one-third of the daily accumulation of all mankind outside of the United States.

The Prodigal Daughter.

To the home of his father returning
The Prodigal, weary and worn,
Is greeted with joy and thanksgiving.
As when on his first natal morn:
A "robe" and a "ring" is his portion.
The servants as suppliants bow.
He is clad in fine linen and purple,
In return for his penitent vow.

But, ah! for the Prodigal Daughter,
Who has wandered away from her home
Her feet still press the dark valley
And through the wild wilderness roam;
Alone on the bleak, barren mountains—
The mountains so dreary and cold—
No hand is outstretched in fond pity
To welcome her back to the fold.

But thanks to the Shepherd, whose mercy
Still follows his sheep, though they stray,
The weakest, and even the forsaken,
He bears in his bosom always;
And in the bright mansions of glory,
Which the blood of his sacrifice won,
There is room for the Prodigal Daughter
As well as the Prodigal Son.

Turnip Bread.

There was a dearth of wheat in England in 1629, 1630 and 1693, and in those years bread was made of turnips. They were boiled until they were soft enough to mash, when the greater part of the water was pressed out of them. An equal weight of wheat meal was then mixed with the pulp and the dough was made in the usual manner with yeast. The dough rose well in the trough, and after being kneaded, was formed into loaves and put in the oven. Bread prepared in this manner has a peculiar sweetish taste, which is said to be not disagreeable; it is as light and white as wheat-bread and should be kept about twelve hours before being cut, when the smell and the taste of the turnip will scarcely be perceptible.

A Freak of Nature.

At Tunnell Hill, Ill., there is a wonderful freak of nature. D. F. Beauman has a full blooded short horn cow that gave birth to a two-headed calf recently. The heads are perfectly developed, and are on two separate necks. The fetus nature has four ears, four eyes, two mouths and two tongues. The heads are well developed in all respects, and it is curious to see them move as if by separate impulses. This double headed freak of nature is sound in body and perfectly formed, and seemingly is hearty and strong.—Ex.

Kansas.

Having received letters wanting to know something of successful farming in Kansas, I will answer them through the HERALD, and then all may know my opinion of farming in Kansas.

My business has called me into all parts of the state and I find very few localities where farming has paid. There seems to be too many draw backs, such as chinch bugs, storms, etc., and worst of all the hot winds which are sure to begin about the 15th of July and continue till the corn crop is blasted, burned up and blown away, and when the corn crop is gone it is all up with the farmer, for that is the main crop in nearly all sections of the state, and hogs and cattle depend on the corn.

True, land is cheap in many parts of the state, but how does that benefit a man if he cannot raise a crop on it oftener than one year out of five, and that is about the truth. When they get nothing they have nothing to sell, and when they get a full crop there is such an abundance that it is worth very little in the market.

Cattle are very cheap, good cows can be bought at $15 per head, and wherever butter and cheese factories have been located they have proved a blessing to the farmer, as the income from the cow is the only sure crop he can depend on.

The following illustration is a good deal nearer the truth than those who are interested in Kansas are willing to admit:

When an eastern man comes to Kansas and buys what he thinks to be the finest farm in the state, he is made welcome and looked on as a good customer by business men, because he usually brings some money with him and his credit is good, and his word taken for anything he may want during the first year. The second year they take his note at 12 per cent. The third year they take a mortgage, and the fourth he moves west or goes back to live on his wife's folks. Farming in Kansas is up-hill business, but the butter and cheese business is flourishing.

But my own work in this state is done, and I leave to-morrow with my wife for Oregon to push the dairy interests on the Pacific coast. I expect to see a good deal of the country and if any reader of the HERALD wishes to know anything in particular of that country they have only to address me at Portland, Oregon, and they shall have the honest truth as I see it.

JOHN E. DURAND.

Obituary.

Died, January 12th, 1889, at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. R. Downer, after a painful illness of two weeks, Frankie Roy, only child of Frank and Emma Leach, aged 4 years, 8 months and 15 days. Gone but never to be forgotten.

Our little one has left us,
His little life has fled,
And now our darling Frankie
Is numbered with the dead.

All that friends with loving hands and kindness,
That could do for him was done,
But our Heavenly Father called him,
Our only darling one.

But he bore it all so patient,
Whispering how I love you mama dear,
And for each dear friend and loved one,
Something dear their lonely hearts to cheer.

Francisco.

There is not much wood being cut in this vicinity this winter.

The protracted meetings which have been held in the German M. E. church for the past five weeks have come to a close.

The lyceum held every Friday evening at the school house in Riggs district is finally meeting with success, there was a good attendance at the last meeting. The question for debate at the next meeting will be Resolved that the works of nature are more pleasing to the human eye than the works of art.

Cost of Raising Wheat.

The secretary of state in the January crop report figures the cost of producing wheat. In the computation every item is figured, including interest, insurance, taxes, cost of repairs, etc., and the report shows that the cost of producing and marketing per acre in 1888 is $13.55, in the southern four tiers of counties; $12.35 in the fifth and sixth tiers; $11.53 in the northern counties and $12.08 in the state. This lower net cost in the northern and central counties is due to the lower price of land, and the higher price of straw in the first two. The item of interest in the northern counties is less than one-third, and in the central counties less than two-thirds of the same expense in the northern counties, while straw in the northern counties is twice, and in the central one and one-third times its value in the southern counties. The net average cost of five years of producing and marketing one bushel of wheat is 66 cents in the southern counties, 63 cents in the central counties, 60 cents in the northern counties and 64 cents in the state.

Some Foolish People.

Allow a cough to run until it gets beyond the reach of medicine. They often say, "Oh, it will wear away," but in most cases it wears them away. Could they be induced to try the successful medicine called Kempf's Balsam, which is sold on a positive guarantee to cure, they would immediately see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Price 50c and $1. Trial size free. At all Druggists.

Notice to Butter Makers and Consumers.

Pile! Pile! Pile!

Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment is the only cure for Bilid, Bleeding or Itching Piles ever discovered. It never fails to cure old chronic cases of long standing.

Judge Coons, Mayaville, Ky., says: "Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment cured me after years of suffering."

Judge Coffinbury, Cleveland, O., says: "I have found by experience that Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment gives immediate and permanent relief."

We have hundreds of such testimonials. Do not suffer an instant longer. Sold by druggists at 50c. & $1 per box, or mailed on receipt of price, by the WILLIAM'S MED. CO., Cleveland, Ohio.

The Population of Chelsea

Is about 1,800, and we would say at least one half are troubled with some affection of the Throat and Lungs, as those complaints are, according to statistics, more numerous than others. We would advise all our readers not to neglect the opportunity to call on their druggist and get a bottle of Kempf's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. Trial size free. Large bottles 50c and $1. Sold by all druggists.

Washington, Jan. 28.—Secretary Bayard's attention was called to the press report saying that "Germany" has come to a definite understanding with the United States with regard to Samoa, and a response he said:
"Of course I expect Germany to live up to her honorable engagements with the United States. I have no doubt that she will. I must know that these are matters I not care to discuss in the newspapers."
While asked in regard to the policy of his Government he referred the question to the President's message to Congress of January 13, and quoted from his letter to the German Minister dated January 13, recently published, as expressing his own views upon the subject. The statement was to the effect:
"The President has decided upon the agreement."
