CROCKERY!

We have got Crockery enough to supply Washtenaw County

during July and August.

Come to us if you only want a few cups and saucers; come to us if you want a complete set. We can positively save you money.

Buying in the large quantities we do, it means a saving that is well worth your consideration.

FRUIT JARS.

We have nothing but the genuine MASON jars, best selected glass, no seconds. A jar actually worth 25c a dozen more than the common glass.

Pts. 88c, Qts. 98c, Half Gal. $1.18, Rubbers and Tops 50c per doz.

JELLY CANS.—A splendid article at 40c per doz. We also have a pint jar with same size opening as a quart, something new and very desirable, as anybody will readily see.

Berry Dishes, Sauce Dishes, Celery Dishes, Sauce Pans, Preserve Kettles, and in fact everything pertaining to the fruit season. A can filler, used for straining fruit and filling cans, at 10c, very useful.

We are determined to boom our Crockery department during July and August.

A few more window screens 25c. Two stores packed full of bargains. Consisting of Hardware, Furniture, Crockery and House Furnishing Goods.

The Grass Lake News says: "Unless a stop is put this presidential kicking on the part of disgruntled towns over the census returns, John C. Sharp in his wrath will abolish the whole census business of this country henceforth and forever. This would be a misfortune because Detroit and Chelsea could then double up on their enormous lies about their population and nobody could refute them. Consequently we hope John will reconsider his determination to extreme measures, no matter how much he may feel provoked."

A Nine Day's Wonder

Was what they said our low price, Underbought and Underbought system of business would be. Who said it? Competitors of course. You see they admit that

OUR PRICES

At a pleasing contest in New York for fifteen dollars and the championship of America, the winner ate five ships in nine minutes.

Mrs. WINDOM, wife of the Secretary of the Treasury, is the possessor of a sofa which came from Washington's headquarters at Valley Forge.

There are five thousand insane people in the city of New York, and experts on insanity say that the ratio of lunatics is increasing much faster than that of the population.

ISAAC PERAL, a Spanish naval lieutenant, has constructed a submarine boat moved by electricity, which, according to the Spanish press, is the greatest invention of the age.

GENERAL FREMONT's last words before the angel of death touched him were: "I am going home." The old Pathfinder has now gone upon a journey on which he will not have to blaze the way.

WILLIAM MACCOLM, who died recently at Syracuse, N. Y., carried with him to the grave the secret of the principle of the famous Macolm lens, a scientific instrument of almost incalculable value to astronomers and others.

A NUMBER of women in Washington, D. C., have formed themselves into a stock company for the purpose of providing suitable headquarters for the various associations of women that meet every year in that city. The name of the organization is the Winodaghaus.

GENERAL W. T. SHERMAN's annual salary as General of the Army, which office has been abolished and which title will die with him, is $15,000. He has no duties to perform and a clerk to help him perform them, which makes it quite pleasant for the old hero in his declining years.

SIO. AMBRO, the Italian banker just ransomed from Sicilian banditti for the round sum of $25,000 in gold, says that his captors kept him in the bottom of a dry well, where they furnished him regularly with food. At the end of a certain time, unless ransomed, he was to be killed.

THERE are disadvantages connected with having wheat fields of mammoth proportions, as when, for example, a fire is started in the grain. This was the case recently near Merced, Cal., and before the flames could be stayed they had burned over a strip thirteen miles in length, inflicting a loss of $20,000.

"You could pass a civil-service examination, but I would get left," said General Sherman to the "boys" at West Point recently, but they will not get left if they pursue the advice old Teacup gave them afterward: "Get experience, trust in God, believe in the stars and stripes, and every thing will come out right."

THE United States is making progress in every respect. A new survey of the Alaska boundary line is being made, and it has been found that the 141st meridian, which forms its eastern limit, runs twenty-eight miles further east than was supposed. This gives Uncle Sam a big slice of territory, much of it rich in gold, which hitherto has been regarded as Canadian.

A TOTAL of 318,000 votes were cast for the State flower by the school-children of New York. The golden rod received 81,295 and the rose, preference of the pupils in the country districts, who know a flower from a weed, was a good and close second, with 79,696 votes. The remainder of the votes were divided among the daisy, violet, pansy, lily, etc. In all, 131 varieties were voted for.

There seems to be no doubt that the new cruiser Philadelphia will be Uncle Sam's "greyhound of the sea." She has been officially certified to as making 19 1/2 knots an hour, which gives her builders $100,000 premium for extra speed above the requirements of the contract. The contractors say she can go still faster than that, but it is not likely that she will be often put to the test.

