David K. Dixon.

On Sunday morning, September 2nd, 1894, at the residence of Mr. Abner Beach, his son-in-law, David K. Dixon, one of the early pioneers of Washtenaw county, exchanged this mortal for the immortal state.

Mr. Dixon was born in the town of Brutus, Cayuga county, N. Y., December 12th, 1810. In early manhood he emigrated with his parents to Michigan, and settled in the township of Lima, where he has resided, with the exception of a few years spent in Chelsea, for 58 years.

October 14th, 1839 he was wedded to Miss Zilla P. Tyler, who with four living children, David Dixon, of Dexter, Mrs. Abner Beach, of Lima, Mrs. Henry Townsend, of Chelsea, and Clarence B. Dixon, of Ann Arbor, survive him. Three sisters also are still living, Mrs. Hoskins, of California, Mrs. Mary Gardanier and Mrs. Harriet Gardanier, of Marshall, Mich.

Since last March, Mr. Dixon's health has been gradually failing, and during the last few weeks of his life his suffering was severe, but he bore all with patience and resignation, as he waited for the summons.

Deceased lived out a period of more than four score years, which were filled with works of usefulness and duty. His was an honest and upright life, in all his relations with his fellow men. As a husband and father he was loving and faithful; and he appreciated highly to the last the faithful love and devotion of his noble wife, who cared for him so tenderly in his declining years.

On the afternoon of Tuesday, September 4th, a very large assemblage of his friends and neighbors, both aged and young, gathered at the residence of Mr. Beach, where appropriate funeral services were held by Rev. Dr. Holmes, of Chelsea, after which the remains were sadly and reverently deposited, by faithful and loving hands, in their final resting place in the Lima cemetery.

Fair Items.

The hope we have of success is based upon our endeavor to both please and instruct all who attend our fair. Test our sincerity by giving us your presence and support. The World's Fair arose like a gorgeous dream of human genius and like a vision it has passed away. Everyone who saw it will always cherish its remembrance, and those who missed the great opportunity, when they hear the others tell the story, will never cease to deplore the irreparable loss. That fair lives only in history, never to be reproduced.

Our fair, however, is a live institution, and its future is an incentive to lead its managers to build up for it a reputation which will bring promise of its successive exhibitions hereafter, as well as to strive for present success. It is intended as a live exponent of living things, to continue annually to represent the yearly growth and progress of material things towards perfection. We wish to be able to so conduct it, that like unto the World's Fair, those who visit it, may say when returning, that notwithstanding our brilliant description of it, in reality it far exceeds any previous conception, and in every particular it was better than had been expected. The Stockbridge fair has a reputation for successful exhibitions, go and see. The Ann Arbor fair has an assurance of success this year, those in doubt, go and visit it. The Chelsea fair has flattering prospects of a grand triumph, do not miss it. The secret of these successes is in enterprise, public mindedness and the wise use of money.

CHELSEA, MICHIGAN.

QUEEN VICTORIA, in her fifty-seven years of power, has seen every throne in the world vacated at least once, and some of them several times.

THE birthplace of James Monroe, the fifth president of the United States, is now owned by an Afro-American named Seward. The place is located on the Potomac river, near Mt. Vernon.

THE boot and shoe manufacturers in New England say that the demand for boots and shoes which retail at over $1.35 or $1.50 a pair has almost ceased to exist, and that practically all the manufacturers are running on cheap shoes in order to make a product that will sell.

THE cry about alienism in the army has stirred the war department to an investigation of the nativity of officers and men. Ninety-nine per cent. of the officers are citizens of the United States, as are 77 per cent. of the non-commissioned officers and 75 per cent. of the privates.

MRS. EDMUND YATES it is reported, carries about with her wherever she goes the ashes of her late lamented husband, who, it will be remembered, was cremated. They are inclosed in an air-tight receptacle, and this is fitted into a little traveling bag made for the purpose.

ONE of the most remarkable sights to be seen in Australia is a burning mountain 1,820 feet in height. The mountain is supposed to be underlain with an inexhaustible coal seam, which in some way became ignited. It was burning long before the advent of white men to that part of the country.

THE Russian courts have reversed the assumption of the American tribunals that when a husband and wife are drowned in the same disaster, the wife dies first. The Russian doctors have testified unanimously that the man would be first to die, because the woman is more agile and keeps herself longer above water.

REPRESENTATIVE TALBERT, of South Carolina, occupies a unique position among congressmen in that he neither goes to the theater, drinks, smokes, chews nor plays cards. He has a habit, however, of never passing a beggar on the street without giving him a nickel, disposing thus of the small change that most men spend on themselves.

FOR the last two or three years England experienced a drought so severe that its agricultural products were seriously injured. This year, however, crop conditions seem favorable, and the greatest acreage yield in the world was promised. But recently heavy rains set in, and these have almost entirely ruined the wheat crop of Great Britain.

PENNSYLVANIA has a gentle citizen who may fairly be said to rival Missouri's quondam pet, the James boys. His name is Abe Buzzard, and he has lately been the leader of a band of Welsh mountain thieves. Buzzard is forty-one years old, has spent twenty years of his life in the penitentiary and will soon begin another term of eleven years in solitary confinement.

WASHINGTON city has five King streets or places, eight Madison streets or alleys, seven thoroughfares named after Grant, six after Lincoln, six after Jackson, six after Washington, five after Pierce and many duplicates of small streets named after residents of local note, besides six Prospects, eight Pleasants thoroughfares and six "T" streets or alleys and about one hundred duplicates of other names.

ACCORDING to recent statistics, there are about 2,000 women practicing medicine on the continent of North America, of whom 130 are homeopaths. The majority are ordinary practitioners, but among the remainder are 70 hospital physicians or surgeons, 93 professors in the schools, 610 specialists for the diseases of women, 70 alienists, 65 orthopedists, 40 oculists and aurists, and finally 30 electro-therapeutists.

IN mercantile circles in Germany there is very little sympathy for the Japanese, and probably one reason is that it is becoming more and more difficult to export to them since they have taken to utilizing the knowledge acquired in Europe for establishing manufacturing of their own, for which, of course, they must be applauded, but which, all the same, is against the immediate interests of exporting countries.

BOSTON lettercarriers are somewhat pleased at the outcome of their opposition to the rule of the postal authorities requiring the men to purchase their uniform and accessories from the tailoring firm to which a contract was awarded. The men all along felt that they could have outfits cheaper if permitted an option in the selection of a dealer. Accordingly the matter was brought to the attention of the authorities at Washington and it has been decided that the carriers may buy of any tailor they desire.

THE FATAL FLAMES.

Further Reports of the Disaster in Northern Forests.

The Death List—Destruction Cannot Be Estimated—Relief for the Sufferers—Fires in Wisconsin and Michigan—Incendiaries Also at Work.

COUNTING THE DEAD.

St. PAUL, Sept. 5.—A relief train was sent to Hinckley on Monday with a force of men and supply of tents, those being most needed just now. Additional supplies were picked up at every station along the road. Philip Martin, of the land department of the Great Northern road, went in search of Thomas Fitzgerald, land examiner at Dellgrove, who, with a dozen workmen, was in the midst of the fire, and has not been heard from. The chamber of commerce raised $8,000 for relief at its meeting and adopted resolutions favoring the securing of information from United States consular agents as to forestry management in foreign countries, with the object of preventing future forest fires.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 5.—The first relief train for the desolate region from Minneapolis left Monday morning laden with a plenteous store of provisions. It was followed by another on which went a staff of local surgeons and nurses. Rev. William Wilkinson, of St. Andrew's Episcopal church, is in charge of the first train. A large local committee has been formed to take the work in charge and the appeal for money, clothing and food is being liberally responded to. Mayor

NOT YET SATISFIED.

Flames Renew Their Attack Upon Wisconsin Forests.

ASHLAND, Wis., Sept. 5.—Port Wing, a small town at the mouth of Flag river, 40 miles east across the bay from Duluth, according to reports received, was totally wiped out by the fires Tuesday afternoon. It is a town of about 200 population, and is the headquarters of the Cranberry Lumber company.

Fires in All Directions.

Fires are burning on all sides of Ashland. The same is true of Washburn, and, if reports brought in by trainmen are true, Ironwood, Hurley, Odanah, Bayfield, Sanborn, Marengo, Benoit, Iron River and a dozen other important centers of life and commerce are in a situation equally dangerous. A blanket of smoke envelops this entire region, and it is as dense as the proverbial London fog.

Incendiaries at Work.

