OUR LAMENT.

Laundry troubles oft remind us,
That our lot is not sublime.
Our work must never be behind us,
We must push it all the time.

On the shirts once new, now ragged,
And so old they're getting blue,
We must put a handsome polish,
And make them like new.

Then let's all be up and doing,
Send your shirts and collars here,
We will wash them, and construing,
Make them just like new appear.

WEAK NERVES

Indicate as surely as any physical symptom shows anything, that the organs and tissues of the body are not satisfied with their nourishment.

They draw their sustenance from the blood, and if the blood is thin, impure or insufficient, they are in a state of revolt. Their complaints are made to the brain, the king of the body, through the nervous system, and the result of the general dissatisfaction is what we call Nervousness.

This is a concise, reasonable explanation of the whole matter.

The cure for Nervousness, then, is simple. Purify and enrich your blood by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the nerves, tissues and organs will have the healthful nourishment they crave. Nervousness and Weakness will then give way to strength and health.

That this is not theory but fact is proven by the voluntary statements of thousands cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Read the next column.

"With pleasure I will state that Hood's Sarsaparilla has helped me wonderfully. For several months I could not lie down to sleep on account of heart trouble and also Prostration of the Nerves.

For three years I had been doctoring, but could not get cured. I received relief for a while, but not permanent. Soon after beginning to take Hood's Sarsaparilla there was a change for the better. In a short time I was feeling splendidly. I now rest well and am able to do work of whatever kind. I had not tried Hood's Sarsaparilla. I do not know what would have become of me. I keep it in my house all the time, and other members of the family take it, and all say there is

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury.

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

WHEN MABEL SMILES.

When Mabel smiles my heart beats high,
A softer azure tints the sky.
And sighs sweet fit laughing by,
With strains unheard before.
While I look in her peerless eyes,
And envy not the rich and wise,
Nor heavenward gaze with wistful sighs,
For Heaven can yield no more.

When Mabel frowns the world is drear,
Each trembling dewdrop seems a tear,
The roses droop in grief and fear,
And cease to breathe perfume.
Alas, for me, a mournful swain,
The dismal moments drag in pain,
For who could bear to meet disdain
From lips so full of bloom!

When Mabel smiles my heart is proud,
When Mabel frowns my heart is bowed;
But be she dark or sunny-browed,
She reigns my bosom's queen:
And well she knows who rules in state
That joy and pain must alternate;
And so fair Mabel hides my fate,
A smile and frown between.

Health and Love of Nature Caused Him to Forsake the Pulpit for the Forests and the Hills.

The only man at present in the White mountain region whose sole occupation is hunting bears lives in the Pequaket Intervale. Do not picture a grizzly, picturesque character, fond of relating adventures and hairbreadth escapes. Perhaps you will lift your incredulous eyebrows when it is said that he is a gentleman and a scholar and has been a clergyman! Yet it is true. He is a tall, thin man, with bright, intelligent eyes, dignified bearing and gentle manner, says a Portsmouth (N. H.) correspondent of the New York Sun.

It is not necessary to enter into details of how he happened to abandon his profession beyond saying that ill-health was the chief cause; and it may be added that he has always been possessed with an intense fondness for nature, more especially the wild and solitary fastnesses of mountains, only to be found in following the trail of such game as bears, whose haunts they are. He has also hinted that, brought up on a farm in a region where game was abundant, his earliest sports and joys were trapping and gunning; and later in life, when settled in more serious occupations, an unconquerable longing for the free life of woods and fields often overcame him, and at length the time arrived when he could not resist it, and his health seemed also to require an open-air life.

But though not now a clergyman he is still a scholar, especially in all that pertains to woodcraft, hunting and trapping. For he knows, for instance, not only the habits and traits of the bear, but has also a scientific knowledge of its anatomy. In this he is self-taught, chiefly by dissecting the animals which he captures. Of course the principal money value of the bear to him is in the pelts and the state bounty. In addition he does quite a business in selling the skeletons to museums, private students and sculptors, and he keeps on hand an assortment of the different bones, so that he can supply any particular bone required.

This hunter is also an expert mechanic. He designs, forges and puts together all his own traps, and has made various improvements in them. They never lose him a bear, once sprung upon him, and the country people, mountain climbers and amateur sportsmen are more afraid of them than they are of the beasts themselves. They are terrible to look at, and make one think of the torturing implements of the inquisition. There is really very little danger to travelers, however, from the hunter's traps, for the ways of the bear are not those of men. He haunts the most inaccessible, rocky and rugged portions of the White mountains, coming down rarely to the lakes, cornfields and sheep pastures. In the summer one occasionally meets a stray cub, usually a pair, in the roads, as yet ignorant of the dangers of civilization.

Mr. M—, to give him at least an initial, hunts and traps over about fifty miles of mountain territory extending from the southwest to the north of Pequaket Intervale, but mostly over the Chocorua range, in which may be included the Chocorua mountain itself and its various spurs, Paugus (sometimes called, in consequence of its humpy character and its immediate proximity to an inevitable comparison with the splendid peak of Chocorua, "the Mountain that Failed,") Passaconaway, White Face, and the Southwest Dome. He knows the most secret and untrod recesses of all this district probably as no other man knows the bear and other wild animals know it. He follows their trail wherever it may lead, with an instinct like an Indian's. He notes the slightest turn of a leaf or twig, the fresh mark on a rotten log, the footprint on moss where another would see nothing. He seldom baits his traps, knowing pretty nearly where the bear's foot will fall. It is a constant wonder how a man of his slight physique can tramp his forty miles a day over the roughest and wildest parts of the Chocorua range, and the thickest of spruce and hemlock. He seems to be all sinew, with not an ounce of superfluous flesh, and long exercise of this sort has made him hardy and enduring. He travels lightly armed, a gun and knife his weapons, sometimes only a revolver, as he can usually shoot at short range if the bear be still alive in the trap.

Sometimes the bear is dead, but not often, for he will live a week with his leg caught fast in a trap. Attached to the trap is a stout chain, longer or shorter, and at the end of the chain a series of hooks, something like the flukes of an anchor. These are to prevent the bear from escaping with the trap; they catch and impede his traveling far. But sometimes he drags the trap long distances, and then he has to be tracked, which is not difficult, as he "bushes" a well-marked path in his frantic efforts to escape. This is the cruel feature of bear trapping, and one shudders to think of the anguish of the animal with his leg clutched for days between the long, sharp teeth of the trap, driven perhaps clear to the bone. But Mr. M— is a humane man by nature and visits his traps often, so that his game does not suffer long. The bear is usually too weak, if he has been held in the trap a day or two, to show much fight. One more often is dispatched with a club than with a gun.

