Herald, dated Jan. 11th, 1890, which contains the following:

Messrs. Bert and Webster Logan, of Manchester, were called at the Herald office this morning.

Leander Tienner received another large
S. Bernard dog from England last Sunday. It is a fine animal.

Peach buds in the fruit belt are so far advised that a frost would greatly danger the next season's crop.

Some forty or fifty alleged cases of "the grippe" have occurred in Ypsilanti, but none so far have been fatal.

John Bachman, of Grass Lake, was in town last Wednesday, and made the Herald office a pleasant call.

Lettuce was growing in an Adrian garden last week. It must be that they don't know that it is winter down that way.

La Grippe is the prevailing ail. About one-fourth of the people of Chelsea have had more or less of it. Principally less.

A new rule went into effect on the various railroads in Michigan Jan. 1, and hereafter parties of ten or more can obtain a rate of two cents per mile for any distance, long or short, in the state. The Michigan Central offer a two-cent rate for all parties of ten or over on any of their lines. Heretofore the railroads have given a two cent a mile rate on round trip tickets for all excursion parties of ten persons or more, but now only two cents per mile is charged for one way travel.—Democrat

Editors are human, and therefore make mistakes, but the more human they are the better editors they make. It is probably their mistakes are no more common or greivous than the lawyer or merchant, but the nature of editorial is such that its mistakes can no more be canceled than a bail on a man's nose. The mistakes of an editor stand out conspicuously before the public, and no man is so humble that he can not criticize them. Nobody not familiar with the inside of a newspaper office has any idea of the judicial functions an editor must at all times exercise.—Ex

We copy the following from the Ypsilanti Sentinel: "Verla" the eleven-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Breining of Augusta township, was the victim of a most cruel accident Monday evening.
The little girl was fond of horses, and had been indulged in a desire to lead one to water, as the farm hands were doing the chores. When returning, she fastened the halter strap about her waist, and the horse becoming frightened, was dragged by it around the field, the animal's hoofs doing as much to stamp out the little one's life as the cruel dragging at the halter's end.
When the shocked father, who had been compelled to see his darling crushed without power to aid her, succeeded in rescuing the bruised form, life was extinct.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE

FOR SALE BY
Geo. P. Glazier's Loan and Real Estate
Agency, Chelsea, Mich.

Farm No. 1—270 acres, located 2 miles south of Chelsea, 6 miles west front of Chelsea, 3 miles east of Grass Lake, adjoining the Washtenaw farm on the south, known as the Wicks farm. One of the best oil farms in Michigan. There is a comfortable frame house, a large frame barn 114 feet long, 2 small barns, 2 good wells of water, wind mill, corn house, henry and tool house, orchard and a fine vineyard of 7000 acres. 180 acres of land fit for the plow, besides ample woodland. In all it is one of the best grain and stock farms in Michigan to make money from.

Farm No. 15—103 68 100 acres, situated 3 miles from Chelsea, near school, on good road, and in an excellent neighborhood of Eastern people. There is a frame dwelling house of 20 rooms (large and small), a frame barn 28x36, also a stock barn 100 feet long, wagon house 20x20, brick smoke house and fruit dryer, 2 good wells of excellent water, medium sized orchard, 90 acres of plow land, remainder good timber land. No made land whatever. This is a superior located farm, under high state of cultivation. The owner desires to retire from active work and will sell for $85 per acre.

FOR THE MONTH OF

JANUARY

I will make some interesting prices on boots and shoes.

I have a good many shoes that must be sold before making my annual inventory.

In ladies fine shoes at $2.00, 2.50, 3.00 and 3.50. I will make a reduction from 50c to $1 per pair. That reduces the price from 1-4 to 1-3 off.

In men's shoes I will give you an endless line of $3.00 shoes at $2.25.
Just received a police shoe, good value, at $3.00, and it will go with the rest.

Felt boots and stockings at your own price. Do not appropriate one dollar for foot wear until you see my prices.

Respectfully,

B. PARKER,

Boot and Shoe Dealer.

BLAICH BROS.,

We have just received a fine line of Florida Oranges, Lemons, Candies, Mixed Nuts, Dates, Figs, Seedless Raisins, Citron, Lemon Peel, Orange Peel, all colors of Sugar Sand, Almond Meats, etc. We keep on hand a fine line of Extracts, also a fine line of Canned Goods.

Call and see us and we will try and treat you kindly, and make prices right to you. Respectfully,

BLAICH BROS.

Given Away on February 1st, 1890.

On that day I will give away a $55 White Sewing Machine with numerous attachments, on the following plan: Every person buying one dollar's worth of goods for cash, can guess on the number of kernels of corn in a sealed dish on the machine, and the person guessing the number of kernels, or the nearest to the same will be given the machine free of charge. My stock consists of Groceries, Groves, Miteus, etc., and everything is sold at bottom prices.

Nothing extra will be charged for guessing privileges. Look at the machine in the show window. Yours, etc.

A GREAT influx of immigrants is expected in February, and the railroads are already arranging for the division of the labor of carrying the newly-arrived hordes to their new homes in the West.

THIS is the age of discovery. In the back of an old looking-glass a deed is found which will make the owner the proprietor of a big slice of the State of New York. And now two hundred letters written by the mother of Goethe to her son have come to light in a library at Weimar.

To show the capacity of his stomach a visitor at the Niversink Fire House at Reading, Pa., a few days ago ate a mixture composed of a pound of figs, fifty raw oysters and a pound of sugar, and topped off the mess with a pound of lard. He said on a wager he would eat a box of wagon grease, but the spectators would let him go no further.

