Mrs. Catherine Brackbill.

Catherine Brink was born in Dundas, Canada, Oct. 26, 1806.

Her life began in the first decade of the most marvelous century perhaps the world has ever seen. She was born six years after the century began and she has left us with only six years to the close of this century. She early gave her beart to the Saviour though since leaving Canada for the States she has not held membership in any church. She was married in Dundas, Canada to the late Frederick Brackbill Jan. 9, 1884 Her husband died a little and Mrs. Brackbill came to Michigan in Sept. 1838, settling for a number of years in Niles. They subsequently lived in Chicago for about twelve years. Then about eighteen years ago they came to

There is one trait of character which Mrs. Brackbill possessed that seems particularly worthy of mention. Of a worth. She was very slow to find fault offered him. This is the way. with people. It is worth more than a gold mine to possess such a disposition. The Jews were quick to criticise the mistakes of their fellows and that characteristic led them to crucify the innocent Nazarene. A few of them who were slow to find fault proved to be quick to discern the

Of Mrs. Brackbill's four childsen, one a boy, died in infancy, one daughter, Mrs. Louise Jewett, is now living in Chicago, Mrs. Long, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mrs. Barlow, of this place, both well known here have done all that love could suggest to alleviate suffering and cheer the heart of mothers.

seem a benediction upon her entire life. It was Dec. 14th and the words found in Mal. 3:17 were: "And they shall be mine saith the Lord of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels." Also this verse:

"Then mourn not thou the sainted dead, Then mourn not thou the sainted.
To thy true heart so dear;
Each in his lowly, quiet bed
Slumbers, forgotten here.
Yet, in the courts of God above,
Their names, all radiant shine;
Each secret deed of Christian love
Is known in that bright clime."

Closing with this prayer: "Keep us, O, Lord, so truly in thy love and favor all our life long, that when thou callest us hence, we may be received into thine eternal rest thy perpetual light, thy perfect peace, for the sake of Jesus our Lord, Amen."

Frank P. Glazier, Jr.

Died, Monday, January &, 1894, at the family residence in this village, after four weeks' severe illness, Frank P., Jr., infant son of Frank P. and Henrietta Glazier, at funeral was held on Wednesday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Moon, conducting the services.

"He seemed a cherub who had lost his way

WILLIS TO DOLE.

The Hawaiian President Asked to Surrender.

Informed That This Action Is Requested by President Cleveland-Promised Amnesty by the Queen If She Is Restored.

DOLE'S REPLY NOT YET KNOWN. WASHINGTON, Jan. 6 .- The United States government has just been informed that its wishes in regard to the government of Hawaii have been conveyed to the provisional government of the islands, and that while President Dole has promised a reply soon it is hardly expected that this will be favorable to the queen. The message received was cabled from Auckland, to which city it was conveyed by the steamer Alameda, which sailed from Honolulu December

22. The information is that the reply of President Dole and his colleagues will be delayed until the case can be gene into thoroughly and the contention of the provisional government will be fully set forth in answer to the demand of the United States.

All this is news to the president and the cabinet, but it was not unexpected, as it is now said that the Corwin bore positive instructions to Minister Willis that he should make his demand for the queen's restoration at once and use every means to earry it to a successful termination. The only obstacle was the decision of the deposed monarch that she would not accept the throne on the plan proposed by President Cleveland but would insist upon support after she was placed there.

To encompass this difficulty the information now received is the queen has informed the minister who transmitted the conditions to the provisional government that she will grant amnesty to all those who took part in the revolution and in subsequent acts of the government; will carry out all contracts since entered into, and will take care of all the business on the basis of which it is now conducted. She agrees, further, to govern strictly under the constitution and will be guided by men whose character will be a guarantee of their correct course in public matters.

Minister Willis, it is said here, takes a hopeful view of the matter, but does not seem to be sanguine of the success of his mission, especially at this time. The government has only informed him that it will submit a reply in due time and is now getting it in shape.

The Commercial Advertiser of Hono-Iulu in an article supporting the government declared that the United States congress has taken the matter out of President Cleveland's hands by calling for the papers in the Hawaiian correspondence, and asserts that the provisional government will not retire from power unless compelled to by force, and says that this is not likely to be employed.

In the same connection it is stated one who knows of the message received that the condition of affairs on the island is daily growing more complicated. The government, since its unofficial information of the intention of the United States government by the newspapers and Minister Thurston's messages, has been to all intents strengthening its forces. The members of the regular police force have been notified of the probable conflict and their number greatly augmented. The arms are all at hand, and the most resolute of the Americans are at the head of this force. The number of men who will fight for the provisional government is placed at from 3,000 to 4,000, as it is stated that many of the supporters of Dole from other islands are gathering at Honolulu to take part in any defensive action made necessary. The provisional government continues firm, and there seems no feeling on any hand other than that a return to the old order would mean a step backward which must not be taken. HOWARD SENTENCED.

The Swindler to Serve Nine Years in Prison and Fined $1,200.

Jackson, Tenn., Jan. 6.-Howard, the foreign claim swindler and clerical deceiver. was sentenced by Judge Hammond to nine years and one month in the Columbus (O.) penitentiary, $1,200 fine and the costs of the two trials, which foot up in the neighborhood of $20,000. A greater part of the day was consumed by the defendant and his associate counsel in arguing the motion for a new trial. The court overruled the motion in an address in which the prisoner was most mercilessly scored. Sentence was then passed, Howard manifesting no emotion. The court said inasmuch as the defendant was an attorney he would be stricken from the roll of the bar.

Consumption

And thousands of people are uncon-sciously taking the fatal step. If you have Catarrh in the Head do not allow it to progress unheeded and unchecked. It is a disease of the system and not simply of the nose and throat. The blood reaches every part of the system. Therefore the only way to cure Catarrh is to take a thorough blood purifier like Hood's Sarsaparilla, which perfectly and permanently cures Catarrh.

us,

Whenever it is rainy She hastes with curious care To hide herself—as he does Whenever it is fair.

