THE CHELSEA HERALD.

A. ALLISON, Editor and Proprietor.

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.

SOME genius estimates that a person who lives to be seventy years of age needs enough food to fill twenty box freight cars.

GUATEMALA is soon to have a railroad line from the Atlantic to the Pacific, with harbors and shipping facilities at each end.

In 1899 there were about 90,000 acres of fruit trees growing in England; now there are 214,000 acres. Last year 3,500,000 bushels of apples were imported by the mother country at a cost of $200,000.

It is said that Miss Huntington's father made over to her betrothed, Prince Hatfield, an equivalent of $2,000,000 in American securities before the husband-to-be would consent to make the young lady his bride.

SALLIE WEBB, of Portsmouth, has been admitted to the Ohio penitentiary carrying a three-weeks-old child in her arms. She has two husbands in the same institution, and one of the husbands has two sons in the reform school.

The Government directors of the Union Pacific road have reported to the Secretary of the Interior that in their judgment the interests of the United States demand early action by Congress to secure the payment by the country of its indebtedness to the Government.

GENERAL O. O. HOWARD, commanding the division of the Atlantic, in his annual report urges prompt action in the matter of defenses for sea-coast cities, and favors the adoption of "Americanite," an explosive invented by a young Russian, as the most inexpensive means to that end.

The Indians of the Five Nations take great interest in news from the surrounding States, as well as within the borders of their own nations. Ten weekly newspapers are published with in the Territory, and a number of daily newspapers from the States are taken by the Indians.

It is stated that special precautions were taken by President Harrison and State Department officials to prevent either of the Dakotas from claiming priority of admission to the Union; and that neither the President himself nor any other person knows to which of the proclamations he first appended his signature.

SINCE March 1 the missionaries in the northwestern district of the American Sunday-School Union have established 395 Sunday-schools, with 2,347 teachers and 11,211 scholars, besides adding 1,573 other schools. They have also held 2,295 meetings, made 10,400 visits to families, distributed 2,295 Bibles and Testaments and traveled 100,760 miles.

The Atlanta Constitution publishes statistics to show that the negroes of Texas are prosperous. They own 1,000,000 acres of land, pay taxes on $20,000,000 worth of property, have 2,000 churches, 3,000 Sunday-schools, 10 high schools, 3,000 common schools, 125,000 pupils, 25 doctors, 35 lawyers, 100 merchants, 5,000 mechanics, 15 newspapers and several inventors.

With the departure of the two Dakotas, Montana and Washington into Statehood, there will remain five organized Territories—Idaho, Wyoming, Utah, New Mexico and Arizona—and two unorganized—Alaska and the Indian Territory. Within the next few years most of these will likewise become States. Every one of the organized Territories believes that it is fit now to step into the shoes of the departed.

In a review of the calamities caused by floods during the year 1899 the Japan Mail says: "Incomplete returns show that twelve prefectures have been devastated, 3,419 people killed, 155 wounded, and over 90,000 people deprived of means of subsistence. More than 50,000 houses have been swept away or submerged, 150,000 acres of crops destroyed, about 6,000 bridges washed away, and some hundreds of miles of roads broken up."

The remains of Antonio Meucci, friend and business associate of Garibaldi, who lately died at his home on Staten Island, the Garibaldi homestead, were cremated, and the ashes sent to Rome to be deposited in its Masonic temple. Meucci was very poor when he died. For the past three years the Italian Government allowed him $30 a month, and for the past seven years the Italian Government allowed him $30 a month, and for the past seven years the Italian Government allowed him $30 a month.

Five brave Americans were recently awarded medals and diplomas in Mexico for gallantly rescuing many lives when the steamer La Libertad was sunk in Lake Chapala with a party of two hundred excursionists on board. The Mexican Congress decorated the five men at Guadalajara in the presence of over 4,000 spectators. The names of the distinguished Americans are: C. E. Shackford, master-mechanic; C. E. Halbert, superintendent; H. R. Comfort, passenger conductor; Joseph H. Feehan, chief train dispatcher; and L. Rosenthal, messenger of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express. They were well worthy the honor.