DURING the recent floods in Japan 2,419 persons were killed and 155 were wounded; 90,000 were deprived of the necessities of life; 50,000 houses were swept away or rendered uninhabitable; 150,000 acres of agricultural land, with their crops, were laid waste; 6,000 bridges were carried away, and hundreds of miles of roads were destroyed.

POOR old Dom Pedro's grief at the bed-side of the dead Empress shows that he found the loss of his Empire easier to bear than the loss of his wife. "I have experienced the most bitter trial," he is reported as saying, "that God could inflict upon me. Her faithful and affectionate companionship has sustained me for forty-six years. God's will be done." The bereaved ex-monarch will have the sympathy of the world in his affliction.

A NEW style of Enoch Arden has made his appearance in Connecticut. His name is John Linck, and when he returned Christmas Eve after a long absence to find his wife happily married, instead of wandering away again to die of a broken heart he played the part of Santa Claus, congratulated the woman and loaded the whole family with Christmas presents. This may not be quite as sentimental as Tennyson's story, but it is more in keeping with American character, and just as healthy in its moral tone.

IT is a little singular, with all our mutual benefits societies, that a mutual dowry society was never established. Imagine the effect upon the matrimonial market of a thousand young women devoting ten cents a week, a fixed percentage to be given to those who are married within the year. The anxious and aimless could not then become a drug in the market. Something of the kind is in vogue in Europe, where it is stipulated that a beneficiary must have been a member of the society for five years before reaping a dot.

FOR a long time "No Man's Land" has been a refuge for ruffians who have afforded security there from the popular idea that it was outside the jurisdiction of any of the adjoining States. The fallacy of this opinion was recently exposed by a Texan judge, who pointed out that "No Man's Land" was clearly within the jurisdiction of the Paris (Tex.) court. Since then there has been an exodus of distinguished desperadoes into Oklahoma, and their track to the latter place is marked by crime and outrage of every description.

AN American lady who recently visited Count Tolstol, the great Russian novelist, complains that he is not quite consistent in practicing what he preaches. He holds that there is something degrading in the mere handling of money and property, and accordingly delegates to the Countess the control of the household and the entire management of his pecuniary affairs. She observed, however, that he has a luxuriously-furnished study, and horses, carriages and servants at his command—although they are his wife's. On the whole the great man would appear to have been rather a disappointment.

THERE were altogether about three hundred distinct epidemics of influenza in Europe between 1810, when the disease was first noted at Malta, and 1850. In 1729 the whole of Europe suffered severely. According to statistics published the disease caused 998 deaths in London in one week, and in Vienna 60,000 persons were affected. In 1737 and 1743 there were further outbreaks, and the deaths in one week in London amounted to 1,000. In 1775 domestic animals were first attacked by it. In 1783, 40,000 persons fell ill of it in St. Petersburg in twenty-four hours. In St. Petersburg quinine is now served out daily.

A COLORED woman employed as a domestic in the family of a farmer in Cooper County, Kan., not until a few days ago discovered that she is not a slave. The farmer took her into the State from the South before the war. She was then a slave and nothing regarding the results of the war or of the emancipation proclamation was ever told her. On the death of the farmer a few weeks ago she removed to another place, where for the first time she learned that she enjoys the boon of freedom. It seems like an almost incredible story, but perhaps the farmer had never heard of the emancipation proclamation.

INTERESTING NEWS COMPILATION.

FIFTY-FIRST CONGRESS.

TUESDAY, JAN. 7.—Senator Morgan addressed the Senate in favor of the bill providing for the emigration of colored people from the South. A bill was introduced to provide for a world's exposition at the National Capital in 1892. In the House the rules were discussed at length, and a bill was introduced providing for a pension of $75 per month to disabled soldiers requiring the aid of an attendant, and another bill giving dependent soldiers a pension not to exceed $15 nor less than six dollars per month, according to disability.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 8.—In the Senate the time was occupied by Mr. Voorhees upon the resolutions offered by him in relation to the alleged interference by Mr. Chambers, the United States District Attorney at Indianapolis, to prevent the arrest of W. W. Dudley on a charge of violating the election law of Indiana, and by Mr. Edmunds in reply. In the House a bill was introduced providing that the terms of members of Congress shall begin January 1. Adjourned until the 10th.

THURSDAY, JAN. 9.—The Vice-President laid before the Senate a communication from Attorney-General Miller in which he states that no instructions, oral or written, have been given to District Attorney S. N. Chambers, of Indianapolis, on the subject of the arrest of W. W. Dudley. Several bills of minor importance were reported and numerous appointments were confirmed. The House was not in session.

FRIDAY, JAN. 10.—The Senate was not in session. In the House resolutions were passed eulogizing the career of the late Judge Kelley and an adjournment was taken as a mark of respect to his memory.

FROM WASHINGTON.

On the evening of the 7th the President and Mrs. Harrison gave their first state dinner to the Vice-President, members of the Cabinet, leading Senators and their ladies at the White House.

THERE were 460,516 unadjudicated and pending claims on file in the Pension Office on the 5th.

WILLIAM D. KELLEY (Rep.) died in Washington on the 9th, aged seventy-six years. He was serving his sixteenth consecutive term in Congress from the Fourth Pennsylvania district, being first elected in 1860, and ranked as the greatest advocate of protection in the Nation's councils.

In the United States there were 324 business failures during the seven days ended on the 10th, against 322 the previous seven days.

THE EAST.

Fire destroyed the city building at Lewiston, Me., on the 7th. Loss, $300,000. On the 7th the Glamorgan Iron Company of Philadelphia failed for $280,000. Last year 49,956 men were convicted in New York State of various crimes and 5,534 women.

