An Important Decision Rendered by the Supreme Court.

The supreme court has handed down an important decision in the Bay City case of Dwight Brooks vs. Daniel Mangan and Samuel Catlin, in which it is held that hawkers and peddlers cannot be charged exorbitant license fees, as it makes unjust discrimination between residents and non-residents of a city, practically exempting residents from its provisions, while imposing unjust and unreasonable license upon nonresidents. It was also held, in another decision, that officers could not be held for damages for false imprisonment as long as they had acted in good faith. The bench held that it was inevitable, under any criminal proceedings, that innocent persons will sometimes be arrested. An Unlooked for Crop.

Ambrose Clouse, a farmer residing near Bronson, cut a crop in his field the other day that had been planted by other hands than his. While cutting wheat with a new binder he ran onto nearly a hundred pieces of telegraph wire that had been cut about as long as the wheat was high and set up in the field. He did not find it out until he had ruined his machine. A short time ago Clouse prosecuted some fellows for stealing his chickens and they said then they would get even with him.

THE inheritance of great wealth has love for the glitter and spangles of the circus. Though his income is now greater than the president's salary, the son of the great showman dons the pink tights at every performance and rides in the hurdle race with all the interest of a ten-dollar-a-week supe. Young Forepaugh is thirty years old and built like an athlete. He has had something to do about a circus ring since he was a boy of seven.

Is a Chautauqua talk Mrs. Ewing said we need better "punkin" pies and less politics, and that, as the country needs cooks, women should take up the craft that men have monopolized. "Cooks are wanted everywhere," she says. "There is scarcely a village in the land where a competent woman could not earn big wages in giving cooking lessons. Half a dozen churches in Kansas City each paid me for a course of lectures a sum larger than the average school-teacher can earn in a year, and they themselves made big profits out of the course."

THE Boston Herald says that the fact that the present occupant of the vice presidency of the republic is the only living man who has ever held that office is remarkable. The few American presidents that remain (three in number) is in itself singular, but that of the seven vice presidents of the last twentyeight years (that being the period for which those have been elected who succeeded Hannibal Hamlin), there is but one survivor, and that is the man latest chosen, is almost appalling. There is something like a fatality following the men who have filled the office.

DR. HENRY T. HELMBOLD, the famous buchu man, who was credited with having piled up a fortune of $10,000,000 by the sale of his patent medicines, is once more in a madhouse. The Grand Parade- Washington Gets the Nert Encampment-Palmer Chosen Commander - Other Officers Elected, Etc.

THE BOYS IN BLUE.

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 5.-Tuesday was s day which will be long remembered by the grizzled veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic. As the opening day of the twenty-fifth annual encampment, it marks a quarter of a component, it marks a quarter of a century in the growth of the organization, and every soldier re-alizes that it must also mark the apex in the prosperity of that great order, which, year by year, has envel-oped in its fraternal fold every state of the great union from Maine to Texas and from Florida to Washington.

As the tried and trusty soldiers of '65 were ever eager for the battle, so the veterans of '91 were eager for the grand parade which was to recall so many reminiscences of former days. Before the morning sun had kissed the spangled arches and emblazoned in glory the golden decorations that marked the line of march, the grand army bands were abroad, and the measured tread of the veterans preparing for the march resounded through the streets.

Not less than 40,000 men followed in unbroken columns the flags which they had borne to victory in days of war. Grayer and more feeble, they disdained the use of carriages and cheerfully tradged through the streets, receiving the applause of thousands who thronged every point of vantage to witness the marching and add to the volume of cheers. Windows and balconies, housetops, tree branches and telegraph pole arms bore their living freight and served as reserved seats from which excellent views could be Sons of Veterans, 5,000 strong, brought Promptly at the hour indicated, and with a military precision which showed the volunteer soldiers had forgotten none of their early training, the posts assembled on the line of march. Four magnificent arches, erected by the citizens in different parts of the city, marked the line of march.

Slowly and majestically, in measured tread to music, the procession started from Woodward and Adams avenues. with Commander in Chief Veazey and his staff in the lead, until the reviewing stand was reached. The stand from which the commander in chief and his glittering staff reviewed the parade was situated on "Campus Mortinus," on the east side of Woodward avenue.

On Illinois, the home of Lincoln, the home of Grant and of Logan, was conferred the honor of the right of the line of march. But it was not because of these illustrious names that the Prairie state was so honored, but because of one whose services to the veterans of the state and nations dates since the war. Dr. B. F. Forty New Jersey veterans were ac-companied by J. R. Mulliken, com-mander; Past Department Commander H. N. Stevens and Past Department Commander Charles Burrows.

One hundred ex-union soldiers, led by Department Commander Samuel L. Miller, represented the state of Maine. California showed up twenty-five strong, notwithstanding the distance they had to come. At their head with other past commanders marched W. R. Smedburg.

Following the little Rhode Island group was the New Hampshire division, twenty strong.

Vermont followed New Hampshire with 150 men. They were received with great applause in compliment to Commander in Chief Veazey, whose own post headed the delegation. Indi na's 2,800 veterans marched in majestic column past the reviewing stand, and at the head and beside Department Commander I. N. Walker marched Gov. Alvin H. Hovey. Gen.º A. D. Wayne county, Ill., in 1822, and died in. Menard county August 30, 1871, aged but 49 years. His remains lie in the soldiers' lot of Rose Hill cemetery, Petersburg, Ill. He organized the Grand Army of the Republic in 1866, and a few months later J. N. Coltryn and Joseph Prior were joined with ten others in forming the first post, which was instituted at Deeatur, April 6, 1866, under a charter granted by Dr. Stephenson.

The survivors of Post No. 1 were a conspicuous little group in the Illinois delegation and their appearance was the signal for a tribute of cheers. Department Commander Horace S. Clark led the command and 3,000 representatives of the loyal sons of the Sucker state were in line.

The enthusiasm which greeted the second or Wisconsin division, 700 strong, was unbounded. In the front rank and borne high in the air on the spring worthy of its royal parentage. top of a flagstaff perched "Old Abe," the stuffed eagle which became a part of Wisconsin's history a quarter of a century ago. In line with the Wisconsin boys were Gen. Lucius Fairchild, ex-governor of the state and commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, and Col. A. G. Wissert, candidate for commander in chief. Department Commander W. H. Upham was in command. The Pennsylvania division came next, 1,500 strong, marching in good order to sprightly music furnished by the post bands. Deputy Commander Boyer rode at their head, with Adjt. Gen. Town and Quartermaster-Gen. Abraham Levering, followed by the aides. Pittsburgh posts led the delega-

The Ohio delegation was a vast army of itself. No less than 13,000 veterans tramped to the music of the bands. Beside Department Commander A. M. Warner marched Gen. S. H. Hurst, the Ohio candidate for commander in chief. A conspicuous figure was Gen. Manning F. Col. A. L. Conger, Gen. P. H. Dowling and Gen. R. B. Brown were among the past department commanders in line. The strains of Virginia's martial five departments, with 7,409 posts and nusic was dying in the distance as Maryland, some 300 strong, rassed the stand.
