They started with but little of this world's goods and left an estate valued at $10,000,000.

In France, it is said, if a patient who is under chloroform shows any signs of heart failure, those in attendance hold him head downwards till he is restored. The method is said never to fail, and surgeons have operating tables made in such a fashion that one end can be elevated at a moment's notice, and the patient be practically made to stand on his head for an instant or two.

SECRETARY PROCTOR will, it is said, renew the recommendation of his predecessors, in his forthcoming annual report, that Congress provide for the appointment of an Assistant Secretary of War. BEUGIM is an uncomfortable country for embezzlers. A cashier employed by the city of Ghent, who embezzled 168,000 francs of the municipal cash, has just caught it very hot indeed. He has been sentenced to forty years' imprisonment and five years' police supervision to follow. Has been fined 8,450 francs, ordered to restore the entire sum he has embezzled and will in addition lose all his civil rights.

An old observer of Presidential life in Washington says that each new President begins his term by spending more money on hospitality during the first year of office than during any of the succeeding ones. The expenditure decreases gradually, it is said, until the fourth year, when the ordinary President begins to think more about saving money for the coming rainy day than about spending it for dinners and receptions.

Reports appear from time to time endeavoring to prove that Stanley's expedition is a failure and that he is now at the mercy of the Arab slave traders, who hold the key to the situation. Only a day or two ago it was announced that the expedition had been broken up, and that the reports brought to the coast by runners had been suppressed in the interest of further movements. It would be interesting to know where these stories come from.

A SUBTERRANEAN river has just been discovered in the district of Miers, in the department of Lot, France. Miers is in the heart of a wild, mountainous country, in the deepest recesses of which caves and grottoes are found. The other day two explorers—M. Martel and M. Gaupillat—discovered the river at the bottom of an abyss known as the Pit of Paderac. With a folding boat, made of sail-cloth, they worked their way down stream for a couple of miles through a succession of the most wonderful grottoes sparkling with beautiful stalactites.

It is dangerous to let a man die in a hotel in Paris. A queer French law enables the landlord to present his bill to the relatives for the death. Seven hundred francs was the item recently demanded from an American family for the decease of one of its members in a well-known hotel. This extortion would have been three times as great if the person had died of a contagious disease, and doubled if the deceased was a Prince or a member of any rich aristocratic family. The allowances by the judges, however, are generally much less than the claims of the landlords.

Mrs. MARY CLEMENT LEAVITT, of Boston, who is on a temperance tour around the world, was lately the guest of the late John Bright's sister, the venerable Mrs. Margaret Lucas, in London. As the world's organizer of the Women's Christian Temperance Union Mrs. Leavitt has traveled seventy thousand miles since 1844, and addressed audiences of all colors and in all lands, without fee and without hope of any reward. The work she has in contemplation for 1890-91 includes visits to the west coast of Africa, Norway and Sweden, the Holy Land and Egypt, and other points.

THE W. C. T. U.

Its National Convention Held in Chicago.

A Condensed Report of Its Work—Vice-President Morton Denounced—The Convention Adopts a Partisan Political Plank—Iowa Delegates Secede.

THE FIRST DAY.

The sixteenth annual convention of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union has just been held in Chicago at Battery D Army. Miss Frances E. Willard opened the session. There were 460 delegates present. Mrs. Caprota of Buena Vista, Connecticut, gave some interesting statistics. There are 7,405 unions now in existence, with 142,163 members. Altogether there are nearly 200,000 persons connected with the W. C. T. U. at present. In 1874 there were 7,000 members of the union. The receipts of the treasury in 1874 were $381; last year they were $17,116. At the present time there are 3,143 Local Legions, with a membership of 150,143. The report of Miss Esther Pugh, the treasurer, showed: Total receipts from all sources, $23,889.97; total expenditures, $20,667.57. The dues for 1889 realized the sum of $14,386.50. The balance in Miss Pugh's hands is $3,923.40.

Miss Willard delivered her annual address at the evening session. The speaker touched on the multiplicity of subjects in which the W. C. T. U. is deeply interested, including the marriage relation, social evil, protection of minors of both sexes, especially girl purity in literature and art, physical culture and dress reform.

She said that if either the Republican or the Democratic party would municipally, by States or nationally, declare for Sunday closing of saloons, for night closing of saloons, or would adopt any other method of setting the engine of the law against the saloon rather than put an insurance policy on its continuance, the W. C. T. U. would go with them the full length of such measure. As a method of raising the revenue from vice high license is a success, and it is equally so as a life-insurance policy on the saloon. It has set back the temperance cause ten years, if not a generation.

The colossal labor question looms up more and more; its co-relations with the temperance question are being candidly considered, and as the two armies approach nearer to each other they discover that uniforms and weapons are curiously alike. It is being proved that temperance is most prevalent where the hours of toil are long, because overwork drives men to drinking, hence the eight-hour law finds steadily more favor with our temperance people.

Less pioneer work than usual was done last year and it was necessary to reorganize the departments of organizers if it is to accomplish all that is desired. Evangelistic and Sunday-school work had been carried on with vigor, and the temperance work among the young was making progress. The great movement in defense of Sabbath observance was being Nationalized and a petition against Sunday mails was recommended. Miss Willard recommended that a protest should be sent to Vice-President Morton for permitting a saloon in his new hotel.