To increase the terror caused by the forest fires the officials of many places have to contend with incendiaries. These fiends on several occasions, it is said, have tried to destroy Washburn and Ashland, and it is said they have started fires in other towns. The police at Washburn arrested three suspects Tuesday. Sunday they arrested three. None of them is known in this region, and it is said by some of the people they are anarchists from the coal fields of Illinois and Pennsylvania. An insurance adjuster said he had learned from an official source that the suspected incendiaries were almost without exception Italians or Poles. Seven men are locked up in sheep and hogs as well as fowls that miraculously escaped the fires and are now suffering and slowly dying from hunger. The humane societies at Duluth will at once take this part of relief work in charge.

The Total Losses Enormous.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 6.—The total loss caused to date by the forest fires in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota cannot yet be estimated with much accuracy, but it is known that computable losses almost tax credulity. In

ENGINEER JAMES ROOT, HERO OF THE THROTTLE.

Conspicuous among the many heroes brought to prominence by the recent forest fires was James Root, engineer on the St. Paul & Duluth train, No. 4. His train took fire at Hinckley; and though his clothes were all ablaze, he stood faithfully at his post and succeeded in conducting the train loaded with its human freight back six miles to Skunk Lake. The engineer was found to have been fatally burned.

four counties in Michigan the loss on standing pine is known to be at least $30,000,000, and in northern Wisconsin and Minnesota the loss is even greater. Logs ready for the mill have been burned in so many places that they can not be estimated. Millions represent the losses on sawmill plants, and other millions the sawed lumber awaiting shipment. Still other millions were lost in the houses and personal effects of the victims. The railroads have suffered in the burning of bridges and damage to tracks, but their chief deprivation is of the future. Vast stretches of country, denuded of their forests, will have nothing to ship and no inhabitants to pay freight and passenger tariffs. Men driven out by fire will not return even if there was business to entice them. In the end the railroads will be the chief sufferers.

Fires Break Out Again.

NEGAUNEE, Mich., Sept. 8.—Forest fires have started on the north and east side of this city. The damage is confined to standing timber and farm crops. A strong breeze is blowing and the fire is spreading rapidly.

Caring for the Refugees.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 8.—Since the arrival of the first party of refugees from the awful Hinckley fire last Saturday Duluth has cared for 1,300 persons. Hospitals have been established all over the city and every public building and hundreds of private residences are sheltering refugees. Nearly $15,000 in actual cash has been paid into the relief fund here, and the subscriptions, including lumber and all supplies, will aggregate $20,000.

Many of the refugees are leaving the city, returning to their homes to begin the work of reconstruction. For a time they were dazed and prostrated, but are now recovering and wish to get to work for themselves and relieve the committee from the burden of taking care of them.

JAPS IN A PANIC.

Scared by the Action of the American Consul at Shanghai.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 7.—The recent surrender to the Taotai outside the settlement limits by the American consul of two Japanese who were recently arrested accused of being spies and who had been under the protection of the United States has created a panic among the Japanese in this country. The latter believed themselves to be safe under the protection of the United States, and their alarm is increased in view of the report that their two countrymen now in the hands of the Taotai are to be immediately executed. The Chinese authorities, when the prisoners were surrendered, pledged themselves not to torture the captives and to give them a fair trial. All the Japanese in this city, numbering about 700, are making preparations to leave at the earliest moment possible. Many have already fled. The Yokohama specie bank branch here is transferring its business to the Comptoir d'Escompte during the war. The Japanese merchants are selling out their business and preparing to leave the country.

Offers $5,000 for Lynchers.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Sept. 7.—Gov. Turney has offered a reward of $5,000 for the apprehension of the persons engaged in the lynching of six negroes near Millington, Shelby county, last Friday night. The governor has expressed a determination to do all in his power to bring the murderers to justice, and says that lynchings in Tennessee must stop.

Mother and Child Burn.

STREUBENVILLE, O., Sept. 7.—Mrs. Perrine, a well-to-do resident of New Cumberland, W. Va., poured oil from a can into the fire Tuesday night. The can exploded, throwing the burning liquid over her 2-year-old child. Both were burned to death.

SWEPT BY STORMS.

Much Ruin by Wind, Rain, Hail and Lightning.

Houses and Barns Demolished, Crops Destroyed, Live Stock Drowned and Several Persons Killed by Thunderbolts.

HEAVY RAINFALL.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—Another heavy rainfall was experienced in this city Sunday at 6:30 p. m. During the past week nearly eight inches of rain has fallen in this vicinity. The recent storms have been accompanied by electrical disturbances, and considerable damage has been done to property by lightning. One man was killed and several others are reported injured by lightning Saturday night. From all parts of Illinois come stories of damage by wind and rain.

Near Huntley, Ill., the storm was in the nature of a cyclone. A path 3 miles in width was swept by the wind and many barns and windmills were leveled to the ground. Great fields of corn were leveled to the earth as though by a roller. Farmers turned their cattle from the stables and thus saved hundreds of head of stock. On the Schroder farm the barn was wrecked and ten head of horses were found in the fields attached to fragments of the mangers which they had dragged loose in their fright. Louis Gamon's barn fell and buried eight horses in the ruins. Five horses were killed in the wreck of John Hooker's barn. John Conover lost several cows by lightning. The roof of the house of the William Humbrecht farm was blown away. On the T. S. Huntley farm nine horses were killed and several barns were burned in that section. The losses will aggregate many thousands.

The storm reached Algonquin and played havoc on several farms there. The barn of Patrick Ballister was blown down and several horses killed. The Ketchum barn, between Dundee and Algonquin, was blown to pieces. On the Hawker farm the house, barn and outbuildings were ruined and four horses killed. The inmates of the house had narrow escapes. Daniel Price's barn was demolished and fifteen cows were killed. At the farm of Chris Wendt the barn was wrecked and an entire orchard ruined, some of the trees being snapped off and others uprooted. Although the storm was the severest known through this section, no deaths have been reported. The damage, however, will aggregate a great many thousand dollars.

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Sept. 10.—An area of 1 square mile suffered from Saturday night's cloudburst. The flood reached the second stories of houses on Goepple and Spruce streets, Old Bethlehem, and Second street in South Bethlehem. The damage to private property is estimated at $50,000, and to sewers and highways $10,000. That no lives were lost is a miracle. The people in the flooded districts are very poor and are suffering for want of assistance.

MURDERED IN HIS HOME.

An Aged and Wealthy Resident Slain Near Detroit, Mich.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 10.—C. V. Chauvin, 70 years of age, and a wealthy and prominent citizen of Grosse Point township, was found murdered in his home on the Grosse Point road northeast of the city late Sunday afternoon. The murderers have not been caught, but the officers claim to be close upon their trail.

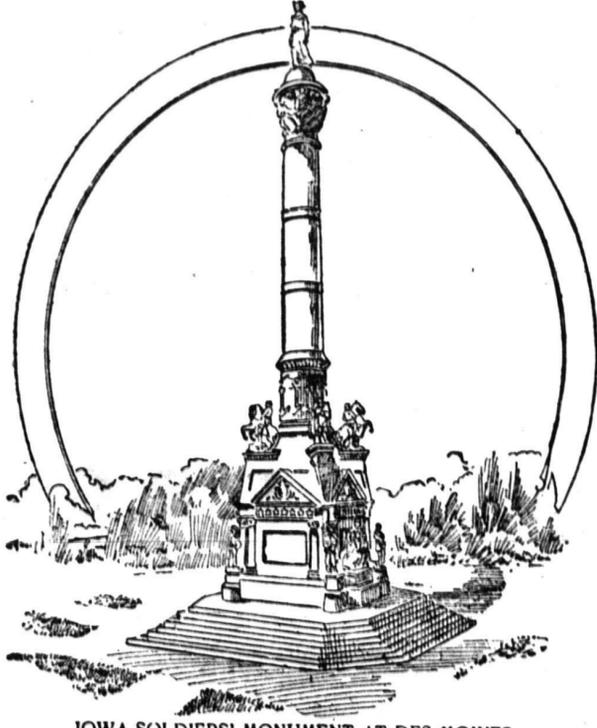

Chauvin lived as a hermit in an isolated place. Joseph Groesbeck, a cousin of the deceased, called at his house late Sunday afternoon and discovered Chauvin's dead body on the floor. On his head were three terrible wounds, evidently inflicted by an ax. The murderers had ransacked the house, but probably found nothing of much value, as Chauvin kept little money with him. Persons in the vicinity claim to have seen two men go to Chauvin's cabin in the morning and afterward start from there toward the city.

Chauvin had lived as a hermit for eighteen years. He was once a member of the Michigan legislature, had held various local places of trust, was an intelligent student and is estimated to have been worth upward of $200,000. Three other attempts at robbing and killing him had been made, but he was quite well known of late than he kept nothing of value on his premises.

KNIGHTS ADJOURN.

