The program was carried out most successfully, and was a most creditable performance. The little ones won the admiration of all by the ability they displayed in acting their parts. Every one on the program deserve praise. The recitation were superbly given, the singing was most excellent, the tableaux were very beautiful, Aunt Peabody and friends captivated the audience, and Santa Claus and his court, consisting of 80 little ones, held high favor with all. The children were admirably trained, and the highest credit must be given to Mrs. James P. Bacon, for the pains she took in bringing them to such perfection. After the program was finished, an elegant Christmas tree appeared, and every child of the parish was remembered with candy, oranges etc. Over $1000 were realized. Come again young people of St. Mary's, you shall always receive a hearty welcome.

It is considered the strongest and best security ever devised against efforts of burglars. The safe is protected by a large new fireproof vault, made necessary to store the upwards of twenty years' accumulation of books and papers of its business, and the whole premises are further protected by an Electric alarm system, which gives instant warning of trespassers at night.

MAN is the universal animal. It is estimated that there is 1,350,000,000 of him on the globe. The sheep rank next with 500,000,000.

The slave population of the country was 3,000,000 in 1850, 2,437,353 in 1860, 1,894,515 in 1870 and 1,353,700 in 1880. Missouri had 95,000 slaves in 1850, 88,240 in 1860, 82,422 in 1870 and 114,931 in 1880.

Physicians deprecate the wearing of waterproof coats as a substitute for ordinary clothing. They say the body should be dressed as warmly under the water-proof as it would ordinarily be without it.

In Switzerland, it is said, they will pay higher wages to a milkmaid who can sing to the cows than to one who can not. This is done on the principle that had treatment of cows injuriously affects its milk.

When people at the recent celebration dedicated to the New York World being published, the proprietor was asked for what the publisher would do for Europe that morning, broken in health and bodily blind.

Rev. Dr. CHARLES F. BURMAN and his brother, Dr. E. A. Hoffman, dean of the General Theological Seminary, both of New York, are said to be the richest clergymen in the United States. The wealth of each of them is about $24,000,000.

John W. Young, son of the late Benjamin Young, has purchased three million acres of land in Northern Mexico, and ten thousand Mexicans will colonize on it, their object being to find a place where they can practice polygamy unmolested.

In answer to a correspondent we would say that there is scarcely an instance of failure among the regular and large advertisers. There are necessarily exceptions to all rules, but the man who advertises, and then sells honestly as he promises, generally succeeds.

It is reported that the wealth of the United States is now computed at $64,000,000,000, a trifle less than $1,000 for every man, woman and child in the country, including Indians. The estimated gain in wealth during the last decade is an average of about $2,000,000,000 per year.

The daughter of a naval officer in Baltimore bestowed her affections on a man whom her father did not approve. He offered her a pleasure trip to China if she would discard her lover. She refused, as any other American girl would have done, and eloped with the man of her choice. Love laughs at other things than locksmiths.

The American passenger pigeon compasses the whole Atlantic ocean. The speed of its flight is approximately known, and it is able to cover sixteen hundred miles in twenty-four hours. This, indeed, is marvelous when it is seen that, flying at the rate of nearly seventy miles an hour, it takes the bird two days and two nights to cross.

The following populations make an interesting comparison: Russian Empire, 113,354,649; United States, 62,450,640; Germany, 46,852,450; Austria-Hungary, 40,454,898; France, 38,218,903; Great Britain and Ireland, 35,246,663; Italy, 28,460,000; Spain, 17,550,246. It is only a question of time when we shall exceed even Russia, and with our increase will be the leadership of the English-speaking civilization.

New York and Jersey City are to be connected by a vast bridge, costing $50,000,000, "recently published assurances are to be believed. The work is to be completed in three years and the bridge when done will be the largest as well as much the most important structure of its kind in the world. Engineering is making such rapid strides of late that one is kept on the alert to remain up to the times. Singularly and happily, too, the pace is set by American ingenuity and skill.