The Legislature of New York convened at Albany on the 7th.

At Pawtucket, R. I., Mrs. Elizabeth Eaton Larned celebrated her one hundredth birthday on the 7th.

The death of Edward G. Lapham, who in 1881 was elected United States Senator to succeed Roscoe Conkling, occurred in Canandaigua, N. Y., on the 8th, aged seventy-six years.

In Brooklyn, N. Y., the wall of a church was blown down during a gale on the 9th, and it crushed a small house adjoining, killing David Purdy and his sister Mary, and badly injuring four other persons.

AFTER a lover's quarrel on the 9th William Torrens, of Philadelphia, fatally shot Belle Carter and then shot himself.

E. W. NICHOLS died on the 10th at Springfield, Mass. He was sheriff of the Union prisoners at Andersonville, and helped to hang the ten men convicted by the prisoners' court-martial of stealing their scanty supply of rations.

HOBBS, GLIDEN & Co., dealers in building materials at Boston, failed on the 10th for $150,000.

The coke operators of Connellsville, Pa., during 1890 marketed 3,925,000 tons of coke, valued at $8,150,000.

FIFTEEN horses shipped from Pennsylvania to Newark, N. J., were found suffocated on the 10th when they arrived at their destination.

THE remains of two men and that of a woman—victims of the great flood—were found at Johnston, Pa., on the 10th.

WEST AND SOUTH.

On the 8th the National Jackson Club was organized at Nashville, Tenn., with A. D. McClure, of Pennsylvania, as president.

At Elko, Nev., spirit thermometers registered 50 degrees below zero on the 8th.

On the 8th George L. Woods, who was Governor of Utah in 1871, died at Portland, Ore.

FLAMES destroyed the Western Union Telegraph Company's building at St. Louis on the 8th. Loss, $100,000.

FOR participating in the Sullivan-Kilrain fight William Muldon, W. E. Harding, Mike Cleary and Mike Donovan were arrested at New York on the 8th and held for extradition to Mississippi.

In Indiana the Patoka river had overflowed its banks on the 8th, and a track of country twenty miles long by three to four miles wide in the vicinity of Jasper was inundated.

FOURTEEN KILLED.

Terrible Accident at the New Bridge Between Louisville, Ky., and Jeffersonville, Ind.—A Drunken Foreman Responsible.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 10.—The most appalling accident known here in many years occurred Thursday evening about 6 o'clock, fourteen lives being lost. Following is a list of the killed: William E. Haynes, John Knox, James McAdams, Frank Mahan, Pat Naylor, Thomas Ash, Monroe Bowling, Charles Chiles, Thomas Morris, Thomas Smith, Frank Scauper and Robert Tyler. The disaster was caused by the giving away of caisson No. 1 on the new bridge now being constructed between Louisville and Jeffersonville. The caisson was located about 100 yards from the Kentucky shore.

As the workmen of the pumping station were looking for the men in the caisson to put off in their boats, leaving work for the night, they suddenly saw the low, dark structure disappear in dashing white waves, and heard, before they could realize what had happened, the roar of the furious maelstrom.

A runner was dispatched to the life-saving station, and three skiffs were manned and pulled to the scene of the wreck. Word was sent to the police station and a squad was ordered to the ground to aid in the work of recovery. The coroner was called and went with a corps of physicians.

The site of the bridge is at the upper end of the city, just below Tow Head Island. Within an hour from the disappearance of the caisson 3,000 people were on the shore and strained their eyes trying to see something of the wreckage. Dozens of boats were plying about over the spot where the caisson had stood, and lights danced to and fro with them, but there was no trace of the massive structure of stone and timber. It was soon known that only four of the eighteen men who were at work at that time had escaped.

The last man out of the caisson was Frank Haddix. He was barely saved by Murray, who dragged him from where he was caught, waist deep, in the quicksand. Taylor says he stood nearest the "iron ladder" by which they got in and out of the caisson. He heard a rumbling, and there was a rush of air almost at the same instant. He jumped up the rungs of the ladder, followed by the other men. They had hardly got clear of the caisson when the water burst through the man-hole in a surge, knocking them all into the river, where they were picked up. Haddix says he saw Ham Morris, who was climbing next below himself, swiftly drawn under by the sand, and heard his cries for help, but could do nothing.

The caisson was about forty feet by twenty and built of timbers twelve inches square. It was protected by a cofferdam, but the river is high and the pressure of the water great.

At 1 a. m. the outer chamber of the caisson was reached and three bodies were found. All of the men in the caisson proper are known to be dead.

The engineer's theory of the accident, which is partially supported by facts obtained from the workmen who escaped, is that the foreman, who, it is alleged, had been drinking, while attempting to reduce the air pressure turned the valve of the supply pipe too far and the pressure on the interior of the caisson became so low that the caisson settled in the mud of its own weight, at the same time admitting the water.

BRICE WINS.

Only Two Ballots Required in the Ohio Democratic Legislative Caucus to Nominate Him for the Senate.

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 10.—Calvin S. Brice took the Senatorial prize in the Democratic legislative caucus Thursday night on the second ballot.

The caucus was called to order at 7:40 p. m. by Senator Howell, chairman of the caucus committee, and Senator Perry, N. Adams, of Tiffin, was selected permanent chairman.

Nominating speeches were limited to five minutes each. A roll-call showed seventy-three of the seventy-seven members present.

The names of Calvin S. Brice, Charles W. Baker, John A. McMahon, John H. Thomas, James E. Neal, Samuel F. Hunt and George L. Seney were placed before the caucus as candidates for the United States Senate to succeed Senator Payne. The first ballot resulted: Brice, 39; Thomas, 11; McMahon, 11; Baker, 6; Hunt, 2; Neal, 2; Seney, 1; McGewney, 4; Geddes, 2; Outwater, 1.

