The Farm Home Reading Circle.

In December, 1892, the faculty of the Michigan Agricultural College appointed a committee to prepare a course of reading especially adapted to the requirements of farmers, gardeners, fruit growers, stock breeders, etc. The course was outlined and circulars issued. So many expressions of appreciation have been encouraged to carefully revise the course and take steps to widen its scope and increase its influence. The State Board of Agriculture have made provision for the printing, correspondence, postage, etc., connected with the course, so that the only expense to members is for books.

The primary object of the F. H. R. C. is to promote agriculture and kindred pursuits. The circle offers a systematic course of reading. It furnishes books through the secretary at greatly reduced prices. It acts in a limited manner, as a bureau of information on agricultural subjects. All cannot enjoy a course at the Agricultural College, but no one is so situated that he cannot cultivate habits of observation and study. The aim has been to supply a course which shall furnish practical information and assist those who desire to secure some knowledge of science as applied to agriculture. It is believed there are many who are ready to embrace the opportunities offered by such a course.

The course is not limited, as to age or occupation. All persons interested are invited to join. Old and young, fathers and mothers, boys and girls, send in your applications. Farmers' boys and girls are especially urged to undertake systematic reading. You are surrounded by a great laboratory. The fields, gardens, orchards and meadows are your class rooms. Interest your fathers and mothers. Ask questions. If you are unable to find an answer by consulting the index of your book, write to the secretary and he will refer it to the proper authority. No one is to old to join the circle. Let us all undertake the regular thoughtful reading of good books, in place of the aimless, care-reading of newspapers.

While it is recommended that granges, patron's lodges, alliances and other farmer's organizations form circles for reading and discussion, yet the great value of the course will manifest itself to those so situated that reading in circles would be impossible. As the name implies, it is a "Farm Home Reading Circle." Do not let the coming winter season pass without taking up the work in one or more of these classes.

Five classes are offered: Soils and Crops, Live Stock, Garden and Orchard, Home Making, and Political Science. These classes were outlined by men prominent in their special lines, and so far as it is possible, are arranged progressively. It is urged that the course be taken up, as recommended, and finished. However, if for any reason books further along in the course are desired, they may be ordered and credit will be given for their completion. No requirement is made as to the order in which classes shall be taken up. For full information address F. B. Mumford, Secretary.

Salt on Wheat.

It is my custom to apply salt to wheat fields in the spring, although experiments in England show good results from application in the fall previous to or at seeding time. When an excess of brine is poured on a spot of earth, the soil will become unproductive for a year or two and then recover its power to produce crops, and from this I reason that rains leach it readily into subsoil. Therefore I prefer an application after the winter rains are over and just before it is needed by the wheat plants. It is supposed to repel insects, free nitrogenous compounds and render them available for plant food, stiffen the straw and hasten the maturity of the crop. I sow from baskets, broadcasting from 4 to 6 bushels per acre. If the field is seeded to clover and the plants are hardly in the third leaf, it might be hazardous to sow even 6 bushels, but the wheat plants will probably bear a greater quantity. I think that about April 1 is generally a good date to sow it. Alva Agee, in Farm and Home.

Storing Grain.

Corn cribbed before it is fully mature will mold and may rot. It does not pay to get in too great a hurry to store the corn before it is fit, and, on the other hand unless one begins husking it at the earliest reasonable moment and pushes the work his corn will pass beyond a fit condition for storing if he be in the great corn growing belt. Wheat or oats put in the bin in unfit condition will spoil unless attended to, and one should frequently run his hand deep down into the bin for some weeks after thrashing. If the grain starts to spoil the only thing to do is to get it out on the bar floor and shovel it around every day until it dries and cools. In conclusion to put everything in storage in good condition is a reform much needed on many farms, and it is to be noted that it is a reform that may be begun at any time.—American Agriculturist.

A Paper to Prevent Forged Documents.

It is very desirable that dishonest persons be prevented from duplicating certificates of stock, bonds, drafts, and such valuable documents; and many devices have been employed for this purpose. A new process has just been introduced in making a paper which will at least be difficult to imitate successfully! Ink is applied to a lithographic stone, and another similar stone is placed on its face and rubbed together until the ink is so distributed that a variegated design is produced. When the ink is dry, the design is transferred to paper after the usual manner in lithographic printing. Of course, any color may be selected for the ink. It is manifest also, that the design thus cheaply produced can be varied indefinitely until a pleasing or effective one is obtained. A counterfeit is detected at once when compared with a sample of the genuine paper.

THE SILVER DEBATE.

Synopsis of the Discussion in the United States Senate.

On the 20th ult. notices were given of two amendments to the silver repeal bill—one by Mr. Wolcott (rep. Col.), providing for the return to the states interested of the amount of the cotton tax collected from them during the war; the other, by Mr. Perkins (rep. Col.), providing for the coinage of silver of American production at the existing ratio, the treasury to retain a seigniorage of 20 per cent; also providing that hereafter there should be no gold coins minted of less than $10, and no bank notes or treasury notes issued of less than $5, and for a monetary commission of five experts.

Mr. Camden (dem. W. Va.) argued in favor of the silver repeal bill, and Mr. Peffer (pop. Fan.) resumed his speech against repeal.

On the 2d Mr. Kyle (pop. S. D.) argued against the repeal measure. He took the ground that the Sherman law was not in any way responsible for the business troubles of the country. He appealed to senators from the south and from the west to stand for the protection of their own states. He contended that, as between gold and silver, silver was the more stable measure of commodities; that it was folly to fritter away time with an international monetary conference, and that the hope of the United States was in looking forward towards a Pan-American alliance.

Mr. McMillan (rep. Mich.) made an argument in favor of repeal. He said that the argument that the United States should continue the purchase of silver for the sake of the silver mining and kindred industries could not stand. Silver had declined in value for the same reason that iron had. The result of closing the silver mines had been to start work on the gold mines. Whatever might be the evils of a scarcity of money, the evils of an overabundance of money were still greater. Congress should do these three things: (1) Provide for a currency, every part of which shall always be maintained at par with the world's money; (2) provide for adequate banking reserves distributed throughout the country in accordance with local business necessities; and (3) provide a ready means of converting securities into cash and cash into securities according to the need for a more expanded or a more contracted currency. If these things were accomplished the quantity of money might be left to natural business causes.

