impossible to get them out. They were beyond all human aid. Up to 10 o'clock p. m. twenty-one dead bodies had been taken out.

It is impossible to tell how many may be under the ruins, as the managers are unable to get at them. The firemen tried to feed them, and he was kept alive by feeding them beef and whisky to him through a rubber tube. A number of narrow escapes were reported. Seven men were thrown from the seventh story to the ground and escaped with slight injuries. Adolph Herman caught

A CYCLONE'S WORK.

It Swept Through Pennsylvania, Cutting a Wide Swath of Death and Destruction. Four Men Killed at Reading. PA.—In the same city an immense mill Mill is blown down burying 200 People in the Ruins—Eighty of Them Thought to Have Been Killed, and Nearly All of the Most Injured—Seven Lives Lost and Over Thirty Persons Wounded by the Demolition of Several Buildings at Reading—Loss of Life at Reading—The Storm's Work in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana.

READING, Pa., Jan. 10.—A cyclone swept over the northern section of this city Wednesday afternoon and laid waste everything within its path, with a terrible loss of life. The number of lives that have been sacrificed and the number of persons injured can only be estimated. The most reliable computation at midnight is that not less than sixty and perhaps eighty persons have been killed outright and 100 injured.

It rained hard all day until about 4 p. m., when the sun shone for about half an hour. Then the scene changed with a suddenness that was appalling. The fleecy clouds gave way to the ominous signs of a coming storm. In the western sky a thundering noise was heard, and the track of the storm was seen that day the first signs of danger in a funnel-shaped cloud which seemed to gather up everything within its reach and cast it right and left. Out in the country houses were blown down, and the trees were uprooted, crops rooted up and destruction spread in every direction.

The track of the storm was not more than 300 feet wide, and it is lucky that it only touched the suburbs of the city. It came from the west and passed along the northern border of the city. First it touched the Mount Penn stone works. Here the corner of the building was struck, and a portion of the roof was cut off as nicely as if done by a pair of scissors. Then the storm crossed some of the streets and took a portion of the roof of J. H. Sternberg's rolling mill. A number of dwellings were unroofed as readily as if their tin roofs were paper. The storm hurried across the property of the Reading Railroad Company and crossed the railroad tracks, and a passenger car was blown off as quickly as if it had been a toy, and its splinters scattered in every direction.

Meanwhile the rain poured down in torrents. The atmosphere became heavy and oppressive, and it was almost as dark as night.

On one side of the track of the Reading railroad was situated the paint-shop of the company. It was a one-story building about 60 by 150 feet in size. Here about thirty men were employed in painting passenger cars. The building was struck by the storm, and the roof fell, and the cars were blown off and scattered in every direction. The cars were turned turtle, while the men were buried under the debris. Some of the bricks were carried away. The chamber of each of the cars was already filled with gas, as they were ready to be exploded on the road in a few days. They exploded one after another with the fearful bang of a cannon. Bang, bang, bang, they resounded over the city, causing the people to run out of their houses in terror. There was the sound of an earthquake. There was a shower of flaming shot upward with the roar of musketry. About twenty of the men had been blown off the cars, and four of them were killed. Their cries were heard for a moment by the terrified workmen and then their voices were hushed forever. They were quickly roasted to death.

The department was called out, but its services were unavailing. The building and cars were consumed in fifteen minutes and nothing left but blackened, smoking ruins, under which lay four human beings burned to a crisp. Their names are: John K. Albert, Albert Landberger, Sheridan Jones and George Schaefer.

It was rumored that several others had been killed, but these are the only ones known to have lost their lives. Aaron Dewalt, one of the employees of the paint-shop, had his arm broken, and George Kunkel, another employee, was killed. The loss to the railroad company is fully $75,000.

When this was going on the storm was traveling with fearful rapidity. It must have traveled at the rate of 100 miles an hour. It struck some private residences and unroofed a dozen or more houses. The huge sheets of tin were carried high into the air and deposited in all directions. The square away and deposited in all directions. The storm proceeded in its full fury. Directly in its path, at the corner of Twelfth and Mill streets, stood the Reading silk mill, the largest of the industries of the city in which the citizens take pride. Here about 175 girls were working. The building was a huge structure, most substantially built, four stories in height, and had a basement besides. It occupied an entire block of ground. The building itself was 200 feet in length and 100 feet wide. It was surrounded by a massive tower fully 100 feet from the ground. The funnel-shaped storm-cloud struck the building directly in the center in its broadest side, which faced the west. It fell to pieces in a moment. Nearly 200 human beings were down, and the awful wreck. Human tongue can never tell the terrible scenes of that hour. The walls gave way, the floors fell down, one on top of the other, and carried their great mass of human beings to the bottom. The bricks were piled up in the greatest confusion. Amid the hurricane, the whistling and roaring of the wind, terrible cries for succor were sent up to Heaven. It was a moment that tried men's souls. Girls were crying, faces bruised and broken, limbs in a state of utter ruin, and torn, dragged themselves from the ruins. So, probably, 75 to 100 escaped or were dragged out by their friends, and were thrown near the top of the debris. Some of the bricks were piled twenty feet deep and were lying human bodies by the score. About 250 girls and young women were usually employed in the mill, but at 4 o'clock only eighty were relieved from duty for the day.

The alarm for relief was immediately sent out, and in a short time thousands of citizens arrived to help out the dead and dying. The scene was harrowing and a degrading description. The mill is situated on a high mountain overlooking the city. When the people arrived every thing was enveloped in darkness. Huge bonfires were built, which cast a dismal glare on the scene. The fire companies left the burning, post-shop and assisted in the rescue of the dead and the dying. The entire police force was called out. The ambulance and relief corps, 1,000 people were in among the timber, carrying out bricks, pulling away debris and assisting wherever they could. A young woman was taken out of the wreck had its head cut off. Others were in various postures. Two were almost dead, and some were almost dead. In the basement of the building were found the bodies of young girls lying together. The firemen tried to pull them out, but they were pinned down and it was impossible to get them out. They were beyond all human aid. Up to 10 o'clock p. m. twenty-one dead bodies had been taken out.

