PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

THE republicans made great gains in the municipal elections throughout Connecticut.

THE republicans of South Carolina will not nominate a state ticket, but candidates will run in each congressional district.

THE following nominations for congress were made: Illinois, Twelfth district, T. S. Donovan (dem.). Wisconsin, Seventh district, Michael Griffin (rep.). Nebraska, Fifth district, W. A. McKeighan (dem.-pop.). Massachusetts, Second district, F. R. Gillette (rep.). New Jersey, Fifth district, Preston Stevenson (dem.).

RETURNS from all except two out of 164 towns that held elections in Connecticut show a republican gain of twenty-three towns.

MRS. MARY SHEEHAN died at the almshouse in Pottsville, Pa., aged 102 years.

AT the state election in Florida B. G. Lyndon (dem.) was elected justice of the supreme court without opposition.

PROF. DAVID SWING, the eminent preacher and theologian, died of cholera at his home in Chicago, aged 64 years.

WILLIAM Y. ATKINSON (dem.) was elected governor of Georgia by a greatly reduced majority, owing to his unpopularity.

CANDIDATES for congress were chosen as follows: Ohio, Tenth district, J. O. Yates (dem.). Michigan, Eleventh district, W. E. Hudson (dem.). Minnesota, Second district, H. S. Kellogg (pro.); Fifth, T. Reinhardt (pro.). Maryland, Fourth district, R. H. Smith (rep.). Arkansas, Third district, W. R. Hull (rep.). North Carolina, Fifth district, W. Merritt (pop.). New Jersey, Third district, B. F. Howell (rep.).

LATER reports from the Georgia election show that the populists made gains in almost every county in the state and that the democratic majority would probably not be more than 15,000, against nearly 70,000 at the last general election.

THE following congressional nominations were made: Illinois, Third district, H. R. Belknap (rep.). Ohio, Eighth district, E. T. Dunn (dem.). New York, Thirty-first district, H. C. Brewster (rep.). Massachusetts, Fifth district, H. A. Little (dem.).

COL. W. L. STRONG, president of the Central national bank, was selected for mayor of New York by the republicans and the committee of seventy.

JUDGE GAYNOR, nominated for judge of the court of appeals of New York by the democrats, has declined to make the race.

FOREIGN.

By the overflowing of rivers in Cuba 200 persons lost their lives, and property was damaged to the extent of $4,000,000.

SHANGHAI dispatches intimate that the emperor of China may be deposed in favor of Prince Kung's son.

ADVICERS from Cuba state that the little town of Dagua was destroyed by fire and 200 lives were lost.

THE Italian government gave to Krupp, of Berlin, an order for the coinage of 10,000,000 nickel lire.

FRANK DUPRE, a commercial traveler from Rochester, N. Y., was sand-bagged and robbed of over $1,200 at Toronto, Ont. He may die.

THE northeast end of Cuba was visited by a terrific hurricane which destroyed or badly damaged all the banana plantations and many houses were blown down.

SEVERAL TOWNS were wrecked along the Russian coast by a hurricane and many lives were lost.

THE Hungarian diet passed a bill granting liberty of worship to all creeds, despite the opposition of the clergy.

LATER.

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES, the famous poet, essayist, philosopher and scientist, died at his residence in Boston of heart failure. Dr. Holmes was born in Cambridge, Mass., August 29, 1809.

FIRE in a frame barn in Chicago resulted in the death of thirty-five horses.

CUSTOMS receipts under the new tariff were not as large as expected and the condition of the treasury was again serious.

SENATOR McPHERSON, of New Jersey, has written a letter declining to again be a candidate for the office.

DAVID BENNETT HILL formally accepted the democratic nomination for governor of New York. Charles F. Brown was nominated by the state committee for judge in place of W. J. Gaynor, who declined to accept.

A TRAIN on the Georgia Southern was wrecked in a cut near Bristol, Tenn., ten passengers being injured and eight coaches burned.

JOHN TERNEY and his wife were found dead at Middletown, N. Y., and were believed to have been murdered.

IT was discovered that prison contract labor has been abolished in Michigan by an error of the legislature.

AT Powers Station, Ky., seven negroes were killed for insisting upon riding in a car with white men.

FOUR young children of John D. Chandler, of Smithsonia, Ala., were cremated. The parents left the house, locking the little ones in, and when they returned the dwelling and all its contents were in ashes.

MISS BEATRICE VANDESSDEN, aged 17, fell from a parachute, 1,600 feet, at Buffalo, N. Y., and was instantly killed.

DISPATCHES from Shanghai state that seventy Japanese war vessels bearing 80,000 soldiers were moving on China.

REPUBLICANS of Massachusetts in state convention at Boston renominated J. T. Greenhalge for governor.

THE third of the seven baseball games of the Temple cup series between the New York and Baltimore clubs was won by New York by a score of 4 to 1.

IN the Rahway (N. J.) road race Thomas Hughes covered the 25-mile course in 1:09:27, a new world's record.

ANDREW G. CURTIN died at his home in Bellefonte, Pa., aged 79 years. He was governor of Pennsylvania from 1860 to 1866, and in 1869 Gen. Grant appointed him minister to Russia. The death of Mr. Curtin leaves but one war governor living, Sprague, of Rhode Island.

Mamma's Boy.
Minister—Ah, Tommy, is that you? I trust you are always a good boy, Tommy.

Tommy—Yeth, thir.
"That's right. I am sure you are always kind to your good mother."

"Yeth, thir. I was helping her yesterday."

"Very glad to hear it, Tommy. What did you do for her yesterday?"

"I helped her with the washing, thir. She said she couldn't get on with the washing if we didn't take our dinner an hour sooner, and I took it as soon as she had it ready."—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

None Out of Business.

A most important branch of business in the human mechanism is that transacted by the kidneys. If your kidneys have gone out of business, look out! Soon they will become diseased, unless they resume the payment of their debt to nature. Use Hostetter's Stomach Bitters at the start and all will be well. Employ it, too, for malarial and dyspeptic troubles, constipation, liver complaint and feebleness.

"I want a position for my son as an editor." "What are his qualifications?" "Filled in everything else."—Atlanta Constitution.

THE LITTLE HOME NEST.

I have crossed the tide
Of the ocean wide,
I have traversed lands afar,
And the place I love best
Is the little home nest,
Where my heart and the dear ones are.

I have seen the grace
Of nature's face
In lake and field and grove;
Yet the spot most fair
With its beauty rare
Is the little home nest I love.

The radiant gleam
Of vale and stream
Have viewed from the mountain's crest,
But there's never a place
On the wide earth's face
As sweet as the little home nest.

I have gazed on the walls
Of stately halls,
The grandest ever seen;
Yet the brightest and best
Is the little home nest,
Where love is my reigning queen.

—Ada S. Sherwood, in Arthur's Magazine.

IN WANT OF A NAME.

An Embarrassing Situation for Mr. and Mrs. Jack.

"Well, that's done!" and Mrs. Jack patted the crisp pillow-shams and gazed complacently around the pretty room—a guest-room that had never yet held a guest—fresh, new and dainty. The breeze stirred the frilled curtains, the late afternoon sun shone on the creamy walls, and the soft light flittered through the young leaves of the chestnut, and faintly tinted with green the lovely "Abend" over the bed.

No wonder Mrs. Jack looked satisfied. No detail for comfort or beauty had been forgotten. She and Jack had been married only a few months; this was the finishing touch to their cozy nest, and any young housewife might have been proud of the result.

Just then Jack rushed in, bearing a letter. He stopped on the threshold.

"Whew! what magnificence! Might a poor worm venture in?"

"Nonsense, Jack! It isn't magnificent at all—only pretty and restful. Come in, bad boy, and tell me what is in that letter."

"You know Cousin Elizabeth?" asked Jack, as he settled himself in a big easy chair and pulled his little wife down beside him.

"Yes, indeed, dear. You remember I saw her the summer we were engaged, and I liked her so much! Such a sweet face and gentle ways! But she seems too old to be your cousin—more like an aunt."

"Father was the youngest of an immense family, and Cousin Elizabeth's mother was the eldest, so there were many years between them; indeed, father and his niece are nearly of an age. You knew she was married?"

"Yes, an old love story, wasn't it—a real romance?"

"Well, Fannie, what do you say to your new room, being christened by this ancient bridal couple on their antique honeymoon?"

"Oh, this isn't their honeymoon! They were married long before we were, and that was ages ago. Besides, they aren't so old, and I am very glad to have some of your people for our first guests. You've been such a perfect dear about this room. What does the letter say?"

