A BURIED PEOPLE.

rkable Results of Recent Exploraations in the Sierra Madre. On the side of the canvon where the sun rarely shines were a number of burial caves. At first sight there was nothing to indicate that they had ever been used, but after digging to a depth of three feet below the hard substance that composed the floor of the cave we fortunately struck a skull, then came upon the whole body of a man. After this followed that of a mother holding her child in her arms, and then two more bodies, all lying on their left sides facing the west, with their knees half drawn up, and all in a marvelous state of preservation owing to the presence of saltpeter in the dust. This imparted to the dead a mummy-like appearance. Their features were very well preserved; some had retained their eyebrows and part of their hair, and even their intestines had not all disappeared.

The hair of these people was very slightly wavy and softer than that of the modern Indian-almost silky in fact. They were of low stature, and bore a marked resemblance to the Moquivillage Indians, who, as well as the Zunis, have a tradition that their ancestors came from the south, and who to this day speak of their southern brethren. I afterward brought to light several more bodies which had been interred under similar conditions. They wore no ornaments of metal, but ornamental shells, and round their ankles and wrists were found anklets and bracelets of beautifully plaited straw, which however, crumbled to dust when handled. Their only clothing consisted of three layers of wrappings wound around the loins; first came a coarse cotton cloth, then a piece of matting, and over that again another cloth wrapping. Underneath was a large piece of cotton batting, mixed with the feathers of the turkey and the large woodpecker. In a few instances the cotton cloth was dyed red or indigo blue. Near the head of each body was a small "olla" jar of simple design; and buried with one we found a bundle of "devil's claws" (marthynia).-Dr. Lumboltz, in Scribner.

Obeying Orders.

"Government employes include good many very odd men," said a chief clerk of a government bureau lately. "Some of them are very hard to manage, and none more so than the painfully matter-of-fact and over-exact men, who require an explicit order for every bit of work they undertake, and literally can do nothing at all without а сору.

"One of the most singular of these was Blifkins-Granny Bilfkins, as we used to call him, somewhat unkindly. He was the most literal man I ever knew. Once, before I became chief clerk, we had a chief who was extremely economical of government property -which was a good fault, if it was a fault at all. One time he came into the room and, looking over Bilfkins' shoulder, found him making a small a computation to make,' said the chief, large one. "'Yes, sir,' said Bilfkins, respectfully.

"Then he proceeded to tear up the large sheet and throw it in the waste basket, and taking out a small piece, recommenced his computation on that!' -Youth's Companion.

The Farmer and the Government. That great magazine The Century, published by The Century Co., of New York City, is going to outdo its own unrivaled record in its programme for the coming year. The first of these New York articles is "The Bowery" in the November Cen-

Military Shields. A committee of the French war office have reported in favor of a buckler of aluminum and copper. They think that a shield could be made out of this combination light enough to be carried without serious difficulty, and strong enough to stop even the modern rifle bullet, except at very close quarters. From a shield to a coat of mail would be but a short step, but it is not likely to be taken just yet. However light the new shield or armor might be, it would either increase the soldier's burden or necessitate the omission of some other part of his equipment, already reduced to the narrowest limits. compatible with sustenance and a proper supply of ammunition. Extra weight would result in slower marching, an alternative not to be thought of in these days of rapid evolutions.-Scientific American.

Postal Delivery for Farmers.

The farmers are making great efforts to have the free delivery system extended to country towns. This is a good idea. The more intelligence is extended among the rural class the better it is for the country. Every farmer ought to take a daily paper and thus keep in touch with the whole world. In this way he is able to keep posted on events and is able to act quickly and keep abreast of the times. If farmers would do this and take REID'S GERMAN COUGH AND KIDNEY CURE they would find a vast difference in their circumstances. They would be able to think clearer, to be better posted on the topics of the day, and above all they would have far better health. This is the basis of a nation's prosperity after all—the good health of the great middle class. This great remedy can be had of any druggist. SYLVAN REMEDY CO., Peoria, III.

What Laborers Found.

At South Detroit workmen were digging a cellar when they came upon the body of a man. It had been apparently buried some time. The body was cramped in a crouching position and a strap was buckled tightly around the neck. The skull was intact. The man had been well-dressed and wore a plain gold band ring on the left hand. There were a few small articles in the pockets. The body was but two feet below the surface. No means are at hand to identify the remains and no one in the locality is missing.