Mr. Dolph (rep. Ore.) expressed the belief that the cause for the present business disturbance in the country was the fear of hostile tariff legislation. The democratic party was standing, torch in hand, to fire the industrial interests of the country. Was it, then, any wonder that with such a threat mills and factories had closed and idle men walked the streets demanding work and bread?

In a worthy controversy with Messrs. Teller and Stewart on the question of free coinage, Mr. Dolph asserted that the advocates of free coinage did not want a silver dollar that was worth a dollar in gold. They wanted a 56-cent dollar—a cheap dollar; the cheaper the better.

On the 3d Mr. Dolph (rep. Ore.) continued his remarks. He had read extracts from President Cleveland's messages to congress during his former administration giving his views on the silver question. He then said these extracts justified the statement that the success of the democratic party with such a candidate was the verdict of the American people in favor of the discontinuance of the purchase of silver and of the coinage of silver dollars. He (Dolph) did not expect that congress could pass any act for the use of silver by this country alone that would receive the president's approval. But he understood that the president would be in favor of what he considered a practical use of silver. He did not doubt the good faith of the president, and believed him honest when he asserted from time to time that he was in favor of bimetalism by an international agreement whereby the parity of both metals could be maintained.

Mr. Palmer (dem. Ill.) said he had no doubt the president understands that while we continue the purchase of silver we are disabling ourselves by putting ourselves to a disadvantage in any attempt at adjusting bimetalism with foreign countries. He was quite certain the president believed that so long as we continue the purchase of silver and undertake to support silver coinage we would appeal in vain to foreign governments to enter into any agreement to establish international bimetalism. Mr. Palmer argued that the free coinage of silver would drive out the gold, so that instead of the country having the two metals it would have but one.

Quite a worthy controversy ensued between Messrs. Palmer, Teller, Dubois and Voorhees relative to the power of the senate to force a vote on the pending measure.

On the 4th Mr. Butler (dem. S. C.) spoke against the silver repeal bill. He replied to Senator Palmer's remarks criticising the senate for its action. He said the minority on the repeal question was not attempting to coerce anybody, but that it did not intend to be coerced by anybody. The senate was not a town meeting, but was a great deliberative body, intended to put a veto upon hasty, unwise and improper legislation. It had been asked: What was to be done? His reply was "compromise." Compromise is the solution. It has been said that the president of the United States was interfering with legislation, and that whenever compromise was spoken of the statement was made that the president would not compromise. "Whoever states that," said Senator Butler, emphatically, "does that high official great injustice, because it is none of his business what the senate does. I don't believe that he has attempted to use his high office to influence the senate improperly."

Mr. Blackburn (dem. Ky.) spoke in opposition to the repeal. He was not, he said, the friend or apologist of the Sherman act. But, bad as the measure was, unfair and uncanonized as he believed it to be, he did not believe it had been the cause of the financial woes which the country suffered, nor did he believe that its repeal would prove that panacea for all the financial ills under which the country was struggling. He did not wish to see the country put upon a single standard. He was as much opposed to a single silver standard as he was to a single gold standard. He declared an international standard of value was a myth. There never had been, never would be and never needed to be an international standard of value. The trouble lay further back than the Sherman law. The tariff system of the country needed revision, and the financial system needed overhauling. He stood here to-day to advocate both those necessary works. He said: "If there be those who think that I am making the fight for the owner of silver mines, or of the silver smelter, they are mistaken. If the 10 per cent charged before 1873 is not enough, double it; take 20. If that does not suffice, take 25. If you tell me that the ratio of 16 to 1 is too low, I say, in the spirit, not of justice, but of compromise, raise the ratio. Make it 17; make it 18; make it 19; make it 20 and I for one, will accept it rather than have the silver metal stricken down. The only condition which I would impose would be: Unlocks the doors of your mints to silver; give it right of entry here; and then hamper it, with what conditions you please. But Mr. President, important as this is, it is of equal importance that we must settle it."

Mr. Blackburn concluded by saying: "The settlement of the issue should come, and should come now. I appeal to the sense of fairness, to the patriotism, the sense of dignity which characterizes the senate, and I ask senators to regard to party affiliations, to rise to the dignity of this great issue and make a settlement that shall be just and fair."

Mr. Call (dem. Fla.) spoke on the pending bill, and declared his opposition to its passage, unless coupled with a provision for the free coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1.

Hood's Sarsaparilla Restored Health

"I have been a very great sufferer from scrofula. First, a large bunch came in my neck growing as big as a good sized apple. The doctor lanced it, and we succeeded in healing it, but the disease began to appear in my face which would swell up and affect my eyes. Every morning they were so inflamed and swollen that I was blind. I was in this condition for about a year. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and when I had used a bottle and a half the swelling in my face had entirely gone down. I have been perfectly cured and am now in good health." Wm. Erick, West Duluth, Minn.

Inflammation of the Bladder.

Gentlemen:—"It affords me pleasure to give you a recommendation for Dr. Kilmer's SWAMP-ROOT, of which I have taken several small bottles. It has nearly removed the effect of the RHEUMATISM of about 7 years standing, also a severe weakness of my back and kidneys of about 10 years' standing. It has helped a severe attack of INFLAMMATION of the bladder, which I am sure SWAMP-ROOT will entirely cure me of in a short time. I purchased the medicine of S. G. Stone, the Druggist here in Butler, Ind." W. R. Chilson, March 7, '93.

of the Age.

KENNEDY'S

MEDICAL DISCOVERY

DONALD KENNEDY, OF ROXBURY, MASS.

Has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple.

He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor). He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston.

A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the right quantity is taken.

When the lungs are affected it causes shooting pains, like needles passing through them; the same with the Liver or Bowels. This is caused by the ducts being stopped, and always disappears in a week after taking it.

If the stomach is foul or bilious it will cause squeamish feelings at first. No change of diet ever necessary. Take the best you can get, and enough of it. Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bed time. Read the Label. Send for Book.

SALVATION OIL

Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup will cure your cough for 10 cents.

