CLAUENCE B. RANDLETT, who, by the death of Mr. Thompson, becomes Sec-retary of State of New Hampshire, is probably the youngest man who ever filled such office. He is but twenty-four years old.

MR. GOTTSCHALK, of New York, owns the only genuine and perfect holy shekel in the world. The interesting relie is about three thousand four hundred years old and was used in King Solomon's Temple.

Norwithstanding the statement that whales are becoming extinct, advices from Point Barrow, Alaska, say that neither natives or white men notice any diminution in the number that pass that place exch spring.

SINCE 1857 England's small wars, viz : China, the Abyssinian expedition, South Africa, Nile expedition and the Afghan campaign have cost her $110,-000,000; but even small wars cost far more than mere figures indicate.

Was this the introduction of Freemasonry into this country? Weeden, in his history of New England, says that in 1658 fifteen families came to Newport, R. I., from Holland, bringing, with their goods and mercantile skill. the first three degrees of Freemasonry.

THOMAS MOONLIGHT mortgaged his farm for $500 in 1861 and used the money in raising the First Kansas Battery. A year later Case Broderick joined this battery as a private and served in it to the end of the war. The two men are now, by a singular coincidence, running for Congress against each other.

Our at Arkansas City, Kan., resides a man who brought suit against his wife for alimony, on the ground that she was a strong and healthy woman and ought to support him. The courts decided against him. This decision may be the means of keeping many a fond, tender and affectionate but delicate young man from marrying.

In the barge office at New York efforts were made to induce the women brought from Europe recently by Mormon proselyters to abandon their intention of joining that sect, but all moral sussion proved futile. A Scandinavian girl, who acted as spokesman for the party, said they were all willing to become, if necessary, one of seven or eight wives.

Ar the Gap, in Lancaster County, Pa., a sensation has been created by the discourses of Rev. David Kauffman, who is known as the sleeping preacher. The clergyman lies down in a bed and when asleep arises and preaches in English and German. When sleeping and preaching he says he can neither hear, see nor feel, and that when he awakes next morning be femembers nothing that took place during the night before.

N. O. MURPHY, acting Governor for Arizona, in a report on the condition of the Territory says the population is 60,-000, or, excluding Indians and residents of military reservations, 57,600, a gain in ten years of 19,560. The Mormons number one-fifth of the population and others are coming in from Idaho. He recommends that Congress make the Idaho test oath applicable in Arizona to prevent the Territory being "Mor-

Ir's an obliging world sure enough. A New York woman mailed a letter to Baltimore. It had a paper pocket sewed on the outside of the envelope with white thread: On the pocket was a message to the postmaster that it contained ten cents and that the writer desired the postal authorities to buy a special delivery stamp for the letter and deliver it as soon as it reached there. The injunction was obeyed and the letter promptly forwarded

An English newspaper charged shire councilor with having "tiddly winked the shire funds." The law was invoked and, after consulting all available dictionaries without finding any definition of the term, the court decided that the phrase was not necessarily libelous. The game of tiddlewinks, which is now in vogue in this country, is one of skill, and an expert tiddle-winker must be gifted with sleight of hand. Financial tiddlewinking is a suggestive phrase, and is now introduced for the first time.

Wno is there in this great metropolis that isn't acquainted with some one named Smith? asks the New York Times. And yet there are not so many of them as is generally believed. If one were asked to guess the number of Smiths in the city it would be quite natural to place the figure as high as 10,000. To be sure, the new directory devotes thirtyfive columns to the distinguished family ly, but there are only z.834 of them. The Browns number 1,639, and there are eighty Brownes. This is a decrease of seven compared with last year, when there were eighty-seven. The finale is evidently going out of fashion.

AFTER surveying the 300 or 400 monu-ments on the field of Gettysburg "Gath" doubts if $1,000 a stone would go around. making, therefore, the ontlay a good $400,000. He says: "The largest, finest tombs you see in cemeteries by large cities are seldom up to the quality and proportions of the humblest memorial stones at Gettysburg, and some of the States, notably Massachusetts, New England in general and sometimes New York, have achieved quite original de-tigns, as of literal, realistic scenes from the battle-field. In but one or two cases did I notice any pathos of the 'Dearest Johnny, thou hast left us' style."

An English writer says that "the quantity of gold in the world is not nearly so large as it is commonly sup-posed to be. If it could all be collected In one pile it would form a pile 25 feet high, 45 feet long and 25 feet wide. The reason for the smallness of the space which the world's stock of gold would fill is to a great extent accounted for by the density of the metal. A cubic fo of it weighs more than 1,200 pounds." In view of the discoveries during the last 50 years this ap-pears to be a remarkable state-ment; one that should attract the investigation of the leading scientists.