The Supreme Lodge K. of P. Ends Its Annual Session.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The supreme lodge Knights of Pythias adjourned Saturday to meet in Minneapolis the last Tuesday in August, 1896. At the session Saturday the newly-elected officers were installed and the following were appointed members of the supreme tribunal: George E. Seay, Tennessee, five years; John H. Alexander, Virginia, four years; Edward R. Graham, Alabama, three years; Benjamin T. Chase, Maine, two years; and Frank H. Starke, Wyoming, one year. The supreme temple of Pythian Sisters has changed the name of the order to Rathbone Sisters. This change will be officially promulgated at once in a circular by the supreme chief. In this way, it is said, knights will be free to join their order.

IOWA SOLDIERS' MONUMENT AT DES MOINES.

This fine work of art is now being made at Chicago. It will be a tribute to the soldiers and sailors who enlisted during the civil war from the Hawkeye state. It will stand 133 feet high and will be placed opposite the capitol in Des Moines. On top of the shaft will stand a figure representing Victory, 32 feet high. The massive column will rise from a base which will be 22 feet one way, 30 feet another and about 30 feet high. On rounded pedestals, which will spring from each corner of the base, will stand bronze figures typical of the infantry, cavalry, artillery and navy. Each of these figures will be 8 feet high. On top of the base, around the foot of the column, will be equestrian statues of Gen. Crocker, Gen. Curtis, Gen. Dodge and Gen. Corse. In will face the capitol and which will, therefore, be in front of the monument, will be the coat-of-arms of Iowa. Others will contain the portraits of Gen. Belknap, Gen. Winslow and Gen. Hatch. Smaller medallions to the number of 32 will form a series of portraits around the base below the pediments. The state of Iowa has appropriated $100,000 for the monument.

East is at the head of the movement, and his private secretary wires that Pine City is to be made the base of operations.

PINE JUNCTION, Minn., Sept. 5. Every hour that crawls by adds to the list of horrors in Pine and Kanabec counties. The cyclone of flames that swept these two counties is dying out, and as relief and exploring parties begin to go over the ground it scoured the first estimates of the destruction it did seem more and more inadequate. Tuesday night the relief committee, which has headquarters at Pine City, announced that at least 450 persons have died hideous deaths; 1,900 more are left absolutely destitute, hungry, shelterless and half clothed. This is the death list as given out by the committee Tuesday evening:

At Hinckley..... 308
Between Skunk Lake and Sandstone Junction..... 12
Sandstone Junction..... 15
Sandstone..... 77
Pokegama..... 25
Surrounding camps..... 50
Total..... 447

Of these figures those given from Hinckley are an absolute record of bodies recovered. How many more lie hidden in the blackened waste, in the lakes, morasses and streams nobody knows. The figures in the following table are careful estimates. Besides these there are other deaths probably still to be enumerated.

In sawmill pond at Hinckley..... 50
Dying at Mora, refugees from Pokegama..... 10
Settlers along south branch Sandstone river still missing..... 25
Buried in cellars in Hinckley..... 25
Dying in hospital at Minneapolis..... 5
Total..... 165

Worst Will Never Be Known.

More than 600 square miles of pine land have been burned over, a dozen towns have been absolutely swept off the earth, and railways and telegraph lines crippled and half destroyed. No man will ever know exactly the number of poor wretches who have perished under this visitation, no one will ever be able to guess within

Ashland on suspicion, but the police, like those of Washburn, are reticent about saying anything as to the character of the men they have arrested.

Another Town Wiped Out.

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis., Sept. 6.—A late report from Bruce says the little village was completely enveloped by the forest fire that has been surrounding the place for several days. The people escaped by running to the creek, covering themselves with wet blankets and allowing the flames to sweep over them.

Town Nearly Destroyed.

CARLINVILLE, Ill., Sept. 6.—The little village of Shipman, a few miles south of this city, was almost totally destroyed by fire at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning. The store buildings and stock were but partially insured. The loss will aggregate $50,000.

Rain Abates the Fire's Fury.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Sept. 5.—Fear of further damage from fire in this vicinity has vanished, rain having fallen. There is no fire within many miles of here. The damage to crops, timber and other property in Marquette county is small compared with the loss in Baraga, Iron and Dickinson counties. The total loss in counties west of here will aggregate anywhere from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000.

Relief for Survivors.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 7.—There are over 1,000 destitute refugees from the Hinckley and Sandstone fires now in Duluth, and it is expected that there will be but a few more to come. Over $8,000 has been raised for their relief, and food, clothing and lumber are being donated liberally. Cloquet, Two Harbors and other surrounding towns are sending supplies. Some are returning to their burned homes, leaving wives and families in charge of the relief society or sending them to friends and relatives.

One of the sad features in the suffering on the scene of the catastrophe is the large numbers of cows, horses,

A MOTHER'S STORY.

Happiness Comes After Years of Suffering.

The Terrible Experience of a Well-Known Official's Wife—A Story That Appeals to Every Mother in the Land.

(From the Chattanooga (Tenn.) Press.)

No county official in East Tennessee is better known and more highly esteemed than Mr. J. C. Wilson, Circuit Court Clerk of Rhea County, at Dayton, the home of Mr. Wilson. He enjoys the confidence and respect of all classes, and in the business community his word is as good as his bond. For now Mr. Wilson is receiving the warmest congratulations from his numerous friends because of the restoration to robust health of his estimable wife, who has for years been a helpless invalid. Mrs. Wilson's high standing in society, and her many lovely traits of character have won her a host of friends, and her wonderful recovery has attracted wide-spread attention.

As the Press was the medium of bringing to the invalid lady's attention the remedy that has effected her remarkable cure, a reporter was sent to Dayton to interview Mrs. Wilson, in order that the general public might have the benefit of the sufferer's experience and be made aware of the treatment that wrought such a marvelous change in her condition. The reporter was welcomed at the Wilson home, and the enthusiastic lady with becoming reluctance gave the history of her affliction and the manner in which she was relieved.

"Yes," said Mrs. Wilson, "I was for eight years an invalid with one of the most distressing afflictions a woman can suffer. For eight years I moped around, dragging myself with difficulty and pain out of bed. My little ones went untrained and were greatly neglected, while I looked listlessly and helplessly at the cheerless prospect before me and them. I suffered the most intense pains in the small of my back, and these seemed even greater in the region of the stomach, extending down to the groins. I suffered agony sleeping or awake. Despair is no word for the feeling caused by that dreadful sensation of weakness and helplessness I constantly experienced.

"I was treated for my trouble by several local physicians, but they were able to give me only temporary relief by the use of sedatives and narcotics. I had almost given up all hope of ever securing permanent relief when I saw an account in the Press of a cure which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had effected. I decided to try them, as I knew the lady who had been cured and had great confidence in her statement. I began to take the pills in October, 1893, and in two months I was doing light housework and attending to the children without any bad effects or weakness, such as I had formerly experienced. Hitherto I had been unable to retain any food, but now my appetite grew stronger, and with it came back that old, healthy and hearty tone of the stomach. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured me, and I assure you the cure has brought a great change in our home. I can now rejoice in my husband's success, for I feel that I have something to live for. Who has a better right to feel this than a mother? One thing more, I have recommended these pills to others, and many of the women of Dayton have taken them with good results, and it is my greatest pleasure to recommend to every suffering woman a remedy that has done so much for me."

An analysis proves that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of la grippe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are now manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., and are sold in boxes (never in loose form) by the dozen or hundred, and the public are cautioned against numerous imitations sold in this shape at 70 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company.

Philosophical Housekeeper.

Among Gen. Maury's reminiscences of Fredericksburg, Va., are some of Col. Byrd Willis. Somewhat late in life, after breaking up his home in Florida, he returned to end his days in Fredericksburg. He boarded with a kinswoman of his own, Mrs. Carter, a decayed gentlewoman of great piety, but apparently not a first rate housekeeper. Col. Willis took his meals for the most part at a restaurant, although he paid Mrs. Carter liberally for the board she was supposed to furnish. One day, as Col. Willis used to tell the story, the old lady's resources were exhausted—her material resources, that is to say—but she was equal to the emergency. She took to her bed, leaving this order with the servant: "Nancy, there is nothing in the house but mush for dinner. Give that to the boarders. If they are Christians they will eat it and be thankful; if they are not Christians it is much better than they deserve."—Youth's Companion.

Her Powdered Cinnamon.

A truly appalling contretemps which occurred at Aldershot when the queen dined and slept there. At the very end of dinner her majesty was served with a slice of melon; seeing her looking about for something, the page-in-waiting realized with sudden consternation that a certain small cruet filled with powdered cinnamon had been forgotten. The queen is very fond of this piquant spice and, besides often having sweets flavored with it, she insists upon having a supply constantly at hand to use with any plate she fancies. It was a sad moment for the culprit.—London Woman.

FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT.

