She is coming right along, the great girl is, and will surprise you yet if you don't watch out. She has taken a notion into her shapely head that she isn't just the helpless, dependent creature her brothers have tried to make her out. There is scarcely a respectable profession, trade, or calling in which she is not engaged.

The boy who has the freedom of the streets after nightfall without business or permission of his parents is cultivating a dangerous habit. A boy who is right will prefer his home, friends, books and newspapers to the low class found upon the street. Business men of all kinds look upon the boy loafers as "dead beats" of the future.—Ex.

Mechanical skill had perfected a lock that was warranted to defy the most accomplished burglar. Pork is dearer now than it has been in ten years, or since Bismarck began to make war on the American hog. This is doubtless in part due to the opening of European markets to our pork With better prices for pork beans have also advanced, and the traditional New England dish of pork and beans has now to be paid for by those who would enjoy it.

Many farmers are foolishly cutting away all the timber on their farms. They justify the act on the ground that it is cheaper to burn coal than wood and that a very few acres of woodland when cleared and put into cultivation will produce crops which will sell for more than enough to supply them with fuel. This may be all very true now but it will not always

A new fad in social gatherings, says the Livingston Democrat, is to hang up in a convenient place a large sheet of card board or white paper for the ladies to stick their gum on while partaking of refreshments. When the meal is ready and the hostess announces "please register," when it is in order for all to advance and stick up their quid. A card thus decorated speaks for itself.

That farmer who suffers himself to be governed by rules laid down by his father and grandfather before him, who plants at a certain season because his grandfather planted at that season, who reaps on a certain dite because that was the day of the month on which his grandfather began reaping, who sows his wheat in the same field his grandfather sowed it fifty years ago, is as much behind the times as a posthorse is behind the telegraph.

The newspapers are daily filled with accounts of cuttings, shootings and killings but it is very rarely found that the victing are persons of much importance, influence or worth, but generally people whose wounding or removal is a matter of little or no consequence, and often a genuine benefit and blessing. February temperature usually ranges pretty high, but when there is a spell of cold weather extending into that month, cold weather extending into that month, as in the present case, an early spring may be looked for. The forces that have caused the rigors will have exhausted themselves by the end of this month, and March in all probability will be mild and salubrious. This can never be looked for in an open winter. The Chelsea Savings Bank has recently had built for it one of the strongest safes made, being the new patterns of the Mosler Bank Safe Companies, Round Screw Door, Laminated Chrome Steel, Burglar and Dynamite Proof Safe, with no keyhole, spindle or other connection through the door or walls, nor any access to the lock from the outside, the door being screwed in and held secure by a Double Chronometor Time Lock from inside. It is considered the strongest and best security ever devised against efforts of burglars. The safe is protected by a large new fireproof vault made necessary to store the upwards of twenty years' accumulation of books and papers of its business, and the whole premises are further protected by an Electric alarm System, which gives instant warn ing of trespassers at night.

It is an interesting question how much of the general-but by no means invariable-immunity which medical men enjoy from infectious disease is due to the calmness and unconcern with which they regard such disease in relation to themselves. They forget to be afraid, and so they are clothed with an invisible cloak. It appears, then, that faith and hope are the two principles which the physician must encourage or seek to evoke in his patient, and these powerful allies may, perchance, create within him a courage which will enable him to make at least a brave stand against his disease.

STATE REFORM SCHOOL.

Facts Gleaned from the Annual Report of Superintendent Wood. Superintendent Wood, of the state reform school, reports that 271 boys were received by that institution last year, of whom 77 were 13 years old, 61 were 12 years old, 64 were 14 years old, and 67 15 years old. At the close of the year there were 413 boys at the school while 263 were out on parole. Last summer Superintendent Wood made pecial effort to find homes for the nomeless boys and about 115 were placed upon farms, or at such work as the institution had fitted them for. The terms of about 80 of this number would have expired in 1892, according to the age limit, and the remainder were released on good behavior, and in a great majority of cases they have proven worthy of the confidence reposed in them. # O'DONNELL ACQUITTED.

