The Fair.

Chelsea's fourth annual fair opened Tuesday morning under most auspicious circumstances. Meteoric conditions were thoroughly favorable. A cloudless sky, agreeable temperature and gentle breezes indicated that dame Nature was in her most accommodating mood. At an early hour the stars and stripes were aloft, the gates were thrown wide open, officers were at their posts, each wearing his most gracious smile, exhibitors were hurrying hither and thither, and the process of crystallization, bringing order out of confusion, was going on everywhere. At the close of the day the books showed 1700 entries.

On Wednesday morning Nature, who,
 ages ago, was called "the sickle dame," was lowery and ungracious. Her breath was gusty. Sobs and sighs were in the wind, and indications of a paroxysm of weeping, near at hand, were unmistakable. About 9 o'clock the tears began to fall, and a drizzling rain continued until about the middle of the forenoon. Motwithstanding these unfavorable circumstances, loaded teams, of large and small draft, followed one another into town from every direction in continued pro-session. At noon about 1,500 spectators were on the ground, and still "the numbers came." Indications of a rainy afternoon were also manifest, and the great event of the day—the balloon ascension—was reluctantly postponed. The crowds, however, were not altogether disappointed.
 The fine display of stock, farm products, mercantile enterprise and domestic arts, to which were added, later in the afternoon, the races, kept the crowd busy until night dropped her dark curtain on the lively scene, and the success of the fair of 1889 was assured.

The attendance Thursday, though good, did not equal that of Wednesday. The early morning seemed a prophecy of a delightful day; but a piercing west wind soon made overcoats and mittens indispensable to comfort. High winds in the afternoon rendered the balloon ascension impossible.

As for the various displays, this year, some of them were especially fine, while others were very limited. Sheep and swine were pronounced excellent; while the show of cattle was confined, almost exclusively, to Jerseys. Floral Hall, as usual, was the center of attraction. Here everything on which the eye fell was pleasing. The floral pyramid, though made up entirely of house cultured flowers, was a wonder of beauty and taste, and the word "Welcome" wrought in large letters of immortelles, by Mrs.
 Dennis Spaulding, was superior to any other work of the kind ever shown here.
 Other exhibits were just as worthy of special mention, did space permit. Works of art were numerous and worthy, showing talent, patience and skill. The show of agricultural products and fruits was good; and the displays made by a few of our merchants, (where were the rest?) were very tasteful and rich. The races were spirited and exciting, and held the crowds to the last. The management pronounced the fair a success, and think it equal to any of its predecessors, and superior to some of them.

An Open Letter.

Never have I been more impressed with the responsibility that rests upon every minister of the Gospel of the Son of God, than since returning as a moral toiler to this small portion of God's great vineyard, for another Conference year.

The sublimest truth, ever given to man for his observance, comprehending the spirit of the Law, and the Prophets, as well as the living utterances of Him who "spoke as never man spake," together with the accompanying of the Holy Spirit, are committed to every true minister, to set forth, not only from his pulpit, but also as he mingles with the people every day.

Then when we remember that all professing Christians have resting upon them a solemn, yet honored responsibility of illustrating in their lives, the truth of the Gospel, I am constrained to announce, in this public manner, that from the pulpit of my church I shall deal with a class of subjects, on Sunday evenings, beginning next Sabbath, Sept. 29th, that none but those in love with the truth will care to hear.

The pulpit and the pews will be tried by God's word, and yet "the bruised reed shall not be broken, nor the smoking flax quenched."

Let every lover of truth, saint and sinner, come and hear. Seats free.

J. H. McINTOSH,
 Pastor of the M. E. Church, Chelsea, Sept. 24th, 1889.

 extends the Herald its congratulations, and hopes that it will celebrate many birthdays, and continue to prosper under its present management."

PROF. AXTON computes that the power which runs to waste at Niagara falls exceeds that which could be produced by the annual consumption of 150,000,000 tons of coal.

REV. E. R. WALLS, an Alabama teacher, was wounded to death by a half dozen parsons of his school the other night, because they thought he had punished their children too severely.

In Iceland the Good Templars have begun an agitation for prohibition. The whole population of Iceland is but seventy thousand and about eight thousand, and of these several thousand are Good Templars.

In some recent cases of typhoid in England, which have been traced to impure milk, it seems that the primary source of infection was the stagnant water of the ponds from which the cows drank.

Iron is rolled so thin at the Pittsburgh iron-mills that twelve thousand sheets are required to make a single inch in thickness. Light sheets through one of these sheets as readily as it does through greased tissue paper.

A MORMON elder says the religious Utahs are steadily drifting out of Utah toward Mexico, where they can live up to the full requirements of their faith, and that altogether fully ten thousand will eventually leave the Territory.

For purposes of securing jurymen of the desired sort, says the Chicago Tribune, this country appears to need a railway to the moon or to some third-rate planet or asteroid whose inhabitants have never formed or expressed an opinion about any thing.

The cigarette habit is increasing faster than the cigar habit. Last year taxes on 2,151,515,300 were collected, an increase of 282,789,260 over the year before. For the same period 3,867,385,650 cigars were taxed, an increase of 22,658,990.