SOME very strange accidents are brought to light by the accident-insurance business. For instance, a man at Zaleska, Ohio, a stationary engineer, was killed very severely by a hog. It disabled him for quite a number of weeks, and he was paid ninety-seven dollars. Another case was that of a man at Chillicothe, Ohio. As he was stooping to pick up some kindling wood a game rooster guffed him in the wrist, cutting an artery, which disabled him for some time.

The present Messiah craze among the Indians of the Northwest arouses interest in any thing that pertains to the queer delusions and beliefs that have been a life among the tribes for the last century. In 1883 the Sanpoels, a small tribe in what was then Washington Territory, became agitated over the teachings of an old chief who professed to believe that another flood was near at hand. He said that the Great Spirit had commanded him to collect tribute and build an ark that would ride the waves. His great canoe, 112x288 feet, is still to be seen in an unfinished condition.

A QUESTION calculated to attract wide-spread attention among scientists has been raised by Prof. Wright, of Oberlin College, who after extended researches among the lava deposits about Sonora, Cal., announces the discovery of traces of human habitation antecedent to the period of volcanic disturbance. Exact information as to the extent of these discoveries has not been made public, but it is predicted that the proofs will be accepted as demonstrating the occupancy of the western coast by man many ages earlier than heretofore supposed possible. It may even shed light upon the origin of the Indian.

The new law relative to collisions at sea is now in force. It provides that every master of a vessel which has collided with another vessel shall remain in its neighborhood and give what help he can, and he is also required to give the name and description of his own vessel to the master of the other. In case he fails to do this he will be held responsible for the collision and is liable to fine and imprisonment, a portion of the fine going to the informer. The offenders have been the great ocean steamships, whose masters in order to make time have sometimes been careless as to the condition of vessels injured by them.

In Philadelphia the mint authorities discovered a counterfeit five-dollar gold piece designed and executed with such remarkable skill that few of the experts could distinguish the spurious coin from the genuine. It differs from the true coin only in size, being slightly larger.

In a wreck on the Western New York & Pennsylvania railroad near Watsonville, Pa., twenty-one passengers were injured.

GENERAL B. F. BUTLER said during a criminal trial in the United States District Court at Boston on the 23d that it was his last case in the courts, and that hereafter his business would be confined to office practice.

SCULLY BADLY BEATEN.

The Peace Embassy Sent by General Brooke to the Hostile Indians Returns Unsuccessful—Pig Foot's Band Escapes.

PINE RIDGE, S. D., Dec. 23.—The peace party failed, as was predicted. Five of the friendly are in, and report that the rest are on their way. The enemy are described as crazy, wild and wholly unmanageable. None have come over from the fighters. It is now believed that the Seventh Regiment will start into the field at once to subdue these warriors. Ugly rumors regarding the attitude of Little Wound, Two Strike and Big Road are in circulation, but will not be made public until proved true.

BISMARCK, N. D., Dec. 20.—Major Carroll made a forced march Tuesday night with fifty-five cavalrymen, covering sixty-five miles in fourteen hours upon the Canon Ball, and arriving at New England City at 8 a. m. This was in compliance with orders from Fort Yates by courier to rescue Captain Fountain, of the Eighth Cavalry, who was surrounded in the Cave hills by 500 Indians. Two hours' rest was taken at New England City and Major Carroll continued the forced march southwest in the direction of the Cave hills, fifty miles distant. His force reached Captain Fountain Thursday morning. Aid may have come in from the south, but if not the surrounded forces are thought to be in a position to hold off the Indians till assistance arrives.

