CHICAGO, Jan. 15 .- Yesterday afternoon Judge McConnell over-ruled the motion of Daniel Coughlin, Patrick O'Sullivan and Martin Burke, convicted of the murder of Dr. Cronin, for a new trial, and sentenced them to lifelong penal servitude. The motion of John P. Kunze for a new trial was granted. The three murderers were taken to Joliet at 9 o'clock.

Judge Wing and Attorney Donahoe made arguments for a new trial before Judge McConnell yesterday. The State's Attorney did not re-ply to them. Judge McConnell in a brief speech reviewed the reasons advanced by counsel for the defense in support of the motion for a new trial. His honor said he could see no cause in the grounds set forth by the counsel why he should interfere with the finding of the jury. He thought the trial had been fair, and, upon reviewing his rulings, he could discover no material error. He then formally overruled the motion for a new trial, State's Attorney Longenecker asked that sentence be immediately pronounced on the four convicts. Counsel for the defense entered the customary motion in arrest of judgment, which Judge McConnell overruled.

And then, for the first time during the trial, the voices of the prisoners were heard in their own behalf. "Does the defendant Daniel Coughlin desire to say any thing or give any reason why sentence should not be pronounced on him?" asked the court.

A silence that was deathlike in its intensity followed this question of the court, and every eye was fixed on the prisoner Coughlin as he rose to his feet and grasping the back of his lawyer's chair said:

"Your Honor, I am innocent. I have been convicted by perjury.

Before the full meaning of the brief speech had been grasped the judge had addressed the prisoner O'Sullivan, and had asked if he wished to say any thing. Advancing to a vacant place between Messrs, Forrest and Wing, the convict O'Sullivan steadied himself by leaning on the table, and began to address the court. He said:

"If your honor please I have not got much to say, but what I have to say is this. I have to protest my innocence before God and man, and I think the day is not far distant when I shall be acquitted of this crime. I was con-victed by prejudice, by perjury, by newspaper report and by popular clamor I want it understood that I am not pleading for mercy, neither do I plead for sympathy. I am pleading for justice, and justice I have not had. If I am a guilty man, the State has not had justice, and if I am innocent, I have not had justice. That is all I have to Before the audience had time to com-

HE ONCE WORE A CROWN.

King Humbert's telegram to Premier Crispi announcing the death of his "dearly loved brother," the Duke of Aosta, says that the Duke devoted his last words to the country and army, saying he had loved them with the strongest love. and regretted dying so early only because it would prevent his serving them. By the Duke's own wish the body will not be embalmed, there will be no lying in state, and the remains will be placed in the family tomb at Superga. If there had been a state funeral the German Emperor would have been present. The funeral will take place on Wednesday, and at the desire of the deceased will be a simple ceremony. The army will mourn forty-five days. The municipal authorities will- place a bust of the deceased in the capitol. [Amadeo Ferdinando Maria, Duke of Aosta, was the second son of Victor Emmanuel, the first King of Italy, and was born May 30, 1845. Entering the army he became Captain of a brigade of infantry at Aosto, then Lieutenant-General and chief of a brigade of cavalry. Marshal Prim, after, the revolution of 1868, offered him the Spanish crown, and October 19, 1870, he formally an nounced his candidature. The 16th of the following month the Cortes elected King of Spain by 191 votes against 120. He ormally accepted the crown December 4, 1870.

The young King landed at Cartagena Decem-ber 30, the very day Marshal Prim expired from the wounds received at the hands of an assassin a few hours previously. His reign was a brief and troublous one. He was un-popular with the Spanish people, and his posi-tion, which had never been secure, became extremely dangerous in the summer of 1872, when a Carlist rising took place in the northern provinces. The 19th of July in that year an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate the King and Queen was made. At length Amadeo prudently resolved to abdicate. February 11, 1873, he addressed to the cortes a message, in which he stated that in consequence of the necessant struggles of contending parties his efforts to give peace and prosperity to the country must prove futile, and therefore he had determined to depose the crown. The very next day the Duke and his consort Madrid. He arrived in Florence left the 16th. Immediately on his return he resumed the status of an Italian citizen. March 14, 1873, his Royal Highness was again

THE contest for an eight-hour day seems to have engaged all the workingmen of the world. Not only in this country but on the continent and in Church at Brooklyn. Great Britain the fight for shorter hours is one of the most prominent subjects of discussion. In London it is the question of the day. In Scotland and Northumberland the miners have succeeded in securing the day of eight hours.

THE electric lightenas found a curious use in Russia, viz., for illumining saintly images in cathedrals. Thus a magnificent figure of the Madonna, just placed in the Alexander Newsky Monastery, loaded with precious metals and gems of immense value, stands glitter ingly in the focus of an electric beam, which is also the case with the "Kasan" Madonna in St. Petersburg. From near and afar thousands make pilgrimages to these shrines. It has been decided to so illuminate the ancient monastery of St. Ursula at Olmutz, the first instance on record of its use exclusively in a monastery.

The actual amount of malt liquors consumed in 1888 was 767,587056 gallons. This includes not quite 3,000,000 gallons of imported beer and ale. The manufacturers' price to the retailer is rather above than below 20 cents per gallon. At 20 cents the cost to the dealers would be $158,517,411. The retailers get an average of 60 cents per gallon, which makes the cost to the consumers $460,-599,233, which the American people spend annually for malt liquor, principally beer. The cost of wine to the conmer is $72,670,136, and distilled spirits of organizing an Afro-American league $379,226,860. This gives a total of $912,- for the advancement and protection of 449,129 spent annually for liquor.

jury. Patrick O'Sullivan, Daniel Coughlin and Martin Burke were sent to imprisonment during the term of their natural lives. Kunze was granted a new trial.

Mr. Forrest took an exception to the court's action in decidings the motion for a new trial without giving the time asked for in which to prepare his arguments. The prisoners' attorneys gave notice that an appeal to the Supreme Court would be taken, and the court allowed them time in which to file their bill of exceptions.

The prisoners were taken back to jail, but a minute later Kunze was brought back at the request of his counsel, Mr. Donohoe, who wanted to make a motion to admit him to bail. Judge Longenecker opposed it, and then wanted the bail put at $30,000, but Judge McConnell fixed it at $5,000. He would have discharged him, he said, if there were no new evidence against him, but the State's Attorney had informed him there was some. Judge Longenecker intimated that if they let Kunze stay in jail a few days he might conclude not to bring him to trial at all, but let him go. He promised to let the court and counsel know this week and accordingly no effort will be made to get Kunze out on bail in the meantime.

$2,500 REWARD FOR A LOST CAT.

REWARD

hur mentap

TALAN STATES

The equivalent in English money of $2,500 was once offered by an old lady in London for the return of a favorite cat which had strayed or been stolen. People called her a "crank," and perhaps she was. It is unfortunate that one of the gentler sex should ever gain this title, yet many do. It is, however, frequently not their fault. Often functional derangements will apparently change a woman's entire nature. Don't blame such sufferers if they are "cranky," but tell them to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which is an infallible remedy for "female weaknesses."

"Favorite Prescription" has cured thousands of poor bed-ridden suffering women of "female weakness," painful irregularities, ulcerations, organic displacements and kindred ailments too numerous to mention. It is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee that it will, in every case, give satisfaction or the price ($1.00) will be refunded. A Book of 160 pages, on diseases which "Favorite Prescription" cures, sent sealed, in plain envelope, on receipt of ten cents in stamps.