She looks upon the sunlight With melancholy eyes And thinks: "If there were some one About my style and size With whom I could at all times Entirely sympathize!"

And with an apprehension Her timid pulses stir Of just such a fine springal As lives next door to her.

He watches the dull raindrops Drenching the misty land; His soul sighs for another Soul, similarly planned, That might from its own yearning His yearnings understand.

And his lone spirit wanders 'Mid fancies soft and dim Of just such a young person As lives next door to him.

If they might meet, what rapture! But it can never be: It shines-and he retires: It rains-and in goes she. -Gertrude Hall, in McClure's Magazine.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL

The Good Work Accomplished by Mrs. Molly Vannoy.

When Graham Vannoy and Molly Glenn, a fairly educated, energetic young man and woman, were married twenty-five years ago, Graham said:

"Molly, you have no maid. I have no man. Even a poor young physician with a practice scattered over a good bit of country must keep horses and a man. How shall we manage the expense?"

"I have selected my maid-one of your poor patient's young daughters Anne is fifteen, healthy and intelligent, and I mean to make even homely duties attractive to her. A mistress may be companionable with her maid, and yet not descend to being familiar and confidential."

"You are planning, Molly, to be a household missionary," said Dr. Van-

"I am planning, Graham," said the little woman, earnestly, "not to miss an opportunity to arouse in our servants an ambition to do their very best. Anne will serve me better when she finds I have a real and kindly interest in her affairs. We shall get along nicely. Oh, you doubting Thomas! you are questioning my ability to arouse in her a wholesome ambition to serve well."

"I am wondering, Molly," acknowledged the doctor, "if your petted maid will remain content to serve her patient teacher. She will probably disappoint you."

"I do not think she will, Graham," said Mrs. Vannoy, confidently. "If I command her respect, she will take kindly to my teaching. I have faith in Anne's common sense. She can be taught the difference between good housekeeping and slipshod methods. Graham, a strong boy can serve you. Mrs. Maret tells me that her Jamie is overwhelmingly anxious to learn 'the doctor's trade." "

"'Trade!' That lanky, green boy!"

cried Dr. Vannoy.

"I am speaking of a neglected, ambitious lad whose parents consider him the ugly duckling in their brood of seven. Why not try Jamie?" said Mrs. Vannoy, persuasively. "He has no encouragement at home to make the slightest effort to attain anything desirable. He will care for your horses, buggy and office for small pay, his board, and the help you may give him in preparing for college. Surely, Graham, when you remember the hardships you endured to gain a medical education, you are willing to lend a hand to Jamie. We had better have Anne and Jamie here soon. I have time now to spend in looking after them a bit."

"Of course, Molly, you'll have your way. I've no faith in your succeed ing—" "Only wait-wait, Graham, and see," urged the wife. Anne Bolyn accepted without a demur the uniform provided by Mrs. Van-moy, when she noted that the "doctor's lady" wore a similar dress. "You see, Anne," said Mrs. Vannoy, "it makes every difference the way housekeepers go about work. The wise woman who wants to keep tidy every day wears in the kitchen gowns and aprons easily laundried."

"Shall I eat at the table with the doctor and you, Mis' Vannoy?" inquired Anne. "Maw says I mustn't forget I'm not a common servant."

"Some one must wait on the table," replied Mrs. Vannoy, calmly. "In the Jaynes family, the three daughters take turns in waiting. Once when I dined there Master Willie performed that duty. He was proud, too, of being able to serve without making unnecessary noise. Minnie Jaynes considers it one of her accomplishments."

"I shouldn't think the richest man in Wingate would let his girl do such work. I thought Minnie Jaynes took music lessons," commented Anne.

one needs to begin at the beginning. It's an art to be able to serve a dinner correctly," explained Anne's mistress.

"I s'pose maw won't mind my waicin' on table when I tell her Minnie Jaynes waits, too," replied Anne, reluctantly.

Jamie Maret's expressive blue eyes looked his willingness to serve the doctor faithfully. When winter advanced, Dr. Vannoy's practice increased to a degree which necessitated his absence from home many evenings. He said regretfully:

"Molly, do abandon this night school of yours. Since Anne has shown a wish to study, you must be sorely taxed by hearing recitations and directing your students. In the schoolroom your work was paid."

"Spare your pity until I need it, Graham," advised Mrs. Vannoy. "Jamie and Anne are worth the little I do for

During the ensuing two years Anne Bolyn, a pure blonde, grew into a pretty, graceful girl. Her mother occasionally instilled into her soul a slight rebellion-a distrust of the kindly mistress, who, with rare patience and tact, speedily righted matters at such seasons.

"My dear," said Dr. Vannoy, "James has become almost invaluable to me, but I must spare him soon. The boy is too bright to remain here longer. Can you look up a successor?"

"I think so, Graham," replied Mrs. Vannoy, thoughtfully. "I must spare Anne, too. My old teacher needs a utility girl, one who will earn board Magazine. and tuition in the girls' school at Corry. She will give Anne vocal lessons if"-

"Aha, Molly, your trained help"-"Graham, would you have me selfishly keep Anne in my service when this chance has come to her?"

"No, my dear, only you receive no reward.

"I shall receive the very highest reward if Anne improves her opportunities. I have a second maid in view already."

"I have no doubt, Molly, that you will continue keeping a preparatory

"So long as I am able to conduct one," said Mollie, laughing. "Only yesterday Sailor Moran's Marjory said to me: 'I do wish I knew how to do things as Anne does them. When I am able to keep house and not spend more money than papa can earn in Wingate, he need not go to sea. He will get a home for Willie and me.' Marjorie is a nice girl. She is anxious to become papa's housekeeper. She will have a motive to do her best."

"And what do you expect to make of yourself, my boy?" inquired Dr. Vannoy, when Patrick Plunket, Jamie's successor, reported for duty.

