ISABEL MERRILL came out on the veranda of sunny and bright, but it was sadly still. her widespreading, pleasant home to father, had taught her.

David's hands. What does it matter, anyway!" bitterly.

The caller was watching the shabby boy down the street.

"I am glad the winter is over and gone for such," she said then. "That is Eddie Wright. He and his little sister are to go the poorhouse. Their mother has just died, on the Lane. She used to be a teacher. Her husband, died three years ago. She has been sick all winter, and I suppose they have really suffered from hunger and cold."

"So? I did not suppose we had any suffering in this village except heart suffering," Miss Isabel added. Had her caller been one of the "wise women" she might then have found her opportunity. Instead, being somewhat in awe of Miss Merrill, she went her way, and the mistress turned back, through the wide doors, across the broad hall and the long, sunny sittingroom into the small conservatory where the fresh green of leaves and the brilliant blossoms spoke of love and tendance. All around its upper border lay the thick, green leaves of a beautiful ivy, and, as Miss Isabel from her high step unloosed the many loops that held the swaying vine in place, her thoughts went back over its history. It was ten years since the judge, her courtly, beloved father, had brought her the green/slip from a city florist. It was just after the death of her mother, and he had said they would part the slip, and during the summer time one should grow on the grave of their beloved.

That was well! Was not all her life thenceforth linked with death? Her brave, strong young brother had helped her with the slips; and told them then of his purpose to devote his life to the lost ones of Africa. Her father, who loved God better than self, gave him up; but she, never. And when, after two years of work, the fever of the country made him its victim, it seemed but a second burial.

But life had still been full and rich while her father was a part of it. The beautiful home had its mission of cheer while he was at its head. It was when he went, a year ago, that Miss Isabel. seemed to draw the shades over every grace and hope of life. She dropped out from its interests and seemed to have no heart for either the joys or sorrows of others. The home was still

As they speak of the Lord who saves Christ conquered death in that bitter strife, He will bring us into eternal life."

Something dimmed the sad eyes suddenly. Had He then so loved her? and what had she done for Him?

"Dear Lord," spoke the pastor's voice. full of tender longing, "if there is any soul here unwilling that Thou shouldst roll away the stone from the door, wilt Thou have pity and show that soul Thyself? If there is any heart here that has buried all its good or all its worth to humanity under any stone of self, wilt Thou in tender mercy roll the stone away, and bid the dead come forth to living work, and to God?"

And that word was for Isabel Merrill. Alone in her own room, she gave the afternoon to a look at her stone. From her sealed heart she drew out its self-pity, its neglect of others, and held them up in the light. She saw how many talents had been committed to her, and that she had buried them under her selfishness. Deep humility took possession of her that grew at last into a longing desire that this Easter day might become her awakening.

That evening the glad praise service seemed all for her. After it she walked homeward with the caller of the day

"Did you say those Wright children were going to the poorhouse?" she asked at parting.

"I suppose so, yes, unless some one offers to take them."

Miss Merrill found Martha in the conservatory straightening up a plant the cat had thrown over.

"Martha, I am thirty-five years old, am I not?"

"You should know, surely." "And that is 'years of discretion,' is t not?" "With some, yes." "Martha, I am going to extopt two shildren." "The Lord be praised, pia'am. A body with a big house, and money in the bank, and a lonesome heart, is to be pitied."

Another Easter day comes around to the pleasant home on the hill, but Miss Isabel finds brief time for her morning study. The children, who have been hers now for nearly a year, require attention. Little Alice, who has the voice of a bird, is to sing at the evening concert, and Eddie is to speak, and Miss Isabel is as proud and anxious as any mother in the land.

But they are not all. In the sunny bedroom off the sitting-room, a sweetfaced old lady lies among her pillows, and, almost helpless from rheumatism as she is, everyone in the house comes to her for comfort and advice. She has outlived all near relatives, and there had been for her only an Old Ladies' home in a strange city when Miss Isabel "took her in." And in the kitchen an old man feebly totters about, or waits in restful quiet by the window. It is a distant cousin of David who has no one to care for his infirmities.

