THE heavy losses by fire in April have already carried the aggregate of the first three months and a half of 1891 far beyond the corresponding period of 1890. For the first quarter of the year the loss has been $35,197,053, against $24,246,592 in the same quarter of 1890. During April the loss was $5,435,845, as compared with $3,601,960 during the same time last year. The total is $40,-632;898 in 1891, as compared with $27,-848,552 in 1890.

BUFFALO BILL and his Indians are now exploring the picture galleries of Antwerp. They will have ample opportunity for seeing the historic nymphs and madonnas whom Sir Joshua Reynolds described as all being faithful pictures of "fat Mrs. Rubens up in the the clouds." They will also see a European reproduction of their own Pine Ridge society-women and dogs drawing street-carts, while the men smoke and walk behind the procession. If this does not civilize them, nothing can.

THE bill providing municipal suffrage for women has again been beaten in the Massachusetts legislature. This is the twenty-fifth annual defeat which a female suffrage measure has encountered in that body; and as the adverse vote was quite as crushing as on any previous occasion, the reform seems as far off as ever. However, the Massachusetts reformers are patient and long suffering; and the measure will put in an appearance at Boston annually for many years to come, perhaps until it is adopted.

A NEW perfume delights the olfactories of the opulent. It owes its discovery and was brought to this country by Mrs. Stanley. It is called "Lily of the Nile," and is a distillation of the odors that linger along the great African river. Some enterprising dealer has discovered that its subtle aroma may be easily duplicated from the common lilies which growin marshes, and has put his idea into profitable practice by not only utilizing the scent but also the stalks of this plant, the latter being woven into" Stanley" mats.

THE often-used ejaculation "Hurrah!" has a curious origin. In her book on "The Normans," Sarah Orne Jewett traces it to the time of the Norwegian King Rolf, whose name in French is pronounced Rou. There was a law in his time that if a man was in danger or caught his enemy doing any damage he could raise the cry "Ha Rou!" and so invoke justice in the name of the sover eign. At the sound of this cry everybody was bound on the instant to give chase to the offender, under penalty of a heavy fine for failure to comply. From this law was also derived the old English "hue and cry."

THE death of P. T. Barnum elicited numerous press comments on his career. His name is familiar to the people and has become incorporated in the French language. Hon. VON MOLTKE IS DEAD.

The Life of One of Germany's Greatest Soldiers Comes to a Sudden Close—The Fatherland in Mourning—Short Sketch of the Veteran's Military Career.

Benias, April 25.—General von Moltke, one of the great historic fig-ures of the German empire, died sud-denly Friday night at his residence in this city. He was an interested spectator of the proceedings in the reichstag Friday afternoon, and appeared in excellent health, lauching and chat-ting pleasantly with Chancel-lor von Caprivi and several members of the reichstag. After the session he lingered in the lobby a few minutes conversing with a number of army officers, and then was driven to his residence. At 9:30 o'clock Friday night his physicians were summoned but on their arrival a few minutes later they found the general dead and pronounced the cause heart disease. While the general was sitting in his chair reading he suddenly gasped and without a word expired. The family entertained hopes that he could be resuscitated but the physicians at once determined that he was dead. The news spread rapidly through the city and on every hand created the profound sorrow. Emperor Wiliam, whose love for the old soldier amounted almost to idolatry, shed tears when he heard of the general's death, and immediately ordered that extensive preparations be made to show the esteem in which he was held by the nation. Residences and business places in Berlin are already being draped, and the city presents a spectacle similar to those witnessed after the deaths of Emperor William and Emperor Frederick. Telegrams of condolence have been received from all the large cities of the empire and from the various courts of Europe, all paying tribute to the general's worth as a citizen and a soldier. Emperor Francis Joseph has already announced his intention of being present at the funeral. King Umberto, of Italy, expresses deep sorrow and says the general was the foremost soldier of the century. The funeral will probably take place on Tuesday.