After the second call of the roll had begun Senator Corcoran withdrew the name of Hunt and was about to make a speech, when he was closed out under the rules and voted for Brice. Changes were rapid after this and the second ballot resulted:

Brice, 39; Thomas, 11; McMahon, 11; Baker, 6; Hunt, 2; Neal, 2; Seney, 1; McGewney, 4; Geddes, 2; Outwater, 1.

Monot, on behalf of Mr. Thomas, moved that the nomination be made unanimous, which was agreed to with a whirl and much enthusiasm.

Colonel Brice was brought to the caucus by a committee and the caucus converted itself into a ratification meeting.

Mr. Brice, being introduced, spoke briefly, returning his thanks for the honor conferred upon him. He was loudly cheered on taking his seat.

The Republican caucus will in all probability nominate ex-Governor Foster.

FLOODS IN MISSOURI.

Recent Heavy Rains Cause the Streams to Overflow, and Farmers Lose Much—Bridges Washed Away.

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., Jan. 10.—Reports of damage done by the recent floods are coming in daily. Thousands of bushels of corn still in the shock have been swept away, and many fine farms in the Cane creek bottoms are covered with driftwood. Every bridge in this county over that stream has been swept away and this is the first day since the flood that the stream has been fordable. Much stock and thousands of rails are reported lost.

ILLINOIS FARMS FLOODED.

CAIRO, Ill., Jan. 10.—Many farms in Southern Illinois are almost submerged with water, the result of a long-continued rainfall. Thousands of bushels of corn in that part of the State remain unharvested, owing to the fact that farmers have been unable to drive into their fields to make the harvest. Much ill health has been caused by the damp weather and the stagnant water.

Senator Wilson Renominated.

ANAPOLIS, Md., Jan. 10.—In the Democratic caucus Senator Wilson was renominated by acclamation to succeed himself as United States Senator.

DEATH OF JUDGE KELLEY.

The Venerable Pennsylvania Statesman, Known as the "Father of the House," Dies at Washington—A Sketch of His Remarkable Career.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—William D. Kelley, the father of the House of Representatives, so called because he was the longest in continuous service of all the members, the champion of protection, passed peacefully to his last rest at 6:30 o'clock Thursday night. For the last forty-eight hours he had been delirious, with brief intervals of consciousness. For twelve or fifteen hours previous to his death he seemed to be entirely unconscious and did not recognize any member of his family or any of his attendants. When Dr. Stanton, his physician, called upon him about 1 o'clock and took his pulse the judge opened his eyes and a flash of recognition seemed to appear in his face, but he did not speak, and that was the only glimpse of intelligence that he showed. His death was perfectly peaceful, without a shudder. The family was sitting in an adjoining room. The doctor arrived for his evening visit about the time he breathed his last, but before he had fairly entered the room the soul of the old veteran had passed away. His death had been expected almost daily, as has been announced from time to time in these dispatches, for more than a week, and when he took his bed before the Christmas holidays he said himself that he should never leave it.

For the last six years he has been suffering from a cancer similar to that with which Grant was afflicted, and was caused, he often thought, by excessive smoking some years ago. A few friends in Philadelphia purchased him passage tickets to Europe and induced him to go over there to consult eminent medical authority. As a result an operation was performed, which gave temporary relief, but perhaps lengthened his life two or three years. The disease became more serious during the last summer and caused him much inconvenience and suffering, so that he spoke with difficulty and suffered a serious strain upon his nervous system, but the immediate cause of his death was a complication of catarrh of the stomach and dysentery.

The funeral will take place in the Hall of Representatives on Saturday, when the remains will be taken to the residence of his daughter, Mrs. Horsemann, in Philadelphia, and on Sunday a second service will probably be held at the Unitarian church at the corner of 2nd and Chestnut streets, to be conducted by Rev. Dr. Furness, who married him, and was his lifelong friend. Judge Kelley was a Unitarian in his religious convictions and a regular attendant upon All Souls' church in this city.

William D. Kelley was born in Philadelphia April 12, 1814. His grandfather, John Kelley, served as an officer in the revolutionary war. Having lost his father at an early age he learned the printer's trade and later served an apprenticeship to a jeweler in Boston.

In 1830 he returned to Philadelphia and began the study of law, and a year later was admitted to the bar. While serving his apprenticeship he acquired a reputation as a writer and speaker, and after beginning the practice of his profession, he devoted much time to literary pursuits.

He was elected Attorney-General of Pennsylvania in 1845, and adopting the principles of Free Trade and Adopting the principles of Protection to American Industry, "Letters on Industrial and Financial Questions" and the "New South."

Judge Kelley had been in public life so long for nearly half a century, with nothing but his salary to live upon, that he accumulated no property whatever, and his pecuniary circumstances to-day are about what they were in 1830. He was scrupulously economical in his personal expenditures and eccentricities, but no man can truthfully say that he would never accept a railroad pass or a telegraph blank, and although his correspondence was so great as to make his postage accounts a serious drain upon his salary, he was a sturdy opponent of the personal privilege and never voted for any appropriation that would affect his own personal interests to the extent of a penny.

Judge Kelley was a man of rare qualities. His attachment to his friends was so strong that he could forgive almost any thing in them, while his great heart knew no enemies and recognized in his opponents only men who were peevishly laboring under a mistake. His constancy and his devotion to the one great idea he so long and ably advocated was so great that he would never permit himself to wear a garment made of imported goods or use any article that was produced in a foreign country, and he took occasion to reprimand with his friends for preferring the products of foreign labor to those of domestic manufacture.