Captain Hearst, commanding officer at Fort Sully, has received the capitulation of 174 Uncompans, including seventy of Sitting Bull's band and fifty from Rosebud agency. Narcisse Narcell brought in 412 of Pig Foot's Indians. From these ninety-eight stands of arms were collected. The weapons were all Winchesters of antiquated pattern. Sitting Bull's men want to remain at Cheyenne and say they are afraid to return to Standing Rock. All have surrendered and the best of care is being given them. All of the members of the agency have been started to Dupres to bring in the sick women and children. Many leaders among the Indians were very sullen while making final settlements, and there was a great deal of quarrelling among the redskins.

PINE RIDGE, S. D., Dec. 25.—General Brooke has received a dispatch from Carroll Summer saying that the Big Foot and Sitting Bull Indians who surrendered to him two days ago had been making for the Bad Lands. General Brooke at once sent a body of troops under command of Colonel Henry to intercept them, but it is feared that he will not be able to do this, as the redskins have a good start. The circumstances of the escape are not known.

SCOTCH RAILWAY TROUBLES. The Strike of Employees Causes an Almost Total Suspension of Traffic—Nearly 7,500 Men Take Part in the Movement.

GLASGOW, Dec. 25.—There are no signs of improvement in connection with the railroad strike in Scotland. It is estimated that about 7,500 men are now on strike, and business may now be said to be entirely at a standstill. On the North British lines traffic has been suspended, while others are working in an irregular manner. The business people residing in the suburbs are obliged to walk from their out-of-town residences to the city, thereby suffering much inconvenience. In and about Glasgow the price of coal has already advanced seven shillings per ton, with a prospect of a still further advance in price before long. In addition to the coal trouble, which seriously affects the poorer classes already, it is said that a gas famine is imminent. The police are already taking steps to provide a force of special constables to guard the city in case the supply of gas should give out and the city be plunged into darkness at night. All the ship-building yards and public works are without fuel, and they expect to be forced to close their doors unless the strike is settled within a very short time.

RAILWAY BUILDING. Nearly 5,900 Miles of Track Laid in the United States During 1890.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—In its issue of this week Engineering News publishes summaries showing by groups of States the mileage of track laid on extensions of steam railway lines in the United States, upon which regular trains are to be run to do business as common carriers of both freight and passenger traffic for the calendar year of 1890. According to the figures here presented the total addition to the country's railway mileage between January 1, 1890, and January 1, 1891, was nearly 5,900 miles, or about 700 miles more than was laid in 1889. The total amount of railway completed January 1, 1891, was 107,172; of this amount 36,913 miles, or about 22 per cent, have been constructed during the last five years. The following table shows by groups of States the mileage of track laid during the last four years:

Sawtelle Must Die. DOVER, N. H., Dec. 25.—Sawtelle was found guilty of murder in the first degree Thursday and was sentenced to be hanged the first Tuesday in January, 1892.

The murder in question was one of the most brutal known in the criminal records of New England. The Sawtelles were small tradesmen in Boston. The brothers had inherited some property, and Isaac, it is alleged, always insisted that Hiram had freed February 25, and so mediated revenge. Last February he induced Hiram to allow him to take the former's little girl Maria with him on a trip to New Hampshire. While there he telegraphed Hiram that Maria was seriously ill and called him at once to Rochester, N. H. Hiram met Isaac there. The two started in a carriage for the house where the child was, and Hiram was never again seen alive. Some days later his mangled body minus the head was found in a shallow grave aside from a public road.

American Capital in Cuba. WASHINGTON, Dec. 26.—A dispatch from Havana to the Bureau of American Republics reports that a syndicate of New York capitalists has within the last few days purchased for $600,000 gold the sugar plantation and factory known as San Ramon, one of the largest in Cuba, and is making arrangements to construct lines of transportation throughout the estate in order to increase the cultivated area and reduce the cost of production. The plantation already produces 50,000 hogsheads of sugar annually, and it is the intention to produce from 90,000 to 100,000 hogsheads next year.

Tab Fryer Discharged. NEW LONDON, Vt., Dec. 24.—Tab Fryer, charged with having been implicated in the murder of William Mead, has been discharged by the justice of the peace before whom he was examined. The magistrate took the ground that there was not sufficient evidence against Fryer to warrant his being held.