Helmuth Karl von Moltke was descended from a well-known Mecklenberg family. He was born at Parchim on October 26, 1800. Soon his birth his parents settled in Ho stein and in his 19th year he was sent to Copenhagen to devote himself to the military profession. In 1829 he entered the Prussian service as a lieutenan and studied in the military academy. In 1835 he took a tour in Turkey, which brought him uttier the notice of the sultan, who advise with him on the reorganization of the Turkish army. He remained several years in Turkey and in 1839 took part in the campaign of the Turks in Syria against the Viceroy Mehemed Ali of Egypt. In 1845, having returned to Prussia and published an account of his Turkish experiences, he became adjutant to Prince Henry, of Prussia, then resident in Rome, and after his death was engaged with the general command on the Rhine, becoming in 1848 a member of the grand general staff and in 1849 chief of the staff of the army corps in Magdeburg. In 1858 he was advanced to the rank of chief of the grand general staff of the Prussian army, and in 1850 became a lieutenant general. In the Austro-Italian war Moltke was present in the Austrian headquarters, and after the conclusion of peace spared no pains to develop the capacity of the Prussian army. When the war of 1864 against Denmark broke out Moltke sketched the plan of the cam-paign and assisted in its execution. The whole plan of the Bohemian campaign was due to Moltke, who was personally present in the pattle of Koniggratz, which he led. He in like manner arranged the bold advance of the Prussian columns against Olmutz and Vienna and negotiated the preliminaries of peace. For these services he received the order of the Black Eagle. To the brilliant strategy of "Father Moltke," as he was termed in the German army, the victories in the Franco-German war were ascribed. He was practically the commander in chief and the whole plan of campaign was due to him. In recognition of his services he was made chief marshal of the German empire in 1871 and was created count in 1872. From the czar he received the military decoration of the order of St. George in 1870 and from his own sovereign the grand cross of the order of the Iron Cross in 1871.]

HORRIBLY BUTCHERED.

A Terrible Murder in New York Causes the Belief That "Jack the Ripper" Has Located in That City. New York, April 25.—A horrible erime committed in a thickly populated section of lower New York at some time between 11 o'clock Thursday night and 10 o'clock Friday morning justifies a suspicion that the fiend known as "Jack the Ripper" of White-chapel noteriety in London has located in this city, or that an equally blood-thirsty wretch is plying his trade of murder in the same fashion. Between the hours named an unknown woman about 55 years of age was disemboweled at the Fourth Ward hotel, a resort at No. 14 Catherine slip, and her assassin has disappeared mysteriously. About 10:30 o'clock Thursday night a tall, slender man about 30 years of age. dressed in a brown cutaway coat and light trousers, met an old woman who is known by the name of "Shakespeare" around the Fourth ward, and with her entered the hotel and asked for a room for the night. The man registered under the name of C. Nicoli, and he and the woman were shown to a room on the top floor. Friday morning the bartender went to the room and rapped on the door. There was no response and he forced the door. The dead body of the old woman was found lying on the bed. It was shockingly cut and mutilated. The body was completely naked. A deep gash extended from the lower part of the abdomen upward to the breast, which disemboweled it completely. The entrails had apparently been torn from the body and were scattered over the bed. There were also two deep cuts crossing each other on the back in the form of an exact cross.

his horrible butchery. There was no trace of the man, and no one had seen him leave the hotel. The detectives placed under arrest a bartender, a woman named Mary Heeler and the chambermaid, Mary Mineter. The coroner has the murderer's knife, which is a common table knife with a broken blade about two inches in length and half an inch wide. The resemblance between this murder and those credited to Jack the Ripper in London is strong enough to warrant the presumption that the object aimed at was the same, although the procedure was slightly different.

It is believed the murderer strangled

AVENGED THEIR COMRADE. soldiers Attack the Jail at Walla Walla,

Wash., and Shoot to Death the Murderer of One of Their Companions-A Conflict with Prison Guards in Which a Number of Persons Are Sald to Have Been Killed.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 25. - Word comes from Walla Walla of a bloody conflict between 150 soldiers and a sheriff's guard, in which the latter while repelling an attack on the jail by the troops fired upon them with deadly effect, the soldiers answering with a volley which mowed down a number of the citizens acting as guards. The peculiarity of the affair is that it was probably the first instance recorded where soldiers, armed and uniformed, have resorted to mob violence against the civil authorities. On Wednesday night A. J. Hunt, a gambler, whose reputation was bad even among his companions, became engaged in an altercation with Private Miller and struck him in the face. Miller returned the blow and was getting the best of the fight when Hunt drew a revolver from his hip pocket and shot Miller dead. A mob at once collected and an attempt was made to lynch the murderer, but he was hurried to jail by the authorities, who determined that the law should take its course. Talk of lynching has been heard on the streets ever since the murder, and the sheriff, fearing an attempt would be made to take the prisoner out and lynch him, swore in a number of citizens as special deputies, armed them with rifles and placed them inside the jail instructions to guard with prisoner at all hazards. Friday night the jail, a strong structure, was surrounded by fully 150 soldiers, who demanded the surrender of Hunt, The sheriff refused, hot words were exchanged, and several of the more impetuous deputies fired the soldiers, who anupon swered with a volley. The dispatches say half a dozen persons were killed and many wounded, but whether they were citizens or soldiers is not known. After, the shooting the soldiers are reported to have battered salary from $1,200 to $1,000.

