Nothing seems to burn in the memory and heart of a child as an undeserved punishment, however trifling the matter may seem to the adult inflicter. Indignant at Their Acquittal the Infurlated Populace Rises in Its Might and Lynches Eleven of His Alleged Assassins.

TERRIBLE SCENES. NEW ORLEANS, March 16 .- New Orleans struck the Mafia a death blow Saturday. It wreaked a terrible vengeance upon the Sicilian assassins who are believed to have relentlessly slain David C. Hennessy, and there are now eleven men dead who were happy Friday over their victory in the greatest criminal trial the city has ever witnessed. It was not an unruly, midnight mob. It was simply a sullen, determined body of citizens who took into their own hands what justice had ignominiously failed to do.

The correct list of the men shot is as follows: Joseph Macheca, Manuel Politz. Antonio Marchesi. Antonio gone. Scoffedi, Antonio Bagnetto, Rocco Gerachi, James Caruso, Loretto Comitez, Pietro Monasterio, Louis Trahina and Frank Romero. The boy, Marchesi Matranga, and Incerdona, who had been acquitted, were spared.

death had been deliberately planned by a secret tribunal and carried out boldly and successfully by the tools of the conspirators. The trial lasted twentyfive days, and though the evidence seemed conclusive, the jury-currently charged with having been tampered with-failed to convict. Friday night a body of cool-headed men, lawyers, doctors, merchants and political leaders, all persons of influence and social standing, quietly met and decided that some action must be taken and justice swift and sure visited upon those whom the jury had neglected to punish. Saturday morning a call for a mass-meeting at Clay square on Canal street appeared in the papers, which editorially depre cated violence.

At 10 o'clock there was a crowd of several thousand anxious people congregated around the Clay statue. They hardly knew what was going to happen, but they seemed ready to go to any length, and, while there were, of course, many of the lower element in the throng, a large proportion were the leading people of the town, W. S. Parkerson, the leader, is a prominent lawyer here, the president of the Southern club, and the man who led the vigorous city reform movement three years ago. Walter D. Deneger, another of the speakers, is one of the leaders of the New Orleans bar. John C. Wickliffe, another leader, is also a prominent attorney, and James D. After the door had been brok en down there was a wild rush for entrance. Two men, however, stood at the door and prevented anyone from going in except those that carried shotguns and Winchesters The inmates of the jail were ready to direct the way to where the Italians were. "Go to the female department." some one yelled, and hither the men with their Winchesters ran. But the door was locked. In a moment the key was produced. Then the leader called for some one who knew the and the door was thrown open. The gallery was deserted, but an old woman, speaking as fast as she could, said the men were upstairs. A party of seven or eight quickly ascended the staircase and as they reached the landing the assassins fled down at the other end. Half a dozen followed them. Scarcely a word was spoken. It placed behind the bars, of whom nineteen was time for action. When the pursued and their pursuers reached the stone courtyard the former darted toward the Orleans side of the gallery and crouched down beside the cells, their faces blanched, and, being unarmed, they were absolutely defenseless. In fear and trembling they screamed for mercy. But the avengers were merciless. Bang! bang! bang! rang out the reports of the murderous weapons and a deadly rain of bullets wait, against Peter Natali, Antonio Scamdi, poured into the crouching figures. Gerachi, the closest man, was struck Romero fell to his knees with his face in his hands. and in that position was shot to death. Monasterio and James Caruso fell together under the fire of half a dozen guns, the leaden pellets entering their bodies and heads, and the blood gushing from the wounds.

The bloody executioners did their work well, and beneath the continuing fire Comitez and Trahina, two of the men who had not been tried, but who were charged jointly with the other accused, fell together. Their bodies were literally riddled with bullets, and they were stone dead almost before the fusillade was over. When the group of assassins was discovered on the gallery Macheca, Scoffedi and old man Mars chesi separated from the other six and ran upstairs.

Thither half a dozen men fellowed them, and as the terror-stricken assassins run into cells they were slain. Jo Macheca, who was charged with being the arch conspirator, was a short. faran, and was summarily dealt with. Politz, the crazy man, was locked up in a cell upstairs. The doors were flung open and one of the avengers, taking aim, shot him through the body. He was not killed outright, and in order to satisfy the people on the outside, who were crazy to know what was going on within, he was dragged down the stairs and through the doorway by which the crowd had entered. Half carried, half dragged, he was taken to the corner. A rope was provided and tied around his neck and the people pulled him up to the cross-bars. Not satisfied that he was dead, a score of men took aim and for several hours his body was left dangling in the air.

The avengers came back in a body to the Clay statue, and then departed. Immense crowds rushed from all directions to the neighborhood of the tragedy, while the streets in front of the newspaper offices were blocked with people anxious to see the latest bulletin.

There was intense but suppressed excitement, and from one end of the city to the other the action of the citizens was applauded.

Coroner Lemoniere reached the prison at 12:30 o'clock and viewed teh bodies of the ten men. They were stretched out in the prison. The verdict was that the men had come to their death at the hands of unknown parties. Sheriff Villere was not at the prison when the mob reached there. He was hunting the mayor in order to have the police ordered out. Attorney General Rogers also hunted up the mayor as did the Italian consul but they were unable to find him, and the work was done before the mayor or the governor could interfere.