BOTH WERE KILLED.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—A scaffold on which John O'Reilly and Richard Conover, carpenters, were at work at the new school building at Scotch Plains, N. J., gave way Thursday and the two men fell sixty feet, receiving injuries from which they died.

HOG CHOLERA IN ILLINOIS.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Jan. 10.—Hog cholera is prevailing to an alarming extent in different parts of McLean County. John Thompson, living near Randolph, has lost thirty-two head, and W. P. Riggs, living near Farmer City, has lost thirty.

BIG FIRE AT INDIANAPOLIS.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 10.—At 3 o'clock a fire broke out in the West Indianapolis hotel building, and at 4 o'clock the immense building, covering a quarter of an acre, was a mass of ruins. The mill was one of the finest in the country. Loss, $70,000; insurance, $40,000.

A Mathematician Passes Away.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Prof. J. H. C. Coffin, U. S. N., a distinguished mathematician, died Wednesday night at his residence. The deceased was in his 70th year, and for some time past has been in feeble health.

WIND'S WILD WORK.

A Cyclone Sweeps Over St. Louis and Neighboring Towns—Four Persons Killed and Several Wounded in the Missouri Metropolis—Great Destruction of Property.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 13.—At 4:30 Sunday afternoon a cyclone struck the southwestern section of the city and swept through to the northern limits, making a pathway nearly a quarter of a mile wide and leaving death and desolation in its track. In addition to the dwellings and stores in the southern, central and northern sections of the city more or less damaged, the following buildings were destroyed: The Anchor mills, Goodwin and Sander's factory, Pullman mills, Goodwin's furniture factory, Kingsland & Ferguson's farm-implement works, Missouri Pacific Hospital, Hodges School, German Evangelical Church, Second Presbyterian Church, and others yet to be heard from. It was also reported that another section of the Academy of Music, which had been collapsed a few days since, had been leveled by the storm, but this is now denied.

The losses on property are roughly estimated at $100,000, but will likely prove more.

The list of killed reported up to 9:30 p. m. comprise the following persons: Mrs. Maggie Connors, aged 40; Bernard McConnell, aged 40; Joe Weaver, aged 9; Willie Marks, aged 8. The latter resided with his parents in the northern part of the city. He was in bed sick with a fever. The storm blew the roof off the Marks home and bricks came crashing into the room, resulting in the death of the boy from sheer fright.

It is just reported that a number of passenger cars were blown from the tracks in the upper part of the Mill Creek valley, the western outlet of the Union depot yards. The injured so far as known number five.

The cyclone seemed to have entered the city in its full force at Twenty-first street and Chouteau avenue, passing northeast until it reached Seventeenth and Olive streets, where it swerved, taking a direct easterly course to Fourteenth, and then again turned to the northeast, leaving the city and striking the river just north of Tyler street.

Mrs. Charles Miller, who resides with her husband at Twentieth and Eugene streets, was sitting in a rocking chair with her babe in her arms when the roof was lifted from her house. She rushed to the window, and just then the wall gave way and Mrs. Miller and her babe miraculously escaped without a scratch, but the mother is badly hurt and may not recover. Mr. Miller was in another part of the house and escaped unhurt.

An attempt to estimate the financial loss caused by the cyclone is almost useless at the present time, but it is said the total will come into a magnitude that will cause the day to be a memorable one.

A man named John Charles was hurled from a wagon, which was overturned and thrown across the street and against the front of a house. Charles received severe injuries about the head. Mrs. Cahmann, living at 2614 Caroline, had her arm injured by being struck by a heavy piece of flying debris. The house was badly damaged by the wind. A residence on Pap

ARE YOU INCORPORATED?

An Important Decision Reached Down by the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court has set the seal of condemnation upon another important case, with the result that many business corporations in the State will find it necessary to incorporate in the State of Michigan.

Act 187, of the laws of 1915, provided for the incorporation of manufacturing corporations. A recent decision of the Supreme Court declares that the act is unconstitutional and void, on the ground that it is in violation of the provisions of the constitution which provide that no law shall be enacted which shall be in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

The court also holds that the act is in violation of the provisions of the constitution which provide that no law shall be enacted which shall be in violation of the provisions of the constitution.

The Michigan Masonic Home.

At the annual meeting in Grand Rapids recently the following officers were elected: President, William Dunham; Vice-President, R. J. Swarthout; Treasurer, Jacob Barth; Secretary, William P. Innes; Directors, for three years, George W. Thompson, E. J. Horton, E. J. Wilson, all of Grand Rapids; William Steele, Ionia; E. D. Wheeler, Manistee; Bruce Goodfellow, Detroit. The association has expended about $25,000 on the home, which is now inclosed. About $15,000 more is needed to complete the institution. The membership is about thirty-five hundred.

Walked the Wire.

The other day at Jackson a dog chased a mouse, and the frightened little animal ran up a telegraph pole and then started out on a wire for the next pole, one hundred and sixty feet distant. The wire swung gayly in the breeze, but the trembling traveler hung on and reached the next station in about an hour. He descended the pole, and when he reached the base he was so tired that he allowed himself to be picked up by a spectator.

Important Gold Discoveries.

The diamond drill at the Grayling gold and silver mine out of a vein of gold-bearing quartz at a depth of 400 feet the other night. The discovery is of great importance, inasmuch as it proves the permanency and depth of the argentiferous deposits of the Grayling and adjoining gold mines on the Ishpeming gold range.

Frozen to Death.

Oscar Schott, of Madison, Wis., was frozen to death near Lake Gogebic a few days ago while walking from the railway station five miles across the country to the lake, where he had been connected with a hotel for several months. He was twenty-one years of age.