The following advertisement appeared in a recent number of the London Tablet: "To parents—Unruly girls and boys of any age visited and punished at their homes by a thorough disciplinarian accustomed to administer corporal punishment. All bad habits cured by one or two attendances. Fee, five shillings for two visits. Address 'Birch.'"

GEORGE WASHINGTON, Longfellow, Bret Harte, Jay Gould, ex-President Hayes, Daniel Webster, General Grant, Ralph Waldo Emerson and Prince Bismarck were all book agents at one time in their lives. Bismarck sold a book called "Blumenbach's Aufgeschichte der Vessigung in der Spiegelstein," and nobody slammed the door in his face either.

The idea of making Queen Victoria a Colonel of German Dragons has struck a good many people as rather odd; but it is said female officers were quite common in the British army about a hundred and fifty years ago. At that time, it is said, persons who had a pull on the Government were in the habit of christening their daughters by masculine names, getting their commissions in the army, and drawing the pay for the service which the girls did not perform.

The fire loss in the United States and Canada for August foots up $11,153,850, against $10,236,000 in August, 1888, $8,317,500 in 1887 and $13,000,000 in 1886. There is a slight falling off in the total loss for eight months as compared with 1888, the figures being $64,460,350 this year, against $88,025,320 in 1888, though 1887 reported $85,245,600 for the same period. The country is still burning up property at the rate of $110,000,000 to $120,000,000 annually, and there is no comfort in this fact.

JOHN MULLEN, of Oxford, Me., is one hundred and thirty-three years of age. He has led a wandering life, and attributes his good health to his habit of wearing woollens and leaving liquor alone. He runs a farm of forty-three acres, doing most of the work himself. He has always lived on a plain diet and his habits are remarkably regular. His only medicine is wormwood, which he makes into a strong tea and drinks when "out of sorts." He is quite a philosopher in his way, is of a genial disposition and a close student of nature.

THAT Queen Victoria is a woman of more than ordinary force of character is clearly shown by the fact that during her recent visit to Wales she on several occasions flattered the natives by addressing them in their own language. Moreover, she is able to both read and write Hindostanee with considerable fluency. There are but few ladies, who at the age of seventy years would have the perseverance and the courage to acquire proficiency in two such execrably difficult languages as Hindostanee and Welsh.

The Wakefield brothers, of Redville, S. C., have obtained a peculiar revenge on that town. Redville did not name the Wakefield school for which they had given the land, in their honor. One of the brothers died recently, leaving his property to the other. The latter has since died, leaving five thousand acres of land, surrounding the town to his heirs. At her death he goes in trust for thirty years to the probable life of the county. The effect of the will is to kill the town, because it can not get land on which to build for a hundred years.

Japanese Provinces and Towns Wiped from the Face of the Earth by Landslides and Floods—The Loss of Life Estimated at 1,000—Property Valued at $1,000,000—Swept Away.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—Province Kii, in the southwestern part of Japan, has been visited by one of the greatest disasters in the history of the country. Probably more than 15,000 people have been killed, several towns have been wiped completely off the face of the earth, and a large number of villages have been nearly demolished. The catastrophe was occasioned by floods in the western part of the province and by the crumbling of a mountain, which buried six villages under a huge mass of rocks and earth in the eastern district. The early part of August was rainy, and the heavy rains caused the rapid rise of the Kiiogawa river, a stream over 100 miles in length, broke near the town of Yokohama on the 10th, and a mountain of water like that which swept through the Conemaugh valley rushed up upon the mountain, wrecking houses, bridges, fences and temples and all things in its path. In this district 300 houses were carried away and 4,000 ruined by water, leaving 30,000 people dependent upon local banks for food. Lower down the embankments of the Hidzogawa were also destroyed, and the water rushed through the West. The total cost of the palace and the other public features of the festival will not be far from $8,000, which

THE CORN PALACE.

It met by subscriptions and the proceeds of the twenty-five cent admission fee to the palace.

The new corn palace is altogether the finest Sioux City has yet built. It occupies the same site as that of last year. The building entire has a frontage on the south or Sixth street of 232 feet, and a depth on Pierce street of 120 feet. The main building is 31 feet inches to the eaves, and the roof over the amphitheater rises to a peak, which is 66 feet above the main floor. The striking feature of the whole structure is the tower, which rises from the center of the front to a height of 185 feet, and is surmounted by a twenty-foot flagstaff. This tower is 44 feet square at the base, and through it is the main entrance. For 70 feet this tower is 48 feet square, for the next 40 feet it is 30 feet square, and the remaining 75 feet it is 25 feet square. The tower has bright green cornucopias, and in addition there are four other towers, each 60 feet high and 8 feet square.

This was a very fine made entirely of pine planks, and without the aid of any iron or steel. A corn palace is very easily built. It is covered with corn, wheat, oats, straw and grasses. A beginning was made at the base of the tower by hanging large bunches of corn, which was secured by a great grad of golden wheat straw. Then the four sides of the slanting roof of the tower were thickly covered with long grass of the prairie, securely fastened to the rafters by cords.

