Here and There.

Chelsea's students are spending the holidays at home.Edward Tichenor, of Lansing, is spending the holidays at home.Samuel Guerin and wife, of Ann Arbor, spent Christmas in town.The wind last Sunday morning did considerable damage in this vicinity.Nathan Pierce left Tuesday for California, to visit relatives and friends.Rev. J. Edward Kelly, of Dundee, Ill. spent Christmas in town with friends.Miss Emma Beck, of Jackson, spent a few days in town this week with friends.Jay Woods is authority for the statement that frogs were singing Christmas eve.Mr. Timothy Fallon, of Detroit, spent Christmas in town with relatives and friends.It is stated by our old residents that this will be the most open winter ever seen in Michigan.Miss Luella Townsend left Saturday to spend the holidays with friends at Albion and Marshall.The four colored people who have been working for Daniel Wright, of Unadilla, have returned to their home in Virginia.The H. S. W. R. M. F. C. Club, of Chelsea, will give a social dance at the town hall new years eve, Dec. 31st, 1889.Mrs. Casady, of Jackson, daughter of David Thomas of this place, spent a few days here last week, visiting friends and relatives.The Howard Specialty Co. played at the town hall Wednesday evening, and consequently our merchants have nothing but fresh eggs left.Found on South St., a short time ago, a bunch of keys on a brass chain. Owner can have the same by calling at this office and paying for this notice.The entertainment and Christmas tree at the German Lutheran church Christmas eve, drew a large audience, and was enjoyed by all who attended.Dr. F. H. Bates, of Stockbridge, took an ounce of acconite through mistake, while on a recent trip to Gregory, and it came near being his last dose.Claude Luxmore, of Grass Lake, who is teaching school in the Millepau district, jumped from a freight train here last Sunday evening and was badly shaken up.We have been a long suffering community from soft, rainy, muddy weather, about five weeks, but at last there promises to be afforded something of seasonable weather.Mrs. Capt. Geo. B. Austin, of Damariscotta Mills, Maine, presented the editor's wife with a handsome silk plush tote case for a Christmas gift, for which she extends thanks.A temperance lecture will be given in the M. E. church in this village on Monday evening Dec. 30th, by Mr. C. R.
Walton, one of the state lecturers of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars.Rev. J. H. McIntosh will preach a Christmas sermon at the M. E. church next Sunday forenoon, and in the evening, selections from the program which was given Christmas eve will be repeated.
The church will remain decorated until after Sunday services.Last Sunday morning while John Youngs, of Lyndon, was coming to town in a road cart, the wind blew the fence down in front of the horse, which took fright and turned around in such a way as to throw Mr. Youngs out of the cart, cutting his head quite bad, although not serious.The Congregational church will again be opened next Sunday, Dec. 29th, for morning and evening service. The new Pastor, Rev. O. C. Bailey will, at that time commence his work here. It is expected he will remove his family at once and occupy the new parsonage on Middle street.H. Lighthall, Geo. Smith, Geo. Staffan and W. Guerin were chosen by the guessers to count the jar of beans in B.
Parker's store. They were counted Christmas eve, and the jar was found to contain 10,881. The first prize was taken by Ed. Moore, second by Mrs. Charles Kellogg, third by S. Hirth.A supper was given the M. E. Sunday School, in the Chapel of the church, on Christmas eve. Each teacher and scholars having tables of their own, the teachers acting as waiters. After the supper, exercises appropriate to the occasion were held in the main audience room, which was beautifully decorated with evergreens, flocked with glistening down, representing light shower of snow. The singing and recitations showed that a good deal of labor had been expended in the preparation.Anyone who has a good memory can look over the history of the HERALD and see if we have not, when the question of any great scandal has been up in the town or vicinity, avoided it in our columns, as much as possible. We know that there is much that is wrong in the world, even here in Chelsea. As to giving all or part of the talk prominence in our paper—true or false—and as to investigating the matter to learn the details for publication, we beg to be excused, as we are not running that kind of a paper.

Why Our Feet Played Out.

We intended to celebrate our grand holiday display in glorious verse, and to that end, advertised for a poet. A long-haired, muscular individual presented himself as a candidate. We told him we had the cheapest stock in town, and asked him if he could "strike the lyre" to that tune. "You bet," he said, as he proceeded to roll up his sleeves."I'll strike every liar as says you aint he cheap at." We concluded we had no use for such a "pote." Nobody denies Glazier's cheapness except competitors, and we don't want our esteemed competitors killed off.