He read it:

"DEAR BOY AND HIS DEAR WIFE: I have so longed to see you in your new happiness, and now comes an opportunity. The colonel has come to Boston on business, and I am with him. Would it be convenient for you to have us for a few days? Do not hesitate to say so if it would not. If you really do want us, couldn't Jack meet the colonel at Young's after his business hours, Wednesday, and take him out to your home? I have an engagement that will keep me until evening, but I can find my way to you easily. With dear love to both.

"COUSIN ELIZABETH.

"P. S. I do want you to see my colonel, C. E."

"Wednesday—that's day after tomorrow," said Mrs. Jack. "I shall be so happy to have them! I'll write at once. But she gave no address! Never mind, you can assure the colonel when you meet him how pleased we are. There's the dinner bell."

That night, as Nan was taking hairpins out of her bonny brown locks, she casually remarked to Jack:

"What did you say the colonel's name was? I don't remember it."

Jack looked puzzled. "Why, didn't I tell you? Colonel—colonel—Jingo! I've clean forgotten that name for the moment. No matter. It will come to me in the morning."

But in the morning it was just as far away from his memory as ever.

There was such a downpour going on in the outside world that Nan insisted that Jack, who had a cold, should not go to the city, and Jack, nothing loth, settled himself for a comfortable morning by a bright open fire. Suddenly he threw down his paper.

"Nan," he said in consternation, "how shall I ever find the colonel at Young's hotel? It will never do for me to go around inquiring for 'the colonel who married Cousin Elizabeth!'"

"Jack," cried Nan, "what a fix we are in! What ever can we do? Can't you think of the name? Bend your mind to it."

Jack bent his mind to it, meantime pacing the floor.

"It seems to me as if it were something like 'Walker,' but it isn't that."

"Perhaps it's 'Trott,'" suggested Nan, "or 'Trotter.'"

"No; it's an odder name than that, but what it is I cannot make out."

"Jack, this is awful! We never can let them know we don't remember their name, after that lovely clock they sent us when we were married! My note of thanks went to 'Cousin Elizabeth,' through her mother. I know if I had ever written the name I should remember it. Oh, dear!" and Nan looked so disconsolate that Jack had to stop his deeply perplexed thinking for awhile to cheer her.

"I'll say over all the names I can think of, beginning with 'A,' and so on through the alphabet. You'll be sure to know the name when you hear it," said Nan, after a while. "Adams, Atkinson, Atwell," etc.

But it was all of no avail. By the time Nan had come to "M" Jack's hair was in wild disorder and his tie had been pulled awry. Long before "Z" was reached he was raging up and down the floor like a caged tiger. Nan was almost hysterical.

"O Jack!" she almost sobbed. "You can't find the colonel, and they'll think we didn't want them, and how can we ever explain?"

"Gracious, Nan! It's simply awful! Cousin Elizabeth is such a dear, forgetful soul, she'll never remember she didn't send us any address; but she is very sensitive, and if she gets it into her head that we didn't care about her coming, it will break her heart. Ha! I have it!" and Jack snapped his fingers and executed a jig on the hearth rug.

"What, oh, what?" cried Nan.

"Well, I'll go over to the station and telegraph to Sue for Cousin Elizabeth's married name."

"Oh, Jack, you wise boy! You are the brightest fellow in the whole world, I believe," and Nan beamed and dimpled.

Jack pulled on his mackintosh and plunged into the storm. Half an hour later he returned with a very dismal countenance.

"The wires are down between here and Boston," he announced. "The gale is fearful."

They spent a dismal evening, Jack walking the floor most of the time.

"Jove!" he exclaimed, "the situation is worthy of Howells."

Then the absurdity of their predicament was borne upon him and he roared with laughter. Nan could not see the fun. It was pure tragedy to her hospitable soul. The next morning matters brightened. While they were sitting at breakfast, in the sunshine that had succeeded the storm, the postman brought a letter from Cousin Elizabeth. It contained but a few lines:

"Our plans are changed, dear two, and instead of meeting Jack, the colonel will wait and come out with me on the eight o'clock train. With love, COUSIN ELIZABETH."

"What luck!" shouted Jack.

"But," said Nan, dolefully, "we've got to call them something. I don't see that that matters are mended much."

"Oh! their name will be on their baggage, and Cousin Elizabeth will have to introduce her colonel. That's all right! Now I must be off!" With a kiss Jack was gone.

The day passed pleasantly in preparation, and when, in the evening, the guests arrived, Cousin Elizabeth thought she never saw a prettier home or a more winsome mistress.

Nan, on her part, was proud of her husband when he heartily greeted Cousin Elizabeth's portly husband with: "I am glad to see you, colonel," not betraying, by any hesitation, the dreadful blank that existed in his mind after that military title. For the baggage had revealed no name!

The lady, with sweet graciousness, had said: "You must call me 'Cousin Elizabeth,' dear," and the husband had been introduced simply as "The Colonel."

"Never mind," said Jack. "We'll find out somehow. It's immense, though, having visitors and not knowing their name. But I've thought of a way."

"So have I," said Nan. "We'll see who will find out first."

Soothed by the certainty, she set to work to enjoy her guests; not a hard task, for she already loved Cousin Elizabeth, and no one could help liking the colonel, with his simple, hearty ways and utter devotion to his wife.

The next morning, when Nan saw the postman coming down the street, she remembered that Cousin Elizabeth had said she was expecting a letter to be forwarded, and so she rushed to meet him, eager to read the address. Just as she reached the door she was met by Cousin Elizabeth, who held up a letter.

"Only one, dear, and that for me," and away went the envelope into the little morning fire blazing on the hearth, before Nan had a glimpse of the superscription. Jack grinned.

"Foiled again," he whispered in her ear as he gave his good-by kiss.

Off went Jack into the city, and from there he sent the following telegram to his sister:

"Wire to once Cousin Elizabeth's married name. At once. JACK."

After Nan had given her day's orders, arranged her flowers and settled Cousin Elizabeth on the lounge with a new book she dressed for the street.

"I've a little shopping I must do, Cousin Elizabeth. I know you will excuse me for a while."

"Dear child!" murmured Cousin Elizabeth, as she watched the slender, graceful figure down the street.

A little later Nan came back, radiant, clasping a square package. She hurried up to her room, undid a pretty blank book bound in soft white kid, tied it up with long yellow ribbons and laid it on the little desk in the guest room. Then she went back to her company.

"Dear colonel and Cousin Elizabeth," she said, "we are so happy to have you as our first guests. I knew something was lacking in your room and it just occurred to me it was a guest book. So I went out and got one, and now I want you to write your names on the very first page."

"Bless you, dear!" said Cousin Elizabeth; "what a privilege to be the first of what I hope will be a long and happy list!"

In the middle of the afternoon Jack received an answer to his telegram: "Do not remember name. He was a colonel. Father and mother in Burlington. They would know. SUE."

After lunch while the guests were dozing in the library, Nan stole into the guest-room. There on the fair first page of the new book, were the words: "Cousin Elizabeth," and beneath, in bolder writing: "The Colonel."

"It's the funniest thing I ever heard of," said Jack, after they had confided their disappointments to each other, as they were dressing for dinner.

"Funny!" exclaimed Nan. "It's fearful! It seems as if everything was in conspiracy against us. What would they say if they knew we did not even know their name?"

That evening a neighbor called. Jack muttered over the introductions as incoherently as he could, and the whole group drew up their chairs in a cozy circle. During a lull in the conversation the caller turned to Nan, and said in distinctly audible tones:

"I beg your pardon, but I did not catch the names of your guests."

Nan turned pale—the room reeled. Crash! over went a little table that was standing by Jack's elbow.

"Oh, my pet rose-bowl!" cried Nan. "How could you be so clumsy?" Then, as she and Jack stopped over to pick up the fallen stand, she whispered in his ear: "You darling! I think I should have fainted!"

In the confusion of restoring order the question was forgotten, and the neighbor went home none the wiser for his inquiry.

The guests took their departure the next morning. While they were waiting for the carriage Nan put her arms around Cousin Elizabeth and said, lovingly:

"You must leave us your address, dear. We want to write and hear from you often. You belong to us now, you know."

Cousin Elizabeth kissed the rosy cheek.

"I thought of that, and had this all ready for you." And she pressed a card into Nan's hand.

After the good-bys were said and the carriage rolled away, Nan examined the address, and Jack, looking over her shoulder, shouted with glee. The card said, simply, in the colonel's handwriting:

"325 Vine Avenue, East Adams, Mass."