It is impossible to tell how many may be under the ruins, as the managers are unable to get at them. The firemen tried to feed them, and he was kept alive by feeding them beef and whisky to him through a rubber tube. A number of narrow escapes were reported. Seven men were thrown from the seventh story to the ground and escaped with slight injuries. Adolph Herman caught

A CYCLONE'S WORK.

It Swept Through Pennsylvania, Cutting a Wide Swath of Death and Destruction. Four Men Killed at Reading. PA.—In the same city an immense mill Mill is blown down burying 200 People in the Ruins—Eighty of Them Thought to Have Been Killed, and Nearly All of the Most Injured—Seven Lives Lost and Over Thirty Persons Wounded by the Demolition of Several Buildings at Reading—Loss of Life at Reading—The Storm's Work in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana.

READING, Pa., Jan. 10.—A cyclone swept over the northern section of this city Wednesday afternoon and laid waste everything within its path, with a terrible loss of life. The number of lives that have been sacrificed and the number of persons injured can only be estimated. The most reliable computation at midnight is that not less than sixty and perhaps eighty persons have been killed outright and 100 injured.

It rained hard all day until about 4 p. m., when the sun shone for about half an hour. Then the scene changed with a suddenness that was appalling. The fleecy clouds gave way to the ominous signs of a coming storm. In the western sky a thundering noise was heard, and the track of the storm was seen that day the first signs of danger in a funnel-shaped cloud which seemed to gather up everything within its reach and cast it right and left. Out in the country houses were blown down, and the trees were uprooted, crops rooted up and destruction spread in every direction.

The track of the storm was not more than 300 feet wide, and it is lucky that it only touched the suburbs of the city. It came from the west and passed along the northern border of the city. First it touched the Mount Penn stone works. Here the corner of the building was struck, and a portion of the roof was cut off as nicely as if done by a pair of scissors. Then the storm crossed some of the streets and took a portion of the roof of J. H. Sternberg's rolling mill. A number of dwellings were unroofed as readily as if their tin roofs were paper. The storm hurried across the property of the Reading Railroad Company and crossed the railroad tracks, and a passenger car was blown off as quickly as if it had been a toy, and its splinters scattered in every direction.

Meanwhile the rain poured down in torrents. The atmosphere became heavy and oppressive, and it was almost as dark as night.

On one side of the track of the Reading railroad was situated the paint-shop of the company. It was a one-story building about 60 by 150 feet in size. Here about thirty men were employed in painting passenger cars. The building was struck by the storm, and the roof fell, and the cars were blown off and scattered in every direction. The cars were turned turtle, while the men were buried under the debris. Some of the bricks were carried away. The chamber of each of the cars was already filled with gas, as they were ready to be exploded on the road in a few days. They exploded one after another with the fearful bang of a cannon. Bang, bang, bang, they resounded over the city, causing the people to run out of their houses in terror. There was the sound of an earthquake. There was a shower of flaming shot upward with the roar of musketry. About twenty of the men had been blown off the cars, and four of them were killed. Their cries were heard for a moment by the terrified workmen and then their voices were hushed forever. They were quickly roasted to death.

The department was called out, but its services were unavailing. The building and cars were consumed in fifteen minutes and nothing left but blackened, smoking ruins, under which lay four human beings burned to a crisp. Their names are: John K. Albert, Albert Landberger, Sheridan Jones and George Schaefer.

It was rumored that several others had been killed, but these are the only ones known to have lost their lives. Aaron Dewalt, one of the employees of the paint-shop, had his arm broken, and George Kunkel, another employee, was killed. The loss to the railroad company is fully $75,000.

When this was going on the storm was traveling with fearful rapidity. It must have traveled at the rate of 100 miles an hour. It struck some private residences and unroofed a dozen or more houses. The huge sheets of tin were carried high into the air and deposited in all directions. The square away and deposited in all directions. The storm proceeded in its full fury. Directly in its path, at the corner of Twelfth and Mill streets, stood the Reading silk mill, the largest of the industries of the city in which the citizens take pride. Here about 175 girls were working. The building was a huge structure, most substantially built, four stories in height, and had a basement besides. It occupied an entire block of ground. The building itself was 200 feet in length and 100 feet wide. It was surrounded by a massive tower fully 100 feet from the ground. The funnel-shaped storm-cloud struck the building directly in the center in its broadest side, which faced the west. It fell to pieces in a moment. Nearly 200 human beings were down, and the awful wreck. Human tongue can never tell the terrible scenes of that hour. The walls gave way, the floors fell down, one on top of the other, and carried their great mass of human beings to the bottom. The bricks were piled up in the greatest confusion. Amid the hurricane, the whistling and roaring of the wind, terrible cries for succor were sent up to Heaven. It was a moment that tried men's souls. Girls were crying, faces bruised and broken, limbs in a state of utter ruin, and torn, dragged themselves from the ruins. So, probably, 75 to 100 escaped or were dragged out by their friends, and were thrown near the top of the debris. Some of the bricks were piled twenty feet deep and were lying human bodies by the score. About 250 girls and young women were usually employed in the mill, but at 4 o'clock only eighty were relieved from duty for the day.

The alarm for relief was immediately sent out, and in a short time thousands of citizens arrived to help out the dead and dying. The scene was harrowing and a degrading description. The mill is situated on a high mountain overlooking the city. When the people arrived every thing was enveloped in darkness. Huge bonfires were built, which cast a dismal glare on the scene. The fire companies left the burning, post-shop and assisted in the rescue of the dead and the dying. The entire police force was called out. The ambulance and relief corps, 1,000 people were in among the timber, carrying out bricks, pulling away debris and assisting wherever they could. A young woman was taken out of the wreck had its head cut off. Others were in various postures. Two were almost dead, and some were almost dead. In the basement of the building were found the bodies of young girls lying together. The firemen tried to pull them out, but they were pinned down and it was impossible to get them out. They were beyond all human aid. Up to 10 o'clock p. m. twenty-one dead bodies had been taken out.

