Let Us Have Arc Lights.

Opinions differ sometimes, but in this case it seems to be the opinion of the majority of our inhabitants that the most prominent streets of our village should be lit by arc lamps instead of the incandescent now in use. And why not? There are a number of towns in the state, not so large as Chelsea, that are using the arc lamps, and we don't care to take a back seat.

In no way is the progress of a village evinced so forcibly to the mind of a practical business man, as in the matter of new buildings, improvements and introduction of new industries. New buildings have been erected in every part of the village the past summer, and a number are now in the course of erection. Every thing is in a prosperous condition, and the growth and prosperity of our village must certainly become more rapid. Our citizens are liberal and enterprising, and should act unitedly in anything that will advance the village's interest, and enhance the value of property.

This special push and enterprise of men is what makes advancement greatest now-a-days, and we hope that the village board may see their way clear to give us arc lamps on the streets in the near future, as we think this is a step in the right direction.

The Farm Home Reading Circle of the Michigan Agricultural College.

The Michigan Agricultural College has taken another step forward by inaugurating a college extension course of reading. This plan aims to furnish a systematic course of reading on subjects relating directly to agriculture and kindred subjects. While the course as planned recommends a progressive line of work, discussing first the underlying principles of agriculture, and later taking up special departments, yet it is largely elective and so flexible that a person interested in any branch of farming may select books pertaining only to his chosen line. For example, the class devoted to live stock aims to give a general knowledge of feeding, breeding and handling of horses, cattle sheep and swine, and includes also a book on dairying. If, for any reason, the reader does not desire to take all the work in the class devoted to live stock and is especially interested in dairying, he may select only that portion relating to dairy work, and receive proper credit.

The course comprises five classes, Soils and Crops, Live Stock, Garden and Orchard, Home Making and Political Science. Certificates are given on the completion of the work outlined in each book and class, and on the completion of three classes the reader is presented with appropriate diploma. The examinations are all optional, and any person may read in the course without sending in reports or taking examinations of any kind.

This course was but recently established yet it has readers all over the United States and Canada, and the great interest manifested by all those who are now enjoying its opportunities is a good indication of its value. Its popularity arises from the fact that it is prepared for busy men; it is short, practical and instructive; it offers a scheme of advisory correspondence with the college authorities which makes it possible to become intimately acquainted with the work of the experiment stations.

Send a postal card to the Secretary for full information regarding this course.

A PARABLE.

Summer is gone, the butterflies are dead; The little birds fly southward, one by one; No longer elm and maple widely spread Their boughs of emerald 'neath the shining sun; The roses, too, are dead—woe and alas! "So sweet a season and so soon to pass!"

Yet look again, sweet maid, and sigh no more; With red and gold the bowers of autumn shine; Russet and crimson deck the treetops still And gayly paint the tendrils of the vine; The wee, brown sparrows twitter, chirp and fly, And glorious sunsets light the western sky.

All is not over, because summer's fled; 'Tis but a little while, ere back again Will come the blithesome robin and the wren And herald the sweet queen with all her train; Far sweeter blossoms yet shall climb and creep, Where the dead roses lie in dreamless sleep. —Helen Percy, in Good Housekeeping.

NEATLY PLANNED.

I had just reached my office after lunch one miserably wet day last November, when a visitor was announced. "Mr. Engstrom" was inscribed on the card—a name quite unknown to me.

"Mr. De Warre?" said my visitor, a shrewd looking, well groomed man, who apparently had not yet touched forty.

"That is my name," I answered. "Please take a seat and tell me what I can do for you."

"I am in great trouble," said Mr. Engstrom. "We had burglars at our house at Lyndhurst, in the New Forest, the night before last. They broke in while we were at dinner and several thousand pounds' worth of jewels are gone from my wife's bedroom. But what distresses us is that a valuable heirloom, a pearl necklace of great value, that has been in our family for two hundred years, is among the plunder. The other jewelry we could bear to lose, but not this. To tell you the truth," he added, with a smile, "I must own to being a little superstitious, and there is a legend in our family that this necklace was a gift to an ancestress of mine by Charles II., and whoever shall lose it his days shall be very short and full of evil. It is said it was lost about the beginning of the century, and the legend came true. My wife is more superstitious than myself, and I am afraid if it is not recovered it may seriously affect her health. Of course the police have been at work, but I have not very great confidence in them, and up to the present they have discovered nothing. If you can aid me I shall be very glad."

"I am," said Mr. Engstrom, "the descendant of an old landed family who have lived in Hampshire for generations. We are not as wealthy as we once were, and I find employment for my time by being on the board of directors of several companies. I have only been married a short time, not quite a year, and we have been living very quietly. On Tuesday night, when the burglary occurred, there were only five of us at dinner. Besides my wife and myself were the rector and his wife and Capt. Olyer, the son of an old friend, whom I lately met in the city and invited down. He has been with us over a week, and leaves to join his regiment on Saturday."

"We had just reached dessert and Capt. Olyer was inquiring of the butler if Wisden (his man servant) had returned from London, when my wife's maid came in gasping: 'Oh, ma'am, your jewels are gone—robbers!' and sank fainting on the floor."

"Goodness gracious!" I exclaimed, and we sprang up.

"Let us search out of doors at once," said the captain. "Bring us a light, John," he said to the butler, and rushed out. We followed him.

"It was quite dark, and we had not gone a dozen steps before he fell down. 'Look out,' he cried, 'the brutes have laid wires. They have caught one fool at any rate,' he remarked as he got up. I went back for a light, and sure enough there were wires around that side of the house."

"The captain was holding his nose. He was but little hurt, he said, for, luckily, he had fallen on the grass. At the captain's suggestion I summoned two men servants."

"I found a lantern, and we searched the grounds and the surrounding roads. We found nothing, save a ladder under one of the windows, and a small brooch which the thief or thieves had dropped. No suspicious looking person had been seen in the village or at the station, and the two policemen who came could do nothing beyond looking wise. I called at the police station this morning, but they have no clew, nor is it likely they will have one. All I have learned from them is that they believe that two were engaged in the affair from the footmarks."

"It will be too dark by the time we could reach Lyndhurst to investigate," I said, "but I will come on by the first train in the morning."

"I wish you to promise me one thing, not to mention to anyone the object of my visit. Call me a fellow director or anything you like."

I found Mr. Engstrom at the station the next morning with a dog cart. I forebore to talk on the subject of my visit save to ask one question.

"Why did you keep such a valuable necklace at home, Mr. Engstrom?"

"I kept it in the Safe Deposit in Chancery lane," he answered, "and only brought it home Saturday because my wife wanted it at the county ball tomorrow night."

I had some lunch and a pleasant chat with my host and hostess, after which I asked permission to interview the servants.

"Are your visitors in?" I asked Mr. Engstrom.

"Capt. Olyer is a rabbit shooting with the rector, but he will be in to dinner."

"Oh, I merely wanted to have his account of what happened. Now, would you be so kind as to have the wires arranged round the house in the exact place the burglars left them?"

The gardener, who had taken them up, brought them again. It was fine but strong wire, fastened to the ground by small iron pegs.

"Are the wires in the exact place?" "I put the pegs in the very holes," replied the gardener. "You can see the holes yourself, sir."

"And now I should like to be left alone a little," I said. "I want to make some minute investigations."

My wish was complied with, and I went down on my hands and knees to examine.

I was well satisfied. In five minutes I had made an important discovery.