That night Jack received his letter: "You funny boy! What did you mean by that frantic telegram? I wrote right to mother, and have just received her reply. She says the name is Col. Albion G. Pacer. What did you want to know for in such a hurry?"

"SUE."

"Well, I said it was something like Walker," said Jack. — Youth's Companion.

A Whist Incident.

One of the funniest things I know regarding the game happened to the greatest authority in whist now living. When, as a young man, he first joined a club of repute he was (he says) very modest.

As a spectator he was watching four old gentlemen playing their game, when he saw a card on the floor face downward beside one of them. On the impulse of the moment he said: "You've dropped," then stopped, remembering that no outsider should interfere on any pretense. "I beg your pardon," he added, humbly. "I should not have spoken." "Never mind," said the old gentleman he had addressed, "what is it?" "Well, you have dropped a card, sir," and he picked it up and gave it to him. The old gentleman thanked him urbanely, and began to play; he had four honors, and would have easily won the game, but that unfortunately he held fourteen cards, which vitiated the deal. The card belonged to the other pack, both, as usual at the club in question, being white ones. It was not a good beginning for the future authority on whist. — James Payn, in Cornhill Magazine.

Not Quite Satisfied.

Not long since two gentlemen were traveling on an outside car in Ireland, when one of them remarked that it was a fact that an Irish car-driver is never satisfied. To put it to the test he made a bet and whoever lost should pay the fare. Six shillings would be the right fare but they agreed to give the driver half a sovereign. At the journey's end, therefore, Jarvey received half a sovereign, which made him look satisfied. The gentleman walked away and the acceptor of the bet began to think he was safe. Presently, however, they heard some one running up and turning round saw the car driver, who when he came up, holding the half sovereign in his hand, said: "Faith! an' have ye three coppers on ye? Shure an' yer honors don't think I would break this coin for threepence orth of whisky?" — London Answers.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

State Board of Health Report.

Reports to the state board of health by sixty-eight observers in different parts of the state ended September 29 show that scarlet fever, typhoid fever, and consumption increased, and that cholera infantum and dysentery decreased in area of prevalence. Consumption was reported at 236 places, scarlet fever at forty-one, typhoid fever at sixty-one, diphtheria at thirty-three, measles at two, and smallpox at Detroit and Rives township.

Ownership of Farms.

A census bulletin has been issued giving the ownership and debt of farms and homes in Michigan. It shows that 82.99 per cent. of the farms are owned, and of these 50.65 per cent. are owned free of incumbrance. The debt on farms amounts to $64,414,986, which is 32.38 per cent. of their value. The interest rate is 7.10 per cent. Of the homes $8.49 are owned and 67.75 per cent. of these are owned free of incumbrance.

Must Not Swear.

The state agricultural college at Lansing has decided to expel students hereafter for profanity. The offenders will be tried in a students' court by a jury drawn from the two upper classes. On conviction the penalty will be a certain number of demerit marks, and fifteen such demerit marks will cause dismissal from the college. Offenses of hazing will also be tried and punished in the same way.

Left the Country.

Rev. Charles Clancy, who was treated to tar and feathers recently near Frontier, has given up his log cabin meetings and left that part of the country. He has published a protest against the charges made against him, declaring them false and groundless. He is about 70 years old and seems to be not so black as he was painted.

Grave Charge.

George Tann, a colored man about 20 years of age, was in jail at Lansing on a serious charge, the alleged victim being his 14-year-old sister. The girl gave birth to a child, and upon being questioned charged her brother with the parentage. The child died and the young negro was arrested.

Death of an Educator.

Prof. Joseph Esterbrook, principal of the normal department of Olivet college and one of the most widely known and influential educators in Michigan, died at his home at the age of 72 years. The immediate cause of his death was liver complaint.

Heavy Shipments of Lumber.

Lumber shipments from Bay City for the month of September exceed those for last year in the same period by nearly 10,000,000 feet. The total shipments were: Lumber, 25,800,000 feet; lath, 595,000 pieces; shingles, 600,000 pieces; salt, 5,035 barrels.

Work in the Woods.

Preparations for work in the woods of the northern peninsula are beginning earlier this year than for many years, the widespread forest fires of the summer compelling the companies to cut their pine in order to save it from the borers.

Short But Newsy Items.

Fred Cooper, a state patient at the Michigan asylum, who came from Allegan county, was hit on the head by a falling tree and killed.

Gus Kovig, one of the strikers a Ironwood who resorted to violence and was arrested by the militia, has been sentenced to three years in prison at Marquette.

Rendered despondent by ill health, Albert Kuppenheimer, a tobacco merchant at Grand Rapids, drowned himself.

William Miller, of Detroit, was arrested for starting two fires in the business district, about which he was dancing.

FALLS FROM THE CLOUDS.

Miss Vandecessen Loses Her Hold on a Balloon 1,600 Feet from Earth.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 8.—Miss Vandecessen was killed here Saturday in making a balloon ascension. In preparing to descend she lost her balance and fell to the ground. Great interest was taken in the ascension because Miss Vandecessen was a native of the town. In recent years, however, her home had been in Frankfort, Ky. She had been a professional aeronaut for three years, and in that time had made twenty ascensions. She had just passed her 17th birthday and was pretty and vivacious. The ascension was arranged for Friday, but on account of the rain was put over until Saturday. When the hour arrived the wind was blowing rather strong, and Miss Vandecessen was advised not to make the ascension. Her father and mother, who were present, tried to dissuade her, but she declared she would not disappoint her hundreds of old friends and the balloon was released from its moorings. It went up all right, somewhat more rapidly than usual. At a height of about 1,600 feet the crowd below observed that Miss Vandecessen was preparing to make her parachute jump. She appeared at the side of the basket trying to unfasten the parachute, which was attached to the balloon. In some way she lost her hold and came whirling to the ground. The body struck within the fair grounds and was imbedded nearly a foot in the ground. The girl was dead when the people reached her, and all her bones were broken. Her father and mother were among the first to reach the body, and their demonstrations of grief were terrible. Miss Vandecessen was to have been married next week, and she had agreed with her betrothed, who was present, that this would be her last ascension. She had never met with a mishap before. The accident broke up the fair.

KILLED IN A RACE FIGHT.

Seven Negroes Reported Dead as the Result of a Kentucky Affray.

HAWESVILLE, Ky., Oct. 8.—As the excursion train from the Owensboro fair arrived at Powers station, a few miles west of this city, at 6 o'clock Sunday night a terrible race fight occurred between thirty drunken negroes and a few white men, as a result of which seven negroes are said to have been killed. It seems the negroes became angered because they were forced to ride in the colored apartment and as they neared their home station they made a rush to get into the coach for white people. This frightened the women and timid men, who ran through the train. At this Deputy United States Marshal Moses Bullington, who had his family on the train, met the negroes and attempted to quiet them. The negroes then began shooting as they got off the train. Deputy Bullington and Squire Aldridge, both of this city, and Marshal Jones and Col. John Patterson, of Lewisport, and half a dozen men named Atkins from this county then began firing into the negroes. As the train pulled out the negroes shot all the windows out of one coach and the white men emptied all their guns into the negroes who were bunched on the platform. No one on the train was hurt, but it is thought that at least seven negroes are dead and as many more injured. One white man on the train used his knife, which was covered with blood when he came in. These statements are from the lips of United States Marshal Bullington.

OVER A TRESTLE.

Accident to a Train in Georgia—A Number of Passengers Hurt.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 8.—Passenger train No. 35 of the Atlanta & West Point road, which left Atlanta at 5:25 o'clock Sunday morning, tumbled from the high trestle over Osanappa creek, a few miles beyond West Point, and seven persons were badly injured. A special train with surgeons was sent from here to the scene of the wreck. The track was not cleared until late at night. None of the persons were killed outright, but one or two may die. The injured are:

R. J. Vaughn, conductor on a construction train, who was a passenger on No. 35, badly cut and bruised; W. B. Kennan, Charlotte, N. C., traveling man, cut over left eye and leg hurt; D. Cunningham, New Orleans, hip hurt and right hand injured; unknown white man, who cannot tell who he is, fatally injured.

Several others were more or less hurt. It was reported that Hull Ware, of East Point, who is well known in Atlanta, was dangerously hurt in the wreck. This could not be verified.

JAPS ADVANCE.