ABOUT CONSUMPTION. Dust Is One of the Commonest Causes

Lung Mischief. It is a curious fact that butchers are almost exempt from consumption. I we remember that their shops are airy and open, that they are abundantly fee on animal food, and that from early morning they are rapidly driving about in the open air, taking much exercise and living well, we shall be able to understand the influences which prevent the access of chest affections. These conditions of open-air exercise and high feeding are in fact antagonistic to consumption. It must not be supposed that we are urging all threatened con-sumptives to become butchers, but their mode of life might be imitated with advantage. Dust is one of the commonest causes of lung mischief. In many cases it is not the only exciting cause, but often it is the chief and most deadly of several deleterious influences to which workmen are exposed. The mortality amongst those employed in many dusty occupations is simply enormous. We are told few men who enter certain rooms in cotton factories ever live to attain to the age of thirty-eight. Out factory, twenty-three had some form of chest disease. The noxious influences of varnishes, turpentine and drying oils in developing consumption is well known. Chest affections are by no means infrequent among artisans who use solder, such for instance as tinmen, coppersmiths and goldsmiths. Woodturners and those whose work necessitates the use of sand-paper, are usually great sufferers. Many plans have been devised for preventing the entrance of dust into the air-passages, and some are very simple and worthy of adoption. The practice of wearing a respirator, or a vail over the mouth and nostrils, with the growth of the beard and mustache, may be cited as examples. The objection usually made to the respirator is the expense, but one made of cork can be obtained from the chemist's for a shilling. The mid-day meal should never be taken in the workshop, and the hands should be washed before going out to dinner. These may seem little matters, but only those who have workmen for patients know how constantly they are neglected. In dusty occupations the pores of the skin get blocked up by the dirt, and it then ceases to perform its functions. Normally it acts as a direct purifier of the blood, being associated with the kidneys and lungs in this office.-Family Physician.

CATCHING MENHADEN.

How 165,000 of the Fishes Were Taken at One Hant of the Seine. When well to the windward of the maroon water, describing a fishing expedition off the coast, the captain cried Break away!" and off the little craft started, the mate's men pulling in one direction and the captain's in the other, the seine thus falling between the boats and gradually spreading in the water. When a little over 100 yards apart the captain waved his hands and then both of the boats turned at right angles and were rowed to the other end of the maroon water, between 300 and 400 feet distant. That point reached, the boats were turned again, and with oars splashing in the water to scare the fish toward the impenetrable wall at the other end of the maroon stretch, rowed toward each other. When they met the wall was complete. Then the "tom," a heavy lead veight, was thrown out and the net was sunk 100 feet to its full depth. Even then the fish sometimes dove beneath the deep barrier, and more or less escaped in that way. When the "tom" had been dropped the men began to pull on lines run through the lower portion of the net, and soon an immense bag was formed, from which there was no possible chance of escape for the menhaden except by breaking the twine, which they were powerless to do, al-though at times a solid body of fish nearly fifty feet in width would rush at once against it. Then as much of the net as possible was hauled into the oats, and Captain Cornell signaled the steamer. Think of it, 165,000 fish-550 barrels is what there proved to be, and there are 300 in a barrel-cooped up by that terrible seine, and all struggling to escaps, first in one direction and then in another. Each menhaden is about ten inches in length, and it was a mystery how 165,000 of them occupied a space not over twenty-five feet square. They squirmed, flopped and jumped, but all their efforts were useless, and soon, in four or five barrel lots at a time, they were being dumped, vis a big bailing net, into the fish tank in the steamer. -Boston Herald.

The total population for the district is 441,07L. In 1880 the population was 873,053, showing an increase of 68,018, or 18.23 per cent.
The following are the figures for the Sixth district:

The total population for the district is 180,627. In 1880 the population was 86,419. The increase, therefore, has been 94,208, or 109.01 per cent.

THE POTATO CROP. It is Unprecedentedly Large, and High Prices Make It Prolitable.

The potato crop in Northern Michigan is all that could be desired. In the Traverse Bay region enough potatoes have been grown to supply several States, while through the central part of the northern district such a crop as the one this year has rarely been gathered. Last year all the potatoes wanted could have been had for from 10 to 1b cents a bushel, the crop in other parts of the country being large; but this year the crop being a partial failure elsewhere will run prices up. The farmers are receiving from 65 cents to 75 cents a bushel delivered on board the cars. Large shipments of potatoes are being made by rail and water from Traverse City.