In conclusion she recommended petitions against impure literature, asking an amendment to the Inter-State Commerce law prohibiting the bringing of liquor into prohibition States, in favor of the Blair Educational bill, and the Blair amendment, forbidding the manufacture of cigarettes and prohibiting smoking in a waiting-room and post-offices, and for various other purposes.

SECOND DAY.

At the second day's session a breeze was started in the convention by the reading of a dispatch from Judge H. B. Moulton, of Washington, D. C., declaring that a liquor license had been issued to the Vice-President, in the name of James H. Keenan, manager, for the purpose of keeping a saloon in the Bohemian, the new hotel built by the Vice-President. Miss Willard sarcastically congratulated the country on having a Vice-President who showed his law-abiding principles by taking out a license. Mrs. Foster, of Iowa, protested against what she termed an injustice to Vice-President Morton. While not desiring to make excuses for him, or to palliate his offense if he be guilty, she thought it did not comport with the objects of the W. C. T. U. to make suggestions to the Vice-President on a basis firmer than newspaper reports. The W. C. T. U. had been compelled through necessity to locate its headquarters in the Palmer House, this city, in which a Vice-President might have been forced, through circumstances, to take the position complained of.

A motion was carried to refer the matter to the committee on resolutions to formulate an expression of the convention's sentiments on the subject.

Reports from National organizers were heard, and a congratulatory telegram from Wyoming stating that the proposed constitution, containing a woman-suffrage plank, had been ratified by a vote of eight to one was received by the convention with great enthusiasm.

In the afternoon the report of the secretary of the World's W. C. T. U. was read. New Zealand has seventy-six unions; Queensland, Australia, has nine. The reports from Burma, India, Japan and China spoke vigorously of work being done, but gave no statistics. A branch had been formed in Mauritius and a missionary visited Madagascar and addressed large meetings at Tamatave. Unions have been established at Port Natal and the Cape of Good Hope. The world's petition for the deliverance of the world from the liquor power received 64,529 signatures in the United States and 84,995 in other countries.

Rev. John Barrows, D. D., spoke on behalf of the Society of Christian Endeavor, which, he said, has 500,000 members. It aims to develop the activities of young people in connection with the different churches.

Mrs. Foster read a telegram from General A. R. N. Xanthos, of Washington, announcing that the accusation against Vice-President Morton was without shadow of foundation. Mrs. Foster asked that the telegram be placed on record as contradicting that of Judge Moulton. The convention refused this, and adopted a resolution laying it on the table.

Ex-Governor St. John, of Kansas, made a speech on the subject. He said among other things that while it was true that the license was granted to the lessee of the hotel, Mr. Morton had sole control and management of his property and could have stipulated that no liquor should be sold therein, and if he had

Its National Convention Held in Chicago.

THE FIRST DAY.

The sixteenth annual convention of the National Women's Christian Temperance Union has just been held in Chicago at Battery D Army. Miss Frances E. Willard opened the session. There were 460 delegates present. Mrs. Caprota of Buena Vista, Connecticut, gave some interesting statistics. There are 7,405 unions now in existence, with 142,163 members. Altogether there are nearly 200,000 persons connected with the W. C. T. U. at present. In 1874 there were 7,000 members of the union. The receipts of the treasury in 1874 were $381; last year they were $17,116. At the present time there are 3,143 Local Legions, with a membership of 150,143. The report of Miss Esther Pugh, the treasurer, showed: Total receipts from all sources, $23,889.97; total expenditures, $20,667.57. The dues for 1889 realized the sum of $14,386.50. The balance in Miss Pugh's hands is $3,923.40.

Miss Willard delivered her annual address at the evening session. The speaker touched on the multiplicity of subjects in which the W. C. T. U. is deeply interested, including the marriage relation, social evil, protection of minors of both sexes, especially girl purity in literature and art, physical culture and dress reform.

She said that if either the Republican or the Democratic party would municipally, by States or nationally, declare for Sunday closing of saloons, for night closing of saloons, or would adopt any other method of setting the engine of the law against the saloon rather than put an insurance policy on its continuance, the W. C. T. U. would go with them the full length of such measure. As a method of raising the revenue from vice high license is a success, and it is equally so as a life-insurance policy on the saloon. It has set back the temperance cause ten years, if not a generation.

The colossal labor question looms up more and more; its co-relations with the temperance question are being candidly considered, and as the two armies approach nearer to each other they discover that uniforms and weapons are curiously alike. It is being proved that temperance is most prevalent where the hours of toil are long, because overwork drives men to drinking, hence the eight-hour law finds steadily more favor with our temperance people.

Less pioneer work than usual was done last year and it was necessary to reorganize the departments of organizers if it is to accomplish all that is desired. Evangelistic and Sunday-school work had been carried on with vigor, and the temperance work among the young was making progress. The great movement in defense of Sabbath observance was being Nationalized and a petition against Sunday mails was recommended. Miss Willard recommended that a protest should be sent to Vice-President Morton for permitting a saloon in his new hotel.