The leaders in the movement representing the best citizens held a secret meeting Saturday night and discussed the occurrence of the day and the action to be taken in the future. It was decided that there should be no more bloodshed, but that the men who have not yet been tried for the murder as well as those who suborned the witnesses and the jury shall be vigorously prosecuted before the courts of the city.

- New Orleans was in a wild ferment next morning, and flerce threats of violence were uttered against all Italians. Lynching was openly advocated and arrests were indiscrimi nately made. Nearly fifty Italians were were indicted. Owing to the presence of stenographer in the grand jury room a motion by defendants' counsel to quash the in dictment was granted, but later the same men were indicted again. The city contrib-$25,000 for the prosecution and feeling continued to be excited. Mayor Shakespeare was accused of losing his head and acting from panic and th Italian consul did his best to show that the whole prosecution was the result of unjustiflable race prejudice. The indictments were as follows: One for murder and two for shooting with intent to kill while lying in Antonio Bagnetto, Manuel Politz, Antonio Marchesi, Pietro Monastero, Bastiano Incordona, Salvador Sunzeri, Loretto Comitz, sories before the fact; J. P. Macheca, Jame Caruso, Charles Matranga, Rocco Geruic, Charles Patorno, Frank Romero, John Caruso and Asper Marchesi as accessories.

The case against the alleged conspirators was called for trial February 16, when it was announced that a severance would be taken and that only nine of the nineteen accused would be arraigned at that time. These nine are: Charles Matranga, the reputed chief of the Mafia in New Orleans; Pietro Monastero, the shoemaker who occupied the hut in which the assassins lay previous to shooting; Joseph P. Macheca, the wealthy fruit importer, who hired the building for Monasterio; Asperi Marchesi, a 14-year-old boy who whistled the nal of the victim's approach; his father, Antonio Marchesi, Antonio Scaffedi, Antonio Bagnetto, Manuel Politz and Bestiano Incariona, who are supposed to have been among the actual perpetrators of the shooting. The roll of witnesses for the state included ninety-one names and that for the defense 228 names. Nearly a fortnight was occupie in examining jurors. When the trial began the impression was general that Manuel Politz had been persuaded to become state' evidence, but if such was the case the plan of the prosecution was upset in a most sub stantial fashion, for before the time came for placing him upon the stand he became a raving maniac. The trial throughout abounded in sensational incidents. The multi plicity of the witnesses for the defense cast such a cloud upon the case for the prosecution (which necessarily rested upon the city, causing a loss of over $1,000,000.

There was no blood from the wound, and when the body was found the car was swollen so as to hide the wound, which the corroner had great difficulty in locating.

THEY WANT REDRESS.

Orleans Mob-Secretary Blaine Rebukes the Rioters in a Dispatch to Gov. Nicholls-Indignation Meetings in Chicago and Other Cities. WASHINGTON, March 16 .- The New Orleans mob has got the United States fnto a grave international scrape. There is no doubt about it. Such of the victims of the mob as were not naturalized citizens were entitled to the protection due to all subjects of foreign governments. The failure of the state authorities of Louisiana to give them protection falls upon the federal government, because no foreign nation fired a volley of shot into his body, and | can deal with a single state. The fact that six of the accused Sicilians had been acquitted and the other three given a verdict of mistrial emphasizes in international law the outrageous nature of the mob's work. Money damages will probably be demanded and other reparation be asked. Baron Fava, the Italian minister, has been in Washington long enough to understand perfectly well the limitations of federal and state authority and to know personally the entire responsibility is on the state of Louisiana, but he can not make any demand on it, and officially he must seek reparation only from the United States. Secretary Blaine has sent the following telegram to Gov. Nicholls at New Orleans:

"DEPARTMENT OF STATE, March 15 .- His Excellency, Francis T. Nicholls, Governor o Louisiana, New Orleans: It has been repre sented to the president by the minister of Italy accredited to this government that among the victims of the deplorable massacre which yesterday were three or more subjects of the king of Italy. Our treaty with that friendly government (which under the constitution is the supreme law of the land) guarantees to the Italian subjects domiciled in the United States 'the most constant protec tion and security for their persons and prop erty,' making them amenable on the same ba sis as our own citizens to the laws of the United States and of the several states in their due and orderly administration.

"The president deeply regrets that the citi zens of New Orleans should have so disparaged the purity and adequacy of their own judicial tribunals as to transfer to the passion ate judgment of a mob a question that should have been adjudged dispassionately and by settled rules of law. The government of th United States must give to the subjects o friendly powers that security which it demand for our own citizens when temporarily under the jurisdiction of another power.

