Our people will not fail at this time to recall he incidents which accompanied the institu-tion of Government under the constitution, or ratifying the consti-tution had the first place on the list; then to find inspiration and guidance in the teach-ings and example of Washington and his great of the second State to ratify, and so on to the end of the original thirteen States. Then fol-lowed the repre-

ings and example of Washington and his great associates, and hope and courage in the con-trast which th riv-eight populous and prosper-ous States offer to thirteen States, weak in every thing except courage and the love of lib-erly that then fringed our Atlantic seaboard. The Territory of Dakota has now a popula-tion greater than any of the original States except Virginia, and greater than the aggre-gate of five of the smaller States in 1790. The center of population, when our National Capicenter of population, when our National Capi-tal was located, was east of Baltimore, and it was argued by many well-informed persons that it would move eastward rather than westward. Yet in 1880 it was found to be near Cincinnational and in the state was found to be near westward. Yet in 189 it was found to be near Cincinnati, and in the new census about to be taken will show, another stride to the west-ward. That which was the body has come to be only the rich fringe of the Nation's robe. But our growth has not been limited to terri-tory, population and aggregate wealth, mar-velous as it has been in each of these direc-tions. The masses of our people are better fed, clothed and housed than the r fathers were. The facilities for popular education have been vasily enlarged and more generally d flused. The v rtues of courage and patriot-ism have given recent proof of their continued presence and increasing power in the hearts and over the lives of our people. The in-fluences of religion have been multiplied and strengthened. The sweet offices of then; have greatly increased. The virtue of tem-fluences of religion have been multiplied and strengthened. The sweet offices of charity have greatly nereased. The virtue of tem-perance is held in higher estimation. We have not attained an ideal condition. Not all of our people are happy and prosperous; not all of them are virtuous and law-abiding. But, on the whole, the opportunit es offered to the in-dividual to secure the comforts of life are bet-ter than are to be found elsewhere and largely better than they were here 100 years ago. The surrender of a large measure of sover-eignty to the general Government, effected by the adoption of the constitution, was not ac-complished until the suggestions of reason were strongly reinforced by the more impera-tive voice of experience. The divergent in-terests of peace speedly demanded a "more perfect union." The morchant, the sh pmas-ter and the manufacturer discovered and dis-closed to our statesmen and to the people that commercial emanufaction must be added to the political freedom which had been so bravecommercial emancipation must be added to the political freedom which had been so braveclosed to our statesmen and to the people that commercial emancipation must be added to the political freedom which had been so brave-ly won. The commercial policy of the mother country had not relaxed any of its hard and op-pressive features. To hold in check the devel-opment of our commercial marine, to prevent or retard the establishment and growth of manufactures in the States, and so to secure the American market for their shops and the carrying trade for their ships, was the policy of European statesmen, and was pursued with the most selfish vigor. Petitions poured in upon Congress urg ng the imposition of dis-criminating duties that should encourage the production of needed things at home. The pa-triotism of the people, which no longer found a field of exercise in war, was energetically directed to the duty of equipping the young republe for the delense of its independence by making its people self-dependent. Societies for the promotion of home manufactures and for encouraging the use of domestics in the dress of the people were organized in many of the States. The revival at the end of the cent-ury of the same patriotic interest in the pres-ervation as: development of domestic indus-tries, and the defense of our working people against injurious foreign competition is an in-cident worthy of attention. It is not a depart-ure but a return that we have witnessed. The protective policy had then its opponents. The argument was made as now that the benefits inversed to particular classes or sections. If the question became in any sense or at any time sectional, it was only because slavery existed in some parts of the States. But for this, there was no reason why the cotton-producing States should not have led or walked abreast with the New England States in the protection of cotton fabrics. There was -this reason only why the States that divide with Pennsylvania the mineral treasures of the great southeastern and central mountain ranges should have been so tary in bringing to the smelting furnace and

We have a clear free and stable governments, resting upon the consent of their own people. We have a clear right to expect, therefore, that no European Government will seek to establish colonial de-pendencies upon the territory of these inde-rendent American states. That which sense of justice restrains us from seeking, they may be reasonably expected willingly to forego. It must not be assumed, however, that our interests are so exclusively American that our

It must not be assumed, however, that our interests are so exclusively American that our entire inattentionto any events that may trans-pire elsewhere can be taken for granted. Our citizens, domiciled for purposes of trade in all countries and in many of the islands of the sca, demand and will have our adequate care in their personal and commercial rights. The necessities of our navy require convenient coal-ing stations and dock and harbor privileges. These and other trading privileges we will feel free to obtain only by means that do not in any degree partake of coercion, however feeble the Government from which we ask such conces-sion. But, having fairly obtained them, by methods and for purposes entirely consistent with the most friendly disposition towards all other powers, our consent will be necessary to any modification or impairment of the conces-sion.