A YALLEN telephone wire, connected in some way with an electric-light current above, lay across a street in New York City a few mornings ago. A horse that stepped on it was stricken down and slowly burned to a crisp, its body emitting sparks of fire. The driver of the wagon the horse was drawing attempted to raise the animal, and was knocked into the gutter by the shock he received. A sergeant of police, who was searching for the wire, came into contact with it and received a very severe shock. Is it not time, in the light of the disasters occurring in that city, to lay the wires under ground?

KEMMLER, the sentenced murderer, whose life is prolonged by the quibbles over the electric mode of execution, is very low in the moral scale. A lady who has made him some visits in his cell at Auburn, N. Y., has been trying to teach him some religious truths. The other day she said to him: "Do you know that the Son of God came down from Heaven to save such as you?" "No, I never heard of him," said Kemmler. "What you never heard of Jesus Christ?" "I never have," said the murderer, positively, who very likely had often taken the sacred name upon his lips without even knowing what it meant.

THE FALL ELECTIONS.

Result of the Contest at the Polls on Tuesday.

THE DEMOCRATS ELECT THEIR CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR IN OHIO AND IOWA—MAJORITY DEFEATED IN VIRGINIA—RETURNS FROM OTHER STATES.

OHIO.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 7.—Unofficial returns from eighty-four counties in Ohio give Campbell a plurality of 5,979. Last year the vote stood 180,849 for Ames (Rep.), 152,780 for Russell (Dem.), and J. Q. A. BRACKETT, 9,374 for Earle (Labor). Governor Ames receiving a plurality over Russell of 35,000 and a clear majority over all of 18,095. Blackman, the prohibitionist candidate, received 1,300 votes, the largest number ever given that party. The Executive Council will stand as at present—7 Republicans and 1 Democrat—and the latest political make-up of the Legislature, according to returns, is as follows: Senate, 39 Republicans and 11 Democrats, against 32 Republicans and 8 Democrats this year; House, 103 Republicans and 78 Democrats, against 180 Republicans and 60 Democrats this year.

ABNEY'S PLURALITY OVER 10,000.

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Nov. 7.—Later returns from various portions of New Jersey indicate increased Democratic gains. Leon Abbott's plurality for Governor is now believed to exceed 10,000. The political complexion of the State Senate is still in doubt and hinges upon Atlantic City, which both parties claim. The Assembly will consist of 38 Democrats and 32 Republicans.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 7.—Returns from this State are still incomplete, but there is no doubt whatever that the Republicans have elected. Laws to Congress in the Second district by from 3,000 to 3,000 majority and that the Republican candidates for Supreme Judge and the Regents of the University have from 20,000 to 25,000 majority.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 7.—Out of 100 counties in this State seventy-nine have been heard from.

Out of fourteen cities, returns have been received from nine. Every city and county shows a gain for McKinney over the vote of 1888. Thus far the Democrats have elected 70 members to the House of Delegates and 29 to the Senate. The composition of the last Legislature was: House, 63 Democrats, 37 Republicans; Senate, 20 Democrats, 14 Republicans. The latest estimate of the vote of the State gives McKinney 30,000 majority. The Republicans have elected 24 members of the House of Delegates, with five counties to be heard from, and 11 members of the Senate, with two districts to be heard from.

REPUBLICAN GAINS IN MARYLAND.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 7.—Fairly complete returns from the counties show that the Republicans have made large gains in Maryland and their Representatives in the next Legislature will be largely increased. In the Senate the Republicans have also increased their representation from 4 to 8.

Boyer's plurality in the State will be about 60,000.

THE GREAT TRIAL.

Testimony Given by Witnesses in the Cronin Murder Case.

THE TENTH DAY.

District Officer Spellman Testifies—The Cronin-O'Sullivan Contract.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Edward Spellman, of Peoria, district officer of the Chicago-Great Trial, testified yesterday in the Cronin case, but his testimony was a disappointment to the State, as he refused to indorse statements he made before the grand jury. Dr. Cronin's death, story about Dr. Cronin's death. The witness admitted that in his testimony before the grand jury in the case he testified that Coughlin was in his presence that Cronin ought to be killed. After going home and thinking the matter over, and consulting with others who were present during the conversation, he became convinced that he had made a mistake. That such a remark had not been made by Coughlin. Witness also said that Beggs never preferred charges to him against Dr. Cronin.