THERE is said to be "luck in odd numbers" at any rate the figure 9 will continue to stand in dating all letters and business for the next 110 years.

THE year 1818 was very fruitful of Massachusetts Governors, six of the men who have held that office within forty years having been born in that year.

THE Catholic Universe says that in the City of Mexico the saloons are closed from six at night until six in the morning, and advocates the same plan for this country.

It has been scientifically estimated that the fuel supply beneath the surface of the earth is only 6,000,000,000 tons. The public may now look for another advance in the price of coal.

THE Bible is now translated into the languages of nine-tenths of the people of the world, whereas in the early part of the present century it could be read by only one-fifth of them.

PRINCESS CHRISTIAN, the second and most popular daughter of Queen Victoria, is said to be on the eve of entirely losing her sight. She has been suffering for some time past from a serious affection of the eyes.

BOSWELL BEARDSLEY, of North Lansing, Tompkins County, N. Y., has distributed mail to the people of that village for sixty-four years, having held the office of postmaster under nineteen successive Presidents.

THE fleet of new American war-ships has its "Little Buttercup" in a Mrs. Robinson, the wife of a disabled man-of-warman. She was the successful bumboat woman while the ships lay in New York and Brooklyn, and followed them afterward to Boston.

HENRY JORDAN has recovered $11,500 from a New York street-car company on whose road he lost three toes by the premature starting of a car. The road found Jordan a costly man to travel, as he is worth at this rate nearly $20,000 per foot—just for toes alone.

ANOTHER unfortunate electric light lineman fell a victim to the deadly current, recently in New York. His name was Peter Clausen. He died at the top of the pole, and several persons fainted at the terrible sight. The fact should now be considered established that electricity can kill.

RECENTLY 350,000 persons were under sentence in the German Empire for offenses against the law. Of these 61,889 were sentenced to the State prison, 132,692 to the public penitentiary, 134,707 to the person, 132,692 against property, 552 for arson, 473 for bribery, 258 for offenses against the anti-Socialist law, and 969 for adulterating food.

JOEL BARLOW, the author and patriot, who died in 1812 while on his way to meet Napoleon in France to get the latter's signature for a treaty of commerce with this country, is buried in Poland. The Historical Society of Connecticut, his native State, has decided to memorialize Congress to remove the remains to Putnam, Conn., and to give them a resting-place in the State park that is now being laid out.

LIVING within two and a half miles of Mattapoisett, Mass., where all were born, are nine brothers and sisters named Bolles, who range in age from sixty-nine to eighty-eight years. Altogether there were twelve children, but three died, one at the age of sixty-two, another at the age of sixty and the third when he was twenty-five. The mother lived to be a nonagenarian. The father died in his fifty-eighth year.

MR. JOHN C. BULLIT, the eminent lawyer of Philadelphia, has just finished the draft of the largest mortgage ever given in this country—the indenture of the Northern Pacific railroad for one hundred and sixty million dollars. To Mr. Bullit was also entrusted the drafting of the Reading one-hundred-million-dollar general mortgage, three preference mortgages aggregating sixty-five million dollars, and the forty-five-million-dollar Norfolk and Western blanket mortgage. In this particular line of work Mr. Bullit is said to stand at the head of his profession. He is consulting attorney for several railroad corporations.

FRANK GIBBONS, who died recently at Hibernia, N. Y., was the greatest guesser of the age. His faculty was first developed in a homely way, and did not attract a great deal of attention. It became a recognized characteristic when the boy would stand at the end of a row of potatoes and guess how many of the vegetables would be found in each hill. He could guess the number of eggs in a basket, the quantity of milk in a pail, the number of sticks of wood in a load, how many bushels of corn would be husked from a patch, and how many grains of corn there were on an ear.

REV. W. H. MILBURN, the blind chaplain of the National House of Representatives, is a native of Philadelphia and was born in 1822. He lost the sight of one eye when quite young, and the other soon became practically useless. He mastered the blind alphabet, and at the age of twenty was ordained a minister. After that he traveled over 300,000 miles, filling appointments to preach in all the Southern States. Within the last thirty years he has preached in nearly every State in the Union and in some European countries. He has been Chaplain of the House since 1883 and can, in all probability, hold the place indefinitely.

FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

MONDAY, Dec. 18.—In the Senate petitions were presented for the passage of the pension law as prepared by the O. A. R.; for the admission of Wyoming as a State; in favor of the Blair educational bill; for one-cent letter postage; for the passage of the Sunday rest bill, and for a free ballot and fair count in La Fourche parish, La. A resolution to adjourn for the holiday recess from December 19 to January 6 was adopted. In the House a bill was introduced to organize the Territory of Oklahoma. A deficiency bill was passed appropriating $150,000 for public printing and $250,000 for the Census Bureau. A resolution was adopted instructing the elections committee to take up the Clayton-Breckinridge contest in the Second Arkansas district.

TUESDAY, Dec. 17.—Bills were introduced in the Senate to provide for the division of Dakota into two States; appropriating $150,000 for the development and encouragement of silk culture in the United States. Committees reported favorably bills providing that all soldiers or sailors who are or may become totally helpless from injuries received on diseases contracted while in the service, shall receive $72 per month; to aid in the establishment and temporary support of common schools. In the House bills were offered to refund duties paid by the State of New York on arms imported in 1863, and to enforce the eight-hour law on Government premises.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 18.—In the Senate a resolution was introduced congratulating the people of Brazil on the establishment of a republic and formally recognizing the new Government. The nomination of David J. Brewer, of Kansas, for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, was confirmed. A bill was introduced to provide for a National Board of Education. In the House bills were introduced to suppress trusts; to pension letter carriers after a service of twenty-one years; to grant lands to honorably discharged soldiers and sailors of the late war; to establish United States Courts of Appeals; to provide for a uniform system of bankruptcy; to perpetuate the National banking system; for the organization and admission of the State of Columbia; to provide for the repeal of the tobacco tax; for the election of postmasters by the people, and a joint resolution to amend the constitution so as to permit the President to veto items in general appropriation bills. Adjourned to the 20th.

THURSDAY, Dec. 19.—In the Senate the House concurrent resolution for a holiday recess from Saturday next till Monday, January 6, was concurred in. Mr. Hale introduced a bill to regulate immigration. Resolutions were introduced to provide for celebrating in 1893 the four hundredth anniversary of the discovery of America by an exposition of arts, industries, manufactures and products, and to permit States to tax National bank notes and United States notes. The House was not in session.

FROM WASHINGTON.

THE Supreme Court decided on the 10th that the law taxing telegraph receipts was unconstitutional.

On the 16th Secretary Blaine sent a cablegram to Henry M. Stanley tendering the President's congratulations upon the success which had attended his tour of discovery through Africa.

THE Senate committee on the World's Fair decided on the 17th to begin on January 8 the hearing of claims of various cities who want the big show.

At the Post-Office Department nearly one hundred thousand bids had been received on the 17th for the twenty thousand contracts for carrying mail on star routes and steamboats in the Western States and Territories.

On the 19th James Tanner, ex-Pension Commissioner, was admitted to practice as a member of the bar of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia.

"3 Rush & Tender Spot."

During the past week several of my friends have called my attention to an article with the above heading in the last issue of the Herald and I deem it but justice that I should have space in the Herald to set myself right with the people. I did not think that an man should put his flag at half mast to mourn the death of Jefferson Davis, unless he felt so inclined. That would be purely a matter of opinion. But the idea of a Christian Gentleman rejoicing at the death of a fellow being by putting his flag at full mast, and then boasting of the same, is repulsive to me, and should be to any decent thinking man.

Respectfully yours,

An Explanation.

In last week's issue of the HERALD appeared an article, stating that Mr. F. P. Glazier had been practically frozen out of the Standard by the undersigned publisher of the Chelsea Standard, and proprietor of the Standard Grocery and Drug House.

While we do not write this with the intention of injuring or belittling Mr. Glazier, still the item demands an explanation from us. Mr. Glazier came to us some six weeks ago, and engaged additional space, we supposing that he wanted it for a display advertisement. We were astonished when we saw him hand us about 60 lines of locals, worth 5 cents per line, while the space cost him 60 cents per week.

At the expiration of the contract, we notified him that, should he want to continue, he must pay the same rate that Mr. Snyder, H. S. Holmes, W. J. Knapp and others do. This Mr. Glazier refused to do, and consequently his advertisement did not appear. We did not freeze him out, as under the postal laws we must take all unobjectionable advertisements at published rates.

For a full report, call on us at the store or office and get a Standard, as space will not allow us a more extended notice here.

Trusting the reader may not censure Mr. Glazier too much, we remain,

Yours sincerely,

WM. EMMERT.

Our advertisement will appear in the HERALD for one year to come at any rate.

