and the large company was ushered into

SAM SANFORD, the patriarch of American minstrelsy, will celebrate the fifty-fifth anniversary of his connection with the profession at Philadelphia, February 16. Negro minstrelsy in this country dates from Sanford's first performance. An old-time show will be given to commemorate the two events mentioned. Fashionable Philadelphia will turn out and have a good laugh.

The Boston Globe offered five dollars a week for life to the person who could find the closest guess to the popular vote cast for Cleveland and Harrison. Louis M. Woodbridge, a bookkeeper, is the winner. He made ten thousand guesses and in one set Cleveland's vote only sixteen higher than the official returns give him and Harrison's only twenty-five lower than the same returns accord to him.

You can always judge a town and its people by its newspaper, says the Chicago Inter Ocean. Never by town looks or lands where a poor, halfstarved newspaper is published. Newspapers these days are a necessity, not a luxury. They are so cheap that the poorest man can have one—unless he is running a bill at the saloon. It matters not how many city papers a man may take, he should give an honest support to his home paper.

LEUT. GEORGE T. EMMONS, of the navy, was sent to Alaska eighteen months ago to make a collective exhibit from that territory. The collection he made is said to give the first comprehensive view of the territory ever secured. Much of the material he secured is now on the world's fair grounds in Chicago. It includes fur, seals, walrus, and other specimens of the country's mineral wealth, pictures, in short everything showing how the people live and what they do, and the future of the territory when its resources are developed.

It has been estimated by treasury officials that the loss of United States paper currency up to 1898 was $8,700,000, and the loss since that time has undoubtedly been considerable. This estimate does not include the fractional currency, which went out of circulation years ago, but of which more than $15,000,000, according to Treasurer Neuberger, is still outstanding. Much of this currency has been destroyed by fire, or is otherwise lost, so that the greater part of this $23,000,000 will never be presented for redemption. It is safe to say that the government will be the gainer by $30,000,000 at least.

One of the most dangerous counterfeits in existence was presented at the counter of the State bank in St. Louis the other day. It was an admirable facsimile of a two dollar silver certificate. It bears the head of Gen. W. S. Hancock and is of the series of 1866, letter B. The paper is so good as to defy detection by anyone except an expert. The point where detection is easiest is in the lathic work around the figure two in the upper right-hand corner. This is light and the lines are not as distinct as in the genuine bill. The bank officials pronounce it one of the best executed counterfeit bills they ever saw.

It is announced that the Oroya railroad will be open for business this month. The line, 300 miles long, connects Peru with the basin of the Amazon. Its construction has cost about $50,000,000, or at the rate of $250,000 per mile, the greatest expense being due to the mountainous character of the country through which it runs. The line was begun twenty-five years ago by Henry Meigs, but work on it was suspended by the financial ruin of Peru in the Chilian war, and now has been finished through the efforts of Michael Graess, of New York. It is a wonderful feat of railroad engineering.

TUESDAY, JAN. 10.—The time was occupied in the senate by Senator Vilas (Wis.) in his argument against the anti-option bill. The quarantine bill was discussed. In the house a joint resolution providing that the new congress shall hold its first session following the November election at which it was chosen and changing the time of inaugurating the president from March 4 to April 30 was rejected by a vote of 121 to 49.

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 11.—The death of Senator Kenna (W. Va.) was announced after the reading of the journal in the senate and the usual resolutions were presented and adopted, and then, as a further mark of respect, the senate adjourned. The house also adjourned without doing any business out of respect to the dead senator.

THURSDAY, JAN. 12.—No business was transacted in the senate owing to the funeral services over the remains of the late Senator Kenna. In the house a bill was introduced increasing from $1 to $2 per barrel the internal revenue tax on fermented liquors. A recess was taken to attend the funeral of the late Senator Kenna.

FRIDAY, JAN. 13.—A bill was introduced in the senate to extend to the North Pacific ocean the provisions of the statutes for the protection of fur seals and other fur-bearing animals. A resolution was adopted calling on the secretary of the treasury for a copy of the opinion of the law officer of the department under which he is disbursing the 5,000,000 sovereign notes in aid of the Columbian exposition, conditioned on Sunday closing. In the house bill-making against the consideration of the private war claims bill resulted in nothing being accomplished.