"It is the hope of the president that you will cooperate with him in maintaining the obligations of the United States toward Italian sub jects who may be within the perils of the pres-ent excitement, that further bloodshed and violence may be prevented and that all of fenders against the law may be promptly brought to justice. JAMES G. BLAINE. The telegram which Secretary Blaine sent to Gov. Nicholls was the result of a conference between the president and the secretary about 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Baron Fava, the Italian minister, having previously called on Secretary Blaine and earnestly protested against the killing of his countrymen. demanding at the same time protection of all other Italians in New Orleans. Among congressmen and diplomats who have given such matters some attention it is not thought the massacre of the several Italian subjects can become a matter for international consideration or complication between Italy said, were not murdered as Italians, and the only reparation that can be obtained is possibly damages by the wives or relatives of the dead Italian subjects from the municipal government of New Orleans for not protecting the persons of individualsaliens-who at the time they met their death were temporarily, at least, in the custody of the municipal authorities of that city. ROME, March 16.-The Italian government has instructed Baron de Fava, the Italian minister at Washington, to present a vehement protest to the United States government against the action of the mob in New Orleans and the United States has promised to make an investigation. Baron de Fava in a dispatch to Marqu's di Rudini, the Italian premier and foreign minister, says that he has protested against the inaction of the local officials in New Orleans, and that Mr. Blaine, the American secretary of state, expressed horror at the acts of the New Orleans mob, promising that he would immediately make the orders of the president in the matter, and that the decision would be communicated to the Italian government. The Riforma denounces the New Orleans lynching as an outrage and says it is a disgrace to the United States that such acts are possible within its borders.

CHICAGO, March 16.-A mass meeting of Italian citizens was held at Uhlich's hall Sunday afternoon. About 1,500 men were present, most of whom claim American citizenship. There were many vehement speeches made denouncing the affair at New Orleans and demanding reparation, though just what reparation was wanted not stated. The meeting adopted a resolution appealing to the Italian government, as well as that of the United States, to right what they believe to be a great wrong to their fellow countrymen. A committee of seven was apppointed to act with similar committees from cities in securing reparation. Dispatches were sent to Secretary Blaine invoking the aid of the department of state, and to the Italian consul and the editor of the Italian paper in New Orleans, calling upon them to do all ir their power.

Dispatches from New York, Pittsburgh, Kansas City, Milwaukee and other cities announce the holding of similar meetings by Italians.

SENATE. LANSING, Mich., March 11.—Bills were reported favorably in the senate yesterday for free employment bureaus at different points under state supervision; making general election days legal holidays, and for uniformity of the process of the control text books. A joint resolution amending the constitution to limit the time for introduction of bills to the first thirty days of the session was killed. Commencing March 17 the sen-ate will hold session both morning and after-

LANSING, Mich., March 12.—The senate was the scene of turbulence yesterday. Friedlander, the senator charged with bigamy, was in his seat, but retired to the lieutenant governor's room before the session, which was very brief, closed. Neither party knew just what move would be made by the other, but when the order of motions and resolutions was reached Senator Crocker (dem.) offered a resolution that the com mittee on the contested election case of Friedlander vs. Morse be relieved from further consideration of the case. Then the storm broke and for ten minutes the chamber was a howling mob. Excitement was at the highest pitch, and very soon an adjournment was taken, and the remainder of the afternoon was spent in angry discussion

LANSING, Mich., March 13.-In the senate yesterday Senator Milne demanded a correction of the journal of the previous day to show that a constitutional number of Republicans had demanded a yea and nay vote on the motion to table a motion made by him. He succeeded in having it admitted to the journal, but it was laid on the table. Senator Withington subsequently filed a protest against the pas sage of a bill having seventeen affirmative votes, a bare majority, for the reason that the names of those voting for the bill, including Friedlander, who, the protest stated, was not and never had been a member of the senate. As is generally known, a perpetual motion machine is one to be moved by a power furnished by the machine itself and not from any source outside of it. A mill or a clock run by the incessant rise and motion. Neither is a machine that runs by the power of terrestrial or other magnetism, or of the wind, or of variations in the weight of the atmosphere, or by electricity coming from outside of the muchine, or from force of heat coming from the sun. A wheel that could always of itself keep more weight at one side than the other and thus turn so long as its materials lasted would be perpetual motion, and such has been the form of most of the machines invented for the purpose.

Do Not Worry.

About the hardest achievement is to live without fret and worry in the midst of uncertainty. A business man doesn't know how the vital venture is going to turn out. A housewife is placed in such circum stances that her position to-morrow is utterly unforseeable. What shall be done? Let to-moraow alone. Atall don't chase. You will need all your vitality, perhaps, and all your courage, to meet those dreadful contingencies. But nothing wastes vitality, nothing depletes courage like apprehension. Provide, if you can. The boy who defends the weak will one day become a hero among the strong. The boy who will never hurt the feelings of any one will one day find himself in the atmosphere of universal sympathy. "I know not" once said the great Governor Andrew, what record of sin may await me in another world; but this I do know: I never yet despised a man because he was poor, because he was igno rant, or because he was black."

Shall I tell you how to become a popular hoy? I will. Be too manly and generous and inselfish to seek to be popular; be the soul of honor, and love others better than yourself, and people will give you their hearts and delight to make you happy. That is what makes a boy popular.