It is impossible to tell how many may be under the ruins, as the managers are unable to get at them. The firemen tried to feed them, and he was kept alive by feeding them beef and whisky to him through a rubber tube. A number of narrow escapes were reported. Seven men were thrown from the seventh story to the ground and escaped with slight injuries. Adolph Herman caught

A CYCLONE'S WORK.

It Swept Through Pennsylvania, Cutting a Wide Swath of Death and Destruction. Four Men Killed at Reading. PA.—In the same city an immense mill Mill is blown down burying 200 People in the Ruins—Eighty of Them Thought to Have Been Killed, and Nearly All of the Most Injured—Seven Lives Lost and Over Thirty Persons Wounded by the Demolition of Several Buildings at Reading—Loss of Life at Reading—The Storm's Work in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana.

READING, Pa., Jan. 10.—A cyclone swept over the northern section of this city Wednesday afternoon and laid waste everything within its path, with a terrible loss of life. The number of lives that have been sacrificed and the number of persons injured can only be estimated. The most reliable computation at midnight is that not less than sixty and perhaps eighty persons have been killed outright and 100 injured.

It rained hard all day until about 4 p. m., when the sun shone for about half an hour. Then the scene changed with a suddenness that was appalling. The fleecy clouds gave way to the ominous signs of a coming storm. In the western sky a thundering noise was heard, and the track of the storm was seen that day the first signs of danger in a funnel-shaped cloud which seemed to gather up everything within its reach and cast it right and left. Out in the country houses were blown down, and the trees were uprooted, crops rooted up and destruction spread in every direction.

The track of the storm was not more than 300 feet wide, and it is lucky that it only touched the suburbs of the city. It came from the west and passed along the northern border of the city. First it touched the Mount Penn stone works. Here the corner of the building was struck, and a portion of the roof was cut off as nicely as if done by a pair of scissors. Then the storm crossed some of the streets and took a portion of the roof of J. H. Sternberg's rolling mill. A number of dwellings were unroofed as readily as if their tin roofs were paper. The storm hurried across the property of the Reading Railroad Company and crossed the railroad tracks, and a passenger car was blown off as quickly as if it had been a toy, and its splinters scattered in every direction.

Meanwhile the rain poured down in torrents. The atmosphere became heavy and oppressive, and it was almost as dark as night.

On one side of the track of the Reading railroad was situated the paint-shop of the company. It was a one-story building about 60 by 150 feet in size. Here about thirty men were employed in painting passenger cars. The building was struck by the storm, and the roof fell, and the cars were blown off and scattered in every direction. The cars were turned turtle, while the men were buried under the debris. Some of the bricks were carried away. The chamber of each of the cars was already filled with gas, as they were ready to be exploded on the road in a few days. They exploded one after another with the fearful bang of a cannon. Bang, bang, bang, they resounded over the city, causing the people to run out of their houses in terror. There was the sound of an earthquake. There was a shower of flaming shot upward with the roar of musketry. About twenty of the men had been blown off the cars, and four of them were killed. Their cries were heard for a moment by the terrified workmen and then their voices were hushed forever. They were quickly roasted to death.

The department was called out, but its services were unavailing. The building and cars were consumed in fifteen minutes and nothing left but blackened, smoking ruins, under which lay four human beings burned to a crisp. Their names are: John K. Albert, Albert Landberger, Sheridan Jones and George Schaefer.

It was rumored that several others had been killed, but these are the only ones known to have lost their lives. Aaron Dewalt, one of the employees of the paint-shop, had his arm broken, and George Kunkel, another employee, was killed. The loss to the railroad company is fully $75,000.

When this was going on the storm was traveling with fearful rapidity. It must have traveled at the rate of 100 miles an hour. It struck some private residences and unroofed a dozen or more houses. The huge sheets of tin were carried high into the air and deposited in all directions. The square away and deposited in all directions. The storm proceeded in its full fury. Directly in its path, at the corner of Twelfth and Mill streets, stood the Reading silk mill, the largest of the industries of the city in which the citizens take pride. Here about 175 girls were working. The building was a huge structure, most substantially built, four stories in height, and had a basement besides. It occupied an entire block of ground. The building itself was 200 feet in length and 100 feet wide. It was surrounded by a massive tower fully 100 feet from the ground. The funnel-shaped storm-cloud struck the building directly in the center in its broadest side, which faced the west. It fell to pieces in a moment. Nearly 200 human beings were down, and the awful wreck. Human tongue can never tell the terrible scenes of that hour. The walls gave way, the floors fell down, one on top of the other, and carried their great mass of human beings to the bottom. The bricks were piled up in the greatest confusion. Amid the hurricane, the whistling and roaring of the wind, terrible cries for succor were sent up to Heaven. It was a moment that tried men's souls. Girls were crying, faces bruised and broken, limbs in a state of utter ruin, and torn, dragged themselves from the ruins. So, probably, 75 to 100 escaped or were dragged out by their friends, and were thrown near the top of the debris. Some of the bricks were piled twenty feet deep and were lying human bodies by the score. About 250 girls and young women were usually employed in the mill, but at 4 o'clock only eighty were relieved from duty for the day.

The alarm for relief was immediately sent out, and in a short time thousands of citizens arrived to help out the dead and dying. The scene was harrowing and a degrading description. The mill is situated on a high mountain overlooking the city. When the people arrived every thing was enveloped in darkness. Huge bonfires were built, which cast a dismal glare on the scene. The fire companies left the burning, post-shop and assisted in the rescue of the dead and the dying. The entire police force was called out. The ambulance and relief corps, 1,000 people were in among the timber, carrying out bricks, pulling away debris and assisting wherever they could. A young woman was taken out of the wreck had its head cut off. Others were in various postures. Two were almost dead, and some were almost dead. In the basement of the building were found the bodies of young girls lying together. The firemen tried to pull them out, but they were pinned down and it was impossible to get them out. They were beyond all human aid. Up to 10 o'clock p. m. twenty-one dead bodies had been taken out.

It is impossible to tell how many may be under the ruins, as the managers are unable to get at them. The firemen tried to feed them, and he was kept alive by feeding them beef and whisky to him through a rubber tube. A number of narrow escapes were reported. Seven men were thrown from the seventh story to the ground and escaped with slight injuries. Adolph Herman caught

A CYCLONE'S WORK.