MERCURIAL Mr. J. C. Jones, Fulton, Ark., says: "I have used your Mercurial for several years, and it has cured me of every skin disease I have had. It is the best medicine I ever used." Price, 25 cents.

"About ten years ago I contracted a severe case of blood poisoning. Leading physicians prescribed medicine after medicine, which I took without any relief. I also tried mercurial and potash remedies, with unsuccessful results, but which brought on an attack of rheumatism which made my life one of agony. After suffering four years I gave up all remedies and began using S. S. S. After taking several bottles I was entirely cured and able to resume work. It is the greatest medicine for blood poisoning to-day on the market."

The smokers of the United States put $200,000,000 worth of tobacco in their pipes last year. "An appalling waste," one will say. "What a grand sum total of comfort and solace that represents," another will exclaim. And there you are. The tobacco question is not settled yet.

An exchange says there are things that a level headed man should never do. Among these is to walk on a railroad track, to point a gun or pistol at another, to keep his savings in an old sock under the bed, to run for an office when he has a paying institution in private life, or call a bigger man than himself a liar.

Competition is so close and farm produce so cheap that the farmer cannot hope to make a profit on his labor if he uses the old-style, slow and laborious tools and methods so popular with his grandfather. It is cheaper to buy corn in open market than to cultivate it entirely with the hoe. With proper preparation of the soil, the hoe can be dispensed with entirely in all fields crops, even cotton.

The Livingston Democrat says this is the season of the year when the busy house wife spends four hours and 54 minutes each afternoon and evening wrapping all the old night-gowns, sheets, dress skirts, and newspapers in the house about 87 cents worth of old plants, rather than take the plants up and put them in the house. She keeps this thing up for about six weeks, and just as she makes up her mind to save the precious things, the coverings drop off some frosty night and they are frozen stiff.

The Michigan state agent of the Department of Agriculture reports that a new potato pest has appeared in Michigan, viz., a small black bug which penetrates the stalk at the root, eating up until the tops are killed. Several fields have been totally destroyed by this insect, and should they multiply as rapidly as the Colorado bug, they will create great havoc next year, their work of destruction being very difficult to prevent, as they enter the stalk under ground.

The state board of health has added consumption to the list of dangerous communicable diseases required by law to be reported by physicians and health officers. The quarantine regulations are amended so as to make an immigrant criminally liable for coming into the state until authorized to do so by a state inspector. It was also resolved to continue to enforce the state quarantine regulations at the border and within the state, and compel all railroad companies to obey the state laws and regulations of the board.

Thoughts for Those Who Think.

The thoughtful worship of the pure heart was then what it is now, and has always been, an inspired song.
 While craving justice for ourselves it is never wise to be unjust to others.
 To deny valor in the enemy we have conquered is to uprate our victory.
 A great man is one whose life proves him to have been recognized, if not called, by God.
 Pride is never so loud as when in chains.
 A man's task is always light if his heart is light.
 Hope deals with the future; now and the past are but servants that wait upon her with impulse and suggestive circumstances.
 With him living was duty, if not honor.
 The dead come back to redeem the pledges of the living.
 Power is a powerful thing and has its wings always spread for flight.
 Every man is two in one—a deathless soul and a mortal body.
 Love is better and mightier than Force.
 The divine last touch in perfecting the beautiful is animation.

Adulterated Wine.

Is injurious, but nothing gives strength, and tones up the stomach like a pure old port wine. "Royal Ruby Port," so called for its royal taste and ruby color, is on account of its purity, age and strength, particularly adapted for invalids, convalescents and the aged. Sold only in bottles (never in bulk) while cheap wine is sold by the gallon and gives a larger profit to the seller but less to the user. The wine is absolutely pure, and has the age without which no wine is fit to use. Be sure you get "Royal Ruby," quart bottles $1, pints 60 cts. Sold by R. S. Armstrong & Co., Druggists. 15

Under a law passed by the last legislature, sewing machines owned by the owner or owners—not exceeding one to each family—are exempt from levy and sale on execution, and chattel mortgages on sewing machines are void unless signed by the wife.

Bucklen's Arnica Salve.

The Best Salve in the world for Cuts, Bruises, Sores, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Feyer Sores, Tetter, Chapped Hands, Chillsblains, Corns, and all Skin Eruptions, and positively cures Piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by Glazier & Co.

The wisest charity is the kind that discriminates. The folly of giving indiscriminately was fairly illustrated in Chicago recently, where a Bohemian woman, in the crowd of those who were seeking bread from the city, was robbed of $6,000 which she carried in her pocket. Another case was that of a Pole, who, by mistake, handed the city baker a check for $90 instead of one of the bread tickets distributed by the relief committee. There is too much method in this sort of starving.

"Royal Ruby" Fort Wine.

If you are reduced in vitality or strength by illness or any other cause, we recommend the use of this Old Port Wine, the very blood of the grape. A grand tonic for nursing mothers, and those reduced by wasting disease. It creates strength; improves the appetite; nature's own remedy, much preferable to drugs, guaranteed absolutely pure and over five years of age. Young wine ordinarily sold is not fit to use. Insist on having this standard brand, it costs no more. $1 in quart bottles, pints 60 cents. Royal Wine Co. For sale by R. S. Armstrong & Co., Druggists.

Pork Pointers.

Never breed from a grade boar; the pure breed is none too good.
 Do not be stony with the bedding given hogs, especially the sow that is in farrow.
 Avoid getting your breeding sow too fat; rather give her food that forms bone and muscle.
 Stagnant water is the home of disease germs; hence it is the best policy to have a drain in the hog yard.
 The curl in the pig's tail is an indication of health and thrift. Don't fail to keep your eye on the indicator.
 When you purchase any pigs quarantine them for thirty days before letting them associate with your others.
 Mix all slops fed fresh at each feeding. Nothing is more injurious than the feeding of sour, fermented, rotten slop.
 Never feed a pig so liberally but that it will always be ready to eat heartily at the next meal. Over-gorging is as unprofitable as half-starving it.

It should Be in Every House.