"A dentist, sor, by 'n'by. I hopes ve'll give me the helpin' hand, if I'm desarvin," responded Patrick, brightly. "Well, we'll see, Patrick. Don't forget that Jamie has spoiled my horses by petting them," said Dr. Vannoy, kindly. In time Mr. Moran returned to Wingate, and a winsome, happy Marjorie became "papa's housekeeper." Patrick Plunkett gained confidence also in his own ability to be somebody.

"Our ungrateful servants have given us the opportunity to look up successors. Here's my second boy, Patrick Plunk et, off to the dental college just when I find him of value to me," complained Dr. Vannoy, with a twinkle in his eye.

New maids and new boys continued to enter the Vannoys' service and to leave their kind employers, until twenty-five years went by. Much had happened during that time. When young Dr. James Maret sought an opening, Dr. Vannoy's increased practice enabled him to take him as a partner. Anne Bolyn, while paying her way through college, continued her friendship with Jamie.

"Another going agley of your plans, Molly," said Dr. Vannoy, handing his wife some wedding cards. "You've planned a musical career for Anne Bolyn. The young woman, after six years of close application to study, settles down in a cozy cottage with my young partner, who has his fortune yet to make!" "I'm not disappointed that Anne listened to Jamie's wooing. Jamie is quite as well off in every respect as you were when I married you, and now we are very comfortable," replied Mrs.

Vannoy, placidly. On the noon of Mrs. Vannoy's fiftieth birthday, a company of well-dressed men and women unceremoniously entered her parlors. "Graham," cried Mrs. Vonnoy, "it is Patrick, David, Paul, Sylvia, Rachel and the others!" "It was Anne's idea, this wholesale invasion," explained Dr. Maret. "She has spent three months in locating your ex-maids and boys, who each realize the debt of gratitude they owe you." "Molly," cried Dr. Vannoy, "you are responsible for a great deal. Here are eight men and seven women who were once members of your training school. Patrick Plunket is making more money than I am. Otto Baum thinks he will go to the legislature. Jamie expects to step in my shoes. Do you notice, Mrs. Vannoy, Sylvia Moore's fine The manuscripts of Pope's translagown? keeper and home-maker. To do this, wish you success! There isn't a failure in the number. But, Molly, I can't forget that your maids were in haste to leave your service."

"Graham, not one left me until an opportunity"-

"Exactly! and when an opportunity to enter another training school presented itself, you were left lamenting."

"Not lamenting, but glad that my pupils were so apt. At any rate, my maids tarried with me quite as long as your boys remained with you."

"A true word you said, dearie! The ungrateful fellows developed aspirations in no time, and away they scampered. Such a state of affairs is only possible in a democratic country, where the pluckiest people climb to the top of the ladder. I note with pleasure that our guests have brought with them suggestive baskets. Suppose we begin the banquet."

Dr. Vannoy viewed with pride the company of self-reliant men and women, each occupying a creditable place in the work-a-day world. His heart thrilled with pride as he looked upon his wife's sweet, placid face. He valued her as the dearest, wisest, most patient and unselfish woman in the world.

Mrs. Vannoy looked her happiness. The childless wife had not in the beginning planned work by any set ideas. Being a born teacher, possessing the ability to stimulate and bring out each one's best, the natural result followed, and Dr. Vannoy, despite his teasing, proved an able assistant in the home training school. - Waverly

AN ANCIENT TEACHER.

His Original Method of Dealing with Tardy Pupils.

Charles Thompson, secretary of the in the family of a school-teacher named Dove, who, with his wife, was much given to scandal. Wishing to leave them on account of their offensive propensity, but dreading their tongues, he adopted an ingenious expedient to prevent them from slandering him.

One evening he asked them if his conduct as a boarder had been satisfactory, and on their answering "yes," he "Would you be good enough to give me a certificate to that effect?" "Oh, certainly."

A certificate was given, and the next day he left their house.

This man Dove was a humorist, and in his school, instead of whipping an offending pupil, he made him ridiculous in the eyes of his schoolmates. The birch was stuck into the back part of the collar of the culprit, who, with this badge of disgrace, was made to stand upon the platform.

If boys were late in arriving at school, a committee of five or six scholars was sent into the streets, with a bell and lighted lantern, to hunt up the delinquents and escort them to the school-

One day the scholars enjoyed the sport mentioned in "Hamlet," "to have the engineer hoist with his own petard." Dove had always professed a willingness to have his own punishment meted out to himself in case he transgressed the rules.

One morning the teacher was late, and a committee of boys, with bell and lantern, meeting him on his way to school, escorted him through the streets, to the amasement of the spectators. He had the good sense to submit quietly. - Youth's Companion.

The Football Player's Sorrow.

"Thus one by one are our fondest dreams dispelled," said the dejectedlooking young man, as he dropped his head with its long, flowing locks into his hands. "And she always seemed so unseifish."

"Oh, well, brace up. Think of your fame as a football player." "It is that which sundered the ties that bound us. She demanded too much." "But you told me only a short time ago that you would give her your life if she asked for it."

It Was Tough.

A pretty little woman came out of a big dry goods store the other day. Her eyes were flashing fire and her face was flushed with indignation.

"What's the matter?" inquired a friend who met her at the door.

"Why," she said, "I just saw a man do a thing there that makes my blood boil. I went over to the dress goods counter and found him there sitting on a stool and letting his wife stand. When I came along he got up and offered me his seat. 'And his wife stood there meekly and never said a word. If he'd been my husband I would have snatched him bald headed."-Buffalo

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

For Their Dependent Families.

The family annex to the Michigan soldiers' home was dedicated at Grand Rapids in the presence of all the living ex-governors of the state, with three exceptions. Gov. Rich delivered the address of welcome, the response being made by Hon. T. D. Gilbert. The address of the day was made by Col. John Atkinson, of Detroit. The building was erected for the wives and dependent women of families of veterans. It is a handsome red brick and stone building in the Romanesque style, and cost $15,000. Every room has been furnished by the various Grand Army posts and Women's Relief Corps of the state.

Judges Form an Organization.