Late Figures on the Result of the Voting in Various States. DEP MOINES, Ia., Nov. 6.-The result of Tuesday's election is practically settled as to the head of the ticket. Gov. Boies' plurality will not vary 500 either way from 9,000. He carried forty counties with pluralities aggregating 32,762. Wheeler carried fifty-nine counties giving 23,880 pluralities, leaving Boies 8,882 in the lead. These returns are based on dispatches from ninety-eighty county auditors of the state and are as nearly reliable as anything unofficial can be. Two years ago Gov. Boles had 6,564 plurality and the entire republican state ticket was elected except governor. It is barely possible that one or two republicans may have pulled through by a scratch, but the probability is that Bestow is elected lieutenant governor, L. G. Kinne supreme judge, Peter A Dey railroad commissioner and J. B. Knoepfler superintendent of public instruc-

The senate stands 24 republicans, 1 prohibition, 1 people's party man, 1 independent and 24 democrats. The house consists of 53 republicans, 46 democrats and 1 people's party man, Daniel Campbell. The republicans elected to the house are all pledged in the most positive way to the maintenance and enforcement of prohibition and have prohibition constituencies back of them.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 6. -The latest figures on Tuesday's election, with nine counties estimated and a few others unofficial, made by the republican state executive committee, place McKinley's plurality at 20,486. The republicans now claim from 48 to 50 on joint ballot in the legislature. There is a great deal of talk here to the effect that Brice, the democratic senator-elect, may never take his seat. It is a question whether the New Yorker is eligible, and should Brice's credentials be refused when presented to the senate the legislature in Ohio will then have to choose two senators instead of one. Senator Sherman is sure of reelection. NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.-Flower's plurality is 47,608. The footings stand: Flower, 96,014; Fassett, 48,406. Great interest is manifested in the complexion of the legislature. The figures still give the republicans the control, but in several districts the vote is so close that contests are bound to be made before the boards of canvassers and the republican majority may be cut down. The latest figures are: Senate-republicans, 18; democrats, 14. House-republicans, 66; democrats, 62. MICHIGAN.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 6.-Mayor Pingee (rep.) was elected by a safe majority. Charles E. Belknap's majority in the Fifth Michigan district over John MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston, Nov. 6.—The results of Tuesday's election in Massachusetts can now be given with something like exactness. The vote for governor was: Russell, 157,037; Allen, 150,169; Russell's plurality, 6,868. Russell increased his vote of last year by almost 15,000, and Allen received 17,000 more votes than were cast for Brackett. Kimball (pro.) received for governor 8,162 votes, some 5,000 less than the party's poll in former years. This vote is not sufficient to constitute it a political party in the eye of the state law, falling below 8 per cent. of the total vote cast. The legislature will stand as follows: Senate-Republicans, 23; democrats, 17. House-Republicans, 150; democrats, 89; prohibition, 1. In this summary all independent republicans are counted as republicans and all independent democrats as democrats.

NEBRASKA. OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 6 .- Official re turns have been received from sixtythree of the ninety counties in the state, showing a total vote of 49,781 for Post and 50,329 for Edgerton. DEATH IN THE DEPTHS. An Explosion of Fire Damp in a Pennsylvania Mine Causes the Loss of Ten Lives—Several Men Injured.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 9.—Another horrible accident has been added to the long list of mine disasters in the anthracite region. Sunday evening a number of men went down No. 1 shaft of the Susquehanna Coal Company at Nanticoke for the purpose of inspecting some of the workings. As the men were going along the safety lamp of the leader suddenly blazed up, and before they could retreat it exploded. Instantly the mine was a mass of flames and the poor victims were enveloped in it. So great was the force of the explosion that they were dashed against the walls of the breasts and not only burned, but some of them were mangled almost beyond recognition. Seven men were instantly killed and three died soon after being taken out of the mine. The force of the explosion was so great that it was felt above ground and the inhabitants of the town only knew too well what had happened. In an instant the place was a scene of confusion. Hundreds of people, including the children, brothers and sisters of the men in the mine, rushed to the shaft. The smell of the fatal after damp that found its way to the surface only added to the fever of suspense, and all these anxious ones could do was to wait. The officials of the mine soon had a band of brave volunteers together, the engines were set in motion, and they were sent into the subterranean caverns. They groped their way through the darkness and soon came upon their fellow-workmen. One by one the unfortunate men were tenderly lifted and carried to the foot of the shaft and were hoisted to the surface. Ambulances were soon on hand and some of the men were taken to their homes. Others were taken there on stretchers. The force of the explosion had hurled the men against the walls of the mine as if they were feathers. Large mine cars that were standing on the track were picked up and smashed into splinters, and fragments of flesh were found among the wrecked cars. One of the rescuing party told a thrilling story of the search for the victims. They almost lost their way in the darkness, and they felt the gas and after damp coming upon them. Some of the number were growing faint and could go no further when they providentially found the air current, and were saved from a fate as horrible as those met for whom they were searching. The explosion was caused by the men attempting to change the air current.