J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay St., Sharpsburg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with Pneumonia after an attack of "La Grippe," when various other remedies and several other physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for Lung Trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free Trial Bottle at F. P. Glazier & Co's., Drug Store. Large bottles, 50c and $1.00.

There seems to be a decided difference of opinion with regard to the working of a plan which provides that under certain circumstances a state prison convict may be released on parole. This being so, why should not the experiment be tried? It is certain that many a prisoner who has been set free abroad on a "ticket-of-leave" has more than justified the confidence placed by the authorities in his purpose to lead an honest life.

Probate Order.

STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Washtenaw. ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, on Saturday, the 7th day of October in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-three. Present, J. Willard Babbitt, Judge of Probate.
 In the matter of the Estate of Nancy M. Conklin deceased, Calvin T. Conklin executor of the last will and testament of said deceased, comes into court and represents that he is now prepared to render his final account as such executor.

A LOCOMOTIVE is being constructed in England to run 100 miles an hour. It is 2,000 horse power, the driving wheels 12 feet in diameter. The three cylinders are 40, 28 and 18 inches diameter with a thirty-inch stroke. The boiler pressure is 200 pounds.

DESPITE losses through the big wind storms, Delaware's peach crop this year was the biggest in the history of the peninsula. The various estimates place it at from 6,000,000 to 9,000,000 baskets. The railroad alone carried 5,980 carloads of peaches and over a third of the crop is usually shipped by water.

THE ex-Empress Charlotte, of Mexico, has aged rapidly in the last twelve months. Although only about fifty-three years old, the deeply wrinkled face, the pure white hair, and the careworn expression of her eyes make her seem at least seventy. Hope that she will ever recover her reason was long ago abandoned.

A WRITER in Longman's Magazine figures that the Pacific ocean includes 68,000,000 square miles, or over one-third of the total area of the earth's surface. He further says that the Pacific extends through nearly 135 degrees of latitude, or three-eighths of the world's circumference—a stretch of 9,000 miles from north to south.

It is a remarkable fact that the climate of the southern polar region is much more severe than that of corresponding regions to the north. It is well known that a race of human beings live within the arctic circle with some degree of comfort, but at a corresponding degree of latitude at the south all is one dreary waste, wholly uninhabitable.

It is stated that ordinary bricks boiled in tar for about twelve hours, or until they are saturated with it, are increased about thirty per cent. in weight, are much harder than common ones and unaffected by frost and acids as well as perfectly waterproof. They form an excellent flooring for workshops or storerooms, particularly in chemical establishments.

A RECENT visitor at Pittsburgh is John Greenwald, superintendent of the Norwegian railways. He is making a study of American railroad methods, and is much impressed with the magnitude of the transportation systems of this country. Many American locomotives are used on the Norwegian lines, and Mr. Greenwald expects to order six more while he is in this country.

As to the healthfulness of going without shoes or stockings there can, says the London hospital, be no question. Some of the healthiest children of the world are to be found in the Scottish highlands, where shoes are seldom worn at an earlier age than twelve or thirteen. The Negro and coolie laborers, who work bare-footed, are usually in robust health.

THE czar is described as the largest eater among crowned heads and the kaiser comes next. The latter is stated to have a mania for eating at extraordinary times, and, although dining copiously before going to the theater, he generally insists on the dispatch from the imperial kitchens of a fully prepared supper, which he devours in one of the private rooms of the theater between the acts.

It is an American woman who is the mistress of Bulwer Lytton's old home, Knebworth house. She is Mrs. John Cleveland Osgood, formerly Miss Belote, of Virginia. Like many other Virginians she is of English descent, and her English blood shows itself in an ardent love of sport, which is said to be her chief reason for living in England. Her husband is an American, with large interests in the west, but he spends a good deal of time in England. She has recently become known to novel readers as "Irene Osgood."

REV. DR. HIRAM BINGHAM, who, with his wife, is about to sail from San Francisco for the Gilbert islands, has completed a translation of the Bible for the natives of those islands, where he has been a missionary for many years. Mrs. Bingham is the author of several schoolbooks for the islanders, and is at present working on an arithmetic, a task which offers many difficulties on account of the lack of equivalents in the Gilbert island language for many arithmetical terms. Certain of them Mrs. Bingham has been obliged to coin.

PRINCE JOHN, of Lichtenstein, is not a mighty ruler, although a great hubbub was made when he broke his leg while out hunting, the other day. His highness rules over a state so small that it was overlooked when peace was declared between Austria and Prussia in 1866, and consequently Lichtenstein is still nominally at war with Prussia. Prince John's army numbers exactly forty-six men, including several brigadier generals, and an hour's march in any direction would take it out of the principality and into a foreign land.

DEATH'S CRUEL WORK.

The Great Tidal Wave in the South Killed Hundreds.

Late Advice from Lower Louisiana Proves the Story of Terrible Disaster Along the Coast—Property Loss Will Be Enormous.

LIST OF DEAD GROWS.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 7.—The latest summary of the loss of life by the great Louisiana storm makes the total 2,078. There is still some doubt as to the loss at Cheniere Caminda. There were 314 survivors. The number of deaths will depend on the population of the island at the time of the storm. This is generally supposed to have been 1,560, but Assessor Long, of Jefferson, whose duty it is to make an enumeration of the population, declares that the total was 1,470. The number of lost in that place will run from 1,248 to 1,474. Nearly every portion of the region traversed by the storm has been visited. Five relief boats went into the storm district with provisions, clothing, etc. Some 200 of the survivors were brought to New Orleans, all nearly naked and badly battered and bruised. Only one, however, will die. The boats also brought up 126 bodies for burial, as there was no place in which they could be buried in Bayou Cook.

The news received Thursday showed that the destruction of shipping in Mississippi sound and off Chandeleur islands was much larger than at first thought and accompanied by considerable loss of life. The deaths reported from vessels already numbered 178, and the total may be increased fifty more when the fate of those on missing vessels is known. All but three of the vessels at Chandeleur, all but two at Biloxi and all but two at Scranton were either sunk or beached. The loss numbers two steamers, eleven barks, two barkentines two sloops, five brigs and twenty-eight schooners. The Biloxi fishing fleet was fishing oysters in the Louisiana reefs when the storm came on. The vessels have not since been heard from and it is feared that there has been some loss of life aboard them. The fishing fleet west of the Mississippi, consisting of twelve schooners and 243 luggers, has been destroyed, with the exception of some eight or ten vessels, and it will be months before the Louisiana fisheries revive from the shock. As it is both oysters and fish are difficult to get, and the canneries on Mississippi sound have been compelled to close down in consequence of a lack of supplies.