I next examined the window where the burglars had entered from the outside, and then entering the house I went upstairs and with the help of the maid examined the bedroom. The window had been left half open, the maid said, as "master was so particular about fresh air." Next I inspected the footstep, a matter of some difficulty, considering the number of people who had been there since. But finally I traced them across a flower bed into the shrubbery, where they were quite distinct. Only one person had passed there, and I came to the conclusion the sapient police had evolved two robbers from their inner consciousness. But what interested me more was that the palings which separated the shrubbery from a public by-way had lately been tarred and were not yet dry. The robber had climbed over the palings, and whoever he was he must have carried away a little of the tar on his person. In fact, the marks of his fingers were quite distinct.

On getting back I had a pleasant half hour in the billiard room with Mr. Engstrom.

Capt. Olyer returned just in time for dinner, and I was only introduced to him as we entered the dining-room. He was faultlessly got up, of well-made figure and handsome features, bearing large traces of dissipation. As for his speech, he had an invincible objection to the letter "r," and carefully avoided its use.

We had finished soup, when I begged a thousand pardons for leaving the table for a few minutes. My host looked a little surprised at my want of manners, and the captain surveyed me through his eyeglasses as though I were a new kind of animal. I was only gone a few minutes, but it was time well spent.

When we reached dessert and Mrs. Engstrom had left the table, I led the conversation round to the burglary, and induced the captain to give his version. I waited till he had finished, and then, looking at him steadily, said:

"Now, isn't it rather a curious thing, Capt. Olyer, that you should fall over the wires when they were quite three feet away?"

Engstrom stared at me, and the captain did not answer till he had drunk a glass of wine.

"What do you mean, sir?" he asked at last.

"I mean," I replied, still watching him keenly, "was it not a curious thing that you should be tripped by blades of grass? And is it not curious also, I went on, mercilessly, 'that your servant, or rather your accomplice, should be standing under the bedroom window here at the same time he was in London?'"

The captain sat dazed and pale and motionless, though his hands trembled, and Dr. Engstrom gasped out: "Mr. De Warre, whatever are you suggesting?"

"I suggested," I answered, as steadily as before, "that the burglar is sitting before you."

"Sir!" thundered Mr. Engstrom, pale with emotion; "you are forgetting yourself. To accuse my old friend's son of being a thief! Preposterous!"

"This is not your old friend's son, Mr. Engstrom. Capt. Olyer, of the Thirty-eighth hussars, is at present with his regiment at Woolwich, and replied to me to-day. Here is the telegram:

"Capt. Olyer to De Warre: Am here. What is the meaning of this inquiry?"

The pseudo captain had risen and looked around as if seeking a way to escape.

"Sit down," cried Engstrom, "and if you want to save yourself from jail make a full confession. De Warre, I beg your pardon."

"Don't trouble about that," I said; "of course it was hard to credit it."

The poor wretch sat down again and stammered out his story. His name turned out to be Odgers, an ex-sergeant in the hussars, expelled from the army in disgrace. His accomplice, who acted as his servant, had hidden the jewels in the wood near the house, till they could safely be removed.

At breakfast time the next morning I had to relate how I had unearthed the conspiracy.

"First of all," I said, "the fact that the burglary occurred shortly after you had brought the jewelry from London convinced me that the thief was some one in the house. And when I had the wires relaid and found that the captain had fallen three feet away from them—a fact which I discovered from the impression made by his knees and the toes of his boots—I thought things were very suspicious against him. Upstairs I found that it was little trouble for him to slip into your wife's room and throw the casket down as soon as she left the room. I learned that he had been the last to appear at the dinner table, and the case was strengthened. At the railway station I discovered that a man answering to the description of his 'servant' had arrived from London by the 5:30 o'clock train, and not by the 9:15 o'clock, as it was made to appear. What effect the telegram had you already know. In tracing the footsteps through the shrubbery I found that whoever had passed over the palings must have carried away some of the tar on his clothing. At dinner last night I seized my only opportunity and examined the man's overcoat and a pair of trousers. The tar was there, and he had evidently tried to remove it. That is all, I think."—Tid-Bits.

SMALL, BUT WIDE AWAKE.

The Little Lady Did Not Take Kindly to Being Questioned.

She was a cute, pretty little thing, so small that her feet didn't touch the floor of the car. It worried her, too, for occasionally she impatiently tugged away at her skirt to hide the display of silken black hose. At the Seven Corners a large, monthly, self-satisfied man took a seat beside her. "On your way home, little girl?" he asked.

She stared an instant, then smiled and replied, precociously:

"Oh, yes, sir."

"Been shopping?"

"Oh, yes, sir," she said, with an awkward little jump.

"What have you in your bundle?" asked the inquisitive man. "Something nice for lunch, I dare say."

"Oh, yes, if you please, sir," she said; "I have some tea."

"Isn't your ma afraid to let you go down alone?" he asked after a pause.

"In daytime?" she said, in surprise.

"Oh, no, sir. The fact is," she said, as the car stopped and she arose, "mother died three weeks after my marriage, and she doesn't care whether I go out at night or not. The chances are that hubby would kick if I went out alone."

And then as she looked him square in the face, he noted with astonishment that her hair was just turning gray.—St. Paul Pioneer-Press.

Only a Summer Resort Tyro.

The youth in white flannel suit, russet shoes, albino pink shirt and pancake hat was doing his first time at a summer resort hotel, and he had as his companion something very similar in his makeup, but of three or four seasons' experience at summer resorts. In a burst of confidence, after the first week of it, the new fellow called the veteran aside.

"I say, Tom," he said, blushing much and whispering low: "if I tell you something will you keep dead still about it?"

"Sure; what is it?" and the blase youth was almost interested.

"Swear you won't say anything?"

"Of course; I swear. Now what is the great secret?"

"Well, old fellow—this with many blushes and much hesitancy—"I'm engaged."

"No; you don't say so?" and the veteran smiled.

"Yes; I'm engaged," he nodded cheerily.

"To how many?"

"How many?" gasped the new one.

"One, of course; how many did you think, pray?"

"That's so," he said; "excuse me; I forgot that you were only an amateur."—Fireside Journal.

No Use for a Soul.

Katherine, aged eight, sat a long time at the side of the fireplace gazing at the dog which was stretched out at the other side. The mother, a hard-worked literary woman, was writing at her desk.

"Mamma, dogs have no souls?" she asked, with a fling of her long legs.

"No, dear."

"They never work, either."

"Not very often, dear."

"It would be much better to be a dog, I should think. I never have quite made up my mind as to the good of souls, mamma. They seem to make people work much more than is right. You know you are full of soul."—Womankind.

No Temptation to Fib.

"And didn't George Washington ever tell a lie?" asked little Willie.

"No, dear," said his mother, "why do you ask?"

"I was just thinkin'," said little Willie, "that his mother must have been a mighty poor hand at puttin' up preserves, or else she always kep' 'em locked up where George couldn't get at 'em."—Brooklyn Eagle.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Franchise Law Interpreted.

A recent decision of the supreme court is a construction of the franchise tax law as applying to freight corporations or those organized outside the state. It has heretofore been held that it applied to all such indiscriminately, and, in order to be able to enforce contracts, articles of association should be recorded and franchise tax paid. It is now held that it does not apply to those whose business within the state consists merely of selling through itinerant agents and delivering commodities manufactured outside the state.

His Property Was His Funeral Pyre.

A. W. Warner, of Allegan, aged 84, carried out a threat of revenge he made six months ago. He became angry with his daughter and son-in-law and told them they should never have a dollar of his money, and that when he got ready to die the house should be his funeral pyre. Early in the morning Warner fired the barn and then going into the house locked the doors and set the house on fire in a half dozen places. Before men arrived to put out the flames both buildings were beyond saving.

Michigan Gets Indemnity.