The dircuit judges effected a permanent organization in Lansing to be known as the "Association of Michigan," and to include in its membership judges of the supreme, circuit and municipal courts of record. Fred J. Russell, of Hart, was elected president; S. B. Daball, of St. Johns, vice president; and J. B. Moor, of Lapeer, secretary and treasurer. The standing committee on rules was instructed to prepare a code of uniform rules to govern all the courts of record in the state as far as practicable. A committee on legislation was appointed to simplify and perfect laws.

Dr. Howard has ended and the defendant stand convicted as charged in all the counts for using the mails for fraudulent purposes in carrying on a bogus business of securing alleged claims upon English estates for people in the United States. Mr. Canada, one of Howard's attorneys, immediately entered a motion for a new trial in arrest of judgment and asked for time in which to arrange the motion. This request was granted.

Judge Hammond holds that he can pass sentence under the twenty counts of the indictments, which will make Howard's sentence ten to thirty years.

[The trial of George Frederick Burgoyne Howard, before Federal Judge E. S. Hammon puts a period to the career of one of the most distinguished of confidence men. He was technically charged with using the United States mails for fraudulent purposes. According to the claims of the prosecution Howard, under various aliases, has defrauded the American people out of £65,000.

In 1890 it was charged that Howard left Jackson and opened a claim agency in Wall street, New York city, under the alias of E. Ross, duping Americans into believing that English estates awaited them which they could have by paying 130 incidental fees. The post office authorities broke up this game and E. Ross was metamorphosed into William Lord Moore, who had an office at 5 Ingersoll road, Uxbridge Shepards Bush, London, and who wrote to all the dupes that E. Ross was dead and that he, Moore, would attend to their business. Minister Lincoln and Consul. General New, upon complaint of many Americans, investigated the matter and forced Moore to leave London. Later, as Joseph Ledger' he opened an office on Eighth avenue. New York, and wrote to his old clients that he had succeeded Moore & Ross. Ledger soon vanished.

The saddest words of tongue or penyes the most distressing and disheartening that the human mind can conceive of is, that it might have been, and as we look back over the record of the past year, the force of the words "it might have been," must come to every one. It might have been, nay, it should have been, the most prosperous year for the people of our country that was ever known in its history. The most conservative of the trade reviews estimates the loss in material values during the year to be one billion dollars, and what is the outlook for 1894? Tens of thousands of people are being supported by public charity. The great manufacturing interests of the country prostrated; more than three millions of workmen out of employment want, destitution and suffering in all the great business centers. The cause of all this can be very easily determined, but there has been a change.-Plymouth Mail. Large size 50c and $1.00.

Prices of Farm Produce

Comparative prices of farm products are always interesting and instructive says the N. Y. Recorder, and the December report of the Department of Agriculture is the more valuable because much space is devoted to the average prices of the principal farm crops throughout the different States. The values given repre sent the prices obtained by the producers at the local markets nearest the farm. From this report we learn that the average price of wheat on Dec. 1 was 52.1 cents per bushel. The next lowest price in the twenty-three years from 1870 to 1893, inclusive, was 64.5 cents, in 1884. The average for the ten years, 1870 to 1877 was 104.9, and for the ten years 1880 to 1889, 82.7, while for the three years 1890 to 1892 it was 76.6. The decline from the average of the last three preceding years, occurred the largest yields in the history of the country, is 24.5 cents, or 32 per cent. The principal State prices are: New York, 76; Pennsylvania, 68; Virginia State Banking Commissioner Sherwood 63; Georgia, 90; Texas, 56; Kentucky

The value of corn was 87 cents per bushel, or 24 cents lower than the corres ponding price last year, which was 39 4 cents per bushel. This year's price per bushel is lower by 2.8 cents than the average for the decade 1880 to 1889, and 61 cents less than the average for the three years 1890 to 1892. The range of prices in the Eastern States is from 57 to 71 cents, from 40 to 55 cents in the Middle Atlantic States, and from 36 to 68 cents in the cotton States. In Kentucky the price is 43 cents, 40 in Ohio, 47 in Michigan, 36 in Indiana, 31 in Illinois, Missouri and Kansas, and 25 cents in Iowa and Nebraska.

Rye, oats and barley were each lower than they were a year ago and lower than the average for the past ten years. The price of rye is given as 51.8 cents per bushel, against 548 cents last December. Oats were worth 28.8 cents, against 31.7 cents a year ago. Barley shows a greater shrinkage in values than any other cereal; the price per bushel is reported at 40.6 cents, as against 47.2 cents a year ago, 54 hog and chicken cholera. Prices averaged 59 cents per bushel against an average of 53.4 cents per bushel Dec. 1, 1892, and 57.7 cents in 1891.

The returns show that the average price of hay is $9.18 per ton, which is the highest during the past decade, except in 1887, when it rose to $9.97. The variation for different sections is unusually large, owing to remarkably high quotations in the Atlantic States. The range is from $1960 per ton in Rhode Island to $3.67 in South

WERE TOO EAGER.

Bank Robbers Overreach Themselves at Franklin Grove, Ill.

They Use Too Much Powder in Forcing Safe and the Explosion Tears Thousands of Dollars in Paper Money Into Shreds.

THEY SECURE $5,000 IN GOLD, HOWEVER. FRANKLIN GROVE, Ill., Jan. 5 .- Burglars blew open a warranted burglarproof safe inside the vaults of the Franklin Grove bank Tuesday night and carried away all the money contained in it which had not destroyed by the explosion. The officials of the bank refuse to give the sum of money lost by them, except in general terms. It is in the neighborhood of $25,000, of which the enterprising burglars secured less than $5,000. The remaining $20,000 was in currency, and it is now a mass of twisted and burned scraps of paper mixed up with plaster and pieces of brickbats. The floor of the vault and the shelves with which it is lined are covered with the scraps of money and with battered silver and gold which the robbers did not gather up, because they were in too great a hurry. In addition to this there is a box that will hold half a bushel, which is completely filled with the torn bills and bits of promissory notes, mortgages and canceled checks.