G. N. Bruce, Druggist Ewart, Mich. I want to say to you that Hubbard's Rheumatic Syrup is, in my opinion, the greatest medicine ever put out. You are fully aware how lame and sore I was the time you advised me to try the remedy, my back and ankles were so sore and lame, and the pain so severe that I could scarcely move about. Three bottles of this remedy cured me when everything else that I tried failed. It is a valuable medicine.

The above statement is true and it affords me much pleasure to recommend this medicine.

Ask your druggist for it. Prepared only by Rheumatic Syrup Co., Jackson, Mich.

Royalty in the Composing Room.

It was my destiny once to engage the deceased Prince Leopold, Duke of Albany, in a long correspondence, while in London correspondent. In the fall of 1873 Prince Leopold, accompanied by his former tutor, Canon Duckworth, visited the O.E.s of one of the largest of the London morning newspapers, on the staff of which I was at that time employed to show the Prince over the building, a task which I occupied about three hours; for the Prince not only desired to see everything that was to be seen there, but to have it explained to him in detail. The poor old canon became quite wild of the inspection, and once or twice hinted at the propriety of quitting, until the Prince told him plainly that he was not disposed to hurry. When passing through the composing room, the Prince dumbly asked him for the loan of his composing stick. Of course the Prince's request was at once complied with, when his Royal Highness proceeded to still further astonish the types by setting two or three lines from a page of manuscript which lay on the case. It was evident that the Prince was perfectly acquainted with the arrangement of the case and could compose type with ease.

Court etiquette requiring that no one who has not been officially introduced shall put any question to any royal personage, I was precluded asking for the explanation I so ardently desired to have. Noticing, I suppose, my puzzled expression, the Prince proceeded to enlighten me. He had learned practical printing, he said, when a young boy, at his uncle's in Germany, and had spent five weeks at the task.

There is no historic custom in the royal family of England, as there is in that of Germany, requiring every prince to go through the farce of pretending to learn a trade, hence Prince Leopold's knowledge of printing must have been voluntary; as, indeed, that the late Duke of Albany was an accomplished linguist and musician was generally known, but I think it has been reserved for me to publish, for the first time, that to his other acquisitions must be added the art of the compositor.—London Letter.

Cuffed by a Cat.

"I guess that rat didn't like the way he was treated," said Mr. Hiram Thomas, a Charlestown provision dealer, referring to an orphan rat which his charitable disposition had adopted into his family, and which ungratefully deserted the foster mother who had so kindly taken it in "out of the wet."

A few weeks since the cat, a Maltese, which makes her home in Mr. Thomas' office, had two wee kittens. Evidently ashamed or dissatisfied at having so small a family, and feeling that she could very easily manage and care for a larger one, she began searching for some little wanderer who needed the kindly attention of a mother. Not finding one of her own species, and happening to discover a half-grown rat whose forlorn condition wrought upon her sympathy, she promptly gathered him in and installed him in her little family. On the following morning Mr. Thomas found the cat quietly snoozing in her accustomed place in the office, with her two kittens and their foster brother snugly ensconced by her side.

"For several days," said Mr. Thomas, "she watched her adopted child just as tenderly as she let her own offspring, nursing him with them and dividing her care generously between them."

The rat was evidently happy in his new found home for a time, and was apparently not disturbed at seeing his foster mother occasionally rush out and slay other rats. Finally the restraint of being "tied" to his mother's apron strings became irksome to his ratship, and he boldly essayed to play truant. On missing him the cat would once hunt him up, and for the first few infractions scold him with a single reproach and an admonition that little rat should stay at home and not be running at large, learning bad tricks from older rats, who wickedly steal edibles from the store and commit other depredations.

Again he ran away, and when caught, the cat, thinking it about time to assert her maternal authority, gave him a sound shaking up and cuffed his ears. This was more than rat nature could endure quietly, so as soon as opportunity offered the young rat made good his escape, making up his mind that it was a pretty smart cat that could give him points on getting a living. The cat is now without a family, as her two kittens were drowned after the departure of the rat.—Boston Globe.

An Aristocratic Dog.

The dog which so gloriously distinguished himself by giving warning of the fire at the Hoffman has again been heard from; but this time in a matter not so heroic as the first attempt. Evidently the praises won by his intelligent act mentioned in the Herald have been so much to his taste that he has decided to make a second attempt to save a life. He was a pretty smart cat that could give him points on getting a living. The cat is now without a family, as her two kittens were drowned after the departure of the rat.—Boston Globe.