The Noted Labor Leader Declared Gull. less of Inciting the Strikers at Home-stead to Deeds of Violence and Blood-

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Feb. 20.—After having been out all night the jury in the murder case against Hugh O'Donnell brought in a verdict of not guilty. When court opened on Saturday the room was again crowded with sympathizers of the defendant, who were anxious to hear the verdict. Hugh O'Donnell when brought into court was a trifle paler than usual, and he scanned the faces of the jurors rather anxiously as they filed in. He was ordered to stand and the verdict was read. As he heard the words: "Not guilty," a wave of color spread over his face, his eyes became fixed for a moment and he tottered as though about to fall. Recovering himself O'Donnell stepped from the prisoner's box to his wife and niece, whom he embraced, while The Homesteaders present were all greatly pleased with the verdict, and the attorneys for the commonwealth correspondingly depressed, for they had expected a manslaughter conviction. This ends the Homestead trials until the March term of court. It is possible that all the other cases will go over until the June term of court, and the Homestead men now in jail will be admitted to bail.

O'Donnell was taken back to the jail, pending application for his release on bail, which will be made some day next week. O'Donnell must yet answer to treason, riot and conspiracy. Bail was once refused on the additional charge of murder pending. [O'Donnell's case, the trial of which began last Monday before Judge Stowe, is by far the most important growing out of the Homestead riot, which took place on July 6 last, and in which a number of Pinkerton men were killed. O'Donnell pleaded not guilty to the charge, and in his defense maintained that instead of inciting the Homestead men to violence and bloodshed he had ne all he could to prevent it. The evidence went to substantiate this and it has been conceded throughout that the defense was making a very strong case. O'Donnell was at the time of the riot chairman of the advisory board of the amalgamated association, but disappeared from Homestead shortly after the riot occurred and Thomas J. Crawford was elected in his place. About a week after O'Donnell was arrested and cast into jail, from which he has only been out twice previous to the trial, once to an alderman's office and another time into court on an application for bail, which was re-

"Oh! doctor," said the voice, tremulously; "please come with me at once. My sister is dying, I fear."

"I'll be right down," called the doctor, and, hurriedly dressing himself, he descended and opened the door. "Come in," he said; "I will be with you immediately." As his visitor stepped into the full blaze of the hall light, the doctor saw that she was very beautiful. Her features, although pinched and pale, were clear-cut and classic. Her voice was low and well modulated, and, in spite of her apparent poverty, she had the air of a woman of refinement. The doctor was soon ready, and together they left the house. She led him by many turns, through narrow streets, until she opened a door into a dark passage between two dwellings and passed in. The doctor followed her without hesitation. From the passage they emerged into a court on three sides of which faced a series of dismal and dirty tenements. Into one of these his conductress led him and up some rickety stairs. On the fourth landing she opened a door and entered an apartment. In a moment they stood beside a pallet on which lay a woman. The invalid stirred, and turning her wan face to them asked

Her voice was clear and resonant, in marked contrast to her previous mutterings. The doctor answered slowly and deliberately:

"Yes, madam." "And his name was Henry?" "Yes." "Where is he now?"

A dark shade passed over his face. "I do not know," he said: "I have not heard from him for three years. The last word I had was a letter he wrote me from California, telling of his engagement to a San Francisco girl-a paragon of beauty and goodness."

"That paragon is before you - or, rather, the wreck your faithless brother has left of her."

The doctor caught his breath. "Miss Carnold," he said, "this is a terrible surprise to me! But, come now, your sister shall tell me all. Meanwhile, you must not excite yourself, but must obey my directions strictly, if you wish to get well."

The other sprang to his feet. "Oh! let me go to her!" he cried. "Do not detain me!"

"No; you must wait," said his brother, quietly. "It would kill her to see you suddenly in her weak state. I first tell me about your disappearance. You wrote to Miss Carnold, saying that you had decided to start anew, and that she would never see you again. That sounds like desertion, doesn't it?"

Hal uttered an exclamation of surprise. "It was a forgery!" he cried, indignantly. "I never wrote such a etter. As I intimated to you, mine is a strange story, and this I suppose is but another chapter.