When the bank was opened at 8 o'clock by Cashier Warren C. Durkes he found marks of a chisel above the lock. When he got inside he found pieces of iron strewn about the floor of the bank building and the door of the vault standing half open. It did not take him long to come to the conclusion that the bank had been robbed. The force of the explosion by which the burglars gained entrance to the inner safe of the vault, after forcing the locks of the latter, was seen in the bulging walls of the vault itself and in the torn and twisted steel of the burglar-proof safe. How the thieves escaped injury is a mystery.

The explosion was so violent as to wreck entirely the safe and nearly destroy the vault. The safe was composed of seven thicknesses of steel plates, each composed of five alternate layers of steel of different tempers. steel made in the manner the safe was made. Two explosions were required to get at the cash. The doors of the safe and of the inner chamber were torn into fragments. The steel plates forming the structure of the safe were bent and spread apart and the plates of the inner chamber were still more widely separated. The top plate of the safe was torn loose and raised up. Half dollars, quarters and dimes and pennies were blown into the crevices formed by the opening plates in all sorts of shapes, showing the great violence of the explosion. A hole a foot deep by 15 inches in diameter was torn in the south wall of the vault by one of the larger sections of the door.

In addition to a banking business the Franklin Grove bank did a safety deposit business, having twenty-five safety deposit boxes inside the vault. These were protected by combination and key locks. They are of steel less than half an inch thick and to an experienced burglar they would offer no resistance worth speaking of. For some reason these were not disturbed, though they contained in jewelry and money more than the amount which the burglars realized. None of the papers were disturbed, and, while many mortgages were torn and twisted in the wreckage resulting from the explosion, few were completely destroyed. There is more in the looks of the burglary than in real loss, except in so far as the mutilated currency is concerned. As to clews, there are nearly as many as there are inhabitants of the town of Franklin Grove. C. E. Stanley of Stanley's western detective agency in Chicago is here looking out for the case in the interest of the bank. He thinks he knows who did the job and he is now seeking to learn where the men he suspects were Tuesday night. The men who did the work must have been acquainted with the bank and the location of the vault, as not a single false move was made. People who live here are telling of four men who were seen on the streets of Franklin Grove Tuesday. Descriptions have been given to the bank officials, and these may aid in the capture of the men. "The bank is solvent," said C. Durkes, the vice president. "No one will lose a cent except the stockholders, and they are able to lose it. Our capital is not impared; the loss will not exceed the surplus and undivided profits. Our bills receivable and books are all

It was learned from outside parties that the loss is probably $15,000 to the bank. More cash was on hand at the bank at this time than is usual because of the uncertain condition of the money market, and the officers of the bank desired to be prepared for any emergency.

Much Suffering and Many Persons Frozen to Death in Europe.

Paris, Jan. 6 .- The weather is becoming colder. The river Seine is covered with thick ice. The railway trains arriving in the city are hours behind time, the delay being caused by the water freezing in the feed-pipes of the engine. Many deaths have been caused by the extremely cold weather. A number of old and poor people have been frozen to death in their miserable lodgings. Others, despairing of finding other relief from their sufferings, have killed themselves and several destitute persons have been picked up lifeless in the streets. An old couple occupying a flat in the Boulevard Clichy were found dead in one of their rooms. They had ignited a brazier of charcoal and the fumes had killed them. Many of the suicides have used this means of killing themselves.

In Toulon it grows colder. In Parigueux, among the mildest of winter resorts, everything is snowed up. Heavy snowstorms are reported from Corsica. In Antwerp the docks are incumbered with ice and it is feared many vessels will be caught fast.

LONDON, Jan. 6.-A blizzard prevails almost everywhere in England. In London the mercury stands at 24 and shows no signs of rising. At Doking, near which place the duchess of Marlborough has leased an estate, and in the vicinity of the town there is good sleighing. There is also plenty of snow in all southern counties.

Dispatches from North sea and Baltic ports report a furious storm is raging. The indications are that the whole of northern Europe is affected. A large fleet of vessels is lying weather-bound at the mouth of the Thames.

Berlin, Jan. 6.-At 2 o'clock a. m. the thermometer registered 7 degrees above zero, Fahrenheit. In the surrounding country it is hardly above zero. In Munich it is 4 degrees below zero. In Breslau and Chemnitz 3 degrees below. Four persons have been found frozen to death in Berlin. Many deaths from the cold have occurred elsewhere. The public and private refuges in Berlin are overcrowded. The number of applicants exceeds by hundreds the number of beds. Those without beds are glad to lie in the straw. Inside this was an inner chamber of The electric lights in Nuremberg struggle. In the corner was a bloody are out, provides the generating power, is frozen. There is no snow in most parts of the empire and the crops will suffer severely. Emperor Francis Joseph and his suite returned from Murzsteg, where the cold was so intense (4 degrees below zero) they were compelled to give up their shooting expedition.

VIENNA, Jan, 6.-The weather in Austria and Hungary is bitterly cold. In the city Wednesday night the mercurv registered 18 degrees below freezing point. The suffering among the poor is terrible. The Danube is frozen over from Vienna to Belgrade, Servia. At Trieste the cold is intensified by a hurricane that is blowing from the north. So fierce is the wind vessels are unable to leave or enter the port. Traffic of all kinds is stopped and the streets are almost deserted. The tradesmen, seeing no prospect of doing business in such weather, have put the shutters upon their store windows and given the clerks a holiday. The theaters were closed Wednesday night owing to the cold and it is probable they will not open until the weather moderates. The police returns show fifteen persons have been injured. The cold is growing more intense. Many persons have been frozen to death. The absence of snow deprives the poor of one of the usual sources of relief. The wind raises a choking dust. MADRID, Jan. 6.-The thermometer registers 5 degrees below zero, Centigrade, here. Elsewhere it is 12 degrees below zero. Many persons have been frozen to death in the provinces of Burgos and Asturias. Heavy snowstorms are reported throughout the north of Sprin.