Victims of the Detroit School Fire.

Edna Fonda, the sixth victim of the fifteen school fire in Detroit on December 19, died the other night after suffering excruciating pain. Bessie Hamford was at the point of death, and all hopes of George Homer's recovery had been abandoned.

A FAT GRAVEYARD.

The Influenza Epidemic Likely to Demonstrate the Truth of the Old Saw Relative to a "Green Christmas." The Death Rate Daily Increasing in New York, Due Mostly to Complications Arising from Attacks of La Grippe—Other Cities Furnish Several Victims—Some Distinguished Patients.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The returns to the Bureau of Vital Statistics show that 250 deaths occurred in this city for the twenty-four hours ended at noon yesterday. The like of this has never been known in the history of the department since the time of the cholera. The record yesterday is fifteen in excess of that of Tuesday. During the four days of this week 839 people have died in the city of New York. The morgue is crowded to its utmost capacity. The reports from Bellevue Hospital to the central office showed that ninety bodies, the greatest number in the history of that institution, were there awaiting removal.

Of the deaths recorded Wednesday 147 were due to diseases of which the grip was the origin or direct forerunner. This is the score: Pneumonia, 60; consumption, 42; bronchitis, 26; influenza, 4; influenza, complicated with other diseases, 17.

The stock of antipyrine has entirely given out. The drug is made in Germany. Since the influenza epidemic began the demand for the drug has so largely increased that the supply has become exhausted.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—It is reported that there are at least 20,000 cases of influenza here. Secretary Windom was obliged to leave work Wednesday afternoon, owing to the disease. Private Secretary Halford, Miss Sanger, the stenographer, and two other White House clerks are down with it. The President himself has some symptoms of it, although his physician says his trouble is only a bad cold.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—John McArthur, Jr., a distinguished architect and designer of public buildings here, died Wednesday from a complication of diseases, superinduced by influenza. He was an architect in the employ of the War Department during the war, and afterward of the Navy Department, and had charge of the construction of hospitals at the Philippines, Maro Island, California and Annapolis navy yards.

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 9.—La grippe has caused two deaths here. Many persons are ill, and a number of business houses report two-thirds of their force laid up and business is suffering.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 9.—Sir John Macdonald is confined to his house with a severe attack of influenza.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 9.—Isaac B. Willis, senior member of the millinery firm of Willis & Dunham, of this city, died Wednesday morning at the Hotel Ryan, in St. Paul. The death was caused by pneumonia as the result of influenza.

There are thousands of cases of la grippe in the Twin Cities. There have been some deaths where the patient had the influenza, but the fatal termination has in every case been ascribed to other causes. The doctors believe that the best treatment consists in careful dieting and perfect quiet.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 9.—The influenza epidemic continues to spread despite the predictions of physicians that it had reached its limit. There were several deaths during the first week in January, more than double what they were during the corresponding week last year. Public offices and business houses are being run with greatly reduced forces.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 9.—The grip, or epidemic influenza, is assuming alarming proportions in this city. At least one-third of the population is either down with the disease or are showing signs of soon falling victims. The first death from influenza reported in Milwaukee is that of Joseph Phelan, a grocer. Mr. Phelan was taken with the disease about eight days ago and it soon developed into pneumonia, from which he died Wednesday morning. The railroad has a large proportion of their clerks down with the disease, and even the high officials are not exempt.

PANAMA, Jan. 9.—M. Pasteur died Wednesday if he people quit smoking tobacco and smoked camphor instead they would escape the influenza.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—At Dover and Aldershot the influenza is very severe among British troops. There are 500,000 cases at Vienna.

LONDON, Jan. 9.—The influenza epidemic in this city is decreasing, but is extending into the provinces.

Prince George, the second son, and Princess Victoria, the second daughter of the Prince and Princess of Wales, have been attacked with the disease.

NOTES OF THE EPIDEMIC.

Princeton, N. J., is free of the grip. Kalamazoo, Mich., has 100 cases of la grippe. Yankton, S. D., boasts a hundred cases of la grippe.

There were two deaths from la grippe at Boston Wednesday morning.

Deaths from influenza are reported from La Crosse and Port Arthur, Wis.

Westland, Marston, the poet and dramatist, has died of influenza at London.

Five hundred thousand Viennese, or 42 per cent of the city, had la grippe.

A dozen cases of influenza are being treated by the physicians of Shelbyville, Ill.

St. Louis, S. D., has 300 cases of la grippe. There are about 800 cases in the State.

Influenza has reached Gatesburg, Ill., where a number of railroad men are down with the disease.

There are several hundred cases of influenza in Duluth, Minn. There was one death Wednesday from pneumonia, the result of influenza.

La grippe has a hold on the Waverly (Pa.) school force. The teachers are suffering with the malady. The doctors say there are about twenty genuine cases in town.

The Western Union Losses by Fire.

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 9.—The Western Union Telegraph Company's building at the corner of Olive and Third streets, was burned yesterday morning. There was no loss of life, but many of the operators had narrow escapes. The loss is estimated at $100,000.

Death of Ex-Governor Woods, of Oregon.

PORTLAND, Ore., Jan. 9.—Ex-Governor L. G. Woods died Wednesday, aged 58. The deceased moved to Oregon in 1844 and was elected Governor in 1866. In 1871 he was appointed Governor of Utah. Since 1875 he has been practicing law.

Heavy Failure in Chicago.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The big dry-goods house of F. R. Lawlor, at 123 and 124 Wabash avenue, was closed yesterday by the sheriff under process of judgment aggregating $43,760.70. It is believed in commercial circles that the failure will show liabilities of over $100,000, with assets of about half that amount.