In 1850 the general government granted to the state of Michigan all of its swamp and overflowed lands, and a survey and plat were made, but the government continued to issue patents until the number of acres thus issued amounted to 5,000. This has been the basis for a claim pending for many years, and not until now adjusted. The state land commissioner received from the secretary of the interior an indemnity certificate for 5,000 acres which is estimated to yield the state at least $40,000.

State Board of Health Report.

Reports to the state board of health by sixty-six observers in different parts of the state during the week ended October 27 show that inflammation of the bowels increased, and that cholera infantum decreased in area of prevalence. Consumption was reported at 233 places, scarlet fever at fifty-three, typhoid fever at seventy-nine, diphtheria at thirty-eight, measles at six and smallpox at Detroit, Manchester, Cheboygan and Norvell.

Family of Heavyweights.

Jackson has the heaviest policeman in Michigan. Officer Chalkier, who has been on the police force there for two years, weighs 305 pounds. His father weighs 280 pounds and is 6 feet 1 inch in height. His mother's weight is 244 pounds. His sister, who also lives in that city, weighs 281 pounds, and the other two children of the family are equally bulky. Altogether the six members of this family weigh 1,651 pounds.

Held for Murder.

The examination of Mrs. Ira Hurd and O. W. Ludlow, arrested on suspicion of complicity in the shooting of Mrs. Hurd's husband September 22 last, was concluded at Allegan and both prisoners were bound over to the circuit court for murder. Mrs. Hurd broke down completely and Ludlow took the decision hard. Hurd was shot by his wife, who claimed she mistook him for a burglar.

Robbed and Murdered.

Charles Engstrom, bridgetender for the Chicago & Northwestern railroad, was found under the trestle at the Chapin mine near Iron Mountain with his skull crushed in. He received his pay and it was believed was murdered and robbed.

Short But Newsy Items.

The sale of the Peninsula mine at Houghton, including 1,650 acres of valuable mineral land, to the Franklin Mining company insures the life of the Franklin mine.

Branch county cared for 730 poor people during the year closing September 30. The total expense was $3,394. Besides this, fifty-five persons were provided for at the county house at a cost of $3,658.

Revenue officers at Menominee found a number of kegs of beer manufactured by the Menominee River Brewing company in a saloon in that city without any revenue stamps upon them.

The Baptist church in North Athens was struck by lightning and burned. The twenty-first annual convention of Michigan superintendents of the poor was held at Charlevoix.

Williamston has become a great market for beans, and the picking of them gives employment to many hands.

It took $20,000 to take care of the poor in Genesee county during the past year, or $4,000 in excess of former years.

Loran Van Valkenberg, aged 85 years and an old resident, died at his home in Coldwater.

Mrs. John Harris, of Mount Pleasant, whose mind had been unbalanced for some time, drank carbolic acid and died.

Rosa Havelike, a violent insane patient at the Northern Michigan insane asylum in Traverse City, committed suicide in her apartment by hanging.

SCORES GO DOWN.

A Steamer Strikes the Rocks on Great Barrier Island.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 2.—The steamer Wairapa, plying between this port and Auckland, N. Z., was wrecked on Great Barrier island on Sunday night. She began going to pieces at once in the heavy seas. A few of her passengers were saved, but 111 were drowned. The vessel is a total wreck.

The night was very dark and the officers and lookout on the steamer were ignorant of the proximity of land until the steamer struck the rocks. Capt. McIntosh, the master of the Wairapa, was on the bridge at the time. He, together with most of the crew, was lost. The sea was rough when the steamer went aground. Attempts were made to lower some of the boats, but several of these were either smashed by being thrown by the sea against the side of the steamer before the falls were cast off, or were capsized before they could be laid head on to the sea. Everybody in the boats perished. Those remaining on board refused to escape this way.

In the meantime the people on shore had gone to the assistance of the shipwrecked people. The steamer had two or three life rafts and these were thrown overboard, but attached to the vessel by stout lines. Then some of the passengers scrambled down the side by the aid of ropes and dropped upon the rafts, which were then cut loose. They drifted rapidly in shore and the people on them were taken off when they came in reach by men who went into the water as far as possible to meet them.

A line was finally thrown across the steamer and the breeches buoy was rigged. A number of lives were saved by this means. Altogether, 111 of the passengers and 23 of the crew were drowned. The survivors have arrived at Auckland.

ANOTHER FIRE HORROR.

Fatal Flames in New York—Seven Are Dead—One Will Die.

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Flames flashed with marvelous rapidity from the cellar to the roof of the five-story single tenement house, of 16 West Thirty-second street, early Tuesday morning. Smoke filled the entire house and seven of the tenants were suffocated in their rooms. In Roosevelt hospital a victim of the fire, a woman who tried in vain to save her life by jumping from a third-story window, is lying fatally hurt. The dead were all removed to the West Thirty-seventh street station house.

Their names are: Annie Applebat, 22 years old; George Friedman, 4 years old; Levi Friedman, 3 years old; Mrs. Margaret Killian, 70 years old; Jacob Killian, 40 years old, son of Mrs. Killian; George Levy, 20 years old, grandson of Mrs. Killian; Mrs. Lena Mitchell, 24 years old, a cousin of Mrs. Lena Friedman.

Injured: Mrs. Lena Friedman, 28 years old, leaped from a window, horribly burned about the face, neck, arms and body and covered with contusions, will probably die.

PORT ARTHUR TAKEN.

Japanese Troops Complete the Investment of This Important Point.

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 5.—It is announced here that the investment of Port Arthur by the Japanese forces by land and sea has been completed and that the forward movement of the Japanese armies in the direction of Moukden is being rapidly pushed.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Central News learns that the capture of Fong Fang Chen leaves the road to Moukden clear for the Japanese. Marshal Yamagata is expected to be within striking distance of Moukden on November 10. It is believed that the city is held by a very large but untrained and poorly equipped force.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Japanese legation has this dispatch: "The first army, under the command of Marshal Yamagata, has got possession of Fong Fang Chen and has defeated the Chinese, who are flying toward Natten-Ling. The second army, under Marshal Oyama, is attacking Kin-Chow. Both Tientsin and Port Arthur are in a critical condition."

A FATAL FALL.

Three Men Drop Over a Hundred Feet—Two of Them Killed Outright.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 2.—Two men were almost instantly killed and one man was fatally injured by falling from the seventh story of a building in course of erection at Twelfth and Locust streets at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The men were standing on a scaffolding when a plank spread and allowed them to fall to the pavement a distance of over 100 feet. The dead are: Samuel Moore, aged 41, leaves a widow and three children; Jacob Warner, aged 38, leaves a widow and two children; Joseph Ene, was fatally injured.

HUNTED DOWN.

Five Members of the Notorious Cook Gang Captured.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Oct. 31.—Charles Beck, with twenty Indian deputy sheriffs, Monday morning captured five of the Cook gang of outlaws. The men under arrest are: Joseph Johnson, Moses Price, Dick Reynolds, Jim Bates and Lon Perry. The capture was made midway between Wagoner and this city. The rest of the gang are in hiding near Wagoner, and the Indian police, sheriffs and deputy marshals are scouring the swamps. It is believed the remaining outlaws will soon be under arrest.

For sale, a quantity of clover and timothy hay, also a quantity of corn stalks. Enquire of Ralph Arnold, on Johnson farm, six miles north of Chelsea.

A San Francisco attorney has threatened a witness who had insulted him. If the rule can be made to work both ways there can be no objection to its adoption.

A new scrubbing machine is whirled over the floor like a lawn mower. It soaps wets, rubs, and dries the floor, and two or three movements of the machine make the the boards shine.

The latest mean thing said about it by brutal man is that every woman ought to be allowed to vote twice in succession; once to express her convictions and once after she has changed her mind.