In conclusion she recommended petitions against impure literature, asking an amendment to the Inter-State Commerce law prohibiting the bringing of liquor into prohibition States, in favor of the Blair Educational bill, and the Blair amendment, forbidding the manufacture of cigarettes and prohibiting smoking in a waiting-room and post-offices, and for various other purposes.

THE CRONIN TRIAL.

Testimony Given by Witnesses in the Murder Case.

Facts Being Brought Out Daily by the Prosecution Which Place the Five Defendants in a Very Dangerous Position.

SIXTEENTH DAY.

The Clothes Worn by Dr. Cronin Exhibited in the Court-Room.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—The first hour of the morning session of the Cronin trial yesterday was devoted to showing that Kuntz from April 11 until arrested went under the name of John Kalsner.

The next witness was Gus Kurbke. He said that Burke came to his shop on the morning of May 4 with a tin box on his back. Kurbke wanted him to solder the cover. The box had a cord around it, and as he was about to cut it Kurbke stopped him and told him "for God sake" not to do that. Kurbke said that having asked Burke what he thought of it, Kurbke, applying a foul epithet to the dead physician, replied that he was a British spy and ought to be killed.

Joseph O'Brien and Maurice Morris testified that they were talking with Begg two days after the disappearance of Dr. Cronin, and the Begg brothers to know more about the doctor's whereabouts than his companions and said: "You fellows don't know what you are talking about. You are not in the inner circle." Morris swore that he had long been in the inner circle, and that he was in the Cronin case, which was nothing more nor less than a secret society within a secret society.

Dr. Williams testified that he had been O'Sullivan's medical adviser for a long time, and that his bills for medical services were less than $10 during three years. This evidence was introduced to leave the impression that the doctor had some ulterior motive in view when he made an contract with Dr. Cronin to pay him four or five times as much per year for his services as he had cost him for three years previous.

The rest of the session was devoted to the examination of the men who found the clothing and instruments in the sewer and the police officers who removed the articles from point to point. Captain Schuetzler testified that every object to the view of the jury, showing where the collar had been cut as if by a knife, showing the dirty rag which had once been the Prince Albert coat of a professional man, the rusty and corroded bolts of splints, the top shirt, broken sleeve buttons, faded business cards, discolored manual of medicine—all foul and slimy with the putrid excretion of the sewer still clinging to their sides.

SEVENTEENTH DAY.

Some Startling Testimony Given by Mrs. Hoerel, a German Woman.

CHICAGO, Nov. 13.—At yesterday's session of the Cronin trial the hair cut from the head of Dr. Cronin was put in evidence. Mr. Hatfield, who sold the furniture found in the Carlson cottage to one J. B. Simonds, was called to identify the sachel found in the sewer as that sold by him to Simonds.

Mrs. Pauline Hoerel, a German woman, testified that on the night of May 4 she went to Eitel's saloon to look for her husband. She noticed that by the saloon clock it was 8 o'clock. Her husband not being there she retraced her steps, and as she was about to enter the saloon she saw a white horse and buggy approach and stop at the cottage gate. A tall man got out, then turned and reached for something in the buggy. He took out a box or small bag and opened it. The man in the buggy turned around and driving back to the city. "The man went up the steps not very fast," the witness continued, "and when he got to the top the door was opened and he went inside and the door closed. I was just passing the house then, and I heard some one inside cry: 'O, God! O, Jesus!' then there was a knock on the door, and some one fell. I thought there was a fight going on. The voice of the one I heard seemed to be muffled and then it died out. I went home." The testimony of Mrs. Hoerel supplies the only link missing in the chain of evidence.

Officer Thomas McKinnon, of the Wintwerp police force, was put on the stand at the afternoon session. He identified Burke as having been in jail at Wintwerp, and identified the officer who arrested the suspect. The latter gave the name of Cooper when arrested. Upon his person was found the sum of $83.20, a ticket to Montreal and another ticket by

A shooting match with Geo. Webb and Herchel Watts as captains, will take place at the Grange hall next Friday at 1 o'clock p. m., and another one of those bountiful oyster suppers will be served in the evening at the hall, of which the victorious party in the match will partake of free of charge.

A sad and undoubtedly fatal accident occurred to Elmer Wade, about three weeks ago. The lad had a brass headed furniture tack in his mouth, and in the attempt to cough the tack was forced through the bronchial tube of the windpipe to the left lung. Dr. DuBois, of Unadilla, is treating the case. He has some hopes of recovery.

YOU ALWAYS PAY

For what you get, but do you always

GET WHAT YOU PAY FOR?

You Don't get what you pay for if you get inferior goods at regular prices.

You Don't get what you pay for if you pay for a quality you don't receive.

You Don't get what you pay for if you pay an extravagant price.

You Don't get what you pay for if you help to swell an exorbitant profit.

Whose fault is it if you don't get what you pay for?

It's Your Own Fault

Because you can always get your money's worth to the last cent by trading with Glazier, the Druggist.

Because Glazier guarantees the best for the money.

Because Glazier guarantees the most for the money.

Because Glazier guarantees the very lowest prices.