E. V. Debs and Other A. R. U. Men on Trial Before Judge Woods.

CHICAGO, Sept. 7.—The contempt case against President E. V. Debs and the other officers and directors of the American Railway union, continued from July 25, was resumed before Judge Woods in the United States appellate courtroom in the Monadnock block at 10 a. m. Wednesday. All of the defendants except President Debs were in court. It was announced that Mr. Debs was in Chicago, but that he was ill and confined to his apartments. It was agreed to proceed with the case just as if he were present.

The case made up of the information filed by the government and the case brought against the defendants by the Santa Fe railroad, it was agreed should be tried together. Mr. Gregory, for the defense, moved for a trial by jury. Judge Woods said that as this was but a procedure for contempt of an injunction he would, for the present, overrule the motion. He would hear the motion at the right time. He must hear the evidence first in the equity case.

Mr. Milechrist then took up the information filed against Hogan, Burns, and other directors of the American Railway union, and said it was the same as that filed against Debs and others in the first information. It specified that for three days after the injunction had been issued, the American Railway union, by its officers and upon their order, had kept certain railroads from operating their lines in Chicago and had thereby interfered with interstate commerce and the carrying of the United States mails.

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—On Thursday Western Union Manager Mulford read several messages and telegrams in support of the prosecution and which were purported to have been sent by Mr. Debs. Defense held that no proof had been established that Debs sent the telegrams bearing his name. Most of the telegrams were typewritten, signature and all.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—On Friday the testimonies heard were those of railway employes. One witness testified that he had been forced to join the strike through intimidation. Defense failed to shake the testimony, though rigidly cross-examined.

Two members of the American Railway union testified to having received strike orders from President Debs, but these orders had been disregarded.

James F. Murphy, the engineer on the Michigan Central train which was wrecked at Kensington on July 5, told his story. After he had been driven from his cab he said he was escorted to a house in Pullman by six men, the leader of whom was armed with a revolver. Here he was confined for some time behind locked doors. At last he persuaded the leader to let him go, and while the mob was engaged elsewhere he succeeded in getting his train out of Kensington. Amid a fusillade of objections from Mr. Erwin Mr. Walker brought by questions the information which the witness had subsequently obtained with regard to his captors. He said the leader of the six men was named Kennedy and the house to which he had been taken was 142 Fulton street, Pullman, second flat. He had gone in company with some officers of the road and identified the premises. Witness said he was notified to testify at the trial by the master mechanic of the road.

James H. Banta, an Illinois Central engineer, told of his experiences on July 5 at Kensington, how he had been stoned and his engine cut loose and wrecked. M. Gepper, an engineer on the Big Four, testified to the same occurrences. He said he had been called a "scab," and he thought it uncomplimentary. H. F. Houghton, assistant superintendent of the Big Four road, corroborated the testimony of his two predecessors.

TURF RECORD OUTDONE.

Robert J. Wins New Laurels—Allx Lovers Her Record.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 7.—In the presence of 8,000 people at the Driving club race meeting Thursday Joe Patchen, the black son of Patchen Wilkes, and Robert J., the fastest harness horses in the world, fought a desperate battle for a purse of $5,000. Joe Patchen proved himself the greatest of all pacing stallions and forced the champion to go three miles in 2:03 1/2, 2:03 1/2, 2:04 1/2, making an average of 2:03 1/2, while the time of the black stallion was 2:04, 2:03 1/2 and 2:05.

Allx, the racing queen of trotters, trotted a mile to dethrone Nancy Hanks as queen of trotters. She failed to disturb her record, but trotted the best mile of her life by going the distance in 2:04 1/2.

The other three races that were concluded during the afternoon paled in insignificance in comparison with the star performance of harness racing history, which only is a more convincing proof of what a wonder Robert J. is.

CHILLINESS.

When other people feel warm enough, is a sign of biliousness, or of malarial poisons—so is a furred or coated tongue, loss of appetite, headaches or giddiness, and a dull, drowsy, debilitated feeling. It's your liver that's at fault. You want to stimulate it and invigorate it with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. With every trouble of the kind, these tiny little things act like a miracle. You can break up sudden attacks of Colds, Fevers, and Inflammations with them. They'll give you a permanent cure for Indigestion, Constipation, Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, and Dizziness. They're the smallest, the pleasantest to take, and the most thoroughly natural remedy.

You ought to be warned against the maltreatment of Catarrh in the Head, with poisonous, irritating nostrums. They can't cure it. They simply remove it—drive it to the throat and lungs. For a thorough and complete cure of Catarrh, take Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

An old-fashioned way of getting there. Slow and safe, but hard work. Most women, have got beyond this kind of traveling—found something better.

Now, why can't you look at that other old-fashioned proceeding in the same light—washing things with soap and hard rubbing. That's slow enough and tiresome enough, everybody knows, and it's not as safe as washing with Pearline. It's really destructive, in fact, the wear of that constant rubbing. Break away from these antiquated ideas. Use modern methods. Pearline saves at every point.

Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back.

No playing cards can hereafter be sold without having thereon a two cent revenue stamp. This is one of the means adopted by the present congress for raising revenue. It seems a small matter, when a single pack is considered, but it is estimated that $4,000,000 will be received.

The Chelsea papers keep talking about their fair all the time but do not give the date. That's a question the people are asking all the time, and never remember. What's the date?—Courier. Why Brother, it is the 9th, 10th, 11th and 12th of October. Paste this in your hat.

An odd looking man with a pair of mules attached to a dilapidated wagon struck town last Thursday. He showed photographs of himself taken when he was a gambler, a clergyman, a drunkard, and a labor agitator. He said he was on a journey around the world, after which he would write a book.

The Ann Arbor Argus says Mr. Lewis Freer, of near Chelsea, is willing to stand up before the world and be pointed at as the man who has this year grown a peach of the Honest John variety measuring 9½ inches in circumference one way and 9¼ inches the other. Mr. Freer gives this as an "Honest John" fact.

F. F. Skidmore, formerly of Grass Lake, is cashier of the bank at Tescott, Kan., which was robbed of $1,000 recently by four masked men. We bet when those burglars put in their appearance Mr. Skidmore wished he was back on the shore of Grass Lake's frog pond, where burglars wouldn't think of stopping.

The following ticket was nominated at the Democratic county convention held in Ann Arbor last Thursday: Sheriff, Michael Brenner; clerk, Jacob F. Schuh; register of deeds, Andrew T. Hughes; treasurer, Paul G. Suekey, prosecuting attorney, Thomas Kearney; circuit court commissioners, Patrick McKernan and Tracy L. Towner; coroners, Martin Clark, and Dr. Batwell; surveyor, Charles S. Woodward.

A movement has been started by the agricultural papers urging the adoption of a system whereby the public highways may be lined with nut and fruit trees. Their desirability for a shade is unquestioned, then the wholesome edibles, esteemed as luxuries, thus supplied would be of great benefit to the people. If Arbor Day was utilized to secure such a result, the importance of its purpose would be apparent to all.

According to the census the United States produced 457,000,000 dozen of eggs in 1879 and 817,000,000 dozen in 1889. These figures are probably under the mark. At the figures given, however, the annual egg product of the United States amounts to $100,000,000. If to this we add the value of the poultry sold we shall obtain a pretty high figure for the annual output of the department. One authority has placed it at $300,000,000. In 1893 the entire wheat crop of the United States amounted to 392,000,000 bushels, worth less than $300,000,000.

The Brighton Express says: "Look out, boys, for the girl who frankly declares that she is bound to die an old maid. Before you are aware of it she will be wearing your name, together with a broad gold ring on the third finger of her left hand."

A female writer in Philadelphia wants people costumed so that one may know whether they are married or single. Why not carry the idea further and have special costumes for divorced people, for married people living apart, and especially for single men and women who are in the market.

Sneezing may be averted by pressing firmly upon the upper lip with the fingers. The "why" of this is that by so doing we deaden the impression made on a certain branch of the "fifth nerve," sneezing being a reflex action excited by some slight impression made upon that nerve. Proof of this is seen in the fact that sneezing never takes place when the nerve mentioned is paralyzed, even though the sense of smell be fully retained.

Rev. D. R. Shire will deliver his lecture, "Beyond the Rockies," at Manchester, Wednesday evening, Sept. 19, 1894. There is much in it which is new and it is told in a manner which impresses his audience and carries it with the speaker as he goes over the country. Throughout the lecture there is a humorous strain, and the story is told in a manner which keeps all interested from beginning to close. Don't fail to hear him.

The Jackson Patriot says that present indications are that all kinds of coarse grain will be dear for another year. It will not pay to feed dear grain to poor stock, and the sooner all such is sold the more money the farmer owning it will have at the end of the winter. After another year it is probable that the prices of stock will advance. Secure some of the best to breed from, such as will pay their way on dear feed. When the rise in price comes the best stock will advance in price more than any other. The best time to change from poor stock to good is always now.