Blinded by His Aged Wife. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 24.—J. G. Anderson, a farmer in this county, reported to the police that his wife had sold his farm for $12,000 cash, and eloped with John Duke, a blacksmith. The woman is 65 years old.

THEIR MISSION FAILS.

The Peace Embassy Sent by General Brooke to the Hostile Indians Returns Unsuccessful—Pig Foot's Band Escapes.

PINE RIDGE, S. D., Dec. 23.—The peace party failed, as was predicted. Five of the friendly are in, and report that the rest are on their way. The enemy are described as crazy, wild and wholly unmanageable. None have come over from the fighters. It is now believed that the Seventh Regiment will start into the field at once to subdue these warriors. Ugly rumors regarding the attitude of Little Wound, Two Strike and Big Road are in circulation, but will not be made public until proved true.

BISMARCK, N. D., Dec. 20.—Major Carroll made a forced march Tuesday night with fifty-five cavalrymen, covering sixty-five miles in fourteen hours upon the Canon Ball, and arriving at New England City at 8 a. m. This was in compliance with orders from Fort Yates by courier to rescue Captain Fountain, of the Eighth Cavalry, who was surrounded in the Cave hills by 500 Indians. Two hours' rest was taken at New England City and Major Carroll continued the forced march southwest in the direction of the Cave hills, fifty miles distant. His force reached Captain Fountain Thursday morning. Aid may have come in from the south, but if not the surrounded forces are thought to be in a position to hold off the Indians till assistance arrives.

Captain Hearst, commanding officer at Fort Sully, has received the capitulation of 174 Uncompans, including seventy of Sitting Bull's band and fifty from Rosebud agency. Narcisse Narcell brought in 412 of Pig Foot's Indians. From these ninety-eight stands of arms were collected. The weapons were all Winchesters of antiquated pattern. Sitting Bull's men want to remain at Cheyenne and say they are afraid to return to Standing Rock. All have surrendered and the best of care is being given them. All of the members of the agency have been started to Dupres to bring in the sick women and children. Many leaders among the Indians were very sullen while making final settlements, and there was a great deal of quarrelling among the redskins.

PINE RIDGE, S. D., Dec. 25.—General Brooke has received a dispatch from Carroll Summer saying that the Big Foot and Sitting Bull Indians who surrendered to him two days ago had been making for the Bad Lands. General Brooke at once sent a body of troops under command of Colonel Henry to intercept them, but it is feared that he will not be able to do this, as the redskins have a good start. The circumstances of the escape are not known.

SCOTCH RAILWAY TROUBLES. The Strike of Employees Causes an Almost Total Suspension of Traffic—Nearly 7,500 Men Take Part in the Movement.

GLASGOW, Dec. 25.—There are no signs of improvement in connection with the railroad strike in Scotland. It is estimated that about 7,500 men are now on strike, and business may now be said to be entirely at a standstill. On the North British lines traffic has been suspended, while others are working in an irregular manner. The business people residing in the suburbs are obliged to walk from their out-of-town residences to the city, thereby suffering much inconvenience. In and about Glasgow the price of coal has already advanced seven shillings per ton, with a prospect of a still further advance in price before long. In addition to the coal trouble, which seriously affects the poorer classes already, it is said that a gas famine is imminent. The police are already taking steps to provide a force of special constables to guard the city in case the supply of gas should give out and the city be plunged into darkness at night. All the ship-building yards and public works are without fuel, and they expect to be forced to close their doors unless the strike is settled within a very short time.

RAILWAY BUILDING. Nearly 5,900 Miles of Track Laid in the United States During 1890.