The best time to get a good shot at a bear is when the acorns and blueberries are in season. He is extravagantly fond of both, as well as of a hive of wild honey, which he devours regardless of a whole swarm of furious bees attacking his impervious sides. If he cannot find acorns enough on the ground for his breakfast—for, like most wild animals, the early morning is the time when he wants his chief meal of the day—he climbs the oak trees and will break off or twist toward the trunk of the trees limbs six inches in diameter. This he does with his fore legs, which are immensely powerful. His whole strength seems to be concentrated in them. His manner with blueberry bushes is much more gentle, in fact, quite human. It is a sight never to be forgotten to see a bear picking the delicious mountain blueberry, that is, if you are at the proper distance, say, on one side of a ravine and the bear on the other. It is then that Sir Bruin resembles Mr. Homo. He sits erect on his haunches, reaches out his arms, for now they do not seem legs, and closing them round a good thick cluster of the bushes, draws them up to his breast, and proceeds to pick the fruit as daintily as a lady eating strawberries with a fork. It is in the season of berries, acorns and other autumnal fruit, with an occasional tree of honey, that he lays on a store of fat for his long winter nap in some cave or rocky den, which he seldom leaves before early spring.

Although Mr. M— seldom has to exercise his skill in shooting a bear, he is probably the best shot in the lower ranges of the White mountains. His only rival is a boy now about fifteen years old. The remarkable thing in regard to this boy is that he has but one sound arm, the other having been paralyzed from birth. His left arm hangs like a soft, limp rope, yet it is wonderful how much he can help himself with it. He will swing it around a rake staff or fork handle and do almost as much work as if he had two arms. And with a shotgun or rifle he is triumphant over beasts and birds; on the wing, in a tree, on ground or water, no bird or animal can escape his quick and unerring aim.

It is singular how often the crippled and maimed undertake the very things that seem the most impossible for them, and usually with success. There is a distinguished artist in Antwerp who, having no arms, paints with his toes.

People who live in the lowlands, in towns and cities, know little of the life of the boys and girls of the mountains. The girls help their mothers and early learn all the parts of housework; they also help in the hayfield, and generally know how to milk a cow. Perhaps it will interest some girl to know that in the earliest language of our race, the Aryan, daughter meant milkmaid. The boys work in the fields and woods and know how to handle a gun or set traps by the time they are ten or twelve years old. At sixteen they can tell more of the habits and haunts of birds and beasts and all sorts of curious woodcraft than can be found in books. They are familiar with every nook and corner of their own territory. The one-armed lad referred to has already gone beyond, into the haunts of the bear, and probably will not be happy or think himself quite a man until he has killed one. There are plenty of men and boys in the White mountains who occasionally shoot or trap bears just for the sport or to get a few extra dollars. In this amusement they learn many interesting things and acquire health and hardiness, together with good stories of their adventures and exploits. At a White mountain fireside you can be well entertained on an evening listening to these recitals in the quaintest language, interspersed with tales of strange, mysterious happenings, of which every neighborhood has a good store. For mountain dwellers are credulous, a bit superstitious, and easily astonished. Though brave in the face of real danger, and even fond of hazardous adventures, they have this contradictory characteristic of being alarmed in a moment by any mysterious sound or sign, any strange, unusual event.

The occasional bear slayer always has the story to tell; it is an event in his life and that of the neighborhood. But Mr. M—, whose business is the destruction of bears, seldom enlarges upon his captures. He has no admiration or respect for bruin. He thinks him a dirty, cowardly beast, his skin better off than on. He rather prefers to talk of his habits, anatomy and the quality of his fur; or more often of the very rare animals that he has sometimes found in traps; or of woodcraft, in which he is an expert. His usual catch of bears is from fifty to seventy-five a year. The skin of the bear varies in price from fifteen to fifty dollars, according to quality and size. This value of the skins, with sales of the skeletons and the state bounty of five dollars—reduced lately from ten dollars—gives Mr. M— a sufficient income, so that he lives in his own good-sized house, well furnished with books, musical instruments and children, altogether the home of a comfortable, well-to-do citizen.

FRIGHTENED INDIANS.

They Were Hardly to Be Blamed, Under the Circumstances.

A French archaeologist, traveling among the Andes in search of knowledge and specimens, had a great desire to explore some caves in the sides of the precipices. They were doubtless ancient tombs, and would probably yield him treasure. He selected a favorable spot, therefore, rigged a sort of chair, or seat, between two strong leather cords, and engaged two Indians to let him down from the brow of the precipice. "A descent of three hundred feet made in this way," he tells us, "is extraordinarily long."

However, he reached the cave in safety, and on forcing a passage into it, was rewarded by finding two skulls and a mummy—"thoroughly dry," he says, "and pretty solid." He passed a string through the eye-sockets of the skulls and attached them to his belt. Then he took the mummy in his arms, and signaled to the Indians to draw him up.

With his heels he defended himself against the jutting rocks, and in a few minutes was almost on a level with the top. The Indians knew nothing about his load.

Just then the yellow skull of one of their ancestors appeared before their eyes, and the idiots gave a start of surprise. The Frenchman thought surely they had let go the cord.

"It was the affair of a second," he writes. "What passes in the brain of a man at such an instant is indescribable. I did not drop a yard, but I experienced all the horror of a man in the void. My hands let go the mummy, and while, covered with a cold sweat, I was helped over the edge of the cliff by the Indians, the mummy, broken into a thousand pieces, bounded from rock to rock and landed in bits at the bottom of the chasm."

He overwhelmed the Indians with invectives, but to no purpose. Such dead men, they assured him, if disturbed in their sepulchers, had the habit of kissing the Indians, who perished infallibly under their deadly breath. One of the two declared that his own father had died in that way.

The other assured the Frenchman that at the moment when the head of the mummy showed above the edge of the rocks it opened its mouth. If it had not luckily fallen into the abyss it would have cursed them past all remedy.—Youth's Companion.

ANTIQUITY OF PEANUTS.

The Succulent Goober Was Known to the Ancient Peruvians.

"He that hath plenty of peanuts and giveth his neighbor none" was no relative of that ancient Peruvian chief whose tomb was recently opened in the valley of Yuca, in the vicinity of Cuzco. This venerable individual of the period of the Incas, who was perhaps a cousin german to Atahualpa, was found to have peanuts in his outstretched, mummy hand, as if desirous of giving them to distant posterity.

