Deceased was born in County Limerick, Ireland, March 5, 1832, came to Mich., in 1845 and settled on a farm in Jackson county. In 1859 he moved on the farm where he lived until his death. He was an honest, upright man in all his dealings, was generous to a fault, kind hearted and sympathetic to all and particularly so to the lone widow and orphan, which the Sisters of St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum Detroit have often stated. He leaves a widow and six children, three sons and three daughters, all of them being at home to attend the loving husband and dear father to the last. He was patient in suffering and often expressed a willingness to die.

His funeral was held at St. Mary's church last Monday and the large procession of sorrowing friends testified to the great worth of the man. By industry and economy he acquired a very comfortable home for his family. Cox

SEVEN new planets, all small, the largest of the ninth magnitude, were discovered during January.

NINETEEN of the pensioners of the war of 1812 are now over 100 years old, six of whom reside in Vermont.

Mrs. CUSTER attended her husband in his camp life for twenty years, moving from fort to fort, but she says he never confided his military plans to her.

ENTOMOLOGISTS are acquainted with one hundred thousand species of insects, yet there is not a known expert who will not persevere and swear when a tramp June bug happens to get inside his collar.

EDISON prefers women machinists for the delicate details of his electrical inventions. He says they have more fine sense about machinery in one minute than the most of men in their whole lifetime.

BOSTON still maintains her supremacy as an art center. The aesthetic student who painted John Harvard's statue red has a worthy successor in some unknown impressionist who has heightened the effect of Charles Sumner's statue by daubing it with blue paint.

The following list shows the number of profit-sharing establishments in the different countries: France, 92; Austria, 3; Sweden, 4; Italy, 4; Switzerland, 16; Germany, 36; Belgium, 3; United States, 35; Portugal, 1; Spain, 1; England, 64; Denmark, 4; Holland, 1; Russia, 1; which makes a total of 255 in all.

QUEEN VICTORIA's wealth is now estimated at $5,000,000, exclusive of landed estates. The gossip predicts that she will leave the bulk of it to the duke of Connaught and Princess Beatrice, leaving the prince of Wales out in the cold. But she can't prevent the prince from going into the king business, which is said to be a profitable calling.

ONE week after the overthrow of Queen Liliuokalani the Honolulu Liberal pronounced this pertinent question: "Ua maopopo iho e a koke o Amerika Huihuia, alaila, he Republika ka Aupuni e ku ai i hoia i ka mauka ana o Amerika e hoohui ai. E ka ninau iho o kela wa, pehea e mau ai ka mauka?" In the light of subsequent events, it must be confessed that our esteemed Hawaiian contemporary was not far wrong.

LI HUNG CHANG, viceroy of China, was personally very gracious to Messrs. Allen and Satchell, the American bicyclists who recently crossed Asia on "safety-bikes." He asked them, among other questions, which country they most admired of all through which they had passed. "The United States," they replied. "Why then do you visit other countries?" "Because," they answered, "if we had not seen other countries we should not have known our own was the best."

NAVIGATORS of the sea reach New York with big tales of their experiences during the past few days, but none of them tell a stranger story than does Third Officer James Dakers of the Harona, a freighter just in at that port from Dundee. He claims that on February 4 a huge wave caught him and carried him clear of the port rail, and, recurring, brought him back and landed him within ten feet of his original position on the deck. No affidavits go with this "sailor's yarn."

It is the practice to refer to the exodus to Canada in a cynical manner as if the American defaulter found there a life of ease and happiness. The career of John C. Fox tells a different story. This miserable man belonged to an excellent family, was one of the most popular of men during his course at Yale college, and moved in the best society of New York. He returns home disgraced and heart-broken, but determined to suffer any ignominy rather than remain longer in exile.

WEARIED with the long, cold winter, an exchange puts forth the following pitiful plea: "Backward, turn backward, O time, in thy flight, give us July again. Just between the sun and we are disgusted with snow and ice; hear our rich warble and take our advice; turn back the clock till it reads August, one, give us some dog-days, and give us the sun; give us mosquitoes and give us the flies, but turn on some heat before every one dies; bring back our straw hat and good linen pants; give us a chance to live; give us a chance!"