NEW YORK, Dec. 25.—In its issue of this week Engineering News publishes summaries showing by groups of States the mileage of track laid on extensions of steam railway lines in the United States, upon which regular trains are to be run to do business as common carriers of both freight and passenger traffic for the calendar year of 1890. According to the figures here presented the total addition to the country's railway mileage between January 1, 1890, and January 1, 1891, was nearly 5,900 miles, or about 700 miles more than was laid in 1889. "DO YOU WANT THE EARTH, OR A PIECE OF IT?"

It is simply marvelous how rapidly the development of a new territory follows a public knowledge of its resources in these go-ahead days. A given portion of country may be seemingly a howling wilderness to-day, yet twelve months hence the hardy pioneers of settlement will be firmly established in it, and five years hence the wilderness is gone forever, transformed into an agricultural region of inestimable value.

This story has been told over and over again upon the American continent, and is now being repeated once more upon the great fertile prairies of Western Canada, where the millions of acres of valuable lands open for settlement are attracting an ever-increasing army of colonists from every civilized portion of the globe.

Only a few years ago the prairies of Western Canada were simply vast, empty ranges, yet to-day towns, villages, settlements, farms and ranches are dotted all over what is unquestionably one of the very finest agricultural sections of this continent. The prairie region of Canada extends from the eastern boundary of Manitoba westward to the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, a distance, roughly speaking, of about one thousand miles. Within this vast expanse are comprised the great wheat province of Manitoba, the fat lands of Assiniboia and the noble pastures of Alberta, offering homes to all who choose to claim them, and unrivalled facilities for following every branch of agriculture with profit. The official crop returns for 1890 are splendid testimony of the capabilities of these natural grain fields and pastures, and no matter whether the new-comer prefers horse, cattle or sheep raising, wheat growing, mixed or dairy farming, he can easily find land admirably suited to his purpose within these broad limits and simply for the trouble of selecting for himself what appears to be the most desirable locality.

"When may I come again, Mrs. Monroe?" The meek face touched even the selfish nature of the woman for whom she had worked so many weary days.

"Well, now, I don't mean to keep you waiting much longer," she said; "let me see—I'll let you have it before New Year's day, say the thirty-first."

"Yes, ma'am." She went out, and Mrs. Monroe was working to quiet her conscience by hastening to her children.

Kitty and Harry stood at the window at the end of the narrow hallway watching for their friend, but it was dark before her tired footsteps ascended the stairs.

"Sit up by the stove and get warm," said Mrs. Roberts, reading in the depressed face all that could be asked.

"I guess I'd better keep on up to my room," said Miss Crimp. "I only just came to tell the children that they must wait a little."

"No, you shan't go up there now," said Mrs. Roberts. "I don't know but it's all for the best, after all," said Miss Crimp.

"Dear me! It must be some mistake," Miss Crimp shook her head in great bewilderment as she again mounted the stairs, and it would be hard to say how long it might have taken her to make up her mind about any thing, or making up her mind to act upon it, had not Mrs. Roberts, by dint of hustling and coaxing and encouraging and assisting, at length made her ready for her early visit.

"It's some fine folks that'll keep you all day," she remarked, as Miss Crimp stepped out of the door, upon which a dismal wail arose from Kitty and Harry.

"She promised to come to dinner with us," "I'll come," she declared, turning a very earnest face upon them.

little still perhaps, built on a foundation of faith in the Lord who for weakness or strength, for life or death, earth or Heaven, still orders the way of His children for His own highest best.

A quick, sharp knock in the gray of the early morning aroused her. "Get up, Mary Jane," called Mrs. Roberts outside the door. "Somebody's asking for you."

"There's a carriage, too," cried Harry, in great excitement. "Happy New Year. And a man that says he can't go still he sees you. Happy New Year—everybody!"

"It can't be me he wants," said Miss Crimp, as in a great flutter of surprise she at length made her appearance and was hurried down the stairs by Harry to the door.

"Is this your card?" asked the man, holding up one before her. "Why, it is, sure enough," said Miss Crimp, in a greater flutter than before.