Cautious Approach of the Mikado's Army to Moukden.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—A dispatch to the Times from Tien Tsin dated Saturday says that the Japanese are advancing cautiously toward Moukden and avoiding any dashing enterprises. Their cruisers are closely watching the Chinese fleet in the gulf of Pe Chi Li. The Japanese government has instructed Field Marshal Yamaga to inform the diplomats at Seoul that he will not allow the Japanese army to plunder Pekin in case that city is taken. This assurance will probably induce the diplomats to stay in Pekin even should the emperor leave the capital. They will, at any rate, attempt to negotiate a peace by asking Japan to moderate in her demands. The emperor's palace in Pekin is now guarded by Mantchu troops only.

The program will be rich and varied, and ably sustained by representative talent both in and out of the state.

The Rev. C. S. Rullock, of Saline, president of the County Christian Endeavor Union, was set upon by tramps last Thursday night as he was walking down the track from Pittsfield Junction to his home, and escaped only by his pluck and activity. There were three of the ruffians, whose object was undoubtedly robbery. One of them struck him a blow over the head as he was passing them. Mr. Rullock is of small stature, but brave and wiry, and he immediately entered into the spirit of the meeting, with such effect that his antagonist yielded the argument before his companions could come to his assistance, and Mr. Rullock escaped, with some bruises and a bad cut in the mouth.

Is a well-known fact that judicious advertising always pays—especially newspaper advertising. If you put your "ad" in the right paper your business will grow, because people will see that you are alive, and they would rather deal with a live man than a corpse. If you advertise in this paper you will find that it

Kansas has been credited with desiring woman suffrage, but the new ballot law of that state provides that "the lower limbs of the voters, as high as the knees, shall be visible outside of the booth while the voter is preparing his ticket." Unless this clause of the law shall be repealed there will be little hope for woman suffrage without a change of feminine attire.

Department Commander Louis Kanitz, of the Michigan Grand Army, has issued a general order congratulating the Michigan veterans upon the handsome appearance they made in the national parade in Pittsburg. Continuing, the order reads: "The place selected for the next annual national encampment is Louisville, Ky. This will be the first time in the history of the Grand Army of the Republic that the national encampment has ever been held south of Mason and Dixon's line. Comrades, as you went there from '81 to '85 without invitation, and at a time when they did not want to see you, greater will be your pleasure in going at their urgent invitation to invade their homes and partake of their proffered hospitality. Posts should commence making preparations early and be prepared when the time arrives to go with a goodly number."

Barley is not extensively grown in Michigan. New York farmers find it one of their best grain crops. The Maryland experiment station has been testing it. Last fall seven half-acre plots, treated alike in every respect, were sown to wheat and barley, and one plot with spring barley last March. The three half acre plots of wheat averaged 36.7 bushels per acre; the three half-acre plots of winter barley produced 50.5 bushels per acre; the half-acre of spring barley 27.7 bushels per acre. The six rowed barley yielded better than the two rowed. The winter barley was cut June 8, the spring barley July 2, and the wheat June 20. Barley is fully equal to other grains for food and the demand for it by brewers is on the increase. For seeding to clover and timothy it is as good as any other grain crop, and the straw is superior to wheat straw for stock. The plant is said to be harder than wheat, and hence there is less risk from fall seeding. Farmers in this section are sowing more rye this year. Possibly experiments with winter barley would be worth making.

In view of the meritorious services rendered by Gen. CANADA'S enormous debt of $300,000,000 was increased nearly $4,500,000 within the past year, the revenue being $2,000,000 less than the year before while the public expenditures were much greater. This debt the dominion government talks of increasing to the extent of several millions by constructing a great canal from Georgian bay in Lake Huron to Lake Ontario.

GEN. GASPAR SANCHEZ OCHOA is the proprietor of Popocatepetl, the famous "smoking mountain" of Mexico. There has been recently put forward a scheme for the construction of a line of cables to the summit of the mountain, strung with buckets operated by gravity, such as are seen in many of the mining districts in the states. By this means the immense deposits of sulphur may be brought on the market.

CO-OPERATIVE business and manufacturing enterprises have a record of many failures in this country, but in England they appear to have been more uniformly successful. In twenty years ending with 1891 the number of co-operative societies in Great Britain increased from 746 to 1,656, their capital from $12,007,000 to $86,111,170, the annual sales from $47,318,000 to $244,608,485, and the annual profit from $3,331,000 to $23,571,490.

ONE of the interesting projects brought before the Deep Waterway convention, in session recently at Toronto, is the proposed ship canal between that city and Collingwood. The latter town is on Georgian bay, which is a part of Lake Huron. The distance from Toronto to Collingwood is sixty-six miles, and thus a short route would be afforded, cutting off the long detour from Lake Huron to Lake Ontario by way of Lakes Erie and St. Clair.

The Samson islands are the natural habitat of the most diminutive species or variety of the genus bos now known to the naturalist. The average weight of the males of these lilliputian cattle seldom exceeds 200 pounds, the average being not greater than 150 pounds. The females usually average about 100 pounds larger, are very "stocky" built, seldom being taller than a merino sheep. These dwarf cattle are nearly all of the same color—reddish mouse color—marked with white.

The Southern Pacific railway is now running trains between New Orleans and San Francisco on a schedule of forty-five miles an hour. This will admit of the distance being accomplished between the two points in fifty-five hours instead of 116½ hours, as per former schedule. The schedule time between Cincinnati and New Orleans is about twenty-four hours, making it possible for Cincinnatians to reach the Golden Gate in about seventy-nine hours, or three days and seven hours.

The shah of Persia has become an ardent sportsman and established a Persian derby, in which twenty-seven of his majesty's horses recently ran. The owners of the horses which were defeated received nothing, of course, but the owners of the winners were no more successful. It was considered an insult that they should allow their animals to defeat those of the shah. Further than that, the horses were confiscated and placed in the stable of his majesty, who thus has a new source of income.

Employees Have a Legal Right to Quit Work.

The Famous Northern Pacific Injunction Issued by Judge Jenkins Is in Part Overruled by Justice Harlan.

GIST OF THE OPINION.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Judge Jenkins' famous strike injunction has been overruled by the United States circuit court of appeals and the cause was remanded with directions to strike out from the restraining order of the court the clause which aroused the country when the order was issued and which resulted in the Boatner investigating committee of congress.

Their Legal Right.

The intervenors, representing the leading labor organizations of the country, asked that two sections of the injunction be eliminated. The court of appeals decided that no court could compel a man or a body of men from quitting individually or in a body the service of an employer. The court said that Judge Jenkins had exceeded his powers when he enjoined the employees of the receivers of the Northern Pacific Railroad company "from quitting the service of said receivers, with or without notice, so as to cripple the property or prevent or hinder the operation of said railroad."

It, however, held that the section should stand in which the men were prohibited "from combining and conspiring to quit, with or without notice,

DISSOLUTION THREATENED.

Invading Foes and Rebellious Subjects Bode Ill for China.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—China is threatened from within and without. The walled empire, with its 400,000,000 people and its history of thousands of years, seems in the throes of dissolution. The empire is threatened within by intrigues against the present Tartar dynasty, by plots to depose the emperor and place Prince Kung's son on the throne and by rebellions in the provinces. From without comes invading Japan, with an army of 30,000 in the province of Manchuria advancing on the capital, Moukden, and another army of 40,000 being conveyed across the gulf of Pechili to form a junction at Moukden with the other branch, and move on Peking, the capital of the Chinese empire. Japan is bent on conquest and partition and Great Britain and Russia are seeking an international council to decide the fate of China.

LONDON, Oct. 3.—A dispatch received here from Berlin says that it has been learned on high authority that the meeting of the British cabinet was called to discuss a proposal for combined action on the part of the powers to interfere and prevent the overthrow of the Chinese dynasty, which, it is claimed, would result in anarchy in the empire and the massacre of Europeans. One power, it is said, favored a compulsory settlement of the Chinese-Japanese dispute. The dispatch adds that Sir William Vernon Harcourt, chancellor of the exchequer, supported this view of the action to be taken, but Prime Minister Rosebery and a majority of the cabinet believed that active interference would be more

Death at Boston of Oliver Wendell Holmes, the Poet, Philosopher and Humorist—Sketch of His Career.

DR. HOLMES IS DEAD.

BOSTON, Oct. 3.—Oliver Wendell Holmes, the famous poet, essayist, novelist, philosopher and scientist, died at his residence, 296 Beacon street, shortly before 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. He passed peacefully away after an illness of short duration, the immediate cause of death being heart failure, the result of extreme old age. His son, Judge Oliver W. Holmes, Jr., the judge's wife and Dr. Charles P. Putnam, the family physician, were at the bedside. Dr. Holmes' death was not unlooked for, as he had been ailing for about ten days or since he returned from Beverly, where his summer residence is located. The funeral will probably take place Wednesday from King's chapel. It will be private.

