Death of Mrs. McIlwain.

We copy the following by request from the Manchester Enterprise:
"Died, at the M. E. parsonage, in Wayne, Thursday morning, April 25, 1889, Mrs. E. A. McIlwain, aged 57 years.
The announcement of the death of Mrs.
McIlwain brings sadness to many hearts in Manchester and vicinity, where she has many warm friends and will long be remembered for readiness and sympathy in every good work. Few women are so well qualified for the various duties expected of a ministers wife as she was.
In all departments of church work she was a thorough and tireless worker. Her Sunday school class of young ladies, in this village, were nearly all converted while under her instructions. In temperance and missionary meetings she was always welcomed, her presence was both an inspiration and a help, and though her ideas were sometimes unique and characteristic, she was listened to with interest and profit. Her common sense views were usually convincing.
For several years before and in the early days of her married life, she was a successful teacher. The first years of her husband's ministry was spent in the northern part of the state, on what was then frontier work, where she had hardships to endure and the many duties to perform incident to pioneer life in the ministry.
Mrs. McIlwain was always ready for work wherever duty called. This tireless zeal and willingness to endure, perhaps laid the foundation of her final illness, a disease of the throat, caused by over-work and nervous prostration. The disease first appeared in the early fall of last year; was not at first considered serious or lasting but soon developed into a cancerous affection, lingering and very painful, for the last few weeks her sufferings were extreme. It was difficult at first to realize that she must soon leave the friends and attractive interests of this life, but as she saw her Heavenly home was ready and willing for the change so gladly welcomed.