TO CIRCULATE SMALL COINS. Secretary Foster's Plan to Secure the

Assistance of Banks. WASHINGTON, April 23.-Secretary Foster is considering a new plan for getting the subsidiary coin into circulation and keeping it in circulation. One of the New York banks, which is a government depository to the amount of $200,000, has offered to take $5,000 monthly in subsidiary coin, provided it be allowed to increase its holdings of the 4 per cents. Four per cents are now above $1.20. They are accepted by the government from the banks in which United States funds are deposited as security up to $1.10. The New York bank's proposition is that the 4 per cents be taken as security up to $1.15. As there is not much probability that the 4 per cents will go below $1.20, Secretary Foster is inclined to believe that they might be accepted from the depositories as security on government funds up to $1.15, but he does not expect to give this advantage without some concessions in return, and the offer of the New York. bank to help keep the subsidary coin in circulation by taking a stated amount monthly about meets his idea of a fair arrangement. Should the government bank depositories throughout the country show a disposition to do this they would probably be accommodated. It would require a general concurrence of action to make the plan successful and the secretary will wait till he hears from a number of the banks before taking steps to carry out the plan.

The Explosion of a Powder Magazine i a Fort Near Rome Kills Seven Persons and Wounds Over 200-Many Buildings in the Italian Metropolis Wrecked—The Farliament House and the Vatican Dam-ROME, April 24.—The powder maga sine at the fort at Pozzo Pantaleo exoloded at 7 o'clock a. m., Thursday completely demolishing the fort, killing seven peasants who were in the vicinity and seri- follows: ously injuring hundreds of others. The fort was four kilometers from Rome, but the explosion shook this city to its center. Houses rocked and trembled as though smitten with an ague, while the glass from thousands of broken windows was hurled through the air and fell in dangerous showers to the streets. The great cupola surmounting the parliament building was mashed to pieces and the surrounding streets strewn with its debris. The doors of offices and private residences were burst open by the terrific concussion and heavy articles of furniture were overturned. Many of the people whom the early hour found still asleep were thrown from their beds and dashed violently upon the floors of their apartments. Panic-stricken, the bewildered people in thousands poured out upon the streets, fearing and fully expecting to find the city in the throes of a great earthquake. Confusion and terror was everywhere. Men looked in each other's faces only to find reflected there the fear which possessed themselves. Women praying aloud, others hurrying with their children to find refuge from an unknown danger, and still others weeping hysterically and aimlessly wringing their hands were met at every corner.

When the city had quieted down and an investigation had been had it was found that enormous damage had been done to the fort, which was filled with soldiers a few moments before the explosion occurred. Fortunately the commandant heard the warning rumble and at once ordered the men to vacate the building. This was promptly done and a terrible disaster was thus averted.

King Humbert, accompanied by Premier Rudini and every member of the cabinet, has gone to the scene of the disaster. A military cordon has been established at Pozzo Pantaleo and the people are forbidden to approach the vicinity of the wrecked fort.

Forty small houses in the neighborhood of the exploded magazine are entirely ruined and many more are seriously damaged. The appearance of the king in the streets on his way to Pozzo Pantaleo excited the utmost enthusiasm among the people who still thronged the thoroughfares, and exerted a decided influence in reassuring the timid. When King Humbert was seen returning from the wreck convey-Saturday a bill providing for a stenographer for each of the justices of the supreme court was agreed to after amending by changing the ing some of the wounded to the hospital in his own carriage he was given an ovation all along the line of his prog-

> Two officers dangerously wounded and 120 civilians have thus far been taken to the hospitals. Every house within a radius of a kilometer from the point of the explosion is more or less damaged. It has been ascertained that 250 tons of powder was stored in the exploded magazine.

The vatican was not spared. The edifice was shaken and several of the historical stained glass windows of the old building were shattered. The windows in the ancient Raphael chambers and the stained glass in the royal staircase, presented to Pope Pius 1X. by the king of Bavaria, were seriously injured.

PHILIP MOEN DEAD.