Do not criticize the writer who besprinkles his composition with French phrases. It is easier to hide one's ignorance in a foreign tongue than in a language with which all people are familiar.

Last excursion of the season via Michigan Central to Detroit on Friday, Nov. 9, 1894. Rate from Chelsea for round trip $1.20. Train leaves Chelsea at 5:57 a. m., returning leaves Detroit at 6:00 p. m.

A New York politician who attacked a reporter the other day has been indicted for assault in the third degree. Third degree! Nothing less than first degree ought to satisfy the dignity of the press.

It is possible to raise a thousand pounds of pork from an acre of clover. In no other way could a clover field produce like value, but even better results will follow if a small ration of corn is fed, however flush the clover pasture. The corn is needed to sustain and solify the flesh of the animal.

Lime encourages the growth of clover and prevents growth of sorrel; it makes sandy soil more compact and clay soil more friable, it unlocks potash and encourages formation of nitrate of potash; it hinders growth of some kinds of fungi, and kills the larvæ of many insects.

The worst railroad wreck seen at Ypsilanti in a long time, took place last Thursday. A heavy freight was coming down the grade toward the river when an axle broke and the cars were tumbled right and left. Fortunately nobody was hurt, but the damage to property was considerable.

Remember the Chrysanthemum Fair at Town Hall, Friday Nov. 9th. Doors open at 6:30, concert begins at 7:30. Any person purchasing 50 cents worth or more will have admission refunded. Admission 10 cents. It will be worth 10 cents to see over 200 Chrysanthemums, beside other plants.

The frequent advice that workingmen in the cities should go on the farm is not always good. The city resident would make but little progress with the plow, cultivator and at milking and doing chores. He could learn, but the farmer will not employ any but experienced persons if he can avoid it, as too much personal supervision is required.

The real condition of the smallpox epidemic at Manchester has been greatly exaggerated, it is said. The real facts are that there is not a case of smallpox or varioloid in the village and that the village is not quarantined. The health officer reports seven cases over three miles from the village and the patients are all doing well. The quarantine on exposed persons in the village has been raised.

Parents should not think their duty done when they hustle their children off to school, but should visit the school occasionally and encourage the children and teachers by showing them that they feel an interest in the matter. Above all things, support the teacher in maintaining discipline. We heard a mother say that she wanted to know just what her little daughter was doing in school, and that if she did not obey her teacher she would be punished at home. This is the proper spirit. Uphold the teachers in their authority and there will be harmony in the school room.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by F. P. Glazier & Co.

The sending of a message and reply between Manchester, Eng. and Victoria, B. C., recently, occupied only ninety seconds. The total distance by wire, out and return, is 18,000 miles.

More than 200 French cities have already taken steps to erect statues in honor of the late President Carnot, and many others will do likewise, while others will have Carnot squares and avenues.

It is reported that Prof. Metschnikoff, of Paris, a pupil of Pasteur, has discovered a cure for mucous fever, a dangerous form of gastric fever. The cure is accomplished by the Koch method of inoculation.

The faculty of the Yale law school will recommend to the corporation that the course of study in the law department be increased from two to three years, in accordance with similar attempts by law schools all over the country, which have lengthened their course of study a year.

The postmaster-general has issued an amended regulation concerning postal cards, providing that no "printing or writing other than the address is allowable on the address side, nor may anything except the address label be pasted or attached to any postal card. The address label, however, may be pasted on the message side as well as on the address side of the card."

Mrs. Maria Vanderbilt, widow of Wm. H. Vanderbilt, is a quiet, retiring woman, who allows her son to attend to her financial affairs. Her daughters are more self-assertive. These women are said to be worth at least $15,000,000. Mrs. Elliott F. Shepard, Mrs. Sloan, Mrs. Seward Webb and Mrs. McK. Twombly each received $10,000,000 from their father and have grown steadily richer.

The latest hygienic craze in Paris is the use of porous glass for windows. This is declared to possess all the advantages of the ordinary window framing, and, while light is as freely admitted as through the medium of common glass, the "porous" further admits air, too, the minute holes with which it is intersected being too fine to permit of any draft, while they provide a healthy continuous ventilation through the apartment.

"Potato proud" is the phrase used in Accomack county, Virginia, to describe the condition of land that has been treated year after year with artificial fertilizers to insure good crops of sweet potatoes. The land at length reaches the point where it can no longer be depended upon to produce potatoes, though it is abundantly rich for other crops. It is simply too proud to grow the roots that flourish in seemingly barren sand.

Pittsburgh claims to possess the smartest bill posters in the country. If a hat box is left outside the house the owner is quite likely to find a cigarette beauty, a ballet girl, or some new kind of headache cure or soap advertisement pasted upon it. But the chap who is regarded as the brightest hustler is the one who covered the carcass of a dead horse, before it was quite cold, with bills announcing a political mass meeting. The sight caught the crowds and made fun for the spectators.

The New York Times is authority for the statement that the various express company presidents of the country are in favor of raising the rates for carrying money, so great has the risk become, or so great has become the expense of properly guarding valuable packages in transit. In speaking of this proposition a well known official of one of the great companies said that the result of a raising of rates would be to drive all the business of transporting large money packages out of express cars and into mail pouches.

The Chinese government is greatly alarmed over the rebellion that is being fomented in nearly every state of the empire. The Peking Gazette is full of the reports of the arrest of members of the Koloa Hui society, and executions are taking place in many of the cities. It is now death to belong to this society, and the heads of the members are hung up outside of the city as a warning to others. Notwithstanding this, the organization steadily increases, and it is being recruited from the disaffected soldiers and others of the empire.

The ascension of the Grand Duke Nicholas to the throne of the Romanoffs will add another youthful monarch to the royal galaxy of Europe. This frail heir of the crown of the autocrat of all the Russias is only twenty-six years old. He will be called to rule 126,000,000 subjects. Thirty-five-year-old Kaiser Wilhelm lords it over 50,000,000 Germans. Over the 5,000,000 people of Portugal reigns King Carlos; who is four years younger than William. King Alexander, of Serbia, with its 2,300,000, was born in the Philadelphia centennial year.

ALEXANDER III. IS DEAD.

Czar of All the Russias Passes Away at Livadia.

Nicholas II. Is Now Emperor—How the News Was Received in Various Places—Sketch of the Life of the Late Ruler.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 3.—Emperor Alexander III., czar of all the Russias, died at Livadia at 2:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon. A few hours later the thunderous booming of cannon at Livadia and St. Petersburg announced

Prince Cantacuzene formally forwarded a copy of the telegram to the department of state.

Upon receipt of the official notification of the czar's death Mr. Adece, second assistant secretary of state, acting secretary during the illness of Secretary Gresham, called upon Prince Cantacuzene and conveyed verbally to him the condolence of the president and secretary of state. A formal letter of condolence from Secretary Gresham will later be sent to him.

Victoria Deeply Moved.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—News of the czar's death reached Balmoral castle at 7 p. m. Thursday. The queen was not surprised as she had been informed of every phase of the czar's illness, nevertheless she was deeply moved when she learned that the end had come. She sent a long telegram to the czarina, and issued to the court officials the usual instructions as to mourning.

MAJ.-GEN. OLIVER OTIS HOWARD, U. S. A.