BATTLE IN HONDURAS.

City of Choluteca Taken by Storm-One Hundred and Fifty Men Killed. MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 6.—The town of Choluteca has been taken by storm. Gen. Villela made a heroic defense. The loss in killed is said to have been 150 men. Gen. Williams and several other officers were taken prismen were wounded.

Villela retreated on Rancherias, where battle was begun with the vanguard of the invaders, who hourly expected reinforcements. Gen. Ortiz, commanding the Nicaraguan forces, has been ordered to await a Honduran attack, and if made immediately to invade their country. The government has levied a forced loan of $350,000 on merchants.

TOOK HIS SON'S LIFE.

ELGIN, Ill., Jan. 9 .- Clark C. Burr shot and killed his son Charles about 6 o'clock Saturday evening at his home 8 miles southwest of Elgin. He gave himself up. At the inquest Burr testifled that he had some words with Charles in the dining-room just before supper about an older son, Harry, coming to Elgin to take music lessons. Charles said Harry was able to take care of himself. "And so am I," he added. This increased the father's irritation. Burr went to an adjoining room and got a shotgun. Charles secured his revolver. The elder Burr reentered the room with his gun cocked, and says the boy, in an effort to brush the muzzle to one side, caused the gun to go off. The shot entered the boy's left eye, producing instant death.

The coroner's jury found a verdict of manslaughter and Burr was held in $10,000 to the grand jury. His brother, Algernon Burr, whose farm adjoins, and several neighbors readily signed the bond. The Burrs have always been highly esteemed. August 16 and 17 last the barns of both Burrs, though half a mile apart, were burned, Algernon's at 11 o'clock on the 16th and Clark's at 3 the next morning. Since then Clark has not at times appeared right and the general belief of neighbors and acquaintances is that he is not wholly responsible. The dead boy was 17 years old and his father barely 52.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Jan. 9.—Leroy P. Rogers was murdered Sunday morning in his house 2 miles from Irving, Barry county, where he lived alone. A young man was seen running toward Irving early in the morning, wearing light trousers, dark overcoat and a felt hat. This is the only elew to the murderer. Rogers was 63 years old and was reputed to be wealthy. The murderer apparently visited the place for robbery and was discovered. The room was in confusion, indicating a hard hatchet, and on the floor was Rogers with his head split open. A silver watch is all that is missing. Rogers was a pioneer of Barry county and was formerly a merchant at Irving.

HARBODSBURG, Ky., Jan. 9.—About fifty whitecaps went Saturday night to the home of "Josh" Mitchell at Leesburg, 6 miles from here, and dragged him from his house. Mitchell broke away and started for the house, but his body was filled with buckshot and he fell dead on the door-sill.

Leaving Mitchell's body they next visited the home of Brock Bottoms and dragged him out and gave him fifty lashes on his back, badly larcerating the flesh. A rope was placed around his neck, but the entrance of his wife and children aroused a feeling of sympathy in the hearts of his persecutors and they relented. Several others were badly whipped and ordered to leave the San Francisco, Jan. 9. - A sensational murder occurred here Sunday afternoon. Harry G. Pool, a young man well known about town and of a wellto-do family, was shot and almost instantly killed by Mrs. Shattuck, the aged mother of Estrulla Shattuck, a young and pretty chorus girl at the Tivoli opera house.

Young Pool was summoned to Miss Shattuck's home on Stevanson street Sunday morning, where the girl's mother met him and demanded that he marry Miss Shattuck at once. Pool refused and Mrs. Shattuck put a pistol to his temple and shot him dead. The woman was arrested for murder and is now a raving maniac at the city prison. The girl is also in hysterics and unable to talk.

NEVADA, Mo, Jan. 9.—A deplorable tragedy occurred at the Vernon schoolhouse 11 miles east of this city Saturday night, Charles McEwen being shot and killed by George Castlebury. The trouble was over some remarks alleged have been made by Ewen derogatory to Castlebury, who was paying some attention to McEwan's sister. Castlebury came in from Joplin and went to McEwan about something he had said. Mconers in the engagement and many Ewan denied it, when Castlebury deliberately shot him. McEwan lived only a few hours, dying in agony. The family is much distressed. Castlebury escaped, but the sheriff is in hot pursuit

LIVE OAK, Fla., Jan. 9.-H. J. Willis was shot through the heart and killed instantly by some unknown person Saturday night. His head and body were also mangled in a horrible manner and showed it to have been the work of a fiend. Considerable excitement prevails, following as it does close upon the assassination of Sheriff Potsdamer. Willis was the city poundkeeper and had gathered a at the time he was killed.

OAK, Fla., Jan. 9 .- Ex-Sheriff Potsdamer was shot six or seven times by persons concealed under a car standing on the railroad track. Potsdamer was closing his store preparatory to going home when he was shot. There is no clew to the assassins.

BIG FRAUD REVEALED.

Well-Known Pension Agent Charged with Robbing Uncle Sam.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 9.-United States Marshal Watts has ar rested Maj. W. Bowen Moore, a pension claim agent, on a warrant sworn out by Special Pension Examiner Ayres, charging him with issuing illegal penson vouchers and filing false and forged affidavits and writing in support of a pension claim. Maj. Moore served on Gen. Grant's staff in the late war and for many years was pension examiner in Washington. When Maj. Moore came to Buffalo and opened a pension office he immediately secured a large business and, it is said, received many favors in the pension bureau. During Commissioner Raum's administration charges were preferred against Moore, but for some reason—said to be strong political influence brought to bear on the case by the major-the charges were dropped. When Commissioner Lochren took office he ordered a thorough investigation. Special Examiner Ayres has been in Buffalo six months conducting a secret examination, the result of which is Moore's ar-

Albert Moore, Mary Hanrahan and Matilda Stock, clerks in Moore's office, were also arrested by Marshal Watts. They are charged with having made, altered, forged and counterfeited pension vouchers and willingly assisted in doing the same. All were admitted to bail.