World's Fair Wagon and Means Committee Have Special Bargains with Holders of Various Privileges. A Big Income Secured From This Source.

CHICAGO, JAN. 14.—The world's fair committee on ways and means grant the "Guide-Book" concession. This will close one of the most remarkable financing periods probably ever known in public affairs.

In all seventy-five concessions have been granted by the committee. Not less than 2,000 applications for concessions have been considered and rejected. Some of the rejected schemes had merit, but most of them are classed under the general term of "fakes."

Many more were advertising schemes, without the slightest interest to visitors. But one in twenty-five of the projects brought before the committee had any good reason for being there.

In the estimates of resources from franchises and concessions $3,500,000 has been given as the net profit to the fair. This is the estimate of Ferd W. Peck, chairman of the finance committee, makes. Mr. Peck undoubtedly wishes to be on the safe side, and so named the bottom figure. The opinion was expressed that on the basis of an attendance of 30,000,000 the fair is likely to get from the concessionaires nearer $6,000,000 than $3,500,000.

These estimates have been made either by the concessionaires or by world's fair people who have worn out many a pencil by scribbling at satiation. But one in twenty-five of the projects brought before the committee had any good reason for being there.

When one gets to the various shows and Midway pleasures and begins figuring on percentages, calculations become difficult. The business of concessions mentioned can be approximately computed, with the experiences of other expositions as a standard, but with those on Midway pleasure it is more a matter of conjecture. What would be a good position in itself—ordinary circumstances is stretched along the pleasure—a pleasant place to spend a day in sight-seeing when all is ready. The curious things cover a wide range, from the captive balloon to a reproduction of St. Peter's at Rome, from the original drawings by Michael Angelo, Turkish, German, Australian, Indian and other villages, pavilions, panoramas, etc., are to be there.

From all of them the exposition will collect twenty-five cents for every dollar of admission and from 10 to 15 per cent on the merchandise sold. Counting in the great Ferris wheel, at the inventor's estimate of $400,000, it is believed that the exposition will gather in a tribute of a round million from the pleasure. Then add $200,000 from the Libby glass works concession, for which a handsome structure is now being built, and the pleasure concession becomes $1,000,000. The glass concession includes the sale of everything made of glass.

HURT IN A SMASH-UP. Eighteen Persons Injured in a Collision Between Chicago Cars.

CHICAGO, JAN. 14.—The Creto accommodation on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois road, leaving Dearborn station at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening, was telegraphed at Fifty-fifth street by a Chicago & Erie through train to New York. The accommodation train consisted of three coaches filled with suburban residents on their way to their homes. Eighteen people were severely injured in the wreck, and scarcely anyone of the 150 or more passengers escaped some bruises or minor injury. To add to the horror of the scene the center coach of the accommodation train caught fire from the overturned stove, while three passengers, two women and one man, were caught in a firebreak close to the flames, and were cut away from their perilous position by the heroic efforts of their fellow passengers.

The list of injured is as follows: D. C. Caldwell, both legs broken; Mrs. E. C. Mahew, internally injured; William B. Smith, cut over eyes and back injured; Lottie Boyd, badly bruised and internally injured; F. B. Marshall, both legs crushed below the knees; Mrs. S. Moore, left leg and side bruised; Mrs. R. B. Watkins, head and neck bruised and legs crushed; R. B. Watkins, seriously hurt; John Cummings, head cut and legs bruised; Mrs. J. A. Mithoff, back injured; Fred Kitchin, cut and bruised; Mrs. S. N. Nau, left foot and back bruised; J. C. Coffman, cut on head; John Redmond, both legs crushed; back and leg bruised; C. W. Dal, leg broken and back and side injured; L. P. Trueman, left leg broken and back and side injured; Henry Tolky, leg broken; Mrs. McFried, back hurt; Mrs. M. Eisner, back injured.