Oliver Wendell Holmes was born in Cambridge, Mass., August 29, 1809. His father was the celebrated Yale tutor, Rev. Abiel Holmes. He first enjoyed the common school advantages of New England boys, having as his companions in Cambridge Margaret Fuller, Richard Henry Dana, Jr., and others who attained eminence in letters. Entering Phillips academy, Andover, he prepared himself to enter Harvard college, distinguishing himself by his meritorious rendition of the first book of the Aeneid. In college he was associated with William H. Chandler, James Freeman Clarke and others who afterward became famous. He was graduated in 1832. During his collegiate career he was known for his literary abilities, contributed liberally to the college publications and wrote poems for college events. In 1830, when it was proposed to destroy the old frigate Constitution, Holmes wrote his poem beginning, "Aye, tear her tattered ensign down," which immediately gave him great reputation as a poet.

He studied law in Cambridge and produced a number of humorous poems, which contributed to his celebrity. Being attached to his profession of medicine, he spent several years in Paris, and in 1836 received his degree. In 1839 he was chosen professor of anatomy and physiology at Dartmouth college and the next year married Amelia Lee, daughter of Justice Charles Jackson, of the supreme court of Massachusetts. Relinquishing his professorship at Dartmouth he began the practice of medicine in Boston. In 1847 he succeeded Dr. John C. Warren in the Harvard medical school and became a lyceum lecturer.

His first book of poems was published in Boston in 1836. It contained forty-five pieces, including some of those which established his fame as a humorist and reinforced his reputation as a popular poet. Soon after his accession to the Harvard professorship he published a volume of medical essays, including three which had won for him the Boylston prizes, and his position as a scientific writer was assured. Between 1837 and 1838 he successively added valuable essays and monographs to his scientific productions, and many of them have taken their places as classics in medical literature. The establishment of the Atlantic Monthly in 1857 afforded a medium for the work upon which the literary fame of Dr. Holmes was securely founded—"The Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," conversational papers, including some of the noblest poems and finest wisdom and humor of the author. "The Professor of the Breakfast Table" next appeared, followed in course by "The Poet at the Breakfast Table." In 1861 "Elsie Venner," the first of Dr. Holmes' ventures into the realm of fiction, appeared, and in 1868 "The Guardian Angel."

His works of a biographical nature were the memoirs of John Lothrop Motley and of Ralph Waldo Emerson, published in 1879 and in 1884. Of his poems "The Chambered Nautilus" was his own favorite, and by general consent one of the consummate lyrical poems of the language. Of his satirical poems "The Moral Bully" and of the humorous pieces "The Wonderful One-Hoss Shay" are classics. His fame as a "poet of occasions" is world-wide, and almost every poem produced for a special function has taken rank with his more studied works. In 1859 Dr. Holmes went to Europe to be received with the utmost enthusiasm and hospitality everywhere. His son, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Jr., became a professor in the Harvard law school, a judge on the supreme bench of Massachusetts and a writer on jurisprudence famed on both sides of the Atlantic ocean.

Dr. Holmes' lecture career from 1852 to 1859 was phenomenally successful from an artistic view point. The vast sphere of his personal influence is indicated by the fact that when he resigned in 1859 he had continuously for thirty-five years held his Harvard professorship and exerted his best energies to the training of the young men whom he met in his lecture-room. Dr. Holmes' performance of the difficult duties of this post are matters of history; he was a model teacher, communicating to the students his own zeal for knowledge, and imparting an amount of information as well as a mental discipline which were of the highest value.

FATAL WRECK.

One Killed and Several Injured in a Street Car Smash-Up.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 3.—A shocking street-car accident occurred about midnight Saturday in which George C. Chandler, general agent of the Northern Pacific in this city, was killed and several other passengers injured. The car was returning from the interstate fair grounds and was crowded with passengers. Chandler and other gentlemen were standing on the front platform behind the motorman. As the wheels struck the crossing of North Second street the axle on the front truck broke near the right wheel. The car left the track, plunged along at an acute angle to the right of the rails for a rod and then fell on its left side. Mr. Chandler, who was then on the steps, fell underneath the car. The heavy wood and iron work struck his face, killing him instantly and crushing his head to a shapeless mass. James F. O'Brien, another passenger, was forced down by the struggling mass of passengers. The iron roof of the car fell upon his right leg, pinning him to the ground. The others were injured either by falling from the platform or by being thrown violently against the breaking glass of the windows.

HILL ACCEPTS.

The New York Senator Decides to Make the Race for Governor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Charles F. Brown, of Newburg, was on Saturday nominated for judge of the court of appeals by the democratic state committee in place of William J. Gaynor, who declined to accept. Following the nomination Lockwood were formally notified of all the members of the nominating committee of the state committee and many distinguished democrats were present. Maj. Hinckley, chairman of the state committee, introduced Bourke Cockran, who made an appropriate speech to the two candidates. The most telling point in Senator Hill's reply was that, while the nomination came to him unsought and undesired, he could not, at this time, refuse his acceptance of it from the party which had always honored him in the days of his sunshine and prosperity. He said:

"I shall confidently appeal to the plain people of the state, who have always sustained me in the past when I have espoused their cause. I shall present to them the issue of the democracy versus plutocracy, the issue of no public taxation except for public purposes; the issue of opposition to the centralization of all powers in the general government; the issue of personal liberty as against religious intolerance; the issue of good government, liberal and just laws, economy in public expenditures, the promotion of the dignity of labor and protection for its rights, municipal home rule and the uprooting of corruption and the correction of abuses everywhere whether in republican or democratic localities."

Mr. Lockwood also accepted the nomination for lieutenant governor, and intimated that the administration would not withhold its support of the ticket.

ANDREW J. CURTIN.

The Career of Pennsylvania's Famous War Governor Ends.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Oct. 3.—Ex-Gov. Curtin's illness was terminated by death at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. His death had been expected for several days. This removes another of the famous war governors of 1861-5.

Andrew Gregg Curtin was born in Bellefonte, Centre county, Pa., April 22, 1815. He studied law in Dickinson college law school and was admitted to the bar in 1839. He early entered politics as a whig, laboring for Harrison's election in 1840, and making a successful canvass of the state for Clay in 1844. He was a presidential elector in 1844 and a candidate for elector on the whig ticket in 1852. In 1854 Gov. Pollock appointed him secretary of the commonwealth and ex-officio superintendent of the common schools. In 1856 he was the republican candidate for governor and was elected by a majority of 32,000. In his inaugural address he advocated the forcible suppression of secession, and throughout the contest that followed he was one of the "war governors" who were most earnest in their support of the national government. Gov. Curtin's health began to fail in 1862 and he signified his intention of accepting a foreign mission that had been offered him as soon as his term should expire, but in the meantime he had been renominated and reelected by 15,000 majority. In November, 1863, he went to Cuba for his health, and in that year declined another offer of a foreign mission. In 1869 Gen. Grant appointed him minister to Russia and in 1868 and 1872 he was prominently mentioned as a candidate for vice president. He returned home in August, 1872, supported Horace Greeley for the presidency, and subsequently joined the democratic party, by which he was elected to congress for three successive terms, serving from 1881 till 1887.

A TRAIN BURNED.

Several Persons Injured in a Disaster in Tennessee.

BRISTOL, Tenn., Oct. 3.—A few minutes after 1 o'clock p. m. Sunday train No. 5 from New York on the Southern railway jumped the track about 3 miles south of this place. The engine fell across the track and the express and mail cars jumped over it, and, falling on their sides, were soon a prey to the flames which consumed all of the train—eight coaches with the exception of the last Pullman, which was cut loose and backed from the train. A train with physicians from Bristol arrived within an hour after the wreck and immediately set to work to relieve the injured, who are:

Samuel Smith, engineer, leg broken, scalded, buried under the wrecked train, taken out with difficulty, will probably die; Will Holmes, fireman, head cut badly and scalded; W. W. Rogers, express messenger, arm broken and head injured; A. J. Tucker, postal clerk, ankle broken, cut in the head and back; C. S. Markwood, of Bristol, postal clerk, badly hurt in the arms, legs, back and head; W. H. Simpson, of Mossy Creek, baggage-master, arm broken and internal injuries; Thomas McDermott, Michael Coleman and John Coleman, emigrants from Ireland, received severe injuries on the head, thigh, chest, legs and arms; foreigner, name unknown, badly hurt in chest and legs, very serious; R. J. McKeogh, Sol Gantz, R. L. Neer and J. F. Strahler were slightly injured. Everybody was badly shaken up, and it is a miracle that many deaths did not result. Capt. Bell, the conductor, escaped with slight bruises. The accident happened in a cut between two high embankments, and was the result of a bolt having been placed on the rail by some unknown person.