Five Men Buried in a Colorado Mine.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 9.—Word was received here that a cave-in occurred in the Victor coal mine near Trinidad Wednesday, burying five men. It is believed that all of the men are killed.

A PALACE IN MOURNING.

Death at Berlin of Augusta, Widow of the Late Wilhelm the First, and Dowager Empress of Germany—Influenza the Cause of Her Death.

BERLIN, Jan. 8.—The Dowager Empress Augusta of Germany died at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon from the effects of an attack of influenza, from which she had been suffering for several days. The patient, who improved somewhat Monday, had a relapse yesterday morning and her physicians at once decided that her condition was critical. Her respiration was difficult and members of the imperial family were hastily sent for. At 3 o'clock Emperor William and the Empress, with their two eldest sons, Crown Prince William and Prince Frederick, and the Grand Duke and Grand Duchess of Baden, son-in-law and daughter respectively of the Dowager Empress, were grouped at her bedside. Count Von Moltke left the palace at noon, much affected at the alarming condition of the Dowager Empress. A large crowd assembled in Unter den Linden before the palace, and much sympathy was shown for the sufferer. The family remained at the bedside until the end. The death of the Dowager Empress was immediately announced to the people.

As the end came the mourners knelt around the bed and the court chaplain offered a prayer and then blessed the remains. The Empress's body is laid upon an open couch and is shrouded with a white mantle. On her right hand is laid a spray of lily of the valley. Her head rests upon white pillows and her face is wrapped around with a covering of white lace. The absolute peace and repose of her beautiful classical face is like that of a perfect statue. The Reichsanzeiger says the Emperor and the whole imperial family are in the deepest affliction at the sad event. It gives a short biography of the late Empress and concludes as follows:

"The year 1888 was one filled with heavy troubles for her Majesty. The death of her beloved husband, to whom she clung faithfully all the vicissitudes of life, and the death of her son, all contributed to sadden the last two years of her life. These years she spent principally at Berlin, at the Castle of Babelsberg, at Coblenz, and in Baden, conquering her sorrow by the greatest of her mind, and remaining to the last breath of her richly blessed life, ever active in doing good and relieving distress. The royal house and the country will forever cherish her memory."

(Maria Louisa Catherine Augusta, once Empress of Germany and Queen of Prussia, was born in Weimar, September 30, 1811, and was the daughter of the Grand Duke Charles Frederick of Saxe-Weimar. Her mother was the daughter of Paul I, Emperor of Russia. In 1829 she was brought up at the court of her grandfather, Charles Augustus, the friend of Goethe, and it was her proudest boast that she was a pupil of the great poet. Goethe speaks in one of his volumes of the "many-sided and harmonious culture of the Princess Augusta." Her eldest sister and her married brothers, the former Prince Charles, of Prussia, and the Prince William, afterward King and Emperor. Her marriage occurred on June 11, 1829. Two children were born to them. She was dying her whole life, the patroness of letters, science and art, and in late years, of many forms of benevolence. She took a great interest during the Franco-Prussian war in the wounded soldiers, and labored incessantly for their relief. In 1872 she founded at Charlottenburg a seminary for the education of the daughters of officers who fell in the war, and designed buildings for the poor in Berlin, after the plan of those of Mr. Peabody in London.

Opposed to Bismarck, who is credited with having bestowed upon her the name of the "Muse of Weimar," she has been suspected of favoring the ultramontane. This opposition of the Chancellor placed her at the head of the "court party."

HILL'S ANNUAL MESSAGE.

New York's Governor Recommends Many Reforms—Does Not Favor Prohibition.

ALBANY, N. Y., Jan. 8.—The annual message of Governor Hill was transmitted to the Legislature yesterday. After referring to the necessity of a provision for the enumeration of the inhabitants of the State he urges the attention of the Legislature to the desirability of some change in the laws relating to elections, and devotes to this subject the major part of the entire message. The present laws, he says, do not reach the two great evils, intimidation and corruption, which attend our elections.

The Governor discusses at great length the Australian system, describing its various provisions and features, and recommends the adoption of the secret-ballot system, the general registration of electors throughout the whole State to accompany the secret-ballot system, and provisions for both official and unofficial ballots.

In connection with the latter the Governor points out the constitutional objections to an exclusively official ballot, as provided for in the "Saxton" bill. On the subject of prohibition the Governor says he does not believe the people of the State favor the adoption of the prohibition amendment and that this ought not to be passed by the Legislature responsible for its defeat.

The Governor suggests some new methods of taxation, and urges the necessity of encouraging by every proper means of holding of the World's Fair in New York City. On the subject of finances he says the State is now substantially out of debt.

FLAMES IN A CITY HALL.

The Municipal Building at Lewiston, Me., burned with all its contents.

LEWISTON, Me., Jan. 8.—The city building burned Tuesday night. Loss, $300,000. The building had no insurance on it. The city records, the military companies lose all their equipment, and the 11,000 volumes of the library were destroyed. They were insured for $50,000. The mails and Government property saved. The fire also destroyed Tracy's block adjoining.

Three Lives Lost.

BERLIN, Jan. 8.—The poor-house at Kulin, West Prussia, was destroyed by fire Monday. The institution contained a large number of inmates of both sexes, but the authorities by admirable management succeeded in getting all of them out except three, who were perished by smoke and burned to death.

Generous Legislators.

BISMARCK, N. D., Jan. 8.—The Legislature convened Tuesday, and after a series of discussions, the members of both branches voted to give their per diem during the recess to the starving settlers.

ODD AND INTERESTING.