A London inventor claims the discovery of a loud-speaking telephone through which the words of the distant speaker can be distinctly heard anywhere in the room, where the receiving telephone is located. No call bell is used. The simple call "hello!" is all that is required to attract attention to the coming message or remark.

Weeds are the crop of nature and are intended to cover the soil and protect it from loss from the influence of the direct rays of the sun. Shading the soil increases fertility by preventing loss. The weeds also assist in reducing the inert matter of the soil to a soluble condition. If plowed under they return this matter to the soil in fit condition for the next crop. It is better to sow rye in a cornfield, as soon as the corn is cut, to protect the bare soil, furnish late feed in the fall and early in the spring, and then plow under for a spring crop.

A foreign scientist, whom the account says is "a man of international reputation," offers a brand new theory of the cause of sleep. He believes the fatigue of the nervous system which leads to this condition of the body to be due to an increase of the water-holding power of the nerve cells. This being the case, the greater the ability of the cells to hold water, the less the nervous irritability of the invalid. He further says that the sleeping individual is easily awakened as soon as the major portion of the water has been eliminated by the "sleep process."

Louis C. Elson the musical critic, in a lecture said that "Yankee Doodle" was suggested by the motley appearance of the colonial troops when they mustered for the Indian wars in 1755. An English wit composed it, and in the slang of that day "doodle" meant simpleton, and "macaroni" a dude. Mr. Elson said that "Yankee Doodle" was the beginning and end of the Revolutionary war, for at Lexington the British played it in derision, and at the surrender of Cornwallis the Americans paid it back with interest, making the British prisoners march by the same tune.

That is a nice little story of a Philadelphia pastor who was out with a yachting friend in a small sailboat. He was just talking about the perfectibility of the human race when the boat capsized, and he merely inquired pleasantly, "Well William, what shall I do now?" As he could not swim, the minister climbed up on the capsized boat beside his friend, where they stayed several hours until they were taken off by a passing yacht. And the minister said he shouldn't mind going out with the man who capsized him again the next day! He certainly presents an isolated case of perfectibility of temper.

Next time you drop in on your barber to have a shave or a hair cut ask him why he has a pole with white and red stripes on it at his door. The chances are that he will tell you that it is to let people know there is a barber shop in the vicinity. Ask him why such a pole represents a barber shop and to not talk politics or the weather to you until he has answered, and you will have a quiet time of it. Of course you know, but he don't. In olden times blood letting was believed in and the ancient barber was the man who made a specialty of it. The pole has nothing to do with hair cutting or shaving; it represents the blood-letting end of the profession. The red stripes indicate the flow of blood; the white stripes, the linen bandages used after the operation.

Here is a recipe for the selection of a husband: "For a man's birth look to his linen and finger nails and observe the inflections of his voice. For his tastes study the color of his trousers, his friends and his rings—if any. For his propensities walk round and look carefully at the back of his head, and remember, girls, never to marry a man whose neck bulges ever so little over his collar. If you want a successful man, see that he has a neat foot; he will be more quicker, get over obstacles faster, than a man who falls over his own toes, and trips up other folks with 'em, too. For his breeding, talk sentiment to him when he is starving and ask him to carry a handbox down the street when you've just had a row. To test his temper tell him his nose is a little on one side and you don't like the way his hair grows—and if that won't fetch him nothing will."

Sam Jones condenses a great deal of sound sense in the following: The third party may get to heaven but it will never get to Washington. The average old party politician may be a rascal but a third party man is foolish. We hear a great deal about the rich getting poorer. There never was a greater lie and I'll prove it. It is not the law that is at fault but the man. There's a lawyer who makes twenty thousand a year. Here's a little petti-fogger who is starving. The law is not to blame. Here's a physician making his thousands. Over there is a little doctor who will never earn his salt. I tell you brother the fault is not in the law, it's in your noggin. If all the wealth of the United States was divided each man would get $1,100, and in less than six months some would be riding in palace cars and others would be walking across ties howling for another day.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

A Fishing Party Stranded.

Five business men of Menominee, W. A. Pengilly, W. E. Kuhnle, F. Hibbard, Charles Besnap and James Fairbank, left in a sailboat for a day's fishing on the east shore of the bay. They got lost in the dense smoke and sailed about until they were driven ashore on Hat island by a heavy squall. The boat dashed against the heavy rocks. A pole was erected and a towel tied to it for a signal. The smoke cleared away to the eastward and they were sighted by some fishermen who took them to Egg Harbor. From there they reached Sturgeon Bay by team and arrived home by steamer. Their only food for two days was green butternuts and high bush cranberries.

State Board of Health Report.

Reports to the state board of health by sixty-six observers in different parts of the state for the week ended September 1 show that remittent fever, influenza and whooping-cough increased, and that cholera morbus decreased in area of prevalence. Consumption was reported at 234 places, scarlet fever at thirty, typhoid fever at forty-seven, diphtheria at twenty-three, measles at four, and smallpox at Detroit.

Two Children Killed.

A sad accident occurred at C. P. Linquist's farm near Dewing's Siding, 9 miles north of Bay City. Mr. Linquist had converted an old dwelling house into a granary and he, with his two children, aged 2 and 4 years, were upon the upper floor, putting grain into boxes, when the floor gave way, precipitating Mr. Linquist and the children to the lower floor, and both little ones were instantly killed.

Michigan's Champion Shot.

In the second and closing day of the tourney at Muskegon of the Michigan State Trap Shooters' league, Samuel Howes, of Battle Creek, won the state championship expert medal, with nineteen out of twenty. Loves, of Muskegon, won the semi-expert state medal, no one appearing against him. Henry Bauknecht, of Muskegon, won the amateur medal, with twenty-two out of twenty-five.

Whipped a Wife-Beater.

Frank Nelson, of Trout Creek, threw dishes at his wife and children and ended by trying to empty a shotgun at them. He was arrested, but a gang of twenty white caps took him from jail and gave him 100 lashes on the bare back while he was tied to a tree trunk. He was rescued by a sheriff's posse, but may not recover. None of his assailants were apprehended or recognized.

Fires Are Out.

Fear of further damage from fire in the vicinity of Ishpeming had vanished, rain having fallen. The damage to crops, timber and other property in Marquette county is small compared with the loss in Baraga, Iron and Dickinson counties. The total loss in counties west of Ishpeming will aggregate anywhere from $30,000,000 to $40,000,000.

Charged with Theft.

Norvell A. Hawkins, cashier of the Standard Oil company in Detroit, was locked up on the charge of embezzlement. The Standard Oil company alleges that during the past year and a half, while acting in the capacity of cashier for them, Hawkins has appropriated over $15,000 of their money to his own use.

Forest Fires.

Great damage has resulted from forest fires in Trout creek district during the last few days and fires were still burning. The Diamond Match company lost fully 90,000,000 feet of timber and the Nestor estate timber consumed was about 20,000,000 feet. The loss to homesteaders and others was also great.

Iron Mines Resume Work.

The Wheat mine, Cascade range, has resumed operations after an idleness of four years. The ore is sold to the Western Furnace company of Manistiquette. The Davis mine at Negaunee has also begun work at the old shaft, adding twenty-five men to the force.

A LITTLE SUNBEAM.

Upstairs and downstairs,
Pat her little feet;
Climbing,
Chiming,
All the happy day,
Hugging dolly close and sweet,
Teaching her to dance and play,
Up and down the stairs!

Upstairs, and downstairs,
Laughing if she falls;
Flashing,
Dashing,
Like an April rain,
Paying calls to mamma's house—
Bows and smiles, and bows again,
Up and down the stairs!

Up stairs and down stairs,
Gayly chattering;
Beaming,
Gleaming,
Moves the golden head;
Sunbeams always scattering
Wherever she may tread—
Up or down the stairs!

A CROSS-ROAD GENIUS
By GLEN WATERS

WESLEY STERRITT

was a thrifty soul and enterprising. In early youth he was a cross-roads genius. The country housewives, when their children had a new hat or a new knife or the like, used to say at school time:

"Go 'long, now, and don't let Wesley Sterritt trade you out o' that. Don't swap with him at all."