The famous one-armed military leader will retire from active service during the month of November. He was born in Leeds, Me., Nov. 8, 1830; graduated from West Point academy July 1, 1854; served through the Seminole Indian revolt in Florida, 1856-57, and distinguished himself for bravery from the beginning to the end of the civil war. Later he conducted several successful campaigns against the Indians in the west. In 1888 he was placed in charge of the military division of the Atlantic, with headquarters at Governor's Island, N. Y. Gen. Howard has always been an active worker in religious and temperance fields. His success as an author has also been remarkable. Three colleges have conferred on him the degree of LL. D.

trustworthy and interesting information, has sent this dispatch:

"The czar died at 2:15 o'clock Thursday afternoon. He was fully conscious. When he felt that his last hour was approaching he asked for extreme unction. This was administered by Father Ivan, who afterward conversed with the dying man for some time. The czar next asked that his family should gather around him. He spoke with each member separately, but at the greatest length with the czarina. He then gave all his blessing.

Allegiance to Nicholas II. "Finally he bade all farewell. Little by little he grew weaker. His voice at last became hardly audible. Soon after he passed away quietly. The oath of allegiance to Nicholas II. was then administered to the whole family, and at 4:30 o'clock cannon were fired to announce the fact to the world. "The entire Seventh army corps will pay military honors to the dead emperor when the

A HARD SHOCK.

Portions of the Republic of Mexico Visited by Earthquakes.

Loss of Life Reported in Various States—Sixteen Persons Known to Be Dead—Terror-Stricken the People Turn to Prayer.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 5.—The earthquake which visited this section of the republic Friday evening was the most severe which has been felt since 1858. Reports of damage to life and property are slow in being collected, but it is known that thirteen people were killed in this city and at least three at outside points. Many roofs of old buildings fell and in some instances crushed to instant death the occupants of the houses.

From telegraph advices from central and southern Mexico the disturbance is shown to have covered the state and federal district of Mexico, and lasted from one to four minutes. Seven distinct shocks were felt at Joluitla, in the state of Morelos, and smart shocks were felt at Tulancingo, in the state of Hidalgo. At Ojocan an Indian and his wife were crushed to death under the roof of their adobe house.

Being a holiday and one of the chief festival days of the year, the theaters were thronged, and panics ensued. Several people were hurt in the rush of exit, and many women went into hysterics. The songs on the stage were succeeded by impassioned prayers for forgiveness and confession of error. The plays were generally abandoned and the audiences remained in the seats, kneeling in prayer. Traffic was completely abandoned at the first premonition. Drivers deserted the street cars and coachmen their hacks to kneel in prayer along with the throngs sending up their supplications. In palace and in humble home nothing but prayer was to be heard. The threatened destruction was made more solemn by the ringing of bells in the swaying church towers.

FIRE BY RIOTERS.

An Incendiary Blaze Causes Heavy Loss in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—Developments in the labor troubles show the desperation of the white men who work along the levee and indications are that the worst is not yet over. Sunday afternoon the torch was applied to the wharf of the West India and Pacific Steamship company on the levee at the foot of Nun street, and before the flames were subdued there was a loss of $200,000 in merchandise, cotton and damage to one of their steamships. About half was insured. The fire started in the cotton under the sheds and the blaze seemed to have come from a dozen places at once, indicating it had been set. The fire burned away the shed for 600 feet, destroying 4,000 bales of cotton, 820 barrels of molasses and 750 staves.

The steamship Haverstoe, consigned to Knap, Frederick & Co., had her foremast, mainmast and forward rigging damaged; loss, $5,000. She was towed out into the stream. The French steamer Colona, of the Transatlantic company, was slightly damaged. The loss of tarpaulins was $3,000. Nearly all the outside cotton was covered with them.

The trouble is a race war between the white and colored screwmen and longshoremen. It resulted Saturday in a riot, in which one negro was killed and several wounded, and then a sort of truce was patched up, by which all the steamship agents agreed, except one, Stoddard & Co., to employ only white laborers on their ships. Then came the longshoremen's strike, and that culminated in white longshoremen refusing to work with the negroes. For the last two days things have been comparatively quiet, but there was little work done on the levee, one steamboat being loaded by negroes under protection of fifty police. The police are almost powerless, and it is likely the governor will order out troops.

UNDER FALLEN WALLS.

Six Louisville Firemen Badly Hurt While on Duty.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 5.—Six firemen were hurt, two probably fatally, by falling walls during a fire that originated in the store of the Singer Manufacturing company, 553 Fourth street Sunday afternoon. Their names are:

Valentine Riehl, captain truck No. 2, head crushed, may die; James Mannix, pipeman, engine No. 3, left leg broken and internally injured, may die; Edward Riehl, ladderman truck No. 2, hip, arm and shoulder badly bruised; John Morton, captain engine No. 3, bruised about head and body; John Cline, pipeman engine No. 3, bruised about head and body; Fillmore Tyson, assistant chief, slightly injured.

The losses by fire and water will amount to $52,000; insurance, $30,000. Losses are divided as follows: Singer Manufacturing company, $30,000; T. E. Lindsay, paintings and moldings, $10,000; D. E. Shoup, optician, $1,000; Ave nue theater, $1,000; building, $3,000; other tenants of No. 552, $2,000.

His Voice Hushed.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Eugene Esperance Oudin, the noted singer who was stricken with paralysis two weeks ago, died Sunday. Mr. Oudin's illness is attributed directly to overtaxing his strength in caring for his friend, the late Charles Atterton, Sig. Perugini's brother. He never fully recovered consciousness after the night he was stricken.

A TOWN REDUCED.

Japanese Capture Kin Chow After 11 Days of Fighting.

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 5.—Advices received here from the front show that there has been heavy fighting in the country just north of Port Arthur. The dispatches received are brief, and are silent on some important points. It appears that Field Marshal Oyama divided his forces. While one division landed on the east coast of the peninsula north of Talien-Wan, another division was detached, with orders to effect a landing near Kin Chow and to proceed thence and join the main body of the army. This operation was a complete success. The Japanese encountered no Chinese warships, and the transports reached Kin Chow and disembarked troops, guns, horses and munitions in safety.

Kin Chow, which is a walled town and which was believed to be held by a large garrison, was immediately attacked. The outer defenses were carried by the Japanese after a few hours' fighting. The Chinese made little further resistance and the Japanese were soon masters of the place. In the meantime the Japanese fleet, which had converged on Talien-Wan and Kayenko. The firing was kept up for many hours. Covered by the fire from the ships the land force attacked and captured Talien-Wan in a brilliant fashion. The dispatch says that the losses were heavy. They also mention that an important naval engagement occurred Saturday, but give no details. Up to the time of sending this dispatch there has been no confirmation of the report of the capture of Port Arthur.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A dispatch to the Times from Tien-Tsin says that Fung Wauh Ching was burned by the Chinese. The defense of the road to Moukden has collapsed. Gen. Sung, with the remnant of his army, is in the Mathienling pass, between Fung Wang Ching and Liaoyang. Winter has set in. Snow has fallen in Manchuria. No fighting is mentioned as having occurred at Fung Wang Ching, but it is alleged that 300 Chinese were killed at Taka.

GIBBONS ON CHRISTIAN UNION.

The Cardinal Preaches on a Reconciliation of Churches.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 5.—Cardinal Gibbons preached at the cathedral Sunday on Christian unity. He said: "Thank God, there is a yearning desire for the reunion of Christianity among many noble and earnest souls. The desire is particularly manifest in the English-speaking world. It is manifest in England and in the United States. I myself have received several letters from influential Protestant ministers expressing the hope of a reunion and inquiring as to the probable basis of a reconciliation. Reunion is the great desire of my heart. I have longed and prayed for it during all the years of my ministry. I have prayed that as we are bound to our brethren by social and family and by natural and commercial ties, so may we be united with them in the bonds of a common faith. "The conditions of reunion are easier than are generally imagined. Of course there can be no compromise on faith or morals. The doctrine and moral code that Christ has left us must remain unchangeable. But the church can modify her discipline to suit the circumstances of the cause."