"Mr. Carnold, Mary's father, the day before he died intrusted to my care a mortgage which he held on a gold mine claim in southern California, and which he had intended to foreclose in three weeks. He wished me to take possession of the claim and run it for his daughters' benefit, as this would be their sole support. I consented, and as soon as I left him placed the precious document in a safe deposit vault.

"Mr. Carnold died the next day, and in the confusion and sorrow I forgot to mention the mortgage to the girls. That evening, sitting in my room, I fell asleep. "It certainly is, my dear Hal," answered James, when his brother had finished the recital of his adventures. "I will run up now and break the good news to Mary and Alice."

The senate joint resolution looking to the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people passed by a vote of 70 to 16. The elections committee favorably reported the bill for the use of the Rhines voting machine at elections. Bills were introduced providing for habitual drunkards to take the "gold cure" at the expense of 'their county; levying a tax upon bicycles, to be credited to the highway fund providing for the purchase of electrical appliances for the execution of condemned criminals, and to punish the unauthorized reading of telegraph messages.

LANSING, Mich , Feb. 18 .- The house devoted most of yesterday's session to the consideration of the Wayne county contested election cases with the result that Messrs. Griffin and Rusch, democrats, were unseated and their seats given to Messrs. Dayock and Shellenbarger, republicans. Bills were introduced providing for a municipal local op tion law, and to provide for the repayment by the state of commutation money paid by drafted men during the war of the rebellion. Lansing, Mich., Feb. 20.—A large number of bills were introduced in the house on Saturday, the most important being: Making an appropriation for marking the position of Michigan troops upon the battlefield of Chicka-mauga: regulating the sale of liquor by druggists in counties adopting prohibition un-der the local option law, and to repeat the law of 1891, which prohibits the use of olcomargarine or any butter substitute in the state insti-tutions; to provide a home for mothers, wives and widows of soldiers, sailors and marines. A joint resolution was introduced and laid over under the rules providing for the submission of a constitutional amendment at the spring cleetion, leaving all questions of the rights of members to seats in the legislature to the su-preme court. Its adoption would debar each house from being a judge of the qualifications of its members. In committee of the whole bills for authorizing the use of the Rhine's vote recorder at elections and prohibiting the placing of the name of candidates on more than one ticket on the official ballot were agreed to.

Gentlemen: -I desire to make a brief statement for the benefit of the suffering. I had been afflicted with catarrh of the head, throat and nose, and perhaps the bladder for fully twenty-five years. Having tried other remedies without success, I was led by an advertisement in the Sentinel-Democrat to try Hall's Catarrh Cure. I have just finished my fourth bottle, and I believe I am right when I say I am thoroughly restored. I don't believe there is a trace of the disease left. Respectfully,

A FEW FACTS.

A remedy has been found which cures chronic diseases; not in every case, but a large precentage of them. And in cases too far gone for cure; it affords relief and prolongs life. Many who have been given over by physicians have been prevailed upon by friends to try this remedy, the Compound Oxygen Treatment of Drs. Starkey and Palen, of Philadelphia, and are now living to testify to its wonderful curative powers. It has been successful in curing many cases of catarrh, malarial diseases, hay fever, asthma, bronchitis, neuralgia, nervous prostration and other chronic diseases, In these diseases physicians have had little success, as the name they have given to this class of disorders indicates, but Compound Oxygen has worked wonders.

There is only one genuine Compound Oxygen, and any made Everybodys -: elsewhere or by others than Drs.

it took its departure. There is nothing objectionable to this article of dress when GEO. E. DAVIS, Auctioneer. kept within bounds. In fact, it rather sets a woman to have her skirts gracefully draped over a neat form, even if it is wire and whalebone. It was the size of the concern in its palmy days that rendered it objectionable, but even then women argued that with all there expansiveness hoop of horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, farm imple-skirts were remarkably comfortable and ments and machinery, on the farm 3 miles exceedingly healthy.

The fact that the new postage stamps are backed with a mucilage that is a Mrs. health producing article is not generally F. E. Ives, auctioneer. known. It is claimed by John Wana maker that a constant use of these stamps will cure bronchitis, consumption, liver complaint, neuralgia, toothache, ingrowing toerails, a swelled head after a night with stock for 1893 will not prove sufficient and another grind will become necessary -Ex