"I—why, dear me, it was in my bundle of lace. I know it must have been for it was the only card I ever had. Some one must have found the lace."

"Mrs. Marlow sent me to tell you she wants you to go to her house with me at once—to breakfast, she said."

"Mrs. Monroe?" asked Miss Crimp, not quite understanding the name and dashing at it with a faint hope that Mrs. Monroe might have returned and was anxious to make tardy amends.

"No, my dear, Mrs. Marlow. And she says she won't take any denial and I want you to come back with you."

"Dear me! It must be some mistake," Miss Crimp shook her head in great bewilderment as she again mounted the stairs, and it would be hard to say how long it might have taken her to make up her mind about any thing, or making up her mind to act upon it, had not Mrs. Roberts, by dint of hustling and coaxing and encouraging and assisting, at length made her ready for her early visit.

SALVATIONISTS IN A ROW. Commissioner Smith, Designs—Did He Write "In Darkest England?"

LONDON, Dec. 26.—The Times announces that Commissioner Smith, of the Salvation Army, has resigned. His resignation, the paper says, at this critical period in the history of the army is most important because Mr. Smith formed the substantial guaranty that an earnest and business-like effort would be made to execute the practical part of General Booth's scheme of social regeneration.

The Times says the secret authorship of "In Darkest England" is now common knowledge, but the charitable hypothesis assigns General Booth credit for having written at least two chapters of the book. General Booth's explanation is that he supplied a professional writer with materials for the book.

We believe that when the whole story is revealed it will be found that the substantial parts of the original plan of the scheme of city and farm colonies, originated with Mr. Smith. General Booth, reluctantly accepting these, asserts that the ground of difference between Mr. Smith and himself is that while Commissioner Smith opined that it was absolutely necessary to keep the social working scheme as distinct as possible from the religious work of the army General Booth's method of inviting donations despite his apparent willingness leads to the mingling of all separate funds into one common fund, rendering it obvious that every contribution to a specific department sets a proportionate amount of the general fund free to be spent at the discretion of General Booth.

Nothing but a sense of duty, the Times continues, could have induced Commissioner Smith to resign at such an important juncture. The scheme or the management of the funds. Those who promised donations are now entitled to withhold them until a full and satisfactory account of Mr. Smith's resignation is given. He was the life and soul of the social-reform work of the army. It is likely that his resignation is destined to be the death blow to General Booth's more ambitious schemes.

"By the President: 'JAMES G. BLAINE, Secretary of State.' Two Noted Desperados Meet Their Demerits at Hinckley, Minn. HINCKLEY, Minn., Dec. 26.—The bodies of two desperados lie at the city hospital, having been shot dead by Marshal Booth. At 10 o'clock Thursday morning Michael, John and Peter Kane, brothers, came into town and in less than an hour had driven every body off the street by indiscriminately firing revolvers and flourishing knives. They confiscated liquor right and left and were soon hilariously intoxicated. Marshal Booth finally corralled them in an alley and by a liberal display of arms placed them under arrest. He marched them up the street half a block when they broke away and began firing at him. The officer, however, was too quick for the desperados and sent an unerring bullet into the head of John Kane, who fell dead. The other brothers then turned a corner and attempted to escape up the railroad track toward Duluth. Marshal Booth followed, firing as fast as he could cock his revolver, and finally planted a leaden missile in the back of Peter Kane's head. He died from the wound during the afternoon. Michael Kane was captured and placed in jail, where he is in momentary danger of being lynched. The dead men were single and had been the terror of the lumber camps of this region for a long time. They were about 30 or 35 years of age and half from Hastings, Minn. Marshal Booth gave himself up to Sheriff McLaughlin.