It Swept Through Pennsylvania, Cutting a Wide Swath of Death and Destruction. Four Men Killed at Reading. PA.—In the same city an immense mill Mill is blown down burying 200 People in the Ruins—Eighty of Them Thought to Have Been Killed, and Nearly All of the Most Injured—Seven Lives Lost and Over Thirty Persons Wounded by the Demolition of Several Buildings at Reading—Loss of Life at Reading—The Storm's Work in Ohio, Illinois and Indiana.

READING, Pa., Jan. 10.—A cyclone swept over the northern section of this city Wednesday afternoon and laid waste everything within its path, with a terrible loss of life. The number of lives that have been sacrificed and the number of persons injured can only be estimated. The most reliable computation at midnight is that not less than sixty and perhaps eighty persons have been killed outright and 100 injured.

It rained hard all day until about 4 p. m., when the sun shone for about half an hour. Then the scene changed with a suddenness that was appalling. The fleecy clouds gave way to the ominous signs of a coming storm. In the western sky a thundering noise was heard, and the track of the storm was seen that day the first signs of danger in a funnel-shaped cloud which seemed to gather up everything within its reach and cast it right and left. Out in the country houses were blown down, and the trees were uprooted, crops rooted up and destruction spread in every direction.

The track of the storm was not more than 300 feet wide, and it is lucky that it only touched the suburbs of the city. It came from the west and passed along the northern border of the city. First it touched the Mount Penn stone works. Here the corner of the building was struck, and a portion of the roof was cut off as nicely as if done by a pair of scissors. Then the storm crossed some of the streets and took a portion of the roof of J. H. Sternberg's rolling mill. A number of dwellings were unroofed as readily as if their tin roofs were paper. The storm hurried across the property of the Reading Railroad Company and crossed the railroad tracks, and a passenger car was blown off as quickly as if it had been a toy, and its splinters scattered in every direction.

Meanwhile the rain poured down in torrents. The atmosphere became heavy and oppressive, and it was almost as dark as night.

On one side of the track of the Reading railroad was situated the paint-shop of the company. It was a one-story building about 60 by 150 feet in size. Here about thirty men were employed in painting passenger cars. The building was struck by the storm, and the roof fell, and the cars were blown off and scattered in every direction. The cars were turned turtle, while the men were buried under the debris. Some of the bricks were carried away. The chamber of each of the cars was already filled with gas, as they were ready to be exploded on the road in a few days. They exploded one after another with the fearful bang of a cannon. Bang, bang, bang, they resounded over the city, causing the people to run out of their houses in terror. There was the sound of an earthquake. There was a shower of flaming shot upward with the roar of musketry. About twenty of the men had been blown off the cars, and four of them were killed. Their cries were heard for a moment by the terrified workmen and then their voices were hushed forever. They were quickly roasted to death.

The department was called out, but its services were unavailing. The building and cars were consumed in fifteen minutes and nothing left but blackened, smoking ruins, under which lay four human beings burned to a crisp. Their names are: John K. Albert, Albert Landberger, Sheridan Jones and George Schaefer.

It was rumored that several others had been killed, but these are the only ones known to have lost their lives. Aaron Dewalt, one of the employees of the paint-shop, had his arm broken, and George Kunkel, another employee, was killed. The loss to the railroad company is fully $75,000.

When this was going on the storm was traveling with fearful rapidity. It must have traveled at the rate of 100 miles an hour. It struck some private residences and unroofed a dozen or more houses. The huge sheets of tin were carried high into the air and deposited in all directions. The square away and deposited in all directions. The storm proceeded in its full fury. Directly in its path, at the corner of Twelfth and Mill streets, stood the Reading silk mill, the largest of the industries of the city in which the citizens take pride. Here about 175 girls were working. The building was a huge structure, most substantially built, four stories in height, and had a basement besides. It occupied an entire block of ground. The building itself was 200 feet in length and 100 feet wide. It was surrounded by a massive tower fully 100 feet from the ground. The funnel-shaped storm-cloud struck the building directly in the center in its broadest side, which faced the west. It fell to pieces in a moment. Nearly 200 human beings were down, and the awful wreck. Human tongue can never tell the terrible scenes of that hour. The walls gave way, the floors fell down, one on top of the other, and carried their great mass of human beings to the bottom. The bricks were piled up in the greatest confusion. Amid the hurricane, the whistling and roaring of the wind, terrible cries for succor were sent up to Heaven. It was a moment that tried men's souls. Girls were crying, faces bruised and broken, limbs in a state of utter ruin, and torn, dragged themselves from the ruins. So, probably, 75 to 100 escaped or were dragged out by their friends, and were thrown near the top of the debris. Some of the bricks were piled twenty feet deep and were lying human bodies by the score. About 250 girls and young women were usually employed in the mill, but at 4 o'clock only eighty were relieved from duty for the day.

The alarm for relief was immediately sent out, and in a short time thousands of citizens arrived to help out the dead and dying. The scene was harrowing and a degrading description. The mill is situated on a high mountain overlooking the city. When the people arrived every thing was enveloped in darkness. Huge bonfires were built, which cast a dismal glare on the scene. The fire companies left the burning, post-shop and assisted in the rescue of the dead and the dying. The entire police force was called out. The ambulance and relief corps, 1,000 people were in among the timber, carrying out bricks, pulling away debris and assisting wherever they could. A young woman was taken out of the wreck had its head cut off. Others were in various postures. Two were almost dead, and some were almost dead. In the basement of the building were found the bodies of young girls lying together. The firemen tried to pull them out, but they were pinned down and it was impossible to get them out. They were beyond all human aid. Up to 10 o'clock p. m. twenty-one dead bodies had been taken out.

It is impossible to tell how many may be under the ruins, as the managers are unable to get at them. The firemen tried to feed them, and he was kept alive by feeding them beef and whisky to him through a rubber tube. A number of narrow escapes were reported. Seven men were thrown from the seventh story to the ground and escaped with slight injuries. Adolph Herman caught on the telegraph wires and was rescued unharmed. All kinds of theories have been advanced for the collapse of the building. In some instances the responsibility is placed on the contractors, while in others the building inspectors are blamed. Nothing definite can be known, however, until an investigation is made.