The destruction of property is now put at $6,500,000. The sea coast of Mississippi suffered heavy losses of property and little loss of life. The damage at Biloxi is given at $200,000; Pass Christian, $150,000; Bay St. Louis, $100,000; Pascagoula, $100,000; Scranton, $300,000; other towns, $250,000. This independent of the damage to the shipping, $460,000; and to the Louisville & Nashville railroad, $940,000, which is so seriously crippled that it will be months before it can resume traffic regularly between New Orleans and Mobile. It is now running boats instead.

The majority of the bodies are washed out to sea or washed far into the marsh. The unfortunates were found in every imaginable place. Some were lying high and dry on the land, where it is supposed they were washed by the water after death had relieved them from their sufferings. Some of the dead were buried under the wreckage of their houses, which evidently collapsed without warning. The bodies were mutilated and torn in a horrible manner. Arms and legs had been pulled from the body and found floating in the pools, in the depressions in the fields, or lodged on an elevation where the water had cast them when the wave receded.

The chief danger now lies in the probability that those not destroyed by the storm may fall victims to the plague that must surely follow if steps are not taken by the government to cause the dead to be buried. The stench arising from the decaying corpses is terrible and the pollution of the atmosphere cannot but result in an epidemic of disease. There is a growing demand that the national government send a detachment of troops to the scene to bury the dead.

The suffering of the survivors is being relieved as fast as possible, and a second shipment of supplies and provisions was sent out Thursday morning. The entire population of all the places named is now in absolute need of food and drink. Dead bodies are floating around on every side and the situation is unparalleled in the history of the south.

BROKE THE RECORD.

E. A. McDuffee and James Clark Ride in the Best Tandem Time.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Oct. 6.—Harry Tyler broke the world's record for the mile from standing start and E. A. McDuffee and James Clark broke the world's record for the mile for tandem with flying start Thursday. The first effort made was Tyler's. The mile was made in 2:01 1/5, breaking the world's record for the distance three and three-fifths seconds, the best previous effort having been made by Windle October 8, 1892. Tyler also broke the world's record for the half and three-quarters. McDuffee and Clark finished in 2:01 1/5, beating the world's record four seconds.

EXECUTION OF PALLAS.

The Anarchist Shot at Barcelona for Throwing a Bomb.

BARCELONA, Oct. 7.—Pallas, the anarchist who, September 24, made an attempt on the life of Capt. Gen. Martinez Campos by hurling two dynamite bombs at that officer, was shot in accordance with the sentence of the court-martial before which he was tried. The prisoner refused to kneel when sentence was pronounced, but he consented to sign a copy of his sentence, at the same time exclaiming that he was signing the death warrant of his judges, feeling certain that his brother anarchists would avenge his death by killing those who had condemned him to die.

Priests did their utmost to prevail upon the desperate man to listen to religious consolation and die repentant, but Pallas sneered at the remarks of the priests, laughed at their word-pictures of the hereafter and scornfully rejected all their efforts in his behalf. Mass for the condemned was celebrated at an early hour.

Shortly before 9 o'clock Pallas was slowly and solemnly escorted by a squad of infantry to an inclosure close to the castle of Monjuich. In the center of the square of troops, silent, motionless and grim, was drawn up a platoon of infantry. The prisoner still maintained his air of bravado and marched to his death as if going to some glorious ceremony, chanting an anarchist air in a slow voice, so as to drown, it would appear, the muttered prayers of the monks.

Outside the line of troops crowds of people had gathered. The place of execution was kept as secret as possible, so that those in sympathy with the condemned anarchist could not have an opportunity to plan a dynamite outrage. When the prisoner's back had been turned toward the soldiers, the firing party took what appeared to be a very long and careful aim. To the right of the death platoon stood its officer, his bared sword held above his head; then, like a flash of lightning the glistening weapon descended, there was a flash of fire, clouds of white smoke, the rattle of rifles discharged in unison, and Pallas, the anarchist, fell over on his face—dead. A few sharp military words of command and the body was carried away, the troops formed and reformed, bugles sounded, the troops marched away, the crowds dispersed and all was over.

The crime for which Pallas was shot was committed in this city on Saturday, September 23. Capt. Gen. Martinez de Campos was reviewing the troops of this district. Pallas, from among a crowd of people who were passing, threw a bomb at Gen. de Campos, resulting in the killing of a soldier and the wounding of Gens. Bustos and Molins, of his staff, and five spectators. The general himself received a slight wound in the arm and a few bruises, but beyond this was uninjured.

SWEPT BY WIND.

Death and Destruction Follow a Storm in Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct.—A terrific wind and rain storm swept over Arkansas Thursday night, leaving death and destruction in its path. In Union county, in the southwestern part of the state, several houses were blown down, four women were killed outright, and several persons were seriously injured. The town of Eldorado was badly damaged, but no report of loss of life has been received. In the vicinity of Preston, Faulkner county, the storm was quite severe, and blew over a number of houses, killing two persons. Along the Arkansas river, a few miles east of Conway, in the vicinity of Bristol, damage to houses, fences, and barns is reported. There was no loss of life. The storm raged in Little Rock for half an hour, the wind blowing at the rate of 50 miles an hour. Several buildings were damaged, but no casualties occurred.

NEARLY A THOUSAND BURIED.

As Many More Thought to Have Been Lost in the Gulf Storm.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 7.—The taking of the census of the dead of the recent storm has about been abandoned. Over 950 bodies have been buried in the trenches of Cheniere Camanada and the loss of life on Grand Lake and on Grand Bayou, at Port Eads, Plaquemine parish, over around Shell beach, Bohemia, and the vast extent of Lake Borgne territory, which neither telegraph nor railroad ever reaches, and in the chain of lakes and streams which lead to the Mississippi sound and along the latter, where nearly all the craft were wrecked and crews destroyed, will reach fully 2,000.