Veritable peanuts they were, brown, shrunken and crumbling to dust, it is true, but plainly peanuts, from which not even all of the well-known odor had quite departed.

The discovery is of no little interest to archaeologists, for hitherto the origin of the peanut has been a matter of some doubt. But in the light of this gift to us from the hand of one who lived and died long before the days of the inhuman Pizarro it is plain that the ancient Peruvians ate peanuts and deemed them good enough to take to their graves with them.

A fellow feeling is thereby established between our small boy and the ancient Peruvians. He will at once recognize that they must have been proper people, whom he would have enjoyed knowing; they ate peanuts and liked them; and they kept some for him.

To the three great staple plants which America has given to the world—corn, cotton and tobacco—we may now add the peanut; for nobody had ever seen a peanut in Europe, Asia or Africa at the time this old chief closed his fist on this more than medieval handful, now brought to light.

And, apropos, we may mention that Prof. Putnam—the same who promoted and directed the magnificent anthropological exhibit at the world's fair—announces that what he jocosely terms "the great-grandfather of the pumpkin" has been discovered in one of the prehistoric burial caves of Kentucky. That little known race, the mound builders, raised pumpkins, or, at least, squashes.—Youth's Companion.

MICHIGAN STATE NEWS.

Michigan Women's Clubs.

The Michigan Federation of Women's club was organized at Lansing by representatives of forty-nine clubs from various sections of the state. Under the constitution every regularly organized woman's club in the state may become a member of the federation upon the payment of the annual dues of $3. Officers were elected as follows:

President, Miss Clara Avery, Detroit; vice president, Mrs. Nelson B. Jones, Lansing; recording secretary, Mrs. Fred T. Ward, Lansing; corresponding secretary, Mrs. M. A. Root, Bay City. Directors—Mrs. Luella H. Stone, Kalamazoo; Mrs. D. C. Brooks, Grand Rapids; Mrs. James O'Donnell, Jackson; Mrs. Anna A. Palmer, Saginaw.

Down on the Roll as Dead.

James McGinnis, a resident of Farwell, who served in the war as a member of company L, Third Ohio volunteer cavalry, wrote to the department at Columbus asking for his record, with a view to applying for a pension. It was found that the rolls had McGinnis recorded as dying February 7, 1863, at Lebanon, Tenn. The only explanation that can be given is that the soldier was missing after the battle of Lebanon, and, not having again reported, was supposed to have been killed.

Damaging Flames at Fife Lake.

The village of Fife Lake was visited by a fire which wiped out nearly all the business portion west of the Grand Rapids & Indiana railway. Thirteen buildings and two residences were destroyed. A dozen families were rendered homeless and the main stores and stocks were burned. The blaze started in the City hotel and communicated to surrounding buildings and across the street. The total loss is about $30,000. The insurance will not aggregate more than $6,000.

State Board of Health.

Reports to the state board of health by fifty-one observers in different parts of the state during the week ended March 23 show that intermittent fever increased and inflammation of the kidneys and pneumonia decreased in area of prevalence. Consumption was reported at 150 places, scarlet fever at thirty-eight, typhoid fever at fifteen, diphtheria at thirty, measles at eight and smallpox at Detroit, Grand Rapids, Three Rivers, Ypsilanti and Watson.

Found Standing in a Barrel.

The body of S. D. Guenotte, a young man who disappeared about three weeks ago, was found in the Epworth league grounds at Ludington standing upright in a barrel, the head and shoulders projecting. Guenotte's throat was cut from ear to ear. His coat was lying on the ground a few feet away and his watch and a small amount of money were found in his pockets. It was thought to be a case of suicide.

Shortage of $7,000 Claimed.

An investigation into the books of the clerk and treasurer of Alger county for several years past resulted, it is said, in the discovery of a shortage of $7,000. Ex-Treasurer Chauncey Brown made good a shortage of $1,700, and ex-Treasurer Wyckoff claimed to have settled his shortage of $2,000 with the supervisors. The latter deny this. The other officers involved promised to make good their deficits.

Short But Newsy Items.

Kerngood & Rosenthal, proprietors of the Excelsior Clothing & Shoe company in Saginaw, one of the largest concerns in northern Michigan, filed chattel mortgages for over $56,000.

Mrs. H. J. Scholey, wife of a once prominent business man, died quite suddenly at Coldwater, aged 79 years. Her husband is very sick, with no prospects for recovery.

Mrs. Mary D. Gould died in Sherwood. She was 82 years old, had been a member of the M. E. church for sixty-six years, and had read the Bible through thirty-three times.

Albert Eckles, of Plymouth, buried fifty bushels of turnips last fall, but covered them so deeply that when he opened the pit this spring forty-five bushels had rotted.

The fanning mill factory of William Williamson, together with its contents, was destroyed by fire at Saginaw. Loss, $6,000; fully insured.

At Mount Pleasant fire destroyed the stores of Sam May, clothier; Fred Bonnell, meats; Thomas McNamara, dry goods, and W. W. Cox, drugs. Loss, $30,000; insurance, $17,300.

Mrs. F. M. Edwards and her mother, Mrs. E. T. Reading, were seriously burned by an explosion of gasoline at Detroit, and Mrs. Edwards' 2-year-old son was probably fatally injured.

The contract for building an iron bridge over the Escanaba river 3 miles west of Gladstone was let to the Gillett-Herzog Manufacturing company of Minneapolis for $5,700.

The Grand Rapids Bar association gave a banquet in honor of Judge H. H. Lorton's first visit to that city to hold a session of the United States court.

The Bell Telephone company in this state is making a general reduction in rates. The cut in cities is from 20 to 35 per cent. and reduced rates will also be made on the state exchange service.

Mrs. Frank M. Edwards and her 2-year-old boy were badly burned in Detroit, the child fatally. The mother emptied two quarts of gasoline into a teakettle, thinking it was water.

MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE.

Senate.

LANSING, Mich., March 27.—The senate on Tuesday passed the bill submitting to the people the question of removal of the county seat of Emmet county from Harbor Springs to Petoskey, and in committee of the whole struck out all after the enacting clause from the bill providing for local option in liquor traffic by cities, villages and townships, instead of by counties as now. The vote was very close, and the question is likely to come up again, as the enacting clause was tabled.

LANSING, Mich., March 28.—The senate on Wednesday passed a bill making the open season for deer uniform in all portions of the state, from November 10 to November 30. The bill raising the age of consent from 14 to 17 years was passed by a vote of 10 to 10.

The joint legislative committee on public health made a favorable report on the Miller bill abolishing the state board of health and substituting therefor a board organized on radically different lines, to be appointed by the governor.