A nut factory owned by Bontrager & Co. in the Seventeenth ward was blown down during the storm and a man named Hines killed. The loss was a terrible destruction in other parts of the city and along the railroad centering here. A portion of the foundry of McIntosh, Hemphill & Co. on Thirteenth street was wrecked, as was also a house in Allegheny. At Wall's station, on the Pennsylvania railroad, a large brick building, owned by the Westinghouse Air-Brake Company was partially demolished, and at Wilkesburg, Pa., a coal tipple was wrecked. At McKeesport houses were unroofed, trees blown down and windows smashed. Three houses in course of erection were blown to pieces. On the river a number of boats were torn from their moorings and cast about like corks, but they were secured before much damage was done.

A DISASTER AT SUNBURY, PA. SUNBURY, Pa., Jan. 10.—A rain and wind-storm came up Sunday evening and blew over two of the stacks of the Sunbury mill. The mill is situated between the Reading and Pennsylvania railroads on the outskirts of the city. The first stack was blown over on the roof, carrying with it stack No. 3. They crashed through the roof and demolished the pudding department of the mill. Thirty-five men were employed in this department, and half of them were bruised in the debris. The fire alarm was sounded and soon hundreds surrounded the mill. Men were carried out half naked, and men at work yet,

The Bee Hive Great Red Mark Closing Out Sale.

Is bringing more people to Jackson from twenty to forty miles than anything that has occurred for a long time. The CLOAK Stock is being cut down in price to Close Them All Out!

L. H. FIELD,

JACKSON, MICHIGAN.

SPECULATION

Geo. A. Romer, BANKER AND BROKER.

Stocks, Bonds, Grain, Provisions & Petroleum

A Model Newspaper

THE NEW YORK MAIL AND EXPRESS

The Advocate of the Best Interests of the Home - The Enemy of the Slave - The Friend of American Labor - The Favorite Newspaper of People of Refined Tastes Everywhere.

A National Newspaper,

most carefully edited, and adapted to the wants and tastes of intelligent readers throughout the entire country - North, South, East and West. It is a thoroughly clean paper, free from the corrupting, sensational and demoralizing trash, mislead news, which defiles the pages of too many city papers.

OUR POLITICS.

We believe the Republican party to be the true instrument of the POLITICAL PROGRESS of the American people; and holding that the honest enforcement of its principles is the best guarantee of the national welfare, we shall support them with all our might; but we shall always treat opposing parties with consideration and fair play.

AGAINST THE SALOON.

The MAIL AND EXPRESS is the recognized National organ of the great Anti-Saloon Republican movement. It believes that the liquor traffic as it exists to-day in the United States is the enemy of society, a fruitful source of corruption in politics, the ally of anarchy, a school of crime, and with its avowed purpose of leading to corruptly control elections and politics, is a menace to the public welfare and deserves the condemnation of all good men.

Send for Sample Copy

They are sent free to all who apply.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES: - WEEKLY, per year, $1.00; six months, 60 cents; three months, 30 cents. DAILY, per year, $6.00; six months, $3.00; three months, $1.50; one month, 50 cents.

Valuable Premiums are given to all subscribers and agents. We want a good agent in every town and village where we have not one now at work. Send for our special Circular to Agents and see our liberal offers.

You Can Make Money by accepting our Cash Commission offers working for our valuable and popular premiums. Address the MAIL AND EXPRESS, New York City.

WARNER & DODGE, 142 MAIN ST. JACKSON.

Hardware, Cutlery, & Tools,

We carry the largest and most complete stock of above goods in Central Michigan, and it will pay buyers to come long distances to take advantage of our

EXTREMELY LOW PRICES.

WARNER & DODGE, JACKSON.

LADIES' PEERLESS DYES

Do Your Own Dyeing, at Home.

FRANK P. GLAZIER.

SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN

ARCHITECTS & BUILDERS

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS.

CLARK'S

PAPILLON SKIN CURE

For Sale at GLAZIER'S DRUG STORE.

Obituary. Died, January 12, 1889, at his home in Sylvan, about five miles south-west of this village, Mr. Philander Hathaway, at the ripe old age of 79 years, 6 months and 20 days. Mr. Hathaway was born in Jefferson county, N. Y. on the 14th day of June, 1809, was married to Nancy Shepherd in 1838, came to Michigan in 1866, and, after a brief residence at Marshall, purchased an 80 acre farm in Sylvan, where he spent the remainder of his days. Nine children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway, five of whom—three sons and two daughters—are still living, and reside in this vicinity. Mrs. Hathaway died six years ago. An only surviving brother—Dr. Wm. Hathaway—resides in Van Buren county, Mich. Mr. Hathaway was a man of most excellent social and neighborly qualities, honorable and upright in all his dealings, careful and charitable in his speech, and was highly esteemed by all who knew him. Funeral services were held at his late home on Monday, Jan. 14th; an appropriate discourse was delivered by Dr. Holmes, of Chelsea, and his remains, followed to their final resting place by a large and sympathizing company of sorrowing relatives, neighbors and friends, were deposited in what is known as the Vermont cemetery. He rests in peace.

Real Estate Transfers. Charles Young (by heirs) to Geo. Albert Young, Sylvan, $3,200. Charles Young (by heirs) to Ruth J. Brooks, Sylvan, $1,000. Charles Young (by heirs) to Elizabeth D. Cobb, Sylvan, $1,200. Mary E. Winans (by sheriff) to Sarah E. Reed, Chelsea, $730. Elliott McCarter to John P. Merker, Sylvan, $235. Archie McCollum to F. P. Glazier, Chelsea, $562.