Funeral of Prof. Swig.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—Funeral services over the remains of Prof. David Swig were held at Central Music hall Sunday afternoon. The hall, which for so many years was the scene of the celebrated divine's labors, was crowded with friends of the dead man and members of his church. Admission was by card and many hundreds were turned away. Rev. B. W. Thomas and Rev. T. C. Hall conducted the introductory services. Dr. John H. Barrows, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, preached the funeral sermon, which was a pronounced eulogy on the dead man's life and work. The interment was at Roseland.

REV. WILLIAM G. CLARKE, THE SCOURGE OF CHICAGO GAMBLERS.

On Mr. Clarke, as chairman of the committee on gambling of the Civic Federation, has fallen the brunt of the battle being waged against gambling in Chicago. Mr. Clarke was born at Adrian, Mich., in 1861. His parents removed soon afterward to the City of New York, and then boy of 14 he united with the congregation of Rev. Albert Kittredge, D. D., now of New York. He finished his college and seminary studies in 1883, and after holding the pastorate of a Waukegan and afterward of a Riverside Presbyterian church, he in 1888, received a call from the Campbell Park (Chicago) Presbyterian church, of which congregation he is still the pastor. Perhaps, says a Chicago paper, no better equipped man could be found as a leader in this new crusade against the vice of gambling.

the service of said receivers, with the object and intent of crippling the property in their custody, or embarrassing the operation of said railroad."

An Important Decision.

The decision was considered by the lawyers who packed the courtroom as one of the most important opinions delivered in the United States in a decade. It defines the status before the law of labor organizations in their conduct of strikes, and affirms the powers of courts of equity to interfere by injunction when there is reason to believe that the law will be violated. It holds that the men may withdraw in a body from the service of an employer, using, however, neither force, threats, persecution nor intimidation toward employees who do not join them, nor must they use any "device" to molest, hinder, alarm, or interfere with others who desire to take their places.

Summer Hotel Burned.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Oct. 3.—The Mirror Lake house at Lake Placid was totally destroyed by fire Sunday night. A strong wind was blowing and all efforts to save anything proved unavailing. The house had closed its doors a few days ago, after the most successful season in its history. The loss is upward of $150,000 and is only partly covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Dr. Botta, the Author, Dead.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Dr. Vincenzo Botta, author and scholar, who fell from the third-story window of his home, Tuesday morning, died as the result of injuries and shock from the fall. He was once president of the Union League club.

Victim of Heart Disease.

CHICAGO, Oct. 3.—A coroner's jury found the death of Miss Belle White, who expired in a complexion specialist's office, was caused by heart disease.

dangerous than non-intervention, and it was decided that Great Britain should not interfere.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Secretary Herbert has been forehanded in taking steps for the protection of the lives and property of American residents in China, believed now to be endangered by rebellious and unrestrained troops. Three weeks ago the secretary suggested to Admiral Carpenter to confer with the commanders of the foreign ships in Chinese waters and arrange to cooperate with them, if possible, in a plan to have one or two ships at each of the treaty ports and other coast towns where foreigners reside, to give protection to the citizens or subjects of the nation's party to the agreement. In this way the eight United States vessels assigned to the station would be equivalent to many more for protection purposes. The Charleston has arrived at Yokohama. There are now five United States warships in the east—the Charleston, Baltimore, Monocacy, Concord and Petrel—and this force will be increased to eight vessels by the addition of the Detroit, Machias and Yorktown as soon as they can be made ready.

Burglars Rob an Iowa Bank.

BROOKLYN, Ia., Oct. 3.—The First national bank was robbed Thursday night. Tools were taken from a neighboring blacksmith shop and left behind. Vault doors were drilled and blown open, but the time-lock safe, containing $8,000 or $10,000, baffled the efforts of the burglars to open. Two strangers who have been about town for several days are supposed to be the guilty parties, and are thought to be the thieves who operated at Victor last Monday night.

Cholera at Constantinople.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The department of state has received a brief cablegram from Consul General Luther Short at Constantinople announcing the appearance of cholera at that place.

HOW STOUT GOT STOUT.

The Remarkable Experience of a Rheumatic Sufferer.

All But Paralyzed—Lost His Flesh and Expected to Die—How He Got Well and Strong.

(From the Mt. Sterling (Ill.) Republican.)

Few men are held in higher esteem by their fellow-townpeople than James W. Stout, of Riply, Ill., and it is due, no doubt, partly to this popularity that the record of the case has created such widespread interest. While his experience is not without an equal, yet it has been sufficiently remarkable to demand the attention of thousands of people in Illinois, among whom are numbered some of the most eminent physicians.

In January, 1893, Mr. Stout was stricken with what was then believed to be sciatic rheumatism, and in a short time was barely able to hobble around on crutches, and it seemed to his friends that his days were numbered. To-day he is a strong, hearty-looking man for 160 pounds.

How this wonderful change was brought about is most interesting as told to a representative of the Republican by Mr. Stout himself:

"I was afflicted with sciatic rheumatism and lumbago in January, 1893. The sciatic nerve on the right side became affected in the hip, running down to the ankle and across the small of the back to the left side, and soon my whole system became afflicted, causing me the most excruciating pain. In a very short time I became totally unable to attend to any business whatever, and the disease rapidly growing worse I had to take to my bed, where I lay suffering almost continuously for months the most agonizing torture, scarcely being able to move or be moved. At one time I lay for six weeks flat on my back, the slightest movement causing me such pain as almost to throw me into convulsions. I cannot begin to express to you the intense pain I suffered. I was drawn, by the severance of the malady, over to the left side; lost my appetite, had no desire for food, and what little I did eat I could not digest, the digestive organs failing to perform their duty, adding greatly to my already precarious condition. For weeks at a time I was unable to eat or sleep, suffering all the time most intensely and at times fearing I would lose my reason, and would have welcomed death to relieve me of my sufferings."

"I consulted with local physicians and some of the most eminent specialists of the larger cities throughout the country, some treating me for one thing and some for another, but without effect, and I received no relief whatever. One physician told me I had double curvature of the spine and would eventually become paralyzed. I spent hundreds of dollars in the short time I was afflicted without receiving the least benefit.

My friends all thought that there was no hope for me whatever and said that I must die, and I, myself, had almost given up in despair, when, in September, 1893, about eight months after I was first afflicted, my attention was called to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. Without much hope, I at once sent to C. F. Ricker & Co., Druggists, Mt. Sterling, Ill., and procured some of the pills and immediately began taking them. Before long I became aware of a great change for the better in my almost hopeless condition. My appetite came back and my digestive organs performed their usual functions properly. I took some more and grew rapidly better—could sit up in a chair and my body began to straighten out; continued the treatment and in a short time was able to be about on crutches. My recovery from that time on was very rapid and assured. My right leg, which before I commenced this treatment, was numb and dead, now experienced a pricking, tingling sensation. I was enabled to throw away my crutches and walk upright once more among my fellows, a better man physically than ever before. When first taken by the disease I weighed 160 pounds, was reduced to 115; I now weigh 166, more than I ever weighed at any time in my life. Yes, sir, I lay my recovery entirely to Pink Pills."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effects of a gripe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexions and all forms of weakness either in male or female. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post-paid on receipt of price, 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 (they are never sold in bulk or by the 100), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

To Make Unfermented Wine.

Take perfectly ripe native grapes, pick from stems, discard all imperfect berries. Mash slightly (not mash seed), press out the juice by any of the known methods and separate the juice from the pulps by straining through coarse cloths, or otherwise. Then add 1 1/2 pounds white sugar to each gallon of must or juice. Boil in a copper or brass kettle for 40 minutes, then remove from fire and filter again so as to remove all sediment. Filtering paper kept by druggists is best to filter through. The filtering is slow but perfect. After filtering and when juice is cool, put in strong bottles, cork and wire similar to pop soda. A cool cellar where the temperature is regular and does not freeze in winter is the best place to keep wines.—Farm and Home.

Wanted to Be Like Mamma.

"We are going to have Mabel very highly educated," said a clever matron recently. "I don't want to be highly educated," came in the unexpected voice of Mabel, a little tot of five, from another room. "I want to be just like you."—Tid-Bits.