Through the blunder of the Erie engineer or the failure to display warning signals, the big train behind did not slack up as the suburban came to a stop. Conductor Sam C. Lewis of the Eastern Illinois train said the limit should have known that his train was just ahead, for it had been following behind from Forty-third street.

Dedicated. BELLEVUE, Wis., Jan. 14.—With simple but appropriate ceremonies the Pearson's hall of science, the last valuable addition to Beloit college, was dedicated Friday afternoon. The building is the gift of Dr. D. K. Pearson, the well-known Chicago philanthropist. Dr. Pearson has proven himself the friend of the college in many ways and altogether has given the institution $250,000. President Eaton was presented with the keys of the new hall and made an address in reply. Prof. Hiram D. Denmore then made the principal address of the ceremonies.

Gov. Crouse Sworn In. LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 14.—The two houses of the legislature met in joint session Friday morning to canvass the vote for state officers, the house concurring in the claim of the senate that the lieutenant governor should preside.

The transcript prepared by the secretary of the legislature showing the election of the entire republican ticket was found correct. At the afternoon session the new officers were sworn in and the two houses listened to the message of the retiring governor (Lloyd) and the inaugural address of Gov. Crouse.

CROPS ON FOREIGN FARMS. The Hawaiian islands shipped 117,000 bunches of bananas, 100,000 pounds of wool and 5,000,000 pounds of rice to San Francisco last year.

The area sown to cotton in India in 1892 is reported at 617,000 acres which is the average annual area, though 373,000 acres more than in 1891. The crop everywhere was reported good.

The French minister of agriculture estimates the French barley crop this year at 48,900,000 bushels, or 36,304,000 bushels less than last year, and the oat crop at 223,400,000 bushels, or 64,000,000 bushels less than last year.

In Scotland the potato crop has been a full average one, and for the most part quite clear of disease. Indications are that it will be a profitable one for farmers, and shipments of Scotch potatoes have been made to this market.

CINCINNATI planters in Ceylon complain of over-production. The market is over-supplied and the present rate of profit exceeds the demand. Planters are afraid of destroying the berries yielding less than three per cent, of quinine.

It is said that when a cow is two years old, a wrinkle begins to form at the base of her horns. At three years this wrinkle is fully developed. When she is five years old another will form; and, after that, one will come each year. Thus her age can be discovered.
Colonia Carterites are creating a deal of annoyance to their neighbors, or those neighbors who do not agree with their peculiar methods, by "knocking out the devil." To do this the cranks pound, slap, beat and slug those who are supposed to be possessed of "his knobs" till he is purified. Tar and feathers are talked of.
I have often noticed when on the street, says the Ann Arbor Democrat, how very remiss some men are in the small points of etiquette. A man on the street with a cigar or cigarette in his mouth is a common enough sight but the rare part is that it seldom removed from his mouth when he meets his lady friends. Every man ought to be gentlemanly enough to take his cigar from his mouth when he salutes his lady friends. A person making a bow and removing his hat but still smoking a cigar presents a ridiculous sight.

Counterfeit Oysters.
The process of counterfeiting the manifold necessities and luxuries of life goes blithely forward, and every day some new article yields to the skill of the counterfeiter. If there is, in the visible universe, a creation which seems able to defy imitation, it is the oyster, but a Bordeaux paper gravely declares that artificial oysters are becoming common in France, and that the resemblance is so close that detection is almost impossible. Their composition is not explained, but they are colored by a mineral wash, and fastened to genuine shells by glue invented for the purpose, which dries to the precise semblance of the cartilage which binds the live oyster to its habitation. Here is a rare chance for some anti-monopolist to replace the waning glories of bogus butter.

"Royal Ruby" Port Wine.
If you are reduced in vitality or strength by illness or any other cause, we recommend the use of this Old Port Wine, the very blood of the grape. A grand tonic for nursing mothers, and those reduced by winter, but a Bordeaux paper gravely declares that artificial oysters are becoming common in France, and that the resemblance is so close that detection is almost impossible. Their composition is not explained, but they are colored by a mineral wash, and fastened to genuine shells by glue invented for the purpose, which dries to the precise semblance of the cartilage which binds the live oyster to its habitation. Here is a rare chance for some anti-monopolist to replace the waning glories of bogus butter.

