Shocking Accident.

A shocking accident occurred at North Lake last Monday morning, resulting in the death of Mr. Robert D. Glenn. R. D. Glenn, Bennie Glenn, and Mattie, their sister, owned a farm jointly and resided on the same. Elmer and Durt Sweeney were employed cutting wood on the farm, and Saturday mentioned having seen a number of rabbits and as they also mentioned owning a double barreled shot gun the Glenns requested them to bring it Monday morning, as a number of red squirrels had taken quarters in the barn and R. D. Glenn by imitative whistling was able to call them from their hiding places thought he might shoot them. The gun was brought as requested, and all ate breakfast together, and as Robert finished a first, he picked up the gun and said he would go and shoot squirrels until the rest were ready to go to work. He had barely left the house before a report of the gun was heard and he was also heard to "hello" a number of times, much as he was accustomed to do, and the family supposed it to be in exultation over having killed a squirrel; but on going out immediately after, and not seeing him, they called to him, and hearing a low moan, found him lying only about two rods from the corner of the wood-house, and about six feet from a fence only three rails high, with the gun near his side, the stock broken, from the barrels and one barrel discharged, the contents having entered near the center of the abdomen. When his name was called by his brother, he only opened his eyes, and expired without a struggle or any appearance of pain, in about twenty minutes after receiving the fatal shot. Many theories as to how the accident occurred have been advanced, but perhaps the most acceptable one is that he tripped on a grape vine which laid on the ground near by. Mr. Glenn was in his twenty-third year, of excellent character, and possessed more than ordinary intellect; was respected by all who knew him, and his untimely death casts a deep gloom over the entire community. The funeral was held Wednesday and was attended by a large number of relatives and friends.

The Danger Signal.

The entertainment given in the town hall on St. Patrick's day, under the auspices of the Columbia Dramatic Club, of St. Mary's church, was a grand success. A delicious supper was served from 5 to 8 p. m. by the ladies of the parish. Eight o'clock found the hall crowded with people, eager to witness the rendition of "The Danger Signal." The program as presented, was faithfully carried out, and greatly enjoyed by the large audience. The parts were taken with unusual ability, and for an amateur performance, it was the opinion of all, that it was the finest ever given in Chelsea. We congratulate the performers, and we feel sure that everyone in Chelsea felt proud that we had ladies and gentlemen, who proved themselves so capable. Without exception everyone did creditably, and it would, therefore, be invidious for us to make special mention of the performers. The music was beautiful and charmingly rendered.

THE STRIP INVADED.

Thousands of Boomers, Under a Wrong Belief That the Cherokee Outlet Has Been Opened, Make a Dash for Claims in the Covered Section—They Declare Their Purpose to Remain on the Lands in Spite of the Military.

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., March 15.—All is confusion here. The report of the passage by Congress of the Oklahoma Territorial bill had scarcely been noised abroad here the boomers began leaving for the Cherokee strip. The invasion commenced at midnight. All day the long lines of canvas-covered prairie schooners, with their many crews, drew their lengths into the coveted land.

It is estimated that from different points of entrances fully 30,000 people have passed the border and half that number staked their claims.

For a month, in fact ever since President Harrison issued the proclamation ordering the Cherokee Strip Live-Stock Association to vacate the "outlet," boomers have been gathering on the frontier, anxious to be among the first on the ground, that they might select the choicest land for their prospective home and claim when permitted by the Government.

The boomers were all sorts of people, and they came in all sorts of ways.

At all the principal points of assembly "boomer" associations of various kinds, with various motives, have been formed. A majority of these associations were formed for the purpose of taking united action upon the time of moving into the strip, it being the general belief among the leaders that President Harrison would not insist upon their removal when once they had established themselves upon their claims.

Thursday afternoon all was quiet in this city among the boomers. Six hours later a scene of excitement was witnessed that equaled in intensity that which accompanied the invasion of Oklahoma a year ago.

The news had been received from Washington that the Oklahoma bill had passed the House, declaring the outlet to be public domain and extending the laws of Nebraska over that Territory as well as Oklahoma.

The news spread quickly, and by 11 o'clock the boomers were running to and fro, making hurried preparations to move at once over the border.

The general merchandise stores were besieged by people anxious to lay in a stock of provisions and the tradesmen were obliged to take down their window shutters and supply the demands.

The prairie schooners were hastily made ready for the voyage, the wagons loaded and horses hitched in their traces.