LANSING, Mich., March 29.—The senate on Thursday reconsidered the vote by which it raised the age of consent to 17 years and by a vote of 16 to 12 lowered the age to 16 years. As thus amended the bill was passed by a unanimous vote. The committee on taxation recommended the passage of the McLaughlin bill authorizing cities to exempt from taxation real estate mortgages and land contracts.

House.

LANSING, Mich., March 27.—The house passed a large number of bills Tuesday, the most important being those for compulsory education in the public schools and abolishing the salary of the sheriff of Wayne county after January 1, 1897. The bill prohibiting candidates for office to act as inspectors of election was defeated.

LANSING, Mich., March 28.—The house spent the entire afternoon Wednesday in committee of the whole on the Stoll bill repealing the law taxing mortgages. A motion to strike out all after the enacting clause was lost by a tie vote. The bill will come up again and it is believed will be passed.

LANSING, Mich., March 29.—The house on Thursday passed a joint resolution submitting to the people at the November election in 1900 the proposition of electing members of the legislature for the term of four years, covering two biennial sessions, instead of two years, as now, and contemplating an election of half of the members each two years. It also provides for a compensation of $750 for each session and five cents per mile mileage to and from the capitol. The Apelin bill, providing a uniform liquor tax of $400, was made a special order for Wednesday.

LANSING, Mich., March 30.—The house on Friday had another wrangle over the Apelin $400 uniform liquor tax bill, and the date of its consideration was deferred from April 3 as fixed Thursday, until April 11. The house in committee of the whole agreed to the bill making the open season for deer uniform in both peninsulas, from November 1 to November 23, requiring a hunter's license fee of $25 from non-residents and fifty cents from resident hunters. The number of deer to be slaughtered by one person is limited to five.

POTATOES ON VACANT LAND.

Detroit Plan of Raising Supplies for the Poor to Be Tried in Omaha.

OMAHA, Neb., March 29.—Mayor Pingree's potato-patch scheme is going to be tried in Omaha this year. Some of Omaha's largest land owners, including Herman Rountze, John A. Creighton, Mayor Bemis and A. J. Poppleton, have agreed to donate large unoccupied tracts of land within the city limits for this season to be used for sustaining the poor of the city. The work will be done under the charge of the associated charities. The county and city will be asked only to furnish seed and tools and to plow the land first. Then the land, which will probably include at least 1,000 acres, will be divided into small lots of an acre each, and it is calculated that one acre ought to support one family. Half the land will be devoted to potatoes.

Michigan Epworth League.

DETROIT, Mich., March 27.—The fifth annual convention of the Epworth league of Michigan opened in the Central M. E. church here Tuesday evening before an audience of 1,500 persons, the majority of whom were delegates. Eugene C. Pierce, of Saginaw, the president of the state league, delivered a brief address in which he said that the league had now 30,000 members enrolled in Michigan. He also spoke of the widespread good the league had accomplished in social reform.

To Renew Interest in Classics.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 29.—An important meeting of educators is in session here at Newberry hall. It is made up of professors of the classics in numerous universities and high schools, particularly in the west. The object is to rearouse an enthusiasm in the study of the classics, which have lately been crowded out in many schools by scientific and so-called practical studies. Prof. F. W. Kelsey, of the Latin department here, is at the head of the conference.

Michigan G. A. R. Election.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., March 29.—A hot contest between Judge Daboll, of St. Johns, and Alex. Patrick, of Detroit, for the position of department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic resulted Wednesday in the election of the former. Mrs. Knapp, of Howell, was elected department president of the Women's Relief Corps. The encampment next year will be at Saginaw.

Another Lake Ferry.

MUSKEGON, Mich., March 27.—The project of a year ago for a ferry line across Lake Michigan between this city and Milwaukee has been revived. This harbor is almost directly across the lake from Milwaukee and has been open throughout the severe winter just past, so that fairly regular trips have been made by the Milwaukee steamers.

Lost Their Legal Adviser.

CHICAGO, March 30.—John W. Cary, general counsel of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company, died at the Victoria hotel. Mr. Cary had been the chief legal adviser of the company since 1859.

Experiments With Tomatoes.

At the South Dakota station experiments were made with seeds from green, sun ripened and normal fruit, with cuttings and with different methods of training and pruning the plants, with the following summary of conclusions:
1. There is not enough gain to warrant the additional trouble and expense of sowing tomato seeds before March 1, and for the ordinary field crop they should not be planted later than the middle of March. 2. Single stem training makes the crop earlier, but reduces the quantity materially. 3. Seeds from green fruits and a greater weight of fruit per plant than sun ripened or normal. 4. Cuttings are decidedly earlier and more productive during the early part of the season than normal or parent plants. 5. Pruning plants before setting in the field retards maturity of the fruit.

Michigan Factory Inspection.

Act No. 126, session laws of 1893, directs an annual inspection of all the manufacturing establishments in the State and places the work in the State Labor Bureau, under direction of the Commissioner of Labor. It also directs that official to make an annual report of the work done. Under the provisions of the act, the State was divided into five inspection districts, with a deputy inspector for each. No work has been done in the fifth district, comprising the counties in the upper peninsula, and only partially done in the northern counties of the lower peninsula, the appropriation not being sufficient to cover this part of the work.

The second annual report has just been issued and is a work of much value, alike to the manufacturers and their employees. It gives a statistical table of the 2,638 factories inspected during the year 1894, each factory being known by its inspection number and all references through the book refer to that number. The table gives the location and names of factories whether running or idle; if running whether full or part time, whether running full or part cap city, number of employees (with sex) when running full capacity, number employees now, average monthly pay roll, goods manufactured, hours of labor, child labor, increase or decrease in wages and other matters pertaining to the welfare of employees.

Following the table is a list of all changes ordered by the deputy inspectors. They show that a united effort has been made to enforce the provisions of the law and in every possible way to protect employees while at work. The most important of these orders are for fire escapes on buildings more than two stories high, guards for elevator openings, protection of saws, belts, vats pans and other dangerous places; also as to sanitary regulations, etc.

There is also a detailed list of all accidents reported in these 2,638 factories inspected during the year 1894. It shows that there were only 128 accidents of all grades, during the year, as compared with 225 reported in the 2,066 inspected in 1893. Of these 128 there were only 14 fatal ones, of these five being by a boiler explosion at West Bay City. This part of the report shows the utility of the inspection. Human life and physical suffering cannot be measured by a money consideration, and that both have been greatly protected cannot be denied.

