ge Buildings in New York Suddenly dispse-The Ruins Filled with Dead-Thought the Death - List May Reach

NEW YORK, Aug. 94 .- In the twinkling of an eye without warning, without hope or chance of escape, prohably eighty persons were swept to their deaths in a rotten old building in Park place at noon Saturday. It was Taylor's building at Nos. 68, 70, 79 and 74 Park place. It was occupied by lithographers, bookbind-ers, a monthly journal called the South, and on the ground floor were a drug store, restaurant, a paint and plumbing shop. It was a structure so ancient and so frail that the fire department had marked it as unsafe and insurance companies would hardly issue policies upon it. It collapsed like a piece of burnt paper and crushed down on the people in it. Then came fire and added its horror to the rest. How many poor creatures instantly perished under the falling mass, how many were penned in by it and died after horrible agonies in the fire, how many were saved from these dreadful fates to be drowned in the floods of water that were poured upon the wreck after hours of heroic work by the firemen no one could tell. But by midnight Sunday there had been taken from the ruins seventeen crushed, burned and mangled bodies. Sixtyseven persons are reported missing, and there is little doubt but their remains are covered by the debris. At least fifty persons were injured. There is a considerable difference of opinion as to the cause of the disaster. People in the wrecked building who escaped say that there was no explosion, but those who were on the street near the scene say that they heard the report of an explosion. It seems probable that the weight of the printing presses which were located on the top floors, together with the vibration of their motion, proved too much for the building and caused the collapse. On the ground floors were a bronze powder factory, a drug store and a restaurant. Above them were a blank book manufactory, a printing shop and a lithographic establishment. No one could tell how many people were in the drug store. In the basement of the bronze powder factory there were five girls employed cutting gold leaf. All are thought to have been lost. The restaurant employed about fifteen men. most of whom are missing. There is no reliable information as to the number of persons in the restaurant, but as it was just the noon hour the number was probably large. It was said that there were thirty-three of the lithographers' employes in the part of the building which fell. Eight people were employed in the printing shop one escaped by a miracle. In the blank book manufactory there were about fifteen, three or four of whom wer girls. It is difficult to see how any o them could have escaped.

WAS SHORT OF FUNDS.

The American Wheel Company Makes an Assignment - Assets Among the Millions.

CHICAGO, Aug. 22.-The American Wheel Company, the largest of its kind in the world, having works throughout Indiana, Ohio, Michigan and other states, has failed. The assets are $4,-100,000; liabilities about $2,000,000. Judge Blodgett, of the federal district court, has made Noble C. Butler re-

The failure was caused by the great stringency in the money market during the last six months, the company being prevented from issuing any part of its unused capital stock on which it had depended for funds to meet its obligations maturing during the period from May to November. This period was the dullest period in the carriage wheel business, and to make matters worse creditors of the company holding accommodation paper became cautious and refused to renew or extend these obligations, which were secured by the plants of the company.

It is claimed by the company's attorneys that the embarrassment will be but temporary, and that within a month the receiver will be discharged and the control of the business be returned to the company's officers.

The company is an Illinois corpora tion, but has little property in this state. The heaviest stockholders live in Indiana, Julius F. Pratt, one of the heaviest Indiana stockholders, who represents other stockholders whose interests amount to $1,900,000, applied for the appointment of a receiver. The bill states that the receiver was asked for at the request and for the benefit of all the shareholders. The assets, the bill stated, consist of sites, manufacturing plants, machinery and products in various cities in the seven states named, and are distributed as follows: Indiana, $1,500,000; Ohio, $1,000,000: Michigan, $440,000; Pennsylvania, $220,000; New York, $85,000; Massachusetts, $50,000; Illinois, $10,000; other assets, accounts, bills receivable and cash on hand, $$00,000; total, $4,105,-000. The liabilities are: Bills of exchange, promissory notes, drafts, acceptances and other evidences of indebtedness, $1,750,000; further indebtedness for labor, $50,000; total, $1,800,-

The bill states that the company was organized in 1889, with a capital of $3,000,000, to engage in the manufacture of wheels for all kinds of vehicles. Plants were established at Indianapolis, Fort Wayne, Terre Haute, St. Mary's, Ind.; Miamisburg, Sydney, Jalion, Sandusky and Ottawa, O.; Jack on and Kalamazoo, Mich.; Westthester, Pa., and Syracuse and Shortsrille, N. Y. The plants at ill these places are being operited. When the business of the ompany began stock was issued and aid for to the amount of $2,305,578. Vith this capital the company erected he above plants and also purchased urge amounts of machinery, horses, agons and dravs and material used in he manufacture of wheels, and the roperty is now located in the followig cities: Huntington, Mount Vernon, sgood, Titusville, Auburn and Samnia, Ind.; Lansing, Mich., and Van ert and Scott, O. All these plants rere conducted as one business.