Moore did the largest pension business in New York state, and is said to have secured since 1889 over 6,000 claims, of which at least 4,500 are fraudulent. Examiner Ayres is authority for the statement that the estimated amount which Moore has fraudulently obtained for pensioners is about $1,000,000, and that already the government has found where $150,-000 has been fraudulently obtained for pensioners by him. Other arrests will follow early in the week, as a large number of warrants are out. Several prominent attorneys are said to be implicated with Moore and interesting developments are looked for.

Fatal Disaster at the Laflin-Rand Works in Ulster County, N. Y.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Jan. 9 .-- The Laffin & Rand powder mill at Rifton, Ulster county, 12 miles from this city. blew up Saturday morning. Four men were killed and several badly wounded.

Six hundred and fifty kegs of powder exploded in the drying-room, and the concussion exploded 200 kegs in the canning-mill, 200 feet away. Both buildings were blown away, scarcely a plank being left behind. Gardner Friedenburgh and Joseph Saunders, who were in the dryingroom, were torn to pieces and portions of their bodies were picked up 500 yards away. Michael Gibbs, who was in the canning-mill, was burned to a crisp in a second. George Kipp, boss of the powder-makers, was crushed to death.

Sixty-Five Disturbances Have Occurred in Mexico in Six Months.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 9. - The central metorological observatory here has made its report of earthquake disturbances in Mexico during the past half year. During the last six months of 1893 there were sixty-five distinct disturbances. The most general was the one of October 30, caused by the great eruptions of the Colima volcano on the Pacific coast, and the oscillation was observed over a great extent of territory. In the district of Coyuca de Catalane the disturbance was unusually severe, wrecking buildings and doing damage to the amount of $290,000. The earthquakes of Mexico for the most part are of a mild order, the whole half year only showing one of any serious consequence.

Every case that comes to his attention is made special, and if it be found that the claim is a good one, it is immediately allowed. Many cases have been taken out of their regular turn, examined and allowed within forty-eight hours.

SMALL GREENHOUSE.

A Useful Structure Costing But One Hundred and Thirty Dollars.

Herewith we show plans of a small mallest practical house, outside of a complete, with a hot-water heating apparatus, about $130, and covers a space 1 10x12 feet.

It is seven feet high at the ridge and four feet high from the ground to the ising line or plate. It is built by placing ten 4x4 posts in the ground for the sides to be nailed to, and also for support to the roof; these are set at a distance from each other so as to measure three feet from center to center, and to form an inclosure twelve feet long and

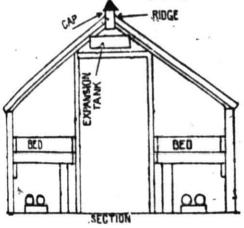

The plate for the roof to rest on should be 2x4 inches and nailed to the top of the posts. The ridge is to be made of 2x6-inch timber, and the rafters of 2x3-inch timbers. The roof consists of eight 3x6 hotbed sash, hinged to the ridge, which should have a cap to prevent the rain from dripping in

The ends, as shown on the plan, have each a door, and are made by nailing a sill along the bottom and placing two upright pieces, 2x4 inches, between the sill and rafters; these should be three feet apart and support the doors as well as the boards for the ends.

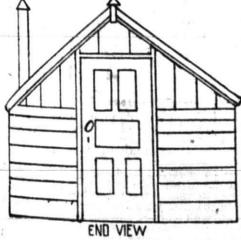

The sides and ends, from the ground to the plate, are to be double-boarded, with builders' paper between, and the ends, from the plate to the roof, of glass. If it is desired to have only one entrance there should be a post placed in the middle of the end to be enclosed and it should be treated the same as

For ventilation the sash can be opened from the lower end by means of a rod, as described in our last issue. The beds are constructed by first making the supports as shown in sectional view, and should be boarded with 114-inch boards, leaving open spaces in the bottom of about half an inch between the boards for drainage; the sides of the beds should be about six inches high. The entire height o the beds should be about three feet. The building when completed should receive two coats of paint.

The heating apparatus is composed of a hot-water heater or boiler and two lines of 4-inch cast iron pipe extending around the house, as shown on plan (six lines of 2-inch wrought iron pipe will answer as well as the 4-inch pipe). These should rest on piers made of

to and from the boiler, and an expanabove the highest pipes. The heating apparatus should be obtained from any firm of greenhouse builders, as they can better guarantee its working satisfactorily. The plan shows a small inclosure at one end of the house for the heater; this can have a door to be made lis lost forever.

be wide enough for a person to get in to make any alteration to the boiler that might be needed.

A greenhouse made from the above plan will give an endless amount of pleasure when stocked with flowers and plants. The price named above Herewith we consider the does not include the cost of labor for building, it being supposed that it will mallest practical be built. It will cost be put up by the person desiring the

By showing this plan to any carpenter or builders' supply house, you can get an estimate for your lumber and glass. You will require fourteen posts, 4x4x6 feet 6 inches; four 2x4x6 feet uprights; ten 2x8x6 feet rafters, and one piece 2x6x12 feet for ridge. Also about 416 square feet of boards, caps, nails, glass for ends, putty, two doors, eight pair butts, plate pieces 2x4; eight 3x6 feet hotbed sash. This material should approximate $58; the material for the beds, partition and door for heater and paint, $17.50; the heating apparatus will come to $55; thus making the total cost $130. - American Gardening.

BROAD TIRES AGAIN.

Wagons Should Be Road-Makers and Not Road-Destroyers.

The wagon rolled over the road should be a road-maker, not a roaddestroyer. It ought to conserve hauling the heavier than the lighter load. The broad tire does this. In France are found the best roads in Europe, and over them roll only the wheels of broadest tires. It is the law there that the load shall be distributed over the largest possible surface consistent with the weight carried, the power exerted and the needs of the people to wheel loads to market. The tires of the French market wagons are all the way from three to ten inches in width. The greater number are from four to six inches. There, too, the hind and forward wheels do not track. Each pair of wheels tracks alone, and thus the combined width of the four tires serves the purpose of a road roller to keep the roof of the road smooth, compact and between the ridge and the ends of the free from cutouts, or what are generally known as chuck-holes.