The deductions are most interesting footing up the loss of time and capacity giving the number of employees in all factories inspected, the average monthly pay roll, changes ordered, accidents and care of those injured, disposition of child labor, together with much else of interest to owners, operators and employees. The report should be in the office of every manufacturer.

NEW AND STARTLING DISCOVERIES ARE MADE DAILY

The greatest discovery for sufferers of catarrh, Hay fever, Asthma is Mayers, Magnetic Catarrh Cure. Its wonderful cures since its discovery are known to thousands.

This grand medicine will positively cure all forms of these terrible diseases.

It accomplishes what no other remedy has done. No cure no pay. One bottle will do the work and lasts for a three months treatment. Entirely new, no other remedy made like it. This is what the eminent Dr. Henry Carrington Alexander, D. D., L. L. D., has to say of its marvelous cure

Gentlemen:—Ever since I have tried your famous catarrh remedy I have intended to give you a voluntary testimonial of its efficiency. I have been a sufferer for years from nasal and post nasal catarrh, and the bone in my nose has been visibly changed in its shape.

After a trial of all manner of good and indifferent remedies, I have no hesitation in pronouncing your Magnetic Catarrh Cure the best, the speediest and most effectual remedy I have yet encountered. I wish and predict your success in the effort to demonstrate the value of your neat device in the way of a truly scientific and meritorious inhalant. You have made me your everlasting debtor.

I am my dear sirs,
Yours faithfully,

NEWSPAPER LAWS.

Any person who takes the paper regularly from the postoffice, whether directed to his name or whether it is a subscriber or not, is responsible for the pay. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the postoffice, or removing and leaving them uncollected for is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

The standard colors of the Postal union will, it is expected, be adopted by the United States government. These colors are green for one-cent stamps, red for two-cent stamps and blue for five-cent stamps. Most of the postal union countries have adopted them.

The marble Washington memorial arch on Washington square, at the foot of Fifth avenue, being now completed, will be formally presented to the city of New York by the committee in charge, on April 30, the 106th anniversary of Washington's inauguration as president.

Dog farming is carried on extensively in China. There are thousands of large breeding establishments scattered over the northern districts of Manchuria and Mongolia, and no dog skins in the world can compare with those that come from these parts as regards either size, quality or length of hair.

The two oldest secret trade processes now in existence are considered to be the manufacture of Chinese red, or vermilion, and that method of inlaying the hardest steel with gold and silver which seems to have been practiced at Damascus ages ago, and is known only to the Syrian smiths and their pupils even to this day.

MR. GLADSTONE is a believer in the theory that a man can do better mental work every year to extreme old age if he takes care of his body. He claims that the mind grows stronger and clearer as the body loses vitality, and that it is only disease of the latter that can prevent an intellectual progress that will go on to the end.

LOUIS H. SULLIVAN, a well-known architect of Chicago, has just received from the French government a trio of medals done in gold, in silver and in bronze, which have been sent to him in acknowledgment of his gift of a collection of models of architectural decorative ornaments to the National Musee des Arts Decoratifs in Paris.

The enormous size and massive structure of native houses is among the recent surprising discoveries of explorers among the villages—inhabited by numerous warlike tribes—scattered along the streams of New Guinea. Houses 300 to 400 feet long and 100 feet high, among the largest in the world, are reported to be not uncommon.

LACE is a fabric that can quietly be made to represent large amounts of money. The Astors have been credited with owning lace worth $3,000,000, and the Vanderbilts value their laces at $5,000,000. The pope is said to be content with only $75,000 represented in lace, and the princess of Wales can boast of only the modest sum of $250,000 expended in the dainty meshes.

A CAREFUL record kept at Yale for eight years shows that non-smokers are 20 per cent taller, 25 per cent heavier and have 60 per cent more lung capacity than smokers. A recent graduating class at Amherst presented a similar difference in favor of non-smokers, who had gained in weight 24 per cent over the smokers and in height 37 per cent, and also exceeded them in lung capacity.

PERHAPS the most important news item of the day is the announcement from the New York board of health that the general mortality from diphtheria has been reduced forty per cent from the successful application of antitoxine. The rate will, of course, be reduced still lower as the use of the serum becomes more general and skillful. One of the most fatal diseases has been practically conquered.

THE Missouri assembly has passed the St. Francois basin levee bill carrying an appropriation of $20,000 to complete the levee and protect what is known as the sunken lands of southeast Missouri. This levee commences at a point one mile above Point Pleasant, on the Mississippi river, and runs south forty-six miles to the Arkansas line, there connecting with the Arkansas levee, which is over 160 miles long.

Nor only are apples of well recognized hygienic value, but there is an apple cure for dyspepsia, just as there is a milk cure. Some physicians that practice the apple cure require their patients to eat from one to three apples for breakfast, about as many for luncheon, and permit them to take a dinner of moderate amount and variety. This diet is some times kept up for many weeks together, and with marked results.

HARBOR point, next to Mackinack island, and one of the most famous of Michigan resorts, will, it is feared, soon be a thing of the past. Some of the older residents of Harbor Springs say it is gradually being engulfed. A few years ago a portion of the end of Harbor point sank out of sight in the bay, and it is now feared that the same thing will take place with the whole point. The point is covered with handsome cottages.

EIGHTY YEARS OLD.

Honor to the Aged Ex-Chancellor of United Germany.

Prince Bismarck Visited by 392 Members of the Reichstag and Prussian Diet—Emperor William's Tribute to the Soldier and Statesman.

BERLIN, March 27.—The celebration of the 80th anniversary of the birth of Prince Bismarck, which occurs April 1, maybe said to have commenced Monday, as 392 members of the reichstag and the Prussian diet started during the day for Friedrichsruhe in order to congratulate the ex-chancellor.

FRIEDRICHSRUHE, March 2.—Emperor William, who left Berlin for this place at 8:20 o'clock Tuesday morning, accompanied by the crown prince, left the special train near

PRINCE BISMARCK.

Aumuehle, where he mounted a horse and, attended by a brilliantly uniformed staff, rode quickly to the spot selected for the assembling of the troops detailed to do honor to Prince Bismarck.

Prince Bismarck had come in an open carriage and wore the uniform of the Habersstadt cuirassiers. The officers saluted, the troops presented arms, the bands played patriotic airs and the emperor welcomed the prince with the greatest heartiness. His majesty then took up a position in front of the troops and delivered an address of congratulation to the prince. Then, in the name of the army, the emperor presented Prince Bismarck with a sword of honor, with antique form, richly embossed and inlaid with gold.