"A giving spirit is a dreadful growng thing," Martha says. "If you once let it in, it's like yeast a-spreading and spreading until the whole batch is full of it."

Easter Eggs.

It is said that eggs, rabbits and lilies rule at Easter. These three emblems of the season certainly furnish a great amount of merriment and gladness, as the festivities of the occasion depend largely on a full supply of them. The practice of using eggs is traced back to the ancient Greeks and Egyptians, as well as to the Romans and Gauls, who taught their people to look upon the egg as a symbol of divinity. The giftgiving of eggs at Easter is an old custom derived from the Persians, who exchanged eggs at their New Year's feasts-that is, at the beginning of their agricultural year-in token of a renewal of vernal life. The Jewish people used the egg in the feast of the passover, and even the ancient Druids performed their religious rites with ceremonies of egg symbols. In Italy eggs are carried to church and blessed after which they are used on the table with floral decorations. Visitors are invited to partake of Easter eggs as a morning in a far Judean land, when special act of courtesy .- Detroit Free

The Advantage of the Wheel

The value of the wheel as a means of exercise is highly spoken of by all persons who have used it judiciously. The Income Tax Law Suffers in the Supreme Court.

Said That the Coming Decision Exempts Landlords and Bondholders from Payment on Rents and Interest in Securities.

CHICAGO, April 6 .- The Tribune this morning publishes a Washington special over five columns in length giving what purports to be an authentic outline of the coming supreme court decision with reference to the income tax law, and the debates of the justices in the case. The special says: Rends the Law.

"The United States supreme court has shot the income tax law full of holes. The decision has been completed and put into type, and only awaits formal ratification at the con-sultation to be held at non to-day. The decision of the lower court is reversed, but the income tax as a whole is upheld, but only by a divided court.

"Two important portions of the law, however, have been decided to be unconstitutional, and they are so serious as to affect materially not only the revenues of the government, but the estimation in which the income tax will be held by the people.

The Important Changes. "Under the decision to be handed down by the court, probably next Monday, but possibly later, all incomes derived from rents are exempted from taxation by the federal government and all incomes derived from state and municipal bonds are similarly exempted. In other respects the income tax law stands as it was passed last August, but the result of the consultations in the supreme court shows very conclusively that the law can easily be picked to pieces piecemeal, prorided suits are brought to contest each particular point as it comes up.

"It is a curious fact, but none the less true, that the law which was passed at the dictation of the populistic wing of a democratic congress has been distorted by the decision of the United States supreme court clearly on constitutional grounds in such a way that it will absolutely protect the class of capitalists most offensive to the populistic element.

Landlords and Bondholders Exempt. "The landlords of the country will pay no income tax. The owners of bonds of almost any kind, either federal, state, county or municipal, will also be free, while the business man, the manufacturer and the salaried employe will, for the present, at least, be compelled to contribute to the treasury of the United States government 2 per cent. of all incomes in excess of $4,000 per annum.

"The holes made in the income tax law are so fatal as to necessitate either its repeal or its material amendment, as the people of the country will hardly care to see the large capitalists and trust companies absolutely protected while the poor men, comparatively speaking, are forced to contribute to run the national government.

"The entire income tax law as passed by both houses of congress and approved by the president of the United States has been trembling in the balance for two weeks and now will be construed as a constitutional statute only because the supreme court of the United States, while upsetting two portions of the law, is evenly divided on the general principle of the constitutionality of the whole enactment.

Divided as to Constitutionality.

When the first vote was taken as to the general principle of the constitutionality of a law of congress taxing incomes, it was found that the court was evenly divided. eight justices heard the arguments. Mr. Justice Jackson being too ill to appear in court. The vote disclosed the fact that Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Field, Gray and Brewer were opposed to the law in toto. They believed it was unconstitutional as passed by congress, and that it was a direct tax which according to the constitution must be levied among the states according to the population as returned by the census.