No casual observer would even suspect him of shrewdness—a fact which he turned to his own advantage in many a bargain—but Wesley had, as though Nature provided special compensation for the shortcomings of personal attractions, a peculiar indifference as to externalities, whether his own or those of other people. He valued above par that which he had and below par that which he had not; he was always in the attitude of consenting to an exchange rather than that of seeking it; he never fixed a price, and never accepted one as long as there was chance for a better. He was one of those people who could swap a bushel of corn for a bushel of corn and profit by the transaction, maintaining a reputation for fair measure and inch-for-inch honesty. He removed from sixteen from Flat Rock to Shiloh. He was rapidly advanced to forty dollars a month and then to partnership in a dry goods store. He soon became sole owner of the business. He added a line of school books and coffins, flourished for ten or twelve months, insured everything and got burned out. He went to Fairburn. He flourished, of course. He expanded, as it were, to the limit of his opportunities. His enterprise was a revelation to his competitors. He had toys for Christmas, valentines for the 14th of February, flags for the Fourth of July.

"A leedle too sharp," some croakers said, commenting upon Wesley Sterritt's methods, intending to convey the idea that he might some day overreach himself—"jest a leedle bit too smart."

There were rumors that he sold whisky—very profitable that, because very risky, the town and county being dry—but the grand jury never did anything with it, and Wesley continued to prosper. He attended church and Sunday-school regularly, ingratiating himself to a degree with the denomination which had most adherents in that neighborhood. Eventually he began speculating in cotton. He sent mysterious telegrams in cipher and received equally mysterious answers. The telegraph operator told all about it, confidentially. The rumor was speedily corroborated, as it could be in none but a small town where everybody knows everybody else and everybody else's business.

"He don't know how to let well enough alone," the neighbors said of Wesley. "He's in too big a hurry to get rich. He's gettin' over his depth."

Fairburn held its breath awhile—the expression is semi-figurative, of course—in expectation of a catastrophe, the sudden annihilation of Wesley Sterritt. The negroes, who heard the white folks whispering about it, looked for the earth to open up and literally swallow him. There was no financial crash, no crack of doom, no sensation of any sort. The man simply continued to prosper. The town rubbed its eyes and looked again, to be certain Wesley was still there, and then deliberately settled down to the conviction that he was a great financier—a man who could hold his own in conflict with the money kings of Wall street. He came to be regarded as an oracle in the matter of speculative investments. No list of trustees or directors could be complete without his name. He was offered the mayoralty and declined the honor. His store burned up, fully insured—a fact of which some envious people and the insurance adjuster, referring to the similar experience in Shiloh, made a suggestive coincidence—but Wesley collected the money and moved to Atlanta. Some people wondered why he didn't go on to New York at once, instead of stopping in a smaller place, a limited field, like Atlanta. What he should have done, or might have done, are considerations foreign to the purpose of this narrative, which is designed simply to record what he did do. He started a business in Atlanta. He was amply successful. He was dissatisfied.

One evening, after a good day's business, he went home in a thoughtful, silent mood. He had little appetite for supper. His wife—yes, indeed, he had a wife! It is strange how naturally one who knew Wesley Sterritt at this time might, in telling the story of his life, forget to mention the existence of a Mrs. Sterritt. There was little about Mrs. Sterritt, except her existence, to be mentioned in that connection. Even in the account given by her old neighbors of the marriage—the one time in her life when she had said "I will"—she was made subordinate and incidental to the consideration of a grist mill, which Wesley was commonly said to have married, the wife passing as a sort of incumbrance upon the property. Poor woman! Her identity, except the mechanical part of it, had faded away into that of her husband—her mentality, if that isn't in itself too positive a term, bore to his the relation of shadow to substance. She acquiesced, always acquiesced, simply acquiesced, in what he said and did.

Mrs. Sterritt noticed, on this particular evening, that something seemed to weigh heavily upon Wesley's mind, and she surmised that that something concerned her. "Martha," said he abruptly, when she had finished with the dishes and begun with her knitting, as usual, "I'm goin' to buy that lot I was talkin' about yistiddy—the brick bo'din' house place j'inin' the church."

Mrs. Sterritt was vaguely startled and suspicious. He never made her a confidant in his affairs, and talked now as though it specially concerned her. He even looked as if he expected her to make a reply.

"He's erbleeged to sell—the fellow I war talkin' to in the sto' when you was thar yistiddy," he continued presently. "I kin git it for twenty-two thousand dollars in cash. It's wuth easy a time an' a half that easy."

Mrs. Sterritt continued her knitting in silence, never once looking up. The indications, she knew, were ominous. "I've got, say, $14,000 of that. My credit is good, but not good enough, Martha."

Wesley looked closely at her face. She fumbled a bit at her knitting. "I can't be burned out again. I must try something else. I must fail. A great many people have failed,

"YOU MUST GO, WESLEY, GO NOW."

Martha. I must fail. I must put that lot in yo' name."

He explained the scheme in detail. She listened without comment until he had finished. Then she folded up the knitting and said quietly:

"That's stealin'. I won't."

Wesley's face crimsoned. He was equally amazed and angry. She astonished him further before he could find words for his wrath by asking sternly:

"Is what they say about them fires o' yo' n' a fact, Wesley?"

He answered with an oath. His face was pale now, and his fists were clenched. He controlled himself with an effort, and then said slowly:

"If you won't, she will. I'll put the lot in Dory Turner's name, an' you—Glad enough she'd be. Now, Miss Righteous, will the lot be in yo' name or her'n?"

He saw her flush at the mention of Dora Turner's name. Her head and shoulders dropped for an instant as though she had been dazed by a blow. He had thought it useless to say as much as he intended to say, so confident was he that she would submit. He asked triumphantly:

"Yo' name or Dory Turner's?"

for a purchaser and for an opportunity to locate elsewhere. He went home with his wife from the courthouse on the day of the final decision.

"Is it all over?" she asked. "All over," he said. "The property is mine. It's paid for, too."

He laughed at his own wit, and laughed at her puzzled, curious expression.

"All over," she repeated, thoughtfully.

"May I ask," he grinned, as the new idea occurred to him, "what you propose to do with yo' property?"

"Yes," she said, quietly. "I propose to keep it, Wesley."

"You're comin' out," he said in mock encouragement, noting the aptness with which she matched his grim humor. "An' what, may I ask, do you propose to do with me?"

"You must git out, Wesley."

"When?"

"To-day. Yes, I'll keep place. I'll pay back what you stole an' keep the place."

Then the suspicion, and instantly the certainty, got into Wesley Sterritt's head that the woman was in earnest—that she was crazy and would do exactly what she said. Cold perspiration came out in beads upon his face. He pleaded as he never pleaded before. Mrs. Sterritt was inexorable and answered simply:

"You must go, Wesley."

"Ain't my credit good for board, Martha?"

"Mebbe—with Dory Turner."

There was no answer for that. He looked to see that the window curtains shut off the view from the outside and then got upon his knees.

"Martha," he whined. "Martha—"

"Wesley," she said, decisively, "you must go now—go right away."

That was ten or twelve years ago. Mrs. Sterritt still keeps the boarding house. She has paid off what Wesley stole, every cent of it with interest. At long intervals there appears in Atlanta a homeless sot, the meekest of men, who goes there and asks for Mrs. Sterritt. She gives him a meal in the kitchen and says when he has finished it:

"You must go now, Wesley."—N. Y. Advertiser.

Eccentric Rages.

Handel knew his own power, as every great man knows, and it is not surprising that he was thought to be proud. Nor could such a noble intellect be else than earnest and thorough. In a recent work on the great composer the author, Frederick J. Crowest, writes that Handel, when at work, was often rough and peremptory.

He would deal out torrents of abuse "ven tings wo mixed," to understand which one required to be intimately acquainted with at least English, French, German and Italian. Yet these rages were healthy outbursts of a great mind, not morbid, jealous feelings. Such fits of wrath led to amusing scenes. How he thundered and roared at Cuzzoni when she refused to sing an air which he had written for her, and only did so from fear lest he should give effect to his threat to throw her out of the window.

What a rating, too, he gave the poor Chester printer, Jansen, who assured Handel he could "sing at sight."

"You schountrel! Tit not you tell me dot you could sing at soite?"

"Yes, sir," said the affrighted chorister "and so I can, but not at first sight."—Youth's Companion.

Lord Aberdeen Snored.

Lord Aberdeen tells the following story of himself: He left London at midnight in a sleeping-car for the north. In the morning when he was awakened he saw a stranger opposite him.

"Excuse me," said the stranger, "may I ask if you are rich?"

Somewhat surprised, his lordship replied that he was tolerably well-to-do.

"May I ask," continued the stranger, "how rich you are?"

"Well, if it will do you any good to know," was the reply, "I suppose I have several hundred thousand pounds."

"Well," went on the stranger, "if I were as rich as you and snored as loudly as you I should take a whole car, so as not to interrupt the sleep of others."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

LADIES and gentlemen of the French court were encouraged to appear on the stage as dancers, not only by the example of Louis XIV., but by a royal letter patent, in which it was stated that permission was given to "all gentlemen and ladies wishing to sing and dance in ballet, without being considered for that reason to derogate from their titles of nobility, or from their privileges, rights and immunities."