The fire loss of the first half of 1899 presents a pleasant contrast to previous reports. The total for the United States and Canada for June last was $5,655,000, against $7,355,000 in 1898, and $9,204,000 in 1897; for six months ending with June, $47,811,345, against $64,288,000 in 1898 and $67,390,830 in 1897. This is a great and gratifying decrease, and it is to be hoped the figures will continue to show the same ratio of decline henceforth.

TWENTY-THREE years ago Joseph Hamilton and Miss Virginia Hickman, both of Bath County, Me., were engaged to be married, but they had a lovers' quarrel and Mr. Hamilton left for California, where he settled in San Diego County. By hard work he became a prosperous man. About a month ago he returned to his old home near Millboro, N. H., and in forty-eight hours after his arrival married Miss Hickman, who had remained faithful to her first and only love. The bride is the first cousin of the celebrated Bishop William Taylor, a native of Rockbridge, and for many years past Bishop of Africa.

The new Boston city directory contains some interesting names. Among them may be mentioned George Washington, John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, James Madison, James Monroe, John Quincy Adams, Andrew Jackson, Martin Van Buren, William H. Harrison, John Tyler, Franklin Pierce, James Buchanan, Abraham Lincoln and Benjamin Harrison. Literature is represented by William Shakespeare, Walter Scott, Sydney Smith, Robert Burns, Thomas Moore, George Eliot, John Milton, Joseph Addison and Henry W. Longfellow. Henry Clay and Benjamin Franklin are also alive and well.

The paradise of the future hunter must lie in the country traversed by Stanley on his last African expedition. The explorer says he found there the elephant, buffalo, hippopotamus, crocodile, wild pig, bush antelope, coney, gazelle, chimpanzee, baboon, monkeys of all kinds, squirrels, civets, wildcats, genets, zebras, ichneumonids, large rodents, with parrots, paroquets, sunbirds, finches, shrikes, whippoorwills, hooters, owls, guinea fow, blackbirds, kingfishers, divers, kites, warblers, bee-eaters, plovers, cockatoos, hornbills, and pigeons, and the rivers are full of fish, crocodiles and alligators.

Epitome of the Week.

DEATH IN THE GALE.

A Cyclone at South Lawrence, Mass., Kills Eight Persons and Injures Sixty Others—Many Buildings Crushed Like Eggs—Shells.

BOSTON, July 25.—The flourishing city of Lawrence was visited Saturday by one of the most sudden and destructive cyclones known to the Eastern States, and eight persons were killed, sixty seriously injured, seventy buildings were wrecked or destroyed and 600 people made homeless. Such is the summary of the catastrophe. The property loss will aggregate about $135,000.

Unfortunately, it will fall almost wholly upon the industrious poor, and in only a single case was it insured against the elements. The path of the storm was only about 400 feet wide, but starting from the Boston & Maine railroad station in the southern section of the city it extended parallel with the Merrimack river four miles clear into Andover. The force of the wind was suddenly as it had appeared. On one side of a road where a farm-house was wrecked and shattered, while just across not much as a vine or rosebush is disturbed.

The northern boundary of the belt of destruction was but three streets south of the lofty mills, with their busy throngs of thousands of workers, showing how narrow was the escape from more appalling loss of life and property. Buildings were crushed like eggshells. Some were lifted from their foundations and dashed to pieces. Others were tipped over or blown from their position and more or less damaged. The air was filled with flying debris. Most of those who met death in the wreck were killed instantly. Many lay unconscious or groaning in the ruins of their homes.

The survivors were too much terrified to know where to turn. The train of the New York & Boston road, which was in the city at the time, touched the earth at or near the cricket grounds, crossed Emmett street, Broadway, the railroad and Parker street, and entered Springfield street at its southwest end, traversed its entire length, demolishing nearly every thing in its course, including one house on Foster street and two on South Union street, where they crossed Springfield street, passed from Springfield street into Union square, leveling over 500 trees, and thence over Shawnee river into the town of Andover, where it exhausted its fury on trees and fences.

The work of devastation began at the cricket grounds on the southwest with the uprooting of a number of trees. On Emmett street the wind lifted a story and a half house belonging to Thomas Evans and slung it into the roadway a complete wreck. Mr. Evans, his wife and baby were in the house at the time, but escaped without injury. House No. 19 Emmett street, occupied by a family named Daley, was lifted from its foundation and dashed down. No. 6 was partly moved from its foundation. In the rear of No. 6 was a story and a half house occupied by James Lyons and family. Hearing the approach of the storm Lyons rushed into the house, seized his baby from his wife's arms and fled to the street. Both man and child escaped, but the dead body of Mrs. Lyons was subsequently taken from the ruins of her dwelling.