An Indiana Desperado Fatally Shoots City Marshal Bruce, of Shelbyville—A Mob Takes Him from Jall, and After Hanging Him Fills His Body with Bullets His Victim Still Alive.

SHELBYVILLE, Ind., Aug. 94 .- Dan Bruce, city marshal, was shot and fatally wounded Saturday evening by Charley Hawkins, a desperado, who was lynched by a mob a few hours later. Hawkins was in a quarrel when Bruce came upon the scene and requested him to cease his disturbance. Hawkins then reached for his revolver, and with an oath fired three shots in succession at Bruce, each bullet taking effect. Hawkins fired twice more, but missed, and started to run, with Bruce following. When about 150 feet from the place of the shooting Bruce caught Hawkins, placed him under arrest and immediately fell. He was removed to his residence. His case was considered hopeless.

At midnight a mob of 500 collected in the courthouse yard and proceeded to the jail without a word. The sheriff demanded to know who was there. One of the mob impersonated a deputy marshal and said he had a prisoner. The sheriff then opened the door, when twelve men entered the parlor and seized him by the throat. He was then tied hand and foot and a handkerchief was stuffed into his month. One of the mob secured the keys of the jail and the barred doors were swung open and guards placed at the entrance to keep back the other prisoners. Hawkins was in a rear cell, and when the mob reached that portion of the jail fell upon his face, placed his hands over his eyes and said: "Please let me pray." The committee did not wait, but proceeded to tie his hands and feet and to adjust the rope about his neck. In a moment six men came rushing out of the jail pulling their victim by the neck, dragging him on the ground. Twenty feet from the jail door a tree was found and the rope was thrown over a limb, and a second later Hawkins was suspended in midair. Eight shots were then fired into his body and the dreadful work was over. The mob immediately dispersed and in five minutes everything on the streets was as quiet as a graveyard. It is said that Hawkins' deed was premeditated. A week ago the Marshal arrested Hawkins' 12-year-old son, who had thrown stones through some plate glass windows, and Hawkins boasted that he had come to the city prepared to get even with Bruce. He had sought trouble with several persons, but all were afraid of him and avoided him. His father and son were left in jail unmolested by the mob. although each participated in the cowardly shooting of 'the city marshal. After Hawkins had emptied his revolver, which he had borrowed for the occasion, his son stepped up and handed him another well loaded, but of this he was disarmed by other officers. The father of the assassin, a very old man, came up just as the marshal started to fall, and going up to the dving man drew a club and was about to strike him when a bystander caught him. The mob, however, let him go on account of his age and his boy on account of his youth. The lynching was all completed and the mob dispersed inside of three minutes from the time it entered the yard, and people living in the immediate vicinity knew nothing of the affair until all the participants had disappeared. It is said that many of the most prominent citizens of the city and county participated in the hanging. Dr. T. C. Kennedy says that Bruce has even chances. Three balls passed through his right breast, but only one pierced the lung. Hawkins' father and son were permitted to go from jail Sunday, and with his wife and mother lingered at the undertaker's all day and at 3 o'clock were permitted to view the body of their son and father. His mother, who is aged 72, bent over his form and kissed him and sobbed piteously. His wife also wept and created a scene when permitted to see him. She was in a buggy 30 paces away and witnessed her husband's crime. She was cool at the time and never moved during the shooting, though two of the shots came near striking her. Babe Hawkins, brother of the lynched man, is said to be in the city now on the hunt for Constable Johnson and others whom he believes to have been in the mob. A post-mortem was held on the body of Charles Hawkins. Dr. T. C. Kennedy, who dressed the wounds of Bruce, found that three of the balls fired into Hawkins after he was strung up had passed through his left lung and two through his left arm and shoulder. He also found that the skull had been fractured where one of the lynchers had struck him with "knucks."

THE late James Russell Lowell, says the Boston Herald, though a good writer and speaker, never included the lecture platform among his tastes. His wit and his culture would have made him a favorite there, but the only lectures he wrote were those for the Lowell institute and in his college courses. Holmes, Emerson and Agassiz all engaged in popular lecturing, but Lowell, though having more of the oratorical faculty, than any of them, preferred not to exercise it in this way. His cleverness as an after dinner speaker was mostly developed after he went as minister to England.

MANY states have stringent laws against food adulteration, but they fail to check the evil. The last report of the dairy commissioner of New Jersey shows that 43.96 per cent. of all the food preparations submitted to him for examination were adulterated. Sometimes the adulterations were harmless, but in many instances rank poisons were found in articles of everyday consumption. A large percentage of canned vegetables, such as peas and string beans, were found to contain copperas, used to give a green color, and a number of baking powders had been "doctored" with ammonia.

"The Potato Blight in England.