Al! me! the world is full of meetings such as this,—a thrill, a voiceless challenge and reply, and sudden parting after—N. P. Willis.

FANNED THE FIRES.

Strong Winds Start Afresh Flames in the Forests.

St. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 10.—Alarming rumors have been coming in here to the effect that forest fires are sweeping several counties of north-eastern Minnesota. The fires are already in a state of demoralization, and south-bound trains due here Sunday evening are delayed somewhere between Hincley and Duluth.

Bulletins from St. Cloud and Brainerd say that the town of Princeton, a village of 500 inhabitants in Mille Lacs county, is in great danger and that Barnum, Carleton county, is surrounded by fire which is swept by such a terrific wind that the place has no chance of escape. Mora, Mille Lacs county, was surrounded by fire during the afternoon and people ran for their lives. The wind changed suddenly, however, at nightfall and drove the flames in another direction. If the wind changes again nothing can save the place. Soule's sawmill and lumber yard between Millica and Princeton were totally destroyed. The little station of Ground House, near Mora, is in great danger. The wind was blowing a gale at this point at sundown and the worst is feared. The Duluth fire department is fighting fires in the outskirts of that city. Hincley also seems to be again in trouble.

At Kerrick the inhabitants put in the afternoon fighting the fires, but thought in the evening the danger was over. At Kimberly, on the Northern Pacific, only a large gang of railway laborers saved the town. There was a state of terror among the refugees at Pine City when the St. Paul & Duluth limited passed through, for it was feared another cyclone of fire was at hand.

HINCLEY, Minn., Sept. 10.—Coroner Cowan and party went to Sandstone Sunday, where they buried eighty bodies. There were no religious services here Sunday; no clergymen being present, and a number of the people went to Pine City to attend the memorial services in that city.

Five bodies were found Saturday night in a cellar on a hill just north of the Kettle river, and were buried where found. It is believed here that the death list in Pine county will exceed 500 as something like 100 are still unaccounted for, according to Coroner Cowan's official statement.

ASHLAND, Wis., Sept. 10.—Settlers around Marengo, which place was destroyed by the recent fires, have caused the arrest of Mike Roepler, charging him with having set the forest fire which swept over that region last Saturday, destroying Marengo and Agnew, with a loss of eight lives. The prisoner was hustled off to Ashland and has been placed in the county jail here for safe keeping, as the feeling against him among the homesteaders is very bitter. Roepler came up for preliminary hearing late Saturday afternoon and was bound over to the circuit court by Judge Foster.

LINK WAGONER KILLED.

The Outlaw Shot in the Mind (La.) Jail by a Mob.

MINDEN, La., Sept. 10.—Link Waggoner, the noted outlaw and murderer, was killed in jail here Saturday night by a mob of armed men, who forced their way in. He showed pluck to the last and faced the crowd, cursing them with his last breath. He was shot thirteen times. Waggoner was accused of half a dozen murders. He had a considerable following in Webster parish, and sometimes managed to live there, although the officers were hunting for him. The search finally became to hot and he fled to Arkansas. He was captured there last fall and brought back to Minden jail, where he has been since confined.

Buried Under a Landslide.

CALCUTTA, Sept. 10.—During a snow-storm, which seems to have been accompanied by a strong gale of wind, a heavy landslide took place high up the Solung valley, just above the encampment of a number of shepherds, some Kangra gaddis and some Kulu men, and the entire encampment was buried, nine men, seven horses and not fewer than 2,500 sheep—some accounts say as many as 7,000 sheep—being killed.

RAILWAY DISASTERS.

Several Fatal Ones Occur in America—Ten Lives Lost in France.

CHICAGO, Sept. 10.—The St. Paul express on the Chicago & Northwestern, which left the Wells street depot at 6:30 o'clock Sunday night, was wrecked one hour later between Barrington and Cary by colliding with three coal cars, said to have been blown on the main track by a miniature cyclone which was sweeping across the country. General Superintendent S. Sanborn was badly injured, and Fireman J. McMahon was killed and two employes and two passengers were hurt.

The train was running fast and the signals showed a clear track. Suddenly the engineer espied the cars on the track ahead of him and applied the air brakes. But he failed to check the momentum of his heavy train and it crashed into the obstruction with a terrific shock. The engine jumped the track, and was followed by the mail, express and buffet cars. The mail tipped clean over, the express landing almost on top of it.

When Engineer Stearns saw a collision was inevitable he jumped and escaped injury. J. McMahon, the fireman, stuck to the engine and was instantly killed. His body was taken from the wreck and left in the care of friends at Barrington. A. J. Bliss is a flour merchant from Boston. He was in the buffet and was thrown across the car and his left leg broken above the knee. The fracture is a bad one and may cost him his leg. Thomas Green, the baggageman, was caught in the debris of his car and had his left leg broken and received a number of serious cuts about the head. Superintendent Sanborn had several ribs broken.

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Sept. 10.—The most frightful disaster known in this vicinity took place on the Fitchburg road Saturday evening in the Hoosac tunnel a short distance east of the central shaft. The accident was caused by a rear-end collision between east-bound freight trains, and as near as can be ascertained happened about 10:30 p. m. A freight train had stopped to repair on engine which had broken down, and about the same time a west-bound express train passed through the tunnel, filling it with smoke. A second east-bound freight train was allowed to enter the tunnel, contrary to the rules of the road, and the engineer being unable on account of the dense smoke left by the passenger train to distinguish the lights of the train from the lights on the walls of the tunnel, a bad wreck was the result, both trains being badly damaged. The tunnel was blocked and two men killed outright and three were seriously injured.

Operator Hodkin, who was in charge of the signal lights at the east portal, is confined in the police station on the charge of criminal carelessness. W. Hodgkins, the west portal operator, has also been placed under arrest. He claims he received the "O. K." from the east end operator and consequently changed his signal.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 10.—Ten persons were killed and twenty injured by the wreck of the Paris and Cologne express train Sunday. The accident happened at Apilly and was caused by a collision of the express train with a freight which was being shunted. The engineer saw the danger ahead and reversed his engine. This had the effect of reducing the speed and rendering the accident less severe than it would otherwise have been. As it was, the wreck was a very disastrous one. A passenger on the train, who escaped with slight injury, says that the shock of the collision was tremendous, and that the forward cars were reduced almost to atoms. The bodies of the victims were badly mutilated, in some cases the head being severed from the trunk. It is reported that the station master at Apilly, on seeing that a collision was inevitable, jumped in front of the express and was killed.

FAIRBURY, Ill., Sept. 10.—The north-bound mail train No. 10 on the Wabash railroad was dinged when three-quarters of a mile out of Sauneman. Engineer E. L. Miller, of Chicago, was killed outright and his fireman, named Gilman, received injuries that will cause his death. The engine, which was No. 573, was thrown to the left side, while the mail car was thrown to the right and the rest of the cars stayed on the track. Coroner Zimmerman, of this county, empaneled a jury, who, after examining all the available witnesses, returned a verdict that they were unable to determine what caused the accident. Conductor D. H. Powsley, of the ill-fated train, and others in the train claim that the speed was not fast, but that the stop was made partly by applying the emergency air brake, which Miller accomplished before his engine went into the ditch. Several on the train received slight injuries. William Chenoweth, foreman of the wrecking crew of the Wabash Chicago division, was managing the clearing up of the wreck when a heavy timber gave way striking him on the head, crushing in his skull and otherwise injuring him. His death soon followed.

DECATUR, Ill., Sept. 10.—At Kenney, on the Peoria division of the Vandalia road, Saturday, there was a costly freight-train wreck, caused by cattle on the track, in which Engineer James C. Williams, of Decatur, lost his life. Elmer Rosengrantz, the fireman, escaped by jumping.

September Crop Report.

The average rainfall in the State in August did not exceed three-fourths of an inch, or two inches less than the usual amount in this month. In July there was a deficiency of one and three-fourths inches. There was a very light rain, throughout the State, general July 20, but none from that date to the 1st of September. With a drouth thus practically unbroken during the two principal crop growing months of July and August, it is not difficult to estimate the condition of crops. They are dried up. Corn, potatoes and garden truck are damaged beyond recovery, the yield will be but a small per cent of an average, and pastures afford little or no feed for stock. The fact that in a few localities rain has been slightly more abundant and crops are consequently somewhat better, does not disprove the general statement.

There is little doubt that wheat will be largely fed to stock the coming winter. We hope to have estimates soon of the proportion of the crop. One country miller writes us that he has already ground fifteen hundred bushels for feed.

Threshers returns of more than 68,000 acres of wheat threshed, secured by correspondents, show that the average yield per acre in the State is 16.65 bushels. The average in the southern counties is 16.78 bushels, in the centre 16.20 bushels, and in the northern 13.95 bushels.