In presenting Prince Bismarck with the sword of honor Emperor William, referring to the presence of the cuirassiers, said that he handed him the gift in recognition of his deeds, adding:

"I could not have found a better present than a sword, whether as the weapon of the ancient German or as a symbol of never-failing resource, and upon it are engraved the united arms of the Reichsland. May your serene highness look upon this as a token of gratitude for deeds recorded in history which were brought to a conclusion twenty-five years ago. Let us, comrades, shout a hurrah for his serene highness, Prince Bismarck, duke of Lauenburg."

As the troops presented arms, the band played, the soldiers shouted and Prince Bismarck cried. Recovering his composure, the ex-chancellor said: "Will your majesty permit me to lay at your feet my most humble thanks. My military position in relation to your majesty will not allow me further to express my feelings."

He then kissed the emperor's hands and his majesty urged him to mount his carriage, which Prince Bismarck did only when the crown prince had first entered the vehicle and taken a seat to the right. The ex-chancellor, escorted by the emperor, drove in front of the troops, and, after the rounds had been made, the troops filed past Prince Bismarck, the emperor personally leading Bismarck's cuirassiers.

At the luncheon Emperor William presented Prince Bismarck with the seal from the writing table of his grandfather, Emperor William I.

More Troops Sent.

MADRID, March 30.—Premier Canovas del Castillo said in an interview Thursday: "It is undeniable that the situation in Cuba is very serious. The government must use all means to maintain the integrity of the kingdom and crush the rebellion speedily and thoroughly. Seven thousand troops will start for Cuba to-day and 2,000 will be ready to follow them. In six months 20,000 more will be ready. Indeed we are prepared to send 100,000 if need be, for we must end this struggle once for all."

The government has received the resignation of Capt. Gen. Callejas. The Spanish consul in Jamaica telegraphs that the expedition organized by the insurgent leader Maceo, is expected to arrive off the coast at any time.

Thurston Leaves for Honolulu.

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Minister Thurston's formal note to Secretary Gresham, announcing his intended departure from Washington, which reached the secretary Wednesday morning, is understood to be brief almost to the point of curttness. It contained no reference to a leave of absence or cause of departure, but under Tuesday's date simply stated that he intended to depart for Honolulu Wednesday afternoon, leaving Secretary Hastings in charge of the Hawaiian legation.

For Home Rule.

LONDON, April 1.—In the house of commons Friday a resolution to give home rule to England, Ireland, Scotland and Wales was adopted by a majority of 24, the vote standing 126 in favor to 102 against.

SIX PERISH.

Loss of Life Attends the Forest Fires in Kentucky.

CLOVERPORT, Ky., April 1.—The most destructive forest fire ever seen here has been raging a few miles back of Cloverport. One person is known to have perished, and the property loss will run into the hundreds of thousands. Nat Hend, a wealthy bachelor of Lewisport, was found dead in the smoking forest Saturday morning. His horse came dashing into Victoria riderless at midnight Friday night, and it is supposed Mr. Hend was thrown and so stunned that he was unable to escape and burned to death.

HAWESVILLE, Ky., April 1.—Prof. C. M. Bruner was burned to death in forest fires near Victoria. Prof. Bruner was a member of the county board of examiners.

CINCINNATI, April 1.—Specials from points in western Kentucky and southern Indiana report that the forest fires are still raging, but definite information from any localities is lacking. The loss is estimated at $200,000 in Kentucky and less in Indiana. The death of Henry Files near Bowling Green, Ky., and two negroes and that of Mrs. Penny, in addition to those already reported, make three white men, two negroes and one woman lost. While the farmers have been plowing and doing everything to prevent the spreading of fires, and there is no doubt of their loss and danger, yet it is believed that greatly exaggerated reports of the fires have been circulated.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., April 1.—Fires which had been started in a clearing on the Knobs, a few miles northwest of here, were fanned by a gale and soon got beyond control, destroying thousands of dollars' worth of fencing. Haussdale, a hamlet located on the line of the Louisville division of the Pennsylvania system, was partially destroyed. No accurate estimate can be given as to losses, but it will amount up to many thousands of dollars.

ENGLISH, Ind., April 1.—News has arrived from the south and southwest part of this county of excessive loss by forest fires, which originated from fires started to clear fields for the plow. All the dwellings, barns and haystacks belonging to A. Robinson, William Finch, George F. Elker, Harvey Denbo and James Land were reduced to ashes and thirty-four persons are homeless. The estimates of the loss is $40,000.

HAYS CITY, Kan., April 1.—Fire destroyed the better part of the business district, including seven stone and twenty frame buildings. Three blocks were burned, causing an aggregate loss of $75,000.

SUDDENLY CALLED.

Unexpected Death in Chicago of Hon. A. C. Hising—Apoplexy the Cause.

CHICAGO, April 1.—Anton Caspar Hising, father of Washington Hising, the postmaster at Chicago, died suddenly at his residence Sunday morning of apoplexy. He retired late Saturday night after finishing his work for Sunday morning's Staats Zeitung in apparently good health. Early Sunday morning his attendant noticed something wrong and sent for the postmaster, but the old gentleman died before he arrived.

A. C. Hising was born in the province of Oldenburg on January 6, 1823, and came to America in 1840. At Cincinnati he married Louisa Lamprey and in 1854 the couple came to Illinois. He was actively engaged in politics for many years and served as assistant sheriff of Cook county. His wife died ten years ago, and his only son, the postmaster, is vice president and editor of the Illinois Staats Zeitung.

Mr. Hising became a prominent and influential figure in the west from the time he purchased the Staats-Zeitung in 1867. A man of fearless nature and strength and tenacity of purpose, he was heard in vigorous terms on all public questions. Of late years he had not been active in public life and had devoted much of his time to the fostering of charitable institutions, among which was the Altemheim, a home for aged Germans.

RAIN COMES AT LAST.

Welcome Showers Fall in Many Northwestern States.

CHICAGO, April 1.—Rain fell generally throughout Iowa and Nebraska, and in some portions of Illinois, Minnesota, Michigan and Missouri Saturday, and relieved the fears of the farmers in those localities, whose rapidly drying cisterns and parched pastures and fields portended short crops and disaster to stock. Throughout Colorado, in northwestern Nebraska, and in Wyoming the worst snow and wind storm that has been felt for years raged all day, and reports indicated a serious stoppage of railroad traffic as a result.

The drouth which has prevailed for a number of weeks in Missouri, Illinois, Indiana and Michigan, was broken Sunday by a heavy rainfall, causing a decided improvement in crop prospects. Rain continues to fall in Nebraska, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

FEAR A BEEF FAMINE.