LONDON, Aug. 22.-England has a taste of the trouble which fell so disastrously upon Ireland last year-the potato blight. Practically the whole potato crop of both Lincolnshire and Cambridgeshire is diseased, the "black spot" having appeared in every field. lundreds of acres of the plants are worse than useless and have become a cause of threatening pestilence, foul odors being emitted to poison the surrounding air. This is the banner potato district of England, and, though the potato crop does not mean so much as in Ireland, it is an important matter for the portion of the country affected.

the Little Son of George W. Owen Missing from His Home in Owosso,

Frankie D. Owen, son of George W. Owen, of Owosso, was terribly fright-ened at school, by his teacher, for taking a worthless old revolver to school. The teacher told him it was a state's prison offense, and that she would have the matter with the superintendent to attend to. Frankie, fearing srest, left home on Monday afternoon, June 1, 1891, and went to St. Johns, where he was seen on June 1 and 2, but no further trace of him has yet been obtained. His parents did not know he had been frightened until after he went

He is nearly 13 years old, 4 feet 7 or s inches tall, brown hair, blue-gray eyes, and when he left home wore a lightstraw hat, dark coat and white waist, brown knee pants, black stockings and high tennis shoes. He had a scar across just under his chin. A liberal reward will be paid for his return or for information that will lead to his return home.

R Rages Near Valparaiso, Chill-Insur gents Attack Baimaceda's Troops-Both Sides Lose Heavily, 3,000 Being Slain-The Fate of the Republic in the Bals

VALPARAISO, Aug. 24. - President Archbishop Balmaceda and the junta de Gobierno Heiss, took are clinched in the final desperate struggle for the mastery of the republic of Chili. The chosen battle ground is in full view of the city of Valparaiso, and thousands of anxious eyes are watching from every point of vantage the battle which is to decide the fate of the country. The battle has been raging practically for three days. The first engagement was at the mouth of the Aconcagua on Friday, and resulted in a reverse to the government. The final test of strength is now being made at Vina del Mar beach, directly across Valparaiso bay and less than 5 miles away. When news reached here that an army of 8,000 rebels had been landed at Quintero bay Thursday, Balmaceda and his generals were taken by surrise, but the utmost activity was used in getting troops to the front, if possible, to prevent the invading army from crossing the Aconcagua river immediately south of the bay. The arrangements were made hurriedly and only a little over half of the troops were available for this purpose. Six of the insurgent warships were anchored in Cosnon bay, at the mouth of the river, and under the cover of their guns the army of the junta undertook the task of forcing a passage of the river on Friday morning. A most desperate and bloody battle resulted, lasting pretty nearly all day. galling fire from the insurgent artillery, which was parked on the northern bank of the river, aided by the heavy batteries and machine guns from the ships, was too much for the government troops and they were forced to retire, which they did in good order. Both sides fought with the utmost valor, and the desperate character of the battle may be judged from the fact that while less than 20,000 troops were engaged the list of casualties will foot up nearly 8,000 men killed and wounded.

The general in command of the government forces selected a strong position on the beach of Vino del Mar, the eastern shore of Valparaiso, as his second line of defense, and, leaving force enough in front of the enemy to check his progress somewhat, took his place there Saturday and went to work to strengthen it as much as possible. All day long Saturday the insurgent forces pushed their way steadily forward, driving the comparatively small government force before them. It was a constant skirmish for 15 miles over broken country. At every point of vantage the Balmacedas made a stand, and while they constantly were forced to give way before superior numbers they retarded the advance and gave the main army at Vina del Mar a chance to better prepare for the decisive fight. It was not until late in the evening that the attacking army ar- clerk.-Mail and Express.

to less than 7,000. At the back of the government line is Fort Callao, the heavy guns of which have done good work in the battle, both in raking the enemy by land and preventing the insurgent fleet, which had entered the bay Saturday night, from doing anything more effective than long range firing. There was some desultory firing late Saturday afternoon, but it was only skirmishing. The congressionalists attacked in force Sunday morning, and all day long the battle raged with the utmost fierceness.

The most intense excitement prevails in this city. The roar of heavy artillery and the sharp rattle of small arms resound through the streets. Thousands of people are watching the desperate struggle which is being fought under their very eyes. The western shore of the bay, from Fort Valdevia, on the extreme northwestern point, to Fort Andes, on the southeastern shore, is lined, and great crowds of anxious citizens have found places on Duprat and San Antonio points, the landing place, the floating docks and in fact every other place from which even the most unsatisfactory glimpse of the contending armies could be had. There is a constant stream of wounded being brought into the city from the fort, and temporary hospitals are being fitted up wherever possible. Nearly all the women who had not left the city have volunteered their services as nurses, and they and the full medical force of the city have their hands full. From the wounded and their attendants only the most fragmentary information as to the progress of the fight can be obtained, and it is utterly impossible at this writing to form any judgment as to which side is getting the better of it.