Health in Michigan. Reports to the State Board of Health by fifty-seven observers in different parts of the State for the week ended October 4 indicated that typho-malarial fever, inflammation of the brain, erysipelas, measles and diphtheria increased, and cerebro-spinal meningitis, whooping cough, pleuritis and dysentery decreased in area of prevalence. Diphtheria was reported at twenty-two places, scarlot fever at thirty-one. typhoid fever, at forty-one and measles at four places.

Work of Michigan Congressmen. The Michigan Congressmen engineered 94 special pension bills through the House, of which Belknap introduced 30, O'Donnell 18, Bliss 13, Burrows 8, Allen 6, Brewer 5, Cutcheon 5; Whiting 4, Chipman 3 and Wheeler 2. Mr. Stephenson was not called on to introduce a single pension bill, and Captain Allen made 70 changes in the Second district post-offices and 32 old soldiers were appointed postmasters.

Shot by an Enraged Husband. Dr. Robert K. Muir, a veterinary surgeon of Jackson, went to the house of his father-in-law, George Denogel, in Union City, in a rage of jealousy, and fired several shots at his wife and James Byard. Byard was slightly wounded, but his wife was unhurt. Muir was arrested and will be examined November 7. He believed that Byard and his wife had sustained improper relations.

THE CENSUS.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—Although there is lots of work yet ahead of the census office, the greatest interest at present surrounds the approaching completion of the country. This pletion of the count of the country. This work is being rapidly pushed forward and the results have been published by counties. The larger towns also have been counted, but towns of less count before they can officially know the number of their inhabitants. From the present outlook it would appear that there are not quite who has made a reputation for himself 64,000,000 of us. There are, however, over 63,000,000 of people in the country, and an advance of 13,000,-000, such as that indicates, during ten years is of itself sufficiently extraordinary. Up to the present time the census office has completed the count of twentyeight States and Territories. These give a total of 38,761,213. The returns from the remaining twenty States are all in and most of them have been counted. But in each case there are one or more districts which have not yet been figured up, so that the actual figures for the whole States can not yet be determined. All but six of these are Southern States. A sufficient number of districts in each State have, however, been counted to afford a very close estimate of what will be the His Sympathetic Nature and His Early totals. These estimates have been figured out and give a total of

States which have been counted, gives a grand total for the whole country of 63,231,428, and it can be confidently asserted that the final official figures will not vary from this by more than a quarter of a million. The following are the actual figures for the twenty-eight States which have been counted by the census office:

This exploded in some way, and the ten men were blown almost to atoms.

Mr. Lincoln was of a peculiarly sympathetic and kindly nature. These strong characteristics influenced, very happily, as it proved, his entire political career. They would not seem, at first glance, to be efficient aids to political success; but in the peculiar emergency which Lincoln, in the providence of God, was called to meet, no vessel of common clay could possibly have become the "chosen of the Lord."

I hated to see him feel bad, an' I'd say, 'Abe don't cry;' an' he'd look up an' say 'I can't help it, Bill, the rain's a fallin' on her.' "

There are many who can sympathize with this overpowering grief, as they think of a lost loved one, when "the rain's a fallin' on her." What adds poignancy to the grief some times is the thought that the lost one Fortunate, indeed, is William Johnson, of thoroughly. They're the cheapest might have been saved.

TWO GRAND CONCERTS At the Town Hall, Chelsea, Friday & Saturday Evenings, Oct. 24th & 25th

Read what the Press and Prominent People say:

Mr. Oles is a genius on the Ole Bull and Paganini order, executing all the weird and wonderful harmonic effects peculiar to the Paganini school.—Cleveland Sunday

Mr. Geo. W. Oles is comparatively new to our people, but to alter a well known quotation to suit the circumstances, "he came, he played, he conquered." The audience went into raptures over his execution of the most difficult studies in harmonics. His entrance into popular favor was instantaueous and complete.-Morning There is that language of genius in his strains which appeal to the finer sensibili ties of every person in his audience. Paganini's weird effects, Ole Bull's soulful melodies and Beethoven's profound harmonics seem alike at the command of his bow.

—Daily Free Press, Wellsville, N. Y. Mr. Oles has a great future before him. Many of the great violinists of the world might well envy this rising young musician.—Journal, Meadville, Pa.

Sturgis, Mich., Oct. 17, 1889. Mr. Geo. W. Oles has just given me one of the greatest musical treats of my life, his violin playing is simply entrancing. I sincerely hope that any friend of mine, who may chance to read these lines will not miss the opportunity of hearing him play. R. P. Shaw, Pastor Presb'y Church.

From the Musical Faculty of Albion College, Michigan. We can most heartily recommend Mr, Geo. W. Oles as a musician of most excellent talent and ability and one who will please not only lovers of the violin, but all who are in the least interested in good music.