In Ontario the department of agriculture advises that for wagons without springs the tire should never be less than two and a half inches in width for a load of from 500 to 1,000 from 2,000 to 3,000 pounds to the wheel ing well of."-Rev. Henry Ward Beecher. each tire should have a diameter on the face of not less than six inches. This recommendation will be adopted in Ontario this winter. It ought to be adopted here.

We need such regulation more than it is needed in Canada. But no ordinance of this kind should be imposed upon the people at once. It must apply gradually, so that owners of vehicles can accommodate themselves to the new rule without suffering heavy cost. The adoption of the system will at once make manifest its economy when it begins to come into use, for it is a money-saving device for all who contribute to the construction and maintenance of good roads.-Rural

ABOUT STORING HONEY.

How It Can Be Preserved for Several Years, If Necessary.

In cases of overproduction and consequent depreciation in prices, the question arises: "Can honey be kept or stored for any considerable length of time without impairing its value?" With proper care and attention, comb honey can be kept for several years if desirable. During the winter it can be stored in a dry basement room or cellar in which the temperature varies little during the cold season. It must be removed as soon as the temperature out of doors rises above that in the room. Otherwise the warm air, coming in contact with the surface of the cool honey, will cause drops of moisture to stand on the combs, and from that time the honey will rapidly deteriorate. Still more careful attention is required during spring and autumn months when sudden changes are likely to occur. It must be kept in a warm dry place, the temperature of which should never go below sixty degrees. A room warmed by a base-burner coal stove is a good place. If it is desirable to keep the product over summer, it is best to store in an upper room on the south side of the house where the sun will keep the room at the required temperature. In short, keep the honey always dry and uniformly at about eighty degrees. In this way a surplus of the product can be held until prices are such that satisfactory profit can be realized. Apiarists who have been successful in storing honey find that it can be kept for several years and that the quality is not only unimpaired, but is improved.—Orange Judd Farmer.

An increasing death rate in London, Liverpool and Bristol shows many little defects about them that they that the epedemic is general, and that, unfortunately, the theory which has recently prevailed, that the enervating scourge had worn out its own strength, is not sound. The epedemic seems to be general throughout Europe and ten thousand cases are reported from Berlin as discovered in the Province of Hesse. Although in the United States reports are less alarming than those from Europe. This winter is a yery good time to guard with unusual care against catching colds or allowing them to run unchecked.

A young person has been writing an article on the bringing up of mothers. Thirty years ago mothers were not brought up; they just grew. They wore caps early gave up dancing when their children were in short frocks and knickerbockers, and developed all sorts of incorrect ideas about chaperons and flirtations. Formerly the young idea was trained the way it should go. Now the old tree is pruned and pared hundred and thirtieth birthday. The into shape. Girls have assumed the old lady is in the enjoyment of good into shape. Girls have assumed the responsibility of looking after their mothers. Mothers are kept to see to a well ordered house, coax refractory fathers and attend to bores. They must, moreover, be ornamental, look well at the head of the table, dress becomingly, keep up with the fashions, look nice when the girls take them out with them, and smile encouragingly at the young men. Nor are their morals forgotten. Frequently one bears a circle sex, "It is an interesting show the statute in hears a girl say: "It is an interesting show, but not one I'd care to take my mother to."

To Make Tooth White.

"What shall I use on my teeth to make them nice and white?" I asked my dentist. "Elbow-grease," was the laconic reply. "You women," he continued, "think that when you run the brush over your teeth, two or three times you've done your duty, and are keeping your teeth in splendid condition. You will stand for half an hour before the looking-glass, fretting and wondering how you can rid yourself of an almost invisible pimple; but the tartar on your feeth is a secondary matter, whereas I assure you, good sound teeth add more to the beauty of the face than the smoothest complexion. Exercise your touth brush. Give at least three minutes' time to it. You do? Oh, I think not. Rus ian Longevity.

From a correspondent who has passed some years in Russia, we learn that in the village of Vellkotti, in the St. Petersburg Government, an old woman is living who has just attained her one health, but complains of her deafness (and no wonder). Her hair is still long and plentiful, considering her age. She spent her youth in great poverty, but is now pretty well off. She has outlived three husbands; and had a family of nineteen children, all of whom have been married, and are now dead, the last one to die being a daughter aged in the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage has become operative, on which mortgage health, but complains of her deafness curious wedding took place in Ekatterinoslav, in Russia. WONDERFUL CURES!

THOMAS MINCHIN.

MAJOR W. A. SIMFIELD.

Nervous Debility and Catarrh Cured. Nervous Debility and Catarrh Cured.

Thomas Minchin says: "I was reduced to a nervous wreck—only weighed 118 pounds. The result of early abuse was the cause. I had the following symptoms: Miserable mentally and physically, melancholy, nervousness, weakness, specks before the eyes, dizzy, poor memory, palpitation of the heart, flushing, cold hands and feet, weak back, dreams and losses at night, tired in the morning, pimples on the face, loss of ambition, burning sensation, kidneys weak etc. Doctors could not cure me; but Drs. Kennedy & Kergan by their New Method Treatment, cured me in a few weeks. I weigh now 170 pounds. It is three years since I have taken their treatment."

Blood Disease and Dyspepsia Cured.

Major Simfield says: "I had Dyspepsia and Catarrh of the Stamach for many years. To make matters worse I contracted a Constitutional Blood Dicease. My bones ached. Blotches on the skin looked horrible. I tried sixteen doctors in all. A friend recommended Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. I began their New Method Treatment and in a fow weeks was a new man with renewed life and ambition. I cannot say too much for those scientific doctors who have been in Detroit for fourteen years. I conversed with hundreds of patients in their offices who were being cured for different diseases. I recommend them as honest and reliable Physicians." Blood Disease and Dyspepsia Cured.