At the foot of Saunders court a switch-house in which Michael Higgins, a section hand, was standing was taken up bodily by the wind and carried under the overhead railroad bridge crossing Salem street, where Higgins fell out and was instantly killed. The railing on this bridge was taken off as though with a knife. Several houses were smashed here.

P. S. Carr, chief clerk in the Boston & Maine car-shops, says there was a sudden rumbling sound and darkness. Timbers and trees flew by the car-shops at a terrible rate. When this had passed he and other occupants of the shops saw that the Cutler House was in ruins, and summoned help and they began at once to search the ruins. Miss Flossie Cutler was found in the cellar with a sprained ankle. Little Ellen Cutler was crossing the Salem street bridge at the time within a stone's throw of her home, and was buried beneath a pile of lumber and ruins. She was found and dug out, but has since died from concussion of the brain.

The cyclone entered Springfield street, where the greatest devastation was wrought. When No. 31 fell Mr. O'Connell, his wife and daughter Mamie were carried down with it. Mr. O'Connell was the first to be extricated. His wife and daughter were removed from the ruins after over two hours' hard work, both dead. Mamie's neck was dislocated.

(South Lawrence is that part of Lawrence which lies on the south side of the Merrimack river. It contains 2,000 acres. Being attracted to the mills of the Parvett, it has a lot of grown rapidly. Although recognized as a district for homes, there are several manufacturing establishments on that side of the river. The Parvett, the Steadman & Smith Company, Clegg & Fisher, Butler & Robinson, Merrimack Paper Company, Monroe Paper Company and the Sullivan Co. are on the south side. The station of the Merrimack and Boston & Maine railroad and the Boston & Maine car shops. At the eastern end of Springfield street, which marks the center of the town, is Union Park, an open space ground containing 11 1/2 acres. From this square the street extends two blocks to the Boston & Maine car shop property.

At the corner of the Merrimack and Sullivan streets, on the south side, a disaster occurred. On January 28, 1898, the Pemberton mill, a five-story building, fell with uttering on account of the thin walls and defective construction. The mill was in the mill at the time it was killed and 411 injured.

A WHOLE TOWN SKIPPED.

The Census Enumerators Failed to Get It. His Work at Wayne, Pa.

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—The flourishing town of Wayne, with its 1,600 inhabitants, was overlooked by the census enumerators and therefore has no place in the official list of Pennsylvania. Wayne is about fourteen miles from the Broad street station on the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad. It has two newspapers, a title and trust company, three handsome churches, two large hotels, a number of stores and many beautiful mansions.

Returned to Prison of His Own Accord. GOSHEN, Ind., July 28.—About three years ago a colored cook, Harry Holmes, employed at a hotel here, was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary. He made his escape and attempts at recapture were unsuccessful. Friday evening he returned to this city and made application to his former employer for reinstatement in the position of head cook. He refused to employ him unless he returned to prison and served the remainder of his sentence. Holmes consented to do this and was taken to Michigan City Saturday morning.

THE VETERANS.

Great Preparations at Boston for the National G. A. R. Encampment.

BOSTON, July 25.—Grand Army of the Republic and Grand Army of the Republic politicians are the current talk now about Boston. The political end of the coming encampment, of course, centers in the selection of the new National Commander. General Alger of Michigan is the present chief, but it is understood he will decline to stand again. The contest promises to come between the veterans of the East and those of the West, and while it will be none the less friendly one it will be none the less spirited: Colonel Smedberg, of California, is the man who seems to have the lead on the soldiers from the States beyond the Mississippi river, while Colonel Wheelock G. Veazey, of Vermont, the present Eastern State Commerce Commissioner, is the Eastern favorite. Hovey, of Indiana, and Welsert, of Wisconsin, are also named as possibilities.

The encampment really begins August 1st and will continue three days. During that time some 70,000 veterans alone are expected, and these with their visiting friends and the sight-seers will swell the crowd of strangers in the city on those days, it is believed, to fully 125,000. Every available room, hall and building has been secured for the accommodation of the vast throng, and Massachusetts hospitality will be as generous as is possible under the circumstances.