Following the examination of Spellman, Justice Mahoney took the stand. He is the man who introduced Iremonger O'Sullivan to Dr. Cronin, at the former's request, and who was present when the famous contract was made. He said the contract was made at the doctor's office in the Opera House block. When the terms had been agreed upon O'Sullivan handed Dr. Cronin some of his cards, saying that in case he (O'Sullivan) was out of the city when the doctor was wanted a card would be sent him.

On the cross-examination Mr. Mahoney said that O'Sullivan had no effort to conceal the fact of his contract with Dr. Cronin. At the afternoon session Mr. Addie J. Farrar said that she had taken tea from P. O'Sullivan for nine years. In May last O'Sullivan called at her house and she spoke of the finding of Dr. Cronin's body. O'Sullivan said in that conversation that "they say Cronin was a spy, and if that was so he got his just deserts."

THOSE WINNING STORIES.

CHICAGO, Nov. 3.—Assistant State's Attorney Baker, who arrived here yesterday, professes to think that his trip to Winnipeg was not fruitless, but men who have been prominently connected with the case since the outset, and even his superior Longenecker, think he has accomplished practically nothing. Mr. Longenecker said last night, when court adjourned, that he did not think Baker had a fact that he himself did not have away in his safe before the trip was made. In short Baker's trip to Winnipeg was a failure. The testimony of Gillette and Heffer is generally discredited.

THE ELEVENTH DAY.

No Witnesses Examined on Account of It Being Election Day.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—No testimony was taken in the Cronin case yesterday. Mr. McCannell was willing to go on and the defense agreed to waive the question of the legality of taking evidence on election day, but Mr. Hynes, of the prosecution, suggested that the witness might be employed for the prisoners who would not stand by the compact. A question of doubt being raised, the court took a recess until Wednesday morning.

TWELFTH DAY.

Witnesses Told of the Finding of the Trunk After the Murder.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—The Cronin trial was resumed at 10 a. m. yesterday. R. T. Stanton testified to the printing and delivery of some business cards to Iremonger O'Sullivan, and identified the card given by Dr. Cronin on the night of May 4 by the driver of the white horse as one of those cards. The cards were delivered to O'Sullivan May 2.

Captain Willers, at the time of the murder a captain of the Lake View police force, told of the trunk being brought to the Lake View police station, and that he had, on looking inside, seen cotton saturated with blood, and blood still in the liquid form. Captain Phillips, with Captain Willer, brought the trunk, had given the witness a lock of hair about four inches long and of the thickness of a lead-pencil found in the trunk.

Herman Theel, a young German, told of finding the trunk on the morning of May 5 in the ditch at the side of Evanston avenue, just south of the Chicago & Evanston railway track. The trunk, which had been found in the ditch, was taken to the court house and identified by Captain Willers, who was identified by the witness as the one found by him. Herman Pause and Karl Knop, who accompanied Theel, corroborated the latter's testimony.

Officer Phillips of the Lake View police force, testified to the blood-stained cotton and tufts of hair found in the trunk, and identified the trunk and cotton in court. He arrested O'Sullivan at the latter's house May 23 or 24.

Captain Willer, also of the Lake View force, went over the story of the finding of the trunk, the bloody cotton and the hair, and said that the trunk was found in the ditch at the side of Evanston avenue, just south of the Chicago & Evanston railway track. When the remains were found, the trunk was taken to the court house and identified by Captain Willers, who was identified by the witness as the one found by him. Herman Pause and Karl Knop, who accompanied Theel, corroborated the latter's testimony.

DAMAGING STORIES TOLD AGAINST COUGHLIN, KUNZE AND O'SULLIVAN.

CHICAGO, Nov. 8.—Coroner Hertz was the first witness examined at yesterday's session of the Cronin trial, and he identified the trunk in court as the same which was turned over by him to the chief of police.