CHILI WILL BE FRIENDLY. President Montt Expresses Confidence in

Egan-Alleged Threats Against Gen. Canto Not Credited by the Chilian Government.

VALPARAISO, Nov. 9.—In the notice issued Friday night by Intendente Carlos Lira to the crowd of hot-headed young Chilians at Santiago, who were unduly exciting themselves about the alleged plot to assassinate Gen. Canto, he not only said that there was no truth in the stories published in some of the local papers, but added that no arrests had been made in connection with the affair.

The meeting of the young men on the plaza at Santiago appointed a committee to go to the Moneda, wait upon President-elect Jorge Montt and ask him, in view of the reported attempt to kill Canto, if the fact that public opinion held the refugees in the United States legation culpable, and as also of the common belief that dictatorial sympathies had not been stamped out in certain parts of the country to see that justice was meted out to the Balmacedists who were protected by the American minister.

Admiral Montt's reply was admirable. He said that he fully appreciated the generous and patriotic sentiment of the young men of Santiago and of the people at large, but at the same time he was impelled to state that the junta had had no further information relating to the plot than that published in certain papers. In its conduct of affairs, he continued, the junta had to be governed by the laws of the country. It was its duty to see that these laws were faithfully and legally administered. In regard to the charge that the United States legation sheltered refugees, who are still engaged in plotting mischief, he knew positively that Minister Egan had interdicted the sending out of letters by refugees unless the letters were subjected to inspection. If any such message had left the legation Admiral Montt added, he was sure that it was without the knowledge of Minister Egan, and that if the matter had been brought before Mr. Egan he would have caused the prompt exclusion of the offender from the asylum. Montt's remarks were the strongest source of evidence that he desires to protect the legation.

A Block of Business Houses Destroyed. ORANGE, Mass., Nov. 9 .- A gasoline tank exploded in the barn in the rear of Washburn's block Saturday afternoon which started a fire that destroyed nearly $200,000 worth of property before it was got under control. The flames spread from the barn to the Washburn block, which was completely gutted, thence to the American house, Watts block, Ballou block, owned by A. P. Putnam, and the Congregational church, which were all burned to the ground.

Met an Awful Death. PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 9.—Early Saturday morning two Italian track laborers on the Pan Handle railroad were run over and instantly killed at Mansfield station, 14 miles from this city. The men were jumping on to a flat car just as the train started from the main street crossing. One named Cavialli fell off head first. One of his country-men seized his feet, but the unfortunate man's head struck the rail and a wheel passed over his neck, severing the head from the body. The Italian who held Gavialli's feet was also jerked from the car and five trucks passed over his body, cutting it in half.

Another Bank Suspends. CORRY, Pa., Nov. 9.—A sensation was created here by the suspension of the Corry national bank. The news spread quickly and created great surprise and excitement, as it was believed to be perfectly sound. Inquiry revealed the fact that the bank had been closed by the order of the bank examiner. ### The First Pantaloons, Pantaloons first came into use in Venice during the fifteenth century. They were worn by the devotees of the Patron saint Pantaloon, and were called pantalinis by the Italians. To put them on was thought to be an evidence of foolishness or buffconery, they being nothing more than a long pair of stockings, the wearer much resembling a clown. The ancient saxons wore "breeches" very similar to the above, rendering them even more attractive to barbarian eyes by sewing on stripes of various hues.