The committee has just completed its general programme. The business meetings of the encampment are to be held in Music Hall. These will begin Wednesday morning, the 18th, and continue until the next evening. The Woman's National Relief Corps will assemble at the same time in Tremont Temple and hold simultaneous sessions with the Grand Army. Every State and Territory will be represented in the latter convention, while the women will have delegates from every part of the country except Alabama, Louisiana and South Carolina. Wednesday evening there will be a campfire for the veterans, and Thursday evening an elaborate banquet. Plymouth Rock and the Pilgrim Monument at that historic old town are to be visited Friday by the delegates, and Saturday those who remain are to be given a sail along the Massachusetts coast.

Tuesday, however, will be the day of popular interest, for it is then that the great public parade takes place. Boston will appear in gala attire. All of the houses along the line of march are to be decorated with flags, bunting and special military emblems. Mechanics Hall, Music Hall, Horticultural Hall, Faneuil Hall and the State house and city hall will be dressed most elaborately in red, white and blue. Mayor Hart has had the flower beds in the public parks laid out in designs of Grand Army, Loyal Legion, Woman's Relief Corps, Sons of Veterans and other army corps insignia. These first four are grouped about the equestrian statue of Washington in the public gardens, while at the walk are the old army badges. The effect is striking and unique. The designs are exciting wide attention and will prove a feature of the decorations. A triumphal arch is to be erected mid-way on the route of procession, and this too embellished with flags, and streamers and handsome devices.

The reviewing party is to be a distinguished one. President and Mrs. Harrison are expected to be here then, and also ex-President Hayes. With them will be General William T. Sherman, Major-General John M. Schofield, Mrs. Sheridan, Mrs. Logan, Mrs. Hancock, Mrs. Farragut, Miss Clara Barton, Governor Fifer, of Illinois, Governor Bulkeley, of Connecticut, Corporal Tanner, Past-Commander Warner of Missouri, Past-Commander Nebraska, Rae of Minnesota, Wagner and Beath of Pennsylvania, and Burdette of Washington. General Alger, the present Commander-in-Chief, will be assisted by a staff of 600. The parade, it is estimated, will consist of about 70,000 men. Secretary Tracy of the Navy has ordered the North Atlantic squadron to the harbor here for encampment week, and evolution s in the bay will add to the general display.

The parade will be followed by a handsome reception at Mechanics' building in the evening. This will be the welcome to the old soldiers. Governor Brackett will officiate in behalf of the State and Mayor Hart will preside at the little piece for Boston. Department Commander George J. Inness will bring the greetings of Massachusetts veterans, and Mr. Knowles, those of the State Relief Corps. General Alger and National President Anne Wittenmeyer, of Philadelphia, will speak for the guests, and end the formal part of the programme.

The expense of the encampment is figured at from $100,000 to $200,000. The Massachusetts Legislature has appropriated $50,000, and the city of Boston $25,000, while friends of the organization have added another $25,000. The citizens here, too, are raising a guarantee fund of $100,000 which is not to be used until the other appropriations are exhausted.

Gaudaur Beats Them All.

DELUTH, Minn., July 28.—In the professional carman race on Saturday, single skills, a distance of three miles with a turn, Gaudaur, Toemer, Hosmer, Hanlan, Hamm and McKay started. Gaudaur won, his time being 20:33; Toemer second, Hosmer third and Hanlan fourth. The purses were $1,700 to the winner, $800 to the second and $400 to the third.

Laborites to Meet.

ST. LOUIS, July 28.—The National convention of the old labor party which is to convene here early in September next was called by Willis W. Jones, of Chicago, who has Labor candidate for Governor of Illinois last year, and is now editor of a labor paper. The object of the convention as defined by Mr. Jones is to form a National Labor party and adopt a platform. No local, State or Congressional tickets will be nominated anywhere this year, but thorough organization will be effected and preparation made for the active campaign in 1899.

Eight Hours for Miners.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 28.—The next trade treaty for an eight-hour workday will be the miners. Their association, the United Mine Workers of America, has begun preparations to enforce the new rule on May 1, 1899. This association includes both open trades unions and local assemblies of the Knights of Labor, and its executive committee will have charge of the fight.

To Meet in '99.

BOSTON, July 28.—It was decided here on Friday that the next congress of the Catholic laity of America shall be held in Chicago in 1899.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

OFFICIAL CALL.

The Republican State Convention to Meet in Detroit on August 27.