William Mertes, a milkman, said that at 8:30 on the night of May 4, as he was walking past the Carlson cottage, he saw a buggy stop, a large man in a dark-brown overcoat get out, run up the steps and let himself into the house. The man who remained in the buggy turned the horse around and drove rapidly away. Later, when the witness returned home past the cottage, he heard the sound of running. The witness identified Kunze as the man who drove away and Coughlin as the man who entered the cottage.

Officer Kuntz testified to having gone to the Carlson cottage on May 23 and to finding the paint-spotted trunk key under the wash-stand in the front room.

Ex-Police Captain Schaeffer testified to an interview with O'Sullivan, who he drew admissions from him that he had telephoned Coughlin in April to come to his house for the purpose of discussing something about Kunze and a horse. Being pressed by Schaeffer, O'Sullivan had declared to see Coughlin about delivering the trunk to the latter's house, but Kunze's association with the transaction and the mystery surrounding the case had not been explained.

Chief of Police Harrison testified to the fact that he was first asked about the custody of the trunk which was given to the coroner. He said it had been in his sole care until delivered to the State's Attorney. This was also true regarding the lock and key. The witness identified Susper Burke as the Burke he had first seen in the Winnipeg jail, and the direct examination ended.

Police Captain Schaeffer next told of his visit to the Carlson cottage the day after the body was discovered, May 23. Among the things he found there was a piece of blood-stained soap on which was some hair. He told that he had seen the blood-stained floor and upon being shown places of the flooring that had been taken up identified them. The witness controverted the theory of the defense that the trunk in court was not the one found at Evanston avenue by indicating to the jury an identification mark made on it by him last May.

A STARTLING DISCOVERY.

Workmen in Cleaning Out a Sewer Near the Palace, Lake View, Caught Accidentally the Missing Clothes and Surgical Instruments of the Murdered Dr. Cronin—The Articles Fully Identified.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9.—Dr. P. H. Cronin's clothes, box of metallic splints and case of surgical instruments have been found at the bottom of a manhole on Evanston avenue, Lake View. A gang of workmen who had been sent to clean out the sewer made the valuable find about 2 o'clock Friday afternoon within less than a block of the point where the bloody trunk was picked up May 5. Mrs. T. T. Conklin, with whom Dr. Cronin boarded, identified the articles positively. No identification was needed of the case of instruments, as on its back was inscribed the dead physician's name. The case was such a one as all medical students use in the dissecting-room. It contained three pairs of small scissors, a set of scalpels, besides several small tubes and needles for sewing up wounds. The case was a present to Dr. Cronin from his friend, William Bagnell, of St. Louis, where the physician resided before coming to Chicago.

It was almost impossible to identify any article of clothing. They were covered with slime from lying so long in the sewer, and a sickening stench arose from the mass. But there was no mistaking the surgical case. Two prescription blanks found among the clothing were filled out, and the writing, although somewhat obliterated, could be read without any difficulty. Both of the prescriptions were signed "Cronin." Mrs. Conklin recognized the doctor's signature. A silver hypodermic case, filled with needles, was in as good a state of preservation as on May 4. It was fully identified as Dr. Cronin's. A black valise, containing surgical instruments, was covered with mud and Mrs. Conklin was unable to say whether it belonged to the doctor or not. But there is little doubt of it.

The mass of stuff was found with the frame of a large sachet around it, and it looks as if the articles had been inclosed in a cheap valise and that the sides of it had rotted away. In this connection it will be remembered that J. B. Simonds, the man who bought the furniture at Revell's, asked Salesman Hatfield for "large, cheap valise." The valise was sent over to the Clark street flat, and from there it was taken to the Carlson cottage by Martenson, the dress-maker. It was shown by Mr. Hatfield's testimony that the valise was a cheap pasteboard affair. Only the frame of it was found clinging to the clothes and instruments, and part of the slime on the clothing is undoubtedly its sides which had rotted away.