The height of the tower was reached, the roof was covered with ears of yellow corn. Then the monotony was relieved by the use of bright green cornucopias, and so on down, alternating yellow and red corn to the first balcony. The piling around the balcony is covered with grass and from the outer edge of the floor are hung large bunches of grain, heads downward, that from the ground look like some golden tassels. In this manner the entire structure is covered. Many trees and embelishments are also used in the gables and over the entrance and the window openings have casings of red corn that produce a very pretty effect.

The bridge which crosses the Brandywine just below the dam was swept away, and several frame buildings were carried down to Coatesville. Several of the streets of Coatesville are four feet under water. The people living along the river were warned to evacuate their homes, and the rushing waters and escaping steam, which was heard from no lives have been lost. MR. PRINDLE'S BONNET.

The Perverse Thing Percolated in Staying at Home.

MR. PRINDLE stood in front of the pier-glass trying on a new bonnet. She was a plump little woman with a fair, baby-like face, and no one could blame her for gazing at herself with some complacency...

"There'll be nothing like it in Hutchinson," she said to herself, with a thrill of pride, and her fingers meanwhile fluttered like humming-birds among the trimmings...

"I'm going to Hutchinson the next week, for the first time since her marriage, and she spent a few days with her mother, and the bonnet had been selected from Miss Le Grande's latest importations with a view to pleasing her mother-in-law."

"I only hope nothing will happen to it before I get there," was her thought, as she glanced at it from the mirror. She had even denied herself the pleasure of wearing it to church the next day, fearing a shower, for the skies were lowering...

"I'm going to Hutchinson the next week, for the first time since her marriage, and she spent a few days with her mother, and the bonnet had been selected from Miss Le Grande's latest importations with a view to pleasing her mother-in-law."

LANDS FOR SETTLERS.

Annual Report of Acting Land Commissioner W. M. Stone.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—The annual report of the acting Commissioner of the General Land Office, William M. Stone, has been submitted to the Secretary of the Interior.

Mr. Stone says the policy of acquisition inaugurated by the late Commissioner, who he considers was not only a patriot, but also a statesman, and who during his administration of the office to general misadventure on the part of the Western settlers has been pointed out.

During the year 11,411 agricultural patents were granted, covering 11,791,613 acres of land; mineral patents, 613, covering an acreage of 17,698 acres were issued.

There were petitions for the benefit of the railroad under the law, 435, 944 acres, and under the swamp-land grants to the States, 230,721 acres.

The State selections under the educational grants were approved to the extent of 132,530 acres and lands to the Indians, patented under various acts, to the amount of 159,200.

The total cash receipts of the office from the sales of land and fees were $9,000,225, a decrease of more than $1,000,000 over the previous year.

During the year 4,254 tracts were accepted to the amount of 4,254 tracts, principally in Dakota, Montana and New Mexico.

Referring to the act of March 3, 1873, which authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to adjust each of the railroad grants, the report says that 21,960,840 acres have been suspended awaiting the action by Congress.

Attention is called to the fact that more than 30,000,000 acres of land have been claimed under the swamp-land act in various States, Florida alone, being a total of 37,631,590 acres, having a value of $2,214,429 acres as swamp land.

The report recommends a repeal of all laws relating to public timber, and an enactment of a general law, plain, concise and unmistakable in its meaning.

Fewer fraudulent entries have been made during the year than for many years past, owing to increased vigilance, but several syndicates sought to obtain lands by fraudulent means, and in one case, had they succeeded, the commission alone would have amounted to $350,000.

HEIRS TO FIVE MILLIONS. Three Brothers and Two Sisters Paid $1,000,000 Each for Property.

LIMA, O., Sept. 20.—Henry Talbot, a colored man of this city, has gone to Cincinnati to get possession of the fortune of nearly $1,000,000, of which he has not discovered he is the rightful owner.

His two brothers and two sisters each get possession of a similar amount, a property held years ago by their father, Benjamin Talbot, having in the course of time become worth millions of dollars.

Henry Talbot was a slave in Kentucky until 1830, when he was freed by his master, and he has since lived in Indiana, which had once been his father's, and determined to inquire into the matter.

The result showed that the Talbot heirs were the legal owners of the most valuable property in Logansport. The Wash and El River roads cross the property, which is also occupied by their buildings and numerous side-tracks.

These companies, on being informed of the developments, compromised with the heirs for $3,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—Commissioner of Education Dawson, in his annual report, says that during the decade from 1870 to 1887 the growth of the public school system has outstripped that of any other population 1.6 per cent.

Chelsea has been extremely prolific in damage suits against the Michigan Central railroad. The latest is that of John Adam Kalmbach, who filed his narrative in the circuit court last Monday and asks for $10,000 damages for injuries received October 15, 1888, in Chelsea. He was unloading barrels from a car placed upon a side track, when a locomotive backed other cars upon the siding, which struck the car with barrels, causing Kalmbach's team, described as gentle horses, to run away, throwing him out in a ditch with some barrels on top of him, from which he sustained injuries causing him great physical and mental suffering, large doctor and nurse bills, and for all of which he asks $10,000.—Ann Arbor Argus.