Prices at Philadelphia During the Past Few Weeks Increase 25 Per Cent.

PHILADELPHIA, April 1.—A beef famine, the most alarming in the history of the trade for many years, threatens the entire eastern section of the country. Philadelphia consumers are suffering from excessive prices. The price of live beef has increased 25 per cent during the past few weeks, and, as a natural consequence, the price of dressed beef took a corresponding jump. The meat exports from Philadelphia during the past two weeks, it is said, exceeded the usual exports for a whole year.

IN BISMARCK'S HONOR.

Birthday Observances Reported from Towns in Germany.

RUDESHEIM, April 1.—At noon Sunday the people of the Rhine valley united in honoring Bismarck at the national monument on the Niederwald. Conservatives, national liberals and centrists took part in the ceremonies.

The people of Rudesheim placed on the national monument a laurel wreath on which was inscribed: "A Grateful Rhineland." The ceremonies consisted of music, addresses, parades and illuminations at night. Immense crowds took part in the festivities. Residences and business houses were decorated. Festivities in honor of Prince Bismarck were held Saturday in Wittenberg, Essenruhr, Brunswick and Posen.

BERLIN, April 1.—Special prayers for Prince Bismarck were offered in all the Protestant churches in Germany Sunday. The school children will have a holiday to-day. The teachers on Saturday spoke to their pupils about Bismarck, extolling the ex-chancellor's services to the fatherland.

FRIEDRICHSRUHE, April 1.—The Bismarck celebration is in full swing, and every day seems to add to the enthusiasm displayed by the German people over the eightieth anniversary of the birth of the old chancellor. Every train arriving at Friedrichsruhe is loaded with presents for the aged statesman, and every post brings hundreds of congratulatory letters not only from people in Germany but from Germans and others throughout the civilized world. Thousands upon thousands of special Bismarck post cards have been sold and a great number have been mailed to the United States. Those in Germany who have received them have put them carefully away, to be preserved as mementoes of the iron chancellor and the great outpouring of the public heart in his honor.

Sunday the prince received his first congratulatory telegram from a crowned head outside of Germany. It was from King Oscar of Sweden and contained a graceful expression of his majesty's interest in the occasion and hearty well wishes for the prince's welfare.

HAMBURG, April 1.—One of the features of the Bismarck celebration here was the holding of a "commemors" organized by the Reichstag Electoral union. Sixteen hundred admirers of the prince were present and hundreds had to be turned away from the doors owing to lack of room. Several senators, the president of the house of burgesses, of officials and the elite of Hamburg society were present.

Sunday all the public and a majority of the private buildings in the city were decorated with flags and bunting in honor of the occasion. At night there was a general illumination on a scale that had not been attempted before in a quarter of a century. In the window of every shop there was displayed either a wreathed portrait or a bust of the great reichskanzler. In addition some of the windows contained historic scenes and portraits of Emperor William.

The students at night gave a commers, at which seventy-nine corps and every German university was represented. Many graybeards, from 60 to 70 years of age were also present. The proceedings were of the customary boisterous character. Students' songs were sung, the singers being accompanied by a military band.

BERLIN, April 1.—Telegrams are pouring in from all parts of the empire announcing that Bismarckian fetes have been commenced with great spirit. Throughout Germany Sunday night joy fires were burning on the highest mountain peaks and hills from the Baltic to the North sea and to the Swiss and Austrian frontiers on the south, from the Russian frontier on the east to the frontiers of France, Belgium and the Netherlands on the west. Never before in the history of the empire has there been such a heartfelt exhibition of love by the German people.

BEHEADED HIS CHILD.

An Insane Iowan Murders His Seven-Year-Old Son.

CLINTON, Ia., April 1.—August Swanson murdered his 7-year-old son some time Friday night and has disappeared. Swanson lived in the northern part of the city with his three children, Albert, aged 7; Victor, aged 3, and August, aged 9. About two weeks ago the mother died in a hospital in this city. The father had been in the state insane asylum for treatment, and a few months ago was discharged as being cured. The death of his wife must have again caused him to become insane, for Friday night he murdered his 7-year-old boy in the most brutal manner, chopping his head off with an ax. He had made complete preparation for the deed, arranging a mattress to catch the blood, then getting a block of wood on which to place the child's neck and arranging a basin of water near in which to wash his hands. To be sure that he would succeed in beheading the child, he had taken a hand ax and sharpened it very sharp, with which to do the deed. The whereabouts of the father are not known, but he is supposed to have escaped down the river in a skiff. Neighbors Saturday noon, not seeing signs of life about the house, investigated and found the other children locked in a room downstairs and the corpse of the murdered child in a second story room.

JAPAN IS SORRY.

The Diet Passes Resolutions of Regret. An Armistice Is Declared.

YOKOHAMA, March 27.—Resolutions have been submitted to the Japanese diet regretting the attack made upon Viceroy Li Hung Chang, who was shot and wounded in the face Sunday at Shimonoseki by a young Japanese, supposed to have been carried away by excess of patriotic feeling.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—The following telegram was received by the Japanese foreign office:

"On the opening of the negotiations the Chinese plenipotentiary proposed an armistice, which the Japanese government was willing to accept on certain conditions. While this negotiation was going on, the untoward event happened on the person of the Chinese plenipotentiary. His majesty, having in view this unhappy occurrence, commanded the Japanese plenipotentiaries to consent to a temporary armistice, without conditions. This was communicated to the Chinese plenipotentiary."

Minister Kurino says that the effect of the emperor's order will be the immediate cessation of aggressive hostilities, and that the Japanese armies will make no further advance as long as the armistice lasts. Some fighting may occur if provoked by the Chinese, but the second step toward peace has been practically taken, the arrival of Li Hung Chang and the satisfactory character of his plenipotentiary credentials having been the first.

BEEF STEAKS COME HIGH.

Philadelphia Butchers Advance Prices All Along the Line.

PHILADELPHIA, March 30.—A general advance in the price of beef, both in the wholesale and retail market, was made Friday. The shipments of cattle to Philadelphia now are about one-half what they were at this time last year, and, as there is not a very large stock of beef on hand, the owners of the cuts are getting large figures for them. The advance in the retail price is quite large. Chuck roasts, which have been selling at from 8 to 12 cents a pound for some time, now bring 12 to 14 cents. Rib roasts, which were from 14 to 20 cents a pound, are now 16 to 25 cents. Sirloin steaks have been quoted at 18 to 25 cents, but the price has advanced to 25 to 30 cents a pound, and rump steaks, which could be had at 16 cents a pound, are now 17 to 20 cents.