After a partial examination of the clothing and instruments at Chief Hubbard's office the outfit was taken to the Chicago Avenue station. State Attorney Longenecker notified Captain Scheutler to take the articles to his office, and about 5 o'clock the patrol wagon backed up in front of the criminal court building and the articles were carried into the State Attorney's office.

The articles found were locked up in the State Attorney's vault and will be used in the trial. Most of the garments, especially the trousers, are cut open, showing that they were hurried out from the bleeding body of the slain doctor.

A minute examination of the clothing afterwards revealed the fact that the watch was missing. There were neither papers nor money nor any article of value whatsoever in the pockets. The cuff buttons were the only articles of value found about the clothing. They were of blue enamel. The oval-head pin which the doctor wore in his scarf was missing. In the lapel button-hole of the coat the Royal Arsenal button worn by the doctor still held its place. The shirt was stained with blood and had been cut by blows. The trousers had been ripped off the body, being cut open along the outside of the leg.

The finding of Dr. Cronin's clothes and surgical instruments was an accident, and not the result of a deliberate search. This was the case in the finding of the body. As a sanitary measure two men were put at work some days ago flushing the Lake View sewers. All went well for some time, until the water began to rise in one of the manholes on Evanston avenue, about a quarter of a mile south of where the trunk was found the day after the murder. An examination of the manhole was made by Michael Reese and Mr. Gilbert, the two men employed nearest to it. The result was that the articles described above were discovered and turned over to the police. The workmen naturally enough came to the conclusion that they had found Dr. Cronin's clothing and instruments, and upon investigation this turned out to be true. Later in the day Joseph Turner, another workman for the city, found Dr. Cronin's socks and a tin box of plasters further down the sewer near the lake. It is believed that the shoes have been floated out into the lake.

TELL-TALE STAINS.

Those Found in the Carlson Cottage Analyzed by Experts, Who Testify That They Were Caused by Human Blood—Establishing the Presence of the Murdered Physician in the Assassinate's Home—A Single Hair—Alexander Sullivan Released.

CHICAGO, Nov. 11.—The spectators at Saturday's session of the Cronin trial looked expectant, believing that the clothes, instruments and other articles belonging to Dr. Cronin which were found in the Lake View sewer would be brought into court on Friday and would be the first evidence in the case. The State's Attorney said that they would not be till some time this week. This unexpected addition to the evidence of the State will prolong the case several days. It was expected that the State would be able to introduce all its evidence last week, but the recent events render this impossible. Just when the State will finish is now very uncertain. Gerhard Werdel, the occupant of the cottage, was the first witness of the day, and a very interesting and important one he proved to be. On the night of May 4 he said that he left his house shortly before 10 o'clock. As he was turning about 1030 o'clock along the east side of Ashland avenue he saw a man, he passed Otto street, two men going north. There was a difference of about three inches in their heights. He was unable to tell who they were, but saw them enter the Carlson cottage. Next morning as he and his wife were going home from early mass he saw blood on the sidewalk of the Carlson cottage, and called the attention of his wife to it. There was a trail of blood, apparently fresh, beginning on the steps and running out to the middle of the sidewalk. Dr. Egbert was then recalled to testify to having at the autopsy clipped a lock of hair from the doctor's head, and was followed by Prof. W. S. Haynes, for the past thirteen years professor of chemistry at Rush Medical College.

He said he had examined the bits of wood, cotton and paper found to him by Dr. Belfield from the State, and all having reddish stains. These stains he had subjected to two chemical tests, one microscopic and one chemical and microscopic combined.

"What," asked Attorney Mills, "in your opinion, as a man of science, caused these stains?"

"Blood," Prof. Haynes replied.

Attorney Forrest moved to exclude the testimony on the ground that evidence had been introduced to show when the floor had been stained, whether before or after May 4, but the judge overruled the motion.

Another point upon which the defense had hung much hope was the color of the hair found on the soap. The color was lighter, the defense claimed, than that of Dr. Cronin. But this hope was also dashed when the witness said that he had placed the ends of some of the hair clipped from the head in the soap, and after a few days found that the hair had turned to lighter color, due, he said, to the alkali in the soap.