The Republican State Convention of Michigan will be held at the Detroit rink, Detroit, beginning at 10 o'clock noon, Wednesday, August 27, and continuing Thursday, August 28, 1899, for the purpose of nominating candidates for State offices and for Justice of the Supreme Court, to fill vacancies in the judicial department, and to elect a chairman of the State Central Committee and two members thereof from each Congressional district and the transaction of such other business as may properly come before it.

In accordance with a resolution adopted at Grand Rapids, May 10, 1897, every county will be entitled to one delegate for each 500 of the total vote cast for Governor at the last State election (November, 1896), an additional delegate for every fraction amounting to 500; but each organized county will be entitled to at least one delegate.

Under a resolution of 1898, no delegate will be entitled to a seat in the convention who does not reside in the county he proposes to represent.

The delegates from each Congressional district are requested to meet in caucus at 10 o'clock a. m. Wednesday, August 27, and select candidates as follows: to be presented to the State convention for confirmation: Two members of the State Central Committee, one vice-president, one assistant secretary and one member of each of the committees on "credentials," "resolutions," "permanent organizations" and "order of business."

In compliance with a resolution adopted in Detroit, June 30, 1895, the secretary of each county convention is requested to forward to the secretary of the State Central Committee, 200 E. 10th street, Detroit, by the earliest mail after the delegates to the State convention are chosen, a certified list of such delegates as are entitled to seats in the State convention from their respective counties; and also the names and addresses of their committee, secretary and members of their county committee.

Health in Michigan.

Reports to the State Board of Health by seventy-seven observers in different parts of the State for the week ended on the 19th indicated that inflammation of the bowels, typho-malarial fever, cholera infantum and diphtheria increased, and membranous croup, inflammation of the brain, whooping cough, cerebro-spinal meningitis and pleuritis decreased in area of prevalence. Diphtheria was reported at seventeen places, scarlet fever at twenty-five, typhoid fever at thirteen and measles at twenty-five places.

Big Fire at Rome.

About 10:30 the other night fire broke out in the rear of the harness shop of William L. Dicken, at Rome, and burned out the following firms: T. D. Coe, druggs, etc., loss $5,000, insurance $2,500; Michigan Bell Telephone Company, $800; W. L. Dicken, harness, whips, trunks, etc., $2,500, insurance $1,500; Badger & Morton, boots and shoes, $1,500, insurance $1,000; W. C. Kendall, meat market, $800, insurance $800; loss on buildings $1,000, insurance $800.

Cut in Two Amidships.

At Detroit the other day the steamer City of Detroit, with three excursion parties on board, became unmanageable and ran into the steam-barge Kasota, cutting her completely in two. The Kasota, with a cargo of ore, was a total loss. An old lady, the mother of the steward of the barge, lost her life. The Kasota was valued at $120,000. The damage to the excursion steamer is $30,000.

Racing Homing Pigeons.

Homing pigeons owned by C. B. Gale and Christopher Wagner, of Detroit, were the other day released at North Manchester, Ind., 170 miles from Detroit. The birds started at 9:31 a. m. and at 9:36 p. m. two of Mr. Gale's birds reached home. Four minutes later three of Mr. Wagner's pigeons came in. The others arrived within an hour.

Seized for Smuggling.

The three-masted schooner Elgin, of Chicago, sailing from Port Barnia, was recently seized by Government officials and the captain and steward arrested, charged with smuggling whisky from Canada and offering it for sale. The boat was loaded with hardwood lumber and had the liquor for a side issue.

Short but Newsworthy.

Go to School.

Arrangements have recently been made to admit graduates from the Chelsea High School to the State Normal without examination, where a little extra work will entitle them to a state certificate good for five years.

The State Board of Education and Normal Faculty recommend that pupils get a thorough high school drill before entering the Normal, and those who have had experience all testify that it is cheaper and far better to attend here at home than it is to go to the Normal without first having a good drill such as is now presented by the Chelsea schools.

Send to the director, W. J. Knapp, for a catalogue, or see the Superintendent, A. A. Hall, for particulars.

Justices.

The following are the justices for the townships named:

Sylvan—J. D. Schmittman, E. A. Ward, Geo. Beckwith and Wm. Bacon.

Lima—S. Seney, R. Buckner and J. A. Schmid.

Freedom—Wm. Beurlie, T. S. Flynn, Jacob Knapp and Fred Gross.

Lyndon—A. B. Royce, H. V. Heatley and C. E. May.

Sharon—G. Dealy and Ashley Parks.

Dexter—M. McNeil, A. Pidd, W. H. Arnold and Louis Hindelang.

Short Wheat Crop.