One Compensation.

"Those poor Arctic explorers have had some dreadful experiences," said the sympathetic woman. "I know it," replied young Mrs. Yorkins. "But they have had their pictures taken in some perfectly lovely furs."—Washington Star.

The Lady of the House—"Why don't you go to work! Don't you know that a rolling stone gathers no moss?" Browning, the Tramp—"Madam, not to evade your question at all, but merely to obtain information, may I ask of what practical utility moss is to a man in my condition?"—Tid-Bits.

IS NO MORE.

Death Comes to Prof. Swing, Chicago's Eloquent Divine.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—Prof. David Swing, the eminent theologian and preacher, passed away Wednesday afternoon at 5:05 o'clock. His death was painless, and those who stood at his bedside watching and waiting hardly knew whether it was sleep or death until the physician looked up with the story in his face.

Prof. Swing was taken sick at 9 o'clock a week ago last Saturday. While walking out during the morning he suffered with a sudden chill, which was quickly succeeded by perspiration. A few hours later jaundice made its appearance, but owing to the fact that Prof. Swing was subject to similar attacks little attention was paid to it. On Monday afternoon, however, he was taken with another chill and grew suddenly worse. Dr. Davis was immediately called. After being treated the patient seemed to grow much better, but on Monday there was a relapse, and Dr. Isham and Dr. Fenger were called in to hold a consultation. In spite of all they could do, however, Prof. Swing grew steadily worse until Wednesday night. He was unconscious most of the time during the last three days of his illness, and his death was without pain.

PROF. SWING.

What the future of the Central church will be is unknown, but some of its members do not hesitate to say it will probably be disbanded. It has always been founded entirely on Prof. Swing's personality. It had no motive but to keep him in the pulpit and to preserve his preaching and influence to the city and to the world while he lived. With his removal, it is thought by some members of the congregation, there will be no object in continuing such an independent movement.

MOONSHINERS CAPTURED.

Government Officers Break Up Illicit Traffic in Kentucky.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 4.—United States Marshal Greer, aided by a score of deputies, has arrived here in charge of a band of moonshiners captured in the Big Sandy valley. The present work of extermination of stills and the illicit traffic of the upper Big Sandy valley began about six months ago, but the arrests began three months later. The intervening time was spent by Greer and his detectives in the location of the stills and the identification of their operators.

In the past six months Greer and his deputies have destroyed thirty-seven separate stills and thousands of gallons of their product, commonly designated "moonshine." They have arrested about 125 offenders and spotted numerous others who will be taken as soon as the opportunity offers. In the capture of the various gangs some thrilling work has been done and some narrow escapes experienced. Seven of Greer's officers are now laid up for repairs at different towns in Floyd and Johnson counties, while about twenty of the moonshiners are also regaining their strength in various up-Sandy jails. These latter will follow their more fortunate fellows to Louisville and to the penitentiary as soon as their condition will admit of the change of quarters.

In the gang brought here were 106 offenders. Their ages ranged from 15 to 50, and in the degree of their crime there was an equal variance. Some of the men had grown old and gray in the business, some had followed it but a short while, others had retailed the spirits for the makers, and others had boldly labeled it sorghum and brought it out by the barrel in push boats. The boys were usually the sons of the old operators, who were forced into the work from childhood and literally knew nothing else. Several women were also among the lot.

STOLE A BIG SUM.

Safe Blowers Rife O. W. Shryer's Bank at Bloomfield, Ind.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 6.—Professional safe blowers robbed O. W. Shryer's bank at Bloomfield, Ind., of $5,500 Wednesday night. The local police department was notified of the job and given a description of the burglars.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 6.—A bloody fight took place Thursday evening in Greene county between a posse of 100 armed men and a trio of bank robbers who robbed the safe of the Bloomfield bank Wednesday night, blowing the vault to smithereens with a heavy charge of dynamite and wrecking the bank office. The men secured $5,500 in cash and fled to the hill country west of Bloomfield, where they were overtaken Thursday evening by Sheriff Johnson's posse, guided by bloodhounds. A desperate fight was kept up, with the robbers retreating. One of the trio was so badly wounded he fell behind and attempted to hide in the brush. The bloodhounds nosed him out and his capture was easily effected.

Do You Wish the Finest Bread and Cake?

It is conceded that the Royal Baking Powder is the purest and strongest of all the baking powders.

The purest baking powder makes the finest, sweetest, most delicious food.

The strongest baking powder makes the lightest food.

That baking powder which is both purest and strongest makes the most digestible and wholesome food.

Why should not every housekeeper avail herself of the baking powder which will give her the best food with the least trouble?

Dr. Haines, of Rush Medical College, Consulting Chemist of the Chicago Board of Health, says: "Royal is not only the purest, but the strongest baking powder with which I am acquainted."

A MATTER of Doubt.—"Maria," he said thoughtfully. "I want to ask you something. 'What is it?' 'Do you think that you'll ever have a vote?' 'No, assuredly.' 'If you get one, and I run for office, will you cast it for me?' She was thoughtful for some time; then she said: 'Hiram, I can't say yet. Not till our debating society has passed on the question whether a woman's first duty is to her friseur or to her country.'—Washington Star.

KENNEDY'S MEDICAL DISCOVERY.

DONALD KENNEDY, of ROXBURY, MASS., Has discovered in one of our common pasture weeds a remedy that cures every kind of Humor, from the worst Scrofula down to a common Pimple. He has tried it in over eleven hundred cases, and never failed except in two cases (both thunder humor). He has now in his possession over two hundred certificates of its value, all within twenty miles of Boston. Send postal card for book. A benefit is always experienced from the first bottle, and a perfect cure is warranted when the right quantity is taken. When the lungs are affected it causes shooting pains, like needles passing through them; the same with the Liver or Bowels. This is caused by the ducts being stopped, and always disappears in a week after taking it. Read the label. If the stomach is foul or bilious it will cause squeamish feelings at first. No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it. Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bedtime. Sold by all Druggists.

BUDS, Society buds, young women just entering the doors of society or womanhood, require the wisest care. To be beautiful and charming they must have perfect health, with all it implies—a clear skin, rosy cheeks, bright eyes and good spirits. At this period the young woman is especially sensitive, and many nervous troubles, which continue through life, have their origin at this time. If there be pain, headache, backache, and nervous disturbances, or the general health not good, the judicious use of medicine should be employed. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best restorative tonic and nerve line at this time. The best bodily condition results from its use. It's a remedy specially indicated for those delicate weaknesses and derangements that afflict woman-kind at one period or another. You'll find that the woman who has faithfully used the "Prescription" is the picture of health, she looks well and she feels well. In catarrhal inflammation, in chronic displacements common to women, where there are symptoms of backache, dizziness or fainting, bearing down sensations, disordered stomach, moodiness, fatigue, etc., the trouble is surely dispelled and the sufferer brought back to health and good spirits.

"WOMAN'S ILLS."

Mrs. W. R. BATES of Delworth, Trumbull Co., Ohio, writes: "A few years ago I took Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which has been a great benefit to me. I am in excellent health now. I hope that every woman who is troubled with women's ills, will try the 'Prescription' and be benefited as I have been."

MRS. BATES.

Odds and Ends.

It is a pretty good man that can boast of as much trustworthiness as is to be found in the wag of a dog's tail.

An Astor scandal, a Vanderbilt scandal, a McAllister scandal all on the boards at one and the same time is rather crowding the mourners.

There is a woman in Novi over 107 years of age. Editors never live that long. The wear and tear of hunting up delinquents has a tendency to cut them off before their time.

Delaware's ancient law requiring a bridegroom to give the State an indemnity bond never causes any serious trouble, and if the penalty was ever enforced it must have been a long while ago. The man going on the bridegroom's bond engages that the children that may come of the prospective union shall not become a charge upon the State.

A watchmaker named Rhodes, formerly of Boston, has invented a clock which will run over a year at a single winding. The secret lies in the construction and adjustment of the escapement. The pendulum is of equal lengths above and below its axis and has its ends weighted, by means of which it is regulated. Mr. Rhodes says his idea is so capable of development that an eight-year clock is a possibility.

Detroit Journal. Mrs. Otis Richmond saw her 6 years old boy fall in a cistern at Munith. There were eight feet of water in it, and the water a long ways down. Then she is a very large and fleshy woman, and the cistern hole was very small, but she jumped up in the air, and coming down Steve Brodie style, shot into the cistern. In a moment she had the boy in her arms, and was soon after rescued. She was considerably bruised.