On cross-examination the witness said he was unable to determine whether the blood was from a human being or from a lower animal.

Prof. Tolman, the widely-known microscopist, has made examinations of the blood stains and the hair. The stains in the cottage and trunk were made by human blood. This he was made to, not alone on account of the size of the blood corpuscles, but because he found in the clots the fuz which is invisible to the naked eye and which exists only upon the skin of mankind. These minute hairs had been broken from the skin and left upon the wood by the flowing blood. Forrest objected to this clinching testimony because "it couldn't be proved how the fuz happened to be in the Carlson cottage." One sample of thirteen hairs from the trunk and another of fifty-six hairs from Dr. Cronin's head had been submitted to him. The hairs were identical in color and diameter.

Dr. Belfield corroborated every test made by Prof. Tolman. He also said that the one hair found on a piece of soap in the Carlson cottage was the same in size and appearance as the others contained in the sample sent from Dr. Cronin's head and submitted to him. Like the other experts he gave the size and appearance of all sorts of blood-corpuscles.

At present Dr. Cronin's presence in the Carlson cottage hinges on a hair. The one hair found on the cake of soap is the only evidence that he ever entered that slaughter-house. Of course the circumstantial evidence that he was there and there was murdered is as strong as it well could be, but of direct proof that one single hair is the only connecting link.

The State's Attorney having consented to the cancelling of Alexander Sullivan's bail bonds, Judge Baker ordered his unconditional release.

The police on Saturday fished out of a Lake View sewer a piece of carpet about eighteen inches square and believed to be a part of the ingrain article that covered the floor of the Carlson cottage the night Dr. Cronin was murdered. It was found one block south of the manhole into which Dr. Cronin's clothes and surgical instruments were thrown and two blocks south of the street where the trunk was found. There were no signs of blood on it so far as could be determined. State Attorney Longenecker and his assistants considered the discovery an important one. Dr. Cronin's shoes and watch are still missing.

A FLAVOR OF FUN.

WHEN a man engages a typewriter he becomes a pen-shunner.

"What prompted you to rob this man's till?" asked the judge of the prisoner. "My family physician," said the prisoner, "told me I require change."

"How far is it to Manayunk?" asked a weary Irishman, who was going there. "Seven miles," was the reply. "Whom do you wish to see there?" "Faith it's myself I'd like to see there," was the reply.

When a girl has finally made up her mind that she is eternally homely and decides not to feel bad about it any more it unsettles her dreadfully to have a man fall in love with her and begin to pay her compliments.

GLADSTONE is said to have no memory of facts, but facts and principles with him have the adhesive force of a sticking plaster.

M. de Lesseps, says a Paris letter, is rarely seen in the boulevards, and his name is seldom quoted in the papers. Not many months ago De Lesseps was a name to conjure with.

B. P. SHILLABER, better known as Mrs. Partington, who has been for the last seven or eight years confined with rheumatism, has made an alliterative joke about his infirm condition. "Here I sit from paper, pipe, pills and patience."

Mrs. HARRISON is a very busy woman. Her correspondence is enormous and demands a great share of her time. She receives letters from all sorts of cranks, most of whom beg some sort of favor at her rude or malicious hand. These are tossed into a waste basket at once. All of the remainder are answered, if possible.

LONDON'S famous preacher, Rev. C. H. Spurgeon, says that he is always preparing his sermons, reading and thinking, but the specific preparation begins at six o'clock on Saturday evening. His great difficulty is to find a text. He has preached so many sermons all thirty-three volumes, and these he keeps on a shelf near at hand, so that he may look back and see that he does not repeat himself.

PRESIDENT HARRISON is becoming a famous trait. He is generally accompanied by his private secretary or one of the members of his Cabinet, and he takes business as he walks, but he gets the air and exercise all the same. To some one who was speaking to him on this subject the other day, the President said: "I must have as soon think of walking without my dinner, or of putting up all day with exercise, as I would of losing my daily exercise."