Hacked the Janitor.

An insane woman with a knife in her hand entered a school building at Port Huron, and when the janitor tried to put her out she went for him and hacked him in a horrible manner. After she had overcome him she entered one of the class rooms, where a teacher was alone. The latter managed to evade her until help arrived, when the woman was subdued and taken to jail.

After a Pardon.

Union City people feel indignant over the incarceration in Jackson prison of Dr. M. Robinson. He was convicted over a year since on a charge of seduction. Judge Hooker, however, refused to pass sentence, but upon Judge Clement's accession to the bench he sentenced the doctor to one year in prison. Steps have been taken to secure a pardon.

Passengers Badly Shaken Up.

The Atlantic & Pacific express on the Michigan Central, east bound, consisting of sixteen coaches, was run into by the Detroit and Chicago express, also east bound, near Kalamazoo, and "Mogul" engine No. 160 and the sleeper "Eclipse" were wrecked. Several hundred passengers were badly shaken up, but no one was seriously injured.

An Awful Mine Horror.

With a roar and rush the waters of the Michigan river broke through the Mansfield mine near Crystal Falls, drowning twenty-eight of the employees at work directly under the stream. The eighteen men who escaped were employed in the lower levels. Most of the drowned men leave families.

On the Lake in a Burning Boat.

A party of surveyors who were on the tug Mystic, bound for Ransom's landing, on Lake Superior, had a narrow escape from death. The tug caught fire while in the lake and the flames gained such headway that it had to be run ashore at Ransom's landing. The boat was valued at $10,000.

Fatal Railway Wreck.

RACE FOR THE CUP.

Neither Yachts Cover the Course in Time—Will Try Again.

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—Baffled by light winds, the yachts Vigilant and Valkyrie, which started Thursday on the first of the international races for the America's cup, were compelled to abandon the contest. It was just 5:10 o'clock in the afternoon when a tug took the Valkyrie in tow, and the dismal tooting of the whistles announced the failure of the day's sport. The English cutter was then a mile in advance of the Vigilant, and the point for which they had started almost six hours before was yet miles away.

It was a keen disappointment to the thousands who had stood by the rails and clung to the vantage ground on board the steamers all day. The overpowering attraction of the big race between the English and American prize winners drew the biggest flotilla that ever sailed to Sandy Hook to see a yacht race. Every boat was crowded, too. Not one aboard had thought for other than the outcome of the first contest of the ships, for in that result they felt that they could foreshadow the remaining contests.

A long stream of craft from the iron steamer to the towboat swept past the battery and down through the narrow almost from daybreak.

The wind was close to due northeast at the start and the regatta committee, of the New York Yacht club, who had charge of the race decided that the boats should start leeward for the first 15 miles and return to windward. When the preparatory gun was fired from Commodore Morgan's flagship, May, the Valkyrie found a position under the Vigilant's lee quarter. Both boats then headed to the line.

Just before the line was passed the Vigilant dropped her spinnaker boom to starboard and hung up her big side sail in a jiffy. The English boat was about six lengths behind on the lee quarter and succeeded in setting her spinnaker in only about two seconds less time than did the American boat. When 2 miles out the center boarder had gained at least a half minute in time apparently. The Valkyrie's jib topsail was drawing very poorly, while the Vigilant was doing good work. There was not wind enough to balloon out any sail on either vessel, but such as there was helped the American boat more than the Englishman.

During these first 2 miles the breeze freshened up a bit. The sky had cleared and there were some little black clouds over in the east that seemed to betoken wind, and everybody hoped it would bring it. Their hopes were not realized. Scarcely had the spurt made itself known before it died out and left less air than had originally been present. From then the boats entered into a drifting match.

The wind began to haul to the south, and before they knew it there was a south-southwest breeze, if it could be dignified by the name of breeze, and the yachts had to make a tack to reach the outer buoy. In this work the Vigilant gained no little on the Valkyrie, but it was plain that the chase was a hopeless one, in the light air prevailing. The Valkyrie went down to the mark on the signal starboard tack and rounded it amid the wild shriekings of the hundreds of steam whistles that made a semicircle on the sides and below the buoy.

It was twenty-six minutes after this that the Vigilant made her turn, and she had to make an extra tack in order to weather the buoy. Although apparently defeated in the first race of the series, the American boat was greeted with even a greater clamor than had been heard when the Valkyrie went around. The American was a mile behind.

When about half the homeward journey had been completed Lord Dunraven, who was on his own boat, hailed a tug, asked for a tow line and was brought back to the bay under steam power. Almost simultaneously with the earl's action did Mr. Iselin on the Vigilant determine to do the same thing. Another attempt will be made Saturday.

BEATEN BY BURGLARS.

Masked Men Frightfully Maltreat a Wisconsin Farmer.

APPLETON, Wis., Oct. 6.—Wednesday night two masked burglars broke into the house of Thomas Mc Gillan, in Center. Mr. McGillan was knocked down with a club and then gagged by the robbers, although he made a vigorous resistance. About $18 was stolen. They poured coal oil over him and over the contents of the house and threatened to burn him to death. They beat him about the head frightfully, and tried to smother him by rolling him in a bedtick. They thought McGillan had money secreted in the house and in every imaginable way tried to get him to divulge the hiding place. McGillan is a well known farmer and resides alone.

Decapitated by a Wire Fence.

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 6.—Gottfried Gruetze, a wealthy German farmer, living near Goffs, had his head completely severed from his body in a runaway accident. He was driving a spirited team and met a woman on horseback wearing a large flowing cape. The wind spread out the garment, frightening Mr. Gruetze's team. They ran into a ditch, throwing Mr. Gruetze completely over the team onto a barbed wire fence. He struck on his neck with such force that the wire severed it completely.