Insanity in England. Mr George R. Sims, the London writer, thinks that the English climate makes people insane. He says: "In the highest circles in the land we find morbid sentimentality and gloomy forebodings rampant. Lost relations are mourned for twenty years, and the mourners isolate themselves from the public gaze. Year after year the remaining relatives are compelled to gather in gloomy mansions, and crape and crying seem to be the watchwords of certain illustrious lives. In circles a trifle less lofty we find old women of seventy marrying young lads of twenty-three, hereditary peers consorting with blacklegs, wethers and men who have been in Her Majesty's jails. We have great noblemen displaying the manners and using the language of drunken costermongers during a domestic quarrel, and society as a whole teems with scandals which are absolutely due to the madness of the principal actors—a madness with a method—but still part and parcel of the "general lunacy which is being developed by the British nation."

Millionaires Do It. "About the most disastrous result of sudden wealth," says a well-known amateur athlete, "is the expensive cigar. If a man smokes enough 25-cent perfectos he can break down his constitution in less time than it would take if he smoked opium. This is particularly true of heavy men, who put on flesh rapidly, or who were formerly athletes. The tobacco smoked always seems to go to the heart of men of this particular build. If they smoke the heavy 25-cent cigars, they are bound to know it before much time has elapsed. The best rule for a man whose heart is troubled at all is to stick to 5-cent cigars. It may humiliate him at times to call for them, but he may be soothed by the fact that millionaires do it. Instead of giving up the habit altogether, it would be better to take half-way measures and come down to cheap cigars."

For Diseases of Horses. There is nothing that compares with Cole's Veterinary Carbolic. It cures Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, Collar and Saddle Galls, Sores, Mange, Scratches, Thrush, Inflammations and all skin and hoof diseases quicker than any other remedy. It is the only preparation that will invariably renew the hair its original color. Edwin D. Bitler, driver of Jay Eye See, Says: "Having given Veterinary Carbolic a thorough trial, I can fully endorse it, and take pleasure in recommending it to all owners of horses as the best remedy that I ever saw for general stable use." Large cans $1.00; small cans 50 cents. Sold by F. P. Glazier.

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c and $1. Trial size free. At all Druggists.

Subscribe for the Herald. $1.00.

Subscribe for the Chelsea Herald.

Council Proceedings. CHELSEA, Jan. 4, 1889. Board met in council room Jan. 4, 1889. Meeting called to order by Pres. Roll call by clerk. Present, W. J. Knapp, President; Trustees, Kiercher, Schumacher, Lighthall and Bacon. Absent, trustees Holmes and Guerin. Minutes of previous meeting read and approved. Street Committee report progress and ask further time. Moved and carried that the following bills be allowed and orders drawn for the amount. G. W. Turnbull, attorney $12.50 Kemp Bros & Bacon, lumber, tile, 123.00 Clinton H. Meneely, bal. on bill 10.36 Hummel & Fenn, gasoline 11.63 John Hoover, hanging bell 6.25 John Conaty, cartage 1.70 Ed. Chandler, cartage 1.30 J. Bacon, padlock 35.35 Moved and carried that we adjourn subject to call of the Pres. A. R. CONGDON, Clerk.

Card of Thanks. We wish through the columns of your paper, to express our thanks to the many friends who so kindly assisted us in our late troubles, especially the ladies who so kindly assisted us in Mothers last days on earth, especially Miss Sarah Runciman, Mrs. Thos. Howe, Mrs. John Burns and Mrs. Roush.

Mr. PHILIP CLARK & FAMILY.

Nitro-Glycerine as Medicine.

Do you know that nitro-glycerine bids fair to become an important remedy for diseases of the kidneys, and for some time past has been experimentally tried in cases of Bright's disease? According to the formula it is prepared in alcohol in the proportion of one per cent, in a tablet form, one of these containing the 100th part of a grain. The results so far are very encouraging. It is called trinitrin, and is nitro-glycerine of a pure quality, possessing at first all the explosive powers of that article. This last is removed by its mixture with alcohol, and the tablet if formed of sugar, milk, or other inert substances. There is a patient who has Bright's disease now under treatment at the Jefferson Medical University at Philadelphia, upon whom the dose has gradually increased until at the present time he is taking four doses of twenty grains each per day, and so far the action upon the circulation and the kidneys gives the doctors high hopes of success.

The Science of Kissing.

Science in the last few years has gained a terrible foothold in this world. It has rattled the dry bones of foggyism, made "pi" out of wornout theories, upset ideas which have been established for centuries. The last and most astonishing fact that has been developed is that there is a scientific mode of kissing. The day when a young man could grab a girl around the neck and gobble a kiss in a rough but comfortable manner is past. The time when he could encircle her waist with one arm, get his shirt bosom full of hair oil, and pinonette his lips over every square inch of her countenance, is no more. Science has proclaimed against it, and man shudders but remains silent. The old style of kissing, which sounds like tearing a clap-board off a smoke house, is now considered bad taste and consequently going out of fashion, although the majority of girls admit that science has cruelly destroyed all the comfort of a long, lingering, heart-thrilling kiss, and this fact causes them to express no little regret. The improved scientific method of kissing is to throw the right arm languidly round the fair one's shoulder, tilt her chin up with the left hand, until her face is pointed at an angle of seventy degrees—or rather until it has an aspect resembling the bowprit of a clipper built sloop. Then stoop softly and graze about her lips in a quiet, sudden sort of a way, tickle her nose with your mustache until she cries "Ouch!" This is scientific kissing; but there is no consolation in it—nothing to make a man feel like as if a couple of galvanic butterflies were galloping along his spinal column. It is flat—lukewarm; it lacks substance, and, if not stale, it is at least unprofitable.

Some Foolish People.

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kemp's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c and $1. Trial size free. At all Druggists.

Subscribe for the Herald. $1.00.

Subscribe for the Chelsea Herald.

Obituary. Died in Lyndon, Dec. 16, 1888, Mrs. Philip Clark mother of Stephen Clark Chelsea. The funeral services were held at St. Mary's Church, and was largely attended by relatives and friends, who followed her remains to their last resting place. IN MEMORY. Precious Mother from us has gone, Her voice we loved so well is stilled, Her place is vacant in the family circle, Which no other one can fill. Call her not back, our dear departed; For she has gone to rest, from her tolls and labors: Where we hope to meet and part no more. In our Father's Home so bright, Where our hearts have never been lost; What God has prepared, for those who Love Him. Our loving Father in his wisdom hath recalled; We all should answer at the call; And Mother kindly, did obey thy call, And to her Father's home she went. Cox.