The prophecies of a shortage in the winter wheat crop are confirmed by late reports by private correspondents relative to the yield and condition of the grain. Winter killing and the ravages of insects reduced the crop in Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri and Mississippi. In Kansas drought prevented the perfect development of the berry, while the wheat field of the eastern states were drowned out by the excessive rainfall experienced during the early spring months. It may safely be said that the average condition of the entire crop when harvesting commenced was 20 per cent below the average. The Review estimates a total of 272,344,436 bushels as the entire wheat crop of the United States, but adds that, considering the low condition of wheat at harvesting time, the merchantable product will be considerably less than that figure.—Ex.

A New Railroad.

A Lansing dispatch to last Thursday Free Press says: "Articles of association for a new Michigan railroad corporation have been filed at the office of the secretary of the state. The road will start at Leeland's, seven miles north of Ann Arbor, where the Toledo & Ann Arbor leaves its old line for northern Michigan, thence via South Lyon, passing through Oakland, Livingston and Genesee counties to Flint. The road is to be known as the South Lyon & Northern, and the stockholders are Brooklyn and New York capitalists. The articles are for ninety-nine years' lease, and the stock is $40,000 divided into shares. Although the Ashley's names do not appear in the articles, there is little doubt but that they are into the scheme, as they have for some time been at loss how to dispose of their branch line from Leeland's to South Lyon. The late action of the railroad commissioner and citizens along the line of said branch, ordering the road put in good repair and praying for better train service, has no doubt had something to do with the formation of the new company.

Teachers Institute for Washtenaw County.

The institute will be held in the city of Ann Arbor, in the high school building, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m., Monday, August 14, and closing at 4 p. m., Friday, August 18. B. A. Ainsdale, professor of Theory and Art of teaching in the University of Michigan, conductor, assisted by Professor Goodison, of the State Normal, and the county board of school examiners. The institute will be unusually interesting and no one should fail to attend. The county board of examiners will endeavor to make the institute of practical importance to teachers, and one percent for each day's attendance will be allowed to applicants for certificates.

How is This?

A good thing has been told us about a Patron of Industry going to a contract store; trade. He wanted three set of an article but the store did not have but one set in stock. "How much?" says the P. of I. "fifty cents," answers the tradesman. "I am a P. of I. and want the discount," "forty-two cents, then." Going to an other store and making a purchase of the other two set he inquires the price of them. "Eighty cents," he is answered. "What, forty cents a set?" "Yes; have been selling them at that price for the past three years, and then make a hundred per cent profit," was the answer. He went out of the store remarking that he guessed he would not pay any more attention to P. of I. stores.—Ing. Co. Dem.

We pay heavy taxes for protection and this is the way we get it. A tramp entered the home of Mrs. O. Walz, of Waterloo, one day last week and carried off $10 in cash and got off scot free. Now that is all well enough as long as Mr. Tramp keeps within this county, but last week his lordship lost his bearings and just crossed the line and entered the home of Mrs. W. Bowditch in Lyndon, where he got a good shaking up, also a pair of boots but the boots where on the feet of Mr. Bowditch and so applied to Mr. Tramp that he will stand rather than sit to eat whatever is handed to him for the next fortnight.—Stockbridge Sun.

Findlay, Ohio, May 6th, 1890. J. M. Loose Red Clover Co. I had a very troublesome painful sore on my face of about one year's standing, and which several physicians pronounced a cancer. I had tried a good many different kinds of salves, plasters and blood purifiers, but none of them seemed to help me very much. I found one of your circulars recommending your Extract of Red Clover, so went to the drug store and bought a bottle and a small box of the Solid Extract. I took the medicine according to directions and used the Solid Extract as a salve, putting it on fresh twice a day. About the third day it began to heal, so I continued the use of it for three weeks, both internally and by outward application and am very happy to state that it has entirely cured me. I cheerfully recommend Loose's Extract of Red Clover as the greatest and best Purifier on the market, I have tried them all. Your medicines is a God send to suffering humanity. Yours joyfully, J. H. KIBLER.

A SEEMLY SIMILE

Our Stock is Like a Stream:
Hundreds take from it, yet it never diminishes. This, of course, is because there is a never-dying spring of supply that feeds the stream.

Sluggish Streams Stagnate.

So do sluggish stocks. They become decayed. They are not fit for commercial use any more than decayed meat. Finally they are known as "dead."

Constant Motion Keeps Waters in the Best Condition.

And a constant flow of trade keeps a stock in best condition. We have no dead stock, because our stock never stands still. It is always flowing out and flowing in.