The "West End Big Bug" is the title of a ladies' social club in Allentown, Pa.

A young woman in Atlanta, Ga., recently disguised herself as a man and became engaged to six girls in less than four weeks.

A Michigan man has distributed one hundred tickets to so many women and now will draw a number and will marry the woman holding it.

A West Virginia girl has saved money enough to buy herself a gold watch by trapping muskrats, skunks and other animals and selling their hides.

With a record of having buried thirteen hundred persons, George L. Moore, an aged undertaker of Guthrieville, Chester County, Pa., has at last been laid under the sod himself.

The description of a missing man was sent to the Columbus (O.) police headquarters contained the statement that he was sixty-five years old and small for his age.

The trial of a colored deacon who was arrested at Wichita, Kan., for stealing coal was advanced on the justice's docket at his request in order that he might fill an engagement to preach on the day originally set for hearing.

One of the good customs established in the little hamlet of Georgetown, Me., is an annual reunion of all the aged people in town. Those of sixty years or more go to the parsonage and spend the day talking over old times, singing old hymns and eating an old-fashioned dinner. The house is always filled with veterans who enjoy their celebration exceedingly.

Dr. Lewis MEISNERHOFF, of Buffalo, a successful physician, died in that city recently, and in his will left $500 for a funeral for his friends, which took place two days after his death. Champagne and oysters were the leading features of the entertainment, and over 200 people took part in the banquet. A free concert was also provided in the programme.

ONE of the principal merchants of Juneau, Alaska, was in Portland, Ore., the other day. Among other goods he ordered a score or so of coffins, assorted sizes and of the most expensive description. He says the Indians in that section can have nothing too rich and elegant in the coffin line. The finest plush for covering and silver handles and studs thickly bespangled over the coffin are what they want and will have if they put up their last dollar.

CATARHIS.

Catarhal Discharge—Hay Fever—A New Home Treatment.

Sufferers are not generally aware that these diseases are contagious, or that they are due to the presence of living parasites in the lining membrane of the nose and the mucous tubes. Microscopic research, however, has proved this to be a fact, and the result of this discovery is that a simple remedy has been formulated whereby Catarrh, Hay Fever and Catarhal Discharge are permanently cured in from one to three simple applications made at home by the patient once in two weeks.

N. B.—This treatment is not a snuff or an ointment; both have been discarded by reputable physicians as injurious. A pamphlet explaining this new treatment is sent on receipt of three cents in stamps to pay postage by A. H. Dixon & Son, cor. of John and King Street, Toronto, Canada.—Chicago Advertiser.

Consumption Surely Cured.

TO THE EDITOR:—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its simple use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy gratis to any of your readers who have consumption if they will send me their express and post-office address. Respectfully, T. A. Slocum, M. Obituary—Mrs. S. A. Bolles.

We copy the following from the Adrian Daily Times and Expressor.

Mrs. S. A. Bolles, who died suddenly at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. H. N. King, on Saturday morning, had been in feeble health for nearly five years. She was born in the state of New York, Feb. 27, 1815, and was nearly 75 years of age.

Her former home was Chelsea, Mich., where she had resided for about fifty years. She was among the earliest settlers of that vicinity, and in 1838 was united in marriage to Frederick A. Bolles, who had purchased land from the government and located one and a half miles north of the village of Chelsea, where they both resided until the death of her husband, in the year 1868.

She is survived by four of her six children, viz: J. E. Bolles, of Detroit; Mrs. C. H. Barnes, of Toledo; Mrs. C. A. Grieb, of Webberville; and Mrs. H. N. King, of Adrian, all of whom are in the city to attend the funeral services, which will be held Tuesday morning at 9.30, at the residence of Capt. H. N. King, 47 Front street.

The remains will be taken to Chelsea, Mich., where her husband and two children are now at rest.

She has been a faithful and consistent member of the M. E. church for about sixty years, and was abundantly prepared and waiting for the call. She died a member of the Broad street M. E. church of this city.

Capt. H. N. King, her son-in-law, returned from Omaha last night to attend the funeral services.

Richard's Strengthening and Rheumatism Plasters.

Are a revelation to the world, and are the only genuine rheumatic plasters. Nineteen of all troubles which require the aid of plasters are rheumatic in nature. A change of weather or sudden cold causes cold, which develops into rheumatism and that leads to indigestion, inflammation. And yet there has never been a thing as a directly rheumatic and strengthening plaster, and hundreds have died suddenly where rheumatism has attacked the heart, which veins might have been saved had this plaster been applied in season. They are constructed on a purely scientific principle and are purely vegetable. Hummel & Penn, Druggists, Chelsea, Mich.

Hope And Memory.

Why should it be that the misty past, Or the future yet unseen, Is dearer far to the heart, than the present which lies between?

Then the present which lies between? With every pulse of the heart's red flow Is woven a dream and a sigh, For the happy days of the long ago, And the glad sweet by and by.

There is a wisdom in nature's way Which the doubting heart ne'er knows; We live the best of our lives each day, From dawn to their sunset close; For oases we tasted at youthful springs, And the joys which are to be, Are brought each day on the gracious wings Of Hope and Memory.—Ex.

Vick's Floral Guide.

We have received from James Vick, Rochester, N. Y., his Floral Guide, which in beauty of appearance and convenience of arrangements surpasses anything in this line which we have ever had the privilege of seeing before. It is a pamphlet eight by ten inches in size, and with the covers, which are by no means the least important part of it, contains an even one hundred pages, although called a "floral guide," it is devoted to vegetables as well, and includes as full a list and description of both flowers, vegetables and also small fruits as could be brought within the compass of a book of this size.