"Justices Harlan, Brown, Shiras and White voted to sustain the law as a whole. They believed and supported their opinions by a convincing argument that while particular portions of the law were clearly unconstitutional the general effect of an income tax could not be considered as opposed to the principles laid down in the constitution. Decided by Five to Three.

'On this proposition as to the constitutionality of the law in so far as it related te rents derived from real estate the chief justice and Judges Field, Gray and Brewer, who believed the whole law was unconstitutional, voted with Justice Brown, thus deciding this particular portion of the law unconstitutional by a vote of 5 to 3. This was the first and most serious break for the entire income tax law.

"The question then came up, of course, as to whether the ruling out of incomes derived from rents would make the whole law unconstitutional. On this point Justice Brown promptly deserted his four allies and the court was again evenly divided. They had decided the tax on rents unconstitutional, but the question of whether that invalidated the whole law or not was still as far from settlement as ever. "The break came finally from the place where it was least expected. Chief Justice Fuller, who believed that the whole law was bad and a direct violation of the constitutional limitation upon the power of congress to levy taxes, was persuaded finally that rents could be exempted from taxation by the court without interfering with the constitutionality of the statute as a whole, leaving that to be affirmed by the doubtful process of a divided court. The deadlock was broken to a certain extent by this proceeding and the court was thus enabled to upset two important parts of the law, leaving the remainder of the income tax to be practically affirmed, because a divided court can neither affirm nor reverse the decision of the court below, which accordingly Field Sternly Against the Law. "The most vigorous opponent of the lay shroughout was Mr. Justice Field, who would consent to no compromise; who believed the law unconstitutional from beginning to end, and who supported his opinions in all the consultations in the most vigorous and able manner. It is entirely probable that he will write and submit a strong dissenting opinion, holding that the law is unconstitutional in itself and hinting at the compromise which has been reached by which certain classes of capitalists will be unduly favored while others will have to pay the tax.

The Opinion. "The opinion of the court, so far as it was agreed upon, was turned over to the chief justice, and he labored on it for four days so far as can be learned. putting aside all other business and endeavoring to make a decision which would be satisfactory to the conflicting elements in the court. The opinion states specifically that the decision of the court below in the cases of Charles Pollock against the Farmers' Loan and Trust company, of Louis H. Hyde against the Continental Bell, Springfield, Ill., and Henry Trust company, and of John G. Moore against the commissioner of internal revenue, is reversed, and then goes on to state that the trust companies are re-bonds of all descriptions. The fact is also stated that the supreme court is evenly divided on the question of the constitutionality of the income tax, and hence that that portion of the decision of the court below is neither affirmed

"The expectation among members of the court is that the decision will be rendered Monday in open court, but the justices have been so evenly divided ever since the arguments were concluded that the decision as it now stands is so much a matter of compromise and patchwork that there is a bare possibility that at the final gathering to-day the court may again split up into irreconcilable sections and hold up the decision until they are able to come together again.

Entire Law May Be Declared Vold. "The situation in the supreme court is evidently such that new suits will be instituted, based on particular issues, and if these are pressed with sufficient vigor it is quite likely that the law may be knocked to pieces para graph by paragraph. The decision just wris-ten by Chief Justice Fuller, while essentially a compromise, shows that the law in effect is full of flaws, even though a majority of the court could not be brought to say that it was so radically faulty as to be unconstitutional. Returns Will Need Revision.

"Under the law all returns on the income tax must be submitted to the internal revenue collectors by Monday, April 15, just one week from next Monday. Thousands of returns have already been submitted, and, although they are largely from the smaller taxpayers, who have not waited to hear from the supreme court, it is safe to assume that quite a large proportion of them contain items which will now have to be revised in accordance with the decision of the court."