The unfortunate man who committed suicide to get rid of the torture of a carbuncle must have been employing the ancient method for curing that affliction—namely, poulticing and coddling it in order to keep the scourage alive as long as possible. Had he known the scientific method, instead of the grandmother's—namely, touching it with a tiny drop of carbolic acid—he might have been rid of the pest in a day and survived to render his life useful to others, if not tolerable to himself.

Jackson Citizen: Jacob Realy, the well known farmer, of Waterloo, has resided on the farm in which he now lives since the day of his birth, 50 years ago Sept. 7. The farm, 270 acres, was taken up from the government by Mr. Realy's father and has remained in the family ever since. Mr. Realy has just completed one of the finest farm residences in the county and he is now building a barn 116x32 feet, which will contain all the latest labor saving devices. The basement is paved with cement. Mr. Realy will also build a stone smoke house. This farm is well stocked with all things necessary for successful training.

An exchange says a photographer at Barr'l' Alsace, Scotland, who seems to have been troubled with unprofitable sitters, has invented a new sort of pillory, in which he places all the defaulters who have failed to pay for their portraits. He exhibits a large frame outside his house containing the photographic effigies of his debtors. Every defaulter's likeness is put into this frame with his or her head hung downwards, and each bears the inscription, "Not yet paid for." Not until they have paid every farthing due will the creditor consent to release the sinners from this pillory in effigy.

Bob Ingersoll says he has the right to kill himself if he wants to. Like most of his theories, this is not new. However, his friends need not feel worried. Those who philosophize on the subject rarely take the plunge. The Colonel will, undoubtedly, go on enjoying the cakes and ale of this vale of tears, varying his law practice with efforts to convince the world that Moses was not as great a man as he has been reported. We venture to say that even in very hot weather, when the orator wishes he had acquired the habit of flesh-reducing methods, he feels in his inmost heart that it is not so bad a world after all. Like the rest of us, it is the best that the Colonel knows.

Numbered with foreign investigations reported in The Experiment Station Record is that of splitting cabbage stems to arrest the growth of cabbage heads nearly mature, and thereby preventing their cracking. This is performed by cutting the cabbage stem half or two-thirds across with a sharp pruning knife, and then extending the cut either up or down for a short distance. If the cabbage does not bend over by its own weight, and thus widen the split, a splinter of wood should be inserted to keep the cut surfaces apart. By this means the further growth of the heads is arrested, and yet sufficient sap reaches them to keep them fresh until wanted for use, according to the report quoted.

What Month Were You Born In?

The man born in January will be a hard worker; a lover of good wine; a fine singer; a manager of great enterprises. The woman born in this month will be affable; will have domestic tastes and will be capable of great endurance.

The man born in February will love money much, but women more. He will be stingy at home but prodigal abroad. The woman will be an affectionate wife and a good mother.

The man born in March will be handsome, honest and prudent; yet he will die poor. The woman will be tall and stout and witty.

The man born in April will not necessarily be a fool, even if his birthday is the next day after the 31st of March. The woman will be a chatterbox and will have "advanced" ideas. She will be a leading member of the "sbricking sisterhood."

The man born in May will be amiable and will make his wife happy. The woman will equal him in amiability and the other above named desirable quality.

The man born in June will be of small stature and very fond of women and children. The woman will be flighty and a high liver, but will repent and sob r down at 40.

The man born in July will be of military tastes, a trifle pompous but a good fellow withal. The woman will have a sulky temper; she will pout and be handsome.

The man born in August will be ambitious and courageous. The woman will be what New Englanders call "capabe"; she will be equal to running a farm or editing a newspaper.

The man born in September will be strong and wise; he will make few mistakes and live and die rich. The woman will be loved by her friends, have many suitors and die an old maid.

The man born in October will write poetry when young, then he will dabble in politics and wind up as a reformer. The woman will be pretty and late in life an apostle of total abstinence.

The man born in November will have a fine face, great address and, if not careful, he will be "a gay Lothario." The woman will be large, liberal-minded and fond of novelty and novels.

The man born in December will have a passionate temper, yet will be the first to forgive. The woman will be a "lady bountiful" to the "deserving poor," but a terror to tramps and the willfully "unemployed."

Some Stock Notes.

A mess of partially eaten food left in his trough is distasteful even to a hog, and makes him eat less in quantity and with less relish than he otherwise would.

One of the principal advantages in keeping a variety of stock on the farm, is that a large number can be kept in proportion to the pasturage and the amount of food.

A steady, every day growth will, in nearly all cases, cost less per pound than cramming or high feeding, but this should never be made an excuse for stinting the ration.

The small farmer needs the benefits to be derived from the keeping of good stock fully as much as the larger farmer, and at present prices there is no reason why he should not secure them.

Lack of care has more to do with the wearing out of farm horses than has hard work. The race horse is good at twenty years, often, because he has the best care intelligence and self interest can give.

In breeding it is not sufficient that the individual possesses good qualities, but his ancestors must have them, and the greater number of generations back, the greater the power to transmit to its offspring.

For healthy pigs in summer, grass and clover, as much as they can eat, with plenty of sweet milk can be given with profit. If the milk can be thickened with middlins, or with bran and oil meal, all the better.

The younger animals are the ones from which you expect your future income and profit. The foundation for their future growth and development is in the present care. If you leave them to shift for themselves they will bring only disappointment.

To those people in middle life whose stomachs have grown somewhat bulky the Journal of Hygiene reads a useful lesson. Instead of advising them to deluge the stomach with all sorts of nostrums recommended to cure indigestion. It urges them to give that faithful but overworked organ a rest. Leave off the various nostrums, change an elaborate dish to one that is as simple as a little oatmeal gruel or a graham gem, and take plenty of outdoor exercise for the stomach's sake. Who, if suffering from a wounded finger, would hope to heal it by pouring over it, all sorts of decoctions of which some form of alcohol was the prominent ingredient.

Farmers as Presidents.

In those halcyon days of agriculture 10 presidents of the United States were called from farms.

1. Washington, the land surveyor, and farmer, from Mount Vernon.

2. John Adams, of Quincy, who, during the last year of his presidency, said: "I am weary, worn and disgusted to death. I had rather chop wood, dig ditches and make fences upon my poor little farm. Alas! poor farm and poorer family, what have you lost that your country might be free!"

3. Jefferson, farmer, philosopher and statesman, from Monticello.

4. Madison, farmer and lawyer, of Montpelier, Va.

5. Monroe, farmer, from Oak Hill, Va.

6. John Quincy Adams, from the Quincy farm of 100 acres, near Boston. (It is said that most of the trees were raised by John Quincy Adams from the seeds which he was in the habit of picking up in his wanderings. The most peculiar interest attaches to a shellbark hickory which he planted more than 50 years previous to his death. In this tree he took a peculiar satisfaction, but he was an enthusiast in regard to all trees of the forest, differing in this respect from his father, who was an agriculturist of the Cato stamp—was more inclined to lay an axe to them than to propagate them.)

7. Andrew Jackson, of the "Hermitage," in Tennessee, who, as a farmer, soldier and lawyer, was a most excellent type of the best Americanism.

8. Van Auren, of Kinderhook, N. Y., was called to the presidency from his sheep and wool farm, although he was a lawyer of far above average acquirements and ability.

9. William Henry Harrison, from his farm at North Bend, O.

10. Tyler, of Sherwood Forest farm, Virginia, where he subsequently died.

11. James K. Polk, of Duck River, Tenn., also came from the farm to the presidency.

This selection of presidents from rural homes—illustrates the fact that in those days there was no profession or calling which held a more exalted position in public estimation than that of agriculture—Secretary J. Sterling Morton, in the Forum.

Ram's Horn Blasts.

Faith in Christ changes the coffin into a chariot.

Every reform that comes and stays begins in the heart.

Never be afraid of the devil when you know you are on the Lord's side.

Nothing can strengthen our hearts like knowing that we are right with God.

In everything that it is right for us to do we can count upon Christ for help.

The windows of heaven can be seen from earth by looking through a Bible promise.

It took the life and death of Christ to make the truth known on earth that God is love.

The man who sets a bad example is working for the devil, whether he knows it or not.

The man who works for the good of others is taking God's way to gain strength for himself.

The Evening News.

"The Great Daily of Michigan."

$50,000,000.00 at least is spent for living expenses every year by subscribers of The Detroit Evening News. The shrewd advertiser knows this, and by using the advertising columns of The News secures his share of this enormous sum. 60,000 subscribers probably means 200,000 readers, and instead of the sum above, we should have said $200,000,000.00.