North Lake Items. Mr. and Mrs. John Webb visited with our Scribe last Tuesday.

Mr. B. M. Glenn is going to buy a colt. Some young lady has smiled on him.

Mr. C. W. Watts is hauling straw and hay every day.

The Lyceum is well attended and doing good work for the young people of this vicinity.

The ice is four inches thick on the Lake and skating has begun in earnest.

Mr. Webb has gone to Howell in regard to his suit with the R. R. Company.

Tongue Tanglers.

The popularity of Peter Piper's celebrated peck of pickled pepper will probably never wane as a snare to catch the tongue that would faine be agile; but that test has formidable rivals. The following short sentences, as their authors maintain, do wonders in baffling the ordinary power of speech: Gaze on the gay gray brigades. The sea ceaseth, and it sufficeth us. Say, should such a shapely sash shabby stitches show? Strange strategic statistics. Give Grimes Jim's gilt gig-whip. Sarah in a shawl shoveled soft snow softly. She sells sea shells. A cup of coffee in a copper coffee-pot. Smith's spirit flask split Philip's sixth sister's fifth squirrel's skull.

Markets. CHELSEA, Jan. 16, 1889.

Eggs per dozen 15c Butter, per pound 17c Corn, per bushel 28c Oats, per bushel 25c Potatoes, per bushel 30c Apples, per bushel 35c Wheat, per bushel 95c Beans, per bushel $1.25

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

The British Church Missionary Society's income was at the birth of the Queen $150,000, and at her accession $146,000, and is now $116,000.

The brute idea of education is to break it. When he is put in possession of his will, half the problem of education is solved—Education.

The recent Methodist Conference in Philadelphia has enacted that ministers of all colored churches in Delaware and Iowa and other Northern States shall be permitted to join the conference in which they are geographically situated.

The English Wesleyan Missionary Society, whose anniversary has recently been held, reported an income of $750,000, 391 circuits, 165 chapels, 10,000 missionaries and assistants, 71,984 church members, and 79,646 Sunday School pupils.

The twenty-ninth annual session of the Southern Baptist Convention met in Baltimore recently. Reports showed that 144 missionaries labored at 338 churches and stations. The Sunday Schools number 145 teachers and 4,190 pupils. The money expended was about $45,000. The increase in laborers was 34 per cent.

The total annual school income per year as reported for all States and Territories, is $88,142,088. The total expenditure, $88,114,422. Total estimated real value of sites, buildings, and all other school property for thirty-one States and eight Territories is $186,143,452.—Educational Journal.

This is the report made by a pastor of the membership of his church: Two-thirds of the members of my church are honorary members. They don't come to prayer meetings; they don't attend Sabbath School; they don't add to the life of the church; they are passengers on the Gospel ship; they bear names on our books; they are honorary members.—Baptist Weekly.

The reflex influence of foreign mission work was aptly illustrated by a returned missionary at the late anniversary of the Wesleyan Society in London. "At Colombo" he met one of their native ministers named Nathanael, who was in the habit of coming down to the harbor on Sundays and preaching to the sailors. One day he heard one of them say to a mate: "Well, I say, Jack, this beats me altogether. I thought people in England sent out men to preach to the blacks, but here's a black preaching to us."

There is a temperance revival at the Zulu mission, South Africa, which is being followed by an increased religious interest. At a series of meetings held for a week at Maritzburg, nearly 900 pledges to total abstinence were secured. These were English people, persons of parents of English descent, and the station adds: "But for 900 English people to sign a total abstinence pledge is a town of 10,000 or 12,000 inhabitants, is a significant and very encouraging."—Detroit Post.

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain Mortgage executed by Catharine Ryan to Henry Kemp, bearing date the 18th day of August, A. D. 1888, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for Washtenaw County, in the state of Michigan in Liber 68 of Mortgages on page 229, by the non payment of money due thereon, by which default the power of sale contained in said Mortgage has been claimed to be due at this date, the sum of One Hundred and Seventy-six Dollars and Twelve cents and Fifteen Cents as an Attorney's fee and no suit or proceeding at law or in chancery having been instituted to recover the debt or interest due thereon, or any part thereof.

Notice is therefore hereby given that, by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage and of the Statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage is being foreclosed, and the day of the sale of the premises described in said Mortgage, as follows, viz: All the premises of seven acres and more or less, situate in said County of Washtenaw and described as follows, to-wit: The west half of the south-east quarter of section seven (7) containing thirty acres of more or less. Also the north-east quarter of section eight (8) containing forty acres of land more or less. Dated, January 14th, 1889.

TENNIS & WILSON, Mortgagees.

British India. Great Britain has been stretching her wings over India. In 1842 she laid claim to 626,000 square miles of that country. She made additions to this every year, except 1843, 1845 and 1852, down to 1856, when her possessions aggregated 856,000 square miles. Advances were made in 1866, 1882 and 1886, the latter just officially reported, and now the area of India under British rule is 947,887 square miles. If Great Britain has benefited the hordes of India, intellectually and morally, she has enslaved them and made them contributors to her brigand commercial and manufacturing policy. British India, is larger than all that part of the United States lying east of the Mississippi river, and its population is five times as great as the present population of this whole country. Great Britain may not be able to acquire much more of India; indeed, there is likely to be difficulty in retaining what she has, with native dissatisfaction and the watchfulness of her aggrandizing enemy on the north, who, in the last 40 years, has moved his boundaries over many degrees of latitude.

The Homeliest Man in Chelsea. As well as the handsomest, and others are invited to call on any druggist and get free a trial bottle of Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs, a remedy that is selling entirely upon its merits and is guaranteed to relieve and cure all Chronic and Acute Coughs, Asthma, Bronchitis and Consumption. Large bottles 50 cents and $1. v19n9

Notice to Butter Makers and Consumers.

I will be constantly on hand at my new stand under the postoffice to pay the highest market price, in cash, for all the first class butter I can get, and will also retail first class butter to any who may want, at all times, and at as reasonable figures as any one can sell a good article for. And guarantee satisfaction. Cash paid for eggs. A. DURAND.