WELCOMED TO GRAND RAPIDS. Fourth Annual Convention of the Amer ican Republican College League. GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., April 6 .- The spacious auditorium of the Lincoln club was crowded Friday at the opening of the fourth annual convention of the American Republican College league. All the principal universities and similar institutions of learning are represented by bright young men, and the convention is the largest since the league was brought into existence at Ann Arbor in 1892. In his annual address President Cox laid stress upon the fact that the league was accomplishing a great work in counteracting the free trade propaganda of numerous professors in leading colleges. In four years, he said, it had become an influential and important factor in American politics, and it was destined to be still more influential in the future. The election of officers, held Friday afternoon, resulted in placing L. B. Vaughan, of the University of Chicago, in the president's chair. F. L. Edenbrough, of the University of Michigan, was elected secretary, and L. L. Twitchell, of the University of Minnesota, treasurer. W. D. Williams, of Kalamazoo college, was chosen representative to the Republican National league. Minneapolis was selected as the next place of meeting.

Following is a synopsis of the platform adopted:

It affirms the league's firm adherence to republican principles; urges college men, irrespective of political belief, to unite in restoring republican supremacy in the United States; advocates the principles of protection as laid down in the Mc-Kinley bill: urges the restoration of the principle of reciprocity as advocated by James G. Blaine; favors bimetalism and the use both gold and silver as money ultimate redemption, money of the United States, and that they should be on a parity with complete interconvertibility and under such legislative provisions as would make the purchasing or debt-paying power of any dollar coined or issued by United States the absolute equivalent of that of any other dollar so coined or issued; favors the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine against any and all foreign nations interfering with American affairs; favors the annexation of Hawaii and the construction of the Nicaraguan canal by the United States.

A resolution was adopted favoring the annexation of Cuba to the United

The delegates were banqueted at Lockerby hall Friday night by the young republicans of the Lincoln club, plates being laid for 500 persons. Addresses were made by a number of republicans of national reputation.

FOUR TRAMPS KILLED.

Awful Result of an Accident on the Chicago & Alton Road. ALTON, Ill., April 6.-Four men, believed to have been tramps stealing a ride, were instantly killed and two others fatally injured in a freight train wreck near here Friday morning. The wreck occurred at Wood river bridge on the Chicago & Alton cut-off, about half a mile north of East Alton. A long, heavy freight train was coming down the grade when the middle of the train bulged out and fifteen cars were piled on top of each other along the track. None of the trainmen were injured, but a number of men who are supposed to have been riding in an empty box car beating their way to St. Louis, were caught in the wreck and the car in which they were riding was crushed in the heap. When taken out four of them were dead and two others found to be fatally hurt and almost unconscious. The injured men were brought to the hospital in this city and the inquest held at East Alton. The train was too heavy behind and when the brakes were put on in front the weight was thrown on to a flat car in the middle of the train, crushing it almost to atoms. The debris of this car wrecked the others. The train was in charge of Conductor Frese and Engineer Barton. The train was full of tramps coming from Chicago and carried fully 100 tramps in the empty cars. At the inquest the names of the men killed were found to be: David Heffley, Watertown, Wis.;

THE PEOPLE VOTE.

Spring Elections in Various Parts of the Country.

Emancipated Women in Ohio-Party Polities Were Pretty Generally Lost Sight Of - Swift Chosen Mayor of Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 3.—The entire republican ticket, with the exception of a few isolated aldermen, was elected here Tuesday. George B. Swift's plurality for mayor approximated 40,-000. By about the same majority the city voted to place itself under the operations of the civil service law, which will apply to every department of the city government.

From returns receiv 1 it is figured out that the city council will stand politically as follows: Republicans, 50 Democrats, 17; independents, 3.

Dispatches announce republican victories at the following points in Illi nois:

Astoria, Atlanta, Bement, Batavia, Bridgeport, Bloomington, Carmi, Champaign, Clinton, Charleston, Carlyle, Clay City, Dixon, Danville, Decatur, Elgin, Greenville, Havana, Joliet, Kankakee, Kewanee, Monmouth, Mount Vernon, Monticello, McLeansboro, Newman, Na perville, Olney, Peoria, Plano, Paxton, Paris, Robinson, Rock Island, Rushville, Salem. Sheldon, Streeter, Tuscola, Urbana, Vandalia, Watseka and Woodstock

Democrats were successful in the following towns:

Assumption, Arcola. Benton, Bourbon, Bowden, Camargo, Fulton, Galena, Jerseyville Martinsville, Ottawa, Pekin, Quincy, Springfield, Shelbyville, Taylorville and Waukegan. Populists or non-partisan tickets won n the following:

Aurora, Galesburg, Geneseo, Mascoutah Moline, Mendota, Rumsey and Whitehall In Springfield the democrats elected

Marion U. Woodruff for mayor, also John O. Rames for collector. The republicans elected the other officers. and secured a majority in the council. In East St. Louis the people's party city ticket, representing the law and order sentiment as opposed to Monte Carlo gambling and race tracks, headed by H F. Bader for mayor, was elected Tuesday by a large majority over the citizens' ticket, upon which Mayor M. M. Stephens was a candidate for a fifth term as mayor. Party politics were ignored.

The election to fill vacancy caused by the death of Gen. Post resulted in the choice of the republican candidate. George W. Prince.

The election in St. Louis turned all the city offices but two over to the republicans. The city council will be unanimously republican.

Republicans have elected mayors in the following Wisconsin cities: Ashland, River Falls, Delavan, Columbus, Marshfield, Mauston, Sparta, Waupaca, Black River Falls, Manitowoo, Hudson, Whitewater, Lake Geneva, Hartford, Centralia and Watertown. Democrats won in Mineral Point, Plymouth, Durand, Prairie du Chien, Alma, Madison, Chilton, Kenosha, Berlin, Papon, Fox Lake, Shawano and Beaver Dam.

The following towns and cities voted for license: Hudson, Sparta, Brodhead, Palmyra, Waupaca, Medford, Richland Center. Fennimore, Necedah, Edgerton, Waterloo, Packwaukee. Barron, Phillips, Thorp, River Falls, Beloit. These towns voted "dry:" Viroqua, Plover, Eagle, Waukesha county; Genesee, Milton, Elroy, Hayward.

Elections were held Tuesday in most Minnesota cities outside of St. Paul, Minneapolis and Duluth. At Albert Lea the independents carried everything, electing V. Gillsup mayor and voting in favor of license. At Fergus Falls the democrats elected Thomas N. McLean mayor. At Hastings the people took the bit in their teeth, turned down both the democrats and the republicans and elected George Parker (ind.) mayor. At Mankato Edgar Weaver, the candidate of the republicans and democrats, was elected mayor. At Faribault the republicans elected B. B. Sheffield mayor, but the democrats got two of the four aldermen. There was a complete overthrow at Tracy, the prohibitionists losing. License carried by 138 and all of what was known as the whisky ticket was elected. At East Grand Forks A. C. Rinehart (pop.) defeated Hugh Dunlery (dem.) for mayor by 66 majority. At Crookston John R. McKinnon (dem.) was elected mayor over M. R. Brown (rep.). Winona elected a republican for mayor Monday for the first time in thirty years. Addison B. Youmans is the mayor-elect. Party lines were not drawn in municipal elections in Nebraska in many cases, gained, except at Hastings and Plattsmouth, where the democrats carried the day. The question of granting saloon licenses was the leading issue and was favored in four-fifths of the towns. Frank Graham (rep.) was elected mayor of Lincol by a large majority.

In Denver it is conceded the republican ticket is elected by 5,000 majority. Thomas S. McMurray heads the winning ticket for mayor. Returns from the smaller towns of the state nearly all show republican victories.

[From the Reporter, Somerset, Ky.] Among the foot hills of the Cumberland as near the town of Flat Rock is happy home of James McPherron. or months ago the daughter of the famby a happy girl of sixteen, was stricken oth St. Vitus' dance. The leading physidas were consulted but without avail. She gew pale and thin under the terrible nerv-us strain and was fast losing her mental ous strain and was last losing her mental powers. In fact the thought of placing her man asylum was seriously considered. Her use has been so widely talked about that the report of her cure was like moderntzing a miracle of old. To a reporter who visited the home the mother said :

Wes, the reports of my daughter's sickses and cure are true as you hear them. Her affliction grew into St. Vitus' dance from an aggravated form of weakness and servous trouble peculiar to her sex. Every source of help was followed to the end, but seemed that physicians and medicine were powerless. Day by day she grow worse un-il we despaired of her life. At times she alnot went into convulsions. She got so that we had to watch her to keep her from waning away and you can imagine the care good health and happiness.