The sun was just rising when the first crack of the teamster's blacksnake was heard announcing departures for the outlet, and soon a long line of wagons, their inmates shouting joyously and waving hats, coats and whatever came to their hand, was winding its way over the rolling prairie.

The invasion came with a rush. No one expected it, not even the settlers themselves. The tenants of the strip—the Cherokee Live Stock Association and the agents—were taken entirely unawares.

Chief Mays, of the Cherokee nation, had placed at the disposal of the former a contingent of Indian police to drive out occasional settlers, but this was entirely insignificant a force to oppose the invaders.

The Government, so far as is known, had taken no precautions to arrest a possible movement of the settlers, and it was not until early Friday morning that the military appeared upon the scene.

Captain Burbank, in command of a small force of United States regulars at Oklahoma City, marched his force into the strip late Thursday night to stay the progress of the boomers.

So far as known this force had no effect in retarding the movement, although nothing concerning the movements of the military has been heard since last night.

On entering the strip the cattle grazing there looked upon the unusual scene with alarm, turned and fled, a stampede which the cowboys were unable to either check or control.

The cattle fled five or six miles, when they were met by the boomers from Oklahoma. Between these two lines they were driven east and west.

Arriving on the strip, the settlers disembarked from their "schooners" and staked their claims.

THE OUTLET NOT YET OPENED. WASHINGTON, March 15.—In the House yesterday Mr. Perkins (Kan.) stated that an erroneous impression had gone out that the Cherokee outlet had been declared open to settlement under the Homestead law...

It is not believed here by the State officials that any attempt will be made to eject the settlers with troops.

MUST VACATE.

The President Issues a Proclamation Commanding the Boomers to Leave the Cherokee Strip—Orders Settlers Remained to Remain on the Lands in Spite of the Military.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The President Saturday afternoon issued the following notice:

"To Whom It May Concern: The lands known as the Cherokee Strip are not open to settlement. The bill pending in Congress, and intended to provide a civil government for the country known as Oklahoma, does not provide for opening the Cherokee strip, or 'outlet,' to settlement, and has not as yet received the vote of the two houses of Congress or the approval of the President.

The President has appointed ex-Senator Angus Cameron, of Wisconsin, a member of the commission to negotiate for the cession to the United States of the Cherokee and other Indian lands in the Indian Territory, vice General Lucius Fairchild, resigned.

This appointment fills the only vacancy in the commission. The members of the commission will arrive in Washington within a few days to receive instructions from the Secretary of the Interior, after which negotiations with the Cherokees will be immediately resumed.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—Adjutant-General Kelton has telegraphed General Merritt at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., to use troops if necessary, and with prudence as heretofore, to enforce the proclamation issued by the President relative to intruders upon the Cherokee strip lands.

This order is sent by direction of the Secretary of War.

GUTHRIE, Ind. T., March 17.—The President's proclamation ordering all settlers on the Cherokee strip to vacate is already having the desired effect. This, together with the orders received by General Merritt at Fort Leavenworth to use troops if necessary to eject the boomers, has already caused considerable of an exodus from the forbidden territory.

All day long the trains were loaded down with boomers leaving the strip. A large number of them went to Arkansas City, and about 100 came to this point.

Many poor people who flock to the Cherokee strip under the impression that it was open to settlement have not the means to return and remain there until the troops escort them out.

General Merritt has ordered six troops of cavalry to proceed to the Cherokee strip and out the boomers there. It is learned that General Merritt has given instructions for the troops to give the settlers ample time to vacate before resorting to forcible measures.

Under no circumstances will such measures be taken unless the boomers, after being given full opportunity to vacate, refuse to leave.

In any case the movement on the boomers will not be hasty. A day or two will probably elapse before the arrival of the troops at Guthrie before the march to the strip is taken up.

CALDWELL, Kan., March 17.—The news of the President's proclamation was received here late Saturday afternoon, but it did not stop the steady stream of southbound white-topped wagons, which had been steadily going through the city all day.

They were all prepared to stay, as one of them put it: "We are going on. If we come out we will be brought out."

ARKANSAS CITY, Kan., March 17.—The cattlemen here did not receive the news of the President's proclamation ordering the invading settlers off the strip with much interest.

To them it was like locking the door after the horse was stolen. The settlers seemed to think that the easiest way to gain possession of the strip was to drive the cattlemen off, and the easiest way to do that was to fire the prairies, and fire the prairies they did.

From Ponca, Willow Springs, Nycville and other settlements in the outlet come the news of burning prairies. It seems to have been generally agreed upon that the first thing for the settlers to do was to start a prairie fire, and much of the strip has been burned over.

