unday-School Workers Getting Ready to Attend the Great International Conven-tion to Be Held in London in July-Delegates from Every Country in the World Expected to Be Present-Some of the Objects of the Gathering.

CHICAGO, Feb. 25.—The Sunday-school workers of the country are largely occupied at present with preparations for the World's Sunday-School convention, which is to be held in Memorial Hall, London, Eng., July 2, 3, 4 and 5 next. The holding of this convention grew out of the action taken at the Inter-national convention held in Chicago in 1887, which instructed the Executive Committee to inquire into the practicability and wisdom of holding such a convention, and recommended that it should be held if suitable arrangements could be made on the other side of the water. The Executive Committee took such action as led to the issue of a preliminary call by the London Sunday-School Union on behalf of all parties interested. All countries in the world are invited in this call to send delegates. The United States and Canada will be represented on the ratio of one delegate for every 100,000 of the population. These delegates will be appointed from well-known Sunday-school workers by the executive committees of the various States, Territorial and provincial associations. The object of the World's convention, briefly stated, is, in the first place, to get the best views that can be obtained on Sunday-scho work in the world at large, and, in the second place, by the consideration the different methods pursued different parts of the world have suggested, if possible, how the work can be improved and advanced It is admitted that Sunday-school work has made a greater advance in the United States than in any other country in the world, and sit may be expected that the delegates from this side the Atlantic will take a leading part in the deliberations of the convention. The third object of the convention will be to consider whether it is possible to bring into one organization the different Sunday-school bodies of the world.

Pacific Train-Robbery-Two Men Killed and $60,000 Stolen. TULARE, Cal., Feb. 25 .- The robbery of the express train on the Southern Pacific road Friday night and the brutal murder of two of the passengers has caused intense excitement throughout Southern California, time of the repulse of the Germans in De- and a most determined effort is being made to capture the perpetrators of the crime. No valuable clew has thus far been obtained, however, and it is feared that the robbers will escape. The robbery was committed near Pixley.

Union Washington, Montana, North Dakota Hotel at Heidelberg at ten o'clock on the that they were going on a hunting morning of the 21st. He had been in Ger- trip. When the train had run about three many for some time, but had been steadily miles three of the men crawled over the tender and, presenting ritles at the engineer and fireman, compelled them to stop the train. As soon as the train came to a standstill John Kelley, the messenger for the Wells-Fargo express, opened the door of his car to see what the trouble was. He was ordered to get back, and did so, barring the door and preparing to defend himself. A little Kelley was ordered to open the door, He refused, and a bomb was exploded directly under it. This a armed the messenger and he threw open the door. One er Modesto Ruise, in the Remedios district of the robbers covered him with a gun and compelled him to open the safe. After securing what plunder they could find the robbers ordered the engineer, fireman and messenger to turn their backs to them, and as they did so the fellows disappeared in the darkness. After the disappearance of the robbers it was found that Charles Gabert and a deputy constable named Delano, who had de seended from the train to see what was going on, were shot and killed.

The officials of the road say that only $300 was secured by the robbers, but some of the trainmen are reported to have given out that between $50,000 and $60,000 was obtained. A lot of horses have been shipped to Pixley and over 200 men are searching the country for the bandits.

The cars were warmed by Sewall heaters, but they caught fire from the locomotive after it left the track. The mail, baggage and parlor cars were burned with all the mail, express and baggage matter. A wrecking and relief train was sent to the scene and every thing was done for the injured that was possible.

Union, says:

"The Union has passed the ordeal too many times for the latest increase to cause topheavaness. But it is as impossible for a community like America not to be transformed by the plunging into it of realm after realm as for the infusion of a potent ingredient not to affect a chemical combination. The Americans themselves imperfectly comprehend the actual amount of metamorphosis. Still less can they predict the eventual modifications to which it points. But neither they nor foreigners can help seeing that the center of National gravity must be substantially altered by accretions such as these."

nection with the C., H. & D. Deal. NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 23.-Much excite ment has been caused here by the arrest Thursday night of Edward W. Woodruff, son of Obadiah Woodruff, publisher of the Newark Daily Advertiser. He is now a prisoner at police headquarters. The arrest was made on an indictment charging him with complicity in the railroad wrecking operations of Henry & Ives. Until two years ago Woodruff was secretary of the Cincinnati railroad, a branch of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, of which Ives was the presiding genius. Then through changes of man agement Woodruff was removed from office and returned here, where he has lived quietly. The fact has leaked out that $500,-000 is involved in Woodruff's arrest, and a New York detective has gone to get requisition papers from the Governor in order to take the prisoner to that city. Woodruff was arraigned on a bench warrant, issued by the general sessions court of New York City, as a fugitive from justice. He refused to plead or make any statement and was remanded pending the arrival of Another Calumet and Hecla Fire, The fire that started in shaft No. 3 of the Calumet and Hecla mine broke out afresh the other day, and there was no telling how serious it would prove. It was not so fierce as the first outbreak, but a heavy volume of smoke was issuing, indicating a bad blaze below. The shafts were being banked and the old process of smothering was being pursued, but the smoke and heat were not abating. It was a fresh outbreak of the last fire, which was supposed to be out. It was thought that the opening of the shafts had fanned the fire into a flame. Trounced by an Evangelist. H. O. Wills, a well-known evangelist, who

Various Plans to Court Sleep When It Is Shy.

