Guess this Conundrum.

What is the reason that a physician will not indorse a good thing when he knows as well as he knows anything that the article in question has been used for years and is a valuable remedy, but because it is a proprietary medicine they cry it down. There is not a prescription case in any drug store in all this broad land that does not hold this same article. There are few if any physicians who do not prescribe it. And yet when the same article is made and sold in larger packages, and the price is so much below a prescription that is where the shoe pinches. But there are physicians who are willing to indorse a good thing, as the following will show. I have been quite extensively in my practice of late Loose's Extract Red Clover for Indigestion, Constipation, Dyspepsia, and Stomach Troubles, with the very best results, and have found it worthy of all and more than is claimed for it. The only dis-appointment to physicians is that it exceeds its recommendation.

Remedy for a Stye.

That quite common trouble on the edge of the eyelid, a stye, is the result of inflammation of the small glands or follicles. A piece of ice is the best abortive remedy. If the stye is not checked at the start on the second or third day it would be well to draw out with a pair of tweezers two or three of the hairs in the center of the swelling. In this way it is often possible to evacuate the little abscess.—Ex.

The annual picnic of Wayne, Washenaw, Livingston and Oakland county farmers at Whitmore last Saturday was attended by 6,000 farmers and friends.

Cholera morbus can be easily checked in nine cases out of ten, by the use of the following, which any druggist can fill: Tincture capsicum, iodoannum, tincture of rhubarb, spirits of camphor and essence of peppermint, of each two drams, mix and take from fifteen to twenty drops every half hour until relieved. This has been known to cure some of the worst cases in a short time.

It is perhaps not generally known that all stamped envelopes which are spoiled by mistakes made in superscribing will be redeemed by the postoffice department at their stamp value. Postage stamps damaged by sticking together in warm or damp weather, or for other causes before using, may be returned by the purchaser or exchanged for new stamps. All redeemed envelopes and stamps are sent by postmasters redeeming them to the department, and records of the same are kept.

Prof. Gleason, a noted trainer and tamer of vicious horses, has studied the best methods for bringing a fractious animal to a stop when he attempts to run away. "When driving with a straight bit and line," says he, "and your horse attempts to run away, let him go for a distance of fifty yards, then haul in your lines perfectly tight. When you get ready to give the command to stop, say 'whoa' and at the same time you pull the right hand rein, giving a powerful jerk and quickly repeat the word 'whoa.' Don't move the left hand but do all the work with the right. When you give the double jerk twist the horse's jaw to the right, and if you have presence of mind to repeat the command 'whoa' at the second jerk of the lines, you will be surprised to find your horse standing still."

Girls to be successful today must have more than pretty features. The men who are worth marrying are looking for something else than pretty faces, coy manners or fetching gowns. They are recognizing full well that women are progressing at a pace which will quicken, rather than slacken. They realize that the women of tomorrow will be brighter in mind than her predecessor of today. Hence, they are looking for wives who will be the equal of that of her neighbor. Beauty is being considered an adjunct to common sense. "I want a wife who knows something, who is worth having for what she knows; not one of these social butterflies," said one of the greatest "catches" of the last New York season to me at the winter's close. And he expressed the sentiments of thousands of the young men of to-day. The scent for pretty wives is over, and the look-out for bright young women has begun. And the girl who to-day trains her mind to knowledge will be the woman of tomorrow.—Home Journal.