Lived to the Age of 115. SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 25.—News of the death of Pedro Antonio Lopez, aged 115 years, has been received here. He passed off very quietly and without suffering, being conscious and especially talkative up to the last moment. He knew the end was coming and he had his children and grandchildren gathered around him. He talked to them of the service he had done as a soldier under the Spanish King, and he remembered when a certain King and his wife were beheaded, Louis XVI. and Marie Antoinette. Lopez was mentioned in connection with the census report last June on account of his extreme old age.

It is a curious fact, revealed by the figures of the census, that, while there are in the United States three cities of more than 1,000,000 inhabitants each, one of between 500,000 and 1,000,000, three of between 400,000 and 500,000 each, and nine of between 200,000 and 400,000 each, there is not a single one having between 300,000 and 400,000 inhabitants. In 1890 we had but nine cities with a population of over 100,000 each.

We copy the following from the Ann Arbor Democrat: "A very sad accident occurred here Wednesday evening. Miss Gertrude Brundage and Frank E. Dickinson went skating Christmas eve and not returning at a late hour her mother, who lives at 17 Elizabeth St., became alarmed and search was begun for the young people, who it was feared was drowned. About 7 o'clock on Thursday J. D. Stricker found a maul near the 2nd railroad bridge belonging to the young lady and in the afternoon the bodies were taken from the river. Miss Brundage was a student in the medical department and her mother is greatly prostrated over the sad death of her daughter. Mr. Dickinson was a homeopathic student. The sad accident has cast a gloom over the entire city.

The following prophecy concerning the weather for the next two months is put forth by George A. Travis, of Ohio. It will pay perusal: January—A very cold month, with heavy snows, severe cold dips between the 1st and 10th and the 20th and 25th, with mercury falling to 20 degrees below zero, and perhaps even lower in some localities in either or both of those dips. February—Will be much colder than last year, but not of the marked severity of January. Should the weather indication for January be verified, and the conditions of 1894 be repeated floods must be apprehended and all possible precautions taken to avoid suffering from the results. For details of the coming winter and spring a study of the winter of 1893 and 1894 will be useful. There will be found to be a noticeable similarity.

Our mowers and reapers and other devices for gathering crops have been perfected, while machinery for getting the ground in order for the crops has been comparatively neglected. Ingenuity especially that of our countrymen, seems to have almost expended its resources in the invention of harvesters, but there is little more to be harvested here now than there was before.

Golden Wedding.

At the residence of Henry J. Drake, Lyndon, on Christmas day, there was a gathering of relatives and friends to celebrate the golden wedding of Henry J. Drake and wife. There was four generations represented: Father and mother, daughter, grand-daughter and great-grand-daughter, there was also many relics of ye olden time just fifty years ago. It was a Merry Christmas indeed for all present. The combined ages of the seven old couple at the first table was 960 years. After partaking of the substantial for the inner man they listened to a few congratulatory remarks from the Rev. M. J. Dunbar, after which there was a letter read from Mr. John E. Drake, of Rome, N. Y., also a poem read entitled the Golden Anniversary. There was also tokens of regards from friends among them was two pair of gold spectacles, an old gold book stand and a book from Mr. John E. Drake and wife, of Rome, N. Y., which would have to be seen to be appreciated.

Robots On Tobacco.

The reduction of the rate of internal revenue tax on manufactured tobacco from eight cents to six cents per pound goes into effect after midnight Dec. 31, 1890. Under the recent special act passed by congress provision is made for a rebate of the amount of the reduction, to be paid to persons having stock on hand on which tax has been paid, at the rate of eight cents per pound. In making claims for rebate only unbroken factory packages on hand Jan. 1, 1891, will be considered, and no claim for a sum less than $5 will be entertained. This will require that the claimant for rebate have in his hands and owned by him not less than 250 pounds of manufactured tobacco in unbroken packages. No notice can be taken of claims which include packages that have been opened and retailed from. Persons who contemplate filing claims for rebate will save themselves trouble and expense by ascertaining whether their stock of tobacco Jan. 1, '91, aggregates as much as 250 pounds in unbroken packages. If not it will be a waste of time to prepare a claim. Two or more dealers cannot combine their stocks for the purpose of making a claim. All claims for rebate must be filed with the collector of the district within 60 days from Jan. 1, '91.