ALIX CHANGES HER NAME.

Czar Nicholas Issues a Manifesto Announcing the Anointment.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 5.—Czar Nicholas on Saturday issued the following manifesto:

"To-day occurred the holy anointment of our bride, in accordance with the orthodox ritual, to the comfort of ourselves and the whole of Russia, our bride receiving the name of Alexandra Feodorovna, with the title of grand duchess and imperial highness. "Given at Livadia this 21st of October (old style), 1904, in the first year of our reign. "Nicholas."

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—The Lokal Anzeiger says that the funeral of Czar Alexander III. will take place between the 10th and 20th of November, and that the marriage of Nicholas II. and Princess Alix will take place a few days after the funeral. It is expected that amnesty will be granted to many political offenders in commemoration of the accession of Nicholas II.

COMMISSIONER HOYNE DEAD.

End of the Career of One of Chicago's Best-Known Pioneers.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Philip A. Hoyne, United States commissioner, died at 8 o'clock a. m. Saturday in his home at 8214 Rhodes avenue. He had been ill only a few days.

[Commissioner Hoyne, known everywhere as Uncle Phil, was a landmark. He was a resident of Chicago for more than fifty years. Mr. Hoyne was born in New York November 20, 1824, of an Irish family who left the old country nine years before. In January, 1854, Judge Drummond appointed Mr. Hoyne United States commissioner and commissioner of deeds for all the states, a position he had since held. At that time the entire state of Illinois was included in one district. He was a prominent Mason and stood high in the I. O. O. F. Mr. Hoyne was married in 1849 to Miss Teresa French, daughter of D. A. French, the grammarian. Two sons are living.]

RAIDED BY COOK'S BAND.

The Outlaws Shoot a Postmaster and Rob His Store.

PERRY, O. T., Nov. 5.—Samuel J. Dunlap, postmaster at Redford, O. T., located in the eastern part of the Cherokee strip, 40 miles east of here, was shot full of holes on Saturday by the Cook gang of outlaws. They entered Dunlap's store and ordered him to unlock the safe, which he refused to do, and they shot him, robbed the store and post office and skipped. Great excitement prevails. The gang is said to be headed for this part of Oklahoma.

A NOBLE FIGHT.

Eminent Southern Lawyer's Long Conflict with Disease.

Twenty-Five Years of Prosperity, Adversity and Suffering. The Great Victory Won by Science Over a Stubborn Disease.

[From the Atlanta, Ga., Constitution.]

Foremost among the best known lawyers and farmers of North Carolina stands Col. A. Sugg, of Greenville, Pitt Co., a man who has been on the edge of eternity whose life had been measured by minutes.

It has been twenty-two years since I became a resident of this town," said Col. Sugg, in telling his story to a reporter, "and then the first symptoms of Gravel were asserting themselves but were slight. Gradually, however, my disease developed, and I felt it as I would it seemed to gain a stronger foothold day by day until my misfortune was complete. For sixteen years I never knew what it was to be free from pain, not pain as an ordinary man thinks of it, but agonizing, excruciating, unendurable pain. Tortured from head to foot, at times thrown into spasms when it would require the united strength of four men to hold me still. I was stupefied with stimulants and opiates. I could not sit, lie or stand in any position but the shortest time. Sleep was out of the question unless brought about by the strongest stimulants or opiates. Oh how many, many times have I thought of putting an end to that life of suffering. But when my mind would revert to my wife, my children, my home, and I would restrain myself with the hope that some other means of escape would be offered. I searched the shelves of medicine for relief. Doctors were consulted, lithia waters, mineral waters, drugs, opiates and stimulants of all sorts were tried without avail. Why I sent for to the West Indies for medicine and the result was the same.

"I kept at my work as long as I could but nature gave way at last and I succumbed to the inevitable. My entire nervous system had been shattered by the stimulants and opiates had taken, my blood had actually turned to water, my weight had dropped from 175 pounds to 125, and it seemed to everybody that the end was in sight. Why I could not bear the gentle hand of my wife to bathe my limbs with tepid water. I was simply lying from hour to hour. I had made my will, settled my business and waited for the last strand of life to snap.

"It was at this time that a somewhat similar case as my own was brought to my notice. This man had suffered very much as I had, his life had been despaired of as mine had and yet he had been cured. Think what that little word meant to me—CURED. The report stated that the work had been accomplished by a medicine known as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I investigated the report thoroughly and found that it was true in detail. Then I procured some of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began taking them and began to get better. I began to sleep like a healthy child, sound, calm and peaceful. My appetite came back and my nerves were soothed and restored to their normal condition and I felt like a new man. But the greatest blessing was the mental improvement. I began to read and digest, to formulate new plans, to take interest in my law practice, which began to come back to me as soon as my spirits realized that I was again myself. After a lapse of 10 years I ride horseback every day without fatigue.

"That Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved my life is beyond doubt, and I am spreading their praise far and wide."

Inquiry about the town of Greenville substantiated the above facts of Col. Sugg's case, and that many others are being benefited by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are considered an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of influenza, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, that tired feeling resulting from nervous prostration; all diseases resulting from vitiated humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities, and all forms of weakness. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork, or excesses of whatever nature. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, and will be sent post paid on receipt of price, (50 cents a box or 6 boxes for $2.50)—they are never sold in bulk or by the 100) by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

A DISRESPECTFUL PRINCE.

He Played Leap Frog with a Dignified Village Justice.

When Louis, prince of Conde, who afterward became a great general of France and one of the most famous men of the seventeenth century, was a boy at school at the Academy Benjamin, he excelled in gymnastics and also in a certain kind of personal audacity. As the future head of one of the most powerful princely houses of France, he was much courted and "dandified"—a circumstance which did not greatly please his boyish disposition.

One day he was met on the road to school by the village justice, who made him an extremely low bow, and, remaining in the bowing attitude, began a sort of oration to the young prince. Louis did not care to go away and leave the functionary in this attitude; but he did worse. Placing both hands on the shoulders of the obsequious townsman, he jumped clear over him, as a leap-frog, and brought up behind him.

Upon this the justice turned about, bowed again, but not so low as before, and recommenced his oration; whereupon the young prince once more put his hands on the great man's shoulders and leaped over his head.

This time the orator did not resume his discourse, but went down the street grumbling.

At this time Conde was sixteen years old; and when we read, in connection with the incident, that in the very next year he was given an important military and political command in Burgundy, we are not surprised to learn that he became an arrogant and tyrannical man. All his circumstances and education had tended to spoil him.—Youth's Companion.

THANKSGIVING DAY.

President Cleveland's Proclamation to the People of the United States.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The president has issued the following:

"BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA—A PROCLAMATION:

"The American people should gratefully render thanks and praise to the Supreme Ruler of the universe who has watched over them with kindness and fostering care during the year that has passed; they should also with humility and faith supplicate the Father of All Mercies, for continued blessings according to their needs, and they should by deeds of charity, seek the favor of the Giver of every good and perfect gift.

"Therefore, I, Grover Cleveland, president of the United States, do hereby appoint and set apart Thursday, the 23rd day of November, inst., as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, to be kept and observed by all the people of the land.

"On that day let our ordinary work and business be suspended, and let us meet in our accustomed places of worship and give thanks to Almighty God for our preservation as a nation, for our immunity from disease and pestilence, for the harvests that have rewarded our husbandry, for a renewal of national prosperity and for every advance in virtue and intelligence that has marked our growth as a people.

"And with our thanksgiving let us pray that these blessings may be multiplied unto us, that our national conscience may be quickened to a better recognition of the power and goodness of God, that in our national life we may clearer see and closer follow the path of righteousness.