Is It An Unlucky Coin?
The superstition about the number 13 has been multiplied in the new twenty-cent piece. On one side of the coin there is no less than ten repetitions of the number 13. There are 13 stars, thirteen letters in the scroll held in the eagle's beak, thirteen marginal feathers in each wing, thirteen tail feathers thirteen parallel lines in the shield, thirteen stars and bars, thirteen arrows heads in one claw, thirteen leaves on the branch in the other claw, and thirteen letters in the words "quarter dollar." There hasn't seemed to be anything unlucky in the thirteen original Stars nor in the thirteen stripes on the flag, and now it remains to be seen if the man who gets his pockets full of these new quarter dollars will be unlucky.—Ex.

Predicting Storms.
By placing two iron bars at seven or eight yards distance from each other and putting in communication on one side by an insulated wire and on the other side with a telephone, it is said that a storm can be predicted twelve hours ahead through a certain dead sound heard in the receiver.

How to Go to Sleep.
Begin at your toes to relax, loosen all your joints and muscles, unband your fingers, shake your wrists loose, take the curve and strain out of your neck, go all to pieces in fact, and see how the lady's fatigue seems to slip off from you and the gentle mantle of rest and oblivion unfolds you like a garment.
Adulterated Wine.
Is injurious, but nothing gives strength and tones up the stomach like a pure old port wine. "Royal Ruby Port," so called for its royal taste and ruby color, is on account of its purity, age and strength, particularly adapted for invalids, convalescents and the aged. Sold only in bottles (never in bulk) while cheap wine is sold by the gallon and gives a larger profit to the seller but less to the user. The wine is absolutely pure, and has the age without which no wine is fit to use. Be sure you get "Royal Ruby" quart bottles $1.00, 60 cts. Sold by R. S. Armstrong & Co., Druggists. 15

Adventure with a Deer.
A Michigan correspondent of The Youth's Companion writes of an amusing bonanza one afternoon on the Tahquamenon River, in Northern Michigan, when she saw a doe and her fawn in a thicket. The wind being in the woman's favor, she saw the doe a few feet from the deer before her presence was discovered. The moment the doe saw her, however, she uttered a quick note of alarm and was off like a flash, followed by the fawn. The woman had no thought of overtaking them, but followed on, eager with excitement, for the sake of seeing the graceful creatures run. I had not gone far, she says, before I heard a pitiful cry from the fawn and hurrying forward, discovered the little creature bleeding in a bog. It was soon tired out with its frantic struggles, and stood helpless, unable to extricate itself, bleating pitifully. Its mother had disappeared.

I had on a pair of rubber boots, and determined to rescue the poor creature, take it home and make a pet of it. I picked my way cautiously, stepping from tussock to tussock, and was soon up with the trembling creature, when I took in my arms. I reached dry ground again without difficulty, despite the frightened struggles of my prize. I tried to still its bleating, and talked to it soothingly, caressing it, for I had often heard how easily a fawn is tamed, and I thought it would soon get over its fear.
I was walking leisurely along, stroking the captive, when I heard a rustle and a loud beat in the bushes at the right. Thinking it was the doe returning for her young one, I paid slight attention, for I knew the timidity of a deer, and had no fear of its attack.
The next moment a large buck dashed from the woods and struck me violently on the side and shoulder, and I fell to the ground. The animal stood over me, snorting furiously, while I lay perfectly quiet. He bunted me twice with his horns, and then, the fawn having escaped, he dashed after it into the woods.
As for me, I lay almost stunned; my arm was broken, and I was so bruised as hardly to be able to move. For a half-hour or more I lay there, then I recovered sufficiently to rise, and painfully made my way home.
The buck had probably been summoned to the attack by the cry of the fawn. His release and my motionless position had saved me from further assault.