Spain and the Alliance Incident.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Reports that the Spanish government is taking steps to meet the requests of the United States in the Alliance affair, that the commander of the offending Spanish cruiser has been relieved from his ship and that orders have been sent to the other Spanish commanders in Cuban waters to observe the requirements of international law and refrain from improper interference with the ships of the United States or other foreign nations, have caused much gratification in official circles here.

Kills Seven Hundred Soldiers.

PANAMA, Colombia, March 27.—The government has issued a bulletin claiming a victory over the rebels at Boyaca. It was a costly one, however, for out of the 3,000 troops under Gen. Reyes, which formed the expedition, 1,500 dropped off through fatigue or disease during the march, and of the remaining 1,500 which gave battle to the rebels 700 were killed before victory rested with the government forces.

Ballou Is Dead.

BOSTON, April 1.—A cable dispatch from Cairo, Egypt, announces the death there of Maturin M. Ballou, the well-known editor, publisher and writer. Mr. Ballou was born in Boston in 1820 and was editor and publisher of the first illustrated weekly paper in this country, which was known at the outset as Ballou's Monthly.

Iowa Miners to Strike.

OTTUMWA, Ia., March 30.—Six thousand miners now working in the mines of forty-two operators will be called out on strike against accepting a reduction from the 1894 scale of prices. The decision was practically arrived at by the miners, and twenty-three operators who met here in conference Friday. The latter operators agreed to pay the scale.

Burglars Start a Fire.

RICHMOND, Me., March 28.—Burglars, in an attempt to rob the post office here, started a fire which resulted in the destruction of six stores, the Western Union Telegraph office and the post office. The burglars secured $650 in stamps and $300 in cash.

Probate Order.
STATE OF MICHIGAN, County of Washtenaw.
ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the County of Washtenaw, holden at the Probate Office in the City of Ann Arbor, on Tuesday, the 19th day of March in the year one thousand eight hundred and ninety-five.
Present, J. Willard Babbitt, Judge of Probate.
In the matter of the estate of Henry Steinbach, deceased.
Anna Katharine Steinbach, the executrix of the last will and testament of said deceased, comes into court and represents that she is now prepared to render her final account.
Thereupon it is ordered, that Monday, the 15th day of April next, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, be assigned for examining and allowing such account, and that the devisees, legatees and heirs-at-law of said deceased, and all other persons interested in said estate, are required to appear at a session of said Court, then to be holden at the Probate Office, in the City of Ann Arbor, in said County, and show cause, if any there be, why the said account should not be allowed: And it is further ordered, that said executrix give notice to the persons interested in said estate, of the pendency of said account, and the hearing thereof, by causing a copy of this Order to be published in the Chelsea Herald, a newspaper printed and circulating in said county three successive weeks previous to said day of hearing.

It...

Is a well-known fact that judicious advertising always pays—especially newspaper advertising. If you put your "ad" in the right paper your business will grow, because people will see that you are alive, and they would rather deal with a live man than a corpse. If you advertise in this paper you will find that it

Pays.

A Valuable Find.

The Result of Years of Study and Labor.

There has at last been discovered a sure and never failing remedy. It has been tested on patients, who have despaired of ever being cured; the results have been in every case wonderful. Groff's Rheumatic Cure is unequalled as a positive remedy in all cases of Chronic and Acute Inflammatory Rheumatism, Gout, Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuralgia, especially Ovarian Neuralgia; Dysmenorrhoea and all kindred affections. It is also a valuable Blood Purifier, being especially useful in Eczema, Psoriasis, Scrofula, all Glandular Enlargements and diseases of the Liver and Kidneys. It is absolutely free from all narcotics. Severe attacks are relieved in from one to three days and a positive cure effected in from five to eighteen days. For sale by druggists. Manufactured and sold by the GROSS MEDICINE CO., Chicago, Ill.

Zero and There.

When a man playfully points a pistol or gun at you knock him down, don't be particular what you knock him down with, only see that he is thoroughly knocked down. If a corner's inquest must be held, let it be on the other fellow—he won't be missed.

The total number of immigrants arriving in this country during the seven months ending February 1, 1895, was 118,375, being a decrease of forty per cent from the number arriving during the corresponding seven months a year ago. An unpleasant feature of the record is greatest in the western countries of Europe from which come the more desirable immigrants, while from Russia and Hungary the emigration to America has increased.

New York State is agitating and halting over the question of setting its convicts to work on the highways. One of the strong arguments urged in behalf of this plan is that convict labor will not come in competition with skilled labor as it now does when employed within prison walls in shops. In opposing the road-making proposition the New York Times claims that the necessity for subsisting the convicts outside of prison walls and of keeping a close guard over them to prevent escapes would make the cost of the highways vultures as much as if the work were done by free labor.

The cigarette habit is becoming an unbearable nuisance, every little boy and a good share of the big ones, that one meets on the street has one of these deadly little rolls of tobacco in their mouth. It is acknowledged by every one that they are injurious to both health and mind, and if people choose to smoke them it is their own lookout, but they should go out in the alley or some other byplace and not compel people who come into stores and other public places to inhale the villainous smell which comes from the smoke of these things. There is a cigarette law in this state that boys under 18 cannot buy them. Why not enforce it, it would help some.

The girl who allows herself to be cajoled into a long engagement stands about one chance in ten of being married to that particular man. He comes, admires and thinks best to secure her, although he is not in a position to ask. Some men are selfish creatures. After a year in the "seventh heaven," life begins to be prosaic again, and their love floats along a placid sea. After several years of waiting, when the girl has begun to lose her youth and beauty, the tide turns in their favor, the harbor is in sight and all seems well. But here comes a smooth sailing little craft directly across their bows. There is a crash! The lover clings to the newly found and leaves the other to sink or be tossed upon the beach alone. The moral is obvious.

There are unmistakable signs that the giver of progressive eucure parties is coming down from a lofty pedestal, so long and persistently occupied by her, and is taking a closer view of mankind. The prizes are becoming more practical. The head gentleman's prize no longer consists of a hem-stitched handkerchief, with fringed edges and about the size of a postage stamp, a ladies' smelling bottle some Dresden china designed only for holding milady's puff and powder. The campaign has taken a more practical turn. At a progressive eucure meeting recently the head gentleman's prize consisted of a pair of elaborately decorated suspenders. Now that is something like it. The prize winner found he had not labored in vain. He had something he knew what to do with, no matter whether he boarded, kept house or wanted to hang himself.