"It is no wonder that I speak in glowing terms of Pink Pills to every ailing person I neet. They saved my daughter's life and I am grateful." Theforegoing is but one of many wondertal cures that have been credited to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. In many cases the reported cures have been investigated by the leading newspapers and refiled in every possible manner. Their fame has spread to the far ends of civilization and there is hardly a drug store in this country or abroad where they cannot be

Like an open book, our faces tell the tale of health or disease. Hollow cheeks and sunken eyes, listless steps and languorous looks tell of wasting debilitating disease some place in the body. It may be one place or another, the cause is generally traceable to a common source - impure blood, and impure blood starts in the digestive organs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery purifies the blood, stimulates digestive action, searches out disease-germs wherever they exist and puts the whole body into a vigorous, strong and healthy con-dition. It builds up solid, useful flesh, rubs out wrinkles, brightens the eyes and makes life really worth living.

"Coddling Moth"

In the course of an interview on the subject of the paris green treatment for coddling moth," Secretary Morton said: "The demand for apples grown in the United States has always been in excess of the supply. The United Kingom of Great Britain alone during the nine can be made wormless if the orchards of the United States will use the following recipe: Use paris green at the rate of one pound to 150 gallons of water. Weigh out sufficient poison for the capacity of the tank used and make it into a thin paint with a small quantity of water, and add powdered or quicklime equal to the fruit turns down on the stem, or when it is from 14 to 1/2 inch in diameter. The first spraying reaches the eggs latd by the moth in the flower end of the fruit shortly after the falling of the blossoms, and the second the later eggs laid by belated moths. Don't spray trees when in bloom, and if a washing rain immediately follows treatment repet the application."

Purity of Glycerine.

Glycerine enters so largely into the composition of many articles in ordinary use that its purity is a matter of no little moment to the consumer. Unscrupulous dealers and manufactures adulterate this article to a great extent, sometimes with comparatively harmless substance, but more often with those that make it unsuited to many of the uses to which it is put. The simplest fraud is said to be the addition of molasses to the darker glycerine, and glucose and simple syrup to the transparent kinds. These adulterations are easily detected by pouring a small quantity of chloroform into the glycerine and throughly shaking it. The chloroform seperates the sugar, which falls to the bottom of the bottle, as pure glycerine noats; being insoluble in chloroform. Among the injurious adulterations are lime, sulphates, salts of lead and hydrosulphuric seid. A simple test of impurities in glycerine is to mlx it with a small quantity of distilled water. Upon shaking it there is a decided foam on the top o the compound. The lower the grade of glycerine the more abundant and lasting

"It is surprising," says a commercial traveler, "how general the use of potatoes as penholders is becoming in hotels. I have seen them in use in great hostelries of the east whose owners wouldn't hesitate for a moment to spend $10 for a desk ornament to hold pens used by the guests in registering. The mixture of starch, glucose and water in the potato scems well adapted to take up the impurities of ink and to keep the pen point clear and bright, while the alkaloid of the potato, known as solanine, doubtless has something to do with it in the same line. These elements readily take up the tannate of iron, which is the body substance of ink. Chemically speaking, starch is the first base of a potato, ane sugar or glucose is its second base. Thus is the humble potato finding another way in which to serve the uses of mankind."-New York Tribune.

"The vices of early boyhood laid the foundation of my rain. Later on a "gay life" and exposure to blood diseases completed the wreck. I had all the symptoms of Nervous Debility—sunken eyes, emissions, drain in urine, nervousness, weak back, etc. Syphilis caused my hair to fail out, bone pains, ulcers in mouth and on tongue, blotches on body, etc. I thank God I tried Drs. Kennedy & Kergan. They restored me to health, vigor and happiness." CHAS, POWERS.