"If you could stand on the moon," says an astronomer, "the earth would appear to you to be sixty-four times larger than the sun appears to the residents of this mundane sphere; but because the earth has eight times the diameter of the moon, therefore she must necessarily show the moonlight sixty-four times as much surface as the moon shows us. The sun, on the other hand, would appear no larger to you from your observatory on the moon than it does from our globe. The earth's atmosphere being blue, the earth must appear as a blue ball to all outside onlookers."

The Jasperized wood of Arizona has become well known by reason of the many cabinet specimens, paper weights and decorative slabs of it that are sent to the eastern cities, but this is by no means the only petrified forest in this country. In the Hoodoo district of the Yellowstone many stumps of trees are found converted to stone, some of them showing knots, grain of the wood and bark as plainly as the living tree, and the pebbly beaches of the Yellowstone river are strewn with tons of fragments of fossil wood. In the Dakota Bad Lands lead impressions are often taken in the hardened clay.

An exchange tells how Albert Smith, of Milford, Pa., allowed an old apple tree to stand between him and a fortune. A party of old prospectors convinced that there was oil on his farm, decided to bore a well in his orchard. Smith objected strenuously, because it would destroy an apple tree for which he had a particular fondness. After vainly endeavoring to persuade Smith, the prospectors removed their apparatus a few feet beyond his tree, and soon oil was flowing at the rate of 100 barrels an hour. Smith saved his tree and his neighbor got $35,000 in royalties.

She isn't Perfect.

Bright waltzes, and polkas, and things, So divinely, the heavenly heart flutters; But the neighbors all nail up their shutters Whenever she sings.

She dances as light as a fairy.

With exquisite dexterity and grace; But the bystanders' rapid admiration Changes quickly to sad consternation At sight of her face.

In short, she has many attractions; Though I've mentioned, you'll notice, but two—

She's a charming social leader; But she isn't quite perfect, fair reader: And neither are you.

Keep me ever in thy prayers, That at midnight or at noon When God needs a man in haste, He may not forget me in haste.

THERE is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until lately few years have been supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Dr. J. C. Smith's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Trying as its vicissitudes are, by those unwearyed by chronic disease. Mainly because Hostetter's Stomach Bitters fortifies the system against disease by promoting a vigorous performance of the functions of the system, it possesses a wide, general utility. It promotes strength through improved digestion. This is the first, the most essential step. Subsequently the Bitters insures regularity of the bowels, liver and kidneys. Malaria, rheumatism and nervous trouble yield to it.

who are puny, pale, weak, or scrofulous, ought to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That builds up both their flesh and their strength. For this, and for purifying the blood, there's nothing in all medicine that can equal the "Discovery."

In recovering from "Grippe" or in convalescence from pneumonia, fever, or other ailments, it is especially and surely in vigorates and builds up the whole system. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work the processes of digestion and assimilation, and brings back health and strength.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Scrofulous, Skin and Scalp Diseases—even Constipation (or Languor) in the earliest stages—the "Discovery" is the only guaranteed remedy.

WROTE

DEAR MR. CONGREVE:—As a rule I have no faith in advertised remedies; but it must now be some twenty-five years since I first saw in the person of one of my students the effects of your remedy. He seemed at death's door, but he lives now, a strong, hearty man. Since then I have seen in many, very many instances the most happy results following your medicine. I do not go by hearsay, but I testify to what I have seen with my own eyes. I believe that you have saved numbers from Consumption. I have friends with coughs and weak lungs, who speak of your medicine with sincere gratitude. Personally, I find it most useful in the case of feasting couch. Very respectfully, J. H. SPURGEON, for publication; but I send you this as your due. What I have seen of God's healing power through you, demands of me that I speak for the good of others. I have those around the whole health I value, and they are living witnesses that you are a very beneficial preparation. Yours heartily, (Rev.) C