The Latest Scientific Explanation of the Cause of Insomnia, and How Refreshing Sleep Can Be Secured-Think of Old Dreams.

If any unusually acute inventor could tell us of an infallible contrivance for going to sleep just when we wish to do there can be no doubt whatever of the substantial benefit which would thereby be secured for mankind. Some fortunate individuals, like Napoleon I., can command sleep the moment they lay their heads on the pillows, others find themselves all through life sleeping the sleep of the just every night, without any difficulty being experienced as to occasional wakefulness, except when illness happens to inter-

The Duke of Wellington, who always slept on a camp bedstead, had a maxin that when a man turned in bed it was time to turn out; and here it may be remarked that great soldiers appear to be peculiarly constituted in their power to summon sleep at will. Possibly this may be due to the habits of discipline which they have learned. They say to their brains: "Go to sleep," and at once the word of command is obeyed.

Insomnia, however, is an evil of civilization which is growing, and if the letter which a correspondent has addressed to a weekly contemporary is to be relied on a plan has at last been hit upon to cure the malady and to sement's notice. We are all familiar this kind to "turn the pillow," to "think of something else," or to imagine and count a number of mountain sheep going through a gate. Many a time and oft has the too-wakeful brainworker attempted to carry these and similar prescriptions into practice, usually with results disproportionate to the efforts involved.

It may be said without much exaggeration that the man who can first imagine a flock of sheep, then a halfgate, and then can force his hypothetical sheep to go through one or turning tail, is fit for treason, strategems or writing the sublimest poetry. He is no ordinary man, and it is for ordinary individuals that the saving prescription is required.

What, then, does our latest savior of society precisely recommend? First of all he enters into a sort of philosophical rationale of sleep and no sleep. "It is now, I believe," he writes, "generally accepted that our conscious daylight-thinking processes are carried on in the sinister half of our brains"-why 75,000 tons. does he not say the left half at once?-"that is, in the lobe which controls the action of the right arm and leg." He has thought and thought again of what use "the dexter half of the brain" could possibly be, and he concludes that the right lobe is the organ which is employed doing what is called "unconscious cerebration" in table-turnings and other spiritualistic manifesta-

Now, during sleep we "unconsciously cerebrate," which accounts for our dreams being of a character which the ter protector for iron work than when correspondent only faintly describes mixed with linseed oil. when he calls them fautastic, non-moral and spritelike." Musing on these matters, he came to the practical inerence that to bring back sleep when ing and left side of our brains, and below the temperature of the air. ring into activity the right side alone.

When the sleep practitioner died one of his patients informed an expectant world that the grand secret was simply this: A person lying in bed, and attempting to sleep, usually breathes through his nostrils, and the breath so emitted is, in cold weather, quite visible. All that has to be done is for the subject to think of his own breathing, agine that he sees every breath that issues from his nostrile, and in a moment or two he will fall into a refreshing slumber. There may be some virtue in this prescription, though common sense would be inclined to suppose that the mere bother of imagining any thing whatever would be so tiresome as to excite the brain and banish eleop much farther off than

Some persons, however, testified to the complete efficacy of the breathing plan. Alfred Smee, the author of "Elements of Electro-Biology," also attempted to solve the puzzle of why sleep, when much needed, is often altogether denied. He referred the whole matter to the region of "the bio-dynamic circuit," but the practical prescription was to wet the top of the head with cold water, and he asserts that he has thus often obtained for a sufferer rest when every other means have failed.

All these spirited endeavors are worthy of much praise; but perhaps the best prescription for avoiding sleepless nights, or parts of nights, is not to take heavy suppers, to go in for exercise and not sit up late exciting the brain.

There is a delightful ease about the idea of being able to "turn on" the sleep fairy by just shutting up one cupboard of the brain and opening the other. It does away with all necessity for those refreshing night-caps, either of whisky toddy or brandy and water, which some unthinking persons have been in the habit of using, with, we believe, the happiest results. The confirmed toddy drinker, especially if he happen to be a Scotchman, would laugh to scorn the idea of inducing sleep by an expedient of trying to recollect a

Possibly it would be better for him and for all like him-if he were led to believe in the "sinister lobe" theory, and there may be a good time coming for all of us, when habits of temperance will be directly occasioned by the disuse of "night-caps" and the substitution for them of thinking-caps in-

Our friend the patron of the sinister lobe is evidently a rather insomnolent subject. He admits that it has been his habit for many years to try to lull cure nature's sweet restorer at a mosuch as counting numbers or the repewith the stereotyped advice in cases of tition of easy-flowing verses. He has now, however, hit upon the more excelent plan which he patriotically confides to his wakeful countrymen and countrywomen, and in which he was to a certain extent forestalled by Sir David Brewster, who had noticed that different parts of the body go to sleep at different times, and thence argued the possibility, by analogy, of different parts of the brain "going off" in a similar succession.

There is not much reason to doubt that if we can once get the proper lobe by one without crowding or dodging which we desire we can immediately of the cerebrum into the condition command sleep; but the method of thinking of former dreams, and going the command steep; but the method of thinking of former dreams, and going the command steep; but the method of the command steep; but the command steep in the command steep. ously insufficient to meet the requirements of the case. - London Tele graph.