SPEAKING OF Mrs. Alice J. Shaw, the American whistler, an English critic remarks that many people have been asked to hear her in London regarding the whole thing as a joke, and have come away in simple wonder at the unlooked-for display of her powers. They have found a sound musician and a subtle mistress of her peculiar art. They have concluded that, through her special medium, "she could fill the Garden with ecstatic trills or sink into the subtlest whispered notes, the execution of which only years of rehearsal could achieve."

SPEAKING OF THE Prince of Wales as an American newspaper man now in London says: "Personally there is not a better fellow walking on Broadway. He is an all-round man and his accurate knowledge on all sorts of subjects is simply phenomenal. Talk with him on yachting, hunting, sport of any kind, the theater, current literature or art, and he is thoroughly posted. Home and foreign politics he has at his finger's tip, and he knows what is going on all over the world. He is an indefatigable worker and he'd be a whole staff in himself."

A WORD WITH FARMERS.

STRAW wrapped around newly set trees and plants will protect them from the sun. By taking pains to remove all needless, crooked or crossing limbs a good work can be done in the future shaping of the tree. After the plants have done fruiting it will nearly always pay to cut out the old canes from the raspberries and cut off some of the new growth just above the ground.

THERE is always more or less risk in packing and shipping fruit to the distant market, and for this reason care should be taken to see that the home market is fully supplied.

A FEW trees will bear free cutting-back to bring it into leaf, and a cherry tree which is in the last stage of decay may be seriously injured by much pruning during the growing season, and sometimes the trees are killed by it.

The surest and best plan of meeting the black knot is to cut out at the first appearance. By keeping a watch in this way it can be kept under control much easier than by any other plan. Burn the pests that are taken off.

ON cause for mildew on gooseberries, grapes, etc., is too thick foliage or being grown with too thick tops. Thin out thoroughly, and you will prevent mildew to a great extent. Currants and gooseberries are especially liable to be attacked, and with any coarse litter.

CATARH.

Catarh is never a New Home Treatment.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and the eustachian tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result of this discovery is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby Catarrh, Hay Fever and Catarrh of the Throat, are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks.

N.B.—This treatment is not a snuff or an ointment; both have been discarded by reputable physicians as injurious. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent on receipt of three cents in stamps to pay postage by A. H. Dixon & Son, cor. of John and Kimbrell streets, Toronto, Canada.—John Dixon Advocate.

Sufferers from Catarrh troubles should carefully read the above.

AN EXQUISITE ENGRAVING.

Gateway to the Garden of the Gods, Colorado, with View of Pike's Peak in the Middle Distance.

A very costly and elegant steel plate engraving has just been executed in the highest style of the art, copies of which from a limited supply, are now ready for delivery, and will be sent to any part of the world on receipt of 25 cents each, in stamps or coin. The noble grandeur of the "Entrance" to the "Garden of the Gods" is a favorite theme of poets and painters. The outer parapets are of pink granite, while the interior columns spring boldly from the plain to a height of 350 feet—the whole suggesting the ruins of a vast temple. These towering walls form a majestic frame-work for the snow-capped summit of Pike's Peak which reveals itself among the clouds in this admirable work of art, address JOHN SEABRIGHT, Gen. Tel. & Pass. Agent, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific R.R., enclosing the price, 25 cents.

A New Kind of Insurance

Has been put in operation by the manufacturers of Dr. Pierce's medicines. His "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription" are sold by druggists under the manufacturers' positive guarantee. Either benefit or a complete cure is thus attained, or money paid for the medicine is returned. The certificate of recovery given in connection with sale of these medicines is equivalent to a policy of insurance. The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures all humors and blood taints, from whatever cause arising, skin and scalp diseases, scrofulous sores and swellings. The "Favorite Prescription" cures all the derangements and weaknesses peculiar to women.

BRONSON HOWARD'S great comedy, "Shonandoo," said to be the best American play yet written, will be produced at McVicker's Theatre on Monday evening, November 14, for a continuous run of four weeks. It is a two-act comedy in the play and over a hundred old soldiers will be engaged for the camp and battle scenes. Bronson Howard personally superintends every performance, and while in New York was called before the curtain every night.