The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed by farmers since the August report was published is 952,803. Of this amount 304,680 bushels were marketed before August 1, but not reported until late in August, and 648,123 bushels were marketed in August. The total amount reported marketed in the twelve months ending with July, which is the wheat year for Michigan, is 15,450,958 bushels.

The amount of wheat reported marketed since the August report was published, 952,803 bushels, is 290,066 bushels less than reported for the same time in 1893.

WASHINGTON GARDNER, Sec. of State.

Silver as Money.

Silver as a circulating medium is much more valuable than gold for the reason that it enters into general circulation, which gold cannot do. The size and value of the pieces of silver are much more convenient than those of gold and is also more abundant, a supply of which is necessary to meet the demands for it. But to say that the superabundance of the silver has reduced its value as compared with gold, on the one to sixteen ration is too silly to be mentioned. And as long as we pretend to rest the ultimate redemption of all our paper money on a metallic basis the silver must necessarily do the larger part of that service in the absence of gold which must go to pay foreign balances, and other foreign obligations, which the silver can, not do so economically as the lighter metal. It is claimed that silver has no permanent value but a fluctuating commodity and at the present time has shrunk below fifty cents on the dollar as compared with gold. It is not strange that in the face of the fact that all the leading nations of the earth have legislated against the use of silver as money to the extent of demonitizing it, and that we, too, as one of the largest silver producing countries of the world, have pursued the same course, that any intelligent person would ask for any other reason than those named for an explanation for the great depreciation in the price of silver. Unfavorable conditions have been made for the silver as money and then it is blamed for the conditions which environ it and the prices which are offered for the silver bullion.—Western Rural.

Facts About Hogs.

A stone hog house will be warm in winter and cool in summer, and is very desirable, though not enough so to make up the difference in cost between it and the wood structure.

Don't feed the youngsters on very sour swill while too small? It upsets their digestive apparatus. A little later they may be permitted to take anything their growing appetites demand.

Grunters with bristles are the only ones with which it will pay to spend much time.

Provide plenty of trough room in length, but don't have it too deep.

Don't make a mistake by feeding too closely. Weak pigs and slow feeders are the result. Send away for fresh stock.

Weather Hints.

Watch the sky for what are called "mares-tails." These appearing after clear weather show the track of the wind in the sky. A rosy sunset predicts fair weather. A red sky in the morning foretells bad weather. A gray sky in the morning means fine weather. If the first streaks of light at dawn are seen above a bank of clouds, look out for wind; if they are close to or on the horizon, the weather will be fair. In general, soft, delicate colors in the sky, with indefinite forms of clouds, mean fair weather; gaudy, unusual colors, and hard-edged clouds mean rain, and probably wind.

A dark, gloomy blue sky is windy; but a bright, light blue sky indicates fine weather. Generally, the softer clouds, the less wind (but perhaps more rain) may be expected; and the harder, more "greasy," rolled, tufted, or ragged, the stronger the coming wind will prove.

A bright yellow sky at sunset presages wind; a pale yellow, wet; orange or copper colored, wind and rain.

These are some of the most important points about weather which have been set down in the books by old and experienced sailormen.—Harpers Young People.

The Washtenaw Mutual's Assessment.

The Washtenaw Mutual Fire Insurance Co. has sent out its losses and assessment for this year. The losses were 47 in number, the first one being on Sept. 22nd, '93, the last on Aug. 31, '94, the total amounting to $6,320.60. Considering the dry summer, this is a remarkable record. The assessment will be $1.20 on $1,000. The greatest number of fires in one town was in Lyndon, 7, Superior following with 6. The greatest loss at any one time was the barn and contents of Edward King, of Ypsilanti, $1,237.58. The smallest A. J. and F. May, Lyndon, household effects, $1. Of the losses 13 were caused by lightning, the balance by fire. Besides the above there were four losses, amounting to $866.56, that have been referred to the annual meeting for payment, because the policy holders did not comply with certain by-laws of the company. The total number of members Aug. 1st was 2,844, and the total capital stock $5,248,650. The assessment must be paid on or before Nov. 3d, to hold the insurance good.—Ann Arbor Courier.

Shade.

But few realize the importance of plenty of cool shade for our stock during the warm season. Fortunate indeed is he who has prepared for this by planting a few fruit trees and bushes in the poultry yard. Heat is responsible for the death of more fowls than we realize; thirst, heat and vermin are the triad which prove fatal to many of our choicest birds each season and we know it not. Let this great fatality cease at once; provide sufficient shade for your stock without delay. If nothing better, throw up a few rails against the fence and cover with hay or straw. The fowls will soon have a fine "dust bath" beneath and will manifest their appreciation in a largely increased egg production.

Eating Before Sleeping.

Many persons, though not actually sick, keep below par in strength and general tone, and I am of the opinion that fasting during the long interval between supper and breakfast, and especially the complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep, adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness and general weakness as we often meet. Physiology teaches that in the body there is a perpetual disintegration of tissue, sleeping or waking; it is therefore logical to believe that the supply of nourishment should be somewhat continuous, their emaciation and lower degree of vitality; and as bodily exercise is suspended during sleep, with wear and tear correspondingly diminished, while digestion, assimilation and nutritive activity continue as usual, the food furnished during this period adds more than is destroyed, and increased weight and improved general vigor are the results.—Dr. W. T. Cathell in Maryland Medical Journal.

Hints to Housekeepers.

Clean white paint with whiting sprinkled on a piece of darp flannel.

Remove machine oil from new muslin garments by washing the spots in clear, cold water.

Save tea leaves for a few days, steep them for an hour, strain and use the liquid to wash varnished paint, oil-cloths and window panes.

Dipping fish in scalding water will cause the scales to come off very easily but if the fish are to be salted down they must on no account be scaled. You may pour over them vinegar with the same result. Salt fish will soak fresh much quicker in sour milk than in water.

The drawing of the feet by rubbers is also one of the most fruitful causes of chilblains, so troublesome in severe winter weather. Heavy calfskin shoes with thick soles are a perfect protection, except in the heaviest, wettest snows, against all dampness. Such shoes are far healthier in winter than a thinner shoe worn with a rubber.

Coppers dissolved in boiling water, will instantly cleanse iron sinks and drains. A few drops of spirits of turpentine mixed with stove blacking lessens labor and adds polish. Kerosene in cooked starch (a teaspoonful to a quart) will prevent clothes sticking to the iron and gives a gloss; the scent evaporates in the drying. (Powdered borax is good, if one decidedly objects to the smell of kerosene.)

Dr. Munde says that the imprudent act of getting out of bed without protecting the feet, one so commonly committed by women without thought of the consequences, may be traced many an attack of cellulitis, brought on by the sudden though momentary exposure of the feet to cold. It has caused more diseases to women previously healthy than could result from any other single act of imprudence.

Perfumed Garters.

Perfumed garters are among the luxurious devices by which the aesthetic girl shows she is more daintily clad than most folks. Possibly she has several pairs, being careful to wear yellow ones with black hosiery and black ones with tan. These garters are made from watered ribbon about an inch and a half wide, and solid silver buckles if just the garter is linked, or both buckles and stocking clasps if a supporter is preferred. The ribbon is doubled over a layer of cotton and satchet powder, and the wearer, if very fastidious, may have her name engraved on the silver buckles, so if she should lose it there may be some chance of its return. Bridal garters must be made of white frilled elastic with silver or even jeweled buckles and knots of real lace.—Ex.

Live Stock Notes.

If a sheep gets lame when it is muddy, examine it and you will often find gravel between its toes.

Use horse-power whenever possible in handling hay. It costs less and is quicker than hand-power.

Give the stallion plenty of exercise. Many a stallion never has sufficient exercise. It is ruinous to neglect this important matter.

Feed the fattening sheep just heavily enough to keep them improving steadily. Do not attempt to fatten them all at once, and so clog their appetite that they will not eat at all.

Why not fatten lambs for market in four months instead of six? No more food would be consumed this way, and the farmer would get the benefit of better prices in having his lambs marketable earlier than others.

Be careful of the horse's mouth. Men who jerk the reins because they are too mad to be sensible and humane, should have a bit placed in their mouths and have it jerked by some brutal fellow who would enjoy giving pain.

Sawdust makes the cleanest litter for a horse, and it is repellant of insects. Flies will not abound so much in a clean stable bedded with fresh sawdust, and if the sawdust is from pine it will repel fleas, which are often very troublesome to horses.

The germs of hog cholera get into the ground. Some claim that they originate in the ground. At all events they will be found there if hogs with cholera are on the ground. Then, if a man walks on such ground he may carry the germs home to his own hogs on his feet.—Western Rural.