We shall neither fail to respect the flag of any friendly nation or the just rights of its citizens, nor to exact the like treatment for our own. Calmness, justice and consideration citizens, nor to exact the like treatment for our own. Calinness, justice and consideration should characterize our diplomacy. The offices of an intelligent diplomacy or of friendly arbi-tration in proper cases should be adequate to the peaceful adjustment of all international difficulties. By such methods we will make our contribution to the world's peace, which no nation values more highly, and avoid the op-probrium which must fall upon the nation that ruthlessly breaks it. The duty devolved by law upon the Presi-dent to nominate and by and with the advice and consent of the Senate to appoint all public officers whose appointment is not otherwise provided for in the constitution or by act of

PASSING THE CAPITOL. Congress, has become very burdensome and its wise and efficient discharge full of difficulty. The civil list is so large that a personal knowledge of any large number of the applicants is impossible. The President must rely upon the representa-tions of others, and these are often made in-considerately and without any just sense of responsibility. I have a right, I think, to in-sist that those who volunteer or are invited to give advice as to appointments shall exercise consideration and fidelity. A high sense of duty and an ambition to improve the service should charactefize all public officers. There are many ways in which the convenience and confort of those who have business with our public offices may be pro-moted by a thoughtful and obliging officer, and i shall expect those whom I may appoint to justify their selection by a conspiluous efficiency. It is entirely creditable to seek public office by proper methods and with proper motives, and all applicants will be reated by me a disgualification for public office, but it will in no case be allowed to serve as a shield of official negligence, incompetency or delinquency. It is entirely creditable to seek public office by proper methods and with proper motives, and all applicants will be treated with consideration. Persistent importunity will not, therefore, be the best support of an application for office. Heads of departments, bureaus and all other public of-ficers having any duty connected therewith will be expected to inforce Civil-Service law fully and without evasion. Beyond this ob-vious duty I hope to do something more to ad-vance the reform of the civil service. The ideal, or even my own ideal. I shall prob-ably not attain. Retrospect will be a safer basis of judgment than promises. We shall not, however, I am sure, be able to put our civil service upon a non-partisas basis until we

Let us exait patriotism and moderate our party contentions. Let those who would die for the flag on the field of battle give a better proof of their patriotism and a higher glory to their country by promoting fraternity and jus-tice. A party success that is achieved by un-fair methods or by practices that partake of revolution is huriful and evanescent, even from a party stand-point. We should hold our differing opinions in mutual respect, and hav-ing submitted them to the arbitrament of the ballot, should accept an adverse judgment with tho same respect that we would have de-manded of our opponents, if the decision had been in our favor.

No other people have a Government more worthy of their respect and love, or a land so magnificent in-extent, so pleasant to look upon and so full of generous suggestion to enterprise and labor. God has placed upon our head a diadem, and has laid at our feet power and wealth beyond definition or calcu-lation. But we must not forget that we take these jits upon the condition that justice and mercy shall hold the reins of power and that the upward avenues of hope shall be free to all the people. I do not mistrust the future. Dangers have been in frequent ambush along our path, but we have uncovered and vanquished them all. Passion has swept some of our communities, but only to give us a new demonstration that the great body of our people are stable, patriot c and law-abiding. No political party can long pursue advantage at the expense of public honor or by rude and indecent methods without protest and fatal disaffection in its own body. The peaceful agencies of commerce are more fully revealing the necessary unity of all our communities, and the increasing inter-course of our people is promoting mutual re-spect. We shall find unalloyed pleasure in the revelation which our next census will make of the swift development of the great resources spect. We shall find unalloyed pleasure in the revelation which our next census will make of the swift development of the great resources of some of the States. Each State will bring its generous contributions to the great aggregate of the Nation's increase. And, when the harvests from the fields, the cattle from the hills and the ores of the earth shall have been weighed, counted and valued, we will turn from them all to crown with the high-est honor the State that has most promoted gducation, virtue, justice and patriotism among its people.

HEAVY FAILURE.

The Reading (Pa.) Iron Works . Forced by Stringency in the Trade to Suspend Payments-Liabilities, over $1,000,000. READING, Pa., March 6 .- The works of the Reading Iron Company were closed Tuesday. The firm thas given notice of the suspension of its payments and called a meeting of its creditors to be held at the Philadelphia offices Thursday. The concern is one of the largest of its kind in America and dispenses in wages in this city every year over $1,000,-000. The first judgment against the company was by the Reading Railroad Company for $140,000. The cause of the failure is generally attributed to the stringent condition of the iron trade.

About 2,500 men are employed in the works in Reading. PHILADELPHIA, March 6 .- It was said Tuesday afternoon by a bank president that the Reading Iron Company has sold a large amount of paper within the last six months, and that some of the Philadelphia banks are very heavy creditors.

The liabilities are said to be about $1,000,-000. Of this $600,000 consists of funded debt, and the balance ($400,000) is due to various parties, mostly for material purchased at various times. A stockholder of the company said:

"I think that the plant is worth $1,500,-000. I do not know just what our liabilities are. January 1 the company had $500,000 of House bill for the preventing of communimortgage bonds outstanding. MAY TO BELL.

Dear Bell : I'll write you a short letter To say I'm wonderfully better; How much that means you ought to know, Who saw me just one month ago-Thin, nervous, fretful, white as chalk, Almost too weak to breathe or talk; Head throbbing, as if fit for breaking, A weary, ever-present aching.

But now life seems a different thing: I feel as glad as bird on wing! I say, and fear no contradiction, That Pierce's Favorite Prescription Is grand! Why, I'd have died without it? Ma thinks there's no mistake about it. It's driven all my ills away: Just come and see! Yours ever, MAY.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription imparts strength to the whole system. For overworked, "worn-out," "rundown," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, it is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

"Favorite Prescription " is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee, from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. This guarantse has been printed on the bottle-wrappers, and faithfully carried out for many years.