"And in our places of worship and praise, as well as in the happy reunions of kindred and friends, on that day let us invoke Divine approval by generously remembering the poor and needy. Surely He who has given us comfort and plenty will look upon our relief of the destitute and our ministrations of charity as the work of hearts truly grateful and as proofs of the sincerity of our thanksgiving.

"Witness my hand and the seal of the United States on the 1st day of November, in the year of our Lord 1894, and of the Independence of the United States the one hundred and nineteenth.

GROVER CLEVELAND.

"By the President: W. Q. Gresham, Secretary of State."

THE TRADE OUTLOOK.

Views of the Leading Agencies on the Business Situation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Bradstreet says:

"General trade continues on conservative lines, there being little far-reaching improvement in business circles as compared with a week ago, aside from the settlement of the strike at Fall River, one of the effects of which is expected to be the steadying of prices for cotton fabrics and an inducement to cloth printers to order for future delivery.

"At Cleveland, Cincinnati, Kansas City, Omaha, Des Moines, St. Paul and Minneapolis no change is reported in commercial circles, business being moderate and dealings conservative. Colder weather is needed at the cities further north. Detroit reports unseasonable weather has further checked distribution of clothing and allied lines, and at Chicago the volume of business is smaller than in the previous week, although interior merchants in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois are sending in a seasonable number of mail orders. St. Louis jobbers in dry goods, hats and millinery report about the usual volume of trade, but most other lines show a decrease. There is a fair volume of business at Duluth, where lake navigation is nearing its close, and at Portland, Ore., general trade is said to have improved, while at San Francisco no special change has taken place."

R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review says:

"Failures continue small, and for four weeks ending October 25, liabilities were $8,206,892, of which $3,149,455 were of manufacturing and $4,457,437 of trading concerns. Southern failures are comparatively small, and the eastern and western about equal. During the past week failures have been 249 in the United States against 288 last year and 50 in Canada against 28 last year."

BARRED OUR BEEF.

Germany Prohibits the Landing of American Cattle and Dressed Meats.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—The prohibition against the landing of American cattle and American dressed meat, announced by a decree of the Hamburg senate Saturday last, has been extended to every port of Germany.

Interviews with officials of the interior department, the Prussian hand-bandy department and the German foreign offices would seem to show that the prohibition is of a preventive nature and the action of individual German states. The foreign office officials, for instance, say that the prohibition is no affair of theirs, as the measures adopted are purely administrative and sanitary, and that they strictly belong to each German state. The empire, as such, these officials add, has not taken any steps to prohibit the landing of American cattle or American meat.

The officials of the interior department say that the importation of cattle from America suffering from Texas fever has been clearly proved, and that the measures taken are purely of a preventive nature, such as each German state is entitled to exercise through its police authority within its own territory.

LIVES CRUSHED OUT.

A Landslide Wipes Out a Settlement on Vancouver Island.

NANAIMO, B. C., Nov. 5.—The steamer Princess Louise, just down from the north, brings intelligence of a terrible disaster at Shoshartie bay, at the northwest end of Vancouver Island, which completely wrecked the settlement quite recently established there known as the Canadian cooperative commonwealth. The settlement consisted of six persons, five men and one woman. Monday morning, before the occupants had arisen, a landslide tore down the mountain side, crushed in the log building, and carried it and the ground on which it stood 100 feet out into the bay, the cabin being buried several feet under debris. Four of the inmates lost their lives.

Hanged Himself.

CORNING, N. Y., Oct. 31.—William Finger, of Alabama, Genesee county, committed suicide by hanging himself from an apple tree. No cause is given. He was 64 years of age and quite wealthy.

Finding Fault.

The winds refused to blow; "No use," said they, "to try, From north, or south, or east, or west These folks to satisfy. The north wind 'is too cold'; The west wind, 'bold and rough'; The east is 'chilly'; they complain; The south, 'not cool enough!'"

And so the windmills stopped, The ships lay idly by, The sun beat down from morn till night Because no clouds could fly. The people sighed for wind; "Blow hot or cold," said they, "From north, or south, or east, or west, 'Twill be the wisest way!"

Fronting the Sun.

Take to thy cheerless soul the lesson taught By the wise groom, in that far Orient day When all in vain the emperor made essay To mount the mettled charger, which had caught

Sight of its own weird shadow as it lay Exaggerate behind. "Tis this has wrought His restless frenzy. When his face is brought To front the sun, his fright will pass away."

Turn thus, disheartened one, and face the light Of God's clear shining, and the darkness cast By thy own fears shall all be overpast; And, standing in his radiance, thou shalt find That fear has vanished in the effulgence bright.

And that the shadow has been left behind.

—Margaret J. Preston, in S. S. Times.

Tommy.

All the sadness elsewhere rife Darkens not my maiden life When Tommy smiles; Serious moods are changed to gay— Care and worry speed away When Tommy smiles!

Little cupid's jerk the bow, Showing dazzling teeth below, When Tommy smiles; And those cupid's, sans disguise, Peep from out his handsome eyes When Tommy smiles!

I know a heart that's light as air, Singing, dancing everywhere, When Tommy smiles; Whose it is you could not guess— So this much will I confess: Tommy smiled—at me!

Odds and Ends.

A few carnations and other plants, potted for winter bloom, can be bought cheap at the Chrysanthemum Fair. If you wish to beautify your homes go to the Town Hall, Friday evening and you will find what you want.

Experiments show that a grain of wheat produces forty-fold. Every pound should bring forty. It, therefore, follows that much of our seed wheat is wasted when we sow one and one-fourth bushels an acre and get from ten to twenty.

A negro who lives in Baker county, Georgia, dreamed three nights in succession of finding money in an old grave. He went to the spot designated in his dream and found a skull and three gold dollars. This is "the stuff that dreams are made of" in Georgia.

Getting mad not only sours the disposition, but also the bodily secretions, and reacts unfavorably on the blood and nervous system. A peculiar poison has been separated from or found in the perspiration of angry or frightened persons and their salivary fluid, if inoculated by a bite is dangerous. Keep cool and clean, lest you develop poisons that react as such on yourself. A fit of passion may be the immediate precursor of a three-weeks spell of inflammatory rheumatism.

Who is there in this country to wear the mantle of Oliver Wendell Holmes, of Emerson, Bryant, Lowell, Longfellow, Whittier, Poe, Percival, Whitman or Halleck? Who has ever risen up to take the place of Hawthorne, Cooper and Irving? Save McMasters who have we to pick up the thread where Hildreth, Bancroft, Prescott and Parkman dropped it? There are now no Booths or Forrests or Barretts or McCulloughs. Is America to become a country where the commonplace alone dwells? Is genius being slowly asphyxiated on this side of the sea? What is the matter?

A merry war is being waged in Chicago between the laundrymen, and the rate for washing a shirt has dropped to four cents. Many advertise that bundles left in the morning will be ready at night. One laundryman cleans your shirt while you wait. This establishment turns out a shirt in ten minutes, after this fashion: "The shirt is washed in a weak solution of acid, which removes the spots; it is dried in a hot oven and ironed between electric rollers." The process does not improve the garment, but it is a blessing to the cheap young man with one shirt to his back. The Chinamen complain that they are being ruined by cheap American labor.

The practice is quite common among certain classes of people of killing neighboring chickens if they wander upon a man's land, is too often indulged in. If a cow or horse strays upon neighboring property, they are seldom molested; but according to law the crime of killing a cow or horse or sheep is no greater than killing a chicken. But the moral of the matter lies in the fact that if a man has a right to kill stock he would have the same right to burn his buildings or fences. Because a man is hired to do the shooting should in no way relieve him of the crime; no more than as though he had been hired to burn a building, wreck a train or receive stolen property.—Ex.