WORSE AND WORSE.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 5.—Over 2,000 killed and nearly $5,000,000 of property annihilated is the record of the great gulf storm in Louisiana. There has never been anything approximating it since the country was settled. More than half the population in the region over which the hurricane swept are dead. Everything is wrecked and not a house in ten is left standing, while the survivors are left in the most destitute condition, without food or even clothing, for most of them were sleeping in their beds when their houses were crushed by the wind or the waves. There have been several similar disasters on the coast. At Lost island, where 286 people lost their lives, and at Johnson's bayou the lost numbered 220 six years ago, but Monday's disaster far surpasses these in horror. The weak and injured were all killed, and in the settlements where the storm was worst not a child survived and very few women. The survivors are the young men in the vigor of manhood. Not one of them but has a terrible story to tell; not one but is badly bruised and injured. They escaped mainly on rafts or logs, floating for twenty to ninety hours in the water, with the wind at 115 miles an hour.

Fishing Vessels Lost.

At the time the storm visited Chemise Canunada 120 fishing vessels were in the gulf fishing. Not a word has since been heard from them or their occupants. Along the Mississippi the loss of life was to some extent due to falling buildings. In the bay it was caused wholly by drowning. The pecuniary damage, while heavy, is not as large as might have been expected, as the sugar plantations and the richer portions of Plaquemine parish were not worsted by the storm, and it was the smaller farms and fishing settlements which suffered most. The damage is now estimated as follows:

The Financial Loss.

TOWNS OR ARTICLES.	Amount.
New Orleans.....	$260,000
Plaquemine parish.....	800,000
Orange crops.....	200,000
Other crops.....	250,000

Miscellaneous.....	250,000
Total.....	$3,620,000

Total damage, $4,420,000. The total loss on oranges is 75 per cent., while 20 per cent. of the orange trees were killed or blown down.

At Bayou Cook.

There is to-day only sadness in the news from Bayou Cook and the various statements that are tributary thereto. There has been a frightful loss of life throughout that section. Houses have been blown to pieces and snacks destroyed and wrecked. There will never be any means of correctly estimating the exact loss which humanity has suffered. Many of the bodies have been carried into the marshes and will never be found. Perhaps some of these are still living, but without food and water they will be likely to perish unless assistance is sent them.

Straw with Bodies.

Train crews arriving on the Grand Island road say that the tracks lie strewn with bodies, and that a large number have already been buried. The country is a scene of wreck and devastation. An arriving passenger said that no fewer than eighty-seven dead bodies were seen along the route. He said he had witnessed horrowing scenes throughout the Bayou Cook country, and the news received is to the effect that the distress is appalling. The trains that arrived Wednesday morning brought many of the Bayou Cook survivors to this city, many of them wretchedly attired and their faces bearing marks of fearful suffering. There were men, women and children in the party and they were met at the depot by fellow countrymen and brought to the city, where they received kind attention and treatment.

All Italians and Austrians.

The population on Bayou Cook consisted of nearly all men—Italians and Austrians. There were few, if any, negroes in the settlement. Anthony Negrovitch came direct from Bayou Cook. He said that during the height of the storm he saw his wife swept by him, appealing piteously for help. He was unable to extend her helping hand and she perished. He witnessed scores of people drown about him, men and women, whom he had known all his life. Many of them did not drown, but were dashed against their houses and their lives were crushed out. Others perished in the destruction of their homes.

A Sad Sight.

At Grand bayou not less than twenty-six perished. One of the saddest sights witnessed by a party of survivors was the bodies of three women lashed to a plank and being buffeted about by the waves. They were floating in Grand lake, which is the entrance to Grand isle. A log was floating between the bodies, and from that appeared to be the body of a boy.

Saw His Family Perish.

George Sigorovitch saw his wife and children perish before him while the water stood up to his chin. The mother had one child on her back and the father another. A third shifted for herself. The mother and babe and the third child were lost, but the man succeeded in climbing to the top of a cabin and saved himself. These instances of loss of life were multiplied in every locality.

Terrible Distress.

A later account from a correspondent near the scene says a rough estimate is that 400 to 500 have been saved out of a population of 1,300 on the Cheniere. The distress existing there is terrible. The Chinese factory at Bayou Andre was totally destroyed and not one of the Chinese colony escaped. There were not more than ten of them at the place. Another Chinese shrimp canning factory at Bayou Defont was destroyed and all the Chinamen killed.

Will Never Be Known.

It will never be known accurately how many were lost in the storm. The mighty waves swept with such force over the land-and-at such a great depth that it is probable many bodies and perhaps many who are still living were carried into the marshes. The total loss of life at the two islands is now placed at between 1,500 and 2,000.

Organizing for Relief.

New Orleans is taking active measures to relieve the destitution. The Red Cross society has reorganized for the occasion. The Slavonian society, a good number of whose members are drowned, sent out an expedition with medicine and provisions and with instructions to spare no money in succoring the living and burying the dead. A volunteer movement of Second and Third district citizens will send two boats to the stricken section. The wind and waves destroyed all the provisions upon Chemise island and swept away all the cisterns of the residents. The result is that fresh water is so scarce that it is not sufficient to relieve the thirst of the hundreds who are now without anything to eat and scarcely anything to wear.

SILVER BULLION.

Shipments During July and August Given as $7,787,854 Ounces.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—In response to a resolution of the senate the secretary of the treasury has sent to that body a statement of the amount of silver bullion exported during the months of July and August this year. The grand total shows that for the month of July 5,670,407 ounces were shipped. During the month of August the amount exported was 2,272,894 ounces from New York and 328,459 from San Francisco, with a small shipment of 6,094 ounces from Niagara, making a total for this month of 3,117,447.

A statement prepared at the mint bureau shows that during the first quarter of the present fiscal year the treasury department, acting under authority of the Sherman silver act, purchased $9,322,108 fine ounces of silver at a cost of $6,479,003, and treasury notes to that amount were issued against the notes so purchased.

HEAVY LOSS AT MOBILE.

Results of the Tornado That Swept the City and Vicinity.

MOBILE, Ala., Oct. 5.—Reports of damage by Monday's storm are coming in slowly. Railroads, shipping and mills are the heaviest losers, the amount aggregating nearly $1,000,000. The loss of human life cannot be estimated. On Farmer island, opposite the city, only two farmhouses are standing out of a total of twenty-three. A relief expedition to this section found a group of little children clinging to trees and their parents swept away. One house crossed the bay a distance of 15 miles and landed on the tracks of the Louisville & Nashville railroad. Furniture was scattered about and on the floor was the family savings, $105. The owner with his family has not turned up. On both sides of the bay are many villages, some of which are destroyed and the inhabitants gone.