Pilest Pilest Pilest

Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment is the only sure cure for Blind, Bleeding or Itching Piles ever discovered. It never fails to cure old chronic cases of long standing.

Judge Coons, Maysville, Ky., says: "Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment cured me after years of suffering."

Judge Coffinbury, Cleveland, O., says: "I have found by experience that Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment gives immediate and permanent relief."

We have hundreds of such testimonials. Do not suffer an instant longer. Sold by druggists at 50c. & $1 per box or mailed on receipt of price, by the v19 n19 WILLIAM'S MFG CO, Cleveland O.

Better Than Best

Commissioners Notice. STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Washtenaw. I, the undersigned, having been appointed by the Probate Court for said County, to administer the estate of said deceased, do hereby give notice that said County, do hereby give notice that said Probate Court, for Creditors to present their claims against the estate of said deceased, and that they will meet at the late residence of said deceased in the township of Lima in said County, on Monday the Eighth day of April and on Monday the Ninth day of July next, at ten o'clock a. m. of each of said days, to receive, examine and adjust said claims.

Probate Order. STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Washtenaw. I, the undersigned, the Probate Court for said County, do hereby give notice that said Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, on Wednesday, the 28th day of January in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine, at ten o'clock a. m. of each of said days, to receive, examine and adjust said claims.

Only a Dollar!

Cheapest Paper in the World!

The Michigan Farmer

WITH HOUSEHOLD SUPPLEMENT.

The FARMER is a Business Paper for Farmers. It publishes the Best and Most Reliable MARKET REPORTS. For the Farmer, the Stock-Breeder, the Dairyman and the Horticulturist.

The various departments of the paper, which include Agriculture, Horticulture, Stock Breeding, Veterinary Science, Market Reports of Farm Products and Live Stock, Reports of Farmers' Clubs, etc., are all filled with interesting and reliable information.

ALL FOR $1.00 A YEAR, WITH HOUSEHOLD SUPPLEMENT. Agents wanted at every Postoffice to canvass. Good commission. For particulars address GIBBONS BROTHERS, Publishers, DETROIT, MICH. v18n21

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

BAPTIST.—Rev. T. Robinson. Services at 10.30 A. M. and 7 P. M. Prayer meeting, Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock. Sunday school at 12 M.

CATHOLIC.—Rev. Wm. P. Considine, Mass every morning at 7 o'clock. Sunday services at 8 and 10.30 A. M. at 12 M. and 2.00 P. M. Vespers, 3.00 P. M. Services, at 10.30 A. M. and 7 P. M. Young people's meeting, Sabbath evening, at 8 o'clock. Prayer meeting, Thursday evening, at 7.30 o'clock. Sunday School immediately after morning services.

LUTHERAN.—Rev. C. Haag. Services, one Sabbath at 10.30 A. M., alternate Sabbath at 2 P. M. Sunday School at 9 A. M.

METHODIST.—Rev. J. H. McIntosh. Services at 10.30 A. M. and 7 P. M. Prayer meeting Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7 o'clock. Sunday school immediately after morning services.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR GENTLEMEN.

W. L. DOUGLAS $3 SHOE FOR LADIES.

B. PARKER, CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.

MICHIGAN CENTRAL

"The Niagara Falls Route," 90th MERIDIAN TIME.

Passenger Trains on the Michigan Central Railroad will leave Chelsea Station as follows:

GOING WEST. Mail Train.....9:23 A. M. Grand Rapids Express.....6:10 P. M. Evening Express.....9:55 P. M.

GOING EAST. Night Express.....5:27 A. M. Atlantic Express.....7:10 A. M. Grand Rapids Express.....10:12 A. M. Mail Train.....2:04 P. M.

Wm. MARTIN, Agent. O. W. RUGGLES, General Passenger and Ticket Agent, Chicago.

$6.00! OPEN FACE DUEBER

STEM WINDER & SETTER.

DALLER, Jeweler, Jackson, Mich

PATENTS

Obtained in U. S. and all foreign countries. Examinations made. Licenses and assignments drawn. Infringements prosecuted in all Federal courts. Advice and counsel given. Scientific expert validity opinions given. No models required. Established A. D. 1868.

THOS. S. SPRAGUE & SON, 87 Congress St. West, Detroit, Mich.

ONLY A DOLLAR!

Cheapest Paper in the World!

The Michigan Farmer

WITH HOUSEHOLD SUPPLEMENT.

The FARMER is a Business Paper for Farmers. It publishes the Best and Most Reliable MARKET REPORTS. For the Farmer, the Stock-Breeder, the Dairyman and the Horticulturist.

The various departments of the paper, which include Agriculture, Horticulture, Stock Breeding, Veterinary Science, Market Reports of Farm Products and Live Stock, Reports of Farmers' Clubs, etc., are all filled with interesting and reliable information.

ALL FOR $1.00 A YEAR, WITH HOUSEHOLD SUPPLEMENT. Agents wanted at every Postoffice to canvass. Good commission. For particulars address GIBBONS BROTHERS, Publishers, DETROIT, MICH. v18n21

CHURCH DIRECTORY.

BAPTIST.—Rev. T. Robinson. Services at 10.30 A. M. and 7 P. M. Prayer meeting, Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock. Sunday school at 12 M.

CATHOLIC.—Rev. Wm. P. Considine, Mass every morning at 7 o'clock. Sunday services at 8 and 10.30 A. M. at 12 M. and 2.00 P. M. Vespers, 3.00 P. M. Services, at 10.30 A. M. and 7 P. M. Young people's meeting, Sabbath evening, at 8 o'clock. Prayer meeting, Thursday evening, at 7.30 o'clock. Sunday School immediately after morning services.

LUTHERAN.—Rev. C. Haag. Services, one Sabbath at 10.30 A. M., alternate Sabbath at 2 P. M. Sunday School at 9 A. M.

METHODIST.—Rev. J. H. McIntosh. Services at 10.30 A. M. and 7 P. M. Prayer meeting Tuesday and Thursday evenings at 7 o'clock. Sunday school immediately after morning services.