At the hospital the other morning, says Life, one of the patients was just recovering from an attack of delirium tremens, and as is usual in such cases, desired to dress and go home more than anything else. It happened that one of the young ladies connected with the flower mission saw him and approaching, said: "I have some beautiful roses here. Wouldn't you like some?" No response. Again she said: "Wouldn't you like to have some of these roses?" Slowly his head turned, and slightly opening his bleary eyes, he said, much to the embarrassment of the young woman: "I'd a-d-sight rather have my pants." He evidently was not in a flowery mood.

There are free homes for old soldiers, there is one for old printers, there is one for old shipbuilders, not to speak of the institutions for the care of those suffering from particular disabilities; but thus far no one seems to have felt that that jovial and indefatigable personage, the commercial traveler, would ever know enough of age and infirmity to need a comfortable retreat for himself exclusively. But, somehow, it has been discovered that the traveling man does grow old, and perhaps hard up, and so some kind hearted and provident folk have worked to get him an asylum when his pushing days are done. To accomplish this end there was organized the Commercial Travelers' Home Association of America, and in Binghamton, N. Y., this association has just laid the corner stone of a beautiful and comfortable home. May all good attend the fortunes of this institution and of the guild whose gumption and energy are main springs of American trade.

A Home-Made Inhaler.

Inhalations of aromatic vapors such as those from terebinthine, eucalyptol and pinol are recommended for most affections of the larynx and bronchial tubes, and hence it may be useful to show how an inhaler can be made from a teapot or kettle and a pair of bellows. The mouth of the teapot should be closed by a bung, through which an india rubber tube is passed into the liquid to be vaporized. The other end of this tube is joined to the nozzle of an ordinary domestic bellows; and a funnel or mouthpiece is added to the spout of the teapot. On working the bellows the medicinal liquid in the teapot is agitated and the fumes are blown from the spout into the mouth of the patient, who inhales it at his pleasure. To make the process as effective as possible, the liquid should first be heated by placing the teapot or kettle beside or on the fire.

Hints for Girls.

To be a pleasing guest it is necessary to do more than talk, and particularly necessary to abstain from anything outre or uncalled for. A lady came to lunch the other day who is remarkable for a very tidy and well appointed table. After the meal she took her napkin by the four corners and stooped the crumbs over her plate, then folded it carefully and laid it down as if it might serve another turn. The contents of the napkin did not fall however entirely on the plate, some of them reaching my teacup on the opposite side of the table. There is no necessity for a guest to fold the napkin after using. It should be left loosely on the table.

I think the most awkward course at a dinner table is the soup, and many young ladies cannot be tempted to taste this appetizer from this very fact. To sit erect, yet not to spill the savory drink, to take it from the further side of the plate with the further side of the spoon, to sip delicately from the side without noise, is an art worth attempting by our young lady novice. Leaving the table leisurely and not in a huddled crowd is another difficult attainment. I once heard a remark made by a lady on leaving the table that would have brought about confusion but for the tact of the hostess. The speaker called loudly: "You may be proud of your dinner, Mrs. Recherche; it was awfully nice." The hostess smiling gravely said distinctly: "Thanks," then led the way out with the guest, engaging her in deep conversation in order to draw attention from the uncalled-for remark, and at the same time not to disconcert the guest.—Ex.

The earliest book in which copperplate engravings were used was issued in 1470.

The different games that may be played with a deck of cards run up in the hundreds.

When a person is hysterical, often times a portion of the body has absolutely no feeling.

A burning gas jet is unhealthy in a bed chamber, as one gas light gives out as much carbonic gas as two sleepers.

Carrying Gold at Sea.

The specie locker on an ocean steamer is a carefully constructed vault, and is located in the stern immediately over the screw. It has the shape of a half oval, following the contour of the side of the vessel, and is generally about six feet in its extreme from top to bottom. Some vaults are fifteen or twenty feet in length, fore and aft. The interior is reached by a door or hatchway from the top, simply large enough to give convenient access. This door is of steel and has a combination lock, which is known only to the purser. Over this hatch is also fastened three bars of steel two and one half inches thick, which swing at one end on hinges, and are locked and also bolted at the other. The locker it will be seen, is in the most suitable location in the ship away from the crew, and cannot be tampered with, as on three sides of it is sea. The purser receives the gold, carefully examines the seals, then checks off the weights and assumes the responsibility for it. Gold is shipped in bags holding $5,000 or in kegs of $50,000. When in bars the size varies. Silver generally weighs 125 pounds to the ingot.

Rite of Natural History.

A German scientist has succeeded in propagating sponges artificially. His first cost was $20, cost of maintenance almost nothing, and a crop of 4,000 sponges as a result.

The mud fish of Africa lives in streams that are dry part of the year. That it may live out of the water, nature has provided it with lungs as well as gills.

A San Francisco fisherman has a cat that is said to love water as much as other cats love a rug in front of a grate fire. When he goes fishing the cat goes with him, shares in the sport and feeds on the smaller fish.

The red coral, which is used in jewelry and which is known as precious coral, is mostly obtained in the Mediterranean, the Barbary coast furnishing the dark red, Sardinia the yellow or salmon color and the coast of Africa the rose pink. It is also found in the Red sea.

In Upper Tonkin there are wood mines, according to the report of a French consul. The wood, which was originally a pine forest, was swallowed up by the earth, which covers it to a depth of eight yards. Some of the trees are a yard in diameter, the wood is imperishable and it is sold to the Chinese for coffins.

Electricity in the Air.

The old saying, "Thunder clouds clear the atmosphere," was evidently based on scientific observations. It is said that the electrical fluid called lightning is, in its passage through the air, an invaluable sanitary agent. Wherever it cleaves its way, it burns up an immense amount of dust and floating matter, and this rids the atmosphere of much that is injurious, and in this way much more healthful conditions are assured. The possibilities of the air as a storage battery for electricity are receiving a good deal of attention, and it is hoped that experiments now in progress may enable us to utilize the lightning in various ways. A few sparks gathered during a thunder storm cleared the dust and smoke laden air in a glass jar, and there can be something devised to control the more intense flashes, we may be able to harness the lightning to our street lamps and tax the elements to furnish us with light on dark and stormy nights.

It...

Is a well-known fact that judicious advertising always pays—especially news-paper advertising. If you put your "ad" in the right paper your business will grow, because people will see that you are alive, and they would rather deal with a live man than a corpse. If you advertise in this paper you will find that it

VARICOCELE, EMISSIONS AND IMPOTENCY CURED.

John A. Manlin says:—"I was one of the countless victims of early ignorance commenced at 15 years of age. I tried seven medical firms and spent $900 without avail. I gave up in despair. The drains on my system were weakening my intellect as well as my sexual and physical life. My brother advised me as a last resort to consult Dr. Kennedy & Kergan. I commenced their New Method Treatment and in a few weeks was a new man, with new life and ambition. This was four years ago, and now I am married and happy. I recommend these reliable specialists to all my afflicted fellowmen."

CURES GUARANTEED OR NO PAY.—CONFIDENTIAL

"The virus of early boyhood laid the foundation of my ruin. Later on a 'gay life' and exposure to blood diseases completed the work. I had all the symptoms of Nervous Debility—sunken eyes, emissions, drain in urine, nervousness, weak back, etc. Syphilis caused my hair to fall out, bone pains, ulcers in mouth and on tongue, blotches on body, etc. I thank God I tried Dr. Kennedy & Kergan. They restored me to health, vigor and happiness." CHAS. POWERS.