The Barbed Wire Manufacturer a Victim of Apoplexy-Strange Episode of His

WORCESTER, Mass., April 24,-Philip . Moen, president of the Washburn & Moen Manufacturing Company, died at his home in this city late Thursday afternoon. He suffered a stroke of apoplexy several days ago and never rallied. He was born in Wilna, N. Y., November 13, 1824, and had been connected with the wire works in this city forty-six years. He leaves a widow and three children. Mr. Moen's life had been marked by one singular episode and that was his connection with the notorious "Doc" Levi Wilson. Wilson was a coachman -a low, vulgar fellow-and yet, without any apparent reason as far as is known, Mr. Moen in the course of seven years prid him between $303,000 and $400,000. He began to make these payments to Wilson in 1875. In 1882 Mr. Moen announced to Wilson that he should pay him no more money, giving him then $20,000. Wilson in 1885 brought suit against Moen for $116,000, claiming that the Worcester manufacturer had agreed to pay all his (Wilson's) breach of promise cases and they aggregated that figure. The jury disagreed. Since Wilson has been wandering about, being now nominally a commercial traveler in the west. Mr. Moen never mentioned the affair to even his intimate friends. He insisted that it was a case of blackmail, pure and simple, but declined to make any explanation further than to say his good name was not involved in Wilson's secret. Wilson as long as he received money from Moen refused any explanation, but after his supplies were cut off he declared he was Mr. Moen's illegitimate child. This, too, the latter denied and he died with the mystery as deep as ever. Many Families Burned Out.

CHICAGO, April 24.—A disastrous fire broke out shortly after noon Thursday and destroyed a row of frame houses running from 337 to 345 West Chicago avenue, causing a loss of about $25,000. WALLA WALLA, Wash., April 27.—
Great excitement still prevails in this city over the lynching of Hunt by the soldiers. The report of a battle soldiers. The report of a battle, with guards, in which a number of persons were killed and wounded is untrue. The details of the affair are as follows:

The sheriff had received in intimation early in the evening of the purpose of the soldiers and engaged a number of extra guards, but all of them had not arrived when a mob of seventy soldiers began with hammer and chisel to break in the doors. They demanded admittance and said they would give those inside half a minute to open the door or they would blow up the courthouse with dynamite. Resistance being useless, the doors were opened. Hunt was taken out into the courthouse yard and about thirty shots were fired at him. The soldiers then returned to their quarters, and it is difficult to identify those concerned in the shooting. The soldiers actually took charge of the town, and would allow no one to pass along the streets in the vicinity of the jail. They compelled the merchants to put out their lights. The prosecuting attorney has telegraphed the secretary of war the details of the tragedy, with the statetelegraphed the secretary of war the details of the tragedy, with the statement that the authorities were unable to protect themselves against the lawless soldiers, and asked that immediate action be taken.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27 .- The president had a conference with Brig.-Gen. Ruger late Sunday afternoon in regard to the lynching of the murderer at Walla Walla by a party of soldiers last Friday night. Subsequently the president sent the following telegram to the secretary of war at Washington.

"The affair at Walla Walla is discreditable to the army discipline. If there is reason to believe, as appears, that the mob was composed of soldiers you will order a court of inquiry and see that the responsibility for the disgrace i fixed and the guilty are brought to a promp BENJAMIN HARRISON.

The position that Senator Reagan has accepted is one recently created by the legislature of Texas. It pays a salary of $6,000 a year and the term of office of the incumbent is ten years. What a busy world this is. Lulls there may be, but they are few and far between, But the busy man is always busy, and they slip by unnoticed so far as he is concerned. Events crowd and elbow each other along all lines. Bodies of men come togeather, discuss, debate, deliberate and command attention, as they are doing now. They crowd out of notice that which has been amusing or entertaining the masses for a season. What was new a few hours ago is stale now. It is shoved aside for the fresher and the newer, and never will be missed by the masses who watch the drift that flows along on the swift current

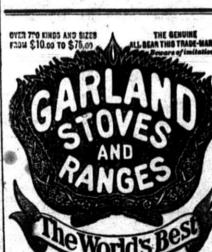

It is very rare that good farmers will rent their land so long as they are able to work it for themselves Good farmers put a great deal of their own work and selves into their farm, and after a man has worked for years to make the old farm easy to manage, it comes hard to place the fruit of his labor in hands of those who will only in part appreciate it. The good ural tendency of farms is to deteriorate in fertility and available value. He knows that it is only by the closest management that this tendency in his time has been checked. If the management be in any way relaxed he knows only too well that the farm will as surely, and even more surely, tend backward as it has in his time to tend forward.