These prairie fires served a double purpose. They drove most of the cattle before them and also destroyed the fodder which those remaining might have lived upon.

Therefore the cattlemen are naturally depressed over the gloomy prospects. Said Mr. Howins, of the Cherokee Strip Cattle Company:

"What the cattlemen can do in their present condition can not even be conjectured. Our fences have been cut, our cattle scattered to the four corners of the strip, and every blade of grass on the range destroyed by prairie fires. There are now, or rather there were before the invasion, about 80,000 head of cattle on the strip. I do not believe that the most energetic action on the part of the cattlemen and the Government can save them from irreparable loss.

The damage is already done. The cattle can not be marketed. They are not in a marketable condition. If left in the strip they will starve to death, or they will be scattered to eat there, and we can not ship prairie to eat there, it would be a losing investment. So there are 80,000 head of cattle good for nothing but hides, glue and bone dust."

Who is Dr. A. T. Shallenberger?

Who is Dr. A. T. Shallenberger? He is a prominent physician of Rochester, Penn., who graduated at Jefferson Medical College in 1840. In 1847 he announced the theory that all Malarial diseases were caused by living germs in the blood and demonstrated its correctness by his Antidote for Malaria, which cured when all else failed. The microscope now reveals these germs, and Dr. Shallenberger's theory is accepted. If you have Malaria in your system, get the medicine and be well.

STYLISH HAT

It is unquestionably quite an essential factor in the make-up of a fashionable-styled lady. But how much more essential to good looks, and especially to her enjoyment, is good health, without which she cannot look well, feel well or enjoy life properly. The trying ordeal which fashionable society imposes on its devotees are enough to severely test the physical strength and endurance of the most robust. Irregular and late hours, over-rich and indigestible food, late suppers, the fatigue of the ball-room, the bad air of the ill-ventilated, overcrowded theatre, are such, in themselves, sufficient to upset the system and ruin the health of the delicate and sensitive. Combined, they can hardly fail, if persisted in, to seriously impair the health of the hardiest. Ladies generally possess less powers of endurance than their male consorts, and so the sooner succumb to these deleterious influences. They become pale, haggard and debilitated, and constantly experience a sense of lassitude—that "tired feeling" as so many express it. The least exertion fatigues them. Various neuragic and other pains harass and distress the sufferer. Headache, backache, "bearing-down" sensations, and "female weaknesses" follow and sorely afflict the sufferer.

Diphtheria was reported at thirty-five places, scarlet fever at thirty-seven, typhoid fever at fourteen and measles at fifty-six places.

The Minister Who Shot Palmer at Neola, Ia., Found Not Guilty. COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., March 15.—The trial of D. M. Helmick for the killing of Ed Palmer at Neola last August has just closed, and the jury brought in a verdict of acquittal. The result was not unanticipated, for the sentiment of the public has been with the preacher. He was the Methodist clergyman at Neola and was prominent in his warfare on the saloons of the place. He had made himself obnoxious to that element and also to Palmer, it was alleged, by interfering in his family affairs, and his life had been threatened, and when, on a dark night, he rode up to his own door and was greeted by a volley of guns he drew his revolver and shot at random, and Palmer fell mortally wounded. He was indicted for manslaughter. A full and impartial showing of the facts in the case was made on the trial, and the verdict is a full vindication of the purpose of the preacher. When the verdict was read the crowd in the courtroom cheered.

He had made himself obnoxious to that element and also to Palmer, it was alleged, by interfering in his family affairs, and his life had been threatened, and when, on a dark night, he rode up to his own door and was greeted by a volley of guns he drew his revolver and shot at random, and Palmer fell mortally wounded. He was indicted for manslaughter. A full and impartial showing of the facts in the case was made on the trial, and the verdict is a full vindication of the purpose of the preacher. When the verdict was read the crowd in the courtroom cheered.

The Minister Who Shot Palmer at Neola, Ia., Found Not Guilty. COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., March 15.—The trial of D. M. Helmick for the killing of Ed Palmer at Neola last August has just closed, and the jury brought in a verdict of acquittal. The result was not unanticipated, for the sentiment of the public has been with the preacher. He was the Methodist clergyman at Neola and was prominent in his warfare on the saloons of the place. He had made himself obnoxious to that element and also to Palmer, it was alleged, by interfering in his family affairs, and his life had been threatened, and when, on a dark night, he rode up to his own door and was greeted by a volley of guns he drew his revolver and shot at random, and Palmer fell mortally wounded.