In 1883 a reduction was made by congress in the tax on tobaccos from 16 to 8 cents per pound, and a rebate was paid to dealers who had on hand sufficient manufactured tobacco, snuff and cigars, in unbroken packages, to come within the limit. At that time delay in payment of these claims arose from carelessness on the part of claimants in the preparation of their claims. The blanks furnished by the government always have specific instructions printed on them, which if followed strictly, will save time, as failure to follow such instructions necessitates the return of claims for amendment.

Special attention is called to the fact that the inventory of stock on which the rebate is claimed must be taken on the 1st day of January in the presents of two disinterested persons who will be required to make oath as to the correctness of the inventory upon the blank furnished for the claim. Said witnesses shall not be interested in any claim for rebate on manufactured tobacco.

Persons desiring the blanks will be supplied by making application to W. E. Watson, Deputy Collector Internal Revenue, Bancroft, Mich. All claims should be forwarded to same office.

The following method of making paper transparent for copying drawings has been found very serviceable: Place a blank sheet of paper over the drawing and rub it lightly with pure benzine. The tracing can be readily made, and the benzine, upon evaporation, leaves the paper as before.

Christmas exercises were exceptionally fine, and rendering reflects great credit upon the participants, and also upon W. C. Pyper and A. Marnock who trained them.

Among the creditable pieces were the ones by Emmet Hadley, Elmer Barton, Eva Bangs, Anna Davis, W. C. North, Jr., and Mable Hart-suff. The gifts, thought (with one exception) not costly, were numerous and useful and no attempt to injure the feelings of anyone by disrespectful presents, was made, which is contrary to the custom heretofore. Among the most substantial gifts were the following: History of Bible to A. Marnock.

From his class; elegant silver casket to Mrs. Belle Sales, from the Presbyterian church, in recognition of her services as organist; one of latest style wash bowl and pitcher to Mrs. Wm. Hopkins, from her husband; silver mounded pickle dish to Minnie May, from (?) seal skin cloak to Mrs. A. H. Watson from her father; neck scarfs, Faunty and Nellie Budd and Pluma DuBois; twilight's, F. and N. Budd; large album, Eva Montague, Mary Collins, A. J. May and Nellie Budd, casket of silverware, Mrs. Sarah Mackinder; shaving case, Wm. Mills; toilet case, Cora Hadley. Some very valuable gifts were not brought to the church for fear of being stolen. A great deal of mirth was created by the images Mrs. Ford gave Martin Messenger, D. M. Joslin, Dr. DuBois, Chandler Dunning, G. S. May, and L. Chalker. All the S. S. teachers remembered their classes and every child's heart was made glad. No one was slighted except uncle John Dunning, so he will have to borrow Caudlers doll to play with. We have not heard from Isaac Letts personally but understand he enjoyed the affair on an average "fast-rate."

A Lucky Man.

Last March, Herman Preston, a veteran living near Williamston, disposed of his farm, and with the proceeds started for the woolly west much against the wishes and advice of his friends, who pointed him out many of his neighbors who had gone before and many of them had walked back. But Preston was persevering and soon was in wicked Chicago, where he thought he could see a pile of wealth in some real estate, and at once invested $1,200 in twelve lots on Chicago avenue, and $400 in two lots on Fifty-fifth street. Being a mason by trade he supported himself and waited patiently, when lo! the world's fair started towards the city of his choice and his real estate boomed. The fair will occupy the twelve lots on Cottage avenue, and more in that vicinity. Preston returned to his native town recently, and surprised his incredulous neighbors by purchasing three of the best farms in the vicinity and planking down the cash for each one of them, and has plenty of money left. His Chicago investment netted him a clean $22,000. Not a bad year's work.—Bancroft Commercial.