Say He Took a Fortune.

NORWALK, O., Oct. 5.—J. W. Bell, a prominent attorney of Plymouth, O., has left for parts unknown and is accused of leaving his creditors in the lurch to the extent of $45,000. Part of the amount is borrowed money and the remainder is due estates which he was settling up.

Will Complete the Census.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—It is stated at the interior department that Carroll D. Wright, commissioner of labor, will at once be designated to take charge of the work of completing the eleventh census and that he will enter upon his duties immediately.

HISTORIC AMERICAN TRIUMPH.

Notable Visit of the Foreign World's Fair Commissioners to North Dakota to View Harvesting Machinery at Work.

Forty-five Deering Twine Binders, forming a procession half a mile in length, and steadily moving through a waving sea of wheat—such was the sight that greeted the Foreign Commissioners to the World's Fair during their recent famous visit to the bonanza farms of North Dakota. This imposing spectacle was witnessed on the great Elk Valley farm at Larimore, North Dakota, a farm comprising 12,000 acres or nearly 19 square miles, 10,000 acres of which formed one unbroken fenceless field of wheat. To witness this sight the distinguished spectators, comprising fifty foreign diplomats, World's Fair Commissioners and representatives of the foreign press, together with an equal number of Americans, eminent in World's Fair, Railroad and Commercial circles, had undertaken the discomforts of a thousand mile journey from Chicago; and the exclamations of delight and surprise, and the cries of "bravo" that rang out on the air moved that their expectations were vastly more than realized. Sent here to study all things American, these gentlemen had been especially "yogues" on the wheat harvesting methods in vogue on the much-talked-of "bonanza" wheat farms. Four days before they had left Chicago as guests of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad, along whose route from Chicago to St. Paul they had received one continuous ovation. From St. Paul through Minnesota and North Dakota they traveled as guests of the Great Northern Railroad, and the farther north they traveled the warmer and more cordial was their reception. Here at Larimore they found the climax of interest and the height of hospitality. They were met at their train and escorted to carriages by what seemed to be the whole population of the little city of Larimore, headed by O. H. Phillips, the Mayor, Gov. Shortridge, and N. G. Larimore, the proprietor of the great farm which they were to see. Silently and almost breathlessly at first they viewed the mighty phalanx of machines; then quickly alighting from their conveyances they followed the machines on foot, eagerly peering into their mechanism as if bent on finding the secret of their perfect, automatic, almost noiseless action. For an hour or more they followed the machines, asking innumerable questions of Mr. Larimore and his sons, when they were called to one side of the field where scientific tests of draft were being made under the supervision of Mayor O. H. Phillips and Mr. C. H. O'mstead. The machines tested—the Deering Pony binder and the Deering Ideal mower—were remarkable because embodying the ball and roller bearings, such as are used in bicycles and bicycle sulkies. Twelve tests were made on each machine with a registered Osterheld & Eickmeyer dynamometer, each representing the draft involved in cutting a six-foot swath, 100 feet in length, in twenty to twenty-five seconds of time. The six cutting tests of the binder showed an average of only 298 pounds of draft. The six tests in which the machine was run in gear over the tops of the stubble just out, known as the "rolling draft" test, showed an average draft of only 307 pounds. The Deering Ideal mower, a new machine also fitted with the ball and roller bearings, showed a cutting draft averaging 138 pounds, and the rolling draft ninety-two pounds. The remarkably low draft—about half the draft of ordinary machines—shown by these figures for both machines was carefully noted by the astonished visitors as demonstrating the practicability of the bicycle bearings. The same Pony binder, drawn by two light mules, cut an acre of wheat in twenty-two and a half minutes.

PAPER TWINE USED.

A notable feature of the binder test was the use on the Pony binder of the Deering "paper" twine, made from a wood fibre. This twine, patented by William Deering & Co., bids fair to prove a Waterloo to the twine trust, for it can be made and sold at prices considerably below those now paid for the hemp and sisal fibres. At the close of these tests the commissioners, together with a party of speculators, were tendered a good, substantial prairie chicken dinner by Mrs. Larimore and her neighbors. Toasts followed. Gov. Shortridge, Mayor Phillips and Rev. J. H. Keeley delivered eloquent addresses of welcome, which were responded to by D. M. De Peralta, of Costa Rica; Mr. A. Grinevsky, the assistant Russian commissioner; Don Albert Gomez Ruano, of Uruguay; Mr. Harry Vincent, of Costa Rica, and Judge Atwater, of Minneapolis. Mr. Larimore also spoke. He said that by using the best methods and machinery he had reduced the cost of raising and marketing wheat to between $4.50 and $5.00 an acre.

MR. APPELBY SURPRISES THE COMMISSIONERS. Mr. John F. Appleby, the inventor of the Appleby twine binder, whose presence was a surprise to the commissioners, told of the history of his early struggles and the final universal adoption of his invention. He paid a glowing tribute to Mr. William Deering, to whose enterprise he said the world was indebted for the introduction and general adoption of the machine. Said he:

"In 1879, when the Deering Company made seventy-five of these binders, people smiled knowingly and predicted failure. The next year when Mr. Deering made 3,000 of the machines, the manufacturers of the old reaper and the wire binder said he was crazy. If he was crazy all the manufacturers of harvesting machinery who have been forced to follow his example have also become violently insane [laughter] and the millions of farmers who now use the invention are fit candidates for a lunatic asylum." [Laughter and applause.]

The excursionists left for Alton and the great Dalrymple farms at 4 p. m., where they witnessed threshing machines at work on a crop of wheat that was cut from 77,000 acres by 190 Deering binders—a make that is used exclusively by the Dalrymples. From Alton they journeyed to Fargo, where they were royally received and shown the marvelous result of western pluck, which in a season of hard times had built a solid city of brick and mortar on the bed of ashes that had lain smoking there only twenty days before. From Fargo, the guests returned to Chicago, bristling with enthusiasm over the wonders they had seen.